Bank Bandit Was Tracked by an Indian Yesterday Morning Early and is Now in Jail at Smithers

The bank bandit, James Wesley Burt, who successfully held up and robbed the Royal Bank at Smithers July 17, making his getaway with a considerable sum of money, was arrested early yesterday morning near Smithers, and most of the money he took has been recovered.

To an Indian comes the final honor of capturing the man. Several times he was almost taken, according to accounts arriving here from the interior, and on Saturday he was captured by section men, who were bringing him in when he snatched a rifle from one of the posse and again made his getaway. He was followed by a native, who tracked him and found him asleep under a tree. Pointing his gun at the man he held him and turned him over to Sergeant Service and he now resides in the Smithers jail.

The sum of $1100 and a revolver was found buried near Walcott, east of Smithers.

PREPARING TO GIVE WELCOME TO DELEGATES

Fisheries Convention to Be Held Here This Week, Commencing Thursday

Preparations are being made for the arrival of the delegates to the fisheries convention this week. Most of them are expected to be here Wednesday, some by train and others by boat, and the first informal session will be held that evening for the purpose of lining up the program and arranging resolutions.

Officially the convention opens Thursday in the city council chamber and will continue throughout the day with a luncheon for the visitors as guests of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Company. The first official dinner comes that evening and on Friday the visitors go for a trip up the Skeena River in the fisheries protection cruiser Malaspina and lunch at Claxton cannery. Saturday there is the big luncheon which is to be addressed by Hon. Herbert Marler, minister to Japan.

In the matter of decorations, citizens are being asked to co-operate with the committee in order to show their interest in the event.

TRANSFER OF REINDEER IN THE ARCTIC

Herd of Six Thousand Head to Be Moved From Alaskan Tundra to Mackenzie Delta

OTTAWA, July 29.—Arrangements to drive a herd of 6,000 reindeer from Alaska to the delta of the Mackenzie River have been completed to relieve conditions in the north, where a fear of famine has caused great anxiety.

It will be a great ordeal for the men who will guide the drive. They will have to guard against wolves and also the possible loss through the reindeer joining the caribou herds in the exodus. The expected drive will take two or three years.

BRIAND HEADS SAME CABINET

PARIS, July 29.—Aristide Briand will retain intact the cabinet of his predecessor save that Raymond Poincare, the premier whom he succeeds, will not be included. Briand will hold the post of premier and minister of foreign affairs.

TROOPS BACK FROM BORDER

Both Chinese and Soviet Forces Withdraw, Leaving Neutral Zone

TOKYO, July 29.—Despatches from Manchuria say Russian and Chinese troops are both withdrawing from the border and creating a neutral zone to avoid the possibility of armed clashes.

FREE TRADE NOT AGREEABLE TO AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, Australia, July 29.—Free trade with the Empire would be disastrous to Australia, since it must involve the abandonment of the present substantial protection to Australian manufacturers, who must meet competition from Great Britain, declares the report of the Prime Minister's Tariff Committee.

This report is of interest in view of the campaign afoot in certain quarters of Britain, for imperial free trade and tariff barriers against foreign products. The report adds that no party in Australia dare abandon present protection.

WAINWRIGHT IS BEING REBUILT

Firms Doing Business in Sheds and Temporary Shacks Until New Places Erected

WAINWRIGHT, July 29.—Wainwright is rapidly rebuilding temporary structures to take the place of the business buildings destroyed in the big fire. Some firms are doing business in old granaries and other buildings moved into the town by means of tractors and horses, while others are having new shacks erected.

Already 20 new buildings have been constructed, though Mayor Forster stated that these structures would only be allowed to stand for 60 days. When that time is up the occupants of the buildings must see to their removal and to the construction of a new building.

The town council has conferred with H. L. Seymour, director of town planning for the provincial government. A committee of three was appointed to act as board to give all possible assistance to Mr. Seymour. W. E. Zinkan, surveyor and civil engineer of Edmonton, was appointed by the council to take levels for the establishing of street grades and building lines.

It was found upon opening the Royal Bank vault that everything was in order. The vault was opened by means of electric torches and a guard was placed over the opened door.

While the town lock-up was so damaged by fire as to be useless, Sergeant Stewart has had no complaints. Tramps and hoboes are coming into the town, however, and some arrests will have to be made in the very near future. Candles and coal oil lamps are being used as lights in the business part of the town, not connected up with power supply.

Real estate agents are busy. One lot on Main street sold for as high as $1200.

Miss Edna Gilker of the nursing staff of the Prince Rupert Hospital returned to the city aboard the Prince Charles this morning from a holiday trip in the south.

Soviet-China Clashes

Since the breaking of diplomatic relations between Soviet Russia and the Chinese Nationalist Government, clashes between troops on the eastern Chinese border have been reported. Many thousands of Chinese troops, like these above, have been ordered to the Manchurian districts on the Amur River. Russia alleges that China failed within the time limit to reply to the ultimatum sent in protest against the seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway and the arrest of the Soviet officials. China says the reply was on time, but delay was due to translation.

