LARGEST GRAIN CARGO LEAVES

Swedish Freighter Sydland Sails for Rotterdam—Teepool Here and Holmpark Coming

Having on board the largest grain cargo ever loaded from this port, the Swedish freighter Sydland, Capt. A. N. Larsen, sailed at 10 o'clock Sunday night for the United Kingdom or Continent with a full cargo taken in at the elevator. The Sydland's destination is Rotterdam, Holland.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the British freighter Teepool arrived from South Shields, England, and, being already lined, is ready to start loading. The Teepool left South Shields on November 22 and came in ballast via the Panama Canal. A sort of turret ship, the Teepool's tonnage is 2958 but she has a large cargo space. She was built in 1905 and carries a crew of thirty-two men. Her port of registry is West Hartlepool and Capt. George Johnstone is her master.

The tenth and next grain boat of the season for Prince Rupert will be the British steamer Holmpark which is due this week and which will also load full for the United Kingdom or Continent.

HEAVY SNOW IN SOUTH VANCOUVER, Jan. 3.—Generally mild rainy weather prevails along the coast today. The prairies are still bearing the brunt of the Arctic cold wave but forecasts indicate a gradual moderation. Lethbridge had a rain storm this morning.

Stewart Shooting Case Ends in Death of Man Well Known in North

William Ritchie Victim of New Year Morning Affair and Henry Rivard Held in Connection With Killing

STEWART, January 3.—William Ritchie, who was with P. M. Moncton all summer on the work of mapping the Upper Naas River section for the provincial government, was shot and killed at two-thirty New Year's morning, and Henry Rivard, proprietor of a rooming house and second-hand store is locked up charged with the shooting which took place in the hall-way of the upper floor. As far as can be learned there was no actual witness to the killing and more or less mystery surrounds it. It appears that Rivard had been having trouble with some visitors but not Ritchie, who had the reputation of being of a peaceful disposition. Just how the killing took place will not be known until the coroner's inquest, which occurs this afternoon when provincial police officials arrive by special boat from Prince Rupert. The bullet entered Ritchie's chest near the right nipple and took a downward course lodging in his back bone, death was practically instantaneous.

BEGINNING WELL

Today we are starting a new year. Let us clean the old slate and wipe off everything that is objectionable. Let us get some move into our footsteps, some vim into our work and a spirit of determination into our every effort. The old is gone, let it go. The new year is before us. Make it a year worth while, something that will stand out ahead of everything that has gone before and let us do it together in harmony if not in unison.

CHANGING PRICE OF PAPER

On the front page is an announcement in regard to a cut in the price of the paper. This is part of a new policy of advancement in connection with the Daily News. We want Prince Rupert people to feel that the paper is theirs and that it stands for everything that is best in the life of the city. We are trying to make it possible for all to read it. We suggest that an order be sent for it at once if it is not already taken. We are doing our part and we ask the people of the city to do theirs.

We are not complaining of the support we have been getting in the past. The people of the city have supported us splendidly. What we ask is that we may be enabled very soon to make other improvements, such as are desirable in the representative newspaper of the northern part of the province.

Those who appreciate the work we are doing will back us by giving their support voluntarily. We shall try to put new life into the paper and it will help a lot if we are supported by all the citizens.

SHOULD BE POST OFFICE

One of the improvements Prince Rupert should get and get soon is a new post office. The recent Christmas rush indicated how inadequate are the present accommodations. The building is a wooden affair liable to be burned down at any time and the mail with it.

The government has a good site with an excavation completed. We are told this site cannot well be sold, so why not build on it. With the site and excavation complete, one third of the cost of the building is complete.

PEACE RIVER AGAIN

Again our attention is drawn to the Peace River Railway by an editorial article in the Edmonton Bulletin which reads as follows:

Premier Brownlee is by no means disposed to look upon the E.D. & B.C. system as a white elephant which should be got rid of at any price. He says there has been a marked betterment in the financial position of the lines, and is confident that a further improvement can be made in the future should the province be obliged to continue operation. His conclusion is that the people of the province would be justified in holding the system for a time rather than sell it at too heavy a sacrifice.

That is the plain common sense of the situation; provided holding the system does not mean blocking the way of one of the transcontinentals into the Peace River country, and thus preventing the construction of branch railways in that area and a direct outlet from it to the Pacific. Without control of the E.D. & B.C. neither the National nor the C.P.R. is at all likely to build railway lines in Peace River or an outlet from there to the coast. It will not do to stall the development of the north country in hope of getting a good price for the provincial lines.

GRANDE PRAIRIE SPEAKS

W. C. Pratt, president of the Grand Prairie Board of Trade, in an interview with a newspaper representative is quoted as saying: "I believe the logical solution of our problem would be to have the development carried out by either one or the other of the two transcontinental systems," said Mr. Pratt, "but I was misquoted as saying that anything is better than provincial control of existing lines."

"At present the railways get the benefit of the freight in the long haul to Fort William and it might be to the advantage of a railway to keep things as they are, instead of spending millions on a coast outlet which means a shorter haul and less revenue. The reason I have always advocated the Canadian National is that this would appear to be territory geographically tributary to that road and it could give the outlet at less cost."

