U. S. SENATE APPROVES PEACE PACT

GERMAN PAPERS STATE BRITAIN SCORED IN AFGHANISTAN

Only One Dissentient in U.S. Senate Yesterday When Vote Is Taken on Kellogg Peace Treaty

President Coolidge Considers Pact the Most Important Subject Before Senate During His Administration, He Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The senate yesterday ratified the Kellogg peace treaty by a vote of 85 to one. Senator John Blain, Republican of Wisconsin, cast the only adverse vote.

Chairman Borah before the vote read the report of the foreign relations committee, saying that the treaty in no way impaired the right of self-defense of any nation. The committee's understanding was that the Monroe doctrine was considered part of the United States security and part of its system of self-defense. The vote was made possible by Senator Borah acceding to the interpretationists' demand for a report by the foreign relations committee placing its construction upon the pact. Senator Borah yielded after inserting in the report that it was not to be considered a reservation.

President Coolidge believes the Kellogg treaty the most important subject to come before the senate during his administration. He believes the treaty will do more to stabilize conditions, express the sentiments of the world and increase the probability of permanent peace than any other act within his knowledge. He regards the treaty as an answer to any criticism that the United States had motives of aggression against any nation.

NAVAL BILL IS BEFORE U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Immediately following the ratification of the Kellogg peace pact by the senate yesterday, the bill providing for the building of additional cruisers for the United States navy was introduced. Strong opposition to the movement is promised.

LIBERALS TO MEET MONDAY

Executive At Vancouver Will Choose Leader Prior to Opening of House

VANCOUVER, Jan. 16.—A number of important matters will be discussed by the Liberal members when they meet here Saturday preparatory to the meeting of the Liberal executive Monday. Their attitude toward the party leadership will have considerable effect on the issue when it comes before the larger organization.

While it is generally expected that T. D. Pattullo, member for Prince Rupert and former minister of lands, will be chosen by the executive to lead the party until a provincial convention is called, there is a possibility of Vancouver interests being strong enough to force the choice of Ian McKenzie. The choice will be made in time for the leader to take his proper place in the legislature at its opening Tuesday.

APPROVE PLANS POWER COMPANY

Hon. J. C. Elliott, Hon. Charles Stewart and Hon. P. J. A. Cardin heard all day heated arguments by rival power companies and marine interests. Their opponents charged, among other things, that development would interfere with the St. Lawrence navigation.

Brutal Treatment Is Alleged by Sanford Clark Which Cowed Him Into Assisting in Murder

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Jan. 16.—A story of alleged brutal treatment which cowed him to the point of assisting in the slaying of two unsuspecting young boys with axes was told to the jury yesterday by the 15-year-old nephew of Gordon Northcott, Sanford Clark.

The lad declined to recognize by so much as a glance the presence of Northcott in the courtroom. Sanford exhibited to the jury scars on his head and body, which, he declared, were the result of injuries inflicted by Northcott with a club, belt, or anything at all, with a knife and with boiling water.

Late King Openly Sided With Soviet Before His Removal From Office, Declared German Newspapers Yesterday

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—Several newspapers yesterday expressed the belief that in the fall of King Amanullah of Afghanistan, Great Britain won important diplomatic ground at the expense of Moscow.

Deutsche Allegemeine affirms that from the moment Amanullah openly sided with Russia, it was clear that Britain should not permit victory by him over the rebels.

Other newspapers repeated that Colonel T. N. E. Lawrence had been concerned in the affair. Official denials have been made of the reports that Colonel Lawrence was working in any way in the Afghanistan situation.

Russell, municipal clerk of Coquitlam, who was found dead, a bullet wound in his head on the morning of January 7 at the foot of Begbie Street, the coroner's jury returned an open verdict. There is no tangible evidence to offer to substantiate conclusively either the suicide or murder theory.

Around The World With Sport Fans

(By The Tramp)

There is great rejoicing in Vancouver over the defeat of their young hero Jimmie McLarnin who handed such a whaling to Joe Glick a few days ago.

Incidents of the past outdoor tennis season are recalled by a cable from France in which the dissatisfaction of Henri Cochet over his treatment during the Forest Hills tournament is cited. During the matches, in which Cochet won the United States singles championship, partisan crowds roared strongly for Cochet's opponents, and made some very unsportsmanlike remarks. Cochet afterwards came here for an exhibition match, following which he made the statement that the spectators here were immeasurably fairer than those in the United States, whose actions he had found very disconcerting while playing. The Paris cable carries the matter farther. An article by Cochet is quoted in which the French star also expresses disappointment at the organization and the court conditions.

Burns Lake won six to three over Fraser Lake in the first hockey game of the season between these two teams which was recently played at Fraser Lake. A return match will be played at Burns Lake in the near future. Teams in the opening game were: Burns Lake—Taylor Jensen in goal; Joe Kerr, right defense; Jack Mowat, left defence; John McKenna, centre; H. Donaldson, right wing; Wm. McKenna, left wing; Ted Greenwood, spare. Fraser Lake—Walt Morley in goal; Earl Bennett, right defense; Ivan Black, left defence; Cecil LeDuke, centre; Keith Peters, right wing; Aleck Peters, left wing.

Cecil LeDuke scored the three goals tallied by Fraser Lake and for Burns Lake John McKenna for Burns Lake John McKenna Joe Kerr, one; Jack Mowat, one; H. Donaldson, one.

