Attendance Shows Healthy Growth, Reports Indicate at Monthly Meeting of Board

Reports for the month of September, submitted by the principals at the regular monthly meeting last night of the board of school trustees, showed that there was a total attendance in the high and public schools of the city of 1090 pupils, this being an increase over last year.

Table with 3 columns: School Name, Boys, Girls, Total. Includes Borden St., Booth, Westview, Seal Cove, High, and Totals.

All schools reported prevalence of measles among the children, as well as severe colds, these ailments having affected attendance.

Miss S. A. Mills, principal of Borden Street school, reported her school building to be in good shape. Savings of the children in this school for the month amounted to $185.

Miss E. A. Mercer, in her report for Booth Memorial school, referred to the necessity of certain roof repairs being carried out. School savings amounted to $112.82.

In the high school report, Principal D. H. Hartness informed the board that the first proficiency tests of the term had been made and the parents notified of the results. While discipline in the school was good, Mr. Hartness stated that he had seen school boys smoking about the town. He thought the parents should know of this.

Reports for Westview and Seal Cove schools were presented by Miss Jessie Moffatt and Miss Olive McArthur, respectively.

Reports on the domestic science and manual training departments were submitted by the respective instructors, Miss E. Roe and Eric Gee.

Athletics Are Quite Confident Winning Series

ABOARD ATHLETIC SPECIAL, Oct. 10.—The Athletics drew nearer their home fortifications today still firmly convinced that the world series will be ended on the eastern front. Having conquered Root and Malone in straight games in the western campaign, the confident young Athletics are in no doubt of their ability to repeat the performance at Shibe Park.

A survey of the Chicago pitching situation reveals that Joseph McCarty's logical course must be to toss these two same young men back at the Athletics. Guy Bush also remains a possibility. Auxiliary managers of the Athletics continued to favor John Quinn to pitch a third game. The series resumes tomorrow.

Athletics Proud and Famous Name in History of American Baseball Boasts of City of Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—"Athletics," the name by which the new American League pennant winners to be are generally known, is a proud and famous one in Philadelphia baseball history.

It awakens rich memories of grandfathers and stirs their grandsons, for the name Athletics is one of the oldest that has ever been attached to a baseball club, and lives today as famous as it did when it adorned the shirt fronts of baseball nines long before the Civil War. Granddaddies still tell of the glories of the Athletics of their youth before baseball was placed on an organized basis and after it came under regulated control.

There was an Athletic baseball club in Philadelphia as far back as 1860. It was a good team, winning most of its games against local rivals. Musty records show that the "Philadelphia Athletics" won the National association championship in 1871 and the American association championship in 1883, when there was a great celebration in Philadelphia and infielder Harry Stovey and pitcher Bobby Mathews, and "Jumping Jack" Jones were the heroes.

With the end of the American association after the 1891 season the name "Athletics" disappeared from the records, but not from the club charter.

When the present American League came east and fought the National League for fame and fortune and a club franchise was awarded to Philadelphia, the question of a name was seriously considered. Lawyers agreed that the name Athletics could not be legally adopted and the club was called the American Baseball Club of Philadelphia so that the initials would be the same as Athletic Baseball Club of Philadelphia and the team could be unofficially called Athletics. This awakened the memories of fans of that day and the name stuck, Connie Mack adding lustre to it by winning seven pennants and three world championships.

Something Must Crack Soon in Grain Situation

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—No immediate solution of the present grain congestion situation is seen by Sir Henry Thornton, president and general manager of the Canadian National Railways. He said in an interview:

"I know it will cause a very substantial reduction in our net earnings and this is upsetting after our starting off with such bright hopes for a banner year. REPORTS ON CONVENTION

School Trustees May Meet in Prince Rupert in 1931; Gilchrist Tells of Recent Gathering

A lengthy report was presented to the school board last night by William Gilchrist, following his recent attendance at the annual convention of the British Columbia School Trustees Association at Nanaimo. While in the south Mr. Gilchrist also visited the junior high school and technical school at Vancouver and he reported in detail upon these. It took him over an hour to read his report.

