CURRIE CASE RATHER SENSATIONAL

GENERAL DEFENDS ACTIONS HIMSELF AND MEN IN COURT

Tense Moments in Course of the Cross-Examination of General Sir Arthur Currie in Libel Case Trial

COBOURG, Ont., April 28.—For seven hours yesterday General Sir Arthur Currie, former commander of the Canadian corps, stood in the witness stand here and, after giving brief testimony in the $50,000 libel action instituted by him against W. T. R. Preston and F. W. Wilson, was subjected to a cross examination which was not concluded when at six o'clock he stepped down at the time of adjournment.

It is expected that all the evidence for the plaintiff will be concluded today and that counsel will deliver addresses and the judge give his summing up Monday.

The case going to the jury late Monday afternoon.

The corps commander heard himself asked by Frank Regan, defense counsel, why he was "not man enough when the government asked him about the casualties to put them in his report?" He heard the lawyer accuse him of "denying the men who were killed at Mons the honor of recalling that they had laid down their lives in the capture of the city." All this and a great deal more was hurled across the court room and at one stage of the proceedings reached such a tense point that when Sir Arthur, repudiating that the Canadian corps should have been ordered to stop and wait rather than press on to the objectives ordered, delivered a eulogy of his men, spectators in the court room broke into a manifestation of approval, which was repeated by the sheriff.

"Now," said Sir Arthur Currie, "you are the man suggesting that men who did these things should lie down and quit two days before the war ended."

Sir Arthur should have shown consideration for those men, counsel insisted. They should have been ordered to stop and wait.

"No," Sir Arthur's voice rose; "have them disobey an order, be guilty of treason? Be guilty of mutiny? Disregard their commander in chief? Disregard orders of Marshal Foch? Act in an unorderly way? These," he declared, "were not the type of men to do such things."

McCracken Party Guests of Board of Trade and Leader Talks About Bears and Other Subjects at Dinner

THE chief hobby of Harold McCracken, the scientist and explorer, who is here en route to the far north on a trip to secure specimens for the Museum of Natural History at New York, is "bears." He has killed large numbers and now he usually stalks them and takes moving pictures. At a dinner given by the board of trade last night in his honor and that of Captain Bartlett and the others of the staff, Mr. McCracken told one or two interesting bear stories which kept the large gathering of men keyed up and expectant. Capt. Bartlett also gave a chatty talk which was much enjoyed. Milton Gonzales, vice-president of the board of trade, presided and the dining room was filled to capacity. Morris Blott and S. A. McPherson sang. In addition to those already mentioned the visitors present were Ed. Weyer, Ed. Manley, Andrew Johnston, F. L. Jacques, and R. Burd, engineer.

Mr. McCracken said that when he talked it was difficult to keep away from the subject of bears. He had killed seventeen and photographed 47. He wished he had brought a few of his films of kodiak, grizzly and other bears to show the people here. He was only eight years old when he met his first bear, a cub, and he had run away as fast as possible and hidden himself in the attic of their Idaho home.

Disastrous Effect of Mixing Indians and Rum Shown in the Death by Drowning at Cow Bay

Arthur Collison Lost His Life in Drunken Brawl and all Natives Were Too Intoxicated to Know Much About it

THE disastrous result of mixing Indians and rum was seen at the inquest conducted yesterday afternoon by Coroner Norman A. Watt into the death of Arthur Collison, Kitkatla native, who was drowned in the early hours of the morning previous from his boat in Cow Bay. While there was evidence of an altercation between deceased and William Kidley, Metlakatla Indian, who is held on a charge of supplying, having taken place just before the fatality, the jury, which consisted of Robert Lahiff, foreman, Alex. Holmberg, Sam Pearce, James Harris, Henry Hayes and Vincent Morrison, brought in a simple verdict of death by drowning, there being no mention of blame attaching to any one.

After the jury had viewed the body, examination of several witnesses commenced. Henry Collison, brother of deceased, was placed on the stand for purposes of identification. Sergeant Hannah also identified the body.

Dr. L. W. Kergin, who conducted an autopsy, gave his opinion that deceased had met his death by drowning while under the influence of alcohol. There was a smell of beer and rum about the body. Ahrasons on the hands indicated that the man had struggled in the water, probably to extricate himself. There were no marks of violence.

George Cadwallader, taxi driver, told of taking a party of Indians to Cow Bay about three o'clock in the morning. The party consisted of Charles (continued on page four)

CLASSES OF PEOPLE

The world is more or less divided into two classes. Those who are educated and those who are not. There are also people who are cultured and people who are not, people who are rich and people who are not. There are people who belong to the so-called learned professions and people who do not. There are the socially elect and those who are not. In every case some are and some are not and the question of being it or not being it is largely a matter of birth and environment.

