NO WORD OF FLYERS YET

VAGUE REPORT OF WOMAN SEEING OBJECT ON MAIN COAST IS PROVEN GROUNDFLESS

LOSS IS FEARED

MAY HAVE LANDED AT LABRADOR OR NEWFOUNDLAND OR ON ICE FLOE

PORTLAND, Maine, March 15.—The Evening Express learns that coastguards at Biddeford Pool Station this afternoon found to be groundless a report that a yellow object and two human beings, possibly the missing monoplane and its occupants, Capt. Walter Hinchcliffe and one Elsie Mackay, who were attempting a trans-Atlantic flight, were safe on Stratton Island, about two miles off Old Orchard Beach.

A woman, who made the report, said that she saw the yellow object and two people unmistakably. Other residents said that the light of the sun on windows of a house on the island may have given the impression of a yellowish object.

A motorboat went out this afternoon from Biddeford Station and returned between four and five this afternoon, denying the report. This latest report having no foundation, it is feared that the flyers are lost. There has been no definite report of them since they left England Tuesday morning. They had gas supply for fifty hours and their destination was Philadelphia. It has been definitely established that Hon. Elsie Mackay was Hinchcliffe's companion.

Chief hope now lies in the possibility that the flyers were picked up at sea or landed in the wilderness of Labrador or Newfoundland or on an ice pack.

Jeliff, U.F.A., of Lethbridge, voted for the budget. Conservatives and other members of the U.F.A. and Progressive groups and Labor members voted against it.

Immediately the main motion was submitted yesterday Henri Bourassa rose.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservatives, objected that he had already spoken.

After a discussion, the speaker ruled that Bourassa could speak as he had spoken only on a point of order the night before.

Bennett appealed and the ruling of the speaker was sustained by a majority of 41.

Six Quebec Liberals voted against the speaker's ruling and C. H. Cahane was the only Conservative to support the speaker.

Papers in Regard to Breaking Relations with Russian Soviet

Canadian Government Convinced Agreement Not Being Carried Out and Unity of Action Suggested as Being Desirable

OTTAWA, March 15.—That Canada broke off official trade relations with the Soviet government last May because of the conviction in the minds of the members of the Canadian government that the Soviets had not fulfilled their promise to refrain from hostile action against the institutions of the British Empire, is disclosed in documents tabled in the House of Commons today.

The British government drew attention to the fact that the terms of the Russian agreement of 1923 in regard to the United Kingdom would not necessarily terminate the operation of the agreement as between Russia and Canada, but it was suggested by Mr. Amery that "uniformity of action by the various members of the commonwealth concerned would present a great advantage."

STOCK EXCHANGE MANIPULATION

For years statesmen and others have wracked their brains to find a method of stopping stock exchange gambling. Everyone recognizes that it is not a good thing especially when there are such opportunities to influence the market by forming rings for buying or selling and thus forcing the market up or down. Fortunes are made by unscrupulous people overnight.

It is some years ago since Tom Lawson exposed the methods of the stock exchange brokers and financiers and told of the ruined men, the suicides and the distress that followed. He took the lid off for a few minutes and showed the people of this continent the inside of the big game. But it continues just as it did before Lawson wrote. Men who do not need the money go into the gambling game just for the sport of it and the small operator has no chance of winning. He loses every time.

Some day a method of buying and selling securities will be devised which will prevent the speculation which at present is rife and which is often so fatal to the business of the country.

INSTABILITY OF ELECTORS

Whatever we may think of our system of administration and law-making in city, province and in the federal arena we must admit that it is a very unstable method. Take the city of Seattle as an instance. It seems but the other day that Bertha Landis, a Seattle lady, was elected mayor of that Puget Sound city by a good majority. The male candidate was beaten and it looked as if the rule of the female of the species was to become the rule for Seattle. Now a change has come about. Mrs. Landis goes down to defeat by a majority of something like twenty thousand votes. What a lot of people must have changed their minds in that brief period.

