Premier Baldwin will Resign at Once and Ramsay Macdonald Will Probably be Called Upon

Party Was Divided as to Whether They Should Meet Parliament or Not Before Taking Action; Standing of Parties

LONDON, June 3.—In conference with his colleagues and following an announcement from Lloyd George that the Liberal party would not support the Conservatives in a coalition against Labor, Premier Baldwin announced that he would resign without meeting parliament. His resignation will be placed in the hands of the King at Windsor Castle tomorrow.

Ramsay Macdonald, Labor leader, is now considered certain to assume the premiership.

The members of the Conservative Government went into session this afternoon at five and it was not long after that when the official announcement was made that the Government would resign. It is understood that Mr. Baldwin is advising His Majesty that Ramsay Macdonald is the proper person to be called upon to form a cabinet.

On his return today from Chequers Court, Mr. Baldwin was faced with divided counsel. Some of his followers called for the immediate resignation of the Government, while some argued that he should meet Parliament and place the responsibility for future events on the opposition. Sir Austen Chamberlain had already announced that he favored meeting Parliament, but Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill was reported to favor immediate resignation. The resignation school took the view that if the premier resigned now it would have no opportunity to negotiate with the Liberals and with lessened prospect of being able to make a deal in future.

The standing of the parties today was: Labor, 287; Conservatives, 255; Liberals, 57; Nationalists, 3; Independents, 7; Prohibitionists, 1; doubtful, 7.

Miss Eleanor Rathmere is the fourteenth woman elected. She is an Independent and is one of two candidates for the English combined universities. Sir Martin Conway, Conservative, was also elected.

The new Parliament will meet on June 25, but only for the swearing in of members. The first test of strength of the parties will be on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, which will not come until after the formal opening on July 2.

Thousands Take Part in Flag Day Celebration at Acropolis Hill Grounds this Afternoon

Well nigh one thousand children are participating this afternoon in the annual Flag Day celebration of the local Elks' Lodge. Very beneficial weather conditions are prevailing to favor a program which includes many novel events, designed particularly to delight childish hearts.

The proceedings commenced at 1:30 p.m. with a monster parade from the Westholme Theatre to Acropolis Hill grounds with Corp. Cameron, R.C.M.P., as marshal and led by George Phillipson on horse back.

Following came the queen-elect, driven by Inspector James M. Tupper R.C.M.P., and surrounded by her maids of honor, Miss Evelyn Zerelli and Miss Gunborg Pearson as well as two little flower girls, Norah Dougherty and Charlotte Balagno.

In another car rode the maypole dancers. Following was a long line of school children. Mayor S. P. McMordie and Bishop G. A. Rix were also in the parade.

Arrived at the Acropolis Hill, there was the usual ceremony of raising and saluting the flag. Picked receiving the address on the flag. There was also an address by Mayor S. P. McMordie and the Maypole dance was daintily performed by eight girls under the direction of Miss Halliwell.

Then the crowning of the new queen took place with the retiring queen officiating.

Children's sports followed and an abundance of sweets was distributed with lavish hand.

Tonight the proceedings will come to a close with a big dance.

HOOVER STOPS NAVAL PROGRAM

Looking For Another Conference With the British Government Regard to Limitation

WASHINGTON, June 3.—President Hoover has temporarily stopped the naval program which had been recently laid out and adopted in connection with the building of cruisers and other units. The reason given for his action is that Great Britain is likely to enter into a conference in regard to naval limitation.

The change in the political situation in Britain will facilitate negotiations with that country.

CELEBRATION OF BIRTHDAY KING GEORGE

His Majesty Propped Up in Bed While Guards Trooped to Colors in London

WINDSOR, June 3.—The King celebrated his 64th birthday today, not as he would like to have celebrated it, but propped up in bed in the Victoria tower of Windsor Castle. The abcess at the old lung incision was not serious, his physicians said, and was taking its normal course.

Little change was made in the plans for the formal celebration of the day in London, the colorful trooping to the colors by selected guard regiments remained in traditional style. It was the first time the King has spent his birthday at Windsor Castle since he came to the throne 19 years ago.

