TWO MINING DEALS NEAR SMITHERS BODIES AND WRECKED PLANE REPORTED SEEN BY AVIATOR

Two Mining Deals Put Through in the South by McGill of Smithers

Interior Lawyer and Mining Broker Did Much Publicity Work for Interior District While in Vancouver

L. S. McGill of Smithers, who arrived from the south on the Prince George this morning and continued east accompanied by his two children, did some good publicity work while in the south and arranged two deals whereby the financing of two Hudson Bay Mountain properties are to be financed.

Mr. McGill spent the past four weeks in the south in connection with mining enterprises owned or handled by him in the Hudson Bay Mountain section. He was also present at the 23rd annual convention of the Northwest Mining Association held in Spokane and in his capacity as President of the Omineca Branch of the B.C. Chamber of Mines he addressed that gathering on the resources of Central British Columbia. He was also the speaker at a luncheon gathering in Vancouver on March 6, when he spoke on "Mining Opportunities in Omineca Mining Division." That was a joint luncheon held under the auspices of the Mining Bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade, the British Columbia Chamber of Mines and the British Columbia division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy. Vancouver papers report that the luncheon was an outstanding success with the largest attendance present that has been at any of these joint luncheons in recent years.

While in the south Mr. McGill completed arrangements for the taking up of the Mamie property on Hudson Bay Mountain, owned by the estate of the late John A. Aldrich, well known to Smithers prospector who died two years ago. The Mamie is a gold-zinc property immediately adjoining the other Duthie holdings and has been developed in the past largely by Mr. Duthie. At the time the Federal Mining Co. was in control, the previous option on the Aldrich property was dropped.

Another deal completed by Mr. McGill while in the south was on the Pico-Aspen Group, another well-known Hudson Bay Mountain property near Evelyn. This group has been developed in recent years by A. C. Garde, the mining engineer, to the extent of some twenty-thousand dollars. There are a number of showings on the property including silver-lead-zinc showings with high values, grey copper running up to six hundred ounces in silver, and also gold-silver showings that may prove to be of large size.

The new deal is a three year option with $1200 cash paid. Money for a development campaign this year and next has also been provided and Mr. Garde will be in charge of this work, which is due to start as soon as weather conditions permit.

Mr. McGill reports that very great interest is taken in the Omineca district by people in Seattle, Spokane, Victoria and Vancouver. The present stock enthusiasm in the latter city is being turned to good account by some of the mining companies. Duthie Mines Limited stock is the favorite but present holders are not ready to sell so very little, if any, trading has taken place in it. The Topley-Richfield also attracted great attention but has fallen off considerably since the re-organization of the company effected on the 8th inst. There is also much talk in Vancouver about the Silver Cup and Comet Groups near New Hazelton, which are being developed by W. B. Dorning and associates. The Mohawk Mine at New Hazelton is also attracting attention owing to the high values.

Exhibition Report is an Excellent One and Good Suggestions Made

All Debts Liquidated and Improvements Paid for During Year Says Report of President Dobb

THE annual report of President Dobb of the Northern B.C. Agricultural and Industrial Association read at last night's meeting in the City Hall dealt with all the activities of the organization and showed how in face of a great handicap a success had been made. In particular it made suggestions for future improvements such as the extension of Sixth Avenue to the fair grounds and the rebuilding of midway, possibly in front instead of behind the fair building. The report which proved most satisfactory to the meeting is an excellent one. It follows:

The 1927 annual report which is before you proves conclusively that the association was fully justified in its decision to continue the annual fair. The liabilities which the 1927 board assumed do not prove a detriment as many citizens feared, because the board refused to be daunted by such a thing as a deficit and set out to work courageously to lay the foundations for a fair that proved successful as borne out by a report issued by the B.C. Fairs Association from the department of agriculture, wherein we find that Prince Rupert stood third in the whole province on "Management of Fair" with a percentage of 19.2 out of a maximum of 20 points, first in "Interest of Public in Exhibits and Judging" with a maximum of 15 points, and was the only fair in the province having a maximum of 10 points for "Domestic Science and Ladies' Work." In "Support of the Fair by Local Exhibitors" we were the only fair that ranked above par, having a higher percentage than any other fair in the province. This is indeed very gratifying to the directors and will be appreciated by the membership.

