CLEAN-UP PERIOD

The annual clean-up period for the city commences today and those who have not attended to this important matter are likely to hear of it officially if it is not done at once.

Taken generally the city is in a good condition and a great many people have been improving their places by planting lawns, cultivating gardens, painting and repairing their premises or otherwise making things tidier and more shipshape. If the civic authorities will follow this up and see that no civic nuisance is allowed to remain and that no careless persons are omitted from the general program, Prince Rupert will look much better.

The past week has not been a good one for work of this kind but the prospects seem to be improving and a fine week should see all preliminary spring work finished.

Development of Georgia River Mine is Planned Soon as Snow is Gone

A ROAD is to be built to the Georgia River Gold Mines, on Portland Canal, heavy machinery will be taken in and an aggressive campaign of development will be carried on there, according to John F. Coates of Vancouver, a mining engineer, who arrived this morning aboard the Catala and is proceeding south after a visit to Stewart.

Mr. Coates says there is too much snow on the ground at present to do anything definite but he thinks a road could be built that could be used by tractors this year. The road will follow the Georgia River but as soon as the snow disappears he will be back and will decide exactly what is to be done. He says they have the money for development in the treasury but the first thing to work on is the road.

Once the transportation plans are settled, a program will be laid down for the working of the mine. Camp construction will have to be taken in hand and equipment provided and it will be some little time before actual work can proceed. There will be great activity at the property just as soon as the snow is gone.

Fishermen Want Salmon Sold on Open Market

Packers are to be instructed to Follow This Plan When Delivering Fish Here From the Trolling Grounds

AT a meeting of the Warke Canal unit of the Northern B.C. Salmon Fishermen's Association held last week a number of questions pertaining to the fishery interests were discussed and the following resolutions were adopted:

"That all salmon fishermen be requested to put their fish on the market and in case they ship through the hands of a packer to instruct them to do likewise."

"That we shall not sell our white salmon for less than six cents and request all salmon fishermen to support us in this matter."

"That the executive committee take action to enforce high speed boats to slow down going through Canoe Pass as they are damaging fishing boats tied up to the floats there."

COBOURG, Ont., May 1. — In the Currie $50,000 libel suit against F. W. Wilson and W. T. R. Preston, Judge Ross this morning concluded his charge to the jury, which retired to consider their verdict.

Frank Regan, counsel for the defense, claimed that the judge's charge was one-sided but this was overruled.

Undertakers under the auspices of the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union and the Loyal Order of Moose. Rev. J. R. Frizell, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, officiated and interment followed in Fairview Cemetery. A number of friends and acquaintances of deceased were in attendance to pay last respects. Those sending flowers included Mr. and Mrs. C. Jackson and family.

Portion of Weapon with Which Murder Committed is in the Possession of Police They Say

Inspector Spiller Makes Official Statement in Regard to Crime and Declares Perpetrator Will yet be Found

AN ANNOUNCEMENT that a portion of the weapon which it is believed was used in the slaying of Mrs. Esther Killias on April 17 has been in the possession of the police for some time was the most interesting feature of an official statement on the crime which was delivered to newspapermen in an interview last evening by Inspector William Spiller. The nature of the weapon and the place it was found Inspector Spiller declined to divulge. The inspector stated that the investigation was continuing and would continue until the perpetrator of the crime had been apprehended. Solution of the mystery surrounding the crime might take some time to reach, however, it was evident Inspector Spiller feared.

The statement was as follows:

"On arrival of the police, the house was found to be in a very orderly condition. Nothing had apparently been moved and nothing rifled.

"The police have been in possession for some time of a portion of the weapon with which it is presumed the crime was committed.

"Between one hundred and 150 persons have been interviewed and investigated, some two, three and even four times. The police have been finding difficulty in tracing men who were down there that night and it has been necessary to work back through long channels before being able to check up on some of these men. In some cases, owing to denials and other causes, many valuable hours have been lost. Much time can be saved if people who visited Comox Avenue that evening would inform either Sergeant Hannah or myself so they may be checked up on. Any information and names of persons who were in that locality that night will be kept strictly confidential. Appointments can be made at any hour of the day or night.

