Body was placed in hole blasted in the ground and then charges set off to conceal it there
IS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL
Prisoner went south this morning for Okalla to await spring assizes at Prince Rupert

Revolting and cold blooded details pertaining to the killing of a lonely pre-emption near Massett presumably on January 20 of James Smith, 61-year-old settler, by his twenty-four year-old son, Henry Smith, who has confessed to the patricide, were unfolded today by officers of the provincial police who returned to the city last evening aboard the gasboat Salvage Princess after investigating the crime. A coroner's jury has already laid the killing to young Smith who has been committed for trial on a charge of murder and who was brought to the city by the officers last night and

CANADA LACKS SUPREME POWER

Conservative Member in House of Commons Says Equality of Status is Fallacy
POWER LESS THAN MONACO
Neither Canada or Australia Has as Much Extra-Territorial Right as Small States

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—Sir George Perley, Conservative, speaking on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, expressed the opinion that the appointment of more ministers to foreign countries was establishing a dangerous precedent.
C. N. Cahan, Conservative, argued that there was no equality of status as between Canada and Great Britain. The British Parliament was still supreme. Jurisdiction of the British Parliament extended to ships of the seven seas but the Canadian Parliament had no jurisdiction over Canadian citizens once they passed the three mile limit.
"It had been laid down by the Privy Council," Mr. Cahan said, "that the Parliament of Australia and its various states and the Parliament of Canada and its various provinces has not the jurisdiction that Mexico or Patagonia or any Central American states or any other sovereign power from Liberia down to Monaco, that of bringing home and punishing at home by Australian or Canadian law, Australian or Canadian citizens who are guilty of crime beyond the confines of their state."

Pattullo Says B.C. Does More Than Any Other Province in This Respect
VICTORIA, Feb. 3.—British Columbia does more towards provision and upkeep of public hospitals than any other province of Canada, declared Hon. T. D. Pattullo in the Legislature yesterday. He said the total operation of 65 public hospitals of the province last year amounted to $3,000,000 of which the Government contributed about half a million toward the care of 60,000 patients.

Customs Reorganization at Vancouver and Other Places Suggested by Commission Report

OTTAWA, February 3.—Premier Mackenzie King yesterday in the House of Commons tabled ten interim reports made by the Royal Commission on Customs. These reports dealt among other things with the Chris Moeller, which cleared from Vancouver for San Blas with liquor while the commission was sitting at Victoria and which was refused clearance from Victoria on the request of the commission, which took the ground that the liquor was designed for the western United States.
In view of the evidence given by J. A. Nosentof, R. M. Morgan, J. L. Stewart, and Thomas J. Fay. "We have considered it our duty to transmit some to the Attorney General of British Columbia in order that criminal proceedings might be instituted should it be deemed advisable."
With regard to the customs, reorganization of the staff at Vancouver is recommended. The report says: "The position of collector at this port demands the services of thoroughly competent and experienced officials of outstanding executive ability. The preventive staff at Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster appears thoroughly efficient but it is under manned. We would recommend that an increase in the preventive staff be made at an early date."
The commission recommends that two boats be placed at the disposal of the preventive service, one a seagoing boat for the west coast of Vancouver Island and the other a speed boat for the straits of Georgia and adjacent waters.
With regard to Toronto, the report said "our inquiry into the administration of this port revealed a very unsatisfactory condition of affairs."
In regard to Regina it says: "Our judgment is that this port required thorough reorganization."

