ORIENTAL QUESTION BEING DISCUSSED

Attorney General Manson Urges All Members of Legislature to Unite on Anti-Oriental Question

Inter-marriage between races would be fatal to development, declares Minister in discussing resolution at Victoria

VICTORIA, March 1.—An invitation to all parties and to all members to unite in drawing up a resolution that would bring the seriousness of the Oriental question in British Columbia home to the rest of Canada without at the same time embarrassing either the Federal or British governments in their relations with Oriental powers, was extended by Hon. A. M. Manson, attorney general, in the Legislature Wednesday afternoon.

A resolution placed before the House by C. F. Davie, Conservative member for Cowichan-Newcastle, urged the abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese treaty insofar as it interfered with British Columbia's right to enact anti-Oriental legislation. It also asked for a declaration of the civil right of Orientals.

Mr. Manson, discussing the resolution, said the greatest danger of all was the probability of the intermixture of the races. He declared it was inevitable from the present trend in British Columbia that the day would come when inter-marriage would become more and more frequent with disastrous results. To his mind it is a situation that must be met and met as promptly as possible," declared the Attorney General. "The situation that is developing is not compatible with the development of our own race."

WRECKED MEN ARE RESCUED

Five of Alaska Reach Seward From Kodiak Island Where They Lost Boat

SEWARD, March 1.—After living for six days on one sack of flour and fish caught in a nearby stream, nine members of the crew of the halibut schooner Alaska, wrecked on Kodiak Island on February 19, walked fifteen miles to an Indian village where the schooner Olive took them to Kodiak. The rescued men arrived at Seward Wednesday en route to Seattle.

Captain Conrad Peterson, part owner of the vessel, remained at the scene of the wreck in an attempt to salvage the gear of the Alaska, which was built in Seattle three years ago. The vessel was insured for $15,000.

The marooned members of the crew, thirty dead, voiced the sentiment that a cutter should be stationed in Northern Pacific waters during the winter months.

EDMONTON MILL RATE HIGHER THIS YEAR

EDMONTON, March 1.—A considerable increase in the Edmonton mill rate over the 46 mills rate of 1927, is forecast by Commissioner David Mitchell owing to the proposed increase of $50,000 said to be desired by the public school board and other necessary departmental increases.

FINE WEATHER FOR FEBRUARY

More Sunshine and Milder Temperature Recorded — Rainfall at First of Month Heavy

A spell of exceptionally bad weather during the first half of February has been fully overshadowed by the fine conditions that have prevailed since the middle of the month. Today marks the fifteenth day since Prince Rupert has had any rain, bright sunshine having prevailed almost continuously in the time intervening except for a few morning fogs and, judging from the high and steady level of the barometer today, present conditions should remain for a while longer.

While rainfall during the past month, totalling 8.40 inches, was considerably in excess of the record of 6.51 inches for February, 1927, sunshine for the month recorded at 82.7 hours was also up from February 1927's 58.7 hours. The weather was also considerably milder this month, the maximum temperature having been 55 while the minimum was 24. Last year's figures were 49 and 11 respectively.

SUFFERED LOSS OF LEG IN ACCIDENT AT LOGGING CAMP

Having suffered the loss of a leg in a painful accident when caught in logging gear at the J. R. Morgan logging camp at Burns Cove between Butedale and Swanson Bay, D. Silvalra, Finn logger, was brought to the city by gasboat from down the coast this morning for treatment in the Prince Rupert General Hospital. Mrs. Palmer, younger daughter of J. R. Morgan, was in charge of the patient on the trip to the city.

SCHOONER MCKINLEY HIT ROCK IN NORTH

Fishermen arriving from the north bring word that the Seattle schooner McKinley, well known here, struck a rock recently on the Portlock banks and shattered her forefoot. The vessel proceeded under her own power into Seward where repairs are being effected. The skipper of the McKinley is Capt. Barney Hansen.