Bromley's Plane "City of Tacoma" Crashed As It Was Leaving Field on Trans-Pacific Flight to Tokyo

Lieut. Bromley Shaken Up But Not Seriously Hurt When Flight Nipped in Bud

TACOMA, Wash., July 29.—The transpacific flight from Tacoma to Tokyo was nipped in the bud yesterday morning when in trying to get off from here, heavily laden with gasoline the monoplane "City of Tacoma" crashed, Lieut. Bromley, the Victoria boy who essayed the long trip, was shaken up but not seriously hurt.

Bromley will make another attempt. Backers of the project made the statement that in a similar machine to that wrecked he would attempt the feat this year or next.

Bromley's plane was completely wrecked. The intrepid flyer explained that he had been blinded by spray from the capacity-filled tanks. The plane had cleared the specially built ramp and travelled about 150 feet down the runway when it swerved and turned over on the right wing.

Bromley leaped from the cockpit, confused but unhurt. He heaped the blame on himself. "I should have known enough to cut the motor at the bottom of the ramp when the gas first sprayed back from the fuselage tanks," he declared.

Bromley said he would try again as soon as he got a new plane and the committee backing him corroborated what he said.

SEATTLE, July 29.—John F. A. Strong, governor of Alaska from 1913 to 1918, died Saturday night from heart attack, aged 69.

BREAKFASTED IN VANCOUVER THEN DINED IN WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, July 29.—Premier Bracken who breakfasted in Vancouver dined in Winnipeg Saturday, completing the first east and west crossing of the Rocky Mountains by air in the giant Fokker of the Western Canada Airways.

MINISTER OF FINANCE VISITED CARIBOO AND ALSO PRINCE GEORGE

Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of finance, accompanied by Mrs. Robb and Watson Sellar, private secretary, arrived in the city early Tuesday morning in the party's private car, attached to the east-bound train from Prince Rupert, says the Prince George Citizen. The finance minister is on his way east, following a visit to Vancouver, but made the stop at Prince George in order to motor to Barkerville. His interest in the pioneer mining center of the province is personal in that the father of Mrs. Robb took a prominent part in its development, and incidentally amassed a considerable fortune from the Cariboo gravels.

The finance minister returned from Barkerville on Wednesday afternoon when he was met by H. B. Guest, president of the board of trade, and H. G. Perry, who drove him around the city. He expressed himself as wonderfully impressed with the agricultural lands along the Cariboo highway. The railway problem of the Peace River district is full of interest for him, and during his short stay in Prince George he took every opportunity to inform himself upon matters bearing upon the western railway outlet for the northern grain area. It is the intention of the minister to visit Grand Prairie before returning east to gather railway data in that section.

Cotton Workers Go On Strike This Morning in Lancashire Mills

MANCHESTER, July 29.—Half a million cotton trade workers struck this morning, closing down 1500 mills, when the employers refused to reconsider the decision to cut wages twelve and a half per cent. Last-minute negotiations failed Saturday and yesterday to avert the walk-out. Almost the entire Lancashire cotton industry except a few plants outside the employers' federation have closed.

Continued depression of the textile trade was given as the ground for the decision of the employers to reduce wages.

A payroll of $5,000,000 weekly ceases automatically until the end of the strike.

ENGINEER IS INVESTIGATING

Power Corporation Sends Man Into Naas River by Airplane

(Stewart News)

Stewart residents were more than pleased yesterday afternoon to see Pilot Gilbert of the Western Canada Airways circle the town in his flying boat and drop down to a graceful landing in the harbor. Unofficially Mr. Gilbert stated that he and his mechanic, George B. Taylor, were treated so well when they were in Stewart barely more than a week ago that they just had to drop in again to see their many friends.

Officially, however, on its present trip the plane is under charter to the Power Corporation of Canada, and has as a passenger Mr. Holloway, an engineer of the big hydro-electric company. Mr. Holloway is but recently arrived in Rupert from Montreal, and he is using the plane to make an aerial survey, with photographs, of the power possibilities of the Naas River. The plane is due to head through the Bear Pass today, over Meziadin Lake, and so on to Aiyansh, on the Naas, where Mr. Holloway will be dropped after he has completed his air survey. It is understood that he is to be stationed in this section permanently, with probable headquarters at Prince Rupert, and his working district will include Stewart and Aiyansh as well as Prince Rupert.

From Aiyansh Pilot Gilbert will head back to Rupert, where he has yet to make one or more trips for the provincial government in an endeavor to find a suitable route for the projected highway from Rupert to Terrace. On the one flight he has already made the fog and clouds were so dense that no data or photographs of any value could be obtained, though they did find one valley that gave promise.

ENDURANCE PLANE CRASH

One Man Killed and Another Injured at Minneapolis Early Today

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 29.—The endurance plane Minnesota crashed at 5:25 this morning, killing Captain P. J. Crichton and severely injuring Owen Haughland, the co-pilot. The machine had been aloft nearly 150 hours.

Five minutes before the crash the flyers had dropped a note saying "All well." They swooped to within 200 feet of the ground to leave the message for the refueling crew and the conjecture is that they lost their flying speed. The plane went into a spin and fell. Haughland was rushed to the hospital, but Crichton died instantly.

HOLY WAR IN CHINA

PEIPING, July 29.—A message from a missionary in the interior says 20,000 boys and men of the mountain town of Dangar were slaughtered in the Mohammedan uprising.