SHIP SAILED ANOTHER DUE

MANSEPOOL LEFT TODAY FOR EUROPE AND ANTHEA COMING TOMORROW

The British freighter Mansepool, Prince Rupert's twentieth grain ship of the season, pulled away from the elevator wharf at 8.30 this morning and, after taking on water at the ocean dock, sailed for the United Kingdom or Continent with a full cargo of grain loaded here.

Pouring of grain into the steamer Demeteront started this morning and it is anticipated that there will be no delay in getting this vessel away, also with a full cargo for the United Kingdom or Continent.

The twenty-second ship of the season, the British freighter Anthea, is due tomorrow. This vessel is already lined and will be ready to start loading as soon as the elevator can handle her.

During the past twenty-four hours, 24 carloads of grain have arrived from the prairies for the elevator.

PROPOSED ROAD SYSTEM CHANGE

MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS MAKES SUGGESTION FOR PROVINCE TAKING OVER PRIMARY ROADS

VANCOUVER, March 21.—The possibility of a radical change in the system of classifying highways was discussed by Hon. W. H. Sutherland today. If the opinion of the municipalities was found to support the change, he stated that the government would assume the entire cost of building and maintaining the primary highways while secondary highways would be the entire responsibility of local councils.

Traffic had reached such a stage, the minister stated, where practically all the primary highways required permanent hard surfacing. The municipalities, 25 per cent of a hard surfacing job often worked out greater on a mileage basis than their 50 per cent share on secondary roads.

If the new system were adopted the government could proceed according to a definite policy without the necessity of consulting the municipalities. However, before such a policy could be put into effect it might be necessary to raise some of the present secondary roads into primary classification.

PROMINENT LEADER OF PROVINCIAL TORIES IS VISITOR TO THIS CITY

INQUEST BEING HELD IN CITY

CIRCUMSTANCES ATTENDING KILLING OF METLAKATLA INDIAN BEING PROBED BY CORONER

While the fatality is believed to have been accidental, it has been decided by Coroner Norman A. Watt to hold an inquest this afternoon at the provincial police court into the circumstances attending the killing by a shot-gun wound of Tugwell Island yesterday morning of Phillip McKay, young Metlakatla Indian. The inquest is called principally for the purpose of establishing whether or not there was any negligence. The story of Billy Robinson, deceased's companion in the boat, is that the butt end of the gun was resting on a crossboard near the combing and became dislodged, the weapon falling to the bottom of the boat and mauling the fatal discharge.

Deceased's body will be sent to Metlakatla for burial. McKay is survived by a widowed mother, a brother and a sister.

THIS YEAR'S FAIR

Is there to be a fair this year or is there not? All depends upon the people of Prince Rupert. If they want it, the thing to do is to attend the meeting called for Thursday of next week. If they think it better that it should be permanently dropped, stay away from the meeting. If the work is to be carried on, it is clear that someone must do it. The fair will not run itself and the same people cannot be expected to carry on year after year.

It is not uncommon for fair meetings to be poorly attended. The same thing has happened here before on several occasions. At Terrace this year several meetings were called before a sufficient number turned out to warrant proceeding. It looked as if the fair then would have to be dropped.

The fact that the attendance last night at the meeting was so poor, does not mean anything except that the people are indifferent, thinking that someone will carry on the work anyway and they need not worry. Now it is known that if there is not a good attendance the fair will be allowed to lapse altogether and doubtless those interested will be on hand to see it goes on.

TWO KINDS OF INTEREST

There are two kinds of interest in the local fair. There are those who make money out of the people who come here and there are others who take a civic pride in the event and would like to have it succeed from a sense of loyalty to the city and its institutions. The help of both is necessary. This year it is hoped that there will be an effort to carry on the excellent work of the last board of directors and make the fair worthy of the city.