Wonderful Achievement Record Is Set Forth in Report of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police

OTTAWA, March 1.—A wonderful record of achievement is shown in the annual report of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police made public here today by Hon. Earnest Lapointe. Outstanding in the report is the record of the patrol consisting of Inspector T. V. Sandys Wunsch, Sergeant J. R. Patton and Constable W. A. Cooper at Liard, British Columbia, near the Yukon border. According to that record Sergeant Patton's hand became infected with gangrene in January, 1927, and one finger was amputated by a razor wielded by Inspector Wunsch, there being no doctor within reach to do the job.

MRS. DAVIES IS BURIED TODAY

Welsh Rites Observed at Funeral of Well-Known Lady This Afternoon

Shadow cast its shadow over the local Welsh colony on the St. David's day, the anniversary of the patron saint of the principality, with the holding of the funeral this afternoon of one of its best known members, the late Mrs. Meth Davies. The service, which was held at 3 o'clock in the First United Church, was impressive and of a distinctly national character with a large concourse of mourners and sympathizers in attendance.

Rev. A. Wilson officiated with Rev. W. F. Price, pastor of First Baptist Church, assisting. Fitting words of respect and comfort were spoken and there were two Welsh hymns: "Aberystwyth" and "Mab." Mrs. J. H. McLeod sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and Miss M. A. Way presided at the organ during the service with Prof. H. Aubrey Pryce playing violin obligato.