Hundreds of Thousands Pay Homage to Haig at Big Funeral Procession

King's Son Attend and Nation's Great are Pall Bearers White Gattman and Riderless Charger Follow the Coffin Through Streets to Muffled Music
LONDON, February 3.—While all Britain mourned and three sons of the King, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, and Prince Henry, led a three mile procession from St. Columba's to Westminster Abbey, the body of Field Marshal Earl Haig was today borne through the streets of London in one of the greatest military pageants in the history of the British capital.
The casket was wrapped in a weatherworn Union Jack, which served a similar function on the cenotaph. It was borne on a gun carriage on which was mounted the gun which fired the Empire's first shot in the great war, the same that bore Britain's unknown soldier to his last resting place. Today seven mounted men drew it slowly through London as men's heads everywhere were bared.
To muffled music of a military band the procession moved through the silent streets, crowded with hundreds of thousands of men, women and children. Women wept, most of them in black carrying bunches of red paper and Flanders poppies.
The pallbearers included Lieut.-General Baron Deuyninck, representing Belgium; Field Marshal Lord Methuen, Earl Jellicoe and Beatty and Sir Hugh Trenchard, representing the flying service. Then came the touching spectacle of the Earl's batman, the devoted manservant of thirty years, Sergeant Secrett, who was with the Field Marshal when he died, walking sorrowfully with bowed head. With him was Haig's charger with empty saddle and drappings of gold and black with the Marshal's crest upon them. The Earl had ridden him in France.
Britain began her final farewell at St. Columba's, later at Westminster Abbey, but mostly it was by the crowded thousands in the streets that the nation paid homage to the great dead.

VICTORIA, Feb. 3.—Major Swan's report on irrigation conditions in the interior of British Columbia made public yesterday by Hon. T. D. THE NEW PROVINCE

W. O. Fulton rather blames the Daily News for not taking up the cudgels in behalf of the new province proposals. It is true we have not taken sides in regard to it but we have done nothing to oppose it. Every scrap of news in regard to it has been published and the best possible display given to the articles dealing with the proposal. The difficulty was that we did not feel that we knew enough about it to come out either in favor or against it but were willing to learn and were looking to the advocates of the scheme to present the facts and gather the data on which we could base an opinion.

Newspapers are very commonly accused of dealing with matters on which they are not properly informed. Very often this is because those who have the information withhold it. Opinions are based only on the information that is available. And, as in this case, newspaper are expected to have opinions and often to have them ready made, producible to order at a moment's notice.

As soon as we can be shown that it would really be a good thing for the north to have a separate province and be also informed if it can really be attained we shall be ready to advocate it. However, there seem to have been some disappointing factors in this movement. One is that the father of the scheme, Mr. Fredericks of Peace River, did not answer the invitation of the Prince Rupert Board of Trade to appear at their luncheon and did not even have the courtesy to let them know that he could not come. Then the matter seems to have been passed up by that body owing to lack of information, just as we have evaded the question for the same reason.

We had hoped to hear from Mr. Fulton before this in regard to the matter as he was the local leader along with Alderman Colclart. What is needed is a more detailed plan and some expert opinion as to the modus operandi.

Possibly it may be well to draw attention, however, to the fact that some of the organizations of farmers in the Peace River district turned down the proposal as one that was either not feasible or not beneficial.

In reference to the writer of the little column of jibes conducted under the nom-de-plume of "The Man in the Moon," to which Mr. Fulton refers, we suggest that his column be read for amusement but not for instruction and that his innocent quips be passed over lightly and forgotten quickly.

EXPERIMENTAL STATION

The work of the local experimental station is proceeding quietly but efficiently but it takes times in experimental work to show results. So much interest has its work already attracted that there is already a proposal to enlarge it. The better work it does the better it will become known and the more readily will government respond to calls for upkeep. Scientific research is one of the things that has been demanded of this government by various gatherings within the past few months. The enlargement of the local station is right in line with the movement and it is to be hoped it will be given support worthy of its importance.

SIMPLIFIED METHOD OF PARTY POLITICS IN OTHER COUNTRIES

(Ottawa Citizen)

Soviet Russia and Fascist Italy have simplified party politics by banishing the opposition parties. Liberals, radicals, troublesome political critics of any brand in Italy have been silenced by the convenient plan of sending them to jail or transporting them to an island without permission to depart again. Some have succeeded in escaping to other countries where they must perforce remain in exile.

method of silencing reformers. The Soviet administration is giving an ironical illustration of the survival of Czarist methods in the banishment of Leon Trotsky to Siberia. Trotsky, Kameneff, Zinovieff, Rakovsky and others had set up something like an opposition to the Communist party in power. But the Soviet authorities, like the Fascists, prefer to carry on with only one party.

