Pat Welch well known as Railway Contractor Died in California

VANCOUVER, Jan. 3.—Pat Welch, 70 years of age and a member of the firm of Foley, Welch & Stewart, died at Coronada, Cal. He came to British Columbia in 1893 to build the Wenata-Nelson section of the Nelson-Fort Chippewyan Railway. He was superintendent for his firm in the most difficult part of construction between Saskatoon and Prince Rupert on the Grand Trunk Pacific. He later turned his attention to the building of the Pacific Great Eastern and also built the five-mile Connaught tunnel on the Canadian Pacific Railway main line near Glacier.

MRS. NORTHCOTT CHILDREN SHOT SAYS TRICKED IN ONTARIO

Now Declares She Did Not Murder Boy, But Another Guilty
Father Arrested and Charged With Crime and Also Other Shooting

SAN QUENTIN, Cal. Jan. 3.—Declaring she had been tricked into pleading guilty to the murder of Walter Collins, Mrs. Northcott yesterday repudiated her confession and said Sanford Clark, her grandson, "must be guilty." She said the only murder she knew to have been committed on the ranch was an unknown New York boy who was given refuge and whom she found later dead in the chicken house with Sanford Clark standing near the door.

PATTULLO IS OUT TO GET HIS RIGHTS

Says He Will Demand That Full Publicity Be Given Government Orders

VICTORIA, Jan. 3.—Hon. T. D. Pattullo, member for Prince Rupert, in a statement made here yesterday indicated that he would demand from the Tolmie government that full publicity be given to all orders-in-council. These are the orders passed by the provincial cabinet and signed by the lieutenant-governor. Once they are passed, Mr. Pattullo claims that they should be open to the public. The Tolmie government acknowledged the right of the leader of the opposition to see the orders and accepted former Premier MacLean as the leader. On his departure for Ottawa, Dr. MacLean designated Mr. Pattullo to exercise the right for him, and this, Mr. Pattullo says, will be done.

However, this does not satisfy Mr. Pattullo. He claims and will urge his claim on the floor of the legislature that every citizen has a right to know what orders are passed, and the members of the legislature have the right to examine them at any time during proper office hours.

Canada for First Time Exercises Her Right as Independent Nation Within Commonwealth of the British Empire

OTTAWA, Jan. 3.—The year 1929 opened here officially yesterday by a wholly new departure in statecraft on the part of Canada. A treaty was signed by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, premier of Canada, on behalf of His Majesty King George. This is the first occasion the Canadian prime minister has signed a treaty as chief adviser to His Majesty in regard to Canadian affairs under the equal status provisions set forth at the last imperial conference. It marks the advent of Canada as an independent nation in the British Commonwealth, subject only to the King, but wholly independent of the British cabinet.

The treaty was one between United States and Canada enabling power plants at Niagara Falls to take more water out of Niagara River while, at the same time, protecting the scenic beauty of the falls. It was signed by Hon. William Phillips, United States minister plenipotentiary to Ottawa, as well as by the Canadian premier.

TROLLING BOAT WENT ON ROCKS NO WRECKAGE OF SCHOONERS

Two Ketchikan Men Were Marooned for Nearly Week; Camped on Beach

KETCHIKAN, Jan. 3.—Marooned for a week on Wedg Island, near Dolomi, Elmer Perkins and Wes Meyers were rescued by Ernest Steers, who sought them on his power boat Chief when their long absence caused fears for their safety in Ketchikan.

Perkins and Meyers left here on the 35-foot trolling boat Hazel I. Running into a small harbor the boat struck a sharp rock and grounded, filling with water when the tide came in.

The two men camped out on the beach and were working to get the boat off the rocks when found by Steers, who left to search for them early Christmas morning. Temporary repairs were made to the Hazel I. and she was brought back here by the Chief.

Mrs. R. S. Wood is making the trip to Anyox today with the local Ladies' Senior basketball team.

Effort is Being Made Capture Fresh Halibut Business of Pacific

Ketchikan Commercial Club Again Endorses Scheme and Appoints Representative to Appear at Washington on Their Behalf

KETCHIKAN, Jan. 3.—Another effort is to be made by this city to capture the fresh halibut market from Prince Rupert. For several years the attack was led by Josiah Strong, who planned to build up this city as a fishing centre and have all halibut shipped to the eastern market, first packed in ice and boxed here. One of the schemes was to have a car-ferry operated between this port and Prince Rupert in order to avoid re-handling of the fish at Prince Rupert. Telling of the recent move the Ketchikan, Alaska, Chronicle, says:

A vigorous campaign to bring the market for fresh halibut and salmon to Ketchikan will be carried on by the Commercial Club during 1929, it was decided at a dinner meeting at the Blue Fox Cafe.

