Bank Holdup Suspect, Manager Recovering in Same Hospital

WILLIAMS LAKE — Formal charges are expected to be laid against a man RCMP say aided a bank manager in a recent attempt here yesterday was subdued by gunfire after he fled into the wilds.

The suspect tore into the alleged manager's chest and Leonard Hellyer, manager of the Williams Lake branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce received a flesh wound in the chest after midnight Tuesday.

Hellyer, working late, about to enter his car in front of the bank, a man approached him, asked for and refused a lift.

After the manager had started the car, the man pulled a gun and shot him. He was going to rob the bank.

"He entered the bank," said Hellyer, "and he ordered me to open the vault."

The bank accountant, Mrs. Williams, was also injured.

- Connecting highways between the two provinces.

Bo-Me-Hi Drop Third Game To Polar Bears

Special to The Daily News

KETCHIKAN — Booth Memorial High School's basketball team, the Rainmakers, blew their chance last night to win the inter-school high school trophy by suffering a 48-45 defeat at the hands of Kay-Hi Polar Bears.

The Rainmakers have now lost two of the four-game series in Prince Rupert in the inter-school competition which requires a three-game win to advance to the trophy.

The return game of the return series, however, will be played here.

Bo-Me-Hi outplayed the Polar Bears, the Rupert students barely beaten in their foul shooting. Kay-Hi canned 21 out of 39 chances while the Rainmakers sank only 17 out of 39.

Paul Morrison and Nickerson scored for Booth as they made good on their chances. For Bo-Me-Hi, Maddox and Bue sank 12 points each.

Bo-Me-Hi—Morrison 10, Nickerson 9, Tait 6, Kristmanson 3, Bue 5, Cameron 3, Letourneau 6, Total 45.

Kay-Hi—Hamlin 7, Bue 12, Tait 12, P. Tucker 2, Auger 8, Morrison 7, Total 48.

Power Commission Answers Differ With Sections In Act

Members Condemn Cabinet

Demand Claxton Resign Office

OTTAWA (CP) — A storm of parliamentary condemnation has swept down on the cabinet as a result of the Currie report.

Dipping deep into its spectacular findings, one opposition member after another threw them across the floor of the Commons Tuesday and said the cabinet "and only the cabinet" must accept the responsibility.

The report said there was a general breakdown in one branch of the army and made other sweeping allegations.

The Progressive Conservatives demanded the resignation of Defence Minister Claxton and called for a full-scale inquiry into the entire defence department. A CCF member used the report as one reason for arguing for an early election.

Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto-Eglinton) even suggested the resignation of Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Solon Low, the Social Credit leader, joined in the call for Mr. Claxton's scalp, and said "perhaps there are others who also ought to resign." He advised the government to "crack down hard" on those responsible for the faults discovered, including people "at the top."

The cabinet sent Justice Minister Garson in at night to urge members to reserve judgment until the Commons Defence Expenditures Committee has had a chance to make a thorough investigation of the report.

Col. Harkness said responsibility for lack of supervision in the army stores "rests squarely on the government" and the minister of national defence should "submit his resignation."

CANADIAN ARMY airborne engineers watch parachuted supplies drop to the frozen surface of Kloo Lake in the Yukon to start Exercise "Reluctant Beaver." The exercise is to test men and equipment in engineering operations under Arctic conditions.

Government Weathers Non-Confidence Motion

OTTAWA — The Commons Tuesday disposed of one motion of non-confidence in the government, but almost immediately had another placed before members by the CCF party.

The house paused long enough in heated debate concerning the Currie report to defeat by 118 to 20 a Social Credit motion of non-confidence.

The motion charged the government had "failed" to sponsor a realistic financial and economic policy that would assure the orderly development of resources, guarantee adequate markets and provide a just share of wealth to every Canadian.

After the dinner recess Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboine) moved a sub-amendment to the Progressive Conservative non-confidence motion still before the house.

It calls for payment to farmers for wheat stored on farms of up to 75 per cent of the initial price they would receive for their wheat in each crop year.

In the Commons today, Prime Minister St. Laurent said the advance copy of the Currie report was handed to the Defence Department and that some changes suggested were incorporated in the final report.

He expressed surprise that the Currie accounting firm of Montreal had taken this step, but said it was done simply to make sure that facts were right in view of criminal proceedings arising from Camp Petawawa thefts.