Now and then we see a man struggling out of his environment and becoming a leader, a lion, rich, cultured and educated and finally one of the socially elect, in spite of the accident of birth. The cases are comparatively few. Today, however, there is more opportunity than ever for a young man or young woman to succeed.

In the question of professions, it is tending toward a point where all will be equally esteemed. The quality of the work will be what will count. The man who digs a ditch well, who sweeps a floor well, who does any kind of work well will be looked upon as a better man than he who is a poor lawyer, a poor doctor, or a poor preacher. Riches will not be so greatly esteemed as they are today. Even as it is we look with suspicion on the very rich because we know well they could not have earned their riches.

We have in the past spoken of a "working class" and as the members of that class acquired a little education and culture they have rebelled against the stigma and become socialists. They have cried out for equality. Of course they will not get recognition in that way. They will get it through the natural process of evolution and that is toward a point where all legitimate occupations are equally esteemed if the work is carried out in a workmanlike and artistic manner.

COLLEGE EDUCATION

The college education today seems to tend to keep the classes apart but that is true only in a few cases and it is usually the college graduates that come from the working classes who are most snobbish. The university should have a broadening effect, else it is not a true university. Graduates should be the most democratic people in the world. They should know something about the work of all classes, all religions, all sects, all world movements and all those things which tend to make for the betterment of the race and the ultimate solution of our difficulties.

FILLING UP CANADA

The filling up of Canada with immigrants merely that the population may be increased so that business may be better and taxation lessened will not mean more business or less taxation, according to Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, who in addressing the Montreal Canadian Club indicated that such a policy of immigration would not live up to expectations. He sounded a strong note of warning against a "wide-open" idea of immigration. The minister was of the opinion that the first task in Canada is to make agricultural conditions as prosperous as possible, so that there will be a contented agricultural population. In throwing out a suggestion to provincial governments, he expressed the opinion that provinces should look after placing settlers brought in by the Federal Government, even if it means that Ottawa made payments to the provinces to that end.

ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENT BY LOCAL BOY SCOUTS

Enjoyable and Interesting Function Last Night with Major McMorde Presiding

The Third Prince Rupert Troop of Boy Scouts held its entertainment and camp fire in the Elks' Hall last evening with Major McMorde presiding. The boys gave a good account of themselves in presenting the program which included a blind fold boxing bout also a round or two between Bob Houston and Sam Currie. Demonstrations in First Aid were also given. An exercise "Ten Little Rupert Scouts" was effectively rendered. The program was interspersed with vocal solos by Mrs. P. C. Miller and Mrs. H. Forrest and a violin selection by Kathleen Bulger and a song by Mr. Vandewater. Mrs. Black gave a pianoforte solo and also acted as accompanist for the evening. All these numbers were well received.

The final event was the gathering of the whole troop of scouts and cubs around the camp fire where songs and story telling was indulged in. Much merriment was created by a visit from "The Farmer" who, proved a versatile entertainer both as a musician and impersonator. This was ably performed by Harry Astoria.

In bringing the program to a conclusion, the chairman complimented the Scoutmaster on the good work being done among the boys. The troop under P. C. Miller's leadership showed good training. The singing of the National Anthem brought a pleasant and enjoyable evening to a close.

BRONCHOSCOPE CLINIC OPENED PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA, April 27. — The bronchoscope, that long metal tube equipped with an electric light which permits physicians to extract safety pins and tacks from the throat passages of children, is assuming such importance in the practice of medicine that a bronchosopic clinic is to be opened at the graduate hospital of the University of Pennsylvania.

When the bronchoscope appeared 20 years ago its chief service was in the removal of foreign objects that had "gone down the wrong way." Today, however, a specialized branch of medical science has developed around this instrument and it is now useful in the diagnosis and treatment of lung diseases and in examinations of the interior of the stomach.

TWO MILLION GIRLS WORKING IN STATES

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 26. — Nearly two million girls under twenty years of age are working for a living in the United States. Mrs. Mary Anderson, director of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, set this figure in connection with the issuance by the department of a poster called "Daughters of America."

The poster shows a group of factory girls, in the noise and stir of the work room, with distant windows that suggested the freedom of the out-of-doors, and ends with the question: "They have youth—have they opportunity?"

Mrs. Anderson said that the care given the working girls by their employers and communities in general is of great importance to their welfare and to society in general.

