GREAT BRITAIN HAS LARGE DEFICIT

PRIME MINISTER BITTERLY ATTACKED BY CONSERVATIVE

Winston Churchill is Unfortunate Keeper of His Country's Finances

His estimated surplus of $4,000,000 turns out to be loss of more than $14,000,000-- reason for going behind

LONDON, April 1.—Winston Churchill has proven an unfortunate chancellor of the exchequer. When he presented the 1926 budget he estimated a surplus of $4,000,000 but he now finds himself faced instead with a deficit of more than $14,000,000. Thus in two years, during his chancellorship, the country has fallen behind more than $20,000,000.

Last year the coal strike interfered with trade and there was heavy loss on income tax.

When the new budget is presented on April 11 it is expected there will be announcement of fresh taxation and also a recommendation for a sinking fund.

DELVING INTO PAST HISTORY

WHICH DEALS IN 1921 ARE REFERRED TO AT SESSION OF ROYAL COMMISSION IN VICTORIA

VICTORIA, April 1.—That he would produce witnesses on Friday who would show that the British Columbia government could have purchased Spey Royal whiskey in January 1921 for less money than it cost to purchase 2,000 cases of that brand in Auckland, New Zealand, was the statement of H. Despard Twigg, M.L.A., at the session of the campaign funds investigating committee yesterday. Mr. Twigg asked Attorney General Manson if he could produce from the files a letter from J. S. O'Brien of Vancouver to Purchasing Agent Patterson dated January 31, 1921, which offered the government 5,000 cases of Heather Dew whiskey at $15 per case f.o.b. Vancouver. The communication, Mr. Twigg said, also referred to a previous offer to the government of 5,000 cases at $13.50 per case f.o.b. Vancouver.

Mr. Manson said he did not have the letter with him and did not recall it but he thought perhaps Mr. Patterson would know something about it.

Mr. Patterson said, however, that he did not know of it.

FISH OFFICIAL OFFERED BRIBE

R. B. WHITE, FISH GUARDIAN AT SMITH'S INLET LAST YEAR, GIVES EVIDENCE TO COMMISSION

VANCOUVER, April 1.—R. B. White, fish guardian at Smith's Inlet last summer, informed the McKenzie commission yesterday that he was twice offered bribes to allow fishermen to operate in forbidden waters. Two Indians offered him one salmon if he would allow them to fish in Wyclese Lagoon. He said: "After having lived on fish for six weeks, however, I didn't bite."

White explained that he had been employed as a relief officer when Overseer Christiansen had trouble with a superior officer.

He said that he had told Jack Mordell, a white fisherman, to "go to blazes" when the latter asked about chances to "square him."

It is understood that several cannery managers, who have left for the north during the week, have been summoned to appear before the commission when it holds its hearings up the coast.

PREMIER MINE PARTNERS SUE

R. W. WOOD ISSUES WRIT AGAINST R. K. NEILL TO RECOVER MONEY

VANCOUVER, April 1.—Echo of the early days of the celebrated Premier Mine, one of the greatest gold producers in the history of mining in British Columbia, was heard at the courthouse here when R. W. Wood, formerly of Fernie, one of the four men who brought the property into production after many others had failed, issued a writ against R. K. Neill, Spokane mining engineer, one of his partners.

Mr. Wood alleges that under agreement with his partners he paid Pat Daly, who formerly had a stake in the property, the sum of $15,000 in 1921, and that he also paid E. Hambleton $1,500 for his services in settling the Daly claim. It was agreed, he claims, that each of the partners including Neill, should pay one-fourth of this sum.

The action which Mr. Wood, through his solicitor, R. L. Maitland, began against Mr. Neill, is to recover one-fourth of these two sums, with interest since 1921, the total to date amounting to $5,267.

Cahan, Montreal Conservative, Likens King to Mussolini and Pilsudski in Vitriolic Speech

MONTREAL, April 1.—C. H. Cahan, Conservative member for St. Lawrence-St. George (Montreal) on Thursday continued his attacks upon Premier King. On Thursday afternoon in the House of Commons, Mr. Cahan drew a parallel between King, Mussolini and Pilsudski. On Thursday, in continuing the debate on the Imperial Conference, Mr. Cahan declared of the Prime Minister: "He now seeks by tacit approval of this House, not having the courage to present a report of his own work for approval and consideration, to proceed to disrupt every one of those ties which bind and connect us with Great Britain and Ireland and with the Dominions beyond the seas and, while he is endorsing and proposes to carry out a policy of disruption and destruction, he has not one single positive idea to present to the House as to the formation of a new connection and as to new alignments if the position of Canada is to be maintained in the world."