TAKE B.C. AS INSTANCE

Take this province as an instance. If the Oliver government had been forced to go to the country a year ago they would probably have been beaten. The feeling of the people seemed to be against them. Then came the steady swing back. The new premier at once appealed to the people as a capable man who was able to carry on the government efficiently. The opposition is divided and its leader absent. The result is that today the MacLean government will appeal to the people of the province with confidence that they will be returned to power. Every effort has been made at the session of the legislature just past to secure something against them but without result.

While it seems very probable that there may be no election until the autumn, no one can quite say when the appeal to the country will be made. Everyone should see that he is registered and thus be ready to take part in an election at any time.

DEFAMING ONE'S OWN COUNTRY IS NOT PROFITABLE BUSINESS

(Toronto Globe)

In the course of the budget debate Hon. Charles A. Dunning, minister of railways, took to task those members of parliament who are constantly talking about the exodus to the United States. He stated that they were giving good advertising to the States and had advertising to their own country. And this is true. The minister might have applied the same criticism to newspaper editors and any business from time to time.

MISS MERCER IS DELEGATE

WILL REPRESENT PRINCE RUPERT AT VANCOUVER CONVENTION WITH J. S. WILSON

FEDERATION MEETING

There was a full attendance of members at the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Teachers' Association held last evening at the Booth School with the president J. S. Wilson in the chair.

In addition to the president, who had been already elected district representative to the annual convention of the B.C. Teachers' Federation to be held in Vancouver during Easter week, Miss Mercer was elected as a second delegate.

The Parent-Teacher Association's donation of $20 was received and a hearty vote of thanks was passed to that organization. The sub-committee reported progress in their plans for the selection of books for the library, donations being received from members and books having been already given.

The speaker for the evening, H. C. Fraser, M.A. inspector of schools, gave a most interesting and enlightening paper on the Dalton system. This plan was first made public by Miss Parkhurst, of Dalton, Massachusetts. Most progress along the lines suggested in the book has been made in English, Japanese, Chinese, German and Dutch schools. The system deals with a method of procedure and does not concern itself with curricula.

Progress of the individual pupil at his own rate is the keynote. It makes study effective by avoiding interruption; a child studies the subject as long as he maintains interest in it, when interest wanes he studies another subject, according to the general plan, till his interest in it wanes. It develops initiative and self-direction in the pupil.

The most important phase of the work is the assignment. This is carefully made and sets out the amount of work to be done in a week or month, and how the work is to be done. A type assignment was read by the speaker and explained. The pupils do much of the work themselves and the laggard is often spurred on while the brighter pupils are not kept back for the slower pupils.

A very interesting discussion followed the paper. The values of the platoon system and the departmental plan were also discussed. Various difficulties that might arise were considered and solutions offered.

In proposing the vote of thanks to Mr. Fraser the president expressed the keen appreciation by the members of the paper, and of the consideration of the speaker in arranging his schedule in his large inspectorate so that he might address the meeting. He also expressed the hope that other meetings might be arranged occasionally whereby the inspector and teachers might have round-table discussions on certain phases of education.

In returning thanks Mr. Fraser said he would welcome the opportunity to take part in such meetings and would be glad to confer on such subjects as might be of practical utility. The convenience of having the library on education and educational methods would provide a big field for research and subsequent discussion.

Refreshments were served by a committee under Mrs. Walker, Miss Mitchell and Miss Hartin.

SCOTCH METHOD OF POPULATING

NEILL OF ALBERNI TELLS HOW HE AND HIS PEOPLE DO IT AND POINTS TO IT AS AN EXAMPLE

In an address largely on immigration in the House of Commons recently A. W. Neill, member for Comox-Alberni said:

As regards immigration to the United States, of which we have heard so much nonsense—I think that is a parliamentary word—the large centres will always attract population from the smaller ones and the country districts. That has been the case from the time of Aristotle and it will be so for all time.