OPPOSE HIGHER COTTON DUTIES

Argument Against Any Advance Presented by R. J. Deachman

Acting on behalf of the Consumers' League, R. J. Deachman appeared before the Tariff Commission recently opposing any advance in the duty on cotton. He went into the history of the cotton business in Canada and here is a small section of his argument which is extremely interesting:

Then we have the Dominion Textile Company. The story of that company records the most remarkable financial adventures in Canadian history. The present owners paid $500,000 for stock with a par value of $5,000,000. Year after year they paid dividends on its par value. Then as the stock went up in price, they sold valuable rights on this stock. That is to say, they gave to every holder of two shares, the right to purchase an additional share at par when the stock was selling far above $10.00. Then a year ago, they split in three ways so that each shareholder got three shares for one. Today, that stock sells in the market for $130 a share. It has a capital valuation of over $29,000,000. In all the years since it was formed, only $3,000,000 has been paid for this stock. What happened to make it worth over $29,000,000?

TOASTED BOTH SIDES

I do not think there is a doubt as to the true answer to that question. Not even for the President of the Bank of Montreal does the manna descend from Heaven toasted on both sides and buttered. Every dollar of value represented by the difference between the selling price of that stock today and the money which was actually paid for it, representing a contribution made by the consumer of Canada to the Dominion Textile Company. The consumer paid for their cotton and they paid for the cotton factory as well. The representatives of this Corporation are here today, acting as if they owned the stock. They do own it, but the consumers of Canada paid for it. The consumers paid for it and these gentlemen own it. The consumers put in over $8.00 for every dollar put in by the alleged owners. The price of that stock today represents excess values which have been paid for cotton goods since the company was formed. It represents either that or the capitalized value of the right to exploit the common people—a right bestowed upon these gentlemen by one thing and one thing only, the protective tariff.

STOCK WATERING

Where has past history seen such a magnificent example of stock watering as this? Moses of old touched the rocks and the waters gushed forth. These gentlemen touched the financial rocks—the waters gushed forth and by some strange alchemy they transmuted the fluid into gold. John Churchill, first Duke of Marlborough, was the first stock waterer which the pages of financial history record. He watered the stock of the Hudson's Bay Company, splitting it up in such manner as has been done by these gentlemen, but I am certain that if the hero of Blenheim or Oudenarde and Malplaquet were here he would have nothing to learn from those who have been pleading for special favors for the Cotton Manufacturers who have in the past, been able to do so well at the public expense.

If we measure the profits paid today against the actual amount of cash paid in by the original owners, we find the actual earnings of Dominion Textile to be in excess of 220 per cent. But that is not all! How far did they in the period of the Nation's stress and storm? Do not take my word for it. I have here, the report of the Special Committee on the Cost of Living. That committee sat in 1918. Mr. Francis G. Daniels was called, duly sworn and gave evidence. Mr. Daniels said he was general manager of Dominion Textile Company. He was examined by Mr. Pringle. I quote now from page 362 of the evidence:

Mr. Pringle: "For 1918 you earned about 291 per cent."
Mr. Daniels: "Yes!"

PLEADING FOR MORE

There you have it—1918—an actual earning of 291 per cent. What happened in that year? In March 1918, the Fifth British Army assaulted by an overwhelming force of Germans, reeled, staggered, broke. It was the greatest single disaster which ever befell British arms. The fate of the world hung in the balance. It was a pivotal point in history. The retreating army fought as men never fought before. Down there in Montreal, in the office of the Dominion Textile, at this very time, these gentlemen sheltered by a tariff, raised in order of pay for the war, quietly announced a dividend equal to 291 per cent on the actual cash paid in for the common stock. Yet, here they stand today, pleading, still pleading for more.

WE ARE R-R-REVENGED

DEMAND FOR HOCKEY STARS

United States Looking to Canada to Supply Demand for Players in Winter Game

LARGE PRICES PAID

Auriel Joliat of Canadiens Packs Rinks on American Side Whenever He Performs

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—On the basis of the mounting popularity of professional hockey in the United States, "Ivory hunting" in Canada for capable skaters and stick wielders is likely to become a somewhat overcrowded business in the next few years.

Yank clubowners or their scouts have already made many an excursion into what they term "the north" in quest of wingers, defense men and goal guardians, either embryonic or fully developed. Their methods are patterned along the lines of those used by major league baseball clubs.

Canada is positively the sole source of supply of hockey players at the present time, although a few are developed in Minnesota. The demand for the higher class performers, contingent upon the inclusion of Detroit, Boston, Pittsburgh, New York and Chicago in the National Hockey League, has diminished the supply to such an extent that prices this year are virtually double those of last season. The magnates now pay from $3,000 for likely youngsters to $40,000 for a star.

VALUE OF STARS

Chicago Black Hawks, for example, sold George Hay and "Puss" Traub to Detroit at the close of the 1926-27 season for $15,000, and would be glad to pay $20,000 to get Hay back now. Howie Morenz of Les Canadiens is rated to be worth $50,000; Burch of the Americans, $35,000; Dick Irvin of the Hawks, $30,000; Frederickson of the Boston Bruins, $40,000 and so forth.

Player values is another story, but it does not require any large amount of perspicacity to realize that the Canadian clubowners who exercise a little forethought in the matter of signing up promising young men will make a lot of money by retailing them to American hockey operators in the next few years. Plenty of this "retailing" has occurred already and there are numerous cases of the American buyers being "gold bricked."