BIG MIGRATION IS CONTINUING

SIX BOATS ARRIVE OVER WEEK-END AT HALIFAX WITH 4,141 SETTLERS

WINNIPEG, April 1.—Six steamers due at Halifax during Friday, Saturday and Sunday with 4,141 immigrants from Great Britain and the continent, indicate that the heavy influx of settlers which marked the month of March as the heaviest since before the war will prevail throughout April.

The first steamer, the Muenchen, docks today with 380 settlers. The Estonia of the Baltic-American Line, the Cunarder Athenia and the White Star Liner Cedric, arrive Saturday with 2,024. The Cunarders Ascania and Aurania, with 1,737 complete the list.

The Athenia with a passenger list of 858 comprised entirely of British, represents the largest single group of newcomers. Among them will be 110 farm workers.

Organized by the colonization department of the Canadian National Railways, there are also groups of families coming to Canada under the 3,000 family plan.

It will be necessary for the Canadian National Railways to operate nine special trains or more than 120 cars to bring these immigrants to Winnipeg where they will be distributed to their destinations.

SIR CHARLES HIBBERT TUPPER.

Apart from the fact that in his death has gone one who has been a bright figure for many years in Canadian public life, the passing of Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper is made somewhat more tragic by the fact that his demise has occurred in this the year of Canada's Diamond Jubilee of Confederation of which his noted father, the late Sir Charles Tupper, was one of the Fathers. There are no more of the Fathers of Confederation left and even their sons are now scarce in the land. The younger Sir Charles, who is no more, in great measure followed in the footsteps of the older in the way of service for the public. He was known as an illustrious and upright man and those who were acquainted with him personally or by name, regardless of political denomination, will regret his passing.

When the time comes on July 1 for the noisy and enthusiastic celebration of Canada's national birthday it would be well that serious and solemn occasion be taken to pay fitting tribute to such fathers and sons of Confederation as the revered Sir Charles Tupper and the late lamented Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper. Their memory and the memory of their grand contemporaries will long remain green in the annals of Canadian history.

STILL HOPE FOR CHINA.

The situation in China is indeed disquieting but there is still a good deal of hope to be found in the air. Such a thing as organized warfare seems, happily, to be a still rather far removed eventuality. Policing and not antagonistic military action is China's need today. Indeed there seems no part of the whole of China that could be justly attacked. Present developments and demonstrations there are but an expression of opinion and, as far as the Chinese themselves are concerned, can hardly be taken as overt.

If war ever arises out of the present situation hostilities will be directed against Russia, the soviet government of which is generally conceded to be at the root of the trouble. It is there and not with the Chinese that is to be found the hostile and overt influence.

FORTUNE IN SHAVES.

A quarter of a century ago a safety razor company had a nominal capital of $5,000. Today the market value of its shares is approximately $200,000,000. Merely as an industrial phenomenon this capital growth challenges attention.

The growth and expansion of this business were not the result of a monopoly. There were safety razors before this particular make was heard of and at no time during the history of this company was it without competitive razors in wide demand.

Some of the figures of this company are almost staggering. Take the fact that it has sold 3,500,000,000 blades in twenty-five years. This proves there is as much truth as wit in the statement that the disposal of used blades is one of humanity's great unsolved problems.

One reason for the phenomenal success of the safety razor is that it was invented at a most opportune time. Had this genius evolved his famous shaving device when it was the fashion to be bearded, his capital stock might now be worth nothing instead of millions.

Old-timers can recollect the time when barbers looked upon the safety razor with disfavor because there were many men who could not, or feared to, shave with the old style razor. Shaves were then the chief source of income for the barber. Today the barber says he loses money on shaves and urges his customers to shave themselves. Weekly haircuts, massages, shampoos, tonics, lotions, singes and electric treatments, all at higher prices, have placed the barber within the reach of the income tax collector.

