MURDERER HAS CONFESSED TO CRIME

PEACE RIVER DEVELOPMENT FATE IN BALANCE THIS WEEK

Man Who Murdered Child Was Church Deacon Who Was Honored by Elders

Confesses to Crime After Arrest and Mob of More Than Ten Thousand and Storm Jail with Brickbats to Get Him

FLINT, Mich., January 17.—Adolph Hotelling, 47 years of age, a church deacon of Owosso, Michigan, confessed last night after his arrest in Owosso, that he was the killer of five-year-old Dorothy Schneider whom he kidnapped and slew last Thursday, having picked her up while she was en route home from the kindergarten.

The arrest and confession stunned the residents of Owosso, where Hotelling had taken a leading part in church activities. He was taken to Flint by auto but was spirited away from there to avoid the threatening mobs and lodged in Lansing jail.

more than ten thousand persons, believing that Hotelling was within, gathered about the county jail, bombarding the place with brickbats. A call for national guardsmen to disperse the gathering was issued by local officials. Hotelling was known in Owosso as an exemplary citizen. Only Sunday, two days after he had dissected the body of the child, he had been honored by eldership in his church. He is the father of five children.

FATE OF PEACE RIVER RAILWAY IS IN BALANCE

New Bids Being Prepared This Week and May be Announcement as to Extensions

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—The fate of the Peace River development is in the balance this week, the heads of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways both being busy preparing new bids for the Alberta railways.

It is understood here that the price to be paid for the railways is not so much at issue as the inclination of the purchaser to build a western outlet and branch lines to sections where development is most rapid.

The bids and any statement that goes with it will possibly forecast any action that is to be taken this year by the Government of Canada in connection with development of the Peace River district. No railway will build a western outlet without Government aid and the Government already has so much railway construction on hand that it may become a burden on the finances to spend more.

GRAIN LOADING IS HOLDING UP

Shipments for This Season to Date Now Compare Evenly With Those for 1926-27

Grain shipments for the season from the Alberta Wheat Pool's Prince Rupert elevator at this date compare about evenly with last year's movement through the port at a similar date. The eleventh boat of the season is now loading here. Last year at a similar date, the eleventh boat was here.

Bad weather has been hampering the loading of the British freighter Levenport but it is expected she will get away tomorrow if there is a moderation. Up to this morning, no information was available as to further charters.

During the past twenty-four hours, a total of one hundred carloads of grain have arrived from the prairies. Railway offices this morning reported 325 cars on the division bound here.

DENIES SALMON ARE DEPLETED

Major Motherwell Urges Cannermen to Put Forth Every Effort to Regulate Gear

VANCOUVER, Jan. 17.—The constant repetition of the assertion that the salmon fisheries in British Columbia waters are being depleted is not justified, in the opinion of Major Motherwell, chief inspector of fisheries for the Pacific Coast. The pack for 1927 was a fair average over a ten year period. The major strongly urges cannermen to put forth every effort towards regulating the amount of gear being used.

Washington Receives Scare Last Night From Attempts to Burn City

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Five major and numerous smaller fires and false alarms kept the fire department on the run from midnight last night until after six this morning, giving the city the greatest scare it has had in years.

Ten companies of firemen came forty miles from Baltimore to aid in quelling the outbreaks. Scores of firemen were overcome by the smoke from the fire in the Woolworth store. There were not ambulances sufficient to carry the falling firemen to the hospitals.

Firebugs are blamed for the outbreaks, the damage being estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

DR. HEUSTIS PASSED AWAY

Famous Divine 92 Years of Age Was Leader in Church Union and 70 Years in Ministry

ST. ANDREWS, N.B., Jan. 17.—Rev. Dr. F. S. Heustis, eminent divine of the former Methodist Church and prominent in the activities leading to the Union of that church with the Presbyterians and Congregationalists, to form the United Church of Canada, died last night. He was 92 years of age and had been in the ministry for 70 years.