TWO SERMONS SPECIAL NOTE

Rev. T. Ivon Jones Preached Farewell and Dr. Hugh Grant in the Evening

Two special sermons were preached yesterday at the First Presbyterian Church. In the morning Rev. T. Ivon Jones preached his farewell in which he expressed his regret at having to leave. There was special music by the junior choir.

In the evening Rev. Dr. R. H. Grant preached a most impressive sermon taking as his text "They builded the wall because they had a mind to work." The doctor spoke particularly of the work of national and religious workers to protect the national life of Canada, stressing the influence of the school, home and church and the desirability of supporting each.

A. Clapperton gave a vocal solo. Both services were well attended in spite of the inclement weather.

Dr. Grant expects to leave tomorrow morning for the east.

HON. C. L. HOWE VISITING NORTH

Will Be Present Later in the Week at Fisheries Convention

Hon. C. L. Howe, provincial secretary, arrived in the city on the steamer Cardena last evening and was met by C. H. Monroe, Government agent here. He continued north to the mining camps, and it is understood will be back in the city on Tuesday and will attend the meeting of the fisheries convention here. He is to be the chief speaker at the dinner Thursday evening.

Mr. Howe is commissioner of fisheries for the province and as such will be keenly interested in all fisheries matters.

COMES FOR CONVENTION

H. Edmunds of the B. C. Packers, arrived in the city last evening on the Catala from Vancouver to attend the Fisheries Convention here.

CROP REPORTS

While the crop of wheat on the prairies is reported to be poor, the crop of fish in this district is reported to be large. The former is rather discouraging, but the latter is very encouraging.

Last year it was thought that the Skeena River and adjoining streams had all been fished out because there was a poor crop of fish. At any rate, the catch was such as to make the people of the district keen on seeing that the fishing was properly conserved.

Now it seems that conservation has been going on, but that some unusual conditions conspired to cause a poor year in 1928.

While there is so much talk about the grain crop on the prairies, Prince Rupert does not broadcast sufficiently the bumper crop of fish this season here. Possibly we do not talk about ourselves enough.

A VIRILE PEOPLE

In discussing the matter of diet the American Mercury of New York says: "When the American Revolution occurred a number of the English colonists chose to remain loyal to the mother country, even though the maternal care had been somewhat lacking in nourishment. Some of these colonists departed for Canada, while their cousins migrated to the Bahamas. Both groups were of the same stock and their characteristics were then similar, but today a vast difference is observed in their descendants. The Canadians are an active, virile people whose mental alertness is shown among other ways by the fact that they are most emphatic in declaring, with sidelong glances at their friendly neighbor to the south, that they expect to be perpetually independent. The Bahamans are said to be distinctly indolent and easy-going.

"Now this dissimilarity may be attributed to marked climatic differences, and, in fact, it has been accounted for on that ground by Professor Ellsworth Huntington, the geographer. On the other hand, Dr. McCollum calls attention to the fact that besides the cold and invigorating climate of Canada there is the more important feature that the Canadian diet is rich in milk, butter, cream and cheese, in addition to cereals, legume seeds, tubers and meats. The Bahamans in their enervating climate partake of fruits and certain vegetables, but seldom use dairy products. Dr. McCollum suggests that 'people will feel very different on these two types of diets.'"

BEST BASIC INDUSTRY

(Alice Arm Herald)

The most prosperous of the basic industries of British Columbia is mining, and has been for the past two or three years. The future appears as bright as ever. The expansion is proceeding along conservative lines, and no hectic boom, such as was experienced in several camps a decade or two ago is anticipated. Mining properties of merit are being taken over by big concerns as well as small companies almost daily. No particular district is being favored. The expansion is going steadily on from the Alberta boundary to the west coast of Vancouver Island, and from the southern boundary to the Yukon border. Mining companies seem more anxious to do business with the prospector than at any time in history. And will do unless the price and terms of a prospect are prohibitive. If they are the prospector keeps his prospect and the mining company does business somewhere else.

GOES TO LONDON TO REPRESENT THIS PROVINCE

Hon. T. G. Coventry of Victoria, B.C., and his wife, who resigned his seat in Victoria in favor of Premier Tolmie of British Columbia, has been named to act as market commissioner for the Coast Province in the British Isles. His duties will be separate from those of Hon. F. A. Pauline, British Columbia Commissioner for several years.

News of the Mines

AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Development Resumed on Red Top at Stewart; Government Engineer to Examine Woodbine; Packing Supplies to Portland Canal Mines

With Howard Cameron of Stewart in charge, development has been resumed on the Red Top property, near the head of Bear River in the Portland Canal district, and from ten to twenty men are expected to be employed during the coming summer. The tunnels have already been started on the Red Top and a big showing of copper was exposed. The present intention is to drive both these tunnels ahead and drift on this vein. A galena vein will also be drifted on. Owned by John McNeil of Stewart and J. J. O'Connor of Juneau, the Red Top was bonded last year by William McAdam, former Slocan newspaperman, who is backed by a Canadian syndicate and who believes that he has a winner in the property.

Operators of other mining properties in the Salmon River valley are getting behind the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. in an effort to have the provincial government complete the surfacing of a five-mile stretch of road between the Premier and Big Missouri mines. Building of the road was started two years ago and so important was its construction considered that the Consolidated shared with the government the cost of its construction. Government officials turned down the application to have the road completed and made passable for traffic, declaring that there were a couple of bad hills over which the Consolidated must relocate the road before the government would consider making it passable. As an encouragement to get the work done without delay, so that big mining operations would not be held back, the Consolidated offered the government the free use of its dump supply of surfacing material.