KING GEORGE IS 64 YEARS TODAY

Subjects Will Pray for Recovery of Monarch From Illness; Celebration Here

Today is the sixty-fourth birthday of King George V., who was born June 3, 1865. Official preparations had been made to hold thanksgiving for the King's recovery from his recent illness, but further illness has caused the cancellation of those plans for the time being at least. Meantime, his subjects will pray again for their monarch's safe recovery.

The King's birthday is observed as a holiday in certain quarters, including government and civic offices, schools and banks.

The occasion is being celebrated here by the holding of the Elks' Lodge annual flag day.

CANADA SENDS LOYAL MESSAGE

Hope Expressed That His Majesty May Be Restored to Health

OTTAWA, June 3.—Through the office of Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General, an affectionate message of congratulation was conveyed to His Majesty, King George, on behalf of the Government and people of Canada. Following is the message:

On the occasion of Your Majesty's birthday may I convey to Your Majesty the affectionate and heartfelt wishes of the Government and people of Canada together with an expression of their most fervent hope that the year marked by this anniversary may witness complete restoration of your Majesty's health and strength.

Calgary and Adjacent Towns are Flooded as Rain Falls in Rockies

CALGARY, June 3.—Reaching the highest levels in 27 years, the rivers in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, swollen by heavy rain and melting snow, flooded Calgary and adjacent towns in Southern Alberta yesterday, while in the mountains all roads east and west have been washed out. Several bridges have been undermined and in some cases washed out. So far one death is reported, that of an unidentified man at Crossfield, who was swept from a raft.

In the Turner Valley oil fields the wells have escaped damage, but the roads have been washed out, delaying the hauling of supplies.

In Calgary the zoological gardens on the Bow River were washed away, numerous animals being drowned and the park utilities destroyed. Fear was expressed that the rushing waters would tear away the large gas main which carried the supply of natural gas from southern Alberta fields into Calgary. It is expected the peak of the flood will be reached tonight.

THE DEATH OF THE BYLAWS

We have been asked why we did not comment on the defeat of the bylaws last Friday when there was such a decided verdict given by the ratepayers. In answer we may say that the column of comment in this paper had been written the evening before and also we may suggest that we did not consider comment necessary. Anyone who cannot understand what was meant by the vote of the ratepayers would be too dumb to read an editorial article.

BRITAIN AND UNITED STATES

One result of the British elections seems to have been to cause President Hoover to delay action in the United States naval program of construction. Doubtless he feels from the expression given by the leaders of the Labor and Liberal parties that there will be a change now in the British attitude. Both of them stand for disarmament as an example to the rest of the world. What the general effect will be no one can say. It will be interesting to watch the situation.

BOARD OF TRADE CONVENTION

Preparations are now being made for the big Board of Trade convention to be held in Prince Rupert at the end of this month. It is the first time such a convention has been held here. Doubtless the matter will be discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Board on Friday. It will be interesting to know what subjects the local committee proposes to bring before the convention.

FRASER RIVER SOCKEYE TREATY

While there is no reason why one Conservative should not differ in opinion from another or one Liberal from another, it is rather curious to see the Federal Conservatives taking exception publicly in the Dominion House to the action of the Tolmie administration. They seem to be divided into separate groups in regard to the matter with definitely organized opinion.

The B. C. Federal members seem to have acted as a unit in their opposition to the treaty, which had been largely the work of the Provincial Government.

CONDITION OF THE KING

Everyone will regret the setback the King has received. The present condition is probably worse than is stated because of the lack of power of His Majesty to recuperate following his six months of illness. Coming just at this time it interferes somewhat with the regular order of going in governmental circles. However, the leaders of the parties are fully alive to the situation and, being British, they will facilitate in every way the carrying out of the proper constitutional usage.

Flying Fingers and Flying Heels

Helen McGregor, of Winnipeg, "The Flying Pianist" whose "flying fingers" earned her unofficial title, and Myrtle Cook, whose flying heels won her the official title of Amateur Lady Champion of the World at the Olympic Meet last year, take a lesson in navigation from Captain Dott of the Canadian Pacific liner "Montrose."
Miss Cook, who now covers women's sports for the Montreal Star is not unfamiliar with the air, having flown the English Channel on several occasions when on the other side at athletic events. Miss McGregor is one of the few women familiar with the controls of tri-motored planes. She travelled west as a passenger in the Junkers plane which was landed at Montreal from the Canadian Pacific freighter "Beaverbrae" for the Western Canada Airways, Limited, by whom it will be used in air mail and express services.