"Owing to the locality, detection of the perpetrator of a crime of this kind is an extremely laborious task. The public can rest assured, however, that it makes no difference, whether it be six hours, six days or six years, the case will never be lost sight of and some police officer or officers will be working on it all the while. Jack Sharkey Knocked Out Delaney in First Round of Scheduled Fifteen Round Bout at New York Last Night

NEW YORK, May 1.—Jack Sharkey, the Boston heavyweight, won in the first round of the big fight last night here against Jack Delaney flooring him with a jolt on the jaw which put him to sleep and ended the fight.

The bout was scheduled to have gone fifteen rounds, but there were not many blows struck before the end came, less than a minute from the time the round began. Delaney never hit his opponent once but he received several heavy blows from the Bostonian, the fourth doing the business promptly and effectually.

Sharkey was the favorite, betting being strong on him prior to the go, but no one expected it to end as quickly and suddenly as it did.

City Formally Accepts Offer to Transfer Waterfront Property Made by Provincial Government

THE city council last night accepted an offer from the provincial government, through Hon. T. D. Pattullo, to convey to the municipality seventy-five feet of waterfront at the foot of McBride Street, committing itself, however, to no immediate scheme of development on the property. The finance committee recommended that the offer be accepted.

Ald. Collart felt that this was a good opportunity for the city to obtain a piece of foreshore on which to eventually put in floats though the city was in no position to carry out such developments at this time. Possibly, after a while the necessary money bylaw could be put to the people. "Meanwhile, I think it is wise for the council to accept what practically amounts to a gift."

Ald. Brown inquired if it was the understanding in connection with the transfer that improvements would be undertaken immediately.

"There are no strings attached to it," the mayor replied.

Ald. Prudhomme questioned if it was the most desirable piece of waterfront the city could have.

Mayor McMordie replied that, if the city wanted other waterfront, it could always apply for it. He referred to the fact that the city would be receiving other waterfront for its rights in Cow Bay whenever the Federal government should proceed with development there. The piece at the foot of McBride Street, he thought, might become very valuable in time. Floats for the benefit of local boat owners as well as residents of the district visiting the city could be placed there. He advised acceptance of the offer.

The offer was accepted without discussion.

LAW ENFORCEMENT SUBJECT OF PAPER

5. Harris Speaker Before United Church Young People Last Night—Rehearsal for Play

An interesting paper on the topic: "The Private Citizen's Responsibility in Regard to Law Enforcement" was given before the Young People's Society of First United Church last evening by G. Harris of Booth Memorial School teaching staff. The paper was well prepared and covered many phases of the question. The desirability on the part of each person observing the law was emphasized. This, it was held, would tend to cultivate opinion and sentiment toward the keeping of law and order. An interesting discussion on ways and means followed the paper.

The rest of the evening was given over to rehearsal of the play "The Village School Mam" which will be presented by members of the Society on May 10. Miss E. M. Earle is directing the play.

PAGEANT SCENE FIRESIDE CLUB

REFRESHMENTS SERVED BY MEN AT REGULAR MEETING LAST NIGHT

The regular meeting of the Baptist Fireside Club held last evening was one of unusual interest and enjoyment. The principal feature of the program was the presentation of a Missionary Pageant entitled "Aunt Tillie Lemas-to-Tithe." The cast included seventeen characters which were represented by ladies of the Mission Circle and members of the Fireside Club.

Mrs. Thurbur as "Aunt Tillie" gave a capital rendering of the part, and all the other members of the cast acquitted themselves in an exceedingly able manner, both dialogue and characterization being very well done. A large audience which crowded the lecture hall witnessed the performance with great delight. Vocal solos were rendered by Miss B. Derry and Mrs. P. Miller, Mrs. Rolf Walker being accompanist. Rev. W. F. Price presided.

