Welcome Correspondence

J. F. MAGOR, President

A LETTER from Fisheries Minister Sinclair ad-/ I vising that early action may be expected on construction of an airport here is the most welcome bit of correspondence for Prince Rupert that the post-office has handled in a long time.

While Mr. Sinclair did not elaborate on details of the investigation which is said to have been made, his note was encouraging in its reference to the importance of this city as a point on the great airlanes of the Pacific area.

Its possibilities in this connection come readily to the imagination. With Prince Rupert as a stopoff, the busy air centre of Edmonton comes within immediate scope of the Orient and this, in turn, opens up still further the travel opportunities for central and eastern Canada.

For flights running north and south, Prince Rupert is in an equally advantageous position. Being almost mid-way between Vancouver and Whitehorse and equally accessible to passengers from Queen Charlotte Islands and the interior, it would be a natural stopping point for planes operating on this route, as well as for those flying to and from Alaska.

A third route that offers promise of much traffic is a triangular one between this city, Prince George and Vancouver. At present there is no flight which in this way serves central, interior and southern British Columbia.

In defence, too, an airport here will make air protection possible that could ward off a threat not only to this strategic port and neighboring coastal points but to inland centres and transportation facilities.

Those who believe that an airfield at Prince Rupert would be inconvenient for normal traffic since it must be located on an island should be reminded that bus- and car-carrying ferries are an established form of transportation in the southern part of the province. Residents of Ladner commute every day to Vancouver by this means. For the inhabitants of Salt Spring Island such a ferry provides the only access to Vancouver, except for air transportation, and the distance involved is much greater than it would be here. Indeed, this kind of service would be far handier than driving along crowded airport road.

It will be noted that Ted Applewhaite, our federal member, is mentioned as having been most active in drawing attention to the advantages of an airport here. The service he is rendering his constituency and the province in this and other ways will be widely appreciated and the contemplated airport would be an admirable standing tribute to his work. Those of the city and region who have campaigned so energetically for this valuable project will receive credit, too, for being alive to the needs of air travel in general and this part of B.C. in particular.

The airport is not a firm promise yet and the campaign must continue. But the prospect of its proving a successful one adds an incentive that should carry us through to the goal we seek.

GOD'S SALVATION

By REV. FRED ANTROBUS

"And it was revealed unto Him by the Holy Spirit, that he should not see death before he had seen the Lord's Christ."-Luke 2:25-35.

According to the evangelist Luke, there were many who were living in expectation of the coming of the Messiah-"all them who looked for redemption in Jerusalem." Among them was one obscure man, a God-fearing man, named Simeon, who comes into prominence, and receives abiding remembrance throughout this whole age of grace because linked by the Spirit of God with the great Redeemer of men, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Here's How To Give Up A Trick and Gain Two

One of the marks of a fine player is the willingness to give up a trick which can obviously be won, in the interests of an over-all plan for successful king won. Another heart lead put Mr. Masters in with the ace This was the crucial point. It was clear that Mr. Dale had no more diamonds. But neither did Mr. Abel. On a diamond return it appeared that Mr. Abel could trump high, pick up any outstanding trump and enter the dummy on the second round of spades. Club losers in the closed hand could then be discarded

Obviously, dummy could not be entered except in the spade suit. Therefore, it was essential to knock out that entry while Mr. Dale still had a trump left. (If Mr. Dale started with only North two trumps, there was no way 1 D to beat the hand with any lead.) | 2 P Lead the ace and another spade, then? No. because that

DETROIT -One time hockey star Laurry Aurie, pint-sized guy with a big fighting heart, died

The former Detroit Red Wing forward died after suffering a stroke at the wheel of his car Thursday night. He was 47 years

Aurie, a midget in comparison to some of the rink aces of his year, played on the Detroit National Hockey League championconstructed trap-shooting range ship teams of 1936 and 1937.

He was on the right wing of the sensational power line of Aurie, Marty Barry and Herbie Lewis and was the terror of the league despite his weight, which ranged only from 139 to 145 pounds.