CONCERT HELD LAST EVENING

Members of Colombo Crew, Assisted by Local Artists, Give Recital in Capitol Theatre

FOR CENOTAPH FUND

The house being entirely filled some time before the appointed hour of opening, hundreds of people were last night turned away from the Capitol Theatre, where, organized by the Canadian Legion and for the benefit of the cenotaph fund, an entertainment was held by the concert party of H.M.S. Colombo, assisted by the ship's band and local artists. The program was an excellent one and proved very popular with the large audience. The sum of $170.86 was realized for the cenotaph fund as a result of the collection. There were three hundred nickels in the plates. The affair opened at 9 o'clock after church and was in progress until 11 p.m.

Under the direction of Stoker Petty Officer Clare, several fine selections were played by the ship's twenty-piece brass band. Members of the ship's company participating in the program were Chief Ordnance Artificer Hoile with vocal solos, Supply Petty Officer Foster and Able Seaman Roper with guitar duets, Signaller Wilson with monologues, Able Seaman Roper, female impersonator and Able Seaman Payne with vocal duets, Engine Room Artificer Massingham with violin solos and Able Seaman Redgewell with vocal solos. Each number proved very delightful and it was only by request that there were not many encores. Charles P. Balagno was accompanist for most of the ship's entertainers.

Local artists assisting were: Mrs. J. H. McLeod, accompanied by Mrs. C. E. Cullin, vocal solos; M. H. Blett, accompanied by Mrs. Blott, vocal solos; Mrs. J. J. Muldoon, accompanied by Miss Lorna Tite, vocal solos; William Beaumont, accompanied by C. P. Balagno, cello solos; and J. A. Teng with vocal solos. These numbers were equally good. Rovers of the Navy League's Sea Cadets and local unit of the R. C. N. V. R. and members of the Canadian Legion assisted in ushering.

H. M. S. Colombo Off to Nanaimo After Week's Stay Here; Busy Day Yesterday

CHURCH PARADE

After an even week's stay in this port which evidently proved as enjoyable to the personnel of the warship as it did to Prince Rupert people, who were delighted to meet and entertain the officers and men, H.M.S. Colombo, Capt. C. C. Dobson, R.N., V.C., D.S.O., sailed at 7:45 o'clock this morning for southern B. C. ports to continue her summer cruise of Pacific coast waters. From here, the Colombo goes to Nanaimo, where she will spend four days. Then she will make a similar stay at Ladysmith and also at Cowichan before going into Vancouver for eleven days. The itinerary of the warship's cruise also includes a number of other British Columbia ports and then a cruise down the Washington, Oregon and California coast, touching at such places as Portland, San Francisco, Catalina Island, etc., before proceeding back via the Panama Canal to her base in Bermuda. About the end of the year, it is expected, the Colombo will proceed to her home port of Chatham, England.

With fine weather prevailing, yesterday was a busy day aboard the warship here.

At 10 o'clock in the morning, about 150 members of the ship's company paraded from the wharf to St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral to attend divine service, with Rt. Rev. G. A. Rix, Bishop of Caledonia, officiating, assisted by the rector, Rev. J. E. Gibson. The Bishop preached a suitable sermon. The men of the warship made a very smart appearance, as headed by the ship's band, they paraded through the streets and from the church. Many citizens were out to witness the march.

Throughout the afternoon, the ship was open to visitors and large numbers took the opportunity of exploring the vessel, being courteously escorted about the craft by members of the crew.

During the afternoon and evening, officers of the ship were hosts to local friends, returning social courtesies that had been extended them throughout the week here.

On into the fine evening, crowds of local folk went down to the dock to see the ship.