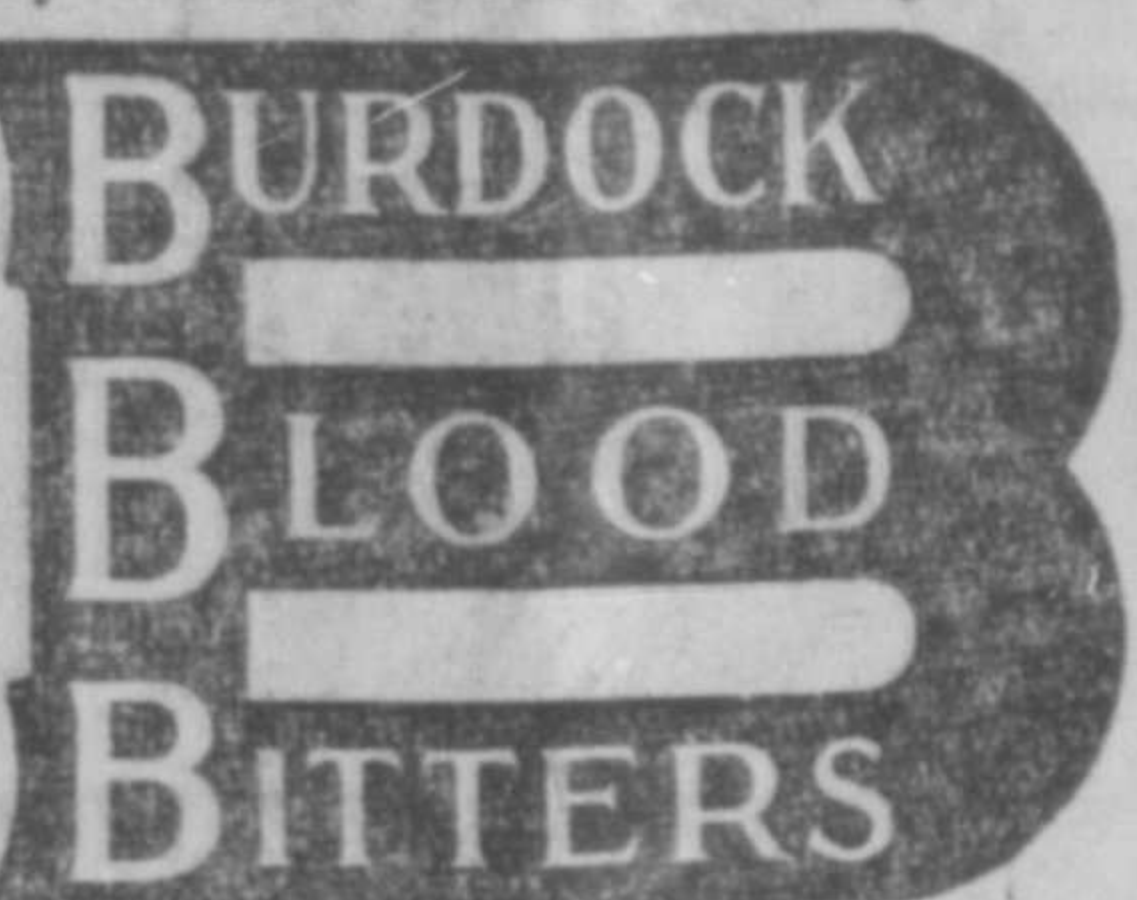

Following the service, interment took place in Fairview Cemetery, burial rites of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association being performed at the graveside. Many mourners followed the cortege to the final resting place. Pallbearers, all Welshmen, were George Hill, John Wynne, O. G. Williams, Tudor Williams, Bert Morgan and W. Vaughan Davies.

There were many beautiful floral tributes, those sending flowers including the following:

RICHMOND'S LOUVRE BIG TWO DAY SALE

Twenty-Five Per Cent Reduction on Absolutely New Stock of Ladywear

The great success of our recent Fashion Show in the Westholme Theatre has decided us to make a special offering for two days, Friday and Saturday, of this week when everything in our store will be on sale at a twenty-five per cent reduction in price. Our large stock of Ladies' Coats, Dresses and Hats is at your disposal—awaiting your choice.

Everything we have to offer is absolutely new stock and none of it has been in our store for more than three weeks. We have no old stock. So you can depend upon getting the latest and newest.

There are about five hundred new season's Dresses—every one different—and every size is available. These are the latest. And you can make your selection from about two hundred Coats, ensemble suits and hand tailored suits. These are in kasha, gabardine, tricotee, serge, etc. and trimmed with real fur. There are hundreds of hats, also.

We have found from experience that the quicker we sell our goods, and the more goods we sell, the cheaper the price we can sell them at. This of course is nothing new. Other people have found this out before. And it's true! For you can see our increasing turnover reflected in our low prices.

Just drop into The Louvre tomorrow or Saturday, for this will be our last sale this season.

IT is the month of March
To Feb. we say good bye
And yet how can we leave
Winter without a sigh.

For winter brought her joys.
The evenings long were bright,
And though we did not love
The days, we liked the night.

But now with sad adieu
We part with winter tame,
And reaching forward greet
The outdoor life and game.

Yes, Spring, we look for you
To bring us grass and flowers,
To send the birds and bees
And pleasant sunshine hours.

SELLING OUT

Our whole stock must be disposed of quickly

In order to get quick action in moving our very large stock as quickly as necessity demands, every article in the Store is now offered at specially reduced prices—with no thought of our former Montreal prices. People of Prince Rupert know the value we have given in the past. This time we are giving greater values than ever. We wish to get rid of every article in our store—quickly. We might sell our stock in lots to some jobber who would put on a sale somewhere else or possibly here and make a profit. Instead of that, we are passing on to the people here these prices, which are even low enough to tempt any jobber. We could tell you here a whole lot about our big stock in many words. But don't believe what we say—unless you like. Come and see for yourself. You will find the prices of these quality goods more nearly approximating cost of manufacture than you even hoped for.

ST. DAVID'S DAY

Today, the first of March, used to be a holy day in Wales, the smallest of the four nations of the United Kingdom, the centre of the British Empire. What Wales lacks in size, however, it makes up for in national spirit which is, if anything, more intense than in any of the neighboring counties. St. David's Day will be observed here as in other parts of the world and due honors will, no doubt, be paid the occasion. The Welshmen have a reputation to live up to and are a valorous race, contributing both to the arts of peace and war. It is notable that Welsh regiments, in war service, hold the record for the number of Victoria Crosses won.