Let me take Scotland as an illustration. Scotland is a small and in some regards a poor country and it has an enormous export of young men and women. They go largely to England and indeed all over the world. That naturally depletes the population. What do we do about such a situation? Do we howl to the government: Save us, stop the young blood from going away? Not a bit of it. Do we howl to the government about bringing in aliens from somewhere else to fill up the gaps? No. The Scotch take the very sensible method of going in for bigger and better families. In the family of which I was a member and in the families in which my father and mother were, respectively, there were three children, and that was no exceptional thing at all in Scotland at that time. It was in that way that Scotland dealt with the loss of her young people and the method possesses three virtues beloved of the Scottish race. First of all, it was economical; second, it was profitable and, third, it was pleasant.

The hospital board last night passed a vote of thanks to A. J. Richmond for a donation of $25.

SLOAN PLACED MINING ON A SOUND BASIS

POLICY ONE LIKELY TO BE FOLLOWED BY OTHER MINISTERS

VICTORIA, March 15.—It has been aptly said that a man cannot become really famous until after he is dead. Certain it is, that men's good deeds live after them. British Columbia has finally entered upon an era of mining development that bids fair to placing the industry in this province in the very forefront of world-famous mining districts.

The foundations for this development and future promise were well and truly laid by the late Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines in the Liberal government, a man who knew the mining game from the ground up and who has left a mining development policy behind him which, if carried out sensibly and with confidence, cannot do other than place British Columbia in the very foremost of mineral producers.

Business men, miners, farmers, and in short every section of the public, must profit materially from the development of provincial mines. In a few short months the fruits of Hon. Mr. Sloan's years of work have become to be apparent. He established a reputation for sound mining laws, protection to both capital and labor, and a policy of encouragement which today are being reflected in the remarkable interest now being taken in mining projects throughout every mineralized section of the Pacific province.

Like all great movements, present mining activities have only followed a course of preparation which required years to work out. The minister of mines determined that the public should be protected against wild-cat ventures. So he appointed resident engineers of indisputable ability. They have reported upon every discovery and their reports have proven a sound basis for capital to proceed upon.

Hon. W. H. Sutherland, who succeeds Hon. Mr. Sloan as provincial minister of mines, is an able administrator. He has announced his intention of pushing mining development to the full, and it appears that within a year or two the mining industry must take first place among the major industries of British Columbia.

Man in the Moon

GOOD day, folks! Are you breathing long and deep.

IF you're breathing long and deep. Your good health you long will keep. Fill your lungs with purest air. You'll do good work and not show wear.

THOSE who breathe deep should also look out that they get their vitamins. An English medical journal has been recently publishing rhymes about vitamins.

THE scurvy flew through the schooner's crew. As they sailed on an Arctic sea. They were far from land and their food was canned. So they got no vitamin C. For "Devil's the use of orange juice." The skipper 'ad said, said he.

They were victualled with pickled pork, my dears. Those mariners bold and free. Yet life's but brief on the best corned beef. If you don't get vitamin C.

NOBODY has ever seen a vitamin, but we know they are there because the scientists tell us so.

NOW vitamins D and A, B, and C. Will ensure that you're happy and strong. But that's no use; you must reproduce. Or the race won't last for long. So vitamin E is the stuff for me. And its praises end my song.

We'll double the birth-rate yet my dears. If we all eat vitamin E. We can blast the hopes of Maria Stopes. By taking it with our tea.

WAS VERY WEAK NERVOUS AND MELANCHOLY

Mrs. Geo. McKenzie, Campbellford, Ont., writes:—"A short time ago I was troubled very badly with my heart and nerves, the cause of it, I think, was my going through the change of life."

"I was advised to try so I sent at once for a box; took them and got another, and before they were all gone I felt good, my nerves are fine, I do not mind any noise, and I can sleep well. I can not recommend them too highly to those suffering as I did."

BARNACLES FINNIKY ABOUT COLORS BUT PREFER THEM DARK

Leave White Portions of Boat in Favor of Dark Streaks It is Said

LONDON, March 15.—Barnacles are finniky in regard to colors but they prefer them dark.