If Canadian hockey men think, however, that the magnates on this side of the border are not alive to the necessity of ensuring a future player supply, they are mistaken. Most of the American clubowners have a file of Canadian minor league players, from Vancouver to Halifax. They are keeping in touch with games in Regina, Winnipeg, Cobalt, Hamilton and other points as well as minor leagues in Quebec.

FRENCH CANADIANS

The French-Canadian player, who usually displays the dash and flair for the spectator, is at a premium in the American hockey market. Ask any American fan who he'd rather see play than any of the stars and the prompt reply will be "Auriel Joliat." They pack the rinks on this side when Joliat performs.

It must be borne in mind that a large proportion of the players on National Hockey League teams are in the old-timer class, have passed their prime and must be replaced in the next few seasons. This is the opportunity for Canada's ambitious exponent of the winter sport to attain fame and wealth abroad.

Taken by and large, American imports of Canadian hockey players should form a continued and increasingly large item in her foreign trade in the years to come. The Canadian problem, of course, will be to trade profitably with the American capitalists, without deteriorating the brand of hockey required in the domestic market.

SPORT CHAT

With the New Year now firmly in the saddle and the festivities in connection with its ushering in a matter of the past, sport fans will now turn their thoughts to the second half of the season in the various competitions which, truly enough, will seem over.

He made known he is negotiating with engineers on prospects of installing a graded collapsible seating plant of steel supports to accommodate a greater crowd than ever before has been jammed into Jacob Ruppert's baseball park. Just who Tunney's opponent will be is unknown but Rickard favors Jack Dempsey in the challenger role once more. However, Rickard will have Dempsey engage in at least one match before trying for a comeback in the title direction. Dempsey's opponent will be chosen from the present list of heavyweight contenders, namely, Tom Heeney, Jack Sharkey, Jack Delaney and Johnny Risko.

BROTHERS RISK LIVES RESCUING TWO DOGS

Thrilling Incident on River at Windsor Dam Where Canines Were in Danger

LONDON, Dec. 30.—A remarkable rescue from drowning of two valuable dogs by Frederick Husted and Ben Husted of Eton was watched by a large crowd at Windsor recently.

Frederick Husted is the chief officer of the Eton fire brigade, and someone who saw the dogs being swept under Windsor Bridge towards the dam told him. Mr. Husted called his brother, and, getting a punt, they paddled after the dogs.

The river is in flood and with the sluice gates drawn the brothers risked their lives by taking the punt down the stream towards the dam.

They rescued the first dog, a collie, 40 yards from the dam. Realizing that they could not catch the other dog, an Airedale, before it was carried over the dam, Ben Husted jumped on the bank and, wading out by the dam, climbed along the structure caught it as it was about to be swept over.

PRINCESS MAQUINNA REPLACES BEATRICE

Interesting Report Heard Regarding B.C. Coast Service Vancouver-Prince Rupert Run

Agreeing with rumored intentions of the C.P.R. British Columbia Coast service to take the steamer Princess Beatrice, which has given long service, out of commission, the report is now heard that next season the Princess Maquinna, long on the west coast of Vancouver Island run, will be placed permanently on the run between Vancouver and Prince Rupert instead of the Beatrice. Before the change is made, it is understood that the Princess Royal will relieve temporarily on the run. The Maquinna is a sturdy steel vessel, considerably larger than the wooden Beatrice.

George H. Stocks of the staff of Booth Memorial school returned to the city on the Camosun Sunday night after having spent the holidays in Vancouver.

WOMAN HUMAN DECLARES SHAW

FAMOUS AUTHOR SAYS PEOPLE STILL LOOK ON HER AS SEPARATE CREATION

LONDON, Jan. 3.—(Canadian Press) George Bernard Shaw proclaimed himself a relic of the Victorian age when he appeared on a platform recently to assist in an appeal for providing hostels for homeless women. At the outset, after some by-play with the chairman, Sir Gerald du Maurier Mr. Shaw promised that if the audience would subscribe £2,000 he would make it into guineas. The £2,000 was quickly forthcoming, and as quickly was converted into guineas, a difference of about $600.

Mr. Shaw told about the shock he had received as a child of five, when accustomed to seeing women wearing crinolines and looking like mountains surrounded by pinched figures, he saw one for the first time wearing a skirt without a crinoline. "It gave the impression," he said, "that she had legs." The men of that day did not admire the appearance of men, but they were determined to regard women as beings of another race. Women were to be angels. They were to wear clothes that concealed their shape. They were not dressed; they were upholstered, and if they were not studded with buttons like upholstered furniture they had lots of little trimmings that conveyed the same effect.

"The last woman I remember seeing who appeared to be upholstered," said Mr. Shaw, "was Miss Marie Corelli. I look round this audience and I see no woman who has that appearance."

"But while fashions have changed, the Victorian idea that woman is a separate creation still exists. My secret as a dramatic author, the secret of that extraordinary knowledge of women which enchants the whole world, is that I have always assumed that woman is a human being very much like myself. It is due very largely to the Victorian idea that we have the extraordinary state of society which neglects to provide for women what is provided for men as a matter of course."

ODD CORRUPTIONS OF COMMON WORDS USED BY EVERYONE DAILY

Many words and expressions used every day have in reality, according to The Mentor, an origin quite foreign to the one implied and frequently quite inconsistent with the meaning that custom has attached to them.