At the close of the program a bountiful lunch was served by the young men of the club under the direction of G. Sutherland.

TROUBLE IN EGYPT

Trouble has been brewing in Egypt for a long time past. Dr. Ossendowsky in one of his books on northern Africa traces the source of the little eruptions both in French and British territory to Soviet Russia.

Britain was given the overseership of Egypt by the Versailles treaty and several efforts have been made by the Egyptians to remove her. The legislation of which Britain complains is simply passed for the purpose of enabling the carrying on of anti-British propaganda through public meetings and demonstrations.

Britain will very soon bring to time those who would force her hands just now, but unfortunately that does not settle the matter. It is probable that there will be more or less continuous trouble in that country for years to come.

ADVANTAGE OF WESTERN ROUTE

British millers, it is stated, have been paying six cents a bushel more this winter for prairie wheat shipped through Canadian Pacific ports than for similarly graded wheat shipped through United States Atlantic ports, says the Edmonton Bulletin.

This is by no means the first season in which the merry game has been going on, nor the first occasion upon which it has been known to Canadians. The Railway Commission last year reduced railway rates to Quebec in order that more western wheat should go out by a Canadian route and thus reach the buyer in the same condition it leaves the shipper.

BRITAIN OWNS MOST OF C.P.R.

Majority and controlling ownership of the Canadian Pacific Railway still remains in British and Canadian hands, it is clear from the report of the company for 1927.

	1927	1926	1923
Great Britain	48.84	53.96	50.73
Canada	18.02	19.43	21.14
United States	26.20	18.74	20.69
Other countries	6.94	7.87	7.44

Statements made from time to time in recent years have conveyed the impression that the Canadian Pacific is passing into American ownership. For obvious reasons this would not be an altogether desirable change, although American investment capital is welcomed in the Dominion.

RATS! DECLARES AN ALDERMAN

PROPOSAL TO HAVE CAMPAIGN TO RID THE CITY OF ANNOYING RODENTS

"The rat situation in the city is becoming rather alarming," declared Ald. Collart at last night's council meeting, "and it seems to me that drastic measures should be taken to rid the place of these pests."

Ald. Prudhomme agreed with Ald. Collart. They were all over town and the situation was becoming serious. The construction of the streets was such that it gave them a great place to burrow.

Mayor McMordie suggested that the medical health officer be communicated with. The decision was that Dr. Cade should be asked for a report on the situation and steps that could be taken to rid the city of rats.

CONSIDERATION OF NEW PARKING BYLAW AGAIN DEFERRED TWO WEEKS

The city council last night delayed for another two weeks' consideration of the amended Street Traffic Bylaw as the chief of police, whose advice was desired on various sections, was unable to attend.

Certain tax men being present, it was decided to furnish them with copies of the bylaw so they could write out any suggestions they might have and submit them to the council.

The new parking bylaw has been hanging fire for six months now. It is a voluminous document.

FAIR BOARD ASKS LOT FROM CITY AND CASH PAYMENT NOW

A delegation from the fair board headed by President M. P. McCaffery and Vice-President G. B. Casey waited on the city council last night with the request that $400 of the annual grant be paid at once so that necessary work might be started at the Agricultural Hall.

Request was also made that lot 5, block 19, section 1 be transferred to the fair board for raffle purposes. This is a lot reverted to the city for taxation.

The requests will be given favorable consideration by the city.

STEWART

The busiest portion of the Portland Canal district just now is the Magee Press section of the Marmor River area.

Properties operating there are the Marmor Engineer Syndicate, the Marmor group (formerly the Washington) and the Marmor River Gold, known in the past as the Harner-Fleiss group.

The following have been elected directors of the L. and L. Consolidated Mines Ltd.: President, John Hart; Frank R. Begg; C. B. Macneil; W. A. Webb and R. F. Castle, Victoria. An extensive program of development work will be inaugurated this summer.