Among the activities in which men from the ship participated over the week-end were: Saturday night dance in the Auditorium with music by the ship's orchestra, billiard games at the Canadian Legion and intermediate football game Saturday evening, rifle shooting competition at McNicholl Creek yesterday, tennis tournament, concert in the Capitol Theatre and senior football game.

Orders for the ship to depart this morning prevented Capt. Dobson and his men participating in Elks' Flag Day celebration.

During the afternoon, officers of the warship were taken for cruises on the water by local friends in their power boats.

F. Baggett, Winnipeg labor man, who is identified with the railway maintenance of way organization, arrived in the city from the east on last night's train to pay a visit to the local union.

AFGHAN KING FOOLS PEOPLE

LAHORE, India, June 1.—The tide in ex-King Amanullah's fortunes is said to have turned upon a "Magician's cloak-trick."

An Indian engineer just returned from two years' government service in Afghanistan relates that when Amanullah first arrived in Kandahar in his struggle to regain his throne from Baca Ha Sakao, the water boy, now known as Habibullah Khan, the people were so inimical to him that he was compelled to produce some dramatic proof of his right to kingship, in order to win them to his cause.

He promised them a display of the Khirka Shariff or "Prophet's Cloak," which is greatly venerated by all Afghans as a religious relic. The cloak is kept locked up in a box in a shrine, and tradition says that only a good man can open the box.

The relic has scarcely been seen for the past 200 years, and Amanullah's sensational promise to open the box and produce the cloak as a token of his fitness to rule, brought out a crowd of some 60,000 curious Afghans on the appointed day.

For two hours Amanullah wrestled with the box, but was unable to open it. Then with a loud cry to the prophet to bear witness to his goodness, he made a supreme effort and the box flew open. As he held up the holy relic, the crowd prostrated themselves to the dust.

The news spread through the land, creating a deep impression. Amanullah's success was taken as an indication that he would regain the throne and punish all those who had not supported him.

Reports from Kandahar and Kabul of the defeat of Amir Habibullah's troops at Ghazni and the establishment of Amanullah's headquarters there for his attack upon Kabul are accepted in some quarters as bearing out the engineer's story.

Amanullah is now said to have gained the sympathy of the Ghilzai tribe, who are Afghanistan's most prosperous traders. They are able to supply the ex-King with money, arms and soldiers. Other formerly hostile tribes are also supporting him.

A Great Car for Women to Drive

THE FORD car is a great car for women to drive not only because it is so smart and good looking, but also because of its comfort, ease of control, and reliability. Especially its reliability.

You know the Ford will take you there and bring you back. You know you can depend on it. You know it has been built to give you thousands of miles of faithful, uninterrupted service. This freedom from trouble—this mental comfort—means a great deal to every woman who drives a car.

Another feature of the Ford that appeals to women is the safety afforded by the fully enclosed efficient six-brake system, steel body, and shatterproof glass windshield.

You can see the value of this when you consider that 65 per cent of automobile injuries are caused by flying glass. The windshield of the Ford will not shatter under the hardest impact. A demonstration drive is convincing.

PLANNING OUTDOOR LIVING ROOM

Informal Type

In place of an open rear yard, within the view of every one, one should plan a private outdoor living room. Here one can enjoy the sunshine and work among the shrubbery and gay flowers out of sight of prying eyes. Let the turf provide a green carpet; plant beautiful trees, shrubs and evergreens to make the walls which set the room apart and screen it from view.

Hardy flowers can be planted along the borders to provide fragrance and color. A few irises can provide comfortable shade and fruit. Altogether, one will have a room as delightful as any one could dream—a room which will give countless hours of enjoyment and satisfaction.

Plan an outdoor living room on the sunny side of the home, if possible, and have it easily accessible to the living rooms.

The informal living room can be described as a little park where there would be no definite, regular shape or pattern followed. If one prefers this type, the center is left open as shown in the accompanying illustration. Boundary planting can be arranged along graceful, curving lines. The planting may vary in height to gain that feeling of freedom and organized irregularity so charming in the informal treatment.

When the area available for an outdoor living room is small, a formal treatment is often desirable. Such an area might well be developed adjacent to the living room and sun porch, making the boundaries an extension of the house lines.