A "country dance," for instance, is not merely a celebration of rustics. It comes from the French contre danse, meaning any dance in which the performers face each other.

A "blackguard," now a highly complimentary term, was not always meant as such. A black guard, in the days of the Tudors, was merely an inferior servant of the crown, who was dressed in black.

The word "idiot" has become completely corrupted. The word had its origin in Greece, where it was applied to a private person—one not engaged in any public office. It did not even signify that he was particularly incompetent to officiate, but merely distinguished an ordinary citizen from priests and officials. In time, however, the impression was gathered that an "idiot" was not competent and in time degenerated into its present meaning.

The noble title of "Lord" had a comparatively humble origin in "loaf ward," meaning guardian of the food, and hence, head of the household. "Lady," likewise, had its root in blaf lige, or "bread kneader," meaning simply the female head of the family. "Spinster" is applied to an unmarried woman because in the good old days no young woman was considered fit to be a wife until she had spun for herself a set of linens.

A Jew's harp has no Hebrew origin. It gets its name from the French word jou, meaning a toy.

Macaroni, delectable dish, was originated in Italy by the cook of a wealthy noble of Palermo. The cook knew his art but lacked imagination—and consequently his chef d'oeuvre lacked a name. His master was an epicure and with the first taste he exclaimed "Ma Carli!" which quite freely translated might mean "How perfectly delicious!" Upon the second taste his enthusiasm increased to the extent of "Ma Caroni!" And the delighted cook forthwith named his invention by this endearing term.

A. W. Edge, who has been at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brooks-bank, Third Avenue West, for several weeks, will re-enter the Prince Rupert General Hospital today.

R. H. Eaton, superintendent of the Babine Lake hatchery, arrived on the Princess Mary Saturday afternoon from Vancouver where he spent a holiday and will proceed to the interior on tomorrow morning's train.

Dinner on Occasion of Annual Meeting of Chamber Well Attended

SMITHERS, Jan. 3.—There was a representative attendance at the annual general meeting and mining dinner held by the Omica branch of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines at the Bulkley Hotel in Smithers on Thursday, December 29, in spite of the fact that the thermometer was standing at forty degrees below zero at the time.

Annual reports of the officers were presented to the meeting, reviewing the numerous activities of the branch in the course of the year, which covered a very wide field including the sending of mining publicity to the resources and developments of the district to all parts of the English-speaking world, the gathering of ores from a district extending to Amesbury on the west, to Whitesall Lake on the south and to the Ingenia River on the north-east, and the placing of these ores on display at Vancouver, at New York and at many other points.

After the conclusion of a delightful dinner and the business of the meeting having been disposed of, there were some splendid after-dinner speeches made by tape present. Among these were Frank H. Taylor who had come down from Topley for the occasion and who outlined the program for the coming year at the several properties he has under supervision, including the Richfield at Topley and the Victory and King Tut properties on Hudson Bay Mountain. Jas. Rutherford of Vancouver was another speaker who gave an able address on some of the more promising features of the mining outlook. Frank M. Dockrill of Telkwa overlooked the inconvenience of a fifteen mile drive in the face of a forty below breeze to be present and he gave an excellent constructive address on the value to be gained by featuring the romantic touch in our mining publicity. L. B. Warner, president of the Smithers District Board of Trade, and others also gave very capable addresses.

In the election of officers for 1928 there was practically a re-election of the officers of the past year, the new slate being:
Hon. President—Hon. Wm. Sloan.
Hon. Vice-president—J. F. Duthie, Seattle.
President—L. S. McGill, Smithers.
Vice-President—Frank H. Taylor, Topley.
Secretary-Treasurer—H. C. Lifton, Smithers.

Representative on Provincial Executive—A. C. Garde, Vancouver.
Directors—John R. Turner, Duthie Mine; Jas. Wright, Smithers; F. B. Chettleburgh, Telkwa; D. A. McRae, Smithers; Peter Schuler, Lake Katlayn; B. Frank Messner, Smithers; A. T. Hatter, Babine; A. S. Millar, Smithers; Alex. Chisholm, Smithers.

QUEBEC POLICE USING SCIENCE

PROVINCIAL OFFICE IN MONTREAL PURSUING CRIMINAL WITH LABORATORY AND MEDICAL EXPERIENCES

MONTREAL, January 3.—(Canadian Press)—The science of "technical police and legal medicine," which forms so important a part of police administration in many European countries, is only officially recognized by one province in Canada. Quebec has a modernly equipped and efficiently staffed department devoted to this science situated in Montreal.

Here, the inevitable incidentals of crime—blood stains, finger prints, traces of poison—are analyzed and their significance interpreted. This unique laboratory is directed by Dr. Wilfrid Derome, a European-trained expert and the author of several treatises on criminology.

"Every city should have a laboratory of legal medicine as a part of its police department," declared Dr. Derome recently. "The ordinary training of a police officer does not fit him to read aright the inadvertent traces of his handiwork which almost every criminal, however careful, leaves behind him. Men are required who have made thorough study of chemistry and medicine, and who are specialists in this young science."

"Again, each city police department should have its own medical expert, in order that it may be independent of the provincial and federal forces in the eventuality of a crime which calls for scientific study."