He described the opening of the convention at which there were 90 delegates, those from Nelson, Prince George and this city being the furthest to come. The province of Alberta was also represented. Meetings were held in the Malaspina hotel and one in the Nanaimo high school, where Miss Blanche McDonald, formerly of this city, was a member of the staff. Mr. Gilchrist referred to the fine library in Nanaimo high school.

At some length Mr. Gilchrist reviewed the resolutions that had been considered by the convention. Most of these have already been referred to in the press.

Mr. Gilchrist stressed the public health campaigns which were being carried out in some parts of the south. He thought this might well be instituted here. Doctors and nurses were employed, the plan being that the provincial government paid 25%, the Rockefeller foundation 25%, and the municipality, 50%.

Mr. Gilchrist concluded his report with a detailed description of the junior high school and technical school at Vancouver. The junior high school, he reported, was a complicated proposition, which would cost much more than an ordinary high school. While many trades were taught, the idea of these junior high schools was not so much practical or vocational, but cultural education. By means of the junior high school a child might be enabled to select some special trade and proceed with it in a technical school.

In concluding his report Mr. Gilchrist informed the board that the next convention would be held in Vernon. He suggested that an invitation be conveyed to the association to hold its 1931 convention in Prince Rupert. Officers of the association had spoken favorably to him of making the trip here. Mr. Gilchrist also suggested that Prince Rupert be represented with more than one delegate at the convention next year. Isolation here made it very desirable that members of the local board should visit the centres of provincial education.

Mr. Gilchrist presented an expense account of $95 as a result of his trip to the convention.

PRINCE RUPERT - BRITISH COLUMBIA

TOM MOORE WELCOME

The most outstanding labor man in Canada today is undoubtedly Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, who is due to arrive here this afternoon and who will address a public meeting here tonight.

In the past we have suggested to Prince Rupert people that they should go out to hear and see such men as Premier Mackenzie King, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Dr. Tolmie, and others who have visited the city. So today we suggest it would be interesting to hear and meet an outstanding Canadian labor leader.

Labor has made a great showing politically in Great Britain. True, it is not "labor" as we usually understand the word. It includes those of very advanced views and members of the professional class, business men and landed aristocrats. As one of its members said to a Daily News representative recently: "We represent the post-war viewpoint, whereas the Liberals and Conservatives represent the pre-war viewpoint. We are as far apart as the poles."

Possibly Tom Moore tonight will try to help us to get this post-war viewpoint, insofar as Canada is concerned.

TOM MOORE HERE

En route to Japan to attend a convention of the Institute of Pacific Relations, Tom Moore, president of the Trades & Labor Congress of Canada, arrived in the city on this afternoon's train from the east being met by S. D. Macdonald, president of the local Trades & Labor Council, and other officers of the council. Mr. Moore will sail tonight on the Prince Rupert for Vancouver but, before leaving, will address a public meeting here.

HIS FIRST OFFENCE

D. B. Finn, director of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, had his first experience as the defendant in a police court case this morning when he was haled before the cad on a charge under the Motor-vehicle Act of failing to round a silent policeman with his car. He pleaded guilty and was assessed $5 by Magistrate McClymont, then paid his fine and went on his way rejoicing.

Removal Sale at the Montreal Importers

The Montreal Importers are moving. They are going to open up with a big sale tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in their new premises in the Meeker Block, opposite the Empress Hotel. The building at their present location requires extensive repairs and the workmen will be in on Monday. Rather than put up with the inconvenience and dislocation of business which such extensive alterations necessitate, the Montreal Importers Removal Sale starts with a bang tomorrow (Friday) at their new store.

Just pay a visit to the new store and see the variety and quality of the goods on sale. Everything is of the best procurable. And, remember, the Montreal Importers brought Montreal prices to Prince Rupert. They have done no harm to Prince Rupert, but right along have saved their customers a whole lot of money. On this count alone they deserve your continued support. It will pay you, too, for most people like to save money. Not everybody, but most people.

