Marshal Foch Lies in Peace in Old Mansion Near Paris; Nation and the World Pays Homage

PARIS, March 21. — The body of Marshal Foch lay in peace today in a simple bed in a sparsely furnished room of the stately old mansion near Invalides Palace. Parisians passed with heads bowed and bared while the nation planned its sixth national funeral. This is the highest honor the nation can confer in

The body is dressed in the marshal's field uniform of blue. On the breast are ribbons and medals of almost every order of prominence in the world. The hands, crossed on the breast, are clasping a crucifix. Over the leg is thrown the cloak the marshal wore on his entry into Strassbourg in November, 1918.

The great soldier's features are calm and serene. He seems as one merely asleep.

LONDON, March 21. — "Marshal Foch was certainly the greatest military leader of the war and no man revealed a finer character." Such was the tribute today of Sir Arthur Currie, commander-inchief of Canada's armies in the great war.

Kitimaat Railway Scheme Held for Next Session of Legislature in Order to Secure Information

VICTORIA, March 21.—The legislature adjourned yesterday without taking any action in regard to the charter for the Kitimaat line from Copper River which had been applied for by old country interests. It is said here that action was refused at this session because the government required more time and wanted information as to the land the company would ask as a bonus in aid of construction. The promoters asked for 10,000 acres of land per mile, but this, it is thought, may not be available, as most of the land in the Kitimaat Valley is timbered and much of it has already been alienated.

The government, it is said, has been satisfied as to the financial position of the applicants, but it was too important a matter to deal with without the most complete information, and this they did not have.

LIBERAL TRIUMPH

A correspondent at Victoria writes to say that the session which ended yesterday was a Liberal triumph. He says that before another session he believes there will have to be cabinet changes. Indeed, there is doubt expressed as to Premier Tolmie again leading the house. The correspondent says that in the press gallery the opinion was freely expressed that Pattullo and Manson were the only ones who knew anything about a good deal of the business which was being conducted. While realizing that the correspondent has Liberal views and an allowance must be made for his bias, it is pretty clear that T. D. Pattullo has already well justified the choice made for leader of the opposition. When he becomes premier he will doubtless function even better.

Older countries realized the importance of their heritage of language and were slow to mutilate it. Shoddy language was the result of shoddy minds, Chiorens Colds and produced a poor type of education, a great conceit and state of unteachableness. New Outlook

The new outlook was progressive and its high ideals of life was based on recognitions of the value of personality. Education was a process of teaching to live not merely to earn a living; to live richly, rather than to be rich. It emphasized the person of the child, not merely its brain. It aimed at giving the pupil a thirst for knowledge, a keener sensibility to what was great and good. Less stress was laid on the value of the examination though there was no conflict between character developing and brain developing. It insisted that a starved heart was poor company for life. The teacher strove to get behind the mind of the pupil and find the pupil himself. The teacher who could do so was of rare value.

The speaker felt that there was a great advance in modern education in the changed relationship between the teacher and the pupil. There was no longer a feeling of fear on the part of the pupil. With the removal of

The Leader of the Opposition pointed out that this meant a loss of $300,000 in revenue and asked that the ratio established by him between the northern operators and those on the lower coast be retained as the heavier growth in the south could stand a higher royalty.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

NCE there were two men who kept shop. Both I shopkeepers were in the same mode of business, but their methods differed widely. In fact it was only a matter of time, a short time, before one must close.

Now the other shopkeeper was different, he was prosperous. His store looked neat and clean, spruce, tidy and colorful, with a front that bespoke quality and service. Now this shopkeeper was a great community booster. His bid for patronage was based on selling his customers the products of his local industries first. He claimed that the industries in his locality employed men who earned wages, who spent wages, and kept others employed. His pet theory was, the more of Pat's mouse traps he sold the more Pat must make, and the more Pat would earn to buy goods from him, the wise shopkeeper. And so he succeeded and became prosperous and popular, and his philosophy and wise counsel spread rapidly.

Now, there's a moral to this story:

Every dollar paid for foreign made goods departs from your homeland never to return; but, each dollar exchanged for a B.C. product remains in British Columbia and quickly grows in value. It enriches industry, ensures employment and introduces prosperity into the homes of the workers.

This is the third advertisement of a series authorized by the B.C. Products Bureau of the Vancouver, Board of Trade in the interests of the manufacturers of British Columbia.

A test of a local source of trouble was also made at the meeting, with NEW SIERILIZER FOR good results.

The possibility of some of the noises coming from Shawatlans was discussed and it was decided that Mr. Gray should make tests in that connection today.

Mr. Gray explained that in the large centres they do not worry with noises that do not interfere with reception from their local station. Here the nearest stations are four or five hundred miles away and the slightest noise interferes. His testing set was not sufficiently sensitive to do the work well here, although it was the standard set used everywhere.

Mr. Gray is proposing to leave for the south tomorrow morning, but local radio fans are hoping he will clean up most of the local trouble before he goes away.