MONTREAL, April 27.—The right of an osteopath, who is not licensed to practice medicine by the College of Physicians and Surgeons, to receive alleged fees for services rendered, is denied by Mr. Justice Bond, of the Superior Court, who, while awarding Philip Holiday, osteopath, $51 on a claim of $1,472 against Lady C. Minnie Reid, widow of the Newfoundland Railway magnate, dismissed the rest of the claim on the ground that it was for medicinal services which the plaintiff had no right to render.

BRINGING UP FATHER

URGE CARRY ON JUVENILE PART LOCAL LIBRARY

DELEGATION MEETS COMMITTEE OF BOARD AND LAYS VIEWS BEFORE IT

A delegation from the Parent-Teachers' Association consisting of W. W. C. O'Neil, Mrs. J. S. Irvine, and Mrs. Geo. Arnott waited upon a committee of the library board last night to protest against the closing of the juvenile section of the library.

Mr. O'Neil explained that the object of the Parent-Teachers' Association is protesting against the closing of the children's section was not intended to hinder the work of the library board but rather to assist and strengthen their hands. Reading was of fundamental importance in the education of children from the age of ten upwards. It formed the superstructure of education and was the key by which the wisdom and treasures of the ages was unlocked. The modern trend of education was for the child to read widely of many things instead of a repetition of a few items as formerly.

As a teacher he could say that a child who reads outside of school can readily be picked out in class, not only in the reading lesson but in the study of other subjects. The mental development of such a child is well advanced and he is enabled to solve problems with greater ease and accuracy.

The association is of the opinion that the library is the proper place for children to obtain their reading matter being under the supervision of a capable and trained librarian who from the special training she has received can select such books as are of real benefit to the child, and in a public library such books are available to every child and not to a fortunate few.

Mr. O'Neil stressed the importance of a good grade of reading matter for children just forming the reading habit and urged the library board to continue to operate the juvenile section if at all possible.

LIBRARY CHAIRMAN

Mr. Black, chairman of the library board, explained that the closing of the section was not definitely decided upon but was only under consideration. The board had endeavored to give service to all sections of the community but had been crippled by lack of funds. The children's section was the most costly to operate owing to the hard usage the books were subjected to and the necessity for continual repair and replacement.

Mrs. Arnott stated that their association had considered making a grant to the library board for the carrying on of the children's section but had decided that it was not within the province of any one organization to do this. The library was originally voted for by the citizens and it was the duty of the city council to provide the means to carry on the work.

The library was one of the most important departments of the city as evidenced by the use made of it by the people, and the closing of any section, particularly the juvenile section, should not be even considered. Children needed all the good reading possible and the library was the logical place for them to obtain it, being available to all and being under capable supervision.

Miss Cruikshank explained the difficulty of keeping the children's section in condition owing to the constant repairs and replacements necessary, showing the delegates a collection of almost five hundred books that had been taken off the shelves for repairs and which would cost the board about $450 to put into condition for circulation again.

MUCH USED SECTION

G. V. Wilkinson pointed out that, next to fiction, the children's section of the library was used the most. There is only about one thousand books in this section as against four thousand in the fiction section and yet the circulation for each year to the children is over 8500 or 20 per cent of the total number of books loaned by the library.

Mr. O'Neil thanked the board for the kind hearing given to the delegates and Mr. Black promised that the matter would receive full consideration at the next regular meeting of the library board.

Members of the board present were Jas. Black, V. Basco-Bert, G. V. Wilkinson and Miss Cruikshank.

The delegates were W. W. C. O'Neil, Mrs. J. S. Irvine and Mrs. Geo. Arnott.

GIRLS' DRILL TEAM DANCE

FUNCTION IN MOOSE HALL LAST NIGHT WAS GREAT SUCCESS WITH 236 PERSONS IN ATTENDANCE

The annual dance last night in the Moose Hall of the Prince Rupert Girls' Drill Team was a most successful and enjoyable event. There were 236 persons present, all of whom enjoyed themselves to the full from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. Guests included Harold McCracken, leader, and member of the Stoll-McCracken Arctic Scientific Expedition. It was the last dance these girls will have for six months and they took full advantage of the occasion.

The hall was decorated tastefully in the blue and white colors of the team and other ornaments. Serpentine and other novelties added considerably to the general air of gaiety.

Splendid dance music was rendered by an orchestra consisting of Miss Irene Morrison, Kenny Rood, Tony Rorie, Jimmy Prevost and Bob Greenfield. Moonlight waltzes proved to be a popular feature.

