Prayer Book Issue Is Cause Of Trouble In Church Of England

Seditious Conspiracy Charged Against Archbishops and Bishops Who Permitted Changes Contrary to Vote of Parliament

LONDON, October 9.—A statement issued last night by the League of Loyal Churchmen in connection with the policy of the bishops toward the rejected prayer book charges the bishops with "seditious conspiracy." It declares that although the House of Commons twice rejected the prayer book, the archbishops and bishops of the Church of England officially declared their policy in sanctioning and promoting the use of the rejected book of 1928. "Thus they committed and inaugurated seditious conspiracy," the statement asserts.

Premier Baldwin is called upon to defend the constitution and take measures to bring the offenders to justice.

HONORS FOR BISHOP RIX

New Head of Caledonia Diocese Given Degree of Doctor of Divinity at Wycliffe

At the annual convocation of Wycliffe College, Toronto, the degrees of doctor of divinity were conferred upon Right Rev. George Alexander Rix, Bishop of Caledonia, and Right Rev. Peter Yone-taro Matsui, Bishop of Tokio, Japan.

Rev. Dr. Cody presented Bishop Rix, and outlined the career of his former classmate. Dr. Cody pointed out that every member of the class of '93 had distinguished himself and that the present Bishop of Caledonia had had a most remarkable and brilliant career. On the conclusion of Dr. Cody's remarks Bishop Rix was given his degree and then signed the Golden Book amid the applause of the large audience which filled the hall.

Bishop Rix in his reply said he believed the college was of the greatest importance to the welfare of the church. The college became known through the men who graduated and made a name for themselves throughout the country. In the bishopric of Caledonia, he declared, there were greater opportunities for work than might exist possibly in any other part of the country. He urged the young students of the college to make their careers in western Canada where they were needed even though they might not find there the advantages of other localities.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Canadians, whether born in Canada or elsewhere may live in Canada and work in the United States unhindered by existing U.S. immigration laws. WINNIPEG, Oct. 9.—"Importation of fruit in Canada is being carefully checked and watched having in mind the B.C. fruit industry," stated the minister of pensions and national health, Hon. J. H. King, who is here en route to the coast.

Salmon Pack Heaviest On Record In District

Total Pack is 1,186,734 Cases, Ahead of 1926 Which Held Previous Record for Quantity

It is now assured that the canned salmon pack for the 1928 season in District No. 2, of which Prince Rupert is the centre, will be the heaviest on record. On September 22, representing the bulk of the present season's production, the pack stood at 1,186,734 cases as compared with 1,162,785 cases at a similar date in 1926 when the heaviest pack ever recorded on the coast was made. The pack on the entire coast this season up to September 22 was 1,414,259 cases as compared with 1,537,968 cases at the corresponding date in 1926.

The sockeye pack in District No. 2, like other districts, was light this season with the heavier packs of pinks, cohoes and chums making up the deficiency.

Net fishing in Graham Island and Skidegate waters was closed for the season about the middle of October. The only net fishing continuing in District No. 2 at that time was gill netting on the Skeena River west of Port Essington.

MORRISSEY NOW COMING TONIGHT

Stoll-McCracken Expedition Expected to Reach Prince Rupert This Evening from Arctic Regions.

Latest word received by amateur radio station 5GT from the auxiliary schooner Effie M. Morrissey, Capt. Robert Bartlett, which is bringing the Stoll-McCracken expedition back to civilization after having spent the summer exploring in the Arctic Ocean, is to the effect that the vessel will arrive in port some time this evening. After having been anchored off Langara Island almost all day yesterday on account of unfavorable winds, the vessel got under way again last evening and at 10 o'clock reported herself as being about 90 miles out. Depending on her sail, the schooner is making very slow progress.

The dinner to be given the explorers has been postponed until Friday evening.

At noon today the Morrissey reported her position as off Triple Island lighthouse, Capt Bartlett communicating that he expected to arrive late tonight or early tomorrow morning. As a west wind has sprung up this afternoon, it is believed locally that the vessel may possibly be in by early evening.