A crew left Stewart recently to resume work on the Premier Extension, which adjoins the Woodbine on the north and west and is controlled by Hugh B. McGuire. Considerable surface work has already been done in the property and some interesting showings will now be further investigated.

Hon. W. A. McKenzie, minister of mines, has acceded to the request of the Woodbine Gold Mining Co. to send a government engineer to the Woodbine to make a careful examination of the property and commends the efforts that have been made to straighten out the affairs of the company. The government report will be awaited with interest by Woodbine shareholders, whose hopes have been raised recently by publication of smelter returns on sample shipments of ore to Trail which gave values of $37.77 and $33.96 to the ton. Meantime, preparations are being made to send another ore shipment to Trail to further test the possibilities of the property and it is reported that negotiations are continuing with a view to securing the Riverside mill for handling of ore from the Woodbine. Arrangements have been made for Boyle Bros. to carry out a diamond drilling campaign to finally determine values. G. L. Fraser, the company's solicitor, has commenced proceedings to recover from J. B. Watson, former president, $30,000 damages and shares which it is contended should never have left the treasury.

Dalby B. Morkill, B.C.L.S., and crew recently made a survey of the fifty odd claims of the American Creek Mining Co., on American Creek at Stewart. Since the company was originally organized its holdings have been considerably augmented by the addition of several claims which were staked by August Pasco, one of the directors.

The Crawford Transfer Co. has been particularly active of late packing supplies into many Stewart mining properties. Besides the regular work for the Georgia River Gold Mining Co., Crawford packers recently transported a diamond drilling outfit and supplies for the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. into the Tide Lake where Consolidated is drilling the Jancowski property which it bonded last winter. Another job was the taking in of an outfit for the Bitter Creek Mining Co. as well as to the Red Top and George Copper. An outfit was also packed into the Bush Cobalt upon which active development is now being carried on.

GRAIN MERGERS ARE ARRANGED

Organizations Formed With Total Capital of $21,000,000

EDMONTON, July 29.—Two mergers of grain companies involving a total of 14 separate organizations and capital amounting to $21,000,000 are announced. One merger becomes the Federal Grain Limited which will absorb 10 different companies with grain handling facilities in the Prairie provinces and Ontario. Capital involved in this deal is $14,000,000.

The second merger includes the incorporation of the Searle Grain Co. Ltd., capitalized at $7,000,000 and taking over of four other concerns, including the Home Grain Company.

Riddell Director of Federal Grain F. W. Riddell, prominent Alberta grain man, has been appointed a director of Federal Grain Limited, a $14,000,000 company, which on August 1 will take over the properties of 10 grain companies with grain handling facilities in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario it was learned today. Mr. Riddell is vice-president and managing director of The Alberta Pacific Grain Company Limited.

Federal Grain Limited has purchased the properties of the following companies; Federal Grain Company Limited; Stewart Terminals Limited; The Union Grain Company Limited; The Northwestern Elevator Company Limited; Consolidated Elevator Company Limited; The Brooks

Elevator Company Limited; The McLaughlin Elevator Company Limited; International Elevator Company Limited; The Topper Grain Company Limited, and the line of country elevators formerly operated by the Maple Leaf Milling Company Limited.

Stewart Heads Board

James Stewart of Winnipeg, president of the Alberta Pacific Grain Company Limited, will be chairman of the board of directors of the Federal Grain Limited. J. C. Gage and A. C. Mitchell, both of Winnipeg, and directors of Alberta Pacific, will be president and general manager, respectively, of the new company.

HISTORY BOOKS ADDED LIBRARY COLLECTION

The following books on history, reference, and for young people have been added to the library collection recently:

- History—"Undertones of War" by Edmund Blunden; "The Aftermath" by Winston Churchill; "Manitoba Milestones" by Margaret McWilliams; "Only This: A War Retrospect" by J. H. Pedley; "Story of the American Indian" by Paul Radin; "Under the Red Jack" by C. H. Snider; "The World After the Peace Conference" by A. J. Toynbee.
- Reference—"Historical Atlas of Canada" by L. J. Burpee; "Canadian Mining Book, 1929" by Thomas Skinner; "Cassel's Latin-English and English-Latin Dictionary"; "Five Thousand Facts About Canada, 1929."
- For young people—"Young Folk's Book of the Sea" by T. C. Bridges; "Boy's Book of Carpentry" by A. H. Verrill.

Ten Years Ago
in Prince Rupert

July 29, 1929

The Prince Albert arrived in port this morning with a newly modelled jitney aboard, which will go into service here for Mr. Dyer. It is a large Cadillac chassis and ought to carry from 15 to 20 passengers.

The death occurred at Livepool suddenly of John Wallace, of the Wallace Fisheries, who is well known here.

A recent building permit was issued by the city engineer to W. J. Calder for repairs to the White Lunch amounting to $600. The work is being done by C. E. Ytreberg.

Alice Arm mining is receiving an impetus such as it has not had for many a day. The LaRose mine, being operated by Miles Donald, has started active operations and is now on the same sort of high grade that they shipped to Granby and Trail smelters last year. The general average of the shipment to Trail was 350 oz. of silver.