Formal Planting

FINE EXAMPLE FORMAL GARDEN

Wonderful Effects Secured by Robert Gordon on Seventh Avenue

There are so many interesting gardens in Prince Rupert today that it is difficult to single out any for special mention. There is one, however, only two years old, on the site of the former sash and door factory, on Seventh Avenue that is worthy of special mention. It has been made and planned by Robert Gordon, whose home it surrounds, and is one of the best examples of a formal garden in the city. It covers several city lots and the land is level and lends itself particularly to the style adopted.

From earliest spring to latest fall there is provision made for flowers to bloom. The soil is rich, resembling somewhat the bog land of Ireland, where Mr. Gordon got his first gardening experience. It is well cultivated and numerous young trees have been planted, which in years to come will interfere somewhat with the flower and vegetable crop, but will add much to the beauty.

Mr. Gordon says the only way to garden effectively here is to have a greenhouse or cold frame. He has a little greenhouse where he raises seedlings and also gets a supply of out of season flowers during winter and spring. The value of this is seen in that just as soon as his tulips, which are very beautiful now, are over, he will have strong annuals ready to take their place and keep the ground producing.

It is unnecessary to go into detail in regard to this beautiful plot. There are well kept lawns, beds of bulbs, annuals, perennials and almost everything that can be desired in the flower line. Especially is there a good showing of roses which are growing rapidly. Some that have been only recently taken from the greenhouse are in bloom but that is not a normal condition.

Anyone wishing to see how to

FLOWER GARDEN STYLES CHANGE

Most People Like to Be Up to Date in Arrangement of Their Beauty Spot

One hardly realizes the changes in styles that take place from day to day.

Although we may not realize it, styles change in gardening as in anything else, and the pictures of grounds in a garden magazine of twenty years ago look greatly unlike those being planted today.

Some of you may remember the time when it was "the thing" to have a cast-iron deer in the front yard, and flower beds of various shapes were considered the last word. Of course, these are passe, today, and there are many other changes in gardening styles which are apparent to one who is familiar with the development of the landscape art.

Today it is the fashion to have open lawns with plantings relegated to the boundary lines. The foundations are softened with evergreens and shrubbery and the back yard is made as attractive as possible.

Naturally, you want your home grounds to appear to the best advantage, for the passerby judges your home by the way the grounds are planted and cared for. Every one admires a well-planted home.

grow flowers or what to plant could not do better than take a look at this extremely well kept and effective garden, but to emulate it a good deal of work must be done throughout the season.

Leaf-eating insects will also soon be working in the garden. For them a poison spray on the foliage is the thing to use.

Holes in the perennial border can well be filled this season with annuals and later be replanted to perennials.

INSECT ENEMIES IN THE GARDEN

The enemies of plants will often quickly destroy them or do great harm. The best way to combat them is to be on the watch for their appearance and then use whatever poison or means is necessary to destroy that particular insect.

Sucking insects cause the plant to wilt and the leaves to curl. As they do not eat the leaves, they must be washed off the plant or killed with a contact poison which kills the insect by coming into contact with its body. All the true bugs, plant lice, and aphids, belong to this group.

The chewing insects are destroyed by direct poisoning, that is, by poisons applied to the plant and swallowed by the insects. Many beetles, weevils, worms and grubs, belong to this form.

Sucking Insects

Wash off with hose. Spray each insect with nicotine, kerosene emulsion or soap suds.

Chewing Insects

Use the following spray on plants: Arsenate of lead, paris green.

The scale insects which get on fruit trees are sprayed at the time the young insects are mite-grating in spring. Use lime, sulphur, or miscible oil.

Spraying calendars for fruit diseases and insects are furnished by dealers in sprays and departments of agriculture.

When any sprays are purchased there should always be complete directions for use secured.

Fungous Diseases

Use the following spray on plant: Bordeaux mixture, composed of stone lime, 2 table-spoonsful; copper sulphate, 2 table-spoonsful; and water, 2 gallons.

Many fungous troubles can be controlled and dispelled by severing and destroying the affected parts and by promptly removing any traces of plants that have been destroyed.