INTERESTING SUGGESTIONS

The retiring president of the fair makes some interesting suggestions in his report. One of these is the suggestion that Sixth Avenue should be continued to the fair grounds. At any rate a good road, wide enough for cars to operate, should be constructed if it is possible to do so.

Another suggestion is for a thorough renovation of the midway arrangements for the fair. Either it must be improved or wholly banished. Whether it should go in front of the building is a question for the directors, but at any rate it should be brought up to date and made as respectable in appearance as the other sections of the fair. We cannot afford to have it continue as at present.

LIBRARY CUT DOWN

It seems a pity that in its pruning process the city council should have found it necessary to cut the Library estimates to a point where it will interfere with the purchase of the usual number of books for patrons. Last summer it was found desirable to slightly increase the salary of the Librarian and it was expected that the city would at least allow for this increase in their estimates for this year. Instead of that they have cut the estimate slightly lower than last year.

The Library is an institution that gives more service to the citizens than any other public institution and when readers realize that the council has pared the appropriation to such a point that the number of new books this year must be considerably less than last year, they will undoubtedly make a protest.

EXCELLENT WORK OF COUNCIL

We have no intention of being critical of the general work of the city council. It is so good that it is with hesitation any criticism is made. The taxpayers of the city will be grateful to them for their efforts in keeping down the costs, and consequently reducing the taxes. It places the city in a better financial condition than has been the case for several years past and will reassure the purchasers of securities, thus making it much more easy to dispose of city bonds.

Suggestion Made to Close Down Fair but Another Chance is Given at Meeting Called for Next Week

Only Nineteen Persons Out to Hear Reports and no Action Taken Except to Meet Again for Election of Officers March 29

After some pointed remarks had been made by those present as to the lack of public interest which was apparently being taken in the welfare of the Prince Rupert Exhibition, the Northern British Columbia Agricultural & Industrial Association, at its annual meeting last night, decided to adjourn until Thursday, March 29, in the hope of obtaining a larger attendance of members to participate in the election of officers for 1928 which is postponed until that time. The meeting heard and adopted the report of President Frank Dibb on operations of the year 1927 as well as the financial statement for the past year. General gratification and congratulation was expressed at the splendid showing that had been made by the 1928 board in not only wiping out a large deficit of nearly $3,000 handed down to it from 1926, but also after meeting all 1927 expenses which included a rather extensive building and improvement program, having a small cash balance on hand of some $14. Nineteen persons showed sufficient interest to attend last night's meeting. They were: Ald. Frank Dibb, 1928 president; Olof Hanson, vice-president; W. D. Vance, who acted as secretary; S. E. Parker, Dan Jabour, George B. Casey, Ben Self, Joseph Brown, W. H. Sherman, Fred Scadden, E. B. Baker, N. Mussallem, P. C. Miller, J. O. Williamson, H. F. Glassey, Malcolm McLeod, D. McD. Hunter and O. A. Johnson.

The report of the secretary was adopted on motion of S. E. Parker, seconded by D. McD. Hunter.

VOTE OF THANKS

In moving the adoption of the president's report, D. McD. Hunter proposed that a vote of thanks be also passed to the president and the directors for the splendid showing that had been made. The motion was seconded by N. Mussallem and carried. It was one of the best reports he had heard in the fifteen years' history of the fair, remarked Ben Self.

A lengthy discussion preceded the making of the decision to defer the election of officers until there should be a more substantial attendance.

It was surely little appreciation that the citizens had to show for the efforts of a board which had pulled through to such success. Olof Hanson felt there were two daily newspapers in the city but he noted that but one was represented at this meeting. This was but typical of the lack of interest which was being taken and which he felt was anything but fair to the retiring board of the Association itself. The 1927 board, and it was not his wish to include himself in the remark, had worked hard to make a success and he was proud to see, handicapped as it might have been at the start, that it at least had enough left over to provide postage stamps for an incoming board. Appreciation of the work should be shown by a much larger attendance of citizens. If the spirit was such that even the press did not care, then he would say it would be better to close up.

