BRUSSELS, July 5.—Rumors that Capt. Loewenstein was a possible suicide were energetically denied today at the financial office in Brussels. Search to be Made for Secret Gold Mine in North by Airplane Arriving at Edmonton Few Days

EDMONTON, July 5.—Search for a secret gold mine is to be made by means of a Fokker seaplane expected to arrive here in a few days. Stories of the mine and of the murder of two men who took $5,000 worth of gold from it by crude methods, are told here and are exciting the wonder and curiosity of all who know the vast north country.

The mine was located in a secret canyon and three McLeod brothers, acting on information supplied by the Indians, found it. They went in by way of the Slikine River in Northern British Columbia. Murdo McLeod, a member of the party, tells of the trip and of the murder of his two brothers.

"Here is the queer thing that we first found," says the survivor of the ill-fated three who were the first white men to see the mine.

NO TELL-TALE SMOKE "Although the Indians had left their camp and moved right where they had been working, and their campsites were there, too, there wasn't a single sign of a fire." Apparently the Indians had never lit fires there, taking in supplies of jerked meat, so that no tell-tale smoke would betray the secret of the gold to some wandering white.

For three months the brothers worked in there, living off the country. They then went out with samples, and determined to work out the rest of the summer to make a "grub-stake" to enable them to go back to the mine for a long stay. In those days, and even yet, it must be remembered, it took the greater part of a summer to make the journey with horses or canoes.

The brothers separated, Charlie was on the Mackenzie, a long way from the other two, when Billy and Frank were told by Indians that a party of whites in Dawson, Yukon territory, had learned the secret of the mine and were starting a stampede for the gold.

FOUND BROTHERS' BONES Owing to the urgency of the situation, the other two brothers did not have time to get Charlie. They went in themselves. That was the last of them for three years, when the brother, alarmed, conducted a search on clues given him by Indians, and found the bones of his two brothers around the ashes of their last camp fire.

McLeod's eyes smouldered as he recalled the tragedy. "They were not murdered by Indians; they were murdered by a white man! I know who that man was, but he's dead now. Little good that gold he stole ever did him!"

TOLMIE OR MACLEAN

One of the features of the speech of the Conservative leader, Dr. S. F. Tolmie, delivered throughout the province, has been a criticism of the financial policy of the present government. He states that the government spends too much, runs the province into debt and generally assails the policy of the present Premier.

Dr. MacLean has been a member of the government at Victoria for the past twelve years and as such is partly responsible for the financial policy. At the time he took office British Columbia bonds could not be sold except at such a discount as to make the sale prohibitive. Today B.C. bonds are in great demand and the credit of the province is so good that its financial condition meets the commendation of experts as well as of the buyers of securities.

When Dr. Tolmie gets a record such as that of Premier MacLean and an experience such as his, he will be in a position to criticize. He has been on the spending end of the government at Ottawa and later as organizer for the Conservative party did little but spend money. Now he is out as critic of those who have brought the finances of the country into such excellent shape that buyers of securities are eager for provincial bonds.

BRITISH SELFISHNESS

The British people in Canada as represented by the Anglican Church seem intensely selfish in their attitude toward the rest of the world. They object to the fertile lands of the Dominion being used by other than British people except in such proportion as they shall designate.

But British people, speaking generally, do not want to come to Canada. They can do as well at home. They do not want to come to a new country and endure the hardships of the pioneer, when they can live in comfort in England or Scotland.

Because British people will not come to Canada in large numbers, it is suggested by various diocesan groups that other people should be prevented from enjoying the privileges of life in Canada by the imposition of a quota, restricting their number to correspond with those from Britain.

While self-preservation is the first law of nature, it is not the first law of Christianity. The Christian doctrine is that others must be considered before ourselves. To many of those people who come from European countries, Canada is a wonderful land full of opportunity. To hold them back awaiting our own convenience would be a grievous sin against humanity.

We object to the immigration of people from Asia because we say they do not assimilate. We cannot say that of the people from the countries of Europe. Take the case of Prince Rupert, one of the most cosmopolitan cities of Canada, and we find the young people all growing up together, educated together in the schools and becoming good Canadians, just as good as the British born, and in many cases better, because more adaptable to Canadian conditions.