He read into the Commons record a series of changes suggested by C. M. Drury, deputy minister of the department.

Siamese 'Twins' 'Doing Fine' In Incubators

CLEVELAND — Two-day old girls, who were Siamese twins for the first three hours of their lives, are "doing fine" in separate incubators. Their mother's condition is "excellent."

Doctors at Mt. Sinai Hospital drew a curtain of anonymity about them when their rare case became known Tuesday, but said "they're doing fine. They're eating and performing normally."

The twins were separated by surgery. At birth they were joined by a short band of flesh at the point where the chest and abdomen meet. Doctors who participated emphasized the operation was possible because no vital organs were concerned.

Budget May Include Sum For Airport

A sum of money for construction of an airfield in Prince Rupert may be included in the 1953-54 federal budget, in the opinion of E. T. Applewhite, Skeena M.P.

In a letter to the Chamber of Commerce here, Mr. Applewhite said:

"I am confidently expecting that this year's estimates will include a sum for the Prince Rupert airport, but I don't expect such an amount will be sufficient to complete the project."

"My understanding is that there is a great deal of work to be done yet before the final plans and specifications can be prepared and advertised for tender."

Mr. Applewhite also cautioned that he did not think the airport would be built "overnight."

"Don't look for rash, speedy, and half-considered early action, but I am satisfied that the project is moving steadily and surely to a successful completion."

T. Norton Youngs, Chamber of Commerce president, said he was "heartened" by Mr. Applewhite's statement.

Gen. Simonds Threatens To Resign

TORONTO — The Telegram says in a dispatch from Ottawa that Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds is threatening to resign as chief of the Canadian army general staff over the Currie report on defence "inefficiency and waste."

"Gen. Simonds was closeted for several hours this (Tuesday) morning with ranking defence department officials," the story says.

"He is reported to have told some fellow officers he will resign unless the government acts quickly to absolve him from all blame in connection with Monday's disclosure."

Delegates Report Result of Talks

Direct clash between certain answers given to two city aldermen, interviewing the B.C. Power Commission in Victoria last week, and sections in the Electric Power Act which governs the Commission was at least one major item city council could agree on at last night's special meeting.

Aldermen George Hills and Mike Krueger gave a report of their meeting with the Commission, and answers to a set of questions prepared in advance by the council were read.

The report was tabled until Northern B.C. Power Co. Ltd., present suppliers of power here, submit their proposal in January as to what action the company would take if granted a renewal of its franchise, which expires in March, 1954.

Both delegates assured city council that the Commission cannot commit itself in advance as to what rates would be charged "if the Commission took over."

They reported they had been "most hospitably received" and that the position of the Commission in relation to Prince Rupert's future supply of electric power "was made very clear to us."

But after the report of the delegates was heard—and after a two-hour argument and discussion—council directed city clerk R. W. Long to seek "further clarification" from the Commission.

Answers which appeared to be directly contrary to the Electric Power Act deal with the "most important issue before us," said Ald. Ray McLean.

Both Ald. Hills and Ald. Krueger said they understood from the Commission that it was powerless under the act to do anything until the city indicated it wished the Commission to supply power.

Would Make 'Preliminary' Survey

Then the Commission would make a "preliminary" survey of the municipality's power needs, the existing Northern B.C. Power Co. Ltd. assets, etc., and make a recommendation to the Lieutenant-Governor in council.

This recommendation might support the municipality's request that the Commission supply power, or it might disprove it, depending on the result of the preliminary survey.

The Commission might find that it was "not economically feasible" to supply power to Prince Rupert.

The city, however, "would have no recourse, as I understand it," said Ald. Hills.

"Once we asked the Commission to be our supplier of power, they would not come to us again. They would either become our supplier or they would recommend against it, depending on the outcome of their survey."

"I don't think the council would know the result of the survey," said Ald. Hills in reply to a question by Ald. McLean.

"It looks, from this, that we may be putting the cart before the horse," commented Mayor Harold Whalen.

Ald. McLean, referring to the Electric Power Act, Sections 27 and 28, moved that the city clerk ask the Commission for "further clarification."

Plant Description Necessary

Section 27 and 28 were read by City Clerk Long, which stated that after a municipality had requested the Commission to supply power, "the Commission may thereupon make such investigation as it deems necessary and may report to the municipality . . . such items as "an estimate of the unit cost at which the power required for distribution in the proposed power district can be supplied at wholesale."