PROPOSES RESIGNING

Ben Self did not wish to see another series of postponements of the annual meeting such as there had been last year. It was his opinion that the present board of directors should resign and leave it in the hands of the president and secretary to call another meeting at such time in the future as the citizens might feel like getting together and supporting the fair. "I say that is the time to stop when we do not owe anybody," continued Mr. Self. "After having gone through the ordeal myself for seven years now, I have come to the conclusion that it is not worth while to bother and I think that there are others of the directors who feel about the same as I." Mr. Self moved that the present board re-to be congratulated on the success it had attained. There should be a greater measure of public support than was now being shown.

FAIR POSTPONEMENT

W. H. Sherman favored the postponement of the meeting and agreed that more general interest should be taken. Possibly it was not generally understood that holders of tickets on the lot which had been raffled last year were entitled to participate in the annual meeting, suggested Mr. Casey.

Fred Scadden stated his surprise at the splendid financial statement. It was the best annual report he had ever heard.

D. McD. Hunter had also been somewhat surprised at the showing. Still, however, it had been an excellent board and success might have been expected from it. The present attitude on the part of the people was not unusual nor was it malicious. He felt that another appeal might meet with better response. The report was very gratifying and one upon which the board might be congratulated.

The report had been a real pleasure to N. Mussallem. Good work had been done for which there would be due appreciation. There should be no thought of discontinuing the fair, he thought. It was in his mind, the most effective means of advertising the city to the district. It was about the only time the city became tempting to residents of the district. He regretted to see the small attendance but felt that postponement might bring better results.

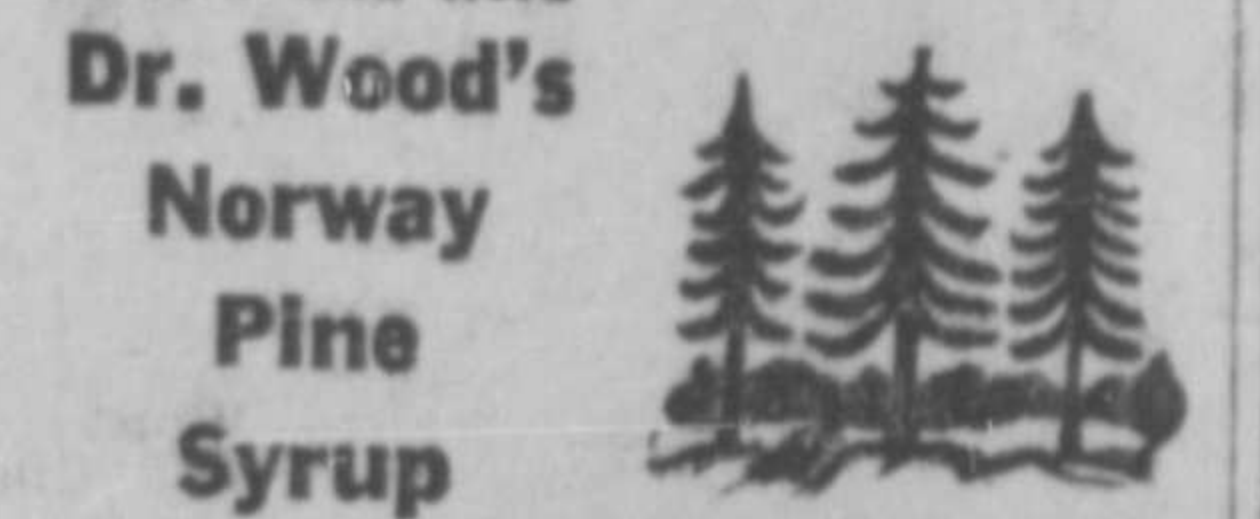

After some further discussion, in which the necessity of getting as early a start as possible was stressed, it was finally decided to adjourn for the election of officers until March 29.

Man in the Moon

A JOB is hard if you lack enthusiasm.

BORROWING a person's time is about the same as borrowing his money.

A GENTLEMAN was walking down the street with a little boy at his side, when the boy cried out: "Oh, pa! there goes an editor!" "Hush, hush," said the father. "Don't make sport of the poor man, God only knows what you may come to yourself, some day."

BREVITY lends soul to the witless, sometimes.