While we do not agree with the establishment of large foreign colonies or large British colonies in Canada, we do believe that the lands of this country are better cultivated by Europeans than left unused while the people of Europe are in dire need of just such an outlet. We cannot play the dog in the manger.

If Europeans are improved by bringing them to Canada, then it is our duty as Canadians to accommodate them if we possibly can. We do not bring them here to benefit ourselves, although we must admit that motive is often present. It should not be present, however, at a church meeting. We should be willing to admit them because they will be benefited. The only thing to guard against is against the lowering of our own ideals. The matter of nationality can safely be left, we think, for politicians and statesmen, and church people need not worry over them for there are other Christian nations besides our own and just as Christian.

This question has nothing to do with the present election but is suggested from the recent action of the Anglicans of Alberta in suggesting a quota against Europeans coming to Canada.

ROBERT WATSON GIVES ADDRESS

TELLS OF EARLY HISTORY OF HUDSON BAY COMPANY HERE AND ELSEWHERE

Many interesting anecdotes of the early history of Western Canada were told by Robert Watson, noted Canadian author, in an address before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club yesterday afternoon. Mr. Watson dealt principally with the foundation and history of the Hudson Bay Co.'s Norway House at the north of Lake Winnipeg in Manitoba and the Northwest post of Fort St. James, north of Vanderhoof. "The First Capital of Northern British Columbia," the address proved most diverting and was fully appreciated by members of the Gyro Club and their guests. L. W. Waugh, president of the club, occupied the chair and duly thanked Mr. Watson. Other guests were J. H. Pillsbury, Dr. W. T. Kergin and C. E. Cullin of Prince Rupert and E. M. LeFlury of Vancouver.

Norway House, the speaker said, was founded by Chief Factor William Sinclair who served with the Hudson Bay Co. from 1792 to 1818 and was one of Western Canada's most famous early traders. It was named Norway House because of the many Norwegian trappers who were there. The site was chosen to meet the requirements of trade between Fort Garry, near the present Winnipeg, and York Factory. The speaker gave many interesting incidents in the history of the post and in pretty words, referred to its surroundings.

Fort St. James was founded in 1806 for the North West Co. after the visit of Sir Alexander Mackenzie whose overland journey hastened development of British Columbia. Simon Fraser followed closely in his work of establishing posts. John Stuart was the first factor, being in charge of New Caledonia district until 1824. Sir James Douglas, first governor of British Columbia, was located at the post for several years and the speaker referred to interesting incidents regarding the stay there of Douglas who, on the occasion, was nearly killed by the Indians through having caused the execution of one of them. Successive chief factors were William Connelley, Peter Warren Dease, Peter Skene Ogden, Donald Manson, I. A. Graham and Robert McFarlane, all of whom had left their imprint in the history of central British Columbia. The speaker credited Manson with some of the exploration accomplishments for which credit had gone to others.

Mr. Watson's address, largely of a historical nature, was none the less most interesting. He has a fund of knowledge of early affairs and conditions of the West and is a speaker with a different story than has been heard here for some time. He spoke again before the Rotary Club today, that organization having as its guests of the occasion, members of the Women's Canadian Club.

The MAN of the HOUR

DR. J. D. MACLEAN, Premier

TWELVE years of social reform and continued advancement under Liberal administration have brought forward Dr. MacLean as our Man of the Hour. He has been intimately associated with every measure of reform during twelve strenuous years of office as Provincial Secretary, Minister of Health, Minister of Finance, Minister of Education and Premier of British Columbia.

The Liberal Government has kept faith with the working people who build the prosperity of this country.

The Liberal Government has a record of achievement with which no other administration has ever come before the electorate.

Are we going to let Dr. MacLean continue the policy that is making our Province famous, that is bringing dollars and cents to every workingman and woman in British Columbia?

Are we going to accept the record of the Liberal Administration and show them our confidence by again reposing in them the trust they have so completely proved themselves worthy of and able to carry on?

Twelve years have given the Government a complete grasp of the needs of the common people of this Province. Is it likely that this knowledge will benefit these people if an untried number of men have to start all over again at Victoria?

Something accomplished, something done, has marked twelve years of Liberal Administration. As voters, we know what has been done for us, and appreciate it. We approve of Dr. MacLean's P. G. E. Policy. . . . we know that further reductions in taxation will follow. . . . and that Dr. MacLean has pledged himself and his Government to develop the agricultural area and natural resources of this Province.