Douglas Frizell was master of ceremonies and W. D. Vance presided at the door.

DISASTROUS EFFECT OF MIXING INDIANS AND RUM

Edgar, Dick Edgar, Mrs. William Beaver and Mrs. Arthur Collison. He knew nothing of the drowning. The party, which went to the floats, looked sober to him.

BOTTLE OF RUM

Reuben Moody told of going to the "Collison" about 11 p.m. on Thursday with William Ridley, Arthur Collison and Jane Lewis were also on the boat. Willie asked witness to get a bottle of rum. The entire party were under the influence of liquor. As he left the boat about 1:30 a.m., witness heard a window breaking. He returned to the boat and saw only Willie there. Jane Lewis was on the float. At the time of the crash, he heard loud conversation as though there was quarrelling. He inquired about Arthur Collison but was told nothing. Witness had heard no splash in the water.

John Prescott testified that he was sleeping on his boat at the Cow Bay floats that night, his boat being near the "Collison." He was disturbed at night by people he believed to be drunk. He heard two splashes in the water about 1 o'clock. After the first splash, it sounded as if someone was paddling in the water. Then there was another splash and all was silence. About 10 minutes to three he went out and a man told him: "My brother has gone down. He is drowned." He could hear or see nothing. After the first splash, he heard someone run across the boats. Besides the man, there was a woman there.

COURT CLEARED

The court was cleared for the taking of the evidence of Jane Lewis. She told of the circumstances leading up to the quarrel between Arthur Collison and William Ridley. The latter, who was her cousin, came to her rescue. She had gone to the boat about 10 p.m. with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Collison and William Ridley. Collison gave her liquor from a bottle. She stated that she did not know that Collison had fallen into the water until she had been told the next morning by Reuben Moody. When she heard the splash only Collison and Ridley were on the boat. She was very drunk and could not recollect what had happened. The girl was closely examined but little further information was received from her.

William Ridley went on the stand and was warned to be careful what he said. He told of going down to the "Collison" in the evening after dark with Collison, Reuben and Jane. He said "Collison" was pretty drunk. They had some more drinks and witness did not remember anything more. He did not remember Jane calling for help, angry

DEATH BY DROWNING

This concluded the evidence. Coroner Watt reviewed the evidence. He concluded that deceased, as the doctor had suggested, had probably come to his death by drowning while under the influence of liquor. There was little definite evidence that Ridley had contributed to Collison's death. In his opinion, murder had not entered into the case and manslaughter was more or less doubtful.

McCRACKEN PARTY GUESTS OF BOARD OF TRADE

er hunter and besides that more was learned of the animals.

He told then of a visit on the northwest coast of Alaska with Andy Simonds the hunter to a country where there were three families of big brown bears. They got to know two of these so well that they named them individually. One family they called the Murphy's and the other the O'Claherty's. On one occasion they saw the Murphy family moving down the bank of a stream only about one hundred feet away. The old lady lay down and one of the young ones began taking afternoon tea but the other, a lame one, moved on down alone. This was a country where man had not penetrated recently, at any rate, and the cub could not have had any experience with humans. As the cub moved along it was gradually getting to a point where the wind would carry their scent to the little bear and they were anxious to see how it would react under those circumstances. The moment it wandered to a point where it was in line to receive the human scent it reared up, started off toward its mother and long before it arrived all three had moved off toward the bush. What puzzled them was how it knew and how it imparted the knowledge to its mother. A human was the only creature from which a bear would run.

WORK OF EXPEDITION

Telling of the expedition, Mr. McCracken said they were to get specimens for the "American Museum of Natural History" and it was partly financed by Mr. Stoll. They expected to get groups for the museums of many animals not included there now. They went first to Ketchikan, then on to Juneau, and up the coast to Port Moller. There they would investigate a prehistoric Indian village built at a hot spring and would go back into the bear country for big brown bears. At the Aleutian Islands they would search for the mummies which were said to be there. He had picked up considerable information in regard to these and it was hoped they would have a direct bearing on the influx of humans on this continent. It was generally accepted that man was not here before the last glacial period. They probably came by the Aleutian Islands, by Behring Strait and also by a southern route to South America. They hoped to help patch together information in regard to the Islands route.

They had intended to go to Kamchatka but this had been abandoned owing to a misunderstanding with the Soviet. Accordingly they would go direct to Bering Strait, Wrangell Island, and along the north coast of Siberia and visit the largest habitable unexplored region in the world. Then they proposed to go to the New Siberian Islands and would be within 700 miles of the North Pole.