Hampered by the loss of stars through failure at examinations, sickness and other causes, the Varsity Senior "A" basketball team, champions of Western Canada and leaders in the Vancouver and District league without a defeat, have decided to disband for the season. An attempt was made to keep the team together by playing under the name of the V.A.C., but complications such as residence rule and other problems arose which made the players decide that it was best to disband. It is quite likely that several of the players will be found with other Vancouver teams. The dropping of such a strong aggregation is a severe blow to the Vancouver league as it cuts the circuit to five teams and means rearranging the schedule once more. It means the breaking up of one of the best teams that has represented British Columbia in recent years.

SLOW STARTERS HOCKEY LEAGUE COMING TO FORE

TORONTO, Jan. 16.—The slow starters are having their innings in the National Hockey League. Boston and Canadiens climbed into second places in their divisions last night. Boston beat the Rangers for their seventh straight win. Mantha scored the winning goal for the Canadiens against Chicago in the first minute of the game.

The following were the scores: Chicago 0, Canadiens 1. Ottawa 1, N. Y. Americans 1. N. Y. Rangers 1, Boston 4.

GLIDER CLUBS BEING FORMED

(Edmonton Journal)

With the opening of a glider factory in Ottawa, which already has orders from citizens of the capital, Canada gets its first introduction to a new sport. Gliding, in the days to come, probably will supplant tobogganing or hiking among the young men and women of the Dominion. It has all the thrill of ski-jumping, with the "jump" stretched out into miles.

Gliding, which is aerial navigation without motive power, was born and developed in Germany. It has reached its greatest vogue in that country but so fascinating a sport is it, that its spread through all the world has been predicted. Already glider clubs have been formed in the states, and now it has made its appearance in Canada.

Gliders are really light aeroplanes. The best type have a larger wing-spread than the small plane, such as the Moth or Avian, which Edmonton now knows so well. They are very light, have no motor, and are kept in air by skillful manipulation of the pilot, who makes use of every air current. The machine is launched from a hillside by a pull on a rope. Once it takes the air, the duration of the flight depends almost entirely upon the ability of the pilot to swing into upward air currents and make use of favoring winds. Last year, Ferdinand Zeichulz set a world's glider record in Germany, when he stayed up in the air for fourteen hours and seven minutes.

Such flights as that should prove thrill enough for any man or boy.

Germany was forced into development of the glider by the ban placed on the size and numbers of its aeroplanes under the peace treaty. The result has been the creation of a large body of experts in motorless flying, in study of air currents, and other things that go to make a capable and reliable air pilot.

A large ploughed field absorbs heat on a summer day. Woods and meadows refract it. The heat radiated from the field sets an upward current of warm air in movement; over the woods and meadows the current is downward. The glider pilot makes use of this natural phenomenon. He "jumps" from a neighboring hill, floats over the woods, losing height; hits the warm air rising from the field and is carried upward again. If the wind is blowing from the field to the woods, he drifts back over the trees, dips his glider toward the field, and goes up once again.

Edmonton may yet have its glider clubs. They should at least flourish in every country where there are hills, in years to come.

KELLOGG PEACE PACT

It seems a pity that the United States senate could not have passed the Kellogg peace pact unanimously. The treaty originated in the United States and was the work of the Republican party and it remained for a Republican to be the only one to oppose it when it came to a vote.

The treaty may not be very binding on the nations that have signed it and especially upon the American government that originated it, but it does crystallize public opinion in most important countries today. Public opinion is coming to be strongly against war and in favor of all efforts that make for peace.

BUILDING CRUISERS

In order to let the world know that the building of more large cruisers was not to be considered as a menace to peace, the United States yesterday commenced consideration of the bill providing for increasing the navy, immediately after it had disposed of the treaty. Scoffers will treat the whole matter as somewhat of a farce, believing that the increase of the American navy as a warlike move more than offsets the peace pact.

ONE OF THREE PORTS

President Beatty is credited with having said that Prince Rupert is one of three possible outlets for the Peace River country. The other two are Stewart and Vancouver. To get to Vancouver the C. P. R. would link up with the main line at Ashcroft or Lytton.

It is quite probable that the C. P. R. may take either of the proposed routes, but which one it will be they certainly will not announce until they are ready. The whole situation will be considered carefully before any definite move is made and no preliminary announcements are probable. During the waiting time it might be well for Prince Rupert to keep up the agitation in favor of their port. Stewart and Vancouver will undoubtedly do the same.

HE WINS A THRONE

After years of battling in the courts, Rajagopala Toniaman (above), six, grandson of the younger sister of the late Rajah of Pudukotah, has been declared the logical successor to that ruler. His administration will be carried on by a regency until he comes of age.

The road to the old man's home is littered with wrecks of get rich quick schemes.

If this hatless craze keeps up, there should be a good demand pretty soon for wigs.

It's a great consolation to friends of the culprit to know that he intended to pay the money back.

How much better it is to rent a house than to own a home. In your home you cannot very well bruise the woodwork, scratch the plaster, drive nails into the walls or wear hob nailed shoes in the living room.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

POWER Builds Industries!