"My position is entirely provincial and I am not obliged to co-operate with the Montreal police; yet, because Montreal has no department of technical police of its own, my services are frequently called upon in strictly municipal cases."

When it is remembered that Dr. Derome's testimony has been a vital factor in many such sensational trials as that of the gunman who carried out the

HIGHER CLASS BOOKS READ

TORONTO LIBRARIAN FINDS BIGGER DEMAND FOR BETTER TYPE OF LITERATURE

TORONTO, Jan. 3.—(By Canadian Press)—Commenting recently on Canadian public statistics for the past year, Dr. George Locke, chief librarian of the Toronto library, remarked that the figures proved conclusively that the automobile, the moving pictures and the radio are not presenting the serious competition to reading which many people feared they would.

"Canadians are reading more assiduously than ever before, and they are reading better books," said Dr. Locke. "While, of course, the demand for the cheaper popular fiction continues to be heavy, reports from all the libraries show a steadily increasing demand for biographies and books of travel. People are demonstrating an ever-growing curiosity concerning those few sections of the world which are not yet fully known; and such books as Lawrence's 'Revolts in Arabia' are being eagerly sought after."

"The more expensive products of the bookmaker's craft are treated by literary users with a greater respect than are the cheaper editions. Of course a certain number of volumes are lost, stolen or mutilated each year; but it is clear that the pupil's regard for books is on the increase."

"We may lose 20 books out of a quarter of a million in circulation," continued Dr. Locke, "but book vandalism is dying out. The reader who insists upon writing comments such as 'rotten' or 'great stuff' in the margins of borrowed volumes is no longer so constant a source of annoyance."

"The child particularly gives a beautiful book the care which it deserves. He quickly learns to realize the part which artistic binding and printing, good paper, and fine illustrating play in the worth of a volume. We can feel more secure in trusting children with expensive editions than adults."

JUVENILES IMPROVE
Juvenile readers also display better taste in the reading matter which they prefer, according to the librarian. The patrons of the Boys' and Girls' House connected with the Toronto Library, manifest an omnivorous appetite for solid British classics which are not generally supposed to appeal to the childish taste. Eagerly they gobble up Dickens and Stevenson, then call for more in the line of the latest books of travel and science. They often display a superciliousness for the more frivolous fiction consumed by their elders. They appreciate good writing, particularly when combined with vivid action.

So, though the work of the public libraries, the rising generation of Canadians promises to be made up of discriminating readers. Certainly there is no indication that reading as a pastime

FINANCING OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS HARD

Sir Herbert Ames Tells of Trouble in Putting it on Business-Like Basis

MONTREAL, Jan. 2.—(By Canadian Press)—Some of the problems he met when trying to place the League of Nations on a business-like basis were explained recently by Sir Herbert Ames, financial director of the League, 1919-26. Sir Herbert was paying a flying visit to Montreal, one of whose seats he formerly represented at Ottawa. He has made his home in Massachusetts since resigning his post with the League of Nations. Sir Herbert said that only five nations failed to pay their share of the administration to the League, these being Nicaragua, Honduras, Peru, Bolivia, and China. All others pay well, although difficulties are experienced in contributing and the means of payment greatly vary. Bulgaria, for example, paid in refugees on one occasion, the League getting a mortgage on them. Eight dollars a head was being offered to any state which would take Russian refugees from General Wrangel's army, so Bulgaria agreed to take five hundred, thus being credited with $4,000, which was the amount of her contribution to the League.

POLAND PAYS UP

Other European states found it hard to pay, Poland being notable among these at one time. The Poles are immensely patriotic, and were not anxious to have their country appear on the black list of the secretariat when the financial statement was published on September 1, 1923. A representative of Poland called on Sir Herbert Ames to make his country's contribution, but could not give a cheque on New York or on a Polish bank. Instead he brought a black bag which was packed with dollar bills of all denominations and amounting to $63,748. Asked as to the method of collecting this sum, the Polish representative said that the government knew of dollar bills being sent home from the United States at Christmas time, and issued a patriotic appeal to its people for American funds.

While the League was very hard up in its early days, it had a working capital of $800,000; $2,900,000 in property and buildings, and a cash reserve of $2,250,000 for the erection of a permanent building to house the secretariat, when Sir Herbert Ames resigned in July, 1926.

AMERICAN DOLLAR USED

One of his difficulties was to find some currency in which payments might

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Variant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by alien or declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes. Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Government Agent, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e. carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 1,000 feet per acre east of that range. Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner. Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received. For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes, minimum price for first-class (arable) land is $3 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

INDUSTRIAL SITES

All factory, or industrial sites on timberland, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