The Consolidated George Gold-Copper Co., Ltd. has elected directors as follows: P. M. Linklater, Victoria, president; George M. Kilburn and Mel O'Brien of Vancouver, Consolidated Engineers; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. George of Stewart; Jack Mullen of Ingenika, and Richard Jones, Victoria.

With ample funds on hand to carry on large-scale operations throughout the season and with a property that offers every advantage from location and surface showings of ore, the Silver Bell will be opened up this summer, work to be started as soon as snow conditions permit. The property is owned by Seattle and Vancouver capitalists and adjoins the Porter-Idaho and Prosperity.

J. V. Clegg is back from a business trip to Vancouver.

W. B. George has returned to the camp after having spent the winter in the south.

Traffic between Hyder and Stewart was temporarily interrupted last week as a result of a mudslide smashing up part of the road and taking out a portion of the bridge at the old wharf.

The Stewart Assembly, Native Sons of Canada, has elected officers as follows: president, J. P. Keele; first vice-president, E. R. Workman; second vice-president, George Cameron; secretary, F. E. Cligot.

Materials and supplies for the camp and mining machinery is already being taken on to the Engineer property. There is a strong local demand for units in the company.

Felix Seppi returned to Stewart last week from a trip south.

There is quite a building campaign in Stewart again this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Harner are back in the camp after having spent the winter in Vancouver.

The Scovill residence at Eighth and Columbia streets has been purchased by outside capital through H. W. M. Holston & Co.

The snowfall in Stewart for the past winter totalled nineteen feet which is no record.

Operations on the Lakeview were started on a small scale last week and will be increased as transportation facilities improve and underground conditions warrant. William McNus, formerly foreman for the Dunwell, is in charge.

One similar to that of the Dunwell is being opened up on the Mayflower property. Tunneling is proceeding. H. P. Gibson is president of the company which expects to have $40,000 for operations this year.

Good progress is being made on the tunnelling of the Terminus mine, the contractors having completed 61 of the 135 feet required. Another crew will be put on No. 1 vein as soon as supplies can be taken in.

S. F. Workman, construction engineer for the Canadian Northeastern Railway, has been authorized to call for tenders for construction of the Bitter Creek bridge, clearing of right of way, hewn ties and renewal of wooden culverts. Part of the sawmill machinery has arrived and the mill will be built near Bitter Creek as soon as possible. Employment will be given to about 100 men.

John F. Coates, prominent Vancouver mining engineer, has been making an examination of the Georgia River Gold Mines Ltd. There was too much snow to make the inspection upon which future development would be based.

VANDERHOOF

Samuel W. Cocker attended the Conservative nominating convention in Prince George at the end of last week and spoke on "The Province of British Columbia during Crown Colony Days."

Miss Ena Campbell, who is in training for a nurse at the Vancouver General Hospital, returned home last week on account of her father's serious illness.

Miss Vina Glover left last week for Vancouver where she will take up residence. She was given a send-off by her many friends in the Nechako and Prairiedale districts and a presentation was made.

Mrs. Roy M. Taylor has been elected secretary of the Women's Auxiliary to the local Anglican Church.

Samuel Lee last Tuesday made the first automobile trip of the season from Vanderhoof to Stuart Lake. On Thurs-

Ald. Collart enquired at last night's council meeting if W. H. Tobey and M. A. Burbank, representing the Canadian National Railways, had been appointed to the Parks Board as decided upon recently by the council. Mayor McMordie replied that they had been appointed.

A communication from Thomas McClymont stating that Mrs. Cora E. Black, on account of illness, had neglected to pay $2,000 accruing in taxes and asking that the penalty be waived was received at last night's council meeting. City Solicitor E. F. Jones advised the council that it had no power to meet with the request.

Fred Cooper, who has been mechanic on the staff of the fire department here for several years, and Mrs. Cooper will sail this evening by the Catala for Burnaby, Vancouver, where they will take up residence. Mr. Cooper is succeeded as mechanic in the Fire Hall by James Parks and Peter Martin has been appointed to the staff to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Cooper's departure.

