AIRPLANE WITH FOUR PASSENGERS AND TWO PILOTS LOST

Victoria-Seattle Plane Is Lost Two Pilots And Four Passengers Including Two Prominent People

Left Victoria at Ten O'clock Saturday Morning and was Seen by People on Olympic Peninsula and Crash Heard Across Water

SEATTLE, August 25. — The Victoria-Seattle plane with four passengers and two pilots has not been heard from since leaving Victoria Saturday morning. A big oil spot on the water near Port Townsend was found by a searching plane but no wreckage or other trace of the lost plane.

PORT ANGELES, August 27.—Information indicating that the missing B.C. Airways plane crashed in Washington Harbor, 30 miles south of here was received today. A fisherman reported that a large monoplane circled low over his boat, so low that he ducked to prevent being hit by the undercarriage and then crashed in the water some distance away. This happened at eleven o'clock Saturday morning.

Credence is given to the story by the wife of a cannery operator, who said she heard the plane circling over Washington Harbor many times, as if in distress.

SEATTLE, August 27. — Search for the B.C. Airways monoplane with four passengers and two pilots, missing since they left Victoria at ten o'clock Saturday morning for Seattle, turned today to the Olympic peninsula southwest of Port Hadlock where the plane was reported to have been seen Saturday by three women and nearly a dozen children. The report was the first hopeful clue in 24 hours. The women said the plane flew low over the town at 11 a.m. Saturday. They could read the wording on the fuselage. The motors were missing and it was headed towards Oak Bay.

Coastguard officials are inclined to believe that the pilot was heading for the clearings and the fields in Chimacum Valley, 12 miles south of Port Townsend. A forced landing there, airmen say, inevitably would mean a crash with injuries to all on board.

Princess Patricia Collides

Meantime the report that a crash was heard by several people leading to the belief that the plane had dived into the Strait of Juan de Fuca off Point Wilson is partially explained by news of a collision in the fog about that time between the Princess Patricia and a sawdust laden scow. The towing tug was barely able to get the scow into Port Townsend.

VICTORIA, August 27.—The missing plane was a tri-motored all-metal monoplane. On the report that she was missing, Ernest Eve, president of the B.C. Airways and pilots started a search. Meantime naval planes from Seattle and planes from other Washington air patrols are searching the waters for any sign of the plane.

The fog and smoke was terrible, they reported. These factors continued yesterday and today, interfering with flying.

It is explained that it is difficult to tell fog from water and the pilot might easily have flown into the water. If he did so, travelling at eighty miles an hour the plane would turn over and sink like lead.

Among the searchers was A. ex. Holden, pilot at Tacoma, son of Dr. Holden.

VICTORIA, August 27.—Robert Louis Carson, assistant pilot, missing with the Victoria-Seattle plane, was a Victoria boy residing on Quedra Street. He was 23 years old and had been awarded a pilot's license after completing the test by flying to Vancouver and return on Friday.

Dr. D. B. Holden, a passenger, practiced medicine here for 38 years, graduated from McGill University and obtained his M.D.C.M. from Edinburgh. He is a son of a well known shoe manufacturer of Montreal. He leaves four children, one of them Alex. Holden, chief aviator for the Washington air service.

A. Macallum Scott, who, with his wife was a passenger in the plane, was an English barrister and formerly a member of the British House of Commons, being

R. MACDONALD MEETS LABOR

DISCUSSES QUESTIONS AFFECTING THEM WITH LEADERS AT VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—British miner harvesters in Canada would have a fighting chance to succeed and the Old Land would be thankful for the opportunity presented to them, said Ramsay MacDonald when he met a delegation of B.C. Labor men here yesterday. He said the sending of ten thousand unemployed miners had alleviated the situation in Britain somewhat. He asked whether it would be possible to find employment for them when the harvest was finished.

The ex-premier questioned the delegation regarding the recent B.C. elections and asked the cause of the setback suffered by the Labor party. Closer contact between the Labor party of Canada and the Motherland should be established, he said.