POWER DEVELOPMENT
1916	BRITISH COLUMBIA
1927	BRITISH COLUMBIA
Capital Invested in Manufacturing-
1916	BRITISH COLUMBIA
1927	BRITISH COLUMBIA

BRITISH Columbia's Power resources are the envy of the world. With Power, the riches of the world can be won; with Power, ores can be mined . . . smelted; transportation problems solved; manufacturing industries developed, and with them population . . . pay-rolls. Power is British Columbia's strongest bid for more industries . . . more people.

Of the millions of horsepower available in our province, but half a million are now harnessed to turn the wheels of industry. The great hydro-electric development at Bridge River will ultimately generate more than 600,000 horsepower, while the output at Bonnington Falls and other points is being steadily increased. The Campbell and Chilko Rivers, on the mainland, and the Nimpkish on Vancouver Island, are capable of tremendous power development for the conversion of our forest and mineral resources into fabulous wealth.

Two of British Columbia's Electric Power systems are among the greatest in Canada, each generating more than 400,000,000 kilowatt hours in 1927. This represents an increase in the last ten years of 98% . . . truly a remarkable achievement!

Foreign authorities speak of this record as a measure of the great vitality of British Columbia.

Today we rank third in power and industrial development among Canadian provinces. We have made greater progress per capita than any!

It is the policy of British Columbia to foster the development of the hydro-electric powers for the benefit of the public. They are allotted to private enterprises on condition that they will be developed within a certain time, so that no exploitation of public assets may take place.

Millions of dollars are now earmarked for Power development in our province. Dams are being built, turbines installed . . . transmission lines erected to care for the imminent industrial development.

Thousands of dollars are being expended weekly on materials and wages; thousands are feeling the immediate benefits of this enterprise.

Side by side with our power development, Industrial Expansion has kept pace. Today 17% of Canada's external trade is handled by British Columbia. During the past decade, our basic industries have increased 101.3%. Our total payroll, including all classes, is estimated at 219 million dollars. Today, our Lumbering, Mining and Fishing industries employ 72,517 people, paying them 175 million dollars in wages . . . distributing an average wage ranking among the highest in Canada.

These 175 millions in wages are a great contribution to our annual internal trade in the province. They have given our industrial workers a buying power ranking second in the Dominion and have largely been responsible for our ever increasing prosperity, as evidenced by the fact that the number of automobiles registered in the province last year was 76,187 as compared with 8,596 in 1916.

British Columbia's steady and varied industrial development has changed the conception in Eastern Canada and the United States of our province. No longer are we entirely dependent on the East for our manufactured products. British Columbia is increasingly furnishing her own needs. She now ranks third in the whole Dominion as a manufacturing province.

Our phenomenal Power and Industrial growth has focused the attention of the great industrialists and the eyes of the world. Today, British Columbia in Plenty, May our efforts of the next ten years stabilize and increase our Prosperity!