Ald. Prudhomme inquired at last night's council meeting if any report was yet forthcoming from the joint committee of the city council and Board of Trade which had been delegated to investigate the matter of insurance rates here. He thought that it was high time the report was in. Ald. Collart replied that the report was not yet ready but he would endeavor to have it in as soon as possible.

On recommendation of the utilities committee, the city council last night gave an order to Albert & McCaffery for the supply of 500 tons of Neenah-Wellington washed pea coal to the dry dock power plant at $7.50 per ton f.o.b. dry dock. It was also decided to purchase a fifty ton sample of Cassidy-Wellington coal from Hyde Transfer at $6.75 per ton. Ald. Brown reported that the city had had no previous experience with this coal and, as it was cheaper, it was desired to try it out. The only other tender was from Philpott & Evelt who quoted $7.75 per ton.

Ball-Bearing Motors

The life of a motor is the life of its insulation. Hard brittle insulation, especially if oil soaked, sends motors to the repair shop or to the scrap pile. Fairbanks-Morse motors have insulation that will not harden and crack.

Fairbanks-Morse ball bearing motors require greasing only once a year and eliminate oil soaked windings, oil spotted products, oil slop on the floor and the cost of oil and oiling. Fairbanks-Morse motors have a liberal overload capacity and are now made in "fully enclosed" and "ventilated" types, which can operate safely in the foulest acid fumes and in extremely damp and dirty places.

POINCARÉ IS SPECTACULAR AS A LEADER

FRENCH PREMIER, WHO HAS BEEN GIVEN ANOTHER LEASE OF POWER, NOT A MUSSOLINI

WORKS AT HIGH TENSION
Knowledge of Almost Everything Discerning to Experts Who Advise Him

From the result of the elections in France it would seem as if Premier Poincaré was to continue as leader of the Government for a further period, but those who know how changeable are the French deputies will realize how uncertain is his future. Poincaré is an extremely clever man, with outstanding ability in certain directions. He reads three times as fast as the average professional man. He writes at such a speed, without crossings-out or interpolations, that he has no need of a shorthand typist and does not employ one. The common faculty of remembering readily what one writes he possesses in an extreme degree. All his speeches are written out and simultaneously committed to memory. His literal accuracy is impeccable. On the second day of his conference with Bonar Law in January, 1923, the conference which preceded the French entry into the Ruhr, M. Poincaré received his experts at 2.30 p.m. They read to him their comment on the Benar Law plan. When they left twenty minutes later M. Poincaré sat down and wrote several letters. At three o'clock he was in the conference room, where he delivered a speech which contained practically the whole of the long report in the actual words and figures of the document. Such an occasional feat is astonishing, but not more so than his merciless surs remembrance of dates, persons and events for many years back.

DRINKS NO LIQUOR
M. Poincaré's way of living is designed to keep his athletic brain at the full pitch of activity. He is a teetotaler in the English sense, an abstainer even from wine. Regular as the clock he rises, does gymnastic exercises, drives through his planned day of incessant work, and sleeps as infallibly as the Pope. He hoards minutes as a peasant hoards money. His efficiency is as nearly one hundred per cent. as can be expected in a human machine. His industry shrinks before no task. When he went to the Quai d'Orsay in 1922 he sent for all the papers relating to the Conference of Ambassadors—documents mountain high on Memel, German disarmament, on Danzig, read everything, and had the facts at his finger-ends within a few days. Incapable of using the labor of others as a substitute for his own, he is a sculptor who must also be a quarryman. There is a certain vanity in this aim at self-sufficiency which has its comic aspect. Deputations of experts who come to instruct him often leave his Cabinet with the humiliating feeling that they have been lectured by a professor in their own subject. If he is going to deliver an address at a dinner of motor-car manufacturers, he must in advance collect material which will enable him to say something that seems fresh and informed even to an audience of specialists.