St. David, the patron saint of the principality, whose anniversary this is, lived in the sixth century in Wales and founded many monasteries.

UGLY SCHOOL GROUNDS

(Vancouver Province)

The executives and directors of the Vancouver Property Owners' Association passed a resolution on Friday calling attention to the condition of the grounds surrounding the various Vancouver schools and urging improvement. This is an encouraging sign. Bare, cheerless, ugly beyond description, the average Vancouver school yard has long been a disgrace to the city, and it has been assumed that the reason for this condition has been lack of funds. But if the property owners, who furnish the funds, take an interest in furbishing up these neglected areas, presumably they will be willing to provide the means. In view of the resolution, the school board might at least make an experiment. It might spend a little money brightening up the surroundings of one or two of the schools, so that the citizens may see what a school playground ought to look like. It need not fear that there will be any serious objections. It is far more likely that there will be demands for similar work from other centres.

From the point of view of city beautification, something ought to be done about our school grounds. Our vacant lots are rapidly filling up, and flower beds and shrubs and lawns are replacing stumps and alder brush and blackberry vines. In many a neighborhood the school grounds are the drab spots. This is the reverse of what should be. The schools ought to strike the keynote of beauty. Schools are something more than educational factories. But even if they were nothing more, the influence of environment on the factory product ought to be taken into consideration, and the influence of beautiful surroundings on children in their receptive years can not be overestimated.

NOVA SCOTIA'S MOVE

(Winnipeg Free Press)

The Legislative Assembly of Nova Scotia has finally passed the bill introduced by the Rhodes Government for the abolition of the Legislative Council. The passage of the bill by the council is only a matter of form as Premier Rhodes has lately filled up that body with new members for the particular purpose of making sure that the bill will go through. In fact, Mr. Rhodes has celebrated the event by making it the occasion for a very generous distribution of patronage by appointing a good many more members than was necessary to ensure the passage of the bill.

After the Privy Council decided the government could abolish the Legislative Council and that the members of the body held office at the pleasure of the government, some of the members were still unwilling to vote for the bill abolishing the council and Mr. Rhodes dismissed them. He then proceeded to appoint fourteen new members, representative of all parts of Nova Scotia, upon whom he could depend to support the bill. The new appointments made twenty-two members in all, while the traditional number had been twenty-one. The doomed council is thus to go down with all sails set. The newly appointed members will receive the regular indemnity for the one session and there has been some protest at the expense, since the appointment of fewer members would have served the purpose and the main object of the abolition of the second chamber was economy.

Quebec will now be the only province having a legislature with two chambers, the members of one of which are appointed for life. There is no demand for the abolition of the Legislative Council there on the ground of economy. On the contrary the indemnity of the councillors is to be raised, this session, to $2,500 along with that of the members of the Legislative Assembly.

DEAD NIAGARA CENTRE SWEDEN

Falls There Roared Across Craggy Ridges for 9,000 Years Geologist Says

DUG IMMENSE CANYONS

Disappeared With Retreat of the Ice Northward 25,000 Years Ago

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Mar. 1.—A former Swedish Niagara in the Swedish Midlands 25,000 years old and existing for 9,000 years, when the waters of the Baltic Sea, then without an outlet to the south, forced its way through a rocky barrier in the Swedish province of Nerke and pressed further on to the North Sea, is a startling discovery claimed by H. Munthe, a Swedish geologist, who has now completed his theoretical researches by a number of practical observations of the district in question.