In plants affected with fungous diseases, or spots upon the leaves or stems, a gradual weakening or death of the part, and in many cases a complete dropping off of the leaves. In the course of the disease the parts affected take on a mildewed or unsightly rusty appearance.

FUNNY NAMES FOR PLANTS

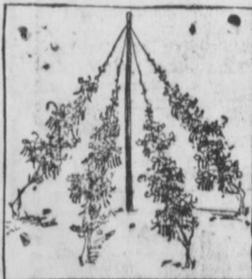

Plant nomenclature seems to be something of a handicap to popular interest in gardening. The use of Latin names in plant classification has kept the knowledge of trees, shrubs, vines and flowers within a closed book in the eyes of the average citizen. It is interesting to note that while zoologists use the Latin nomenclature, most animals, birds, etc., are known by "common" names in every language. So are most drugs, insects and minerals. In the plant world, only those plants of important commercial or economic value are known by "common" names.

The original reason for the use of Latin in scientific classification is simple—the system of classification was invented and applied by scholars who knew no other language. The present system for plants was conceived by Linnaeus. It has endured because nobody has produced a better one in any other language. "Common" names of plants in the English language are derived from an amazing jumble of descriptive phrases, as well as from various uses to which portions of plants are put; and some of them are mere translations or corruptions from other languages, and some of them are "just names."

On the other hand, the Linnaean classification is based consistently on definite botanical characteristics, clearly discernible when translated literally from the Latin. To be sure, common names are coming into use more and more, due to popular demand. But because of the innumerable varieties of plants produced by hybridization, the systematic naming a la Linnaeus is far more accurate and simple than English words offer.

Framing Climbers

Roses and many vines may be trained like this.

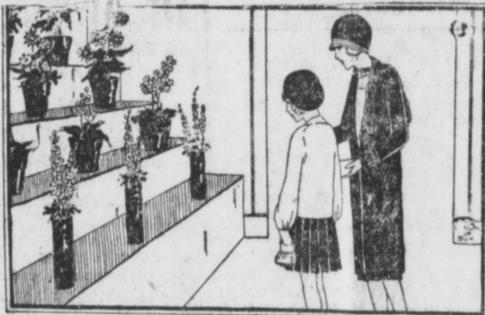

Annabell Annual Says:

Don't neglect to thin the radishes to an inch apart if you want early radishes of uniform size and quality. Don't make them fight to live.

Just before the flowering season begins in the garden, it is good practice to top-dress the beds with bone meal and rake it in.

HOW OTHERS DO IT

There is a suggestion for displaying flowering plants when exhibiting. It is a distinct advantage to be able to look down on the flowers, rather than up.

The detailed drawing, left, shows one of the giant air chambers of the floating island. The estimated cost of each floating aerodrome is $1,500,000.

ATHLETICS IN LEAGUE LEAD

Did Not Play at Week-End But Held Position

NEW YORK, June 3.—Galloping ahead of the field in the two major circuits Philadelphia and St. Louis eased to a canter over the week-end. The Cardinals played neither Saturday nor Sunday while the Mackmen bothered only to hammer out a victory over Detroit Saturday.

St. Louis though failed to improve the standing of the club because Pittsburgh lost to Philadelphia Saturday. The Mackmen's well profited when St. Louis' Browns lost to Washington Saturday afternoon.

Seven and a half games from the top the third place Yankees slipped a full game from the adverse margin by pummeling Chicago in two weekend contests.

Babe Ruth got his tenth homer in New York games against Chicago Saturday.

DARING ROMANCE OFFERS GILBERT SUPER-LOVE ROLE

Star Is Superb in His Portrayal of Man Without Soul

FINE SUPPORTING CAST

"The Masks of the Devil" Has Theodore Roberts and Eva von Barne as Players

A Don Juan of tomorrow among the dancing ladies of the Vienna of today!

Such is John Gilbert in his new starring picture, "The Masks of the Devil," which opens tonight at the Capitol Theatre.

This ultra-modern Metro-Columbia picture will undoubtedly go down in screen history as Gilbert's most daringly romantic screen story. It is a tale of a man without a soul; a super-lover who stole hearts and stooped to knavery without a thought for ideals or religion.