GETS HIS OWN WAY
It is the secret both of his successes and of his failures that M. Poincaré is the prisoner of his own mental processes. He gets his way with colleagues—especially when he is at the head of a one-man government, as he was from 1922 to 1924—by the sheer force of a mind made up. Public opinion, when a national issue is involved, is dragged in his wake owing to the same impression of imposing certainty. That aim at unalterable certainty, at absolute intellectual consistency, is, nevertheless, M. Poincaré's crippling fault. Once he has studied his subject, the conception at which he has arrived must be kept intact or he is done. Once he has constructed a paragraph which exactly expresses his views on the French debt to America or on the stabilization of the exchange, he repeats it slavishly in speech after speech. Nothing is more characteristic of this mental rigidity than his inability to ignore criticism. The minutest comment from the most negligible of adversaries draws him into speech when silence would be the best reply. His policy must stand entire. He maps out affairs in a strict order, making in advance the stages in the accomplishment of his plan. A check shakes but does not divert him. No margin is left for give and take. It is the supreme misfortune of M. Poincaré that the world, incomprehensibly, never quite sees what he expects or wants. If the earth were a mechanical toy he would be a great ruler.

NOT DICTATOR
In spite of the notion prevailing in other countries, M. Poincaré has not read to him their comment on the

RECENT DEVICE FOR HARPOON

WHALE HUNTERS ADOPT NORWEGIAN METHODS AND HOPE BETTER SUCCESS

VANCOUVER, May 1.—A new Norwegian device which is expected to increase the range and effectiveness of harpoon guns in quest of the wily North Pacific whale will be tested this season by whalers out of British Columbia ports. The whaling fleet is now being prepared for active operations off the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The Norwegian invention, called a foregor, is a specially treated line spliced to the harpoon. In the past British Columbia whalers have been using a four and one half inch Manila rope. Ordinarily this swells and grows heavier when it gets wet. If a rope is treated with the foregor process, a three and three quarter inch line may be used with no danger of increased weight because of the water absorption.

The Norwegian whalers have met with good success with the foregor, and it is expected that its use on the Pacific will enable vessels to harpoon their quarry at a considerably greater distance. The present range of harpoon guns is about 120 feet and this is expected to be much extended.

Last year 220 whales were caught off the coast during the season and with better weather conditions prevailing it is hoped to greatly increase that number this year.

It is understood that a committee of the city council is to get busy at once on the weather situation. Their inactivity in this regard has already been the cause of serious criticism.

The Least Excitement Made Her Heart Palpitate and Flutter

Mrs. Ambrose Orser, Elginburg, Ont., writes:—"I suffered for some time with a bad heart which seemed to be controlled by my nerves. The least little excitement would cause it to flutter and palpitate; and at times I would have real bad spells. I suffered in this way for some time when, one day, I saw advertised, so decided to try them. MORRISSEY OUT AT DAYBREAK

McCRACKEN EXPLORATION PARTY AWAY TO THE ALMOST UNKNOWN REGIONS OF THE ARCTIC

WILL VISIT ALEUTIANS SCHOONER FILLED TO THE GUNTS WITH SUPPLIES OF EVERY KIND TO LAST 18 MONTHS

Creeping quietly out at daybreak the exploration schooner Effie M. Morrissey is now well on her way to the far north carrying a group of ardent scientists to search for things that are new and old. While one group will delve into long forgotten graves for mummies and bones, another will dig into deserted kitchen middens and yet another will hunt for huge Kodiak bears. Small birds and mammals and other creatures even down to the minute forms that make up the sea food known scientifically as plankton will be taken and when the schooner arrives home she should be laden with pelts of animals, with skins of birds, with skulls and for conveying the material home.

Even with the mummies of the far-off ancestors of the Indian tribes of this district.

It had been planned to leave last night but the final gathering up of those supplies necessary for a long voyage took so long that Captain Bartlett decided it would be better to delay departure until dawn.

The expedition is in charge of Harold McCracken but Mr. and Mrs. Stoll, the part financiers of the party, join the ship in Alaska and they will also have some jurisdiction in regard to the work.