While they hoped to be home in November, they may have to winter in the north. They have on board supplies enough to last a year and a half. On the boat they had a heating system which he hoped would work. They had a very complete wireless system and had arranged to send messages to the New York Times and to the C.N.R. station at Vancouver.

Mr. McCracken promised to stop off and tell the people here about their trip on their return.

CAPTAIN BARTLETT

Captain Bartlett spoke of the good time he had had in Prince Rupert and reminded his hearers it was not the city but the people that really mattered. Telling about himself, he said his parents had intended he should be a minister. "Think of it," he said. It was a great thing for the ministry he was out of it. He hoped Prince Rupert would become a great western terminus.

Speaking of the old flag of Britain that had served all over the world he said it had made history and it would be a great thing if the English speaking people of this continent could become all one. He knew this was a tender subject, however.

Police Boat Adanac Being Rebuilt at McLean Yard—Indians in Port Preparing for Salmon Season—Halibut Landings Substantially Increased

The McLean shipyard at Seal Cove has the contract for extensive rebuilding of the provincial police boat Adanac and the work on the cruiser is now well under way. The job includes the putting on of a new pilot house as well as new decking. Deck beams and interior fittings will also be renewed. Last year the engine in the Adanac was changed and, with the other work now going on, it is expected that the vessel will soon be able to meet the requirements of patrol duty along the coast out of Prince Rupert—something she has, so far, apparently been unable to do. In any case, she will practically be a new boat. The Adanac was brought north from New Westminster a few years ago.

Many native boats are now in port outfitting and having necessary work carried out in preparation of the approaching salmon fishing season. Waterfront concerns report doing considerable business with the owners of the boats who, in a number of cases, have their families here. The McLean shipyard at Seal Cove has been re-caulking some of these boats. Others are tied up at the Cow Bay floats and at Seal Cove.

The forty-eight foot packer Overtime of the Inverness cannery fleet is at the McLean yards having a new bow put on and a piece added to the pilothouse. Mac is reported to have considerable other cannery work in view and he reports being quite busy.

As soon as the spring run is over, McLean's yard will start an extensive rebuilding job on the boat Empire which was formerly a pleasure boat out of Swanson Bay. Some two or three months ago, Len Weaver purchased the craft and he proposes converting her into a fish packer. The vessel looks to be in a rather dilapidated condition just now.

The arrival of the 12 h.p. Vivian engine which will be installed in the craft is now being awaited before the 26 by 10 foot boat built by K. Tsunuma, Japanese boatbuilder in Cow Bay for J. W. Collier is ready for service. The craft has been built especially for fisheries patrol work.

BUILDING GILL NETTER

Tsunuma is now engaged in the building of a 30 x 8 foot gill netter for Andrew A. McKay of Port Simpson. The contract figure is $575 and the boat is to be finished by May 15. A five h.p. Palmer engine will be installed.

The trolling boat Annie, owned by Morris Hanson of Digby Island, is having a new 18 h.p. Frisbie engine installed at the Suga yard in place of an 8 h.p. motor of the same make which has been sold to B.A. Cannery at Port Resington. At the same time, a new pilot house is being built in addition to other renovations on the craft. After the work is done, Capt. Hanson will

IN PROBATE

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

In the Matter of the Administration of the Estate of the late BENEDICT STEFFAN JOHNSON, Deceased. Intestate.

TAKE NOTICE that by order of His Honor F. McE. Young, the 22nd day of March, 1928, I was appointed administrator of the estate of Benedict Steffan Johnson, deceased, and all parties having claims against the said estate are hereby required to furnish same properly verified to me on or before the 26th day of April, 1928, and all parties indebted to the estate are required to pay the amount of their indebtedness to me forthwith.

NORMAN A. WATT, Official Administrator, Prince Rupert, B.C.

In Dodge Cove on Digby Island, across the harbor from Prince Rupert, prospects are that quite a fishing colony may be built up on land which was thrown on the market by the government recently. Already Capt. Morris Hanson of the trolling boat Annie and Charlie Johansen, known as the "Shrimp King," have built homes there and four other trollers are now having land cleared and intend to build houses this summer or next fall. The site of the settlement is not far from the old quarantine station.

The Ketchikan seineboat Elsie, which was run down by the steamer Prince George near Gribble Island on April 19 and all but sunk, is on the Prince Rupert dry dock awaiting orders as to her repair. The vessel's stern was almost completely smashed out and there is a great hole in her. The owner, Capt. Al Johnson, and his wife, who were bound for Seattle aboard the vessel, had a narrow escape with their lives.