TONSILS ARE NECESSARY FOR FULL HEALTH

HAVE DEFINITE PLACE IN HUMAN ECONOMY AND CAN BE KEPT IN WORKING CONDITION
EASILY

The tonsils are a very necessary part of your organism. "But," you say, "some people live without them." Yes, but some people also live without legs or arms, but that does not prove they are not necessary parts.

The truth is, your tonsils are your friends. They defend you in many instances, warding off disease, doing some other organ's share of work part of the time, and when they have finally become "sick" from overwork induced by trying to keep you well—the first thought of some people is to cut them out; get rid of them. And there are thousands of instances where tonsillitis is performed producing throat and kindred troubles, sequelae which are many times worse than the conditions existing before the operation. When human beings begin to seek the cause of their troubles and cease dilly-dallying with the effects, health and longevity will be their reward.

The tonsils become swollen and sore from the excessive heat. The vessels are hyperemic and a vascular exudation occurs into the surrounding tissues, so that the entire throat is greatly swollen. Suppuration of a slight degree occurs within the follicles of the tonsils and gives off a yellowish exudate, which collects upon the inflamed tonsil, forming a patch. At first this exudate appears as small spots, but they soon coalesce, forming patches which may cover the entire tonsil.

Tenderness is traceable from the lower cervical foramen, outward over the skin of the neck to the region over the tonsil, in front of and below the angle of the jaw. Also tenderness is sometimes found from the 13th or 14th intervertebral foramen on the right side, passing outward under the scapula adn axilla, and then upward over the breast, beneath the clavicle and along the neck to the region of the tonsil.

The onset is sudden, with chilliness and a rapid rise. There is intense headache and backache, and more or less general aching. The appetite is soon lost, and vomiting of a persistent character may be present. The throat is sore, red and swollen, so that swallowing is painful and avoided as much as possible by the patient. The tongue is coated, the breath has a foul odor and the voice is nasal in character.

There is only one place in the entire body that this energy, technically known to the Chiropractor, can be interfered with in its transmission. That place is a foramina, or little hole, where the nerve cable in branching off from the spinal cord emits from the spine.

There are thirty-one pairs of these holes and they are present at intervals between the vertebrae or individual segments of the spine. This is the way this pressure is produced: These spinal segments, in spite of elaborate precautions Nature has taken to hold them in position by means of muscles, ligaments and cartilages, slip, pull or slowly work out of position, due to the severe strains man exerts on his spine by twisting, pulling, lifting, falling and numerous other movements from childhood until old age.

When the vertebral segments lose their normal position these little holes between the vertebrae are partially closed. This closure brings these sharp, bony, imperfectly formed rings into such a position that pressure is exerted upon the pair of nerves that exist at this point along the spine.

This abnormal pressure interferes with the transmission of energy, and the organs, tissues and cells which are supplied by these nerves are deprived of the amount of nerve energy which Nature intended they should have. Disease is the direct result of this interference.

And here is where your Chiropractor comes in. By carefully palpating your spine he locates the vertebra which is out of alignment. By exerting a slight pressure with his finger tips over the paths of the nerves affected, he can trace these sore, tender nerves and prove to you the statement here made. By a quick, skillful thrust applied to the vertebra he finally accomplishes the return of the segments to its normal position and Nature is again permitted to transmit her forces unhindered. Normal function of the diseased parts is then resumed and normal health results.

MIMIC WAR BY NAVAL FLEETS

ATLANTIC AND MEDITERRANEAN
FORCES ENGAGE IN SPRING
EXERCISES OFF GIBRALTAR

LONDON, April 1.—(Canadian Press).—At the end of March the Atlantic Fleet of the British Navy, which has spent the month in tactical exercises with the Mediterranean Fleet off Gibraltar, returns to England. The Atlantic and Mediterranean Fleets are the only British forces including capital ships and the joint exercises provide opportunities to flag and senior officers of handling fleets and squadrons under conditions approximating those of actual battle.

A mimic engagement between the two fleets under battle conditions was one of the main features of the exercise, during which all the numerous phases of marine warfare were gone through. Submarines were used for reporting the movements of an "enemy" fleet, and in the night destroyers, supported by battle-cruisers and cruisers, carried out an attack on the combined battle fleets, screened by remaining destroyers and cruisers.