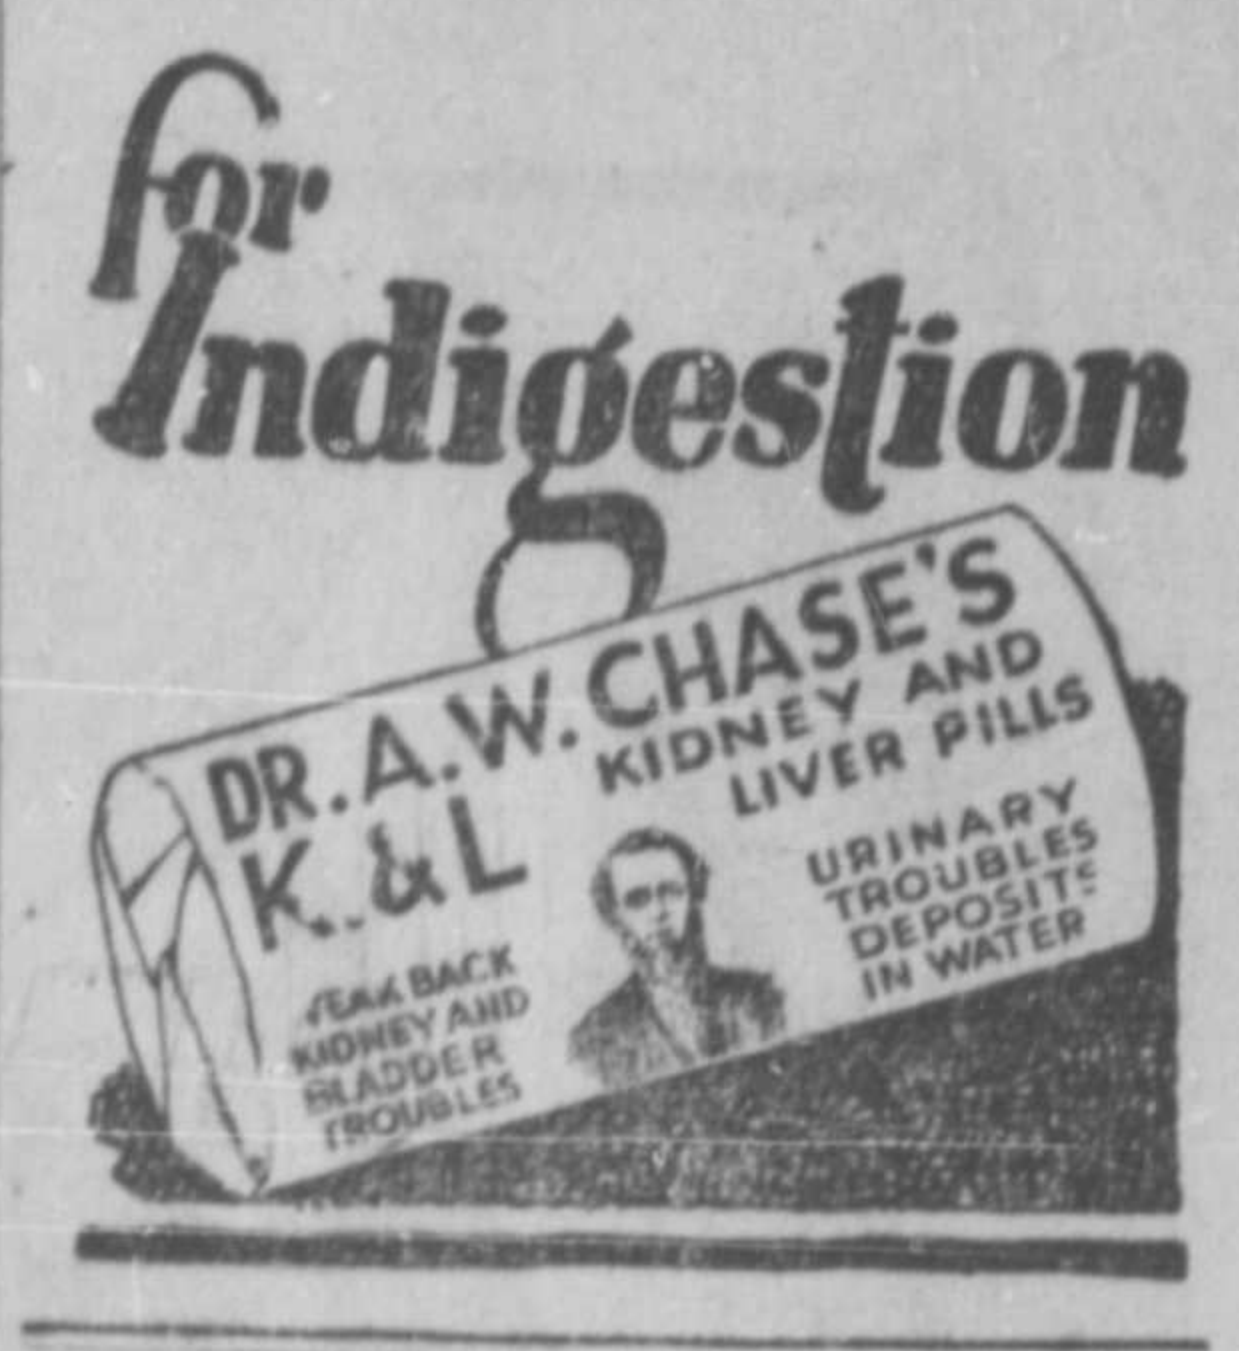

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 500 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING ACT

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commission. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partly free, permits are available for settlers, trappers and travellers, up to 100 head.

be made to the League, so the pre-war gold franc, which has a value of 19 2-3 cents, was invented. The annual budget amounted to 25,000,000 gold francs, but almost 300,000 francs were made on exchange each year, as the League made its disbursements in Swiss francs. As the gold franc was not in current use, the American dollar was utilized for all general purposes of payment, being the only monetary unit that showed no change from before and during the war. It was therefore suggested that their contributions might be made by drawing drafts on New York. When received at Geneva, Sir Herbert Ames auctioned them off between four banks, one being a French-Swiss, another a German-Swiss, a third being a British bank and the fourth a French institution, the best bidder getting the draft.