RUMOR OF BREAKING RELATIONS WITH CUBA OVER TRADE TREATY

HAVANA, Aug. 27.—Insistent rumors here say that Canada proposes retiring its diplomatic and commercial representative to Cuba because of differences arising out of Cuba's refusal to endorse the proposed special concessions for Canadian interests on the island under the projected commercial treaty. There was no confirmation of the report at the state department.

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—No confirmation was obtainable last night of rumors that Canada is dissatisfied with the progress of negotiations for the renewal of the trade agreement with Cuba.

Produce Marketing Act Is Upheld by Mr. Justice Murphy As Within Rights of Province

VANCOUVER, August 27. — The Produce Marketing Act was upheld by Mr. Justice Murphy in a written judgment filed today in the case testing the validity of the Act.

It had been claimed by those attacking the Act that it conflicted with section 498 of the Criminal Code and was in restraint of trade. It was counterclaimed by the government that if it did conflict with the Criminal Code, then section 498 was ultra vires of the Federal Parliament.

His Lordship stated that the provisions of the Market Act dealt exclusively with property and civil rights in the province, which come under the jurisdiction of the provinces under the powers conferred by the British North America Act.

The test case was based on the habeas corpus application on behalf of Chung Chuck, a Chinese farmer, who was fined ten dollars for marketing potatoes without permission of the committee of direction.

Mr. Justice Murphy upheld the conviction.

BOOKS FROM LIBRARY

One of the difficulties in operating a public library is the number of people, especially children, who do not take proper care of the books entrusted to their care. To allow young people to injure books is the very worst kind of training they can get. It teaches them general habits of carelessness which are likely to develop and may make their lives a failure.

GOVERNMENT TO GO SLOW

It is satisfactory to hear from the new provincial cabinet that in all action they take in the matter of changes of policy they will proceed with care and not make hurried changes. Doubtless changes will be desirable. Sometimes it is well to change, even if the new methods are not any better than the old. That is true in education as well as in many other lines of government activity. Thorough investigation is the first step. Then comes the change if found necessary.

ACTIVITY IN THE EAST

The activity of Eastern Canada is well shown by the fact that the Oshawa, Ontario Daily Times has just issued a special edition with 112 pages telling about the progress of that city and district. It is called the "Greater Oshawa Edition" and its very size is impressive. It is one of the largest if not the largest special editions that has come to our desk.

Sometimes we are apt to think in the west that we are the whole thing. We talk and think about our potentialities whereas down east they are talking and thinking about their progress.

We congratulate the Oshawa Daily Times on its progressiveness and suggest that Prince Rupert people also do their bit in the matter of showing the progressive spirit.

FIGHTING AGAINST FORCES OF NATURE

Last week the city of Seward, Alaska, had a fight with the forces of nature and lost. We all can sympathize with the people of that place, but if they had acted in time, getting their flood control in place a little earlier, they would today have been victors instead of losers.

We all have to fight the forces of nature. On the prairies they fought frost by sowing a wheat that ripened early. They fought rust by treating their seed. They fought drought by methods of cultivation.

In many places we find them afflicted by storm and flood or else the burning sun dries up their very life blood.

In Prince Rupert we have our own little fight. We have to build our streets under difficulties such as no other city in British Columbia and possibly in Canada have to overcome. We sometimes have more rain than we need and have to adapt ourselves to the condition. The clever community is the one that can use the forces of nature. Here we may well use the waterfalls in developing power with which to build up our industries. We have no drought here and do not often fear the ravages of fire.

In some parts of the south the desert has been made to bloom by irrigation.

On the whole we are well placed here. We have no noxious insects or reptiles and if sometimes the days are dull, we must make up for it by taking part in games and sports and overcoming the depression by using our minds and bodies well. Everything depends upon ourselves.

LOCAL SHRINERS AND CANDIDATES TO MAKE TRIP SOUTH IN FALL

A contingent of some thirty-five local Shriners and candidates from Prince Rupert, Stewart, Anxox and interior points will leave Prince Rupert by the C.N.R. steamer Prince Rupert on the evening of October 27 for Victoria to attend a joint ceremonial by Gizeh Temple of Victoria and Nile Temple of Seattle held in the provincial capital on October 31. This ceremonial will take the place of the one that was to have been held here this fall but for which arrangements could not be perfected at this time. The date for the Victoria ceremonial was announced by D. D. Munro, potentate of Gizeh Temple, who was in the city yesterday.