The fish packers Chief Zibassa and Chief Legale of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage fleet were taken on the Prince Rupert dry dock on Thursday for cleaning and packing preparatory to their being placed in commission on the season's salmon carrying.

The Cold Storage has now established its salmon camp at Cance Pass, Warke Canal for the season and will be taking the Dundas Island camp out on May 10. The packer Grier Starrett, Capt. Harold Dahl, has been commissioned on the Naas River run bringing in the fish from the trollers and gill-netters and is also serving the Canoe Pass camp.

Next week the Zibassa, Capt. Fred Walters, will make her first buying trip of the season to Hippo Island, Queen Charlotte Island group.

On her last trip to the fishing grounds, the well known Prince Rupert diesel halibut boat Signal, Capt. Paddy Ivarson, lost all but one blade of her propeller and is tied up in port for about two weeks awaiting the delivery of a new propeller from New York which will be installed at the Edward Lipsett grid. Meantime, the vessel is being given a complete overhaul.

The new halibut boats Melville, Capt. John Ivarson, and Covenant, Capt. Hans Underdahl, which were built at the Prince Rupert dry dock during the past winter, as well as the Zapora, Capt. Lars Voge, built last winter, have been chartered for four months to the Canadian Fishing Co. for salmon packing work this season. The charters will commence on June 1 and, meanwhile, all three boats are continuing in the halibut fishing.

The seineboat and packer Bruce I., Capt. Brandy Newell, which was sealing and packing herring for the Butedale plant of the Canadian Fishing Co. early this spring, is now in Vancouver where she will undergo cleaning and painting preparatory to returning north to engage in packing salmon from the Queen Charlotte Islands to Butedale.

Capt. Nels Nelson returned to Prince Rupert on Thursday with his seine and trolling boat Wanderer from Vancouver. He had spent the winter on a motor tour which took him as far as California. He will engage in trolling until the sealing season opens.

The movement of the trollers out to the Hippo and North Island grounds on the west coast of the Queen Charlotte Islands has now commenced.

Capt. Olof Ouse of Jap Inlet came into Prince Rupert from Jap Inlet, Porcher Island, where he spent the winter, and is having a gurdy installed before proceeding to Hippo Island.

Salmon trolling in Prince Rupert district is still reported slow though prices have been high and steady around 17c of late fully rewarding the efforts of those who have caught springs.

Capt. Sam Olsen with the Takla O. left on Monday for the west coast of Queen Charlotte Islands and will try the trolling outside Prince Rupert before crossing Hecate Straits. Capt. Billy Hanson with the Thelma left on Saturday.

Capt. H. Kohrt with the Bonita will be away next week.

Trolling is now on at Dundas Island and Warke Canal, as previously reported.

Dog fishing for the reduction plant of the Rupert Marine Products has also been resumed around Jap Inlet and several boats are reported to be doing very well. This should prove a handy occupation pending the opening of the salmon season although the rewards may not be very large. A collecting scow is on the ground.

Howard White accountant of the Nelson Trading Co. made a trip to Seattle aboard the American schooner Dorothy, Capt. Ole Hyatum, recently. He will return to Ketchikan on the same vessel and come back to Prince Rupert by steamer.

The annual meeting of the Biological Board of Canada will be held in Ottawa on May 26. John Dybhavn, of Prince Rupert, member of the board representing the Pacific Coast fishing industry, and D. B. Finn, director of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, will go East to attend the meeting.

D. B. Finn, director of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, announces that a new series of researches on the bacteriology of halibut in connection with the storage of the fish in the holds of vessels is planned for this season at the local station. To conduct the research, it is hoped to obtain the services of a very prominent bacteriologist. An attempt will be made to find the reason for yellow discoloration under present methods of storage before reaching port and, if possible, eliminate them.

PRIDE OF THE WEST HERE

With a party of Vancouver commercial men on board, the cruiser Pride of the West arrived in port on Wednesday, following a business trip to Anox and Stewart, and has been spending the end of week in port, tied up at the Prince Rupert Salvage and Towing Co.'s float, before proceeding south. Capt. D. Green, formerly of Prince Rupert, skipper of the Pride of the West.

Capt. Louis Locker, Porcher Island logging operator, was a business visitor in town with his boat Lewis Island this week, returning to Lewis Island yesterday morning. Going from here on the Lewis Island was Jim Calvin, well known prospector who will spend the next few months cruising around the south end of Porcher and Banks and Pitt Islands.