Sir Herbert explained that his first budget, which was to carry the League secretariat over the winter of 1919-20, amounted to £250,000, but that considerable difficulty was experienced in collecting the money. His first letters, drafted in a business-like and brief manner, were turned down by the diplomatic censor as being too direct. It was pointed out to the financial director that the League of Nations must take the attitude of an inferior communicating with a superior; that it cannot ask for anything, but must only hint. The winter was a hard one, Sir Herbert said, for bricks had to be made without straw. All replies to the "hints" for funds were the same. Denmark and Siam were the only countries that could contribute without first obtaining the authorization of their parliaments, and the League could not possibly be maintained with the payments from these two.

MAN IN THE MOON

GOOD afternoon folks, let us begin the new year cheerfully! THEY tell me this year is 1928. So get up early in the morning and at night don't be too late. HONESTY is a state of mind. PRINCE Rupert people should be hardy. See how they sit and shiver and watch a game. JAKE says that whenever anybody starts to do anything in Prince Rupert he is suspected of playing politics.

TEN YEARS AGO IN PRINCE RUPERT

January 3, 1918. Porpoise in addition to whale meat is being placed on the British Columbia market. W. T. Mase, well known contractor, arriving last night from Green Island, near Port Simpson, brought with him a porpoise which he pronounces is quite palatable. After having been tied up for several days on account of slides, it is expected that trains from the interior will reach here about midnight tonight. As a war measure, Sir Edward Carson urges that the Allies build German business rather than German buildings.

"MAN CRAZY" IS NEW ENGLAND STORY AND FULL OF MYSTERY

Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall, the popular team of First National players, are to be seen again on the local screen in a new film. They come tomorrow in a rollicking romance of staid New England, "Man Crazy." The story is the love affair of a daughter of an aristocratic New England family, and a truck driver who proudly pilots the fastest truck on the Boston Post Road.

Adapted from the Saturday Evening Post story, "Clarissa and the Post Road," "Man Crazy" is an ideal vehicle for the talents of Miss Mackaill and Mr. Mulhall, and their performance in this picture, together with that of the capable cast which supports them, make it a splendid entertainment. "Man Crazy" has a pretty love story, action, thrills and mystery. It is ideal entertainment for picture fans of all ages, and both of the featured players do excellent work.

"LADDIE" IS COMING AT THE WEEK-END

Story by Gene Stratton Porter Brought into a Picture and Well Produced "Laddie," the famous story by Gene Stratton Porter, is to be the week-end feature. Telling of the picture a reviewer says: "To me it is one of the best and most convincingly pictured stories I have seen on the screen. This is due to several people. It has been admirably cast, the actors and actresses are the people they depict and the happenings just do happen in the settings in which they are photographed. Never is your sense of plausibility violated, for which a thousand thanks. The story is human, interesting, and holds one to the end. Here is as good a place as any to publish some credit lines. Son-in-law J. Leo Meehan directed; he also wrote the continuity from his wife, Jeanette Porter Meehan's, adaptation. The work of both was successfully supplemented with the most convincing exteriors and interiors on a farm possible of realization. It is a real story simply told and naturally gaining everything from those two facts."

MONTREAL WORLD'S GREATEST GRAIN PORT

New York Nautical Gazette Directs Attention to Record Shipments from the Canadian Metropolis NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The Nautical Gazette publishes the following on the port of Montreal: As another season draws to a close Montreal proudly boasts of a record accomplishment in the handling of grain, having exceeded last year's high mark by more than 50,000,000 bushels. Montreal is the greatest grain port in the world and during the season just ended no less than 388,706,488 bushels of grain were handled at the port. The port has been open for 241 days, the government ice-breaker Lady Grey having arrived on April 10 to declare the channel clear from Montreal to Quebec. The steamship Lakerfield, which was forced to winter in port due to the rapid freeze-up last year, took her departure on April 12. As a point of interest, the same steamship was the last ship to clear for sea from Montreal this season. The Kielhoven, Osmarous, Blackheath and Hans Gude, all grain-laden, sailed on April 16 for transatlantic ports, and the first ocean arrival, the Laval County, docked here on April 17. The commissioners were able to proceed with their plans for increasing the storage capacity of the elevators with the passage by the Federal government of the program for harbor development and a loan of $12,000,000 sanctioned by Parliament. Work was started, therefore, on a 3,000,000 bushel annex to elevator No. 3, which should be ready to commence operations at the beginning of next season. This will increase the storage capacity of the elevator to 5,000,000 bushels. Plans have also been prepared for the construction of three more 3,000,000 bushel additions whom the volume of business justifies this extension.

MATINEE FOR NEW YEAR EVE

Large Crowd Attended Entertainment Put on Saturday Night by Elks in Westholme Theatre

A crowd which comfortably filled the Westholme Theatre attended the mid-night matinee put on for the Elks' Lodge under the direction of S. A. McPherson on New Year's Eve.