"Plans and specifications or a description of the plant necessary for the supply of such power in the proposed power district and an estimate of the cost thereof."

"Proposed rates to consumers that in the opinion of the Commission will produce revenue equal to the cost of supplying power to the consumers, and any such other information as the Commission may deem advisable."

Section 28 of the Act states that "upon receipt of the Commission's report the municipality may:

"Enter into agreement with the Commission whereby the Commission may establish a power district and acquire or build, maintain and operate therein plant for the supply of power . . ."

Ald. McLean also held this section contrary to an answer by Commission given to the delegates in answer to the question: "Would the city of Prince Rupert have the right to terminate any agreement or other arrangement with the Power Commission upon giving any duly specified written notice?"

"The Commission has no power to enter into any agreement with the city of Prince Rupert, or any city, except for supplying power to the municipality for its own purposes, such as street lighting, operation of pump motors, municipal buildings, etc. The general provisions of such agreements would be the same as in all service agreements for similar types of service."

Both delegates, in answer to further questions by Ald. McLean, said they had been told by the Commission that it could give the city "no indication whatever" what rates might be until after "the Commission takes over."

Aldermen Hills and Krueger also said that while the Commission would not commit itself on anything, "we got the impression that they frown on diesel operated plants and try to use hydro power wherever possible."

Alaska Opens Powerful Radio Station

The most powerful radio station in Alaska goes on the air for the first time at 6:30 tonight when KABI in Ketchikan opens its first broadcast.

Owned and operated by the Midnight Sun Aurora Broadcasting System, KABI will present well-known Prince Rupert citizens on the air in its opening feature.

Mayor Harold Whalen, John McLeod, Harry Black and Phil Linzey will speak on the occasion, by transcription. Their welcome speeches were recorded when, as members of a visiting Rotary Club group, they were in Ketchikan last month.

The MSABS owns and operates a radio station in each of the following Alaska cities: Anchorage, Fairbanks and Juneau. The new station will be the second in Ketchikan.

Police Probing Jap Spy Ring

TOKYO — A Foreign Office spokesman Tuesday said police are investigating reports of an international spy ring in Japan.

He acknowledged, however, that unless U.S. secrets are involved, nothing can be done to spies because Japan has no anti-espionage law.

Student Admits Killing Artist

SAN DIEGO — A 16-year-old high school student told police Tuesday he fatally stabbed artist Ida C. MacKeown, 67, when she threatened to tell officers he was a marijuana user.

Booked on suspicion of murder was Donald S. Crosby.

Police said the youth led them to a trash can where they found a knife with a four-inch blade.

Mrs. MacKeown's body, punctured by 35 stab wounds, was discovered Monday in her fashionable studio-home.

Enlarge Grain Storage Space

GRAIN is an old story to Prince Rupert and not a particularly happy one, principally because there has been so little of it. Yet there is reason to believe that the story is not by any means finished and that the ending will be all right.

The latest hint of this, however small it may have appeared, was provided a few days ago in parliament at Ottawa by the Liberal member for Vancouver South, Arthur Laing. In urging consideration of increased storage facilities for Vancouver, Mr. Laing also felt obliged to mention Prince Rupert. He said:

"There is every indication that additional storage capacity is required for Canadian grains and this capacity should be located at the points closest to the eventual market.

"We are assured by people in Vancouver that during the current year they will ship not less than 125 million bushels. I am assured also that Prince Rupert will ship no less than 10 million bushels. . . . We are strategically located, and that refers also to that great and growing port of Prince Rupert."

The significant part of Mr. Laing's reference to this city is not so much in what he said as in the fact that he said it at all. This is not to suggest that Mr. Laing is given to party politics with purely local objectives. On the contrary, he has shown himself an able and broad-minded young member of his party who is thought by many as a good prospect for provincial leader. He appears certain to go far.

It simply is not customary, however, for Vancouver spokesmen to mention this city in the same breath as theirs, especially when matters of shipping are concerned. A ready explanation is that the two are so different in size, facilities and proximity to other centres. One might as well speak of Montreal and Three Rivers in the same vein because they are both on the St. Lawrence.

