ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 23.—A definite change in the configuration of the Burin peninsula resulted from Monday's earthquake, Hon. George Bartlett said on arrival here yesterday. He witnessed the tidal wave which swept in from the Atlantic 40 feet high two hours after the quake denuded the Burin peninsula shores of habitation and in places swept inland, destroying bridges and highways. The 15, arrived here last night death list may total 40.

Bartlett saw the wave from the deck of the steamer Daisy which was raised high above the Government wharf Deputy Minister at Burin on the crest of the wave and then touched bottom where ordinarily there is eighteen feet of water when the wave receded and the vessel settled safely.

Mr. Bartlett said that where vessels of fifteen tons could previously ride at anchor, the disturbance had left Burin coastal waters too shallow for navigation.

Telling of the disaster, Mr. Bartlett said that cries for help came through the dark when the wave struck. Rescuers from the Daisy searched the houses riding on the seas on Burin Inlet but found no survivors. In the upper deputy minister of fisheries, beroom of one house a light continued to burn spectral in the darkness as it floated over the water. Another family was seated at tea. The house suddenly shifted, came back to position, then, as it moved again, the father seized a child under each arm and with his wife on his back struggled through the water to safety.

A motorist approaching Burin won a thrilling race when a bridge that he crossed went down as the rear wheels reached the farther side.

Efforts to refloat the vessel will this morning at the intersections of Burin coast, are reported to have suffered severe damage. The most serious condition is the privation arising from the destruction of homes, winter supply of provisions, fuel and practically all the fishing gear. The damage is estimated at more than a million dollars.

FISHERMEN'S PROBLEMS

Editor, Daily News,-I hope you will permit me to make a comment the editorial appearing in The Daily News November 20.

Under the heading of "Sickness Insurance," a statement, interesting us at present, is found to be: ". . right to free treatment in the hospital. This is rather difficult. is usually found that the payments are soon neglected and the people who need the relief most are the ones who fail to make the pay-

On the other hand, any fisherman who has not paid any dues under this system and who applies for treatment in the hospital and receives medical attention there and pays nothing for it can't be considered as a difficulty or an obstacle to the system that will be proposed, for he is not a subject under provisions of this system.

And, finally, those who are not in the habit of looking for a doctor on account of a slight headache and who will pay will become an asset to the hospital which at the present does not exist.

Doctor Large of Port Simpson, who has made a success of this system in the hospital under his management, had this system in operation for several years, and we have not heard of any difficulties yet.

And if it hadn't been for the out of the way location of his hospital, salmon fishermen would not have any difficulty in the operation of this system of sick insurance. The other part of the editorial

Waterfront Whiffs

Halibut Landings This Year Three-Quarters of Million Pounds Higher Than Last; Has Been Good Season, Figures and Facts Show

The grand total of halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the 1929 season just closed, according to Nordby figures compiled regularly in the Waterfront Whiffs, was Northern Norma J. 27,807,250 pounds, as compared with 27,036,000 pounds for Narrona the 1928 season, and 25,135,950 pounds in 1927. The in-|Qnah crease this year was entirely due to heavier landings of Omaney American fish which totalled 20,354,500 pounds, as against Prient 19,554,700 pounds last year. The Canadian total this year Pacific -7,452,750 pounds-was slightly below last year's 7,481,- Prosperity 300 pounds. These figures take into account only fish that President was actually landed at Prince Rup- "ert and does not include offerings that may have come here but were not actually delivered at the port. They are also subject to revision when official landing records are issued in a month or so by the fish-eries department. For general pur-poses, however, they may be accepted as fairly accurate.

Apart from figures, however, the past season's operations have been vastly more successful from the financial standpoint of the fisher-men. Almost throughout the year prices have been consistently good and this has meant that the large majority of the boats and the fishermen have made good money. Despite adverse tariff, it is also gratifying that very often during the season Canadian prices have compared very favorably with American. On many days Canadian halbut actually received higher prices than American.

A happy fact can also be related in the fact that there has not been nearly as high a toll of fishermen's lives this year on the banks. While there were, as usual, a few scattered Ternen fatalities, there was nothing to days of the 1928 season of two boats with their entire crews. A year has now passed and no definite clue Viking has been obtained of the fate of Verna these boats. The most serious trag- Volunteer edy of the season just past was the Velma C loss of the crew of the American Viking (Troller) fishing boat Typee, of whom no Vera Beatrice trace was found following the dis- W. Atlantic As far as landings at Prince Rup- Aleutian ert were concerned, average fares Addington were as large as last year, although Alki Seattle reports smaller averages.

The Seattle schooner Eldorado, Attu Capt. J. Johnson, landed the most Bravo tish of any single boat at Prince Betty Rupert during the season, bringing Baltic n 404,000 pounds in ten trips. The Brothers Ketchikan schooner McKinley, Capt. B. Hanson was second with 396,000 pounds in eleven trips and the Mitkof, Capt. S. Johansen, of Petersburg, third with 370,000 Cedric Constitution ikan schooner Foremost, which led the fleet last year with 351,000 pounds in seven trips, landed only Chum Columbia one catch of 42.000 pounds Prince Rupert in 1929.

The Takla, Capt. Chris Parkvold, again was the high boat in volume of landings for the Canadian fleet, bringing in 311,000 pounds in eleven trips, as against 293,000 pounds in nine trips last year. The Coven-teen trips, and the Prosperity A., Democra 244,000 pounds in seventeen trips. Doric The Melville, Capt. John Ivarson, Dalco came a close fourth with 242,000 Don Q. pounds in seventeen trips.