Those contributing to the program in novelty numbers included Mr. McPherson, Jack Cobb, Harry Astori, Russell Graham, Miss Myfanwy Campbell, Frank Moore, Frank Fortune, Billy Fuller, Garfield McKinley, Miss Elizabeth McLeod, A. A. Cannon, Bob Frizzell and Tom Spagoni. Outstanding numbers were the toe and court dancing of Miss Campbell; the sword dance of Little Miss McLeod, and the tricks and patter of Mr. Graham. Selections were also played by the Westholme Orchestra.

At midnight bedlam was let loose when noisemakers and cotton snow balls showered on the audience. In another place, the New Year was thus successfully introduced.

The cabaret entertainment at the Commodore Cafe on New Year's Eve was one of the popular attractions for the occasion in Princo Rupert. Dancing was enjoyed to the strains of music by Dave Eastman and his orchestra and there were bounteous refreshments. From early in the evening until late the next morning, there was a capacity attendance.

Gypsum is second only to coal as the most important mineral produced in the provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, where it has been mined for more than a century.

NEW YEAR CABARET BY ELKS' LODGE IS DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

The Elks' New Year's Eve soiree proved a lively party which was much enjoyed by a crowd of some one hundred and forty persons, the event taking place in the home in the Helgens Block. The big feature of the evening was the drawing for the fur coat, donated by William Goldbloom to the Christmas Cheer fund, the winner of which was George Ross of 67 Taxi who held the winning ticket 732 which was drawn in the course of the proceedings by George Frizzell.

Throughout the evening dancing was enjoyed to the strains of splendid music furnished by Alf Small and his six-piece orchestra which excelled itself. The decorative scheme was an attractive one, the ceiling and walls being adorned with streamers in the purple and white colors of the order with the cabaret tables enhanced by a sunburst effect. At midnight, noise making devices and other novelties were released with which to enthusiastically inaugurate the New Year.

Responsible for the success of the affair was Douglas Frizzell who had charge of its arrangement and acted as master of ceremonies. W. D. Vance presided at the door.

MY RUSSIAN LADY'S COAT IS CATSKIN

War on Felines Starts in Leningrad—Fifty Cents Paid for Every Skin

LENINGRAD, Jan. 3.—A war on cats has started since the State Clothing Syndicate announced fifty cents would be paid for every cat brought to its factory. Their skins are used in making popular-priced fur coats for women.

Midnight and daylight raids are reducing Leningrad's feline population. Cat-catchers carrying huge bags and iron bars go about the city coaxing cats into captivity or killing them outright.

Disappearances of family pets as well as the cruelty of their deaths have caused newspapers to protest. The syndicate, however, contends that the campaign meets the need for cheap furs, gives work to the unemployed and reduces the hydrophobia risk.

ECZEMA ENDED
Madame A. Lariviere of Fall River, Mass., suffered with eczema for three years, and had treatment from several doctors, all of whom gave up the case. "Finally," she says, "I went to a specialist, which cost me another $20, but I was no better. "A friend advised me to try Zam-Buk, which I did, and for which I have ever since been thankful. I very soon felt some relief, and perseverance with Zam-Buk completely rid me of the disease."

SEVERE CUT HEALED
Mr. C. Oakley of Saskatoon, who sustained a terrible cut on his leg, says: "Had I known of Zam-Buk when the accident occurred, I could have saved myself a $40 doctor's bill! A doctor sewed up the cut and attended me for five weeks, but the wound did not heal, and he advised me to go into a hospital. "I objected, however, and used Zam-Buk instead, and in two weeks' time was back at work."

SAVED OPERATION
"Father developed a painful sore on his face," writes Miss N. Lewis of Silver Lake, Oregon. "Numerous remedies and treatment from several doctors failed to heal it, and the doctor advised an operation. Someone advised him to first try Zam-Buk. A few applications brought relief, and continued use of Zam-Buk entirely healed the sore, saving father from an operation." # CLINIC TO CURE DEFECTS OF SPEECH

Large Percentage of Children Need Treatment for Stuttering

MONTREAL, Jan. 3.—A clinic for the treatment of children who stutter or have other speech defects has been opened by the Mental Hygiene Committee of Montreal.

The need for such a clinic has become increasingly evident to the committee, who feel that children with speech defects grow up with a feeling of inferiority which usually leads to such unhappiness and failure in life, and which, not infrequently, results in the development of nervous and mental ailments.

The case of one child who has been treated for some weeks was cited as showing the importance of early treatment. The child was sent from one of the schools, where, because of his speech defect, the other children frequently made fun of him, with the result that he was becoming morbid, extremely sensitive, and had lost all desire to play with his companions. An exaggerated form of lying was at the root of the child's difficulties, and this condition, already showing an improvement, is considered to be definitely curable.

It is estimated that about one per cent of school children are suffering from some sort of speech defect.

LENINGRAD IS DRUNKEN CITY

Shatters All Records For Intoxication, Suicides and Murders

LENINGRAD, Jan. 3.—Leningrad is believed to have shattered all records, Russian or foreign, for drunkenness, suicides and murders. During one week recently the record figure of 5124 persons arrested for drunkenness, was reached.

At the newly-established government institute for the cure of inebriety and the drug habit, long lines of men, women and even children wait daily for treatment. The waiting list numbers many thousands and extends into June. There are seldom less than three murders a day. Many of them are committed by juveniles and the motive often is petty robbery.