With some temerity, however, a guess may be hazarded that there is another reason—namely that Prince Rupert has a decided natural advantage over Vancouver in its location. Being 500 miles closer to main Oriental ports makes it look distinctly more attractive to trans-Pacific cargo ships chugging along at 15 knots or less. Taking the return trip into consideration, the difference could save them almost three days in travelling time. As trade with Japan opens up, their preference for this port should take on a very real quality.

It is understandable, therefore, that Mr. Laing is urging improved facilities for Vancouver. By speeding up its loading operation, that port could more than make up the time lost by ships in crossing. Already, in fact, Vancouver is in a far better position to handle its anticipated 125 million bushels than we are to handle our 10 million.

While we appreciate the member for Vancouver South including us in his remarks and do not wish to seem ungracious, it might be suggested that the reference to Prince Rupert be made more specific. This city is not only strategically located on the Canadian west coast, it is more so than any other. In view of this—and here we must appear definitely ill-mannered—much of the waterfront development that Mr. Laing asks for Vancouver would be better applied to Prince Rupert.

This is not pitting one city against another. It is in the broader interests of developing Canadian trans-Pacific trade and we are confident that, if our claim is just, Mr. Laing can be counted as an ally.

AUTOIST TO PAY $69,000 FOR INJURIES TO WOMAN

EDMONTON (C)—Freda Lecht, 23-year-old Edmonton woman paralyzed from injuries suffered in a 1950 car accident, was awarded damages of $69,799 from Edward Penno, also of Edmonton, in a judgment handed down here by Mr. Justice Hugh John Macdonald.

The judge said he found Penno guilty of gross negligence when a car he was driving missed a sharp highway turn near here while travelling at 40 to 50 miles an hour.

Medical evidence disclosed the woman, a passenger in the car, is 100 per cent disabled and will require hospital treatment for the remainder of her life. Both her arms and legs are paralyzed. It was one of the largest judgments ever awarded in the Edmonton judicial district.

Who Wants Korea Peace?

PRESIDENT-ELECT EISENHOWER has kept his pledge to visit Korea. But the only effect of his visit is to impress on everybody that there is no easy, quick, trick solution to the Korean war.

The whole world now knows that both Russia and Red China have rejected the Indian plan to break the deadlock over the repatriation of war prisoners. Indeed, many in the west are being driven to the reluctant conclusion that even if the U.S.-led bloc were to accept the Communist demands, for total exchange of prisoners, the enemy would discover some new snag to peace.

IT MUST now be clear to all the world that the Russians and their allies do NOT want peace in Korea. Unfortunately, what is not yet beyond question is whether all those in high places in the United States really want peace, either. The fact that the United States hung back on acceptance of the Indian peace plan, until AFTER its rejection by Russia, has not been lost on thoughtful people.

In the authoritative "International Journal" for Autumn 1952 G. F. G. Stanley, head of the Department of History at Canada's Royal Military College, wrote:

"In view of the haggling and bickering, the postponements and delays which have accompanied the truce talks, one might well question how far either side is genuinely interested in concluding an armistice."

Professor Stanley wrote before the acceptance by U.S. in the UN of the Indian peace plan. Nevertheless, the question which he raises is one which millions of people have asked themselves. There is suspicion that Korea is being used exactly as Spain was used before the Hitler war as a testing ground where both sides can try out new weapons and new techniques. Even the well-respected Lord Alexander stated as much a few months ago while en route back to Britain from Korea.

I HAVE always believed that the United States was right to accept the Communist challenge in Korea, when the aggression occurred. Also, I have always thought that Britain, Canada and other loyal UN members were right to stand beside U.S. to halt and reverse that attack.

I reason that if the U.S. had not drawn the line, where and when she did, there would have been similar but even more serious thrusts by other Red armies before now.

To be more explicit: I think that had the Korean attack been allowed to go by default the Yugoslavs would have been next on the list for attack. Indeed, Korea—split in half as it was and still is—was a small-scale model of Germany. Had the UN majority taken the attitude that Korea was a mere civil war between north and south, the pattern would have been set to permit an attack by East Germany against West Germany.

FROM a purely tactical point of view I think the western nations made two great mistakes: MacArthur should have been halted on the 38th parallel, after he had made his spectacular recapture of Seoul.

Finally, when the "truce line" was drawn on November 27, 1951, and the land armies on both sides automatically "ceased fire" and played football in between the former battle lines, Washington should never have sent the order to start shooting again.

