Steam Locomotives may Become Extinct as the Dodo in Near Future

That Is Prophecy in View of New Oil-Electric Engine Put Into Service by C. N. R. and Made
Under Their Direction

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20.—A new locomotive which represents a revolutionary departure from all present standards and practice and which may render the steam locomotive as extinct as the "Dodo," has been placed in service by the Canadian National Railways. Presenting a tremendous advance in the use of the oil-electric type of locomotive, it forms a distinctive offering on the part of Canadian engineers towards the solution of the transportation problem of this continent. As the National system was the pioneer three years ago in placing in service the first oil-electric car of 200 horse-power rating, its engineers have maintained leadership by the introduction of this locomotive, new in character and design, for fast passenger and freight service.

Port Simpson Winners of Basketball Senior Game Played Here Last Night

Port Simpson defeated Kincolith 33-15 in last evening's basketball fixture and took a strong lead in the Senior League. Simpson opened the scoring when George White converted a penalty shot, with R. Sankey scoring a field goal immediately afterwards. J. Johnstone of Kincolith scored the first basket for his team seven minutes after the game began. The first half ended with Port Simpson leading 13-9. The first half was played slowly, to the spectators' view, although both teams had many chances to score. At the beginning of the second half play was similar to the first half. After playing a few minutes both teams showed indications of playing harder and then began a fast passing game with Port Simpson having the best of the shooting. Kincolith were not able to score as surely as they did in their game against the Players' Club.

Big Four defeated R.C.N.V.R. 20-18 in a listless but exciting game. At half time the score was 8-7 in favor of the boys from the Navy, who are showing improvement in every game, and had hard luck in losing. With all but five seconds of full time, Big Four called time out with the score standing 18-17 in favor of the Navy. When play was resumed, Referee R. B. Skinner called a technical foul on the Navy because one of their players had left the floor without permission. Ernie Ratchford scored the free throw and tied the score for Big Four. In the first five-minute overtime period neither team scored. Big Four scored a field goal in the second overtime period.

The players were as follows:

SPORT CHAT

The Anyox Basketball League will open with three games tonight. The first will be an intermediate fixture between the Rinkydinks and the High School. Thereafter the Beach Ladies will engage the Mine girls and in the wind-up the Mechanics will do battle against the Mine's best. As the Mine will play all their games at the big gym, they have been granted the gate receipts from every fourth game.

The Anyox Community League's gym, as it stands is paid for. To date it has entailed an expenditure of $12,887.01. Toward this sum the opening dance netted $294 and the "paystreak" $592.76. Cash from the current account cleared the building of other debts. The council is now studying means of equipping the lounge room as a pleasure resort and the dining room as an exercise room furnished with dumbbells and other light apparatus. Smoking is to be prohibited in the gym as a guard against fire.

MOOSE WHIST

In the weekly knock-out whist tournament for members of the Moose Club last evening, first prizes, chickens, were won by Sam Haudenschild and A. Ohnesorg. There were no second prizes.

SPLENDID FEAT OF CRICKETER

Larwood Playing in Australia for England Makes Record as Bowler

English cricketers are jubilant over the success of Larwood, the Nottinghamshire bowler, who made such a good record in Australia when playing for the visiting English cricket team in that country. He is said to be one of the best fast bowlers in England. The particular feat that has attracted attention was in the game against Victoria at Melbourne. The first seven wickets were taken by Larwood, four of which were bowled. When the sixth wicket fell for only 42 runs there was a tumult of cheering from the eleven thousand people who watched the match, practically all of whom were Australians. That was in the morning. Hearing of the feat some fifteen thousand people gathered to watch in the afternoon.

England is worrying over the matter of betting on horse and dog races. There has been general dissatisfaction for a long time over the old fashion bookmaker and now they have turned to the pari-mutuel or totalizator. The difficulty is to find a machine that is correct in its calculations. Various devices have been experimented with and it is probable that before long a degree of exactitude will be reached which is satisfactory to both patrons and operators.

Around The World With Sport Fans

(By The Tramp)

The University of Alberta is playing the University of B. C. at Vancouver this afternoon in the first of a two game series under rugby rules.

Audrey Griffin still remains, as she has been for many years, Victoria's star lady swimmer. At a recent water gala in the Crystal Garden she won the 50 yards British Columbia championship and also the Canadian title for Canada over a 500 yards course.