It was recently announced that the four South American flying boats which are cruising to the East Indies, and some much fouled by barnacles while they were moored in Karachi Harbor. These boats are painted white, but three of them have vertical black rings painted round the hull for identification purposes. The second boat has one ring, the third two, and the fourth three. It appears that the barnacles were concentrated almost entirely on the black rings. Accordingly, when the hulls were cleaned the black lines were painted out below the water line. But the interesting question remains, why does a barnacle prefer black paint to white?

HOSPITAL ORDERLIES TO BE ALWAYS ON CALL

Board Decides to Advertise for Night Man and Whole Question Discussed

The Hospital Board last night discussed at considerable length the question of engaging a night orderly. The result was that two resolutions were passed. The first was that the lady superintendent be instructed to have supervision of the orderlies and see that the work required of them was carried out. The second was that they should advertise for a trained night orderly who would be on call to the wards at any time during the night, and who would also undertake the janitor work of the institution, the salary to be $80 a month and meals.

It was reported that good trained orderlies could be secured in Vancouver for $65 a month and meals when on duty.

The respective abilities of the men now in the employ of the hospital was discussed and it was decided that whoever held the position must be able and willing to do the work required by the lady superintendent. That was the first requirement.

The question of handling alcoholics was discussed and H. B. Rochester ventured the opinion that no more patients of that type would trouble them. Nurses should not be asked to look after them. "There will not be any more D.T.'s in the hospital," he declared.

MAKE GARDENS AT HOSPITAL

BOARD PLANS TO MAKE BEGINNING IN BEAUTIFYING GROUNDS AT THAT INSTITUTION

Last night the Hospital Board, with James Thompson presiding, gave authority to the grounds committee presided over by M. M. Stephens to commence improving the grounds at the General Hospital and authority was given to make expenditures with that in view to an amount not to exceed $200.

Following the decision in regard to the tennis court, Mr. Stephens explained that they were planning to make the grounds more attractive by digging, grubbing and stumping and putting some of the land into grass and flowers. A lot of the plants he expected would be donated.

Chairman Thompson remarked that the place looked very bare and life at a hospital was gloomy enough without that. He thought something should be done.

Discussion followed in regard to getting trees and shrubs from the city and in regard to the cost of the work, and on motion of H. B. Rochester, the authority was given.

THE HOSPITAL CANNOT AFFORD TENNIS COURT: AN ESTIMATE OF COST

The question of making a wooden tennis court at the Hospital was discussed at some length by the Hospital board and it was finally decided to lay it over indefinitely owing to the high cost. M. M. Stephens, on behalf of the grounds committee gave details of their investigations. He estimated the total cost would be from $1,350 to $1,400. The estimate was made up something like this:

21,000 feet lumber ..... $680
Cost of erecting ..... 350
Hardware ..... 100
Painting ..... 150
Preparing land, etc. .... 100

While there were general expressions of opinion in favor of the court it was felt that the cost at present was prohibitive.

RETURN BOUT IS SUGGESTED

POSSIBLE THAT McDONALD AND GURVICH MAY MIX ONCE MORE: GATE WAS LARGE

It was said this morning, though lacking official confirmation, that Jimmy McDonald would be remaining in the city in order to meet Battling Gurchiv in a return bout in three or four weeks' time.

McDonald's supporters this morning were criticizing the ring arrangements last night. It was said that the ropes were too loose and that there were only two of them when there should have been three. One of the "might have been" stories was that, had McDonald not sustained hurt when he fell out of the ring in the eighth round, the bout might have had a different ending.

Ralph Smith, promoter, announces that the gate last night totalled $772. After deducting the $100 and expenses for McDonald and the general costs of the fight, it was estimated that there would be about $300 for Smith and Gurchiv to split evenly.