According to Mr. Munthe's report the pressure of the ice, covering Scandinavia and great parts of the European continent, during the glacial period was so heavy that at its centre in Sweden the ground sank about 200 meters. As the ice melted and retreated towards the north the ground rose even higher than its present level about the sea, and thus blocked the southern outlet of the Baltic to the North Sea between Germany and Denmark. Across this ridge both the Stone Age people and animals and plants wandered into Sweden. As the ice continued to retreat the southern parts of Sweden also rose, but in the neighborhood of the present Swedish township of Degerfors in Nerke several deep ravines enabled the pent-up Baltic Sea to find a new outlet. With tremendous force the icy waters of the Baltic widened these canyons, and here the Svea River was precipitated over the steep hills into the Let Rover valley, still in existence, then flowing down to the North Sea through the Lake of Venern. For 9,000 years these gigantic waterfalls roared across the craggy ridges in about twenty different channels, digging out canyons twenty-five meters deep, polished the edges of the rocks, shaped perpendicular cliffs, giant boulders, deep rock hollows and layers of out glacier gravel that are now left to tell the tale of the pre-historic periods of the country.

The average height of this pre-historic Niagara is calculated to have been about sixty feet and its width over 2,000 feet, flowing a water flow of more than 6,000 cubic meters a second. This mighty spectacle was gradually reduced to nothing as the ice continued its retreat and the ground rose correspondingly. Meanwhile, the land ridge between Germany and Southern Sweden was broken through, and the Baltic once more recovered its old outlet until at last the North Sea invaded the then Danish mainland and created the island empire that is Denmark today.

The "dead falls" of Degerfors present a majestic aspect even today although the channel are dry, and trees and plants have grown in their gullies, thus enlivening the austere greyness of the rocks, once the bed of the giant river.
 Similar "dead falls," dating, however, from later periods, are found elsewhere in Sweden, the most famous being those of Ragunda in the province of Aangermanland, which have become a real Mecca of international geologists.

SWEDEN HAD MUSIC EARLY

Pre-Historic Horns Recently Discovered Tell of Harmonies of 2,500 Years Ago

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Mar. 1.—Musical instruments, dating from the Bronze Age and found in Sweden's soil, prove that the rule of harmony and the different keys of music were known by the Swedes 2500 years ago, as proved by the research of Dr. Nilhén, a Stockholm archaeologist, reported in an interesting article, just published. In certain localities those beautifully curved bronze horns are found lying together and when examined show that two horns always are mutually harmonized in C, D, E, or G, and that these were shaped in different curves so that two horns blown by players standing beside each other, together to make a rough circle. The archaeologist assumes that the horns were used for religious rites as well as during battles. The horns musicians are often pictured in the numerous Bronze Age rock carvings in Sweden, where pre-historic artists tried to depict social and religious life in roughly hewn human figures.

 Doctor Nilhén even assumes that many of the melodious Swedish folk-songs may trace their origin back to the Bronze Age and adds that the folkings of later times were known to sing duets.
 It has generally been assumed that the laws of harmony were discovered during the Middle Ages, since the Greeks and Romans do not seem to have known these principles of music. Thanks to the discoveries about the Swedish Bronze Age horns and bugles that have been practically tried out by present-day musicians, it is possible that northern influence has been brought to bear on Medieval church music.
 The big bronze horns are ingeniously joined together by means of a quite modern-looking device so that one part of the horn was put on another and fastened by a bolt on the lower part that was thrust through a hole on the upper one. These horns, joined together in three different sections, like the safety pins found amongst the Bronze Age remains, give evidence of the inventive genius of the Bronze Age people in Sweden.
 Among other pre-historic instruments found in the Swedish soil are bronze drums of excellent sound quality and an amber bridge used on a Viking time instrument with 4 or 6 strings, most probably the kind of small harp that was so popular during the migratory period of the Teuton tribes.
 A Deacon, until recently in charge of the Cape Lazo wireless station, arrived from the south yesterday to join the staff of the Digby Island station. He was accompanied north by Mrs. Deacon and child.