The naval correspondent of the London Times makes a vivid narrative of a day's experiences on board the Republic: "Down in the brightly-lit submerged flat below the waterline the torpedo-tube crews, dressed in blue overalls and wearing sea-boots, were standing ready. A gleaming, fish-like monster of steel with its red collision head suspended from rails overhead was hauled over the tube, lowered, and pulled home. The tube door closed, there was a sound of rushing water and someone talked through a telephone. A lever fell, and with a crash and a long-drawn-out hissing of releasing air the intricate machine, some 23 feet long, weighing over a ton, and worth perhaps £3,000 left its tube and sped off into the water to travel for six or seven miles before it came to the surface by its target. It was a competitive firing to test the rate of loading and discharge in battle conditions. In all eight torpedoes were fired, four from submerged and four from above-water tubes.

FULL OF INTEREST

"On deck the scene was full of interest. As each torpedo left the ship one saw the glassy track from the oil in its head lengthening out across a sapphire sea as it sped towards the horizon. Destroyers steamed rapidly down the tracks to recover each one. A sea-plane flew overhead to assist, and within two hours all eight weapons were safely recovered and on board again.

"In the afternoon the cruiser Centaur carried out a firing with her 6-in. guns using our ship as a target; but with her slightly adjusted that the shot fell some distance astern, where they were made. The dropping of a couple of depth charges by the Centaur completed the day's program of exercises. She must have been fully two miles distant when they were let go, but the heavy concussion of their explosion sounded for all the world as though our own ship had bumped heavily on submerged wreckage."

"NELL GWYN" GOOD WEEK-END FEATURE

Dorothy Gish Starred in Immortal
True-Life "Fairy Tale"

Of the countless millions of human beings who strut the world's stage, those whose names and deeds are cherished a century after they're gone must indeed have been remarkable individuals. Such an individual is Nell Gwyn whose story will be recorded in picture at the Westholme Theatre tonight and tomorrow.

History, which records wars and political events, often ignores those women whose fame still persists in human memory. Such was Nell Gwyn, a poor orange seller of the London slums, whose beauty and personality elevated her to the position of England's popular comedienne, favorite of the Merry Monarch, King Charles II.

One of the most touching incidents in the picture is the scene where Nell induces the King to convert the vast, beautiful palace he is building as a present to her, into a hospital and home for his war-wounded soldiers and sailors.

Dorothy Gish, who went to England especially to play the part of Nell Gwyn by Herbert Wilcox, the young English directorial genius responsible for the picture, gives what is said to be one of the greatest dramatic studies yet seen of the tempestuous, brilliant, but good-hearted Nell. Although 250 years have passed since she trod the boards of Drury Lane Theatre, and romped through the great halls of Whitehall Palace, the bells of St. Martin's Church ring out every Thursday, and the great Chelsea Hospital still stands in memory of one of the most remarkable women of all time.

POET'S BELOVED CLIFFS PRESENTED TO NATION

Beauty spot Dedicated to Nation by Lord Tennyson

LONDON, April 1.—(Canadian Press)—Lord Tennyson has made a generous gift to the nation by handing over to the keeping of the Nation Trust, to be preserved for all time for public use, the greater portion of the famous Needles Down and cliffs at Freshwater, Isle of Wight. The down, which stretches from Freshwater Bay to the Needles promontory, rises to over 500 feet and is between two and three miles long. It gives views over the English Channel on one side, and over the Solent on the other, and commands a panorama of half the Isle of Wight as well. Lord Tennyson has dedicated this beauty spot to the nation as a memorial to his father, the poet, who had a private way constructed from his nearby residence, Farringford, so that he might enjoy daily walks on the ridge of "a noble down," as he calls it in his poem. A granite cross erected by Tennyson's admirers stands on the crest of the Down as a beacon to sailors.

Whether or not the kingly salaries which have figured in the headlines this spring preceding the opening of the big leagues were phony money, Babe Ruth is entitled to get just a little the best of anybody in the great American game. He is the biggest drawing card of them all and adds more to the box office either in New York or away from home than any other nine players. If the Bambino were a free agent, there are doubtless a number of clubs which would gladly meet his alleged demand for a salary of $100,000, and he has cause for complaint that he cannot sell his superlative services to the highest bidder. If his $100,000 claim was not a mere publicity grab, one can picture his disappointment when made to accept a paltry $70,000.