J. A. Talbot was appointed special representative of the club to appear at January tariff hearings of congress and press the club's recommendation that duty be placed on American fish which is boxed, iced, frozen or otherwise enhanced in value by foreign labor or foreign material at a Canadian port.

For two hours, members of the club discussed the fish market situation. Mr. Talbot, in the chair, read a statement from the club which appears in the records of hearings before the finance committee of congress in 1922, recommending the placing of duty on American fish which re-enters the States after having been increased in value in Canada.

The following motion, passed by the executive committee of the club at a meeting on December 21, was read by Frank Shelton, secretary:

"It is the sense of the meeting that we take steps to bring the business of fresh halibut and salmon to an Alaskan market, thus affording a better competitive market for fresh fish than now exists."

A wire from the Juneau chamber of commerce notifying the club that they are advocating an amendment of the Jones shipping law so that it will apply to Alaska as well as other parts of the States was read and it was decided that the Juneau chamber be notified that Ketchikan opposes any change in the shipping laws.

G. A. M'NICHOLL IS OPTIMISTIC

Former Resident of Prince Rupert Tells East About West

MONTREAL, Jan. 3.—Construction of business buildings has proceeded rapidly in Vancouver for some time, and general business in the coast cities is in a thriving condition, it was stated today by George A. McNicholl, general passenger agent, Canadian National Railways, Vancouver, who is in Montreal on a business trip. Throughout the United States coast cities there is a growing interest in Canada and her tourist resorts, Mr. McNicholl stated. Inquiries concerning reservations at Jasper Park Lodge for next season are already beginning to reach the passenger department. While the popularity of the Canadian National steamship tours through the scenic "Norway of America," and as far north as Alaska, threatens to tax all available space on the steamships next season.

Residents of Portland, Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles, among other United States cities, have learned much of the charms of the Canadian Rockies during recent years, Mr. McNicholl said, and the added attraction of being able to play a round of golf over the magnificent course at Jasper Park Lodge has placed an entirely new outlook on holidays at Canada's largest park.

KING GEORGE STILL GAINS

Spent Restless Night But Progress Toward Recovery is Not Checked

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Although the King for the second night in succession has passed a restless night there has been no definite check in the progress he is making. This seems to indicate that His Majesty has a slightly better reserve strength upon which to draw. Palace circles regard his condition as satisfactory.

The 8 p.m. bulletin said: "The King has had a fair day and there is no change of note in His Majesty's condition."

HOCKEY MEETS MUCH FAVOR IN UNITED STATES

DETROIT, Jan. 3.—Hockey is "in". The early games over the national professional hockey circuit show conclusively that the former Canadian national sport has come into the United States as a "natural" for the box offices.

Probably no other sport has had the sensational rise to popularity on this side of the Canadian border that hockey has enjoyed. Only a few years ago, in 1924 to be exact, the Boston Bruins held the American franchise in the National League. The Bruins drew slim crowds. Then suddenly hockey burst into prominence, Pittsburgh and New York entered teams in the 1924 and 1925 seasons and rapidly the present league was built up, with increasing attendance. Promoters began to see the light and today palatial indoor rinks may be seen in nearly every large hockey town.

The bull movement has hit the hockey stock everywhere.

The fact that there were holdouts this year in large numbers, forcibly drew the attention of managers to the fact that their game had moved into the "big" time.

While major league hockey is considered faster and more exciting, even the minor leagues, of which there are five—scattered throughout the United States and the Dominion—are reporting capacity houses.

Frank Calder, president of the National League, who is responsible for the present organization of the whole national circuit, holds to the opinion that hockey still is in its infancy. He predicts hockey organizations eventually will reach into those regions where at the present only the unrefined great-grandfather—"shiny" is known.

Franchise prices soared within a few years of hockey's start in the United States. The Detroit Cougars, one of the major league teams, were purchased in 1926 for $100,000. Last year they moved into their own home, the Detroit Olympia arena, a sports stadium second in size to the Madison Square Gardens. This year almost half the price of the original franchise was spent for new players. Similar conditions prevail in almost every team in the circuit.

As a Canadian sports writer summarized it: "It appears that the hockey managers have put the game 'on ice' from now on."

SPORT CHAT

The Vanderhoof Hockey Club is to hold a dance in the Community Hall of the interior town tomorrow night for the purpose of raising funds to operate during the present season. Last winter, excellent hockey was played in Vanderhoof and it is expected that the present season will see many good matches.

With Senior men's and women's teams now at Anyox, High School girls just completing a return visit to the smelter town and High School boys now touring the interior, there has been much inter-town basketball activity of late. This should instill more enthusiasm into play for the locals. The forthcoming visit to Prince Rupert of Senior men and women from Anyox will be keenly anticipated.