That he was held in very high esteem by his church is indicated by the fact that he was elected successively to almost all the official positions within its communion, such as chairman of the district, secretary of the general conference, delegate to all the general conferences of his day, secretary of the Home Mission Board and constant member of the eural Missionary Board, delegate to the Methodist Ecumenical Conference at Washington in 1891, delegate to the Ecumenical Missionary Conference in New York in 1900, and member of the Church Union Committee. Mount Allison conferred the honorary degree of D.D. upon him in 1900.

Besides his daughter, Mrs. Dawson, he is survived by four sons—Rev. Charles H. Heustis, D.D., general secretary of the Fight Preparations Are Being Made for World Championship It Is Announced by Rickard

NEW YORK, January 17.—Tex Rickard today revealed his intention of once more matching Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey in a fifteen round battle in the Yankee Stadium in June or July, the winner to defend his title in September against the winner of the eliminations, among them being Risco, Uzcudun, Delaney, Sharkey and Heeney.

Tunney, who is at present in Miami said "It suits me." Jack Delaney, who is one of the contenders for the championship, knocked out Sully Montgomery in the first twenty seconds of a scheduled ten round bout here last night.

Paulino Uzcudun, another contender, knocked out Ed. Keeley in the second round of a ten round bout.

OTTAWA BUSY FOR OPENING PARLIAMENT

Railway Matters Will Receive Attention at Session and Possibly be Mentioned in Speech

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—Nearness of the forthcoming session of Parliament is manifesting itself in increased activity around Parliament Hill in the number and variety of deputations drawn from all parts of the country, which are arriving here, presenting requests to the cabinet and going their various ways.

The ministers are putting the final touches on departmental estimates, getting them in shape to withstand the cold scrutiny of the Commons. The minister of finance is devoting his time to drafting out budget recommendations.

The speech from the throne is being kept secret but railway legislation is certain. The Government will have to secure confirmation of its deal with the new owners of the Plin Flon mine and the building of a railway to connect it with the Hudson Bay line. It is also possible that the Peace River will receive attention.

SPIES BEING TRIED TODAY

German and Irish American Said to Have Been Instigated by Russia

LONDON, Jan. 17.—George Hanson, a German and Wilfrid F. McCartney, an Irish American both spies charged with attempting to collect information in regard to British forces, particularly the air force, are being tried in camera today.

Attorney General Sir Douglas Hogg said the evidence was such that the public should be excluded from the court.

Yesterday the Attorney-General said that Russia was responsible for instigating the conspiracy.

President Coolidge in Speech at Opening Pan American Congress Defines United States Position

HAVANA, Cuba, January 17.—In a speech keyed to the note of international confidence, helpfulness and goodwill, President Coolidge in opening the sixth Pan-American Congress here yesterday urged the nations of the western hemisphere to join in the task of assuring to all its people the freedom that Columbus bequeathed to them in equal measure.

Journeying outside of his homeland for the first time since he became President, Mr. Coolidge spoke to the distinguished gathering not as the head of a pre-eminently powerful country but as the spokesman of a nation on an equal plane with her sister Republics, trying to find the way to a peaceful solution of whatever problems beset their quest for complete understanding and friendship.

Without mentioning the League of Nations or the Monroe Doctrine, the President assured the Congress that the Pan-American Union "involves no antagonism toward any section of the world or any other organization," but at the same time declared that the nations of the western hemisphere are committed to the principle that they are "better fitted to govern themselves than anyone else is to govern them."

With what appeared to be almost studied intent, Mr. Coolidge refrained from letting any phrases creep into his address that might present a picture of the United States as dominating the political, social and economic development of the American Republics. The name of the United States was not once mentioned by the President except to give the assurance that his government was prepared to encourage the development of shipping, air lines, highways and all pursuits of peace that might bring the various units of the American family of States into a closer and more permanent harmony.

He declared there was no intention in this hemisphere of any nation building up a great military establishment to overawe or subjugate its neighbors, and enunciated the doctrine that all nations of this hemisphere are determined to adjust their differences "not by a resort to force but by the application of the principles of justice and equity."

ALL ON EQUAL FOOTING "All nations here represented," Mr. Coolidge said, "stand on an exact footing of equality. The smallest and the weakest speaks here with the same authority as the largest and the most powerful. You come together under the present condition and future expectation of profound peace. You are continuing to strike a new note in international gatherings by maintaining a forum in which not the selfish interests of a few, but the general welfare of all, will be considered."