A Prince Rupert man has the contract for the court house at Omineca Falls. D. H. Morrison put in the tender and he will commence the work at once. This is a substantial job and is an indication of the way in which Prince Rupert is beginning to reach out for business.

In view of the recent announcement that the local tax rate was likely to be 14 mills on the dollar this year it is interesting to note that the Victoria rate has recently been struck at 8.6 mills.

COHOES STILL RUNNING WELL

Right Up to Week-End Trollers Were Making Big Catches and Price Higher

The run of cohoes off Dundas Island and Squadara continued right up to the week-end and the trollers at those points made good catches. One hundred fish a day was the regular thing with some boats, but some of course got a good deal less.

On Saturday there was a jump in price, sixty cents being paid on the grounds, the buye's bidding each other up. Inverness cannery came into the ring again at the week-end and took a load from one of the packers. Whoever paid the price got the fish.

While the weather was rainy, the men fished most of the time, as the returns made it worth while.

Thrilling Mystery Story in 30 chapters

THE GREEN SHADOW

by HERMAN LANDON

SYNOPSIS

While Captain Summers is meditating on the escapades of "The Picaroon," whom he is convinced is really his friend, Martin Dale, Mr. Alexander Ferryman calls and requests that strange happenings at 262 Bank Street, the house next to the one in which he lives, be investigated. Axelson, a watchman employed by Ferryman to guard the house in which he lived before he moved next door after his wife had deserted him, has heard footsteps and seen an eerie green light.

Just as Ferryman is showing the captain a picture of his wife, the telephone rings and a voice tells of finding a woman's body at 262 Bank Street. Summers and Ferryman hurry there.

"The Picaroon," who preys upon the rich and then offers the return of his loot on the payment of 10 per cent of its value to charity, has written a note to Adele Castle, requesting a meeting in Central Park. Adele has had a terrifying experience. She was taken to a strange house where, through a queer green light, she could glimpse only the outline of a man calling himself Dr. Moffett, who tells her he holds evidence which would convict her father of being connected with a crooked financial deal and send him to prison. Mr. Castle tells Adele Dr. Moffett demands blackmail of $100,000.

INSTALMENT SEVEN

A Sad Reunion

Summers started running up the stairs, Mr. Ferryman following as rapidly as he could. A policeman and two plain-clothes men were standing beside a cot in a pleasantly furnished room. The captain looked at the figure lying on the cot. The face he saw was distorted by the ravages of a horrible death, yet it showed traces of beauty. Suddenly as he looked, he started violently.

It was the same face he had seen inside the lid of Mr. Ferryman's watch.

In a moment Mr. Ferryman was at the cot. He stared down at the body. Then, with a long cry of horror, he fell headlong over the cot.

Tragedy had entered the tranquil, green-shuttered house which Alexander Ferryman had maintained as a sanctuary for his errant wife. The pathos of the situation penetrated even Captain Summers' hard-grained fiber. For four years the husband had lived in hope and grief and faith, waiting hourly for her return, keeping fresh and intact the scenes of their brief married life in order that when she returned they would be able to resume as if there had been no interruption. And now she had come back, but only to meet with a horrible and mystifying death.

Everything was scrupulously neat and clean, yet there was an atmosphere about the place that suggested long disuse. The intimate human touch and feeling had somehow vanished from the furnishings. As Summers inspected the surroundings he recalled what Ferryman had told him about certain mysterious things going on in the house. He had not considered them seriously at first, regarding them as meaningless trifles, or as the hallucinations of a disordered brain. Now he began to wonder whether they might not have some significance.

He turned to one of the two detectives who had been in the room when he entered—a youngish man, straight and lean, with yellow hair and a pair of keen, blue eyes. Summers knew him.

"What do you know about this, McCabe?"

"Not a great deal, sir. The medical examiner left just before you arrived. There wasn't much for him to do. He discovered the woman came to her death by a revolver bullet that penetrated the left lung. He said she must have been dead ten or twelve hours."

"The captain arched his black, snarled brows. "Then she must have died about midnight. Why wasn't the body found sooner?"

"Mr. Ferryman owns the house," McCabe inclined his blond head in the direction of the mourner. "He lives next door, in No. 260. The only occupant of this house is Axelson, the caretaker. That's the old fellow standing over there by the door."

"Yes, I know," Summers glanced at the caretaker, pale and shaken, who looked as if the tragedy had shocked him to the depths of his being. "Mr. Ferryman told me all that."

"Axelson makes the rounds of the house twice a day, morning and evening," the young detective continued. "If he finds anything wrong, he steps over to No. 260 and reports to his employer."

"Everything seemed to be all right when he went through the house last night. He heard no unusual sounds during the night, but then he lives in the basement, two floors below this room, and only very loud sounds would carry as far as that."

"Was it Axelson who found the body?"

"Yes, sir, about half past 9 this morning, when he reached this room on his usual morning rounds. It was lying there," McCabe indicated a spot on the carpet. "We moved it after the medical examiner had gone."

Summers cast another keen glance at the stricken face of the caretaker.

"Did Axelson recognize the victim?"

"No, sir. She was lying face down when he found her. He didn't stop to look, but ran to the telephone and notified the precinct station. After we had moved her and he had an opportunity to see her face, he let out a scream and said she was Mr. Ferryman's missing wife."