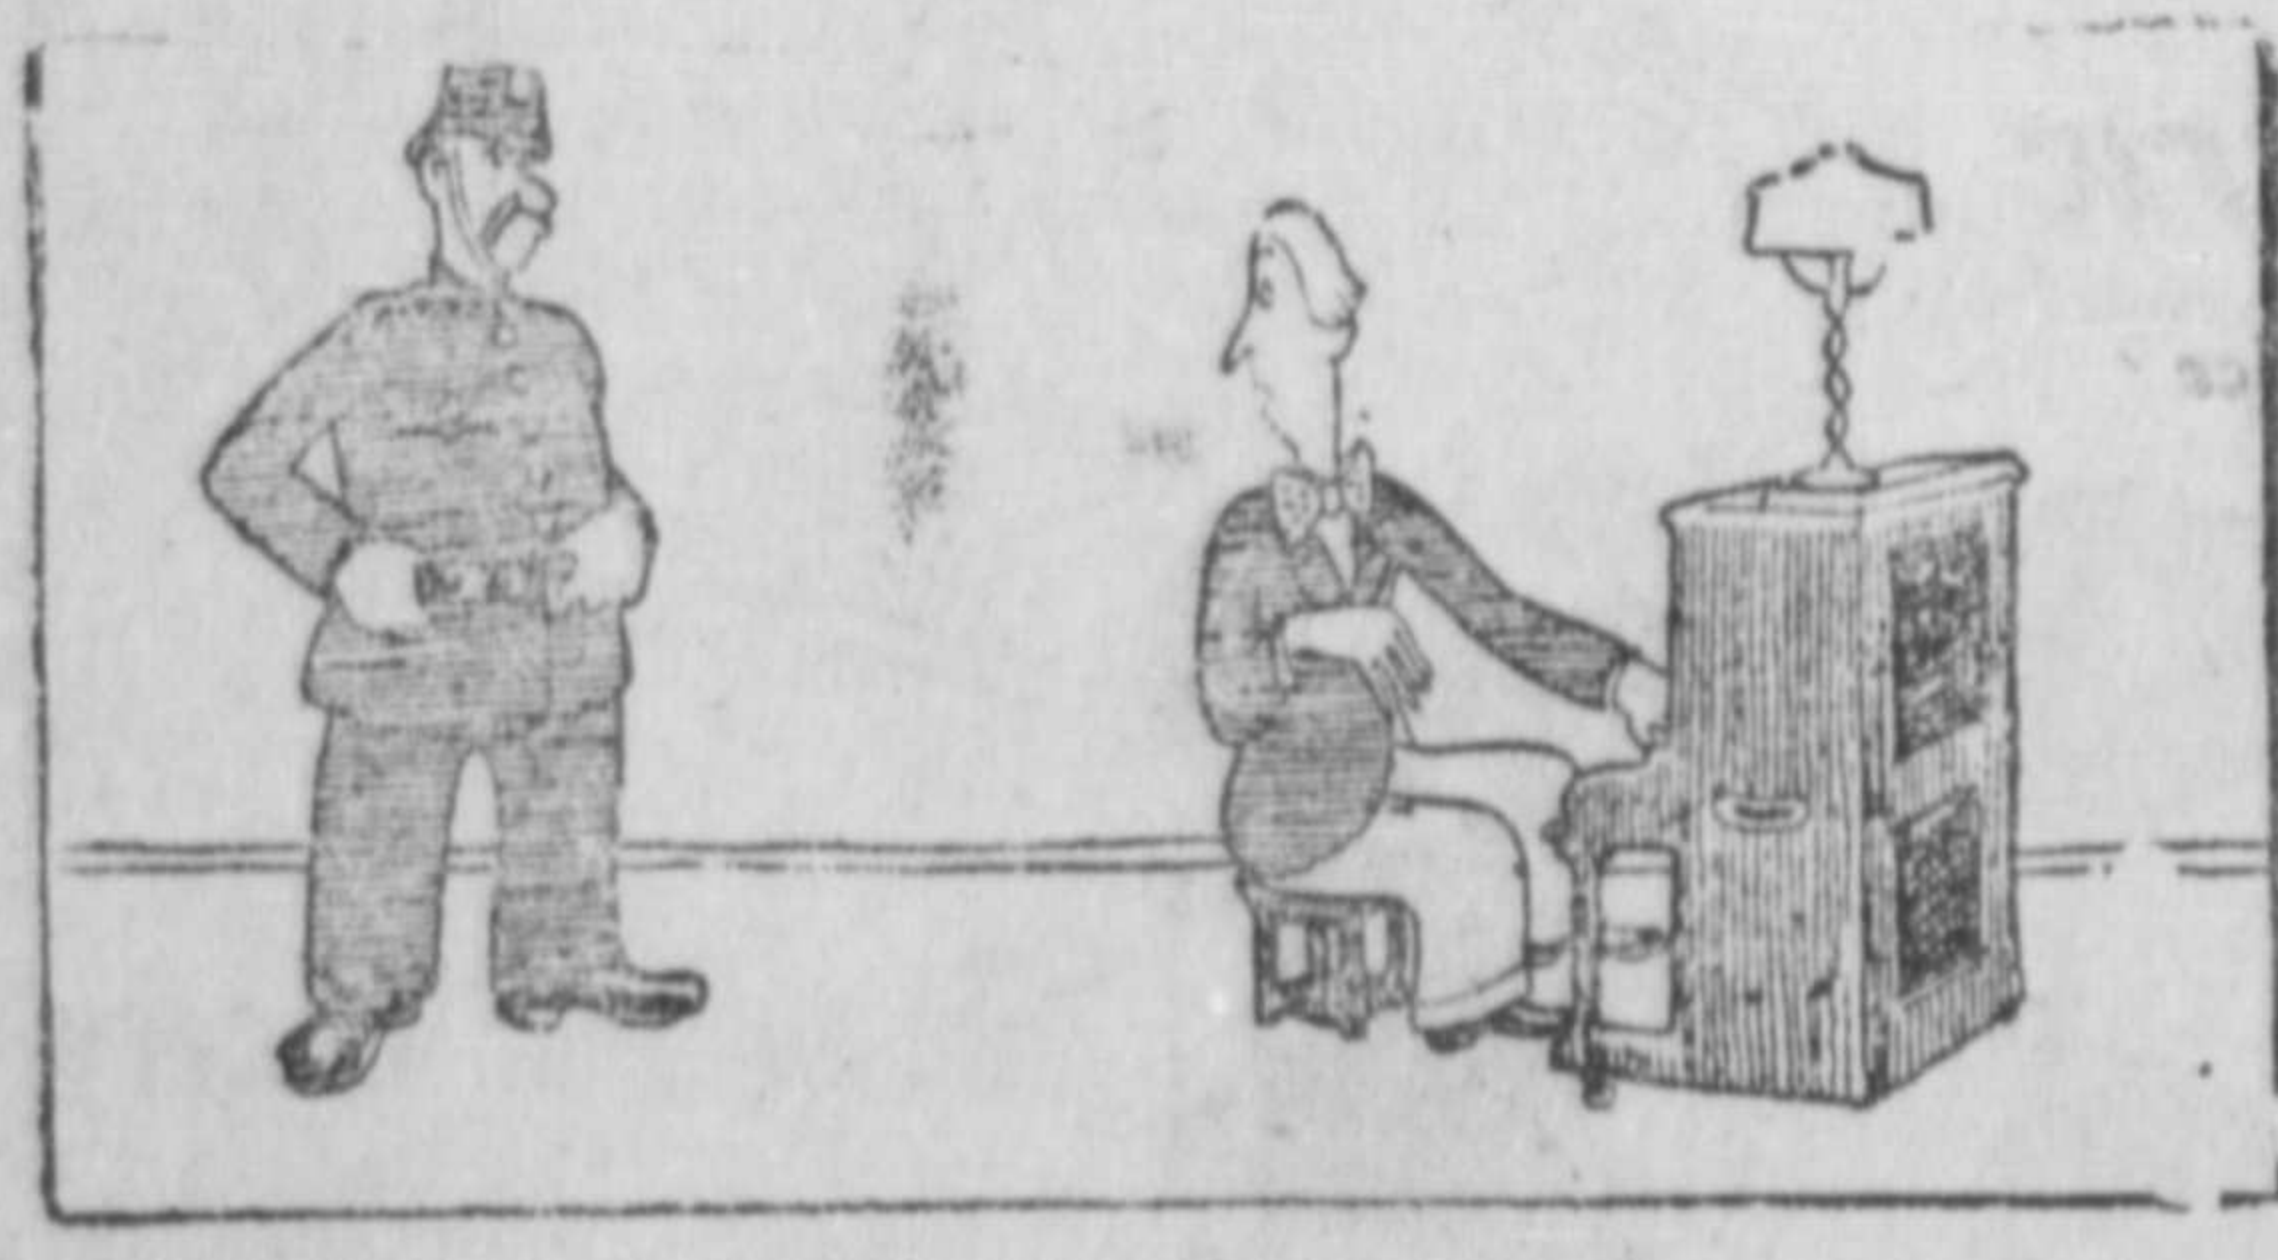

Read these announcements and understand your province's progress . . . clip them out and send them to friends. If you desire extra copies of these announcements a note to this newspaper will bring them. Advertise your Province!

Flu-Grip Checked at the start

RUB your chest with Vicks before your little cold gets BIG. Vicks acts two ways at once to check the cold and prevent complications:

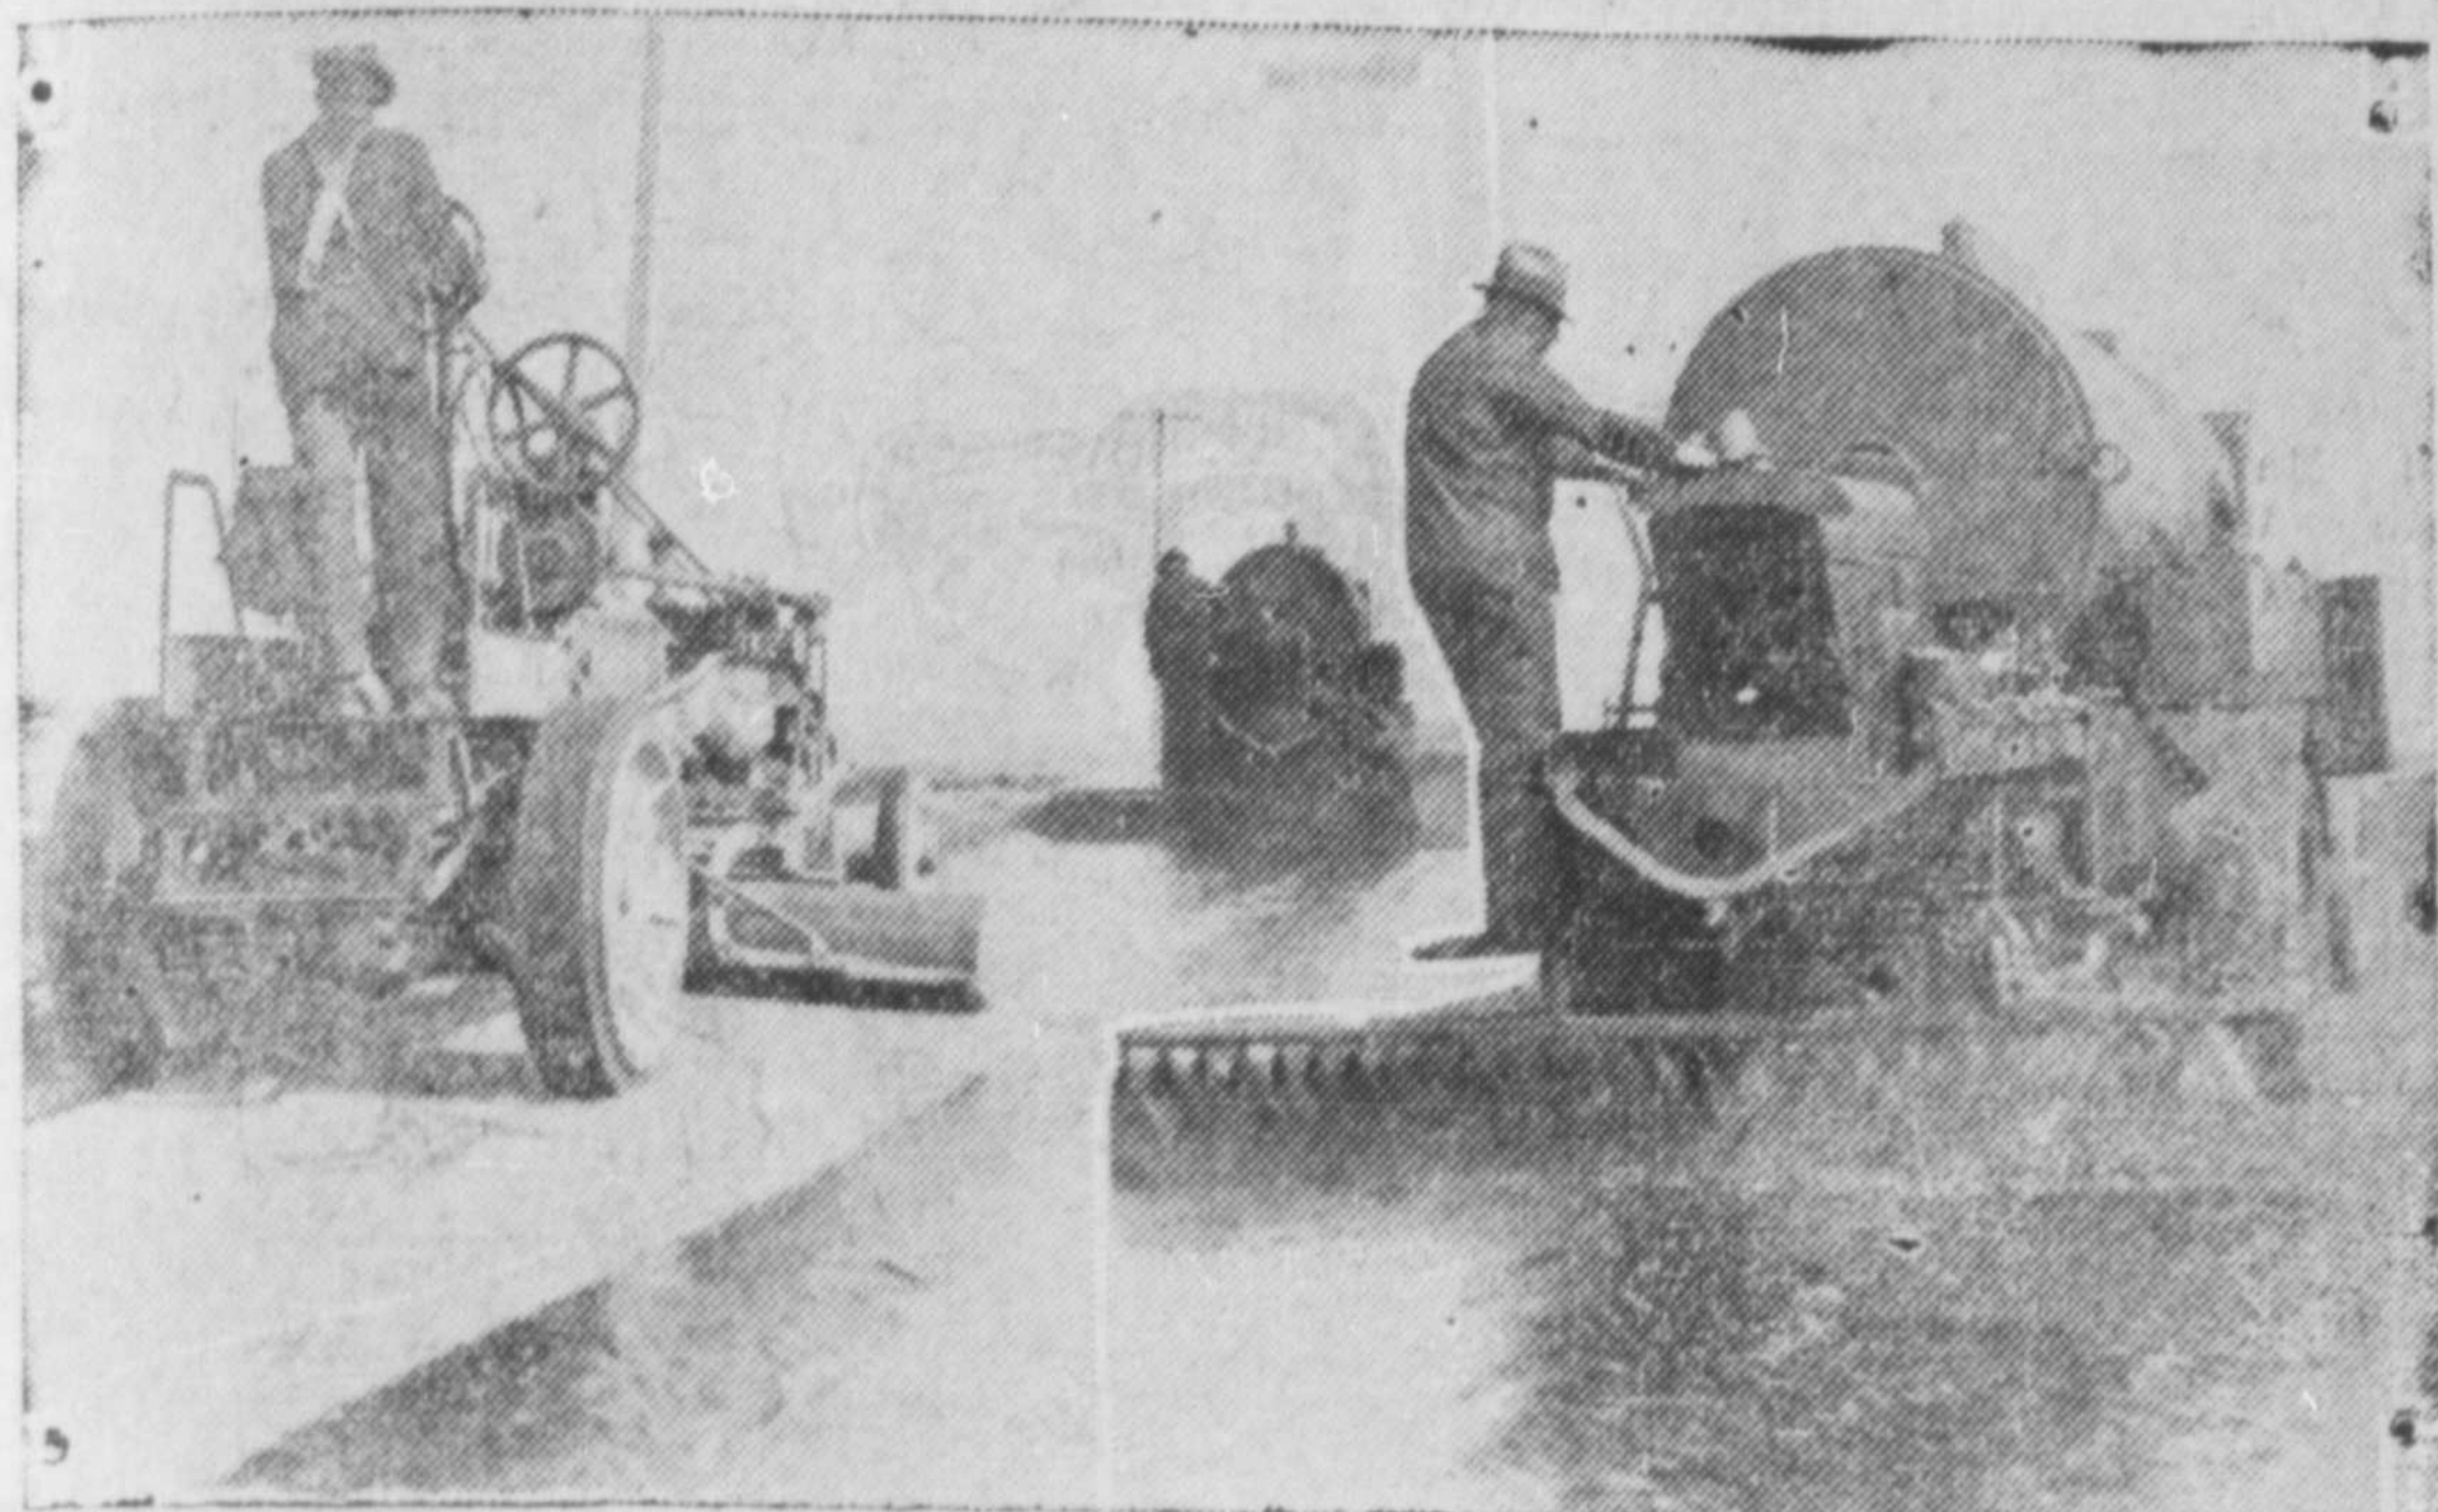

- (1) It is vaporized by the heat of the body and inhaled for hours direct to the inflamed air-passages;
- (2) It acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the tightness and pain.

NEW TYPE OF ROAD FOR WESTERN CANADA

The Province of Saskatchewan is carrying an important experiment in surfacing "gumbo" roads which it is hoped will solve the problem of highway surfacing on the prairies. The road is first planned smooth then asphaltic oil is sprayed heavily before gravel is applied, the oil forming a water-proof coating impervious to rain so long as it remains intact. The oil also prevents the gravel from disappearing into the "gumbo." A similar process has been successful in Minnesota and North Dakota. These pictures show the work under way between Pilot Butte and Pense. On the left of the layout the huge oil spreader is preceding the gravel grader which spreads the gravel evenly over the freshly oiled road. On the right is a close-up of the giant oil sprinkler which has a capacity of 850 gallons and travels under its own power.

News of the Mines

AROUND PRINCE RUPERT
Development of Owen Lake Properties Commenced;
Consolidated Makes Payments on Babine Properties; Shipping From Rocher de Boule

Active development has now been started by F. H. Taylor of extensive mineral showings which he controls in the Owen Lake region. The machinery has just been put in place to turn on the power. The larger compressor and power plant has been erected near the shore of Owen Lake on the Wrinch group and the second plant has been installed on the Cole claims. Operation of the sawmill has been steady and a large quantity of lumber has been cut for camp buildings. Thirty-five men were employed for several months in the preparatory work.

The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. has met with the initial payments on the Harvey and Judges group of mineral claims in the Babines. Smithers owners of these properties shared in the preliminary payment which is to be followed next July by a much larger sum called for under the option to buy. Since taken up by the Consolidated, the work on the Harvey group has consisted of an extension of the tunnel to tap at depth the ore uncovered in early work by a shaft. This tunnel has progressed considerable distance with reported good results and will be continued. It is understood that some exploratory work will be prosecuted on the adjoining Judges group, where some good showings have been exposed in assessment work by the original owners. It is reported that the entire area will be tested by diamond drill in early summer. Winter work is being carried on.

Three teams are now hauling ore from the Rocher de Boule mine to Skeena Crossing and about 15 men are engaged in mining. Ore is being taken from No. 2 tunnel which is expected to run $50 to the ton. This tunnel was never worked to any extent by the old company, although the ore there is the highest grade of any in the mine. W. S. Harris, who is in charge of operations, reports that other than taking out ore, he has not completed any plans for future development.