In Canada, orthodox party leaders are much broader. They tolerate an official opposition. It is only when other parties and groups appear in parliament, like the Incoercible United Farmers and Labor, that the heart of Pharaoh is hardened against them.

WORK DONE BY DOROTHY

Halibut Schooner Carrying Scientific Party Has Tagged and Explored in North

The work of the schooner Dorothy, especially in tagging fish during the closed season, having been criticized in Ketchikan, the chairman of the International Fisheries Commission has replied.

In discussion of the catches of vessels chartered by the commission, Mr. Babcock stated that the commission is charged with the specific duty of making a thorough scientific investigation of the life history of the halibut, and is unable to accede to any request which might hinder the accomplishment of its full duty; citing the provision of law under which the commission in its scientific work is exempt from the closed season, and adding: "The operations conducted on the vessels chartered during the past and present closed seasons were made... solely to produce data essential to the determination of certain questions. They were not made for the purpose of catching fish for sale." Further, Mr. Babcock said:

FULLY JUSTIFIED

"After full review of the results of the trip ending December 21, and of all previous trips, the commission is satisfied that the work done by the 'Dorothy' was fully justified and called for under its instructions. The commission did not confine its efforts to tagging and to the detailed examination of fish; the small percentage of fish not individually dealt with formed a part of data answering specific questions regarding the effect of the closed season, and the fish thereby protected.

The methods of fishing and of examination of the fish have been developed after considerable direct experience by the scientific staff as to what is best adapted for the purpose. Suggestions from experienced fishermen are gladly received, but their adoption as a part of the scientific procedure is, and will remain, a matter only for the commission to determine.

"The commission cannot see any grounds for alarm because of the quantity removed from the grounds for scientific purposes. It forms but a small fraction of a per cent of the fish taken commercially, not directly on the spawning grounds previous to the closed season, but also on the banks from which those fish come during the open season. But consideration must be taken of the fact that these spawning fish cannot be studied without their capture, and you are assured that the amount taken to date is not more than sufficient to answer the questions put to the scientific staff by the commission.

NOT THROWN AWAY

"The commission regrets sincerely that the fish it takes must be disposed of. If there were any way in which the fish could be studied without catching them, that way would be adopted; but once taken for examination the fish cannot be thrown away, nor can individuals or firms be favored in their disposal.

"The expressed desire of the committee to aid in securing funds for the operations of the commission is appreciated. Such an increase in appropriations could not, however, remedy the difficulty in disposing of fish taken, and the nature of the work done is changing.

"The commission is glad to outline its program as agreed upon at the beginning of its operations to anyone. This program calls for no further intensive investigation of the spawning fish in the vicinity of Yakutat. The trip ending December 21 yielded twice the information expected, and completed our requirements there. During the present closed season after January 1 the search for floating eggs and larvae will be carried on from Yakutat westward... Toward the end of the trip some fishing for the exploration of spawning grounds may be made, but no intensive study will be entered upon and no considerable amount of fish will be taken.

SURVEY CHICKEN BANKS

"Further tagging and examination of fish is proposed for the banks from Portlock westward during the spring and fall, but not during the spawning season. The survey and exploration of certain chicken banks, especially to the westward, will be accompanied by tagging. An attempt may be made, if funds are sufficient to enter Bering Sea for a study of the fish there.

"The spawning banks along the British Columbia coast and to the westward of Portlock may be explored next year if funds are obtained, but no great amount of fishing will be done during such exploration, as no extensive series of specimens of spawning fish is at present seen to be necessary from those banks.