The steamer taking the party south from here will pick up Gizeh Temple patrol at Vancouver and make a special trip through to Victoria with the nobles and the candidates. The most of the local Shriners making the trip south will return to Prince Rupert on November 4.

Bert Vandewater manager of the B. C. Butchers and Grocers returned to the city on the Catala last night following a two weeks' business trip to Vancouver.

The home of Miss Way, Fifth Avenue West, was the scene of a pleasing event Saturday afternoon when members of the Music Club gathered to present to Miss Edna Ireland, one of Miss Way's students, the cup donated by the club to the student ranking highest in the Toronto Conservatory examinations. In the absence of the president, Mrs. R. L. McIntosh, the presentation was made by the vice-president, Mrs. Darton, who congratulated both winner and teacher. This was followed by the presentation of a twenty dollar bill for the same student by Miss Way, a prize given by her to the most successful student. After the presentation ice cream was served and there were expressions of regret at losing Mrs. Ireland and her children. It was also mentioned that five grades were entered by Miss Way's students and that lady secured 100 per cent of passes, many securing honors and three first class honors.

EXTRA PRIZES MAKE PERIOD PROFITABLE

NEXT NINE DAYS OFFER SPECIAL OPPORTUNITY TO AMBITIOUS PARTICIPANTS—ALL SUBSCRIPTIONS COUNT TWO WAYS

An extra prize of two hundred dollars offered these next nine days to candidates entered in The Daily News Gift Distribution. These prizes will be awarded to the candidates in each district making the best showing on points on subscriptions these next nine days. The candidate in each district with the highest number of points to his or her credit will be paid the special merit prize for each district.

All start on even terms, at zero, for the extra cash. Production this period may determine which candidate will be paid extra compensation for good results. In the event two or more candidates are tied in points for the extra prizes, prizes of identical value—$100 each—will be paid each trying candidate.

REAL OPPORTUNITY

Here is offered an unusual opportunity. While candidates are helping themselves to big votes which win cars they are afforded the means to earn an extra $100 over and above all compensation which the campaign will bring them. While earning an extra $100 these next nine days the candidate is assuring himself, and herself of votes which will go towards determining which candidate will profit to the extent of cars valued at $860 and $1,200.

POINTS WIN EXTRA CARS

The extra cash prizes will be awarded on points earned. Each year will count 8 points. Thus a one year subscription will count 8 points, while one for two years will count sixteen points and so on. A subscription for six years will count 48 points. The points are not votes, and have no relation to them. Each subscription turned in these next few days counts big second period votes as well as points on the extra cash.

A candidate can win the extra $100 cash prize and also a car or other cash prize. That Merit prizes have no relation whatsoever to the general plan and are merely extra compensation for good results these next nine days.

Opportunities are here alike for present candidates and for those who may enter. All start even for the special cash. The slate was clean Thursday morning. All start at zero. No one has any alibi this period for lack of effort. Real effort will be immediately earned and will go far towards building the vote score one wants to carry himself to final victory.

There never was a more opportune time than now to enter the campaign.

"G.B.S." URGES POLICE PROTEST

WOULD HAVE THEM REFUSE TO UNDERTAKE "OPINATE" DUTIES BESIDE LEGITIMATE CASES

LONDON, Aug. 27.—George Bernard Shaw's address at the annual convention of the police chiefs of Great Britain, at Harrogate, was a serious contribution to the discussion of the duties of their office, though enlivened by characteristic Shavian humor. Perhaps with the celebrated case of Sir Leo Money and Irene Savidge in mind, "G.B.S." declared that all the scandals and protestations of the public, all the attacks on the police, came in that part of their duties in which they were not dealing with definite laws but with matters of opinion.

The police have had great difficulty with morality cases, the dismissal of the charges against Sir Leo and Miss Savidge being the culmination of many nullified arrests. Mr. Shaw declared the police would have to "put their foot down" against opinate duties, and say that while they were willing to take on legitimate responsibilities they were not prepared to do the work of the Pope for example, or to try to be Plato, Calvin, and Moses and the prophets rolled into one.