This has been the third year in succession in which Frenchmen have won all the singles tennis championships in France, England and America, and the second in which they have won the Davis Cup. Certainly no unprejudiced person can say that they have not deserved their successes; they have worked very hard indeed for them, and nothing quite like their "team spirit" has ever been known in the annals of the game. An member of a French team puts the success of his country before his own personal success; and, though he naturally does his very best to win his own individual matches, counts a loss as nothing so long as his team is successful. France has been extremely fortunate in finding four men like Borotra, Lacoste, Cochet and Brugnon, between whom there has never been the faintest shadow of personal jealousy. Their good-fellowship one to another has been the bond that has made them the great team that they are; and in the extremely improbable event of none of them ever winning another championship, they have done enough in the last three seasons to make themselves—and their country—famous as long as the game lasts.

NEWSPAPER BUSINESS

"I am not at all sure that the Press is not too much talked about," declared Lord Buckmaster at a dinner of the Authors' Club in London recently. "Personally, I get very tired of the interminable alternation between adulation and oburgation of the Press. People are always speaking of its immortal function being to secure the elevation of the human race. I regard that as pure nonsense. It is a business concern. Whoever talks about the immortal purpose of a stockbroker being to elevate the moral qualities of his fellow creatures, or even that being the purpose of a lawyer?"

"Although some of us may wince when we find the innermost, the most sacred sanctuaries of life invaded by people who desire to make public the thing you above all others seek to have concealed, when you shrink from seeing the grief of a bereaved woman, the agony of a man on the way to the gallows, or the sufferings of people in a railway accident being laid bare to the world, I would beg you all to remember that that has nothing whatever to do with the Press."

"It has to do with ourselves, and if you want to have it stopped, the proper way is to educate the people so that they will refuse to purchase the papers that contain that news. I have no sympathy whatever with the people who talk about the high mission of what is nothing but a business enterprise which upon the whole is conducted as all English businesses are, fairly and squarely."

Critics of Newspapers

"I have generally found that criticism of the Press divides itself into two heads," continues Lord Buckmaster. "There is the man about whom some flattering and wholly unwarranted remark has been made in the newspapers. He talks about what a splendid institution the Press is. Then there is the man who thinks that he has really said something that is worth repeating. He is deceiving himself, and the truth is not in him. But he thinks so, and next morning when he finds there is no reference to him in the Press he says there is a conspiracy of silence in which the whole Press are engaged."

For a short time during the war Lord Buckmaster was chief censor for the Press Bureau, and was elevated therefrom to the lord chancellorship on the formation of a Coalition Ministry. He has admitted on more than one occasion that his duties at the Press Bureau were most unpalatable.

AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Haggen Discusses Copper Situation; Big Missouri Ore Looking Excellent; New Tunnel on Independence

Up till last year Granby had the fight of its life to maintain operations in the face of low prices, ores of lesser grades and construction work involving heavy expenditure with small profits and no dividends, writes E. A. Haggen, editor of the Mining & Engineering Record, in an article discussing the copper situation. Charles Bocking, the present manager, has changed all that and he is getting great credit in mining circles for the successful manner in which he has accomplished a difficult task, for, after 10 years, Granby is again making substantial profits and distributing dividends surpassing those of the most prosperous days of the industry. The company is increasing its holdings and preparing for bigger things in the future. That the Consolidated Co. of Trail believes the solution of its copper problem lies in the Coast Range is evident from its acquisition of Big Missouri, Day Group and George Copper properties in Portland Canal. George Copper is located at the head of Bear River, in the contact between and the glaciers shooting ice down the mountain sides all the year around. Consolidated engineers realize that, in the event of their development proving up ore deposits of sufficient extent and values to justify equipment and operation, special and costly provision must be made for the safety of employees, buildings and machinery. This is likely to require provision for placing everything underground. Portland Canal has good prospects of becoming an important copper producer. There are deposits on the canal itself which have not yet been developed. There is considerable copper associated with the big Portland Canal fissure extending from the Ben Holt through the Silver Bar, Albany and other properties for some distance north of Glacier Creek. There are good copper prospects on Bear River as well. In the event of operations of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. proving successful, other operators will be induced to investigate the field. The copper belt of the Coast Range is continuously traceable from the Fraser River north and the Vancouver Island Range again appears to the north on the Queen Charlotte Islands. In the Kimsuit River indications are unusually favorable in the event of transportation being provided. This can be done by the extension of the logging railway of the Pacific Mills Co. at Ocean Falls. That section of the coast is so favorably regarded as a coming copper camp that an engineer for the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. some years ago strongly advised the acquisition of mining properties there. The copper belt is next exposed on Kutze Inlet, then Gardner Canal, and is being developed at the Paisley Point mine on Douglas Channel in Drum Lummon Bay. It next appears at the Eestall mine, where it has undergone a lot of development, the objection to that property from a copper point of view being the amount of pyrite, high in sulphur, associated with it. The copper belt is next picked up on the Kitsault River at Alice Arm, where it exhibits some very fine ore. Then it occurs on Hidden Creek, where the Granby Co.'s Anyox mine is located. The Portland Canal deposits follow on from there.