NEW METLAKATLA MUCH TOO HEAVY

Defeated Local High School Team by Score of 40 to 22 in Match Last Evening

The visiting New Metlakatla (Alaska) High School team proved too heavy for the local High School last night and, by a score of 40 to 22, won the first game of what promises to be one of the most interesting basketball series that has been played here yet this season. Nevertheless, the locals put up a game fight in the face of such odds as much greater weight and admittedly superior skill. The New Metlakatlans proved themselves to be a fast and clean bunch of players and three members of the team proved almost uncatchy shooters. They were able to find the basket from almost all directions. The three men on the forward line undoubtedly dominated the team. To night, the New Metlakatla team will be pitted against a Senior select team, probably the same one that recently played Port Simpson Athletic Club for the championship of Northern British Columbia.

Details of scoring in the game last night were as follows:

New Metlakatla—T. Hayward, 16; M. Faucet, 9; J. Marsden, 10; B. Tait, 4; J. Milne, 1; total, 40.

Prince Rupert—Harold Macdonald, 4; Bob Stalker, 3; Danny Morrison, 1; Tom Kelsey, 19; Bob Irvine, 2; total, 22.

In a ladies' game between the old Maple Leafs and a select team from the High School and Drill Team, the former had no difficulty in winning by a score of 29 to 13 against a side which might have had some stronger members had all the players to select from been available.

Stars beat Tuxis Boys 32 to 13 in a Junior League engagement, the third game of the evening.

E. A. Mann refereed the two main games and Ralph Smith the Junior match.

A good-sized crowd of fans watched the games with considerable interest. There should be a much larger turnout this evening.

SPORT CHAT

Professional hockey this season has been attended with many accidents, some of a rather serious nature. The first night of the National League season saw Taffy Abel, of New York Rangers, sustain a fractured wrist when he fell in a skirmish. It was unavoidable, but Abel was out of the game for weeks. Just recently Happy Day, of Toronto Maple Leafs, was stepped on by a player during a scrimmage, and a tendon in his leg nearly severed by a sharp point of a skate. He will be out of the game for the balance of the season, and may never play hockey again. Still more recently Doctor Bill Carson, also of the Leafs, sustained a fractured skull when he fell backwards to the ice following a hard check. Carl Voss, of Ravinas, in the Canadian Professional League, was hit in the mouth by a butt end, and a fractured jaw put him on the shelf for some weeks. Other injuries sustained by players include a broken leg by Babe Dye, of Chicago, and a fractured skull by Dick Irvin of the same club. Leo, Bourgeault, who replaced Taffy Abel, inherited his ill-luck and sustained a broken nose.

Pete Lepine, of Canadiens, broke his shoulder; Billy Burch, of Americans had a knee badly hurt, and Dunc Munro of Maroons had a hand broken. Dutton, the man who accidentally caused Irvin's injury, was a temporary patient in hospital for some time with knee and back injuries. Ryler and Fisher of the Kitchener squad in the Canadian League are both on the injured list, while Jimmy Martin, of the Port William Senior-Ontario-Hockey Association squad, had his right eye removed as a result of an injury sustained when the puck hit him in practice. On the Pacific coast, Jack Cranston, of Vancouver's Monarchs, is out of hockey for the rest of the year with an injured knee, while the entire first string defense of the Regina aces has been shelved for the rest of the season as the result of various injuries.

Wallace C. Orchard, C.P.R. general agent, called last night by the Prince Rupert for Stewart on company business. He expects to return to the city next Tuesday.

ROTARY HEAD ENTERTAINED

Meets Members of Executive and Chairmen of Committees and Gives Address

Hank Manny of Seattle, district governor Number 1, Rotary International, who arrived from the south yesterday, was last night the guest of Acting President George and Mrs. Rorie at the home, Fourth Avenue, West. The council of the club, including the executive and chairmen of committees, had a long conference with the Governor and was given a great deal of useful information in regard to the duties of officers and committees and the general working of clubs elsewhere.