"He seemed actually surprised, did he?" Summers spoke out of what had happened after she entered? Who had fired the shot that turned a joyful reunion into a tragedy? And why?

Summers shrugged and decided these questions were futile until he had more facts to go on. Later he would question Mr. Ferryman and the caretaker in detail, but just now it would be useless to try to learn much from them. He let his eyes travel over the room, impressing each detail upon his mind. It looked as if it had at one time served as a writing room and study.

An incongruous touch caught his eye. It was a cluster of violets in a case on the writing table. The flowers were the only intimately human touch in a room that had stood unoccupied for so long that it had lost most of its vital atmosphere.

"Where did the flowers come from?" he asked McCabe.

"Axelson tells me he has orders to get a fresh bunch every two or three days. It seems violets were Mrs. Ferryman's favorite flower."

Summers understood. This was another instance of how Ferryman had tried to keep the abandoned home in readiness for his wife's homecoming. From the violets his glance slid downward. A rubber tube about three feet long was protruding from the long tablecloth and trailing to the floor.

"What's that?" he asked.

"There's a dictation machine behind that cloth," said McCabe.

"What you see there is the speaking tube. Axelson tells me Mr. Ferryman had a large private correspondence when he lived in this house, and he got into the habit of dictating to his secretary by machine. He sometimes used this room instead of the library downstairs. Axelson says he dusted the machine only yesterday. He must have left the tube hanging out."

Summers nodded absently. The word that caught in his mind was "dusted." By a sequence of thought it suggested fingerprints.

"Do you mean there has been a—murder?"

a mind that took nothing for granted.

"Yes, the shock almost bowled him over."

Summers nodded and stroked his sturdy jaw. The other detective assisted Mr. Ferryman to a chair. Sitting in a crushed and lifeless attitude, he stared hollowly at the dead woman. A lavender evening gown, with a great crimson stain over the chest, covered the slender figure. A diamond blazed on her finger and a crescent of rubies gleamed beneath her throat, the rich luster of the jewel forming a sharp contrast against the ravaged face.

It was indeed a strange homecoming, Summers thought. It seemed as if the returning wife had adorned herself in her loveliest raiment in order to give her waiting husband a delightful surprise. Probably she had gone to their former home to dress and put everything in readiness, meaning to summon him from the house next door as soon as her preparations were completed. But how had she contrived to enter without being heard or seen by Axelson? And

"Yes, sir, just what I thought. And McCabe in reply to his question; "but I didn't find any. Here is something that may interest you, though."

From his pocket he took something folded in paper and unwrapped it. It was a piece of glass, small and thin. "I found it on the floor, about a foot and a half from the body," he explained.

Summers looked at it, turned it over in his palm and felt the rough edges. "Looks like a piece from a lens," he commented.

"Yes, sir, just what I thought. And the queer part of it is that it's stained green."

"Green?" Summers jerked out; and, from force of habit, he inspected the fragment beneath his magnifying glass.

Some people wear stained glasses," McCabe pointed out. "They are mostly people who drive cars, though."

Summers nodded as he returned the piece of glass to the wrapping and stuck it in his pocket. "It may turn out to be a clue," he remarked, without enthusiasm. "Maybe there was a struggle and the murderer's

ROUNDHOUSE WON SOFTBALL

The Roundhouse broke their losing spell last night by winning their first game in the second half by beating the Superintendent's Office to the tune of 12 to 6. The shops played better ball all through the game than the offices and a win was coming to them. The office boys found Tullock pretty hard to hit, and nothing went past Phillips catching for the shops. Foreman, playing third base for the shops, was right there with the goods also. Lauton, Morisin and Holroyd for the offices played a nice game.

NEAR RIOT BY SOCCER FANS

Winnipeg and Edmonton Tangle in Fisticuffs While Spectators Rush the Field

WINNIPEG, July 29: — The United Westons took the semi-final round from Edmonton 5-2, defeating the Albertans Saturday 3 to nil after two tied games.

Edmonton left the field a few minutes before the end of the game after one of their players was put off the field for hitting a Winnipeg man. A near riot threatened for a while among the spectators who rushed on the field when Winters of Edmonton hit Jack McNeil, Weston half.

BILLIARD GAME

Last Thursday evening there was a billiard game played in which Fred Pyle and J. H. Pillsbury defeated Joe Scott and W. Nelson. The game was refereed by Capt. Elfert.

BASEBALL

Baseball tonight at 6:45. Elks vs. Gyros.

Glasses were knocked off and broken. He picked up all the pieces but one. But that's a long guess. That sliver of glass may have been lying here a long time. Did you ask Axelson about it?"

"He can't account for it, sir. He says the room has been swept once a week."

"H'm! Then it looks as if—"
Summers did not finish the thought, but merely whispered something in McCabe's ear and left the room to make a survey of the other parts of the house. "Green," he muttered. "That's queer."

To Be Continued Tomorrow

Sport Chat

The Gyro and Elk teams tangle tonight in the City League fixture for this date. This game is important in that the outcome will decide which team is going to occupy second place, and the loser of course will be reposing in the cellar. The Elks have been going strong lately, and with the brand of ball they have been putting up, the Gyros will have to be on their toes and hustling all the time to beat them out tonight. With Nick Chenoski back in the game Moran's crew should be stronger than they have been for the last couple of games, and will battle Harvey's hustlers to the last put-out. With both teams going into the fray with that determination to win, the fans should be treated to a good exhibition of the grand old game.