Last night the younger members of the party were up to the Moose Hall to see the drill team at their regular practice and some of the young ladies paid a final visit to the ship afterwards.

FULL OF SUPPLIES

The small vessel is packed full of supplies for the trip. Nothing has been overlooked. Cameras and films both for moving pictures and still life are everywhere and there is not a corner of the inside space unoccupied and even the deck is covered with barrels and tanks which will be used when empty when it is away from the schooner.

Not only has the vessel a wireless set of high power with which communication can be kept up with the south, but she also has a small radio set for keeping in touch with the shore boat when it is away from the schooner.

It is hoped to return in October or November but no one can tell when they may be caught in the ice and held until the breakup in 1929.

In any event they are well supplied with everything. There is enough grapefruit for breakfast for the next eighteen months.

Both long and short wave messages will be sent out from the ship and amateurs will be looking for the broadcast.

RIFLES AND GUNS

A regular artillery regiment might be armed from the rifles and guns carried by the party, most of whom will do some shooting while away. Most of the hunting will be confined, however, to the leader and one or two chosen companions.

The party will be at Ketchikan this afternoon and will continue to Juneau where they expect to pick up Mr. and Mrs. Stoll. From there, the course will be set northwesterly for the Aleutian Islands.

McLENNAN IS REAPPOINTED

PROPOSAL TO MAKE EMPLOYEE OF CITY HALL ASSESSOR IS VOTED DOWN BY COUNCIL

QUESTION DISCUSSED

Financial Aspect of the Problem is Fully Canvassed at Meeting Last Night

Considerable discussion resulting in three divisions being taken on the matter, the city council last night finally decided to reappoint J. C. McLennan as assessor for the year 1928 at his usual stipend of $600. A counter proposal that E. S. Allstone of the City Hall staff be appointed was rejected.

The question was opened with the reading of a report from the finance committee recommending that applications be received for the position at a salary of $600.

Mayor McMordie reported that there had been considerable discussion and difference of opinion on the matter in finance committee. The report was brought in as a compromise. After considering the matter further, he (the mayor) felt that the report placed the assessor in an uncomfortable position, amounting practically to a censure. He suggested that the council make a decision on the question forthwith.

Ald. Brown stated that the matter had been discussed rather fully last year. The suggestion had then been made that Mr. Allstone take over the duties of assessor. Personally, he was in agreement with this proposal. Mr. Allstone was in a position to be very conversant with the work and he would like to see him be given the opportunity. One advantage would be that Mr. Allstone would always be available in the City Hall.

ALLSTONE THE MAN

Ald. Collart said that the idea of Ald. Brown's was the same as his which had received no support in finance committee. As matters stood at present, Mr. Allstone did practically all the work. He was the "real man" and was well acquainted with the situation. At the court of revision, it had been Mr. Allstone who had answered all the questions. He had everything at his finger tips and he (Ald. Collart) felt he would make a splendid assessor. Economy would also be effected in such a manner. Every year Mr. Allstone spent much of his time helping the assessor.

Ald. Tinker stated that he had not spoken to Mr. Allstone lately but last year he had not been at all anxious for the job. In any case, an intelligent assessment could not be made sitting in an office. He felt that, with an outside assessor, expenses might be cut down inside. The suggestion was to give Mr. Allstone a stenographer. That would not lessen the expenses involved in making the assessment. He felt that it would be wise to adopt the recommendation. If he so desired, Mr. Allstone could make application for the position.

Ald. Rudderham was in favor of adopting the recommendation. He felt that applications for such positions should be called yearly. "Is Mr. Allstone willing?" asked Mr. Rudderham. "Yes, I asked him," replied Mr. Collart.