"However, the commission cannot, and will not, limit itself if need arises, but it is glad to reassure the members of your association as to the present program."

ANGLO-CATHOLICISM EXPLAINED BY ONE OF ITS MEMBERS

Section of Church of Which Much Has Been Heard Lately but of Which Few Know Much

Numerous inquiries have been made as to what is meant by Anglo-Catholicism. Just at the right time along comes an explanation from a person claiming to be an Anglo-Catholic and who explains that it is only the person who is a member of a church who really understands what it stands for. Here it is: There is in Anglo-Catholicism in England, an extreme wing, but the majority of those included in the term Anglo-Catholicism are not in sympathy with all the tenets of that wing. In fact, parts of the new Prayer Book are designed to restrain those tenets. It is of the large, strong, solid English Anglo-Catholics I endeavor to write. The Anglo-Catholics maintain strenuously the doctrines of the Incarnation of God, of sin, of redemption, grace, salvation. In these they are one with all pious Evangelicals.

LIVING CHURCH
The parting of the ways may perhaps begin with their belief about the Church. They believe the Church to be, from the beginning, a living organism instinct with the life of Christ by the Holy Spirit—the body of Christ—and that the Church of England never did break away from the one Holy Catholic Apostolic Church from the beginning.

They also believe very strongly in the Sacraments. In particular as regards the Sacrament of the Altar, they believe in the real presence of Christ, and follow the early Church in not attempting to define the manner of the presence as transubstantiation does, or to explain it away as Zwinglian and Calvinistic views do. In their profound reverence for this Sacrament, it is Christ and no other person or thing they desire to honor. Mr. Joynson-Hicks sees this clearly—that if they believe this, they must honor and adore Christ.

HOLY EUCHARIST
They also believe that the Holy Communion, or the Holy Eucharist, is bound up with Christ's offering now in Heaven, of His one perfect sacrifice on Calvary—that the Church here on earth does with Christ what He does in His glorified life in Heaven.

It is sometimes thought that the Anglo-Catholics do little in the way of "good works." This is not true. In the worst districts of the great cities of England, you will find this kind of parish church has been working (without boasting about it) for years. I have a friend, formerly a sea-faring man, who became convinced of the reality of the Anglo-Catholic life, by finding that kind of church in the dock districts of many ports. Anglo-Catholics are found to be laboring in some of the most difficult and trying missionary districts in the world. In England they have homes and orphanages and other works.

WOULD CONVERT ENGLAND
Two or three years ago the Anglo-Catholics allied themselves in the work of continuous (day and night) intercession, for a whole year without ceasing—for the conversion of England—to what?—to our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. That is the keynote of the movement, the knowledge and love and service of our Lord. Would anyone who desires the conversion of our people to our Lord wish to say anything in condemnation of these people?

One word in regard to the Papal See. Simply this—that the Anglican Communion agrees with that great part of Christendom commonly spoken of as the Eastern Orthodox Church which never agreed to the Papal claims, and stands a permanent refutation to the claim that the whole Church accepted it. It never was accepted by early undivided Christendom. The Anglo-Catholics believe that Catholicism is not dependent on submission to the Magistracy of the Bishop of Rome. Here they are one with all Eastern Catholicism.

PLATINUM STRIKE IN INTERIOR ALASKA IS ON PROSPECT SO FAR

SEWARD, Feb. 3.—Completing a thousand mile dog team trip from interior Alaska at the headquarters of the Kuskokwim River, Carl Lottfeldt, superintendent of the Alaska Road Commission here yesterday en route to Juneau. With regard to the reported platinum strike on Goodnews Bay he said he heard more about it 300 miles away than at the scene of the strike. Everything was in the prospecting stage, he said, and does not warrant a stampede. By next fall the extent of the ore will be known.

SCHOONERS LEAVE SEATTLE FEBRUARY 6 FOR FISHING GROUNDS

KETCHIKAN, Feb. 3.—Word has been received here that the big halibut schooners propose to leave Seattle for this port for the fishing season on February 6. This should give them plenty of time to reach the fishing grounds before the opening on February 15.