Judging by reports that are supposed to be authentic, Joe Wright and Jack Guest, former pals and clubmates, have reached the parting of the ways, something that could only be expected, with the rivalry between the pair getting keener every day. Argonaut officials have nothing official to say about the matter. They know the sterling qualities of both scullers, and they are proud to have them wear the old Double Blue colors, but the friction that has crept in since Joe Wright was named as Canada's Olympic representative last season without holding a trial race has been apparent. It was only natural that Guest should be ambitious to win the Diamond Sculls and also the world's title. Unlike others, he did not regard himself as being inferior to Wright, and when Guest departed for England to train for two months under the guidance of the best coaches available, there were some who opined that he had not "played the game" with the former holder of the Diamond Sculls. It's all a matter of opinion. Guest, always a good sportsman, undoubtedly believed that it was his right to train as he saw fit.

MISS AUDREY TREMAYNE NOW TENNIS CHAMPION

Miss Audrey Tremayne, daughter of Dr. H. E. and Mrs. Tremayne, was successful in winning the championship in tennis for Vancouver Island for girls under fifteen recently.

FIGHT INDICATES KEENNESS IN GAME SAYS NEWSPAPER

(Ketchikan Chronicle)
Rowdiness on any athletic field is, of course, a thing to deplore. It is distressing, unsportsmanlike, and all that sort of thing. And yet—well, no dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan will be sorry to read that Hack Wilson of the Chicago Cubs and Ray Kolp and Pete Donohue of the Cincinnati Reds felt impelled to use their fists on one another after a recent game in Chicago.

The only serious complaint against baseball in late years has been that players had lost the old-time enthusiasm that made the game interesting. In the days when Ty Cobb, Kid Elberfeld, Frank Chance and Bill Carrigan were in their prime, big league baseball was forever skirting the edge of fisticuffs. Nowadays it is more refined and gentlemanly—and, some times, much less exciting.

But the fan can take heart when the players get to fighting. Ball players do not fight unless they are terribly in earnest about the game itself. And when they feel that way, they are pretty sure to play interesting baseball.

TEST MATCH AT OLD TRAFFORD

MANCHESTER, July 29: — When the fourth cricket test match between England and South Africa resumed today at Old Trafford, A. W. Carr, captain of the home team declared, Facing England's first innings for a total of 427 for seven wickets, Africa had lost one wicket for four runs at lunch.

There was a wet pitch to delay the start.

FISHING BOAT RACES AGAIN

Gloucester, Mass., Organized Event to Take Place Last of August

—Despite a jinx that has six racing fishermen to the bottom of the Atlantic, Gloucester hardy fishermen are planning a race again. A trio of boats already are entered for the ocean competition since Pine's Columbia defeated Morrissey's Henry Ford 3 years ago.

The races are to be held August 31 and September 2 and Thomas Lipton has been asked to attend them. The American race committee has been organized and has a $2000 fund as treasury.

Ben Pine's Mary Thomas Gorton's Carol and Frank Pearce's Elsie are the boats entered to date. Any American fishing schooner that has been commissioned for at least a year eligible to enter.

Resumption of the inter-race has been talked of for some time. Indications are that nothing likely to develop to that end year. The last race was in 1901 when Captain Angus Walters' his Lunenburg Bluenose had the second race off Halifax a foul.

Among the former vessels to the bottom before the jinx were the Columbia, which sank off Sable Island in the hurricane. The Ford met disaster on Whale Rock Ledge, off Newfoundland, a year ago last month.

The old lady was watching a football match. "What is the object of the game, son?" "Why, er, to put the ball on the line." "Well," said the old lady, "she fished for a lozenge should think it would be simpler if they kept out of other's way."—Chatham News.

Grant Hall in the West

Man in the Moon

The lady never used lipstick Or painted up her face, But wearing shoes a size too small, She thought was no disgrace.

Jake says it's all very well to say it's fine when the westerly wind blows, but he notices a scarcity of westerly winds.

When the westerly wind begins to blow, Prince Rupert people feel sure they know That very soon the rain will pass With shining sun and sky like glass.

A hick town is a place where the yards around the houses are overgrown with weeds and allowed to run wild, and the person who lives in such a place is a hick.

People usually agree when riding in an airplane. It does not pay to fall out.

NEWS OF NORTHERN B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Attree left on Monday on a holiday trip to the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Mrs. P. Skinner of Usk visited with friends here on Monday.

Considerable improvements have been made here recently in the town water system. A good well has been sunk behind the park and a large tank erected with a capacity of 3500 gallons which will be used to supplement the present system during the dry season. As soon as the pump arrives the new supply will be available.

Mrs. James Captain, and the Misses Lillian Jones, Marion McLachlan and Joan Watt of Prince Rupert are holiday visitors here and are staying at the home of Mrs. Thomas Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernman of Ketchikan left on Thursday for the coast following a visit here with the latter's nephew, A. E. (Ted) Johnston.

W. H. Cavanagh was in from Roswood on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Peters and Mrs. R. Deith, arrived from Anyox early in the week. Mr. Peters being here in charge of the government liquor store during D. McKinnon's vacation.