Now that the preliminaries are apparently over and Alf Harding and Dido Gurvich have both expressed their keen desire to meet in a winner-take-all mauling match, local fans of the fistic art are very anxious to know what date the boys are to choose for the mix. The proposed bout is already productive of much speculation and should draw a big gate unless everybody has it settled before it is staged.

Al Small of the Swift-Canadian Co. sailed last night by the Prince Rupert to make the round trip to Stewart and Anyox on business.

Prince Rupert High School Won Basketball Game at Terrace but by Very Close Margin at End

TERRACE, Jan. 3.—Prince Rupert High School basketball team won last night in the last three minutes of a very closely contested game against the boys of Terrace High School, in what was admitted by the visitors to have been the stiffest contest of the season here, the score at the close being 46 to 37. Rupert's more accurate shooting decided the issue.

At the end of the first half Terrace was leading by a margin of two, the scores being 21 to 19 in their favor, and

LIONS' ROAR TOO MUCH FOR VICTORIA CUBS

Vancouver Won From Victoria at Hockey After Close Contest

VANCOUVER, Jan. 3.—Victoria proved a stepping stone to the march of the Lions toward the league championship last night when they finished on the short end of a two to one count. The win cinched the chance of the locals getting in the playoffs. Jerwa scored for Vancouver in the first period. Norman Pridham lifted a high one to even the score in the second period when Jackson caught the puck in his hands and let it drop to roll into the net. McAdam got the winning goal in the same period on a pass from behind the net from Don Cummings.

OUTLET FOR PROTEST

During the winter evenings when the weather is sometimes not pleasant and the festivities are over, there is a little tendency to sit at home and protest at everything. The town is dull, the people are stupid, the newspapers do not have colored supplements, articles at the stores are expensive, the streets are rough, the sidewalks out of repair, the houses unpainted.

If only we set out to pity ourselves, it is wonderful how much sympathy we can obtain. So we tend to develop a civic neurasthenia which is not good for the individual or the city.

This is the beginning of a new year. It is a time when we might well all be looking forward to betterment. If we keep busy we have no time for a grouch. This is the season for hobbies, studies, mental improvement, acquisition of further education. If we get busy on these we forget the badness of our neighbors.

WORK IS NECESSARY

Here is something rather interesting from the Manchester Guardian:

A man with some darling craft of his own must scratch his head in wonder when he hears some of the things that are said about work. One day he finds labor put down as a curse that came on Adam at the Fall—as if Adam had never done a day's digging before his eviction. Another day we are bidden to hope that if the invention of tricks to save labor can only go on as fast as it is going now we may yet have no need to work more than two hours a day, or possibly one. Even sages so fully accredited as Bertrand Russell propose that we should knock off presently for all but four hours a day. He would turn us out for the rest of our time to get what good we could out of a set of fine abstract nouns—science and art, friendship and love, the contemplation of natural beauty and of the immensity of the universe. Husks, mere husks, unless you peg away at them so hard that this too becomes work, and so gives you back the delicious fatigues you have lost.

As if we could not see for ourselves that one of the saddest men on earth is he who has made his pile in some business early in life and who only looks in at the office for one or two hours a day to bully the clerks, and then return to his Old Masters and roses, the wife of his bosom, and the spectacle of the firmament! As if we had never seen children or artists or scientific researchers! A normal child has no spite against work until you have drilled one into him by some form of compulsion. You put him out in a sunny garden to play: he has about him everything that Mr. Bertrand Russell rates highest—sand for engineering science, a paint-box for art, dolls for his affections, a foreground of agreeable landscape, and the whole dome of the heavens to contemplate. No good: in half an hour he is plaguing you to let him do some "real work"; he wants to sweep up the dead leaves or to help with the mowing. He will not tire of doing it, either, except in the bodily way, and then he will come again, thirsting for toil, the next morning. So powerful is this innate craving for labor that it may take all the massed resources of a great public school and of a famous and ancient university to make a boy believe that real work is a thing to flee from, like want or disease, and that doing it and "having a good time" are states naturally and immutably opposed to one another.

PRINCE RUPERT MISUNDERSTOOD

Dear Editor:—
 Before leaving the United States, with a definite purpose of making Prince Rupert my headquarters for the winter, I ignorantly connected north B. C. with the word Alaska, which has always carried with it the thought of ice, snow and a very low temperature, so when many of my friends wrote sympathizing because I was in so cold a place for the winter, with their thoughts I have united various other ideas until with many suggestions, from various sources, I have an established opinion that so far as the climate is concerned Rupert is not getting its share of interest, taken in it, by people looking for mild climate, surrounded by picturesque mountains, virgin snow capped hills, reflected in one of the safest, most secluded salt water harbors in the world, deep enough to warrant and contain a commodious dry dock and necessary equipment to take care of any demand arising for such in these far north waters.

The same lack of understanding maintains respecting the location here, of the largest fish cold storage plant in the world, which takes second place only as the largest all-purpose refrigerator.