SPORT CHAT

Possibly the most important lesson to be impressed upon the mind of our Dodo Gurchiv as a result of last night's go with Jimmy McDonald of Vancouver is that he must now do intensive finishing up in the fine points of the game if he is to ascend to greater heights in the fistic art. From the outcome of the match may be at least gathered that the local batter is possessed of some of the qualities that should serve him in good stead should he decide to go further. These outstanding any handicaps that he may have and which it should be possible to cure. The local boy evidently has pugilistic ambitions which cannot, however, be further developed locally. He has made a good start, despite setbacks, and seems to have the stuff in him. To a certain extent he has proven this. What he needs most of all now is experience which he will have to travel to attain. If he can stand up against what may be offered in such a city as Vancouver, he will then have real promise which is now somewhat of an uncertain quantity.

VANCOUVER IS PROUD OF JIMMY McLARNIN DECLARES NEWSPAPER

(Vancouver Sun)

Prize fighting is probably not a spiritual pursuit. The spectacle of one young man battering another young man who is probably a local boy is a touch of vulgarity, but it is doubtful if the production of a first-class boxer adds anything to the cultural wealth of the community.

But, just the same, the idea of young Jimmy McLarnin going down to New York and pounding his way into the logical contendorship for the lightweight title provides a thrill for Vancouver people.

The American papers are full of him. The biggest American promoters are competing for his services.

And when the sport pages blazon the name "McLarnin" to the world, they are blazoning the name "Vancouver" with it.

This fight game is undoubtedly very lowbrow and all about it, it is rough and sometimes gory. Young Jimmy should have set out to be an alderman or a police commissioner or something like that instead of a slashing champion.

But no matter how faulty his judgment in the selection of a profession Mr. McLarnin of Vancouver is an asset to this city and this city is proud of him.

talk English. That is part of his handlers' creed. He might, speaking English, be just a ham. As a dark-browed foreigner, however, he looks positive villainous. They have taught him to scowl in all languages.

Paelino stands scowling, therefore, while his gabby ones listen to an English questioner. They turn to Uccudum, throw him a lot of Spanish and Paelino replies in kind, shrugging his shoulders. That's part of the peerless performance he goes through everywhere. In the ring the Spaniard is exceedingly tough. George Godfrey couldn't halt him; couldn't even make him stop coming. He has never been knocked out, and he turns a flock of conclusions and head spins at the comprehension of every fight. He doesn't know how to fight, but he fights anyway. His arms are knotted with muscles. His stomach is like a ribbed washboard. He goes in head down, arms flailing, and he'll catch anything thrown and return for more. His strength is prodigious.

When Jimmy McDonald of Vancouver and Battling Dido Gurvich of Prince Rupert were embraced and dealing short body blows as the final gong rang last night, their dispute for the middleweight championship of Northern British Columbia, if such a contest it might be called, was still unfinished. Decision of same should promise something interesting and promising for the future. There were eight hundred or so people present last night and they all promised themselves that they would come back, bringing some more with them, when the two boys are brought together again. It was the crowning event of the local corner's career to date.

Gurvich got everything he had coming to him when Referee Brick Skinner raised his arm along with McDonald's to show that honors had been even. Dido's extra seven pounds and his long reach served him well, in fact, were probably the determining factors in saving the day for him. At the same time he put up the best fight in his life and showed a vast improvement over previous appearances. Nor was his opponent an old man or suffering with the palsy. Judging from how the most of the spectators felt, Gurvich was lucky to have it called a draw. But, of course, opinions always differ on matters of this kind. Be it said for the local lad that he carried the fight to the Vancouver man much of the way, though the latter might easily have been given the decision on points.

DIFFERENT STYLES
 They showed altogether different styles of fighting. Dido the spectacular rusher who attempted to deal the haymakers and got away with a few, besides missing a lot. Almost every time, however, he plunged into an embrace and there it was that McDonald got in his work, delivering the short body and face blows that take longer to decide the issue but sometimes prove effective though not very in this particular case. McDonald put up a pleasing and clean fight, wasting not as much energy as his local opponent. There were stages in the ten round meeting where either one or the other had his man at his advantage but neither was able to avail himself of opportunity and finish it off.