Contending that the nations have been charged with the sacred trust of establishing and expanding the spirit of democracy, the President said that although false starts and disappointing reactions will develop, the American republics have placed their confidence in the ultimate wisdom of the people.

"We are thoroughly committed to the principle that they are better fitted to govern themselves than anyone else is to govern them," he said. "We do not claim immediate perfection but we do expect continual progress. Our history reveals that in such expectation we have not been disappointed. It is better for the people to make their own mistakes than to have some one else make their mistakes for them."

POLICY OF PEACE Attachment to the policy of peace, Mr. Coolidge declared, was second (continued on page six)

FARMERS URGE EXTENSION OF LINE TO COAST

EDMONTON, Jan. 17.—Warmly commending the achievement of the provincial department of railways under the administration of Hon. Vernon W. Smith and John Callaghan, deputy minister, in the operation of the Edmonton Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway, Beaver Lodge local of the P.A. has passed a resolution urging the government to proceed with an active policy of urgently needed extensions this year, and asks that the government retain the ownership of the line unless offered its full physical value, coupled with a guarantee of direct Pacific coast connections at an early date. The resolution was carried unanimously, and is said to reflect the general opinion of the U.F.A. locals in the Peace River district.

Other matters of importance will come up but the usual annual report will be dispensed with. The dinner is at 6.30.

TRADE BALANCE STILL LARGE

Canada Continues to Sell More Than She Buys but Exports Dropped off

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—Canada's trade statement will show for the calendar year 1927 a favorable trade balance of $151,668,000. The exports were about $1,235,783,000 and $1,087,116,801.

The favorable balance for 1926 was $275,000,000. Exports for the past year were less than for the previous year and imports greater. Experts express the opinion that the increase in construction is responsible for the change.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

President Coolidge is a silent man. He made a speech yesterday and did not say anything. The Cuban people yelled their heads off for the man who could so well imitate royalty. This is the first sign that the United States is turning aside from the path of strict democracy. From the head of a democratic nation we expect a statement that is liable to lead to discussion. We expect an opinion on something, but the President of the United States in the course of an address running into several columns of newspaper report never committed himself or his party or country to anything. He stuck to platitudes and said nice things about nothing in particular.

CONSOLIDATING PAPER MILLS

Yesterday we told of the consolidation of four of the big paper mills of Eastern Canada. Abitibi swallowed up all the others by acquiring their common stock, which of course is the voting stock. Henceforth the companies will be under one general direction. This is in line with the general tendency of today. Everything is being consolidated. Small concerns are being crowded to the wall. Big concerns are getting bigger. Pretty soon we shall have trained men so well to handle the big enterprises that they may possibly control them for the state. At any rate we are making rapid changes in that direction.

PRACTICAL POETRY OF HARDY

Thomas Hardy, the poet and novelist, died last week, and while his ashes were given to his country to occupy a place in Westminster Abbey along with the nation's great, his heart was sent to the country, there to repose alongside the ashes of his first love. It was a poetic idea. It might even be looked on by some as a posthumous advertising stunt.

MISSIONARIES IN CHINA

Some of the Chinese do not like Christian missionaries in their country. They dislike them as much as Canadians dislike red Russian missionaries in this country. The result is that now and then we hear of threats against missionaries and missions and now and then the threats are carried into action.

While we recognize the bravery and devotion of those who carry one of the messages of the cross into that country, we also have a good deal of sympathy with the people who object to strangers bringing a new faith and new ideals into the country to disturb their complacency. After all the Chinese are not much less tolerant than Canadians.

PAT DALY AGAIN HEARD FROM

We don't know much about the latest deal that Pat Daly has put through in connection with Portland Canal mining, but we do know that this genial Irishman has done possibly more than any other to place Stewart on the map. He uses that Irish tongue and insinuating manner to bring before mining people the wonderful possibilities of a country in which he thoroughly believes. As soon as he has that one going, he will be spreading the news about another property. There is no stopping him. He is perpetual motion so far as spreading the Portland Canal gospel is concerned.