Contrary to expectation no new fishing boats from the south will be taking part at the opening of the season.

There is plenty of bait and everything looks favorable for the opening.

Mrs. H. Valpy sailed this morning on the Prince Rupert for Vancouver.

Stomach Troubles

Of what use is money or food if the stomach fails in its duty and causes you misery?

The healthy person does not, and should not, realize that he has a stomach. Digestion of wholesome and normal foods should be automatic. But this cannot be if the stomach is receiving less than its full supply of vital energy.

When the stomach fails in its functions, two courses of relief are available—you can reduce the quantity and variety of your food to fit its subnormal capacity—or you can have the cause removed by spinal adjustments which restore the flow of vital energy to its full capacity. Which is best. We believe in removing the cause.

LEGISLATION FORESHADOWED BY PATTULLO

VICTORIA, Feb. 3.—New pronouncements of policy including plans to grant relief to interior irrigationists and Sumas land owners, were made in the Legislature yesterday by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands.

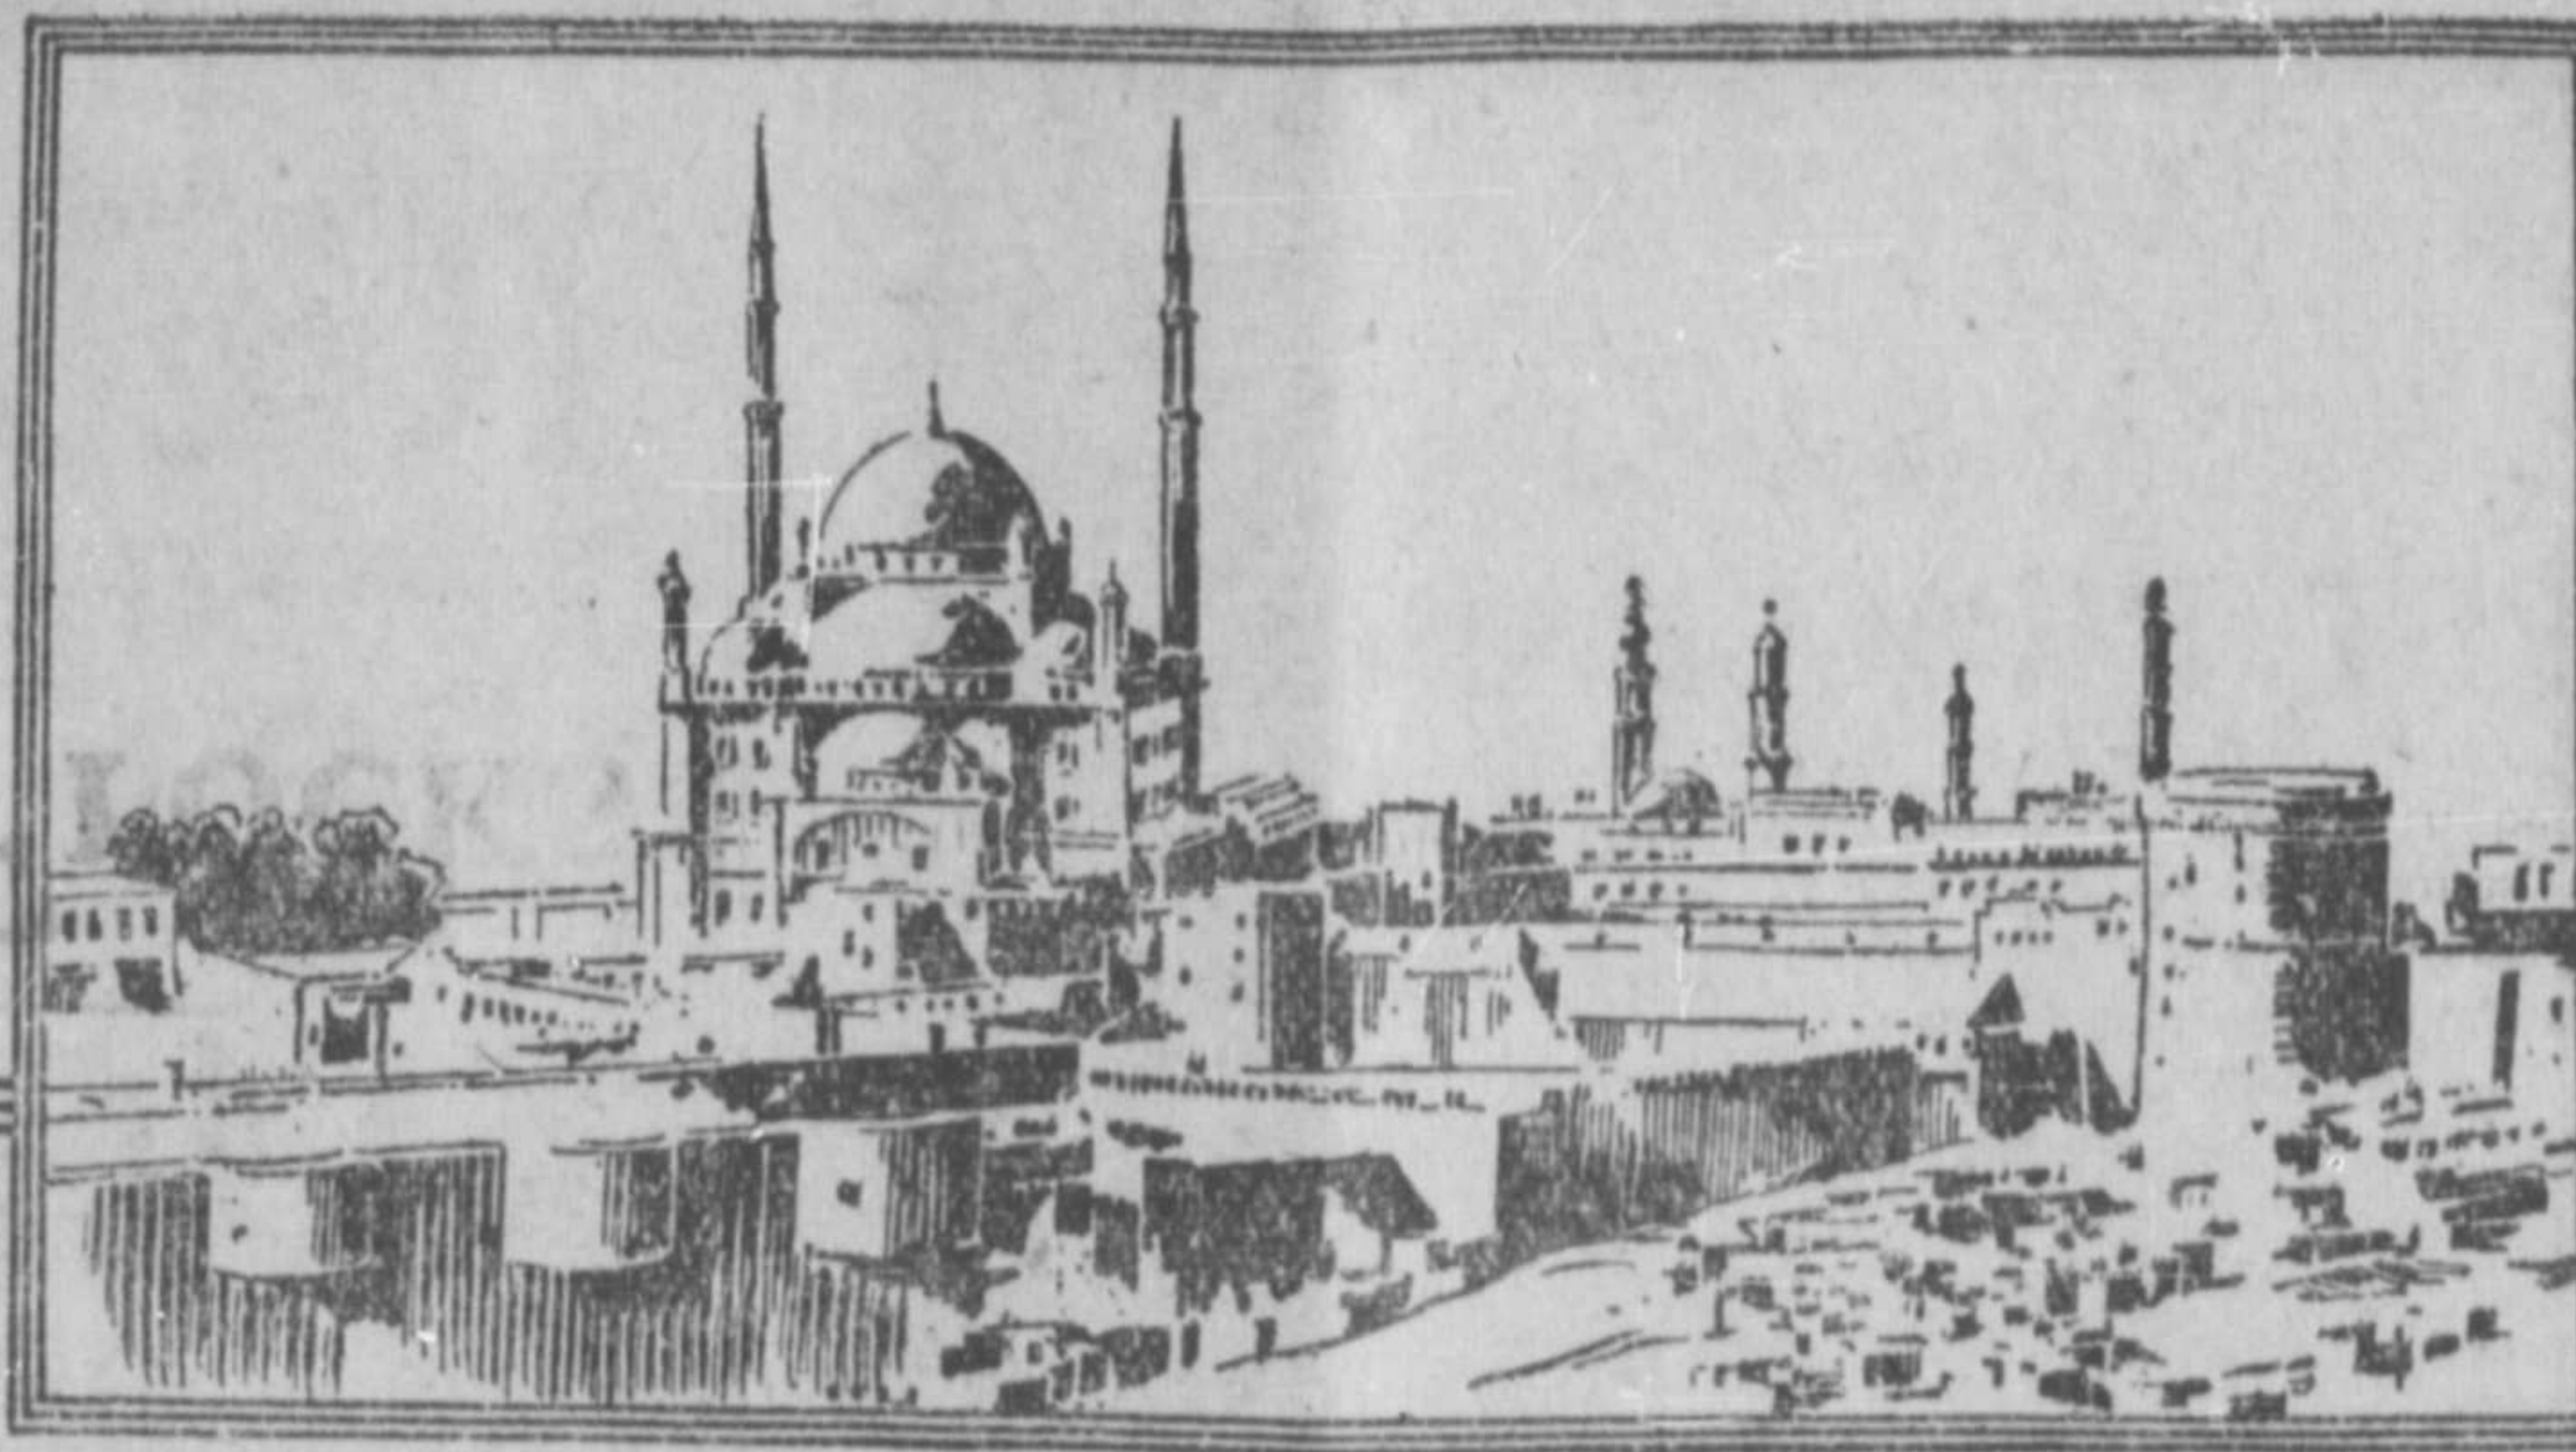

The government through Mr. Pattullo promised legislation at this session to write down the capital charges on interior irrigation system and similar legislation to reduce capital charges on the Sumas Lake reclamation scheme. They will provide an extension of from 30 to 35 years in which to pay off money borrowed from the province to establish waterworks and will give consideration to proposals that the government should assume the burden if, on reclassification of the interior irrigation lands, it shall be found that neither the fruit growers nor the mixed farmers could meet the irrigation rates which reclassification would show to be proper.

The government will eliminate compound interest on irrigation loans in respect to the moratorium period.

Legislation will be passed authorizing the district water boards to waive the fifteen per cent penalty on delinquents at their discretion.