Still if the rules did not prevent a scramble for the best talent, one or two rich clubs would corner it, leaving the leagues badly off balance. After all, there must be competition in the game, else the public would lose interest and fancy prices for ball players depend upon sustained public interest in the national pastime. Players as well as owners are interested in crowded grandstands and bleachers. The owners seem to have devised a system in the major leagues which enables them to distribute salaries large enough to make railroad presidents and governors green with envy. Open bidding, among the clubs, for players being out of the question, the "holdout," that winter-blooming bluff of baseball, is the alternative for the Ruths and Cobbs.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 8,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 5,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Branch Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner. Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price for first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

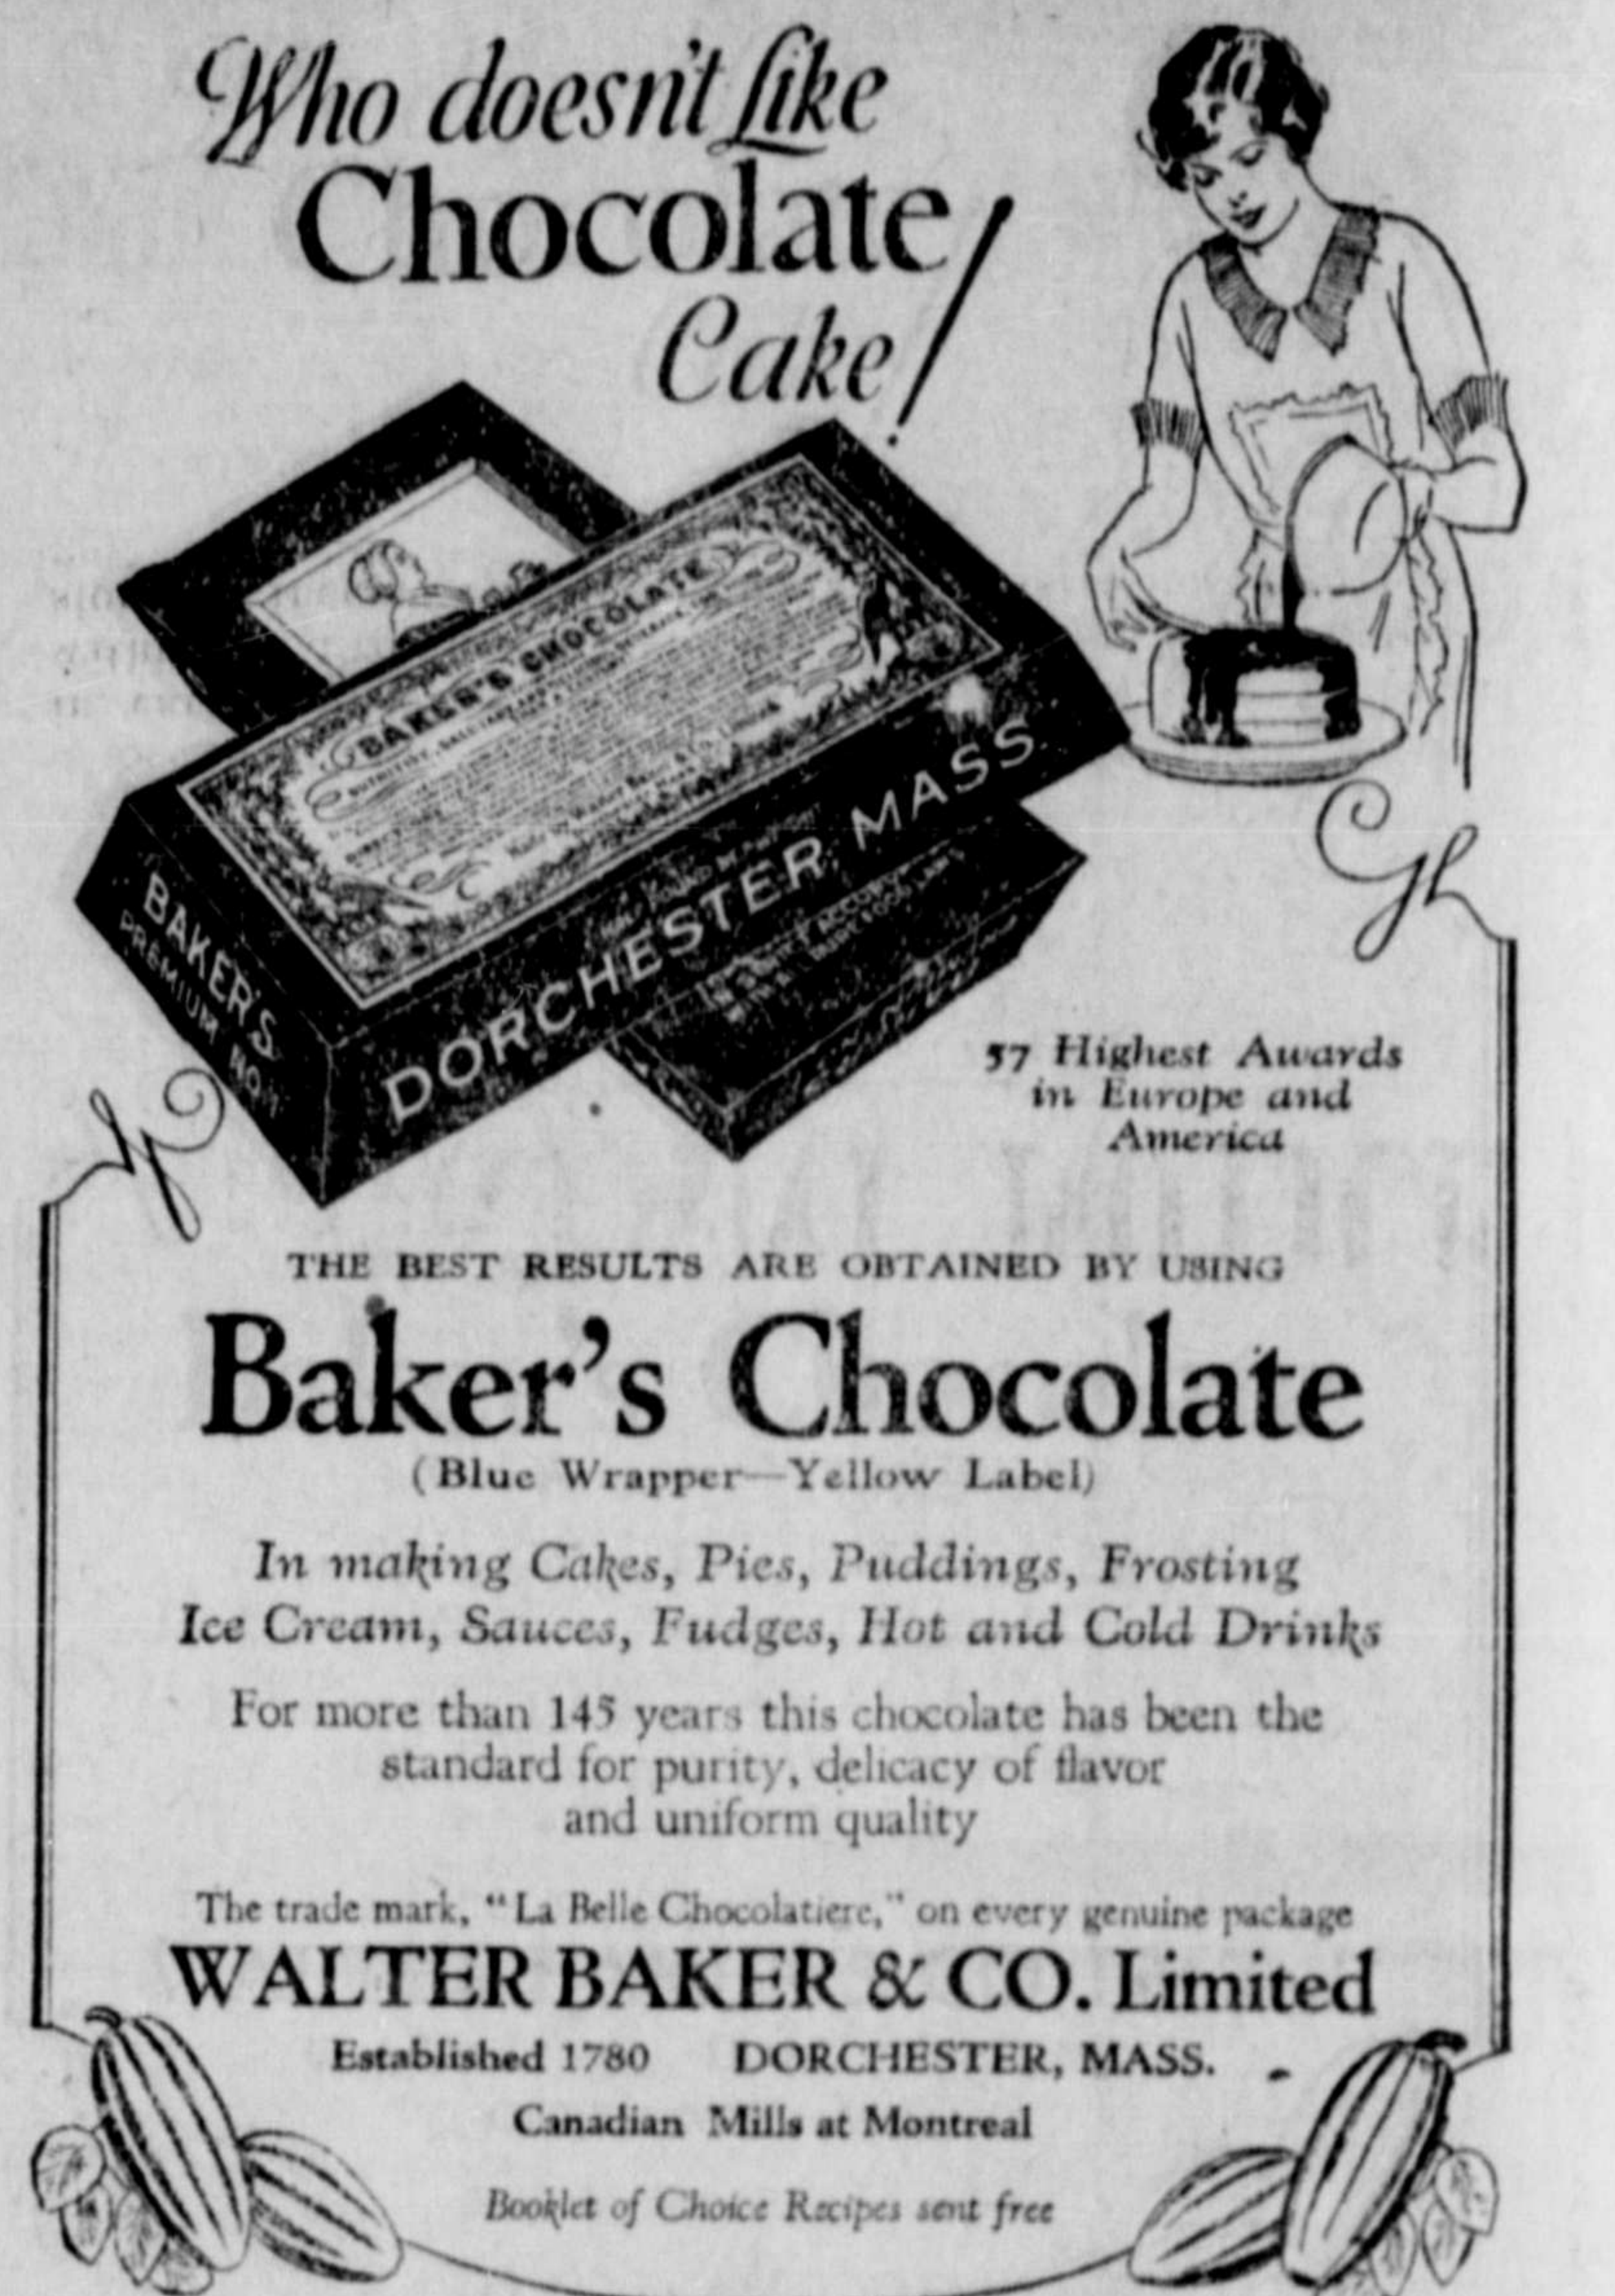

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free or partly free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.