WELCOME EXPLORERS HOME

The Stoll-McCracken exploration party is welcome back after their summer of adventure and arduous exploratory work. They are being entertained jointly by the Board of Trade and the Women's Canadian Club at a dinner and undoubtedly every person who is entitled to attend will do so if possible.

When the party went north they were entertained here and Harold McCracken promised to stop off on his return and again meet the people. He is carrying out his promise. Prince Rupert people, give them a hearty welcome.

SELLING HYDRO-ELECTRIC

We are glad to know from the mayor that negotiations are proceeding satisfactorily for the sale of the local hydro-electric power plant to a strong financial company and that there is a prospect that development work will proceed in the near future with some more ambitious power installation which will adequately meet the needs of the community.

We suggest, however, that the city should not sell for the sake of getting rid of the plant and franchise but should do so only if the deal is perfectly satisfactory. The city will have to give the final decision by vote. If a good deal is made they will be pretty sure to give their sanction to the sale but there must be a definite undertaking in regard to provision of adequate power and also as to rates.

MAYOR OPTIMISTIC

Mayor McMordie is very optimistic as to the future of the city. So are most people today. There is a generally changed feeling toward this matter. Those who a few years ago could see little chance of permanent advancement, today feel that there is improvement coming. This improvement will be steady but sure, we think, but of course there may be flurry one of these days, similar to what other cities have had.

U.S. ELECTION NEXT BIG EVENT

The United States election is the next big event scheduled for this continent. Both sides are claiming victory and doubtless neither can claim the victory as won just now.

For the first time in years the south as a whole has become a battleground in the presidential campaign. The most vigorous effort since reconstruction days is being made by Democratic leaders to induce voters to go to the polls in November in support of Governor Alfred E. Smith for president and Senator Joseph T. Robinson for vice-president.

Equal endeavor has been put forth by those favoring the Republican nominees. States which usually witness little or no campaign for the Republican ticket, this year see Hoover and Curtis clubs organized along state and county lines.

In some states, self-styled "anti-Smith Democrats," many of whom are opposed to Smith's stand on prohibition, have withdrawn their support from the national ticket and announced their intention to seek the election of a "dry" candidate for president, irrespective of party lines. Some among this group openly have aligned themselves with Republican forces in the national campaign. Others, however, have emphasized that while they are working for the election of Hoover, they will vote for dry Democratic congressional and state candidates.

This November will mark a departure, if present indications prove true, from the perfunctory voting which has made presidential elections heretofore largely a formality in the traditionally "solid south."

Our greatest asset

THE material progress of our Province is known the world over. We speak with pride... and rightly... of its vast natural resources awaiting conversion into merchandise and wealth. We take the figures of ten years ago and compare them with those of today... and the world agrees that our progress... considering our population... has been the brightest feature in the recovery of the British Empire from the war.

And if this progress, of which we are so justly proud, is to continue, does not the most vital force of this country lie in our children? Some day, they will take the helm. Events will follow their judgment, skill and decision. THEY ARE OUR GREATEST ASSET!

The Boy of today is the Man of to-morrow... the Girl, the future Mother of our citizens.

On us rests the responsibility of shaping their formative years so that when we hand over the reins, they may carry on the Torch of Progress, undimmed.

How have we met our responsibility? Can we look Young British Columbia in the eye with the feeling that all will be well with the future of the province for which we have planned so carefully and labored so faithfully?

SURELY!

In the last ten years our school population has grown from 64,570 to 101,688... 58%. We have 1,065 schools manned by 3,396 thoroughly trained, competent teachers... an increase of 31.7% and 71% respectively!

Recently we have established special vocational schools for our girls and boys, where they may be fitted for those occupations for which they have a natural bent.

Higher education is amply provided for at our University of British Columbia, where two thousand students are now enrolled, the majority studying for their degree in Science and Agriculture.

And to the school training of our children we add the powerful influence of Home, the religious and other organizations, each of which is contributing its full measure of the physical, mental and character upbuilding of our dearest, most treasured asset... OUR CHILDREN!