Unofficial reports about the importance of the strike made at depth about a month ago at the Big Missouri mine were evidently not exaggerated. Captain Duncan McVichie, consulting engineer for the company, in an official report, following a recent inspection, says that the ore was intersected at a point 1700 feet from the portal of the long cross-cut tunnel at a depth of little more than 500 feet. Since encountering the ore, drifting has proceeded in both directions from the cross-cut for a total length of 250 feet. The drift has shown continuous ore of very excellent grade with principal values in gold, across the width of the drift, and the faces are still in ore of a similar grade. The ore does not occur in a vein, but is in what appears to be a wide fracture zone in a quartz-porphry formation. Development has not proceeded far enough to give out details as to average width and assay values. It is the plan to continue drifting and proving up the extent of the ore body during the winter and also to continue the long crosscut tunnel ahead for a distance of 2400 feet to cut the downward extension of a high-grade vein appearing in the shallow shaft. At a point 400 feet ahead of the present breast of the crosscut tunnel a very attractive showing of ore containing good values in gold, silver, lead and zinc has been indicated by diamond drilling and surface work. It now looks as though Big Missouri was "over the top," although there is an immense amount of work yet to be done before the property goes into production. The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. is conducting the development in a very thorough and systematic manner. Unofficial reports state that the commercial width of Big Missouri's ore body on the cross-cut tunnel level are much more extensive than at present revealed by the drift. One cross-cut driven west from the drift is said to have run for 24 feet without going out of commercial ore. The Day claims, adjoining to the west, have recently been acquired.

The Revenue Consolidated Mines, Ltd. has let a contract for a 600-foot tunnel on No. 2 vein of the Independence mine, the tunnel to be completed in four months. This tunnel will strike the ore bodies 200 feet below No. 1 tunnel. It is expected shipping of ore will be commenced in the near future.

Angus McLeod M. E., who has been examining mining properties in the vicinity of Smithers for interests which he represents, arrived in the city from the interior on yesterday afternoon's train and proceeded to Vancouver on the Catala.

Dido Gurvich returned home on the Prince Rupert this morning from Bellingham where he has been gaining experience in the ring during recent weeks. He will remain in town until after Christmas, at least.

Supplying the world!

FROM the cold, deep waters of the seven thousand miles of British Columbia's Pacific Coast, comes a harvest of fish that the palate of all mankind enjoys! For over twenty years our Province has been a leading factor in Canada's fishing industry. Progress continues unabated... the markets to the ends of the earth demanding ever increasing quantities.

The past ten years have seen this industry grow from 14 million to 27 million dollars... an increase of 89%. Our annual catch totals nearly half the entire Canadian production, and "King Salmon," our marine silver mine accounts for at least 15 million dollars a year.

The distribution from our Provincial hatcheries of millions of salmon eggs to renew the harvest that goes into the nets; the Treaty between Canada and the United States for the protection of the Pacific Halibut (March, 1923) providing a close season from November 16th to February 15th; modernized canneries, 83 in number, and sane Federal Fishing Laws, carefully administered, are the foundation of an industry that will continue to grow.

The fame of British Columbia's Whaling Fisheries is of long standing, and has materially increased the value of the products from this industry. The yearly catch, now about 400, is taken between one station on Vancouver Island and two stations on the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Much as has been done to develop and conserve our fishing industry, there still remains a great deal to be accomplished. The vastness of our waters and the extent and ruggedness of our coast make organized protection and administration extremely costly.

But the safeguarding of our fisheries is a matter which now commands the earnest attention of our government, who realize the importance of conserving this basic industry.

As the oldest industry of our Dominion, fishing has been one of the largest revenue producers, and it is significant that Canada's youngest Province, in less than twenty years, should secure a leading position in the world market. This aggressive search for foreign business has been an asset which undoubtedly has created one of the most amazing records of our basic industries. Well may we be proud of our Fisheries!

Read these announcements and understand your province's progress... clip them out and send them to friends. If you desire extra copies of these announcements, a note to this newspaper will bring them. Advertise your Province!

EMPIRE'S ONE MILLION DEAD IN MEMORY OF THE BRITISH

General Sir Nevil Macready, K.C.B. (inset), unveiled the above tablet to the 1,000,000 dead of the British Empire, in the Church of Notre Dame, at St. Omer, Pas de Calais, France. The inscription on the tablet reads: To the Glory of God And To the Memory of One Million Dead Who Fell in the Great War 1914-1918 And Of Whom The Greater Part Rest in France, and it is repeated below in French. A similar tablet has been placed in Westminster Abbey.