The C.N.R. steamer Prince Charles and fisheries patrol steamer Marfish were given annual inspection at the dry dock this week by Albert Farrow, steamboat inspector.

The dry dock has completed the building of a 25 foot hull for the city to be used in the service to Shawatians Lake power station and the craft has been delivered to the lake where the city crew will install a rebuilt Ford automobile engine.

The new underground fuel line for the Imperial Co., which has been in course of construction practically all winter, is now completed and oil is running through the five pipes contained in the trench, which has yet to be covered in. Work of taking down the old trestle which has carried the line for many years will soon be commenced.

After having spent a week in port having some minor work attended to, the new halibut boat Takla, Capt. Chris Parkvold, left Thursday night on her second trip to the fishing grounds.

The halibut boat Cape Spear, Capt. William Marshall, has been on the Edward Lipsett grid this week having repairs made for a leak in her stern.

The seineboat Anna S., Capt. Eli Skog, has also been out at Lipsett's for straightening of rudder and propeller repairs.

The burning question this week in the minds of water consuming citizens has been whether or not Sergeant Jim Hannah and his brave men washed their feet before paddling in the reservoir Tuesday night. The spectacle of many husky men cruising the bottom of the tanks like the barefoot boy is said to have been, at least amusing. It is to be hoped their labors were rewarded.

Rev. A. Wilson of First United Church is the latest recruit to the ranks of Prince Rupert yachtsmen. Mr. Wilson recently purchased the 18 foot open boat Sunbeam Jr. from Sid Thomson. The little vessel is powered with a 4 h.p. Easthope engine.

Skipper Doctor Cade has had his cruiser Etac on the Yacht Club grid this week for cleaning and painting.

minor repairs is now the order of the day at the Prince Rupert Rowing and Yacht Club and Shef Thomson is sure enough a busy man just now. The pleasure fleet will soon be ready for another active season.

The freighter Salvor, Capt. HALIBUT LANDINGS

Halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the season to date total 6,340,800 pounds—made up of 4,598,500 pounds American and 1,742,300 pounds Canadian—as compared with a total of 5,483,350 pounds at a similar date last year. During the past week—Saturday to Friday inclusive—a total of 799,300 pounds has been landed—358,800 pounds American and 440,500 pounds Canadian. Prices have been low and the buyers rather indifferent all week. The highest bid of the week for American fish was 10c and 6c paid the boats Wabash and Bainer for catches of 7,500 pounds and 6,500 pounds respectively while the high Canadian bid was 9.1c and 5c, which the Mullineag received for 8,000 pounds. The American low mark was 7.5c and 4c and the Canadian, 7c and 4c.

FAMOUS PHOTOGRAPHER COMING TO JASPER TO SHOOT WITH HIS CAMERA

NEW YORK, April 26.—The moving picture camera, and not the death splitting rifle, is the weapon of Major A. Radvellife Dugmore, wellknown wild animal photographer of England, who has reached after an extensive expedition through the wilds of Africa, during the course of which he recorded on film the habits of animals ranging from the nimble and elusive gazelle to the ponderous and fiery rhinoceros.

To round off his experience of game photography on four continents, Major Dugmore is considering spending the coming summer on a two or three months' journey by pack horse through the mountains of Jasper Park, Alberta, where he will be able to "shoot" Rocky Mountain sheep, goat, caribou and bear. Along the Snake Indian, the Smokey and the Brazeau Rivers, in the northern and eastern regions of this 5300 square mile game preserve, the abundance of wild life overflows into adjoining territories where, each fall, it lures many hunting parties.

Major Dugmore would probably commence his journey from Berg Lake, at the foot of Mount Robson, 12,972, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies. With him will be his wife and daughter, "Bobs" Dugmore. The latter is as keen a camera enthusiast as her father. Since she has been fourteen she has been with him on his quest of game photography.

When he was seventeen, Major Dugmore had hunted with his rifle in Africa, Asia and America. He, however, holds no brief for the slaughter of game with firearms. The camera, he states, offers better sport, provides more effective and durable trophies and demands greater skill in stalking. The man who is taking pictures must be able to creep close to his quarry and remain there, watching, waiting and unobserved.

Laundry Washed Clothes Are Not Rubbed

YOU know how you douse your dainty lingerie up and down in a bowl of sudsy water... that's the way your clothes are washed in a modern laundry. They are not rubbed or scrubbed but are gently swished back and forth in warm filtered rainsoft water until the pure soap actually foams. Every particle of dirt is loosened without unduly lessening the tensile strength of the fabric. Then come many rinses of rainsoft water so that your laundry washed clothes not only look and feel clean but are scientifically clean.