POOL VERSUS PRIVATE DEALERS

The grain dealers and the Pool are engaged in a publicity contest, each putting forth what it believes to be the true condition of affairs in regard to the sale of grain last season. The Pool claims that it got better average prices than the dealers and the dealers claim that the farmers who sold their crop through them were best off. The contest clearly indicates that while figures cannot lie liars can figure. Both cannot be right.

SURVEY OF STRAITS

First Members Appear at Ottawa Which They Get to Look Upon as Home

(By R. J. Deachman)
OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—This country is growing. If it suffers from anything, it is growing pains. Looking back over the period of the life of the average man, tremendous changes have taken place. In the days of Laurier, people fainted at the idea of a budget of $40,000,000. In fact Sir Richard Cartwright was extremely critical when expenditures reached $30,000,000. He may have been right at that, but the man who now revisits those glimpses of the moon will find less alarm over expenditures of approximately ten times the outlay which worried a Cartwright and a Laurier, but after all, it is no great cause for alarm. The teacher of the little red school-house in those days pulled down a salary of three hundred dollars a year. He paid 10c for his noon-day lunch. The maintenance of his car was not expensive. Christmas presents did not worry him very much—the times have changed, and we with the times. And so, when announcements are made that certain expenditures are contemplated, no one now turns a hair. These things are needed. We are going ahead with them. They will be done. Prescott is to be the new terminal on the St. Lawrence River. This comes from the deepening of the Welland Canal which will enable boats to pass through the whole stretch of Lake Ontario and well down into the St. Lawrence before breaking cargo. Terminal facilities will be needed there for the handling of grain and a fairly generous appropriation may be expected this year. The aerial survey of the Hudson's Straits must have chilled the pessimist. The Straits were apparently open this year, almost as long as the St. Lawrence. Montreal which has been fervently praying that they might freeze up eleven months of the year instead of six or seven, has been terribly annoyed and the Hon. Charles Dunning, who has been advocating the retention of a bit of faith in the Northern Waterway for a number of years, smiles serenely and rubs it in gently, by casually remarking "There are the facts, the survey speaks for itself, now what are you going to do about it?" We are making a more determined effort than ever before to move grain by Canadian routes. Ceasing to talk about it and actually doing something may cause astonishment, but it holds out greater possibilities of accomplishment.

THEY COME

The first members of Parliament have drifted into town ready for the Session. They are the advance guard, like straw hats on the first of May—weeks in advance of the opening of the session. They are lonely but the numbers will increase. The old town is a great magnet, it draws them back. As the years go on, they think of it more and more and then finally there comes a ruddy glow to their hopes and the member who has faced the people several times goes to his long home in the Senate and the smile breathes his face—it's Home, Sweet Home, to Him.

BERNARD SHAW TO PLAYWRIGHTS

Gives Them Few Rules for Their Own Guidance in Submitting Manuscripts

LONDON, Jan. 17.—George Bernard Shaw, deluged with requests to "read" unacted first plays, has taken "$12,000 worth of time" off from writing his own plays to draft a form letter on "what a young playwright should do with his first play." This he now encloses with each play, all of which go back to their authors by the very first post.

"As a beginner generally begins by doing the wrong thing, it is necessary to tell him at once what not to do," is the promise outlined by Mr. Shaw. "First, and very emphatically do not send your play to anyone but a manager. Above all, do not send it to your favorite playwright with a request that he will read it. The reasons for this piece of advice are:

"(a) That nobody but a manager can produce it.
"(b) That if your play contains a valuable dramatic motive, every born playwright who reads it will assimilate it and use it himself, consciously or unconsciously.
"(c) That his opinion, if unfavorable, may discourage you needlessly, as he knows no more than you do what the public will fancy.
"(d) That when managers come to him, they come for his own plays and would be infuriated if he advised them to try a beginner instead.
"(e) That as dramatic authorship is a public profession the business appropriate to them is not conducted by private introductions and influence, but is transacted in the open market in which the demand for promising plays is greater than the supply.
"(f) That when an introduction is superfluous, it is mischievous and often extremely annoying, as it robs the manager of such credit and gratitude as to the discovery of a new genius."