A Child's Life of Jesus

"They wanted to be near him. Some people thought they were too young to know what he was talking about."

A Child's Life of Jesus is one of the last books written by the late Fulton Oursler, noted author of such volumes as The Greatest Story Ever Told, The Greatest Book Ever Written, etc. This presentation of Mr. Oursler's book has been specially illustrated for newspaper publication by the well-known artist, Neil O'Keefe.

Chapter VI

One day Jesus stood on the top of a hill and talked to the people. It was quite a large hill, almost a mountain. That is why it was called a mount. He told the people that God is everybody's Father in Heaven.

And everybody is a child of God. So that makes everybody else our brother or our sister. We must love God and all His children. If we do not love God and everybody, then He cannot be our Father in Heaven.

"First," He said, "you must love the Lord your God, with all your heart. And you must love your neighbor as yourself."

Jesus was talking to every girl and boy living today when he said that. Have you ever tried to love someone else the way you love yourself? We all love ourselves. We treat ourselves kindly. I am very good to me. You are nice to yourself. You can forgive yourself anything. Oh, yes, we all love ourselves. And we excuse ourselves when we do wrong. But do we also excuse others? Do we say: "Oh, he didn't mean to smash my things. Or run into me so hard"—or do we say: "Oh, I'll never speak to him again?"

Jesus, standing on the hilltop, said we must forgive everybody. We must keep on doing it. That is His way for us to be happy in mind and heart.

One day Jesus found another friend. He stopped at a place where a man was taking money from the people for taxes. The people did not like that man. But Jesus said to him, "Follow me!"

Income Reaches New High

OTTAWA ©—Canada's labor income in September reached an all-time high total of $932,000,000 compared with $922,000,000 in September last year, the bureau of statistics reports.

This brought the cumulative total for the first nine months of 1952 to $7,912,000,000 against $7,092,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1951.

Meanwhile, employment, payrolls and average weekly wages and salaries all were at a new high at the beginning of October.

Weekly wages and salaries increased to an average of $55.03 from $54.55 Sept. 1 and $51.9 at Oct. 1, 1951.

James Barton Heads Labor Federation

NANAIMO ©—James Barton, assistant business agent of Vancouver Plumbers and Pipefitters, was named president of the newly-formed Trades Union Congress.

Mr. Gervin is chairman of the provincial TLC.

Formation of the federation, called the British Columbia Trade Union Congress, was the last act of the annual convention of the B.C. section of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada (AFL).

Delegates, representing 70,000 B.C. craft unionists, elected the officers and approved a constitution.

The TUC will attempt to foster closer affiliation of workers, both industrial and rural, will carry on work of education and organization, and will give collective expression to labor's legislation.

Negotiations For Telegraph Lines Set Ahead

OTTAWA ©—Negotiations for the sale of the federal government's telegraph and telephone facilities in British Columbia are expected to start early next year.

Transport Minister Chevrier, replying to a question in the Commons from E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops), he indicated the government is contemplating sale to the Canadian National Telegraphs and B.C. Telephone Company but said he does not think it will be possible to open negotiations this month.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge
By EASLEY BLACKWOOD
Second Lead Can Often Determine Result of Hand

Before you make the opening lead you have seen just the 13 cards in your hand. When next you are on lead for the defence, you have seen the 13 cards in dummy, too, and you have watched the play to one or more tricks. On a judgment basis your second lead should be better than your first.

Mr. Abel wasn't too keen about any opening from his hand today but he finally decided on the king of spades. The defence might have been a little easier if he had opened the king of clubs but he had no way to be sure of that.

Miss Brash let the king of spades hold and Mr. Abel had another chance at the winning defence. Hoping to get Mr. Dale in to lead a diamond back, he came out with a low club. But Miss Brash won, cashed the ace of trumps, finessed the jack of spades and threw off a diamond on the ace of spades. Thus she lost only a spade, a heart and a diamond, making her doubled contract.

You and I see that he could have defeated the hand by switching to diamonds at trick two. It's tough leading from an ace-queen, but Mr. Abel should have seen it, too.

Mr. Dale had to have something for his raise to two clubs. He had nothing in spades. On the bidding it was practically certain he had no winners in hearts. He should have either the ace of clubs or the king of diamonds.