POSITION OF CANADA REGARD LIQUOR EXPORT

Winnipeg Free Press Discusses Matter Clearly and at Length in Editorial

POSITION OF BRITAIN

Does Not Agree With Stand Taken by Delegates From This Country at Conference

(Winnipeg Free Press)

Definite information has been made public that the United States delegation, at present at Ottawa in connection with the matter of rum-running along the Canadian-American border, is asking that the Canadian government release clearance papers to ships carrying cargoes of liquor from Canadian to American ports.

From the United States viewpoint the objective is to keep liquor out of the United States, thereby facilitating the enforcement of the American prohibition law. The United States case would make a much stronger appeal to Canadians if it were felt here that the United States was making a conscientious and determined attempt to enforce one of its own laws. Reports reaching Canada from many American cities indicate that liquor is sold openly in saloons, "speak-easies," and other places of this character, and that there is no need of harboring a thirst in the United States if one has the price to pay the shot. Now and then much is heard of a great clean-up being made in this or that city, with vigorous announcements by enforcement officers about what they are going to do, but these appear to be mostly in the nature of spectacular stunts, without much of a change taking place with respect to widespread illegal selling. The much publicized drive by General Butler to clean up Philadelphia a couple of years ago—to clean it up once and for all time—comes in this class. A week or two ago it was announced in the United States press that another drive to clean up Philadelphia was on the cards.

Affect Business

Canada are not able to say whether refusal by Canada to clear ships carrying cargoes of liquor to American ports will make any difference in the wetness or dryness of the United States. It is possible that, if Canada acceded to the United States request, the Americans would still get their liquor. There is also a feeling in Canada, quite vocal at times, that Canada has no obligation to assist the United States to enforce the Volstead Act. Persons holding this view take the stand that it is solely the business of the United States to keep liquor out of the United States, and to prevent its sale within. Suggestions have also been made that to refuse clearance of liquor cargoes to prohibition countries would injure Canada's export trade, reduce the earnings of Canadian companies, and interfere with the freedom of Canadian manufacturers to sell their goods wherever they find a market.

The question is, however, something of more consequence than the earnings of any company or the size of Canada's foreign trade. It is a national question and must be looked at from the national viewpoint. The fundamental fact is that, when the Canadian government gives clearance papers to a ship carrying a cargo of liquor to a United States port, it is making possible an illegal act. This works two ways. If the liquor is landed at an American port the American law has been broken. If the ship puts back into some Canadian port and lands the liquor for re-sale in Canada the Canadian law has been broken. It is law-breaking either way or the other, and it is highly doubtful if it is in the best interests of Canada to encourage the operations of a great string of rum-runners, smugglers, and law-breakers, along the Canadian border. It is pretty obvious that the type of man engaged in the business of liquor running will break the Canadian law with as much impunity as he will break the American law. He will run whiskey into Canada to make it possible for Canadians to escape paying the legitimate Canadian retail price; he will carry drugs into Canada; he will proceed to smuggle United States goods into Canada, thereby beating the Canadian government. On these grounds alone it looks as if it would be good business for Canada to refuse to be a party to habitual law-breaking along our southern boundary. In the long run contact with law-breakers never works to the advantage of an individual, a government, or government officials.

Good Neighbors

In addition to this rather practical side of the question, there is another phase. Canada and the United States are friendly nations and neighbors. It is doubtful if the Americans are any more pleased about Canadians assisting United States law-breakers than Canadians would be if Americans were giving official sanction to those who were breaking Canadian laws. There is a double edge to a majority of these issues that involve the comity of nations. It might seem smart on the Canadians to pour liquor into the United States because the American people, though legally dry, are personally reasonably damp, but persons who try to be smart and cynical frequently bring about their own undoing.

Wednesday's reports from Ottawa indicate that Canada is likely to oppose the United States request on the rather remarkable grounds that, if Canada does not permit ships carrying liquor to depart in a legal way from Canadian to United States ports, the movement of liquor will go on illegally and under cover; in other words, that the liquor people will get their shipments across the line by hook or crook. The theory appears to be that, if the ship-owners and liquor shippers are not permitted to break the American law in the legal Canadian way, they will proceed to break it illegally. This may happen, but even if it does, Canada's international position will be much better than if this country gives legal sanction to the operations of men who are frankly out to beat the United States law. According to the United States statement, issued from Ottawa, Mexico and Cuba have agreed to accept the American position. A number of European countries have also acceded to the United States request that vessels carrying liquor are not to be given clearance papers to United States ports. The British government also admits the reasonableness of the American request, and does not give clearance papers to liquor cargoes from British to United States ports. The dropping of the word "not" from an Ottawa liquor shipment to clear for the United States, but later dispatches from Ottawa indicate that this is not the case. Great Britain already has taken the stand that Canada is asked to take.

These facts appear to give ample support to the argument that, if the Canadian government maintains its present attitude toward the export of liquor to a prohibition country, no good will result to Canada in the long run.

Motorship Bellingham, Capt. J. E. Anderson, arrived in port at 7 o'clock this morning from Ketchikan with four carloads of frozen fish for transshipment east over the Canadian National Railways.