EAGLES ATTACK AEROPLANES

Number of Encounters are Reported by British Pilots

CROYDON, England, Jan. 17.—Eagles, started by invasion of their aerial precincts, have become a menace to flyers in Europe. Bird societies of the British Isles and associations of airmen alike have set out to collect information which it is hoped will help aviators to protect themselves from danger of attack by the birds.

Some of the adventures of aviators with eagles have been harrowing in the extreme, even to the point of fatality. The eagle seems to have no fear of an airplane much bigger than itself.

A British aviator was flying high over a chain of hills in misty weather when he saw a great bird dashing straight at his plane. Without slackening speed the eagle dove for the plane and collided with the propeller, breaking it to pieces. The eagle was killed, but the aviator was in great difficulties in having to make a forced landing in awkward country.

Another British pilot encountered a huge eagle over a mountain range. The eagle flew around the plane in circles, growing ever less in diameter, evidently trying to pick out the most vulnerable part of the plane for an attack. The pilot moved his head, and this caught the eye of the eagle, who prepared for the swoop. The pilot remembered a pistol in the locker near his seat. He drew it and fired. He did not hit the eagle, but he frightened it and the big bird flew away.

PUGNACIOUS VARIETY
The mountains behind Athens contain eagles of particularly pugnacious character. An aeroplane was flying over the mountains recently when several eagles swooped down and attacked it simultaneously. Their dashes at the machine so crippled it that the pilot was forced to descend quickly, and landed so badly that he and a passenger were injured.

A pilot flying from Paris to Madrid met an eagle which apparently challenged him to a high flying contest. The bird soared, and so did the plane. Higher and higher they went, until the eagle's wings began to flag and its strength failed. The eagle suddenly stretched out its wings and sailed away to earth, leaving the plane master.

Even smaller birds, such as swallows, evince no fear of a plane, according to other British pilots.

MARCIL IS NOT ONE TO ATTACK

Himself Went to France and Was Given Honors When Catholics Were Persecuted There

(Nelson News)

Hon. Charles Marcil, a distinguished Quebec member of parliament and a former deputy-speaker, is attacking Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National railways, for consenting to make a report for the Mexican government upon the Mexican railways, asking the ground that Mexico's alleged mistreatment of its Catholic citizens made acceptance by a Canadian official impossible.

The genial and able French-Canadian statesman is now setting up for Sir Henry Thornton a standard he has not applied to himself.

Twenty years ago France, then very largely dominated by infidelity, was pursuing just the same course toward the Catholics that the Mexican government is, confiscating, banning, and generally earning opprobrium from the Catholic world. What did Mr. Marcil do? As he himself tells in the "Parliamentary Guide," he went to France, made a critical study of French parliamentary institutions, and accepted at the hands of the French government a knighthood in the Legion of Honor.

There was, of course, not any real reason why Mr. Marcil should not admitted that France had its good points, and have accepted any honor the government of that country had to bestow.

Equally there is no reason any Canadian, in either public or private life, for international reasons should not do any expert service for the Mexican government he is able to, no reason whatever—and especially is this so if he conceives that his service will contribute to the making of good relations. Criticism of Sir Henry for this particular act cannot validly rest on this basis.

Washington D. C.—THE NATIONAL MUSEUM in this city has devoted an entire section to an historical exhibit of His Master's Voice gramophones invented, designed and presented by Mr. Emile Berliner, inventor of the first disc gramophone.

In addition to the exhibit of instruments there is a complete exhibit of records. Each instrument and each record shows represents a distinct step forward in the talking machine art, and each item is the first unit of its particular kind made.

The exhibit contains first records and first instruments complete from 1887 to 1904, and is said to be the most comprehensive exhibit of gramophones in various stages of development ever gathered together in any museum.

RUSSIANS AT GENEVA CAUSED SOME FUSS AS RESULT POLICE EFFORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—With the return of officials who attended the recent meeting of the League of Nations at Geneva, an interesting story has come to light regarding the visit of the Russian delegation, which started and puzzled the conference by proposing immediate and complete disarmament by all nations.