This afternoon Mr. Manny addressed the club at the regular luncheon in the Commodore Cafe and enthused the members with the importance of Rotary International and the work it is doing in the world, particularly as a factor in world peace.

IMPROVEMENT AT SALT LAKE

Over an Acre of Land Levelled for Use of Picnickers

Inspection was made this week by C. H. Orme, a member of the Parks Board, and Ernest Smith, provincial engineer, of the work done at Salt Lakes Park during the winter. Over an acre of land has been levelled opposite the head of the Bay, which will be plenty large enough for sports and games at the various picnic events during the coming summer. It will be a great improvement over anything hitherto used in this neighborhood.

Plans are now being made for seeding the land and making it ready for the purpose for which it was planned.

Mr. Orme says the contractors seem to have done their work well and when the people see the improvement he feels sure they will be pleased with it. The trees alongside the water are still remaining, the levelling having been

NEW CRUISERS USEFUL SHIPS

U.S. Has None of Ten Thousand Ton Class Now in Use but Building Number

AID OVERSEAS TRADE
Faster Than Capital Ships and Almost as Powerful Says Admiral Hughes

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 1.—The 10,000-ton cruiser has been portrayed to congress as a dapper salesman in time of peace and a two-fisted fighter in time of war.

Capable of showing its heels to anything on the sea, this type of war-craft with its trim lines, its long eight-inch guns and its low smokestacks, presents a natty appearance which, in the opinion of Secretary Curtis D. Wilbur of the navy, makes a profound impression upon merchants in the widely scattered ports of the world.

The navy is building eight of these ships and has asked congress to authorize the construction of more.

"Their duties are of a wide variety, not the least of which is to air our overseas trade," Wilbur told the house naval committee. "Our merchants and manufacturers must not only hold the foreign markets we have gained, but as European conditions return to normal we must ever seek new markets. Showing the flag has a very marked influence upon their endeavors, and the measure of their success is influenced in no small degree by the prestige which up-to-date and smart-looking modern cruisers create and foster."

Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operations, told the committee that the 10,000-ton cruiser is a vessel of universal service, both in peace and in war—in peace to cultivate friendly relations, to show the flag wherever United States interests require, and generally to promote the respect and good will of the world for the United States.

"These cruisers are second in offensive and defensive power only to the capital ship," he said. "They are faster than the capital ship and will overtake, under average sea conditions, all other types of naval and merchant ships. They may give battle on equal or advantageous terms to any but the capital ships."

The 10,000 ton cruiser sprang almost overnight into prominence in the naval armaments of the world powers.

WAS VERY WEAK NERVOUS AND MELANCHOLY

Mrs. Geo. McKenzie, Campbellford, Ont., writes:—"A short time ago I was troubled very badly with my heart and nerves, the cause of it, I think, was my going through the change of life."

"I was very weak and melancholy, and so nervous I could hardly bear to hear a clock ticking, and I did not sleep well."

"I was advised to try so I sent at once for a box; took them and got another, and before they were all gone I felt good, my nerves are fine, I do not mind any noise, and I can sleep well. I can not recommend them too highly to those suffering as I did."

Price 50c. a box at all druggists and dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

as a result of the Washington army treaty placing a ban upon the construction of larger types of war vessels. The United States has yet to launch the first of this size of past treaty ships, although two, the Salt Lake City and Pensacola, are nearing completion. The nearest modern United States warship to this class is the group of ten 7,500 ton cruisers of the class of the Memphis which brought Colonel Lindbergh home from France.

Except for these ten, all other United States cruisers are nearing 20 years of age and are classed as obsolete and obsolescent, most of them being in a decommissioned status. The Pittsburgh, a 13,000 ton cruiser, is flagship of the Asiatic fleet and is one of the few of these old cruisers kept in active service.