"A SHOCKING affair occurred last night. Sir Edward Hopeless, a guest at Lady Panmore's ball, complained of feeling ill, took a highball, his hat, his coat, his departure, no notice of his friends, a taxi, a pistol from his pocket, and finally his life. Nice chap. Regrets and all that." That's what I call brevity.

AN editor is about the only man you meet who knows nothing.

A SCOTCHMAN went to town for a holiday, and a friend met him wandering down the street with a pair of trousers over his arm.

"Where are ye goin', Sandy?" He replied: "Oh, A'h'm lookin' for the 'Aberdeen Free Press'."

THE proposal of the Terrace people to re-label the trophies they have won and donate them as prizes for future events, reminds one of the story told of a southern newspaper which advertised as follows: "For sale, a second-hand monument, slightly used. Great bargain for a family of the name of MacSpartie."

ONE can believe a great many things but here is a story I really think one ought to doubt: Seven years ago a farmer living only a few miles west of the city hung his vest on the barnyard fence. A calf chewed up the pocket of the garment in which there was a standard gold watch. A short time ago the animal, a staid old milch cow, was butchered for beef and the timepiece was found in such a position between the lungs of the cow that the respiration—the closing-in and filling of the lungs—kept the stem winder wound up, and the watch had lost but four minutes in seven years.

board for the splendid work done, and the assistance given by the judges who placed themselves at the service of the board and gave unstintingly of their time and efforts to the interests of the exhibition. Many suggestions were made by them which should be considered by the incoming board. Mr. Robinson, poultry judge, suggested that poultry should not be judged on exhibition standard alone—but that there should be utility birds. He advocated two classes—exhibition and utility. Mr. Clark said that, although the fair was beyond all his expectations, still it could be improved, and he suggested that balance should be carefully considered in order to make a real success. He said exhibitors should not enter exhibits for the monetary value alone, but rather from an educational and exhibition standpoint.

STAMPEDE The first stampede ever held in Prince Rupert was introduced by the board as the main sporting attraction and drew by far the largest crowd of people that ever patronized a sporting event in the history of the city. The number paying admission was 2356 and the sum received from this source was $2314.00. The cost of staging the stampede was $2047.41, the building of the corral and fence cost $1133.84, and extra seating accommodation cost $183.84. These are permanent improvements which will not have to be built another year. If the stampede was not a success from a public standpoint, it must be remembered that the stock had not rested up sufficiently for the first day's performance, and had poor stabling. This could be remedied another year by getting in the stock early. There was a lot of detailed work in getting a stampede together, and this was only a beginning.

WHAT I MIGHT HAVE BEEN

As Told by Harold C. Burr By JAMES MONTGOMERY FLAGG

JAMES MONTGOMERY FLAGG, the magazine illustrator, has a pair of secret ambitions—to become a buck-and-wing dancer, and play the piano like Paderewski.

His latching hanging out, we lifted our reportorial head around the door jamb and explained our mission.

"No artist," retorted Mr. Flagg oracularly, leaning back from his drawing of an American girl, "ever wants to be anything but an artist. So why should I?"

"From 2 years old up I wanted to be an illustrator. Everybody wanted me to be an illustrator, including my family. The editors tried to prevent it, but I became an illustrator."

Among other things, he never cared to be a big executive, surrounded by his buttons. "I say to editors I'm not a business man, but they come right back at me that I'm a pretty darned good one—when they hear my prices. Oh, I can add, subtract and multiply, but the income tax return drives me wild. You can always spot one of the T.B.M.'s at 100 yards when an artist is around. He's slightly sarcastic and patronizing. If he knew what the artist was thinking it would be a 50-50 break at that."

Don't you ever get discouraged and want to throw up your profession?" Mr. Flagg humbly does. "Yes," readily, "when editors tell what to draw. Then I rashly declare I'd rather be a truck driver than an artist."

Once he was mistaken for a cowboy. "Some hoboes did it out at Dodge City. It was the five-gallon hat I wore, I expect. I was in my car and they couldn't see my legs or it would have been all off—below I had on Scotch stock-ings!"