There will be a big ad in a day or two giving some of the bargain prices prevailing at this Removal Sale. If you can't get down town before that, watch for it, but don't wait for it unless you have to. Pay a visit to the new store and get your supplies while the range of sizes in everything is still complete. There is a great stock of everything for men's wear—overalls, underwear, shirts and everything else. And all of the best quality possible to buy. This sale starts tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and everything is not only at Montreal prices, but at Montreal Sale Prices.—Advt.

Delectable Meals from My Emergency Shelf

by Mary Blake

No matter how generously filled your refrigerator is, there are always times when you find yourself called upon to concoct an unexpected meal for guests and find that the ice-box stores are inadequate for a really festive menu.

I take great delight in anticipating such emergencies by a special shelf filled with little extras that turn themselves into the most delightful meals whenever I have need. I never touch this store except for emergency use, and I see that it is refilled promptly. On this shelf are cans of soup and vegetables, olives and relishes and special conserves, shrimp and tuna fish for creaming or salad, sometimes nuts or hard candies for the afternoon table of bridge that materializes unexpectedly.

But the real basis of my emergency shelf is a row of Carnation Milk. I know of nothing that is so invaluable in the making of all sorts of "company" dishes. As long as my Carnation supply is generous I am prepared for any emergency. I can cream eggs or make a cream soup; stir together hot biscuits or date muffins, cream chipped beef or crabmeat from the emergency shelf, concoct a pudding or even serve waffles as a much-appreciated luncheon treat.

I buy Carnation Milk by the case and use it constantly, not only for its great convenience, economy and dependability, but because it really gives better cooking results than even the best of bottled milk. Carnation is simply pure, whole milk of uniformity high quality, evaporated to double richness, "homogenized" to break up the double portion of cream into minute particles and distribute them all through the milk—so that every drop is rich in cream—and sterilized for safe-keeping. If you ever make a real test of Carnation Milk, you'll use it for all cooking. I wish you would send for the Carnation Cook Book. It is free. Address Carnation Milk Products Co., 134 Abbott Street, Vancouver, B. C.

Carnation Shrimp Wiggle

2 1/4 tsp. butter, 2 1/4 tsp. flour, 1/4 tsp. salt, few grains pepper, paprika, 1/4 cup Carnation Milk, 1/4 cup water, 1 cup shrimps, 1 cup canned peas. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, seasonings and Carnation diluted with water. Drain the shrimps, remove the dark vein; break shrimps into pieces and add to white sauce. Also add the drained peas. When mixture is thoroughly heated serve on toast points. Garnish with parsley or olives. Serves 5.

Carnation Cream Chipped Beef

1/2 lb. chipped beef, 2 tsp. butter, 2 1/2 tsp. flour, pepper, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1/4 cup Carnation Milk, 1/4 cup water. Shred the dried beef, cover with hot water, let stand 10 minutes, then drain. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, seasonings and Carnation diluted with 1/4 cup water. Add the chipped beef and serve on toast points or with mashed or baked potatoes.

You can count on it

In emergencies, you can plan almost anything in the way of meals if you have a shelf of Carnation Milk. It is the basis of so many delectable dishes, and it makes them all better.

The city informed the school board at its meeting last night that it could deliver fuel oil to the Booth Memorial and King Edwards schools at a cost of one and one-tenth cents per gallon.

Pupils May Not Change Schools

At the suggestion of Mrs. Spencer, the school board last night passed a motion whereby it is ruled that in future no school principal shall accept a child which has been attending another school until the matter has been thoroughly investigated by the board and the principals concerned. This was passed on motion of Mrs. Spencer, seconded by J. H. Thompson.

The resolution was the outcome of recent trouble when a mother had approached the principal of one school with the request that her boy be permitted to leave another school and enter this. The principal had consented and trouble ensued which finally resulted in the boy going back to the original school. Mrs. Spencer charged that principals in some cases were too ready to take the representations of parents in this matter.