There had been a tremendous extension of police duty, declared Mr. Shaw, with a tendency to make the policeman more and more welfare workers. The movement had gone to the extent that there was now women police. Although if he were a chief constable nothing would terrify him more than this particular development, it was no doubt a development that would grow, and as women instinctively, the moment they got into a place, began to manage it and finally had to be allowed to manage for the sake of a quiet life he was by no means sure that in another 50 years' time, his audience might not consist exclusively of ladies.

In 20 years as a motorist he had driven certainly 100,000 miles, and had never taken a single drive without breaking the law. Mr. Shaw recalled that on one occasion he was passed through a police patrol at 27 miles an hour. There was no room for argument. He and the constables were perfectly civil to one another. The constables were greatly pleased when they got his name because they knew that the case would be put in the papers and he was greatly pleased when he reflected what a mercy it was they had not caught him half-an-hour before, when he was driving at 50 m.p.h. an hour.

PRINCE RUPERT MAN WEDS IN SCOTLAND

Robert Strachan Takes to Bride Miss Mary Mitchell of Fraserburgh

Mid Street Congregational Church, Fraserburgh, Scotland, was looking its brightest on Wednesday, July 25, when a large congregation assembled to witness the marriage of Miss Mary Mitchell, daughter of Mrs. John Mitchell, 44a Broad Street, and Robert Strachan, son of Mrs. Wm. Strachan, 2nd Avenue West of this city and formerly of Fraserburgh.

The bride, who was given away by David Noble, Saltloch Place, looked charming in a dress of white crepe-de-chine, the veil being held in place by a coronet of tulle work orange blossom. She carried a bouquet of white arum lilies, pink carnations and ferns. The bride had three attendants, Miss Jean Duthie, Silverdale, and Miss Mabel Buchan, formerly of this city, and niece of the bridegroom, acted as bridesmaids, while little Miss Irene Duncan, niece of the bride, skillfully carried out her duties as flower girl.

The bridesmaids looked sweet in dresses of bois-de-raze georgette and crepe-de-chine and picture hats of navy blue crinoline. Their bouquets were of pink carnations and ferns, the flower girl being in a dress of jade crepe-de-chine with georgette overairst.

Mr. George Crawford, nephew of the bridegroom, was groomsmen. The music, which included the "Bridal March" from Lohengrin, Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," and the hymns "O God of Bethel" and "O Love Divine" were tastefully played by Miss L. B. Buchan.

A reception of some 90 guests was afterwards held in the Bellies Hotel when the officiating clergyman, Rev. T. Johnstone, proposed the toast of the bride and bridegroom and also read several telegrams of congratulations.

During the evening the newly married couple left by motor for Deasdale where they spent their honeymoon. They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

The bridegroom has been connected with the office staff of the Canadian National Railway of Prince Rupert and Smithers, B.C., for the past three years.

Man in the Moon

The other night I was sitting on the fence talking to the Mayor of Seal Cove and he said he thought he'd build a movie house in the east end pretty soon. That comes of closing up the movies here in the city.

For every eye was on him As he rubbed his hand in dirt, And the lundrymen's eyelids twinkled As he wiped them on his shirt.

No person can hope to get on the front page by staying home and going to bed every night.

Everyone is better for a little work Yes, that's what I say, very little.

There's one thing about Prince Rupert, you don't have to keep the thermometer in the house to keep it from freezing.

Nelson is gloating over its new cement walks. Well, we can gloat too. We have several.

Jake says he has not heard anything about politics lately. He says he thinks he'll start something by saying he does not like a minister of education who is a parson. But then, Jake was never very fond of parsons.

Jake says he thinks Tunney must have got a handout from Tex to induce him to step down so there could be a real fight for the championship.

AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Highland Group Showing up well—New Camp at Esperanza—Ore in from Chikamin Glacier to Stewart

Much Activity in District Around Terrace—Duthie Becoming Good Dividend Payer—Glacier Gulch Groups

There is much mining activity in the Copper River and Kitsumkalum Lake sections near Terrace. Several big mining companies have their scouts and engineers scouring the country and examining prospects. Among the important concerns interesting themselves in the field are the Consolidated of Trail, the Payne-Whitney interests of New York and the Northern Syndicate of Calgary. Particular attention is seemingly being paid to copper. At Copper River the Consolidated has had a couple of men on the Dardanelles group belonging to Steve McNeil. The same men have been in the Kitsumkalum Lake country previously.