James Montgomery Flagg always knew he'd wind up by becoming an artist. "Even when I was peddling my pictures around from office to office like a book agent I was just cheeky enough to believe it. That may have kept me from rustling a steady job. But I haven't always been an artist—not when I was drawing in London and selling my terrible output for $12.50 per drawing."

Nevertheless, he's had his yearnings. "But if you mean sneaking desires, I always had lurking in the back of my head a desire to be a buck-and-wing dancer. Whenever I go to the theatre and watch them going through their repertoire of steps they seem to be having the best time in the world. Nothing could be happier than their motions."

A suggestion has come from Kamloops that they would be glad to send a string of ponies if the grounds can be prepared and a suitable track made. The B.C. Whippet Racing Association has also asked the association to consider a whippet racing program as one of this year's sporting attractions.

SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS The retiring directorate recommend to the attention of the incoming board that better provision should be made for vehicles and cars to approach the building and grounds. Efforts should be made to have Sixth Avenue opened right to the present roadway. Every year congestion occurs at this point and the city council should be approached with a view to having the work done this year. Better accommodation should be provided ticket sellers at the Acropolis Grounds, and provision should be made to handle large crowds expeditiously. The roof of the exhibition building is in need of permanent repair, and the planking approaching and the carnival grounds has outlived its usefulness and should be torn out and permanent work done. In view of prevailing winds destroying the booths in the carnival grounds it might be advisable to establish the midway in front of the main building instead of behind.

In view of the damage done to the interior of the building every year the board installed a caretaker with living quarters on the premises who has more than fully justified his existence.

The Board started the year with a deficit of $2,700.00, and although the grounds were improved and other permanent improvements made, and a stampede inaugurated, the fair has now been placed on a sound basis. The directors and secretary all worked hard and loyally and I wish to thank them for their support. I also wish to extend the thanks of the Board to the Press, the sub-committee and all others both in the city and outside points who gave freely of their time, money and labor. It is only by loyal support on the part of the citizens that the exhibition may become the great event of the year.

The tourist who takes his automobile to Europe with him can now arrange to have it ready for him at the time he lands, with his tank filled and licenses procured.

JAMES MONTGOMERY FLAGG "No artist ever wants to be anything but an artist"

It's not possible to worry about courts, high blood pressure or the rent doing what they do. Not that I ever think of the first two, and I haven't had to think of the third—yet. But I never took a lesson. I wasn't that fool-hardy."

Then he spoke of wanting to wake up some morning and be able to play like Paderewski, the Pole, and called it a childish idea.

This illustrator has another profession. "I don't plug it," he apologized. "It's writing. I've been responsible for twelve books and some motion pictures, two-reel comedies that were really failures. But up to a few years ago motion-picture audiences thought a satire was a goodlike person with horns. We haven't progressed very far beyond the stage of acrobatic humor."

"In a sense an artist always wants to do something different," he concluded, getting back to the meat of the topic. "Myself, I'd like to get in more real work. But I want to do a thing well or leave it undone. There's altogether too much half-baked work going on in this world. I like professionals on every job—even interviewing. Oh, are you going?"

PRISONERS HOLD COURT CRAWFORD COUNTY JAIL Deal Out Even Handed Justice to Those Who Offend Regulations of Decency

MEADVILLE, Pa., March 21. — The prisoners held in the Crawford County jail here are strict disciplinarians and Sheriff Charles H. Jones, custodian of the jail, says their methods are a success.

The prisoners have a court in which causes and complaints are heard. The judge, as well as the defense and prosecuting counsel are prisoners and the sentences imposed by the court range from a nominal fine to several days in solitary confinement for prisoners convicted of misdemeanors.

Charges which may be brought before this "Kangaroo court" include the deliberate destruction of property, swearing on visitors' day, spitting on the floor and making a noise after 10 o'clock at night.

And those who know say it is no joke. Fines imposed are collected and placed in a general fund which is used for the purchase of stamps, stationery, cigarettes and tobacco where a prisoner is known to be unable to provide such things for himself. But each request for aid from the fund is thoroughly investigated before any disbursement is made.