BURNS LAKE

Mrs. A. A. Cannon of Prince Rupert is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. H. Keefe and her mother, Mrs. J. C. Henkel of Francois Lake.

A. M. Ruddy returned to Burns Lake on Saturday morning accompanied by Mrs. Ruddy, who stood the journey very well. Mrs. Ruddy will reside with Mrs. A. E. Kissock.

M. O. Stich was a Tuesday visitor in Burns Lake and reports that crops around Forestdale as being very good this year.

A. J. Weatherspoon of Stewart is back in the district and is visiting with friends at Francois Lake.

J. G. Leggat is relieving agent at Burns Lake during the absence of P. V. Talton.

Heavy rains have been falling every day this week and farmers are asking for some hot weather in order to make a start with haying.

Floyd Stanyer returned to Burns Lake from the prairies last week.

SMITHERS

Harry Howson, well known miner of the early days, has returned to the district after an absence of several years. His present plans are not known, but Mr. Howson is interesting himself in several properties in this district.

Miss Marjorie Roberts has accepted a position on the teaching staff at Prince George. Another popular teacher who will not be returning to Smithers for the fall term is Miss Mary Fawcett, who has been engaged for one of the southern schools.

Several social events in Smithers homes preceded the departure of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Stephens and family on Saturday night, among those entertaining being Mrs. (Dr.) R. C. Bamford, who gave a bridge party on Thursday night in honor of the departing citizens. Mrs. Stephens and children will make their home in Vancouver, being accompanied by Mr. Stephens, who will spend two weeks in the south.

With two days of fine weather the clouds again gather to keep conditions far from reasonable in Bulkley Valley. Heavy rains are far between but just enough falls daily to perplex the

PRINCE GEORGE

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Alex Wimbles, left yesterday on an extended motor trip through the southern portion of the province and the coast cities.

Paul Wieland has commenced killing his own beef for the local trade, the beef having been purchased from farmers throughout the district. He says there has been a marked improvement in the quality of local steers this season which has enabled him to place on the block the best beef ever offered in Prince George.

Right Rev. G. A. Rix, Bishop of Caledonia, on Sunday ordained to the priesthood Rev. Mr. Steer of Vanderhoof. The assisting clergy consisted of Revs. Hales of Smithers, Kerr of Burns Lake and Sweetnam of Endako. Plans are being made for the erection of an Anglican Church in Vanderhoof.

NFW HAZELTON

John Pearson and wife and daughter arrived from Sweden last Thursday morning and are locating in New Hazelton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Anderson will leave this week for Vancouver by car where they will spend a month's holidays.

Fred Peterson, an old resident of New Hazelton, has been in the hospital the past week or so.

At the present time there is a good deal of talk of organizing a board of trade for the Hazelton district. Some years ago there was an active board, but it gradually died out. Now that the northern part of the province has taken a forward move there is ample work for an active board to do.

CONSOLIDATED PLANS TO DRILL A. AND T. MINE PROPERTY AT STEWART

Work is going on apace at the A. & T. property which was bonded some time ago by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., and a gang of fourteen men are now engaged in carrying the trail up past the camp to the spot where diamond drilling will soon be commenced, says the Stewart News. The work is under the charge of Mr. Cameron, who is but recently arrived from Kimberley, where he has been in the employ of Consolidated for a considerable period.

The present camp consists of four large tents at about an elevation of two thousand feet, reached by a newly built trail from Bear River and following, in the lower reaches, the trail to the Independence mine. Armstrong packers are packing in supplies and machinery daily.

The high grade copper showings are across the gully about five hundred feet above the camp, and the intention is to bridge this gully with a short tram to a base on the opposite side. From this point diamond drilling of the hill will be carried out.

"A MAN'S MAN" CLOSE-UP OF HOLLYWOOD

A Hollywood play without a single scene in it.

This is the unique distinction of "A Man's Man," William Haines' new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, showing at the Capitol tonight. Directed by James Cruze from the Patrick Kearney stage hit and laid entirely in Hollywood, it gives intimate glimpses of the film colony, its stars, its social events, all without any stereotyped studio scenes.

The affair is a hilarious comedy, a satire on all Hollywood life, with a love romance running through it. Josephine Dunn plays the girl, a movie-struck bride, who thinks she resembles Greta Garbo, and Sam Hardy of "Diamond Handcuffs" fame, the villain, a discharged assistant director, and Mae Busch, an appealing character part, that of a hard-boiled extra who takes the movie-struck bride under her protection.

One of the spectacular scenes shows the brilliant premiere of "White Shadows" at Grauman's famous Chinese theatre.

STEWART MAN HOME WITH BRIDE FROM CALIFORNIA CITY

N. H. Stevens arrived home on Saturday's boat accompanied by his bride, formerly Mrs. Letha Baird of Long Beach, Cal., says the Stewart News. The wedding, which came as a surprise to Mr. Stevens' friends in the district, took place recently in Yuma, Arizona. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens have been the recipients of many good wishes and congratulations since their return. They are at present staying in Stewart at the Bay-view Hotel, but plan to make their home in Hyder, as Mr. Stevens has mining interests in the district which require his attention.

The Port Edward Cannery had its largest pack of the season this week-end.