In some ways it was an even enough battle though Gurvich possibly led in attack while McDonald was an able coverer and allowed few advantages. In the fine points of the game he was no doubt the best but Dido had lots of courage and was not afraid of punishment. Both boys had plenty of supporters. The battle was well sustained and both boxers mixed with a will. The spectators were all satisfied with the action provided, though comparatively little blood was shed.

There were ten three minute rounds. Dido, whose second was his brother, Jack, was first in the ring. He did some big town stunts before his vaseline smeared rival appeared on the scene. Both boys were given an ovation. The new gloves were thrown into the ring and Charles Brown, McDonald's handler, looked them over carefully. Before the hostilities started, Jack Gurvich insisted on rubbing the vaseline off the Vancouver boy's face. McDonald weighed in at 146 pounds, Gurvich at 153, an advantage of seven pounds.

ROUND-BY-ROUND
 Dido took a short rush and walked right into a clinch. McDonald started his short fighting and got in a few. Gurvich was not so proficient in this game but stuck in a few jabs. They got apart and Dido tried a long one. There was more embracing and short fighting. McDonald was possibly leading but the referee said it was even.

Dido was leading off in the second round with some long ones which seldom landed. McDonald was elusive and well covered, dealing short ones in the clinches. The referee checked the clinching. Dido rushed up again and took one on the nose. The local battler then landed a good right. It was a pretty even round, some feeling that McDonald, who looked fresher, had a shade. The referee called it Gurvich's.

Dido rushed into another clinch in the third. He tried some uppercuts but was wild. McDonald got in a lot of close work which almost seemed to tire Dido. It was McDonald's round.

MINERAL ACT (Form F.)
 CERTIFICATE OF IMPROVEMENTS
 NOTICE

Princess Pat, Lot 4365, Pilot Lot 4367; R.A.P., Lot 4368; Observer, Lot 4368; Mineral Claims, situated in the Alton Mining Division of Cassiar District. Where located: On Munro Mountain about four miles from the town of Alton.

TAKE NOTICE that we, James Stokes and C. R. Fraser, Free Miner's Certificate No. 89980-90081, intend, sixty days from the date hereof, to apply to the Mining Recorder for a Certificate of Improvements, for the purpose of obtaining a Crown Grant of the above claim.

And further take notice that action under section 85 must be commenced before the issue of such Certificate of Improvements.

Dated this 8th day of March, A.D. 1928.

 Agent.

everyone agreed.

Dido was checked for clinching in the fourth round. One or two jabs looked a little low. Gurvich hung on for a while and then got out and rushed again. He had his head down and there was a tendency to slugging. He was leading but made little impression on his opponent. Then there was more close fighting. The round looked even but was called Gurvich's.

There was more infighting in the fifth and Dido looked to be slowing up. He was probably saving himself. McDonald started to uncoil his offensive was chasing Dido, dealing one in here and there in the open and making some wild swings. Dido started a counter attack but was wild. The end of the round saw them in a clinch. It was McDonald's round and there was no argument about it.

In the sixth, both of them were swinging wild and landing an odd one. Dido started to hold on to his opponent but got some more close ones. It began to look pretty sure that McDonald did not have a kayce in his mitt though this, too, was his round.

Dido started a rally in the seventh and leading again. Things were living up a bit. Dido was trying the long ones with a slug here and there. Gurvich had the shade.

Dido came right to life in the eighth. He was landing on McDonald's nose and reaching his body. McDonald was landing once or twice, too. Dido went right after him with his head down and they plunged out of the ring. Gurvich on top, into the laps of Ben Self's ringside party. Dido was still landing them frequent and heavy when they got back to the seat of war. McDonald was down for the count of two. He got up and Dido was after him again. McDonald was on the ropes covering up but Dido could not finish him, though he was landing heavy body blows and uppercuts. Both boys were somewhat spent at the end of the round which was all Dido's.