It is a natural and human thing for us to show our appreciation and gratitude for these accomplishments. . . . to show our approval of Dr. MacLean's policy of progressive and constructive legislation by returning him to power on July 18th and electing the Liberal candidates to support him.

TERRACE HAS CELEBRATION

PROGRAM OF SPORTS ON DOMINION DAY ENJOYED AT LITTLE'S ISLAND

TERRACE, July 5.—The Terrace Women's Institute and the Terrace Assembly Native Sons of Canada joined forces this year in the Dominion Day celebration. The affair took the form of a basket picnic, held at Little's Island and was undoubtedly the most successful picnic ever held in Terrace. Weather conditions were ideal, it being warm but cloudy throughout the day. The picnic grounds, which are situated a mile south of town along the bank of the Skeena, were in splendid condition and a more suitable spot for a picnic would be hard to find. By noon a large crowd had gathered. Tables were set and all in thoroughly enjoyed the abundance of good eats produced from the baskets. During the afternoon a full list of sports was carried through and created keen interest, the entire crowd growing up as well as children entering into the spirit of the day's celebration in a very sportive manner. Later the children were lined up and each child was given two tickets for ice cream cones. About two hundred and fifty tickets were handed out and there was a great scramble for the refreshment stand. The children also greatly enjoyed a scramble among the new mown hay piled on the grounds and a number also braved the cold waters of the Skeena and went bathing. Supper was served about five o'clock after which all left for home, pronouncing it one of the best holiday celebrations ever held here. The celebration was concluded with a public dance at night, given by the Native Sons and very largely attended. Music was furnished by J. McLaren's orchestra and the catering was handled by the Women's Institute. The following is a list of the prize winners at the afternoon sports: PRIZE WINNERS. Foot Races. 5 Years and Under—1. LIBERAL LADIES ENTERTAIN AT THE COMMODORE

ORGANIZER GIVES ADDRESS OUT-LINING WHAT LIBERALS HAVE DONE FOR WOMEN. There was a great scene at the Commodore Cafe yesterday when the local Liberal ladies entertained their friends and supporters at tea, the outstanding event being an interesting and instructive address by the organizer who told of the work done for women and children in this province by the Liberal government. The place was filled to the doors and all seemed enthusiastic in regard to the cause. The speaker told of individual cases which she had known of relief given others by means of the government pensions. This was an instance of real help which was worthy of the support of all women. Mothers who were trying to bring up their children were thus enabled to carry out their duties to them. Mention was also made of such laws as those dealing with workmen's compensation, minimum wage and the protection of children, in all of which the British Columbia government had led. The speaker stated that the present Liberal and the Liberal candidate had both been identified with the passing of every measure which had been for the benefit of the working people of his province. When Hon. Peter Heenan recently asked why British Columbia was so much ahead of the other provinces in the matter of social legislation he was told that it was because the government of the province was one that did things. There should be no thought of changing these men who did things or the uncertainty of the opposition party. Mention was also made of the fact that the only two women candidates at the present election were Liberals. Laws passed by the Liberal party for the benefit of the mass of the people were enumerated as Workmen's Compensation Act Amendments, Hours of Work Act, Weekly Half Holiday Amendment Act, Coal Miners' Regulations Amendment Act, Returned Soldiers' Act, Mothers' Pensions Act, Deserted Wives Maintenance Act, Maternity Protection Act, Semi-monthly Payment of Wages Act, Minimum Wage for Men and Women, Old Age Pensions, Factories Amendment Act, Industrial Disputes Act, Juvenile Courts Act, Parents' Maintenance Act, Equal Guardianship of Infants Act. There was a musical program including solos by Mrs. W. Cruikshank piano selections by Miss Margaret McCaffery, and selections by the Westholme orchestra. A brief address was also given by Fred Stork.

FATHER Did The Washing Just Once

IF Father would take his turn at the tub just one time, old fashioned wash-day would vanish from your home forever. He would insist, for your sake, and for the general good of the family, that you let us shoulder the woes of washday. That's our job you know. We're organized for it. We can do the work more quickly and economically than you can. And you may doubt this, but it's a fact that we'll do it better, too. That's because we have facilities no home laundry could possibly have.