The Endless Chain

The nervous system is like an endless chain. From the brain every act of the body, conscious or unconscious, is directed. Out of the brain, through the spine, to organ or limb, goes a command, together with the vital energy—the motive power—necessary to performance.

Back from limb or organ, over a sensory nerve, comes word that the command has been obeyed, or that its performance is impossible. The latter is usually a pain wave, and comes always when a spinal bone is pressing upon the nerve concerned. Its message is—"See your Chiropractor!"

By my chiropractic health method I correct diseases of the eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and lower organs.

fish interpretation of the word, that is to say, on horseback, and steeplechasing are forms of sport almost as hazardous, it would appear, as aviation. The participant, although he cannot fall so far as the luckless air pilot, does so more often and under circumstances that are by no means reassuring in the matter of life and limb. The apprehension of the British public, therefore, as a result of the Prince of Wales' addition to these pastimes of the saddle, is entirely understandable. A similar anxiety in this country envelopes Lindbergh's activities in the air. Each country is in the position of worshipping a popular hero for the very qualities which it wishes—that is, a good part of it wishes—he would cease to display. For undoubtedly the British, and for that matter, the rest of us, honor the Prince for those exhibitions of pluck and sportsmanship which give it such shivers down the spine. Unofficial records credit them with a total of 26 croppers to date, eight of them in this year alone.

Meanwhile the old jokes about the Prince which seemed to imply that these accidents were the fruit of poor horsemanship have been succeeded by a realization that he is, in fact, an excellent rider who merely takes the chances common to the game as fast as opportunity offers. Truly a gallant and intrepid young man who is not to be swerved from the pursuit of a dangerous predilection, any more than our own Lindbergh, by the possessive instinct of his adorers who would put him in a glass case. Let him race! After all, the ordinary routine of a Prince allows him little chance to show the stuff of which he is made. Let him meet the ups and downs of life in one of the few ways open to him. Whatever the political considerations that complicate his case they are not half so important as the example he sets of an unconquerable spirit who accepts the tumbles that fate hands him as all part of the day's work."

Victoria is going in strong for soft ball this year. The Tuxis and Trail Rangers have organized a league and a series of matches will be played.

There's going to be a lot of racing on the prairies this year, the horses from Mexico being almost all transferred to Canada for the summer. There are four hundred of them getting ready for the first big meet at Calgary on May 23. Early in June there will be a two weeks racing at Calgary and this is to be followed by a big meet at Winnipeg and exhibition circuits at Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Regina.

When Foley meets Roy in Montreal on May 9 for the Canadian feather-weight title, there's going to be a lot of money bet on the western lad. He has been boxing regularly and making good. Roy will weigh in at 126 pounds.

A big banquet is to be given at Victoria for Lester Patrick. The Native Sons of Canada are fathering the event. Patrick is the man who piloted the Victoria Cougars to the world championship in 1925. This year he managed the Rangers who are the present world champions and it is said he will organize a new league on the Pacific coast.

A number of southern race horses have reached Lulu Island in readiness for the coast racing season.

Sporting Editor, Daily News,
Prince Rupert, B.C.

I have just received the news that Jimmy McDonald is going to box Alf Harding there on the 4th of May. I would like to send a challenge to the winner of that bout through your paper. I have been fighting those kind of boys all winter and believe I can defeat the winner of the match.

About three months ago I stopped Harding here in five rounds and drew with McDonald in six rounds. I have boxed Dode Berot and dropped a close decision. Beat Madison Dix who knocked out Nelson McKnight, Australian

Champion Spark Plugs

a CANADIAN MADE PRODUCT

Champion Spark Plugs are preferred by two out of three motorists throughout the world.

In Canada the Champion Spark Plug Company of Canada, Limited, reflects the same public preference, and shows marked increases in production each succeeding year.

Produced in a Canadian plant by Canadian workmen, the high position attained by Champion Spark Plugs in Canada is the result of always anticipating engineering demands.

Champion's new and far reaching improvements further establish Champion supremacy.

A remarkable new glaze on the exclusive sillimanite insulator, which resists carbon formation, together with an advanced method of heat-treating the insulator to withstand the exceedingly high compression of the modern engine.

New patented gas-tight gasket seal. Special analysis electrodes which provide a permanently fixed spark-gap, and resist pitting and burning to the utmost.

Champion leadership is the result of superiorities so pronounced that it is obviously the better spark plug.