Dido launched his offensive again in the ninth but he was not so fresh. A few lefts and rights made no impression and then he started to hang on and received some short ones. Dido looked tired but McDonald wasn't so strong and couldn't find an opening. It was an even round.

Both boys were tired in the tenth and Gurvich was hanging on. He put on another rush with his head down but there was not so much life in it. It looked like Dido would stage a rally but McDonald took the lead. Dido hung on and took some more close-in blows. There were embraces and dealing body blows when the fight ended. It was McDonald's round fairly enough.

ANOTHER VERSION
 Here was another version of the rounds, though not official, of course: First, McDonald's; second, McDonald's; third, McDonald's; fourth, even; fifth, McDonald's; sixth, McDonald's; seventh, Gurvich's; eighth, Gurvich's; ninth, even; tenth, McDonald's; McDonald, six; Gurvich, two; even, two.

McDonald gets $100 and expenses for the fight; the balance, after paying bills, to be split between Gurvich and Ralph Smith, promoter.

Brick Skinner refereed the main events as well as the preliminaries. Max Heilbron was timekeeper and Norman McLean, assistant timekeeper. Dr. J. A. West was official surgeon and the Fire Chief and lots of policemen were on hand to keep things in order.

There were four spirited preliminaries as well as a lively semi-windup in which Billy Mulhern of Nanaimo, who was out on his feet, lost the decision to husky Benny Wendie of Prince Rupert. There were four two-minute rounds in

PRELIMINARIES
 Jack Holroyd and Mike Comadina did a four round preliminary. There was much slow motion in the first stanza. Comadina, missing on covering up, Holroyd was still leading in the second and there was a little more fighting although one showed a tendency to wait for the other to do something. Mike took a long breathing spell in the third and then started to work. He had the best of it and Holroyd was bleeding profusely. They were both fighting for a win in the fourth and things got slow when they started to stand each other off. Holroyd, who had fought most openly and did most of the leading, got a fair decision.

George York gave Nina Gurvich three game rounds though he lost the decision. Nina was advertising his uppercut in the first but couldn't connect though there was a lot of rushing and York had a bloody nose. They mixed well in the second and got fair exchanges. York's face was covered with blood and this was worrying him. York was groggy in the third but panted valiantly. Gurvich couldn't finish him.

Eddie Smith and Walter Bard had a lively three rounds. The smiling and heavier Bard was willing to mix but Smith proved evasive. There were lots of wild swinging with a few landings. Bard had a bad nosebleed in the second and was covering up. Smith was too agile for him in the openings. They mixed in the third and Smith was doing the leading although Bard got in a few hard hits. Smith was entitled to the decision.

There was a preliminary sparring exhibition between Tod Morgan and Pete Chenoski, local youngsters. Morgan led off but Chenoski was too heavy. There was lots of ducking and little connecting. They mixed freely in the third and both landed. Tod was tired and Chenoski pummeled him. It was a good draw.

SUPPLYING CASE IN CITY POLICE COURT

Charge Against Ambrose Reid Falls and Erma Oakes is Remanded for Eight Days—Indian Woman Ordered Away

Magistrate McClymont was engaged in city police court this morning with consideration of four cases under the Indian Act. Erma Oakes, Western Rooms, was remanded for eight days on a charge of supplying; a similar charge against Ambrose Reid was dismissed, and one against Johnny Larson was withdrawn. Susan Leighton, alleged to have been supplied, was fined $15 and ordered out of town.

According to evidence in the Reid case, accused was given money and sent out by Erma Oakes to buy a bottle from which Susan Leighton was given drink. E. F. Jones, city solicitor, prosecuting, argued that Reid had thereby procured or connived in the procuring of liquor for the Indian woman. L. W. Patmore, counsel for Reid, successfully claimed that accused could not be held to have procured liquor directly for the Indian. He had, instead, obtained liquor for Erma Oakes who, being white, was entitled to have same. It was the Oakes woman and not Reid who had done the supplying. The magistrate accepted this view and dismissed the case.