With confidence and faith we will hand over our beloved Province's future when the time comes!

Read these announcements and understand your province's progress... clip them out and send them to friends. If you desire extra copies of these announcements a note to this newspaper will bring them to your Province!

FIRESIDE CLUB REORGANIZES

Members of the Baptist Fireside Club met in good numbers last evening for the purpose of re-organizing the work for the ensuing fall and winter season. Rev. W. F. Price was in the chair. Various officers and committees were appointed, and a number of suggestions for a program of subjects for the meeting were received and considered. These indicate that a very interesting and helpful session will result—debates, lectures, literary evenings, stunt night and social gatherings figure in the plans that are in contemplation. One meeting per month is to be definitely devotional in character. It was decided to commence the regular meetings with a social on Monday next.

LOCAL CITIZEN EVOLVES SCHOOL OF ART ALL HIS OWN; PROVIDES CITY WITH MUCH VALUABLE PUBICITY

Life of Morte Harley Craig Makes Interesting Story—Became Artist by Accident in Dawson

From the commercial point of view, Morte Harley Craig, of this city, has done, perhaps, more than his share in "putting Prince Rupert on the map."

Possibly, not many who are acquainted with Mr. Craig, who was born in California and raised in St. Joseph, Missouri, and his works know that his artistic career was started by an accident, that thirty years ago he was a thriving mining engineer with a large clientele and field in Denver, Colorado, that he started earning his living as a railroad man and rose in that business to the post of cashier in a large Pacific coast city and later was a divisional superintendent in the northwest states.

But all this is but to lead up to the story of how Mr. Craig happened to become an artist and how, in that line of work, he has been so successful—so successful, in fact, that people of this city, in their familiarity, may not be appreciative. Were Mr. Craig carrying on his profession in some larger city, he would probably be much more greatly capitalized. In fact, he has, no doubt, known his work to be much more greatly capitalized than it is here.

As is often the case with genius in many lines, Mr. Craig had no schooling in the artistry which was to become so notable a life work for him. Though he was a draftsman, even he himself did not realize that he was an artist. He left his flourishing mining engineering business in Denver for Dawson, going over the "Trail of '98," as so many others did, on sheer impulse. And it was to come about that Mr. Craig was not to be made or broken, as it was said the North would do, but to be remade, at least so far as his profession and such important material matters were concerned.

Commenced in Dawson

It was a simple pen and ink sketch that a friend once saw hanging on the wall of his home in Dawson that turned Mr. Craig from his work of mining engineer to that of artist. The Ski Club was to hold the first big banquet ever given in Dawson and they wanted a banquet card. Mr. Craig was asked if he could make the cards for two hundred or so guests, and he said he would try. Dawson was not slow in appreciating Mr. Craig's talents and, to make a long story short, that mining camp kept him at his desk from that day on—until he too "went out."

It is something of a school of his own that Mr. Craig these last thirty years has developed in the way of art and his ingenuity has done much to carry the name and fame of the city of Prince Rupert to many parts of the continent—even over the world—principally by means of the unique type of illuminated address that he has devised.

By his own original means, Mr. Craig has revolutionized to large extent the familiar and sometimes cheap article known as an illuminated address. The ordinary illuminated address, elaborate as it sometimes may be, is a document that is soon pigeon-holed or forgotten. But not so with Mr. Craig's address. Even his simplest scroll of welcome has something of the ornate, something of the unique, about it. And when Mr. Craig spends days, as he very often has done, in producing something of this kind, simply "fire etching on skins in lights and shades" as he is pleased to call it, something to be prized, something to be treasured even by the greatest man, hardened to a multitude of honors, has been produced. Such has been the case with Mr. Craig and it has been by this means that documents this city has had him make with which to honor distinguished visitors have these many years, in ancestral home, in chamber of state or what not, been hung in conspicuous places to ever show to the world or, commercially speaking, to advertise the place from which it originated. And, if from no other than a business standpoint, Prince Rupert owes to Mr. Craig something in the form of a debt—for any work he may have done, though paid for at the time, has probably, by its results, been cheap at any price.