If Mr. Abel had laid down the ace of diamonds at trick two, Mr. Dale would have flashed the nine, announcing possession of the king. If he had not held the king, he would have played his lowest diamond in which case Mr. Abel could have led a club to his partner's (supposed) ace. Thus the defenders would have won one trick in each suit.

True, if Mr. Dale had held the ace of clubs and not the king of diamonds, then a club shift at trick two—and a diamond return—would have beat the contract two tricks. But Mr. Abel's first job was to be sure to set the contract at all.

Incidentally, Miss Brash's concession of the first trick was very good as it put Mr. Abel on the spot for the right shift before he knew too much about the hand.

Mansons Down Gordon & Anderson To Creep Within Point of Leaders

Main Lodge Redecorated

Week-end activity on Mt. Hays is centred on redecoration of the main lodge and clearing of ski runs in the 1952-53 expansion program of the Prince Rupert Ski Club.

Several new members have joined and the club anticipates "the most active season to date," as all cabins have been allotted and further space made available by arranging a dormitory for male transients.

An innovation this year is the serving of coffee in the main lodge for Sunday hikers and skiers. Those without skis will find this equipment available for rent.

Mansons, playing their best game of the season, dumped Gordon & Anderson 51-49 at the Civic Centre gym last night to put them one point behind the league-leaders.

While both teams missed numerous chances to score because of over-shooting, Ray Spring led the red-sweatered Manson squad with 19 points. He was followed closely by big Art Olsen, who bagged 14 and was a powerhouse in the final half in holding off repeated scoring attempts by the blue-shirts.

Lanky Joe Davis was the best man for the Blues, although his timing was off and he bagged only 14 points. Jimmy Flaten came through nicely in the fourth quarter to chalk up seven of his 11 points. Jim Hebb kept Mansons alert throughout the game with his many dangerous shots, but he also missed several "easy" ones and ended with 14 points for his evening's effort.

Score at the end of the first quarter saw the two teams tied at 6-6. Mansons got the lead halfway through the second quarter and at half time held a 23-20 advantage.

They never lost the lead although there were some near threats. At three-quarter time the winners led 36-31.

Verne Clecone and Ole Slatta kept the game orderly throughout and the small crowd was kept on edge as the teams vied for the lead in the early stages.

Gordon & Anderson, whose lead in the three-team circuit was cut to one point by last night's game, pressed hard but appeared to be forcing play and were caught off guard often.

Newcomer to senior play, Ron Webber, played a neat game for the losers but his "shooting eye" failed him and he scored only two points. His floor play excelled but he failed to take enough time around the basket and his attempts repeatedly went wild.

Ray Spring and Art Olsen carried the weight for Mansons although "Big Art" couldn't find the mark until the third quarter.

Gordon & Anderson took time out three times in the dying minutes of the final quarter to discuss strategy but their efforts fell short, mainly due to poor shooting. With the score 51-47 in favor of Mansons, young Webber twice was in a scoring position but missed the cage. Hebb got the last points for the Blues with a long-sailing shot as the gong sounded.

The teams:
Mansons—Spring 19, Bill, Olsen 14, Hartwig 8, Webster 7, Evans, Arney 2, Sather 1. Total—51.
Gordon & Anderson—Flaten 11, Davis 14, Hebb 14, Holkestad 8, Webber 2, Gardiner, Currie, Owens.
Referee—V. Clecone. Umpire—Ole Slatta.

Nonames Hold 3-Point Lead In CCC League

With one week remaining in the first half of the 300 Club Bowling League, Nonames are still out in front, leading by three points.

Close behind and tied for second spot are Woodbutchers and Sparkes having 34 points each. Alone in third place are the Residuals with a total of 32.

Team high three was taken by Woodbutchers this week with a total of 2768, while the Stor-likes rolled high single of 995.

Men's high three and high single were both captured by Cliff Perryman with scores of 713 and 276.

In the ladies' section high three and single were both taken by Clara Bellamy with 665 and 261.

The 300 Club donated to the league two bolts of material which have been used as part of the Christmas turkey shoot prizes.

The two hidden scores drawn were 631 and 437 and those persons coming the closest were Mickie Cross with 632 and Mrs. Rae Lewis with 437.

This Friday the league will hold the rest of the shoot and cash prizes will be given for four hidden scores.