PROGRESS MADE PEACE RIVER

Next Year's Acreage Expected to Be Fifty Percent Higher Than Last

The movement of settlers into the Peace River district this summer has been such that it is predicted next year's crop is likely to comprise 50 percent more acreage than that of the past season, and to give a total grain yield of 20,000,000 bushels. That is more than twice the total amount of wheat grown in the whole province of Alberta in the year preceding the outbreak of the war. Quite evidently the 54 new elevators which were built this year along the lines of the E. D. and B. C. railways were built in the knowledge of an assured increase in production which will tax their capacity and justify the investment.

Another tidbit on the rapidity with which development is taking place in the northwestern area is the fact that the second live stock train for the fall shipping season rolled into the city a few days ago; and these consignments are said to be only the beginnings of a stock movement as notable in its way as the volume of wheat exported from the same territory. Very plainly the Peace River region is making good the claims that have been made for it, and is developing at a pace that may not be appreciated even by the people in Edmonton. That is hardly the kind of territory the Canadian National Railways will want to shut itself out of.—Edmonton Bulletin.

THIS COAT FEATURES A NEW MODE

Here is an interestingly new coat fashion fact for you. Many of the sports coats use two furs for trimming.

For instance, as in the illustrated model, the lining may be of eopard, while the collar, which reaches to the hem on both sides, and the cuffs are of black lynx.

Kashmir, a deservedly popular fabric, is the material used for this coat.

Dry and mellow— like a rare old wine

SOMEWHERE in the memory of every epicure hovers a taste which never will be forgot . . . a glass of Moët & Chandon sipped in the moonlight as the Mediterranean lapped the rocks below . . . a glass of nut-brown ale before the fire of an English wayside inn after a hard day's tramp over downs and moors . . . the steaming, spicy fragrance of hot posset drunk on a snowy Christmas Eve.

A Ginger Ale of Unforgettable Distinction

And somewhere within the memory of every epicure hovers another taste, never to be forgot, always to be long remembered . . . a clear, crystal glass through which the light strikes and divides into a thousand glistening rainbows . . . bubbles rising . . . an intriguing aroma . . . a mellow, subtle taste, not too dry and yet not too sweet . . . a tingle of goodness on the tongue. . . . You have drunk the beverage. "Canada Dry," the champagne of ginger ales!

A Real Ginger Ale Made from Real Jamaica Ginger

"Canada Dry" has rightly won its place among things epicurean. It is made with something of the care and skill expended on the making of a rare old wine. Pure Jamaica ginger is used. Its other ingredients are selected and blended with the utmost care. The proportions in which part of the ingredients are mixed is a carefully guarded secret. Its delightful sparkle is the result of an exact and carefully determined degree of carbonation.

And as a result you have a drink of distinction. Serve it with dinner tonight. Give it to your friends! Order it when you dine out. How delightfully it mixes with other beverages!

FLIRT PICTURE AT WESTHOLME

Outstanding Feature Film to Run Tonight and Tomorrow Night

"The Magnificent Flirt," starring the fashionable and fascinating Florence Vidor, is the big picture at the Westholme tonight.

It is an out and out farce in the French manner and fairly overflows with amusing situations and entertaining complications. Naturally, it has its dramatic moments, but the frothy fun subordinates these incidents.

"The Magnificent Flirt" is the story of a Parisienne who has, during many years, accumulated a horde of male admirers. Finally, she succumbs to the attractiveness of one, a certain Count D'Estranges, whose nephew is in love with her daughter.

The nephew asks the mother for the girl's hand in marriage and, when she agrees to the truth, he kisses her. This kiss is seen by the count, who accuses the woman of being too careless in her love affairs. She is vindicated however, and this forms the climax of the story.

Paramount has given "The Magnificent Flirt" a most attractive production, the modernistic French settings being a distinctive novelty, so far as motion pictures are concerned.

Miss Vidor appears in a number of startling gowns, and her supporting cast is an excellent one.

500 CAR LOADS ON WAY

Japanese Ship Completes Lining And is Moving to Elevator For First Cargo

Today sees the Alberta Wheat Pool's Prince Rupert elevator practically filled with grain which has been flowing in from the prairies during the past two or three weeks in a steady stream of about sixty carloads daily. There is about 1,100,000 bushels in the house today. This quantity would fill over three ships.

Relief in the way of loading out will be commencing late this afternoon or early tomorrow morning when the Japanese steamer Yaye Maru, first grain ship of the season at Prince Rupert, moves down from the ocean dock, where she has been undergoing lining, to start loading a full cargo for the United Kingdom or Continent.

Loadings for Prince Rupert on the prairies continue steady with about five hundred carloads on the way here.