To Honor Visitors

Since Mr. Craig came to Prince Rupert in 1910, there has hardly been a personage of any prominence visiting the place who has not been sent on his way without some example of Mr. Craig's artistry as a perpetual reminder of Prince Rupert and a memento which has in many cases been greatly prized. How some of these souvenirs were received and what has subsequently happened to them has often proven interesting.

MORTE H. CRAIG

Who has built up a school of artistry all his own in Prince Rupert.

The first important scroll of welcome, and it is hardly doing it justice to call it by that name, made in Prince Rupert by Mr. Craig and one of his outstanding works in this city was that which was presented to Sir Wilfrid Laurier when that statesman visited here back in the boom days of 1910 before the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway was completed to this port. It was a full sized moose skin having etched thereon as its principal motif a chariot and mythological horse figuratively trampling down the mountains and bringing the railway in. Visitors to the old Laurier home in Ottawa, later presented to the Liberal party of Canada, may still see this wonderful work of art, entitled "The Spirit of Laurier," adorning its walls. It is still doing yeoman service in advertising this city and keeping it before the public eye.

Another outstanding work of Mr. Craig's was a scroll in the form of a moose hide book which was presented in 1912 to the Duke of Connaught, then Governor General of Canada. Even on the rostrum where it was presented to the royal visitor, the beauty and uniqueness of the thing so appealed to Princess Patricia that she violated all rules of etiquette and stooped down no less than three times to examine it. In any case, the presentation made such an impression upon the Duke that he immediately expressed it to the King in England. Doubtless, it is still a cherished souvenir in the home of Prince Arthur. It took Mr. Craig twenty-one days to make.

Baron Byng of Vimy, when he came here as Governor General, was presented with a full sized moose skin, measuring six by eight feet, beautifully etched. After he returned to England, his tenure of office as Governor General completed, Baron Byng had this skin stretched and framed in mahogany and, before a fireplace in this great soldier's home, it stands as a lasting memento of the uniqueness of the honor he received in Prince Rupert.

What Willington Saw

visiting here about eighteen months ago, was presented with one of Mr. Craig's unique lampshades of white caribou skin with three transparent panels, one containing an aerial view of Prince Rupert, another a picture of the halibut fleet and the third the address of welcome. His Excellency, before a local audience, said that he had received fifteen illuminated addresses on that particular tour but the one he had been presented with here was by far the most unique and memorable. It would always be kept as a cherished souvenir, Lord Willington promised.

Another full-sized moose hide address by Mr. Craig was chosen for presentation to Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., D.S.O., when that distinguished soldier returned to his home in Prince Rupert from overseas. When Col. Peck moved to Vancouver Island it is needless to say that this was one household ornament he would not part with. It still decorates his home in the south and Col. Peck is as proud of this souvenir as Prince Rupert was of him when he returned home after his glorious military career.

Countless other addresses of welcome, just as unique, have been made by Mr. Craig since he turned out his first in Dawson for presentation to Hon. Frank Oliver who paid a visit to the Territory. Another local scroll which comes to mind was that presented to Sir Richard McBride in 1912. It still adorns the drawing room of the widow's home in Victoria.

"The Clarion Sound of a Soft, Sweet Voice" was the title of a unique recruiting poster which Mr. Craig designed during the Great War. Its fame spread so rapidly and the thing was so effective that the French people copied the design and translated the words for use in the Old Country. Copies of this poster are still produced on Armistice Day here and the original hangs in the local clubrooms of the Canadian Legion.

As late as a month ago, Archbishop DePencier of Vancouver was presented with a simple scroll made by Mr. Craig. The Metropolitan of British Columbia said: "There is not a man in the south who can do such work." He could have as accurately said that not another man in the world could do it for Mr. Craig's artistry is nothing if not distinctive and unique to himself. And being unique to himself, it is unique to Prince Rupert—even if local citizens do not generally realize it.