Angus Davis, representing the Payne-Whitney interests, is now at the head of Copper River looking over a silver-lead property. Jack Mullen and Frank Martin are working an iron-zinc property that runs high in gold and silver values. They are located about twenty-five miles up Beaver River from Kitsumkalum Lake. It is possible that this property may soon be in shape to show to capital. Also in the Kitsumkalum Lake area J. O. Howells, M.E., has a party in the field for the Northern Syndicate which is made up of big Calgary capitalists. The country around Terrace has seen little prospecting as yet but it is known to be very promising in the matter of minerals. Nearly all the ore carry good values which should make them attractive to mining men. The larger companies, apparently, intend to go over the field thoroughly.

It is recalled in connection with the decision of the Federal Mining & Smelting Co. to abandon the Mohawk property at New Hazelton that it was this same concern which some years let the Duthie mine near Smithers go. Some consolation is taken at New Hazelton out of this fact. The Mohawk is said to look equally as promising as the Duthie and many who have seen it are confident that it will eventually turn out as well. The Federal, at least, put in quite a lot of work on the Mohawk under which the property seemed to be showing up to advantage.

Duthie Mines declared another interim dividend of 2 1-2 cents a share last week. The first dividend of 2 1-2 per cent was paid in June. If this distribution of profits is continued every two months, Duthie will be on an annual dividend basis of fifteen per cent, thus taking its place as one of the heaviest dividend payers in the province and coming next to the Premier.

The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. is taking in supplies and starting up camp on Legate Creek, near Pacific. Where the concern will develop the M. and M. and Prisco groups which have been optioned from Smith and Orr. Albert E. Newman of Kimberley is in charge of operations and a small crew is engaged getting things in readiness to go ahead.

Prospectors continue active in the district around Lorne Creek and Ritchie getting their properties in shape upon which they have been putting in a good deal of time. Some of them may soon be ready to show to outside capital.

A deal has been concluded at Smithers whereby Frank H. Taylor takes under option the Glacier Gulch group, located at the foot of the glacier on Hudson Bay Mountain near Lake Kathryn, from the owners, Grover Loveless and Stuart F. Campbell. A program of development will be started to prove continuity of the showings exposed in work carried on by the owners. Since this property was located a couple of years ago considerable work has been accomplished by way of surface stripping and open cuts, sensational ore having been exposed in a number of veins. Assays of the ore have returned values as high as 2190 ounces of silver, 50 per cent lead and 66.40 in gold. The open cuts have exposed veins for a distance of six hundred feet and in places as wide as six feet. The property is located a short distance from an old coal road running near the glacier and easy transportation is offered. There seems to be every indication that the property should rapidly attain a shipping basis.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

Miss Isabelle Newton, assistant bookkeeper at the Westlake branch of the Home Savings Bank, Los Angeles, and daughter of S. M. Newton of this city, had an exciting experience recently. She was engaged in her work in the bank along with the cashier and the bookkeeper when three armed, masked men entered from an automobile, ordered them to throw up their hands, backed them into the vault and then got away with $1,214 from the teller's cage.

American citizens in this district are answering well to the call for military duty now that United States has entered the Great War. Nearly one hundred men have already left the city and district to join up.

There was a long discussion at last night's council meeting on the matter of the dilapidated condition of many streets, not much progress being made, however, with the subject which was brought up by Ald. Rochester.

SALMON SEASON NEARING END

PINKS AND CHUMS ON MAINLAND UP TO OR OVER PAST SEASONS BUT ISLANDS FELL DOWN

CHUM RUN AT SKIDEGATE Naas Season For Sockeye Smallest On Record But Pink Pack There Large

With seining closed in all parts of District No. 2 except certain divisions south of Prince Rupert, the salmon packing season on the Northern British Columbia Coast is now nearing its conclusion although it is expected that there will still be considerable activity on fall brands, especially on the Queen Charlotte Islands. All over the mainland portion of the district the pack of pinks and chums is being up to it not exceeding the average of past years. In any case, it will be much better than it was in 1927. The pack of the choicer sockeye, however, is generally far down, except in the Smith's Inlet area.