GOVERNMENT TAKES HAND IN SAANICH TAXATION PROBLEM

VICTORIA, March 1.—Saanich municipality is having a difficulty over taxation problems. Part of the municipality is urban and part rural and the farmers in the rural district object to paying city rates of taxation. They are asking to be allowed to withdraw from the municipality.

The services of Government Municipal experts were tendered by Attorney-General Manson when the Legislature took official notice of the difficulties which are convulsing Victoria's neighbor.

Unless the Government takes hold of the Saanich situation immediately worse trouble will be experienced, the Legislature was warned by R. H. Pooley, Opposition leader, and Mr. Manson indicated that the Government had been watching the municipal situation carefully.

Mr. Pooley introduced the matter by urging that Robert Baird, municipal inspector, be instructed to take the Saanich taxation situation in hand. He pointed out that farmers of Saanich, fearing high taxes, were demanding secession from the municipality.

"I believe inside of a week Mr. Baird could settle most of these difficulties," Mr. Pooley said. "The situation is growing like a snowball and unless something is done we are going to have a bad split in Saanich and there will be a lot of trouble."

WATCHES SITUATION

Mr. Manson informed the House that he had instructed Mr. Baird some months ago to keep an eye on the Saanich situation with a view to minimizing the present difficulties.

"But Government intervention is not always welcomed by municipalities," he remarked. Mr. Baird is an exceedingly able man of great tact, and so far as we can we will be glad to give our services in adjusting the difficulties and in avoiding any cleavage. We would be very glad to go it, bearing in mind that we can only tender our services but cannot compel acceptance."

POLICE BOAT FOR VANCOUVER ISLAND

Legislature Passes Vote of $8,500 for Craft to be Built for Patrol Service

VICTORIA, Feb. 29.—In order more effectually to police the rockbound and tempestuous West Coast of Vancouver Island, the Provincial Government will shortly have constructed a powerful launch, fitted especially for the character of the work to be undertaken. Announcement to this effect was made in the Legislature by Attorney General Manson in submitting estimates of $8,500 for the craft.

The Attorney General said that the boat would be equipped with accommodation for a crew of two police officers, and a cell for prisoners. It would combine the ordinary duties of the police patrol with game law service, he said.

BOAT NECESSARY
Major R. J. Burde, member for Alberni district, told the House of the necessity for such a boat, in which he was supported by H. H. Pooley, Opposition leader, both of whom were familiar with the dangerous character of the shore line that had become known to mariners as "the graveyard of the Pacific."

Without a boat specially constructed for the service, said Major Burde, police work on the West Coast was hampered, for it was often a week or more before an officer could reach the scene of a crime. He instanced cases where inquests had to wait for days until a policeman could make steam-boat connections to carry him to the scene of a tragedy.

The boat, the Attorney General said, would be forty-five feet in length. It would be so arranged that when it was necessary to have both policemen engaged in the handling of the craft prisoners would be conveniently and comfortably held in a special cell room. He had made inquiries and had been told that $8,500 would cover the cost of the boat, and therefore was asking the House for that amount. The vote passed.

WINTER SPORTS IN MOSCOW ENJOYED

These Have Taken Hold of all Classes and Skating on the Ponds is General

MOSCOW, March 1.—At the moment the Moscow public is chiefly interested in the winter sports meeting, skating competitions, and long-distance ski-running. Groups of competitors starting from all parts of Russia and covering over 30 miles daily are arriving in Moscow to receive a solemn welcome from the members of the Government. One party from the Northern Dvina covered 670 miles in 21 days, ski running five or six hours daily, another party 340 miles in eight days. Winter sports in the last few years have taken hold of all classes, and numbers of the Soviet People's Commissioners are to be seen skating daily amid crowds on the Moscow ponds. As much space in the newspapers is taken up with these important affairs as with the reports of corn collection, which, after the adoption of part of the opposition program of bringing pressure on the richer peasants, are much more hopeful than they were.