Return will be made to pre-emptors of the whole of their labor on the sale of reverted pre-emptions by the Crown.

The government also proposes to limit

DROWNED IN WELL

CLOVERDALE, Feb. 3.—Frederick Wells, 55 years of age, was found drowned in a well at his home at Coast and Meridian Road.

REVOLTING MURDER WAS THAT OF JAMES SMITH

The right arm were also missing, only flesh remaining. The right leg was broken. The remains were removed on Tuesday, January 31, to Massett by Sergeant McNeill, Inspector Spiller and Constable Grant. McNeill and Spiller having arrived at Massett in the meantime to take charge of the investigation.

SHARPENED TABLE KNIFE

The officers were subsequently taken to another point, accompanied by accused, where Sergeant McNeill unearthed a rifle which was also cleverly camouflaged in the ground. There was also found a 25-20 shell, the same size as the rifle. Harry Smith said: "Yes, I threw the full shells on either side of the road. I don't know what I did with the empty ones. I think I threw one away close to the body." A table knife, filed to the shape of a stiletto, was also found by Constable Grant in that locality. Accused stated that it was his. "I had it," he said, "because I was afraid of my father. I never had any hatred in my heart."

Dr. Dunn, Sergeant McNeill, Constable Grant and Frank Smith gave evidence as to the foregoing details at both the inquest and the preliminary hearing which were held before Suspendary Magistrate A. R. Mallory of Port Clements at Massett. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that "the remains of a man now lying at Massett are those of James Smith, aged 64, who met his death between January 20 and 27 from a rifle bullet or bullets from a rifle held in the hands of Harry Smith, deceased's son." At the subsequent preliminary trial, Harry Smith, aged 24, was committed for trial. The Smith family, which originally came from England, has lived at Massett for many years. They were all quite well known and the killing was as shocking to the community as it was sensational.