The informations were brought by Dominion Constable A. J. Watkinson.

CHICAGO MACHINE GUNS FOR KILLING WOLVES

Kenora Not Pleased at Prospect of Invasion From States, It is Said

TORONTO, March 14. — Rattle of machine guns may be heard on the Lake of the Woods before the winter ends.

And Kenora doesn't like the idea a bit, either. It's all right, Kenora says, to pot wolves on the lake with Savages or Winchester, but the use of rapid-fire Brownings or Lewises is a different matter. Kenora has a sneaking suspicion that she has let herself in for the proverbial peck of trouble.

NEW WINTER SPORT

Kenora thought she had uncorked a brand-new and highly profitable tourist attraction, one afternoon last December, when a couple of motorists ran out on the lake ice, intercepted a half-dozen wolves passing from one shore to the other, gave chase and shot them to death.

Hooray! That was Kenora's feeling. American tourists from Minnesota and elsewhere, she figured, would welcome the "zip" offered by motor-wolf-hunting, and would come flocking into the Lake of the Woods district, eager for excitement, and paying a handsome price in tourist trade for their thrills.

But, it is reported, a couple of lantern-jawed gentlemen from Chicago have since looked the proposition over, and have gone home to broadcast what's what in that loud-voiced fashion which is peculiarly Chicago's. The result is—as heretofore stated—that rattle of machine guns may be heard on the Lake of the Woods before the winter ends.

GROUP SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT

HON. C. A. DUNNING URGES EVILS OF SYSTEM AND POINTS TO EXAMPLES OF IT

Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of railways in a recent speech, criticized the system of group government. Following is the Hansard report of what he said in regard to this:

Just before I conclude I would like to say a few words with reference to group government, which was advocated so forcibly, so wittily and so cleverly yesterday by my hon. friend from Southeast Grey (Miss Macphail). I will not attempt to follow her in any sense; We always enjoy her witticisms even at our own expense, but with respect to this advocacy of group government I do believe it is time the people of Canada realized and faced what that group government means and what it would mean to this country. We were told by my hon. friend that it is a Progressive measure but, Mr. Speaker, I regard it as one of the most reactionary moves it would be possible to make. Is this a new thing? Why, Mr. Speaker, Europe is trying now to overcome the effects of group government in many countries. The development of this so-called group system has gone so far in Italy as to produce a chaos sufficient to make the people even welcome a dictator, and it produced the same result in Spain. I know my hon. friend will say that she does not mean that kind of a group; she means an economic group, but she did not explain how she would prevent people from organizing under any group, name or designation. If we have a Labor group, a Progressive group or a Farmer group, why not a Catholic group, a Methodist group and a Presbyterian group? That system has been the curse of Europe.

Certainly the party system has demerits, but an impartial examination of the history of those countries which have tried this group system reveals the weakness of the very position adopted by my hon. friend. What does she say? She says what they want is a little group in that corner of the house just large enough to bludgeon the larger group across the floor into carrying out their wishes, and in so saying she poses as an advocate of democracy! I say, Mr. Speaker, that group government is the negation of democracy. Then I know my hon. friend will say that she means co-operative government. That is a very good phrase, but we have an example of co-operative government in this house today, and the men who are co-operating receive nothing but abuse from hon. members in the far corner. There are some men in this House who, while holding strong views with respect to fiscal policy and other matters of principle, believe they can best accomplish their duty to this country by co-operating with others who are substantially like-minded, to move the wheel of progress forward even a little. They do not sit up on the fence and howl like my hon. friends in the opposite corner.

In conclusion—and I say this with the utmost good humor—I would not deny my hon. friends the right to organize in any way they see fit, but I would point out that once the virus of the group system starts to spread in this country it will be found to be a great breeder; it reproduces very rapidly. The experience of years in Europe indicates that once there is a division beyond two or three parties in a great parliament it soon separates until government is only possible by a species of log-rolling and dealing which I feel sure would be repugnant to the Canadian people and would not redound to the credit of the country.