QUESTION OF FINANCE

Ald. Dobb explained that the opposition to Ald. Collart's proposition in finance committee was on the grounds of economy. The proposal was to give

Mr. Allstone $600 a year additional salary and also to furnish him with a stenographer which would be another $1,000. This would be a total of $1,600 as compared with $600. He felt that $600 was not exorbitant and that Mr. McLennan's work was probably commensurate with his salary. Ald. Dobb suggested the possibility of a consultation having taken place between Ald. Collart and Ald. Brown on the matter.

Ald. Collart objected to Ald. Dobb's statement. He was sorry that his memory was not better. He (Ald. Collart) had never said anything about $1,000 for a stenographer. He had said that Mr. Allstone might be given an increase of $600. Last year the cost in connection with the assessor's department had been $1,000 which would mean that a saving of $400 could be effected. It was not the intention to hire an additional stenographer for Mr. Allstone but have him use one of the girls now assisting with the utilities department. Formerly, there had been but one girl assisting the utilities. He thought his idea was a good one and was prepared to stand by it. There was no intention to increase the city hall staff.

BEST OUTSIDE MAN

Ald. Brown wished to point out that there had been no consultation between himself and Ald. Collart. As matters stood at present, the clerical work for the assessor was done and always had been by the city hall staff. He could not see where the cost would be increased under the plan suggested. He had no fault to find with Mr. McLennan. He was probably the best outside man that could be obtained for the job.

Mayor McMordie did not wish to criticize Mr. Allstone. He believed he was a most capable and conscientious official in his present capacity. He did not, however, know his knowledge as a real estate man though, doubtless, he was acquainted with the figures which passed before him every day. His appointment as assessor, however, he felt would be a step in the wrong direction.

Ald. Collart pointed out that Mr. McLennan was not a real estate man. He got all his valuations from the real estate offices. On the other hand, Mr. Allstone was advised of every change that took place in city real estate, every deal that was transacted. He felt that he was just as competent as any real estate man. He agreed that he would have to get outside but, with the help of a girl, that could be done. He had every instrument at his command to bring down a fair assessment.

Ald. Tinker admitted that Mr. Allstone was a most competent official. But did he not already have enough to do with his present job? Mr. McLennan's fee was only $600 which was not costly. He agreed that no better assessor could be obtained than any of them. Ald. Tinker referred to the experience Mr. McLennan had gained at the 1927 court of revision.

Ald. Dobb reiterated his view that with Mr. Allstone the cost would be increased about $1,000. He was still opposed to the proposal on the grounds of economy.

Ald. Collart asserted that he could not see Ald. Dobb's reasoning. He could not see where the cost would be increased with no increase in staff.

FINANCE TAKES HAND

Ald. Prudhomme felt that there was any clerk who at present did not have enough to do, the finance department should see that he or she was let out. City hall administration already was very high. He admired the manner in which Mr. Allstone carried out his work. However, if the city had been keeping him with not enough to do, it was doing what was wrong.

Ald. Linzey agreed with Ald. Prudhomme. He did not think the City Hall staff should be disorganized. He did not see anything to do but reappoint Mr. McLennan.

It was moved by Ald. Tinker, seconded by Ald. Rudderham, that the report be adopted.

Ald. Prudhomme moved an amendment that Mr. McLennan be re-engaged, Ald. Linzey seconding.

Ald. Brown moved an amendment to the amendment that Mr. Allstone be given the duties with a salary increase of $600. Ald. Collart seconded.

The amendment to the amendment was lost, only Ald. Brown and Ald. Collart voting in its favor; Linzey, Prudhomme, Rudderham and Tinker against.

The amendment was carried, Ald. Brown, Ald. Linzey, Ald. Dobb and Ald. Prudhomme voting for it; Rudderham, Collart and Tinker against.

The original motion was lost, only Ald. Tinker and Ald. Rudderham supporting it; Brown, Collart, Linzey, Dobb and Prudhomme against.

Ald. W. J. Greer was absent.

Dr. W. T. Kergin will sail this evening by the Catala on a brief trip to Vancouver.

The diamond at Agricultural Park is already in a dry condition and with a little preliminary work should be in good shape for the ball tossers to go into action.