The delegation was housed in a well-known hotel. With the recollection of the assassin's visit in Geneva two years ago, the authorities determined there should be no depiction of the incident. The hotel where the Russians lived was picketed throughout with detectives and guards, and special officers followed the Russians everywhere they went. The Russians were allotted a special dining room and took their meals under guard.

Fear of a stray bullet, coupled with the disturbance of the accustomed quiet of the house, led many guests to change their hotel. The Canadian delegation had reserved quarters there and they arrived in the middle of the fuss. Senator Dandurand was advised not to live there. He did not change his quarters however. He is said to have remarked: "If we do get a bullet intended for somebody else, I suppose Canada will be entitled to apologies."

LONDON SOLICITORS JOIN "UNDERWORLD"

When "Struck Off the Rolls" They are Inclined to Keep on the Down Grade

LONDON, Jan. 17.—What becomes of solicitors who, through professional malpractice, are "struck off the rolls"? A proportion of them, it is to be feared, join the underworld more or less rapidly. Hitherto, however, it has been fairly easy for such a one to make a living by becoming employed with firms of solicitors. This latter practice, though, will be gravely interfered with if the Solicitors' Bill, now before Parliament, becomes law.

The bill, which is backed by all three parties, provides that without the written permission of the Law Society no solicitor shall employ or remunerate any person, who, to the knowledge of such solicitor, is struck off the roll of solicitors or is suspended from practicing as a solicitor. Power is given the society to deal with any breach of this prohibition, which does not apply to a solicitor struck off at his own request. Penalties are provided for any "struck off" person who seeks or accepts employment with a solicitor without disclosing the fact that he has been struck off or suspended.

NEW ORCHESTRA FOR REGIMENT

Large Organization Planned and First Practice Held Last Night at Armories

The newest musical organization in the city and one that promises to become an important factor in the life of the community has been launched under the auspices of the First Battalion North B.C. Regiment. This is a Regiment Concert Orchestra. It held its first practice last night at the Armories, eighteen strong, under the leadership of Professor A. H. Pryce, and a number more applications to join and inquiries have been received, the prospect being that the orchestra will attain considerable proportions. All the members present last night were men but a number of ladies have made inquiries and it is proposed to form a mixed orchestra admitting ladies as well as men. No fee is asked of those attending, only a pledge of faithful adherence to duty and a determination to practice regularly. So far there are six violins, a cello, sax-phones, cornets, trombones, bass, clarinets, drums, and piano. More stringed instruments are desired as well as flute and clarinet.

AMATEUR BROADCASTING

Editor Daily News. In the interest of amateur radio, we wish to correct the false impression left by your editorial in Saturday's issue dealing with amateur interference and transmission of fake distress signals.

In the first place, we wish to point out that fifty per cent of the radio interference today, is caused by the listeners themselves, through re-radiating sets; bloopers or squealers as they are sometimes called; not mentioning static, power leaks, violet-ray machines, and countless other modern devices of such nature; which constitute interference of the worst kind. In no small degree either is the interference caused by commercial ship and coast stations. This is very trying and taxes a person's patience to the limit, especially when these stations are close in.

Moreover, the said stations invariably operate on a wave which is in close proximity, and often within the broadcast band itself. They use, too, transmitters of the spark type which emit a very broad wave in comparison to the continuous wave sets used by amateurs and broadcasting stations.

The greater majority of the radio amateurs to-day, operate on wave lengths of 80 meters and below, which are over 100 meters below the broadcast band itself. Therefore it is highly improbable for any amateur to cause interference with the broadcast listeners.

With reference to the transmission of fraudulent distress signals, may we state that it is an offence punishable by law (see Radiotelegraph Act, Chap. 43, Per. 7) and subjects the station to a heavy fine or imprisonment, as well as cancellation of its license. Now these licenses are not issued haphazardly to "young boys and others," but are only obtained after having passed an official examination given by the Government Radio Inspector. A radio amateur values his license and certificate very highly, and is not very desirous of suffering the disgrace of losing it, through abusing his privileges, as intimated in your editorial.