Seining was closed in Massett Inlet at 6 p.m. on Wednesday and fishing with nets of any kind will not be permitted again in either Massett Inlet or Naden Harbor until all the pinks have safely gone up the streams, possibly in two weeks' time seining for cohoes and chums will then again be allowed in that area. A fair estimate would indicate that the pack in Massett Inlet this season will not reach fifty percent of the 250,000 case pack of two years ago. This is in spite of the fact that five canneries have operated there this season as compared with four two years ago. Also this year, no unpacked pinks have been shipped from Massett Inlet to the mainland whereas two years ago some 40,000 cases were sent over. Two or possibly three of Massett canneries are remaining open to operate on chums.

On the south end of the Queen Charlotte Islands, including Skidegate Inlet, fishing has been poor to date, very few pinks having been caught. Chum salmon are, however, coming in but so far in small numbers. The principal fishing in this region usually takes place in September when the chum run commences in full swing. To date, the catches and pack have been small.

Weather on the Queen Charlotte Islands this season has been very dry and the streams have been low. The small run may be partly attributable to this condition.

Fishing on the Naas River for chums and cohoes, with gill nets only, according to latest reports, was still poor. Seining there, as on the Skeena River, has now been closed. The pink pack on the Naas River this season will be large with the sockeye pack the smallest on record, totalling only 6,000 cases. Arrandale cannery is the only plant on the Naas River remaining open for fall packing. Mill Bay and Wales Island now being closed.

According to latest reports from the Skeena River, fishing with gill nets for cohoes has been fairly good. A few sockeyes are reported to have been making their way through to the spawning grounds. It will be later before chums are taken in gill nets on the Skeena. The pack of pinks on the Skeena this year will also be high, with sockeye very low. The majority of the Skeena River canneries closed down on August 17 with the cessation of sockeye fishing but a few are remaining open for fall varieties.

Good catches are still being made in the seining areas in the southern portion of District No. 2, pink and chum salmon continuing to come in in goodly numbers. Four canneries—Butedale, Lowe Inlet, Klemtu and Walker Lake—are still operating in the central division and Namu and Tallbeo remain open for fall varieties in the Bella Coola and Fitzhugh Sound division. All Rivers Inlet and Smith's Inlet canneries are now closed.

Powerboats "Naas River" and "28" of the Prince Rupert Salvage & Towing Co.'s fleet as well as many private boats took a crowd of some three hundred persons to the Salt Lake yesterday for the annual water gala of the Prince Rupert Swimming Club. Weather was auspicious for the occasion and the event was in every respect a great success. During the afternoon a collection was taken, about $25 being realized. This will give a surplus to the Swimming Club on the year's operations, it having been the first time in eight years that the organization has been out of debt with all its bills paid.

E. C. Gibbons and Ald. Percy Tinker were judges of the races. R. B. Skinner was starter and Douglas Rizell was announcer in addition to having general supervision of the program. Prizes were presented by city business men and the winners of the various events were as follows:

GOLDBLOOM HAVING 20TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION NOW

William Goldbloom, the pioneer fur dealer, is celebrating the twentieth anniversary of his entry into business in Prince Rupert. During these twenty years he has sold thousands of dollars' worth of fur coats—and defies complaint. He does not sell electric seal for seal coats nor dogskins for rat coats. Everything in his store has the Goldbloom guarantee—if goods are not satisfactory, you get your money back. Fair dealing with all, both buying and selling—has been the secret of success in the Goldbloom business.

Buy your fur coats from the full Goldbloom stock at little more than wholesale prices. We have a full stock of all kinds of fur and are agents for one of the largest fur houses on the continent. If we have not what you desire, we can get it—and get it quick! The Old Reliable Fur House.

The Opinion Of an Expert

A man whose business is coffee says he always recommends the use of Pacific Milk. It seems Pacific Milk neutralizes the acids, allowing the full rich flavor of the coffee itself to "come up."

We are grateful for the good opinion of an expert.