Regarding the signals you mentioned as received from the S.S. Griffico; they were spark signals and within the Commercial band. It is absolutely prohibited for any amateur station to use a transmitter of this type, and as far as amateur signals being in the other bands, it is impossible.

Since it has been shown that amateur interference in the broadcast band is highly improbable, and very seldom occurs; and since the commercial band is above the broadcast band, therefore it is evident indeed that Amateur interference on Commercial bands is positively absurd.

among the nations of this hemisphere only to the attachment to the principle of self-government.

"Their chief efforts have been devoted to the arts of peace," he continued. "They have never come under the delusion of military grandeur. Nowhere among these republics have great military establishments ever been maintained for the purpose of overawing or subjugating other nations.

"We have all nourished a commendable sentiment of moderate preparation for national defense, believing that for a nation to be unreasonably neglectful of the military art, even if it did not invite and cause such aggression as to result either in war or in abject humiliation, it must finally lead to a disastrous disintegration of the very fiber of the nation. But it is one thing to be prepared to defend our rights as a last extremity and quite another to rely on force where reason ought to prevail.

EXTEND HUMAN FREEDOM

"The form of our governments guarantees us against the Old World dynastic wars. It is scarcely too much to say that the conflicts which have been waged by our republics for 150 years have been almost entirely for the purpose of securing independence and extending the domain of human freedom. When these have been accomplished, we have not failed to heed the admonition to beat our swords into plowshares."

President were highways, railroad lines, ocean lines, transportation of mail by air and the press of all countries. He noted that "great progress has been made in the publication of fuller information and unbiased views," but he expressed the hope for a still better exchange of news service between the various countries, contending that "what happens in this hemisphere is of more vital interest to all of us than what happens across any of the oceans."

Mr. Coolidge portrayed his interest in the development of shipping between North and South America and the construction of railroads and highways to serve as feeders. He disclosed that he is asking the United States Congress for authority to send American engineering advisers to whatever Central and South American nations request their services.

AIR MAIL ROUTES

He predicted that air mail routes will be established soon and told the conference that the American Congress was considering supporting such routes and that private citizens of the United States were considering their establishment.

"In the domain of commercial relations," the President added, "the last few years have witnessed an extraordinary strengthening of the economic ties binding together our Republics. In both agricultural and industrial production the countries of America are now complementing one another to an unusual degree, resulting in an increasing exchange of commodities."

Although he did not name the Tacna-Arica boundary dispute, Mr. Coolidge did point to the "delicate and difficult nature" of boundary problems and declared that the past record of achievement in this respect "places heavy responsibility upon the present generation to advance the great work that has been so auspiciously begun."

Finally, President Coolidge commended to the Congress a discussion of means to bring "all of our people more definitely and more completely" under the reign of law.

"After all," he said, "it is in that direction that we must look with the greatest assurance for human progress. We can make no advance in the realm of economics, we can do nothing for education, we can accomplish but little even in the sphere of religion, until human affairs are brought within the orderly rule of law."

"The surest refuge of the weak and the oppressed is in the law. It is pre-eminently the shield of small nations."

"While the law is necessary for the proper guidance of human action, and will always remain the source of freedom and liberty and the ultimate guaranty of all our rights, there is another element in our experience which must always be taken into consideration. We read that 'The letter killeth but the spirit giveth life.' Often-times in our international relationship we shall have to look to the spirit rather than to the letter of the law. We shall have to realize that the highest law is consideration, co-operation, friendship, and charity."

HARBOR OF JUSTICE

"The light which Columbus followed has not failed. The courage that carried him on still lives. They are the heritage of the people of Bolivar and of Washington. We must lay our voyage of exploration toward complete understanding and friendship. Having taken that course, we must not be turned aside by the fears of the timid, the counsels of the ignorant, or the designs of the malevolent.

"With law and charity as our guides, with that ancient faith which is only strengthened when it requires sacrifices, we shall anchor at last in the harbor of justice and truth. The same pilot which stood by the side of the Great Discoverer, and the same wisdom which instructed the roving fathers of our republics, will continue to abide with us."