Noting in the columns of a recent local paper that mining values in B. C. are exceeded only by agriculture, is indicative of the great possibilities ahead of Prince Rupert in that very profitable and developing industry, which we fondly hope and confidently expect will soon put her in the front rank on the map of mineral cities. The Bible truly says "Where there is no vision the people perish," and it is verily true in many other ways besides religion.

By this standard we judge that while in charge of your far seeing city administration as at present constituted, your industrial conditions will neither perish nor in any sense grow feeble, as indicated by the evident wise engineering the power management into a channel possible of great development.

Which city authority will no doubt continue, or greatly increase the advertising mediums through which an ever anxious capital may be reached and made acquainted with the numerous and wonderful undeveloped resources here, which are so necessary and desirable ever to the life and continuity of the anxious, waiting capitalist.

Prince Rupert's life, energy and resource, will be discovered just in proportion to the wise united energy used by her citizens in wise directed advertising. Let all leaners become lifters, kickers be boosters, and Prince Rupert will the quicker come to her own.

An interested visitor,
 RODNEY B. ASHBY.

UPON the arteries of communication depend the settlement and growth of the nation. First the trails . . . then the rough oxcart ruts . . . the wagon roads . . . the automobile highways.

The scattered population of British Columbia has made the construction of roads between centres a matter of vital importance, yet one of almost insurmountable difficulties.

Mountain sides have to be blasted away . . . clefts and chasms tresselled . . . rivers bridged!

With the opening of the Cariboo Highway through Fraser Canyon in 1926, the last link of British Columbia's great arterial highway . . . a highway unexcelled the world over as an engineering feat and one of unmatched scenic beauty . . . was forged.

Eastern British Columbia greeted its western brothers! Markets and railways were brought closer to the farmer, the miner, the industrialist. New fields for agricultural and trade development were opened up.

For the ten years just past, an aggressive highway programme has been carried out. Thousands of miles of good roads and dozens of sturdy bridges have been built.

Our roads system now totals 31,900 miles . . . an increase of over 5,000 miles during the last ten years. Of this mileage, 12,000 miles are earth roads; 4,000 gravel roads; and 1,000 macadam, bituminous, concrete and cement concrete. The 5,000 miles which were added to our roads system include: 884 miles of main trunk roads, 602 miles of lateral roads, 281 miles of industrial and mining roads, 1,133 miles of settlement and farm roads, and 2,000 miles of ordinary and mining trails.

During the years just before 1917, a large number of bridges had been constructed in the Province, nearly all of which were temporary timber structures. Since 1917, the problem of maintenance and renewal of these structures has been a serious one, involving a large expenditure, particularly between the years 1920 and 1927.

The policy has been to improve design of and workmanship on temporary bridges and to renew all the large bridges on main highways over the principal rivers with concrete and steel.

Today, the valuation of our 63 miles of bridges is nine million dollars.

This construction activity has distributed wages and salaries over our whole Province and has been a material aid in bringing about the current period of British Columbia's prosperity.

Read these announcements and understand your province's progress . . . clip them out and send them to friends. If you desire extra copies of these announcements a note to this newspaper will bring them. Advertise your Province!

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S PROGRESS

CONTROVERSY STILL RAGES OVER THE "WALLING WALL"

The authorities in Palestine are endeavoring in every way possible to have the new stone construction on top of the famous "Walling Wall" at Jerusalem, removed on the grounds that it is a violation of the status quo. According to latest reports received it would appear that the small wall built above the "Walling Wall" was an integral part of a structure begun many months ago. The matter was referred to Mr. Amery, British Secretary for Dominion Affairs, who stated in the House of Commons that he was not satisfied that the structure was a violation of the status quo.

DUTHIE DEAL IS CRITICIZED

Financial News of Vancouver Asks Protection For Those Who Purchased Stock

PRICE HAS SLUMPED

Approves More Financing But Thinks Minority Shareholders Should Be Recommended

(Financial News)

At the risk of doing the principals who happen to be involved an injustice by writing without a knowledge of the internal affairs responsible for the visible results, we are constrained to comment on the deal whereby the capitalization of Duthie Mines Ltd. has been doubled and an eastern company "buys in."

As we see it, there is involved an ethical principal which might well be recognized in the fiscal management of Western mining companies, as it is already recognized in the wider sphere of industrial financing.

To appreciate the situation, it should be recalled that the Duthie Mine, Omineca area, was for a number of years operated privately by J. F. Duthie of Seattle. Somewhat less than a year ago a public company with authorized capitalization of $1,000,000 was formed and about 20 per cent of the stock was sold at $1 a share to the public in British Columbia and the State of Washington. Mr. Duthie, it is understood to have retained the other 80 per cent.

It is a matter of record that the Duthie, as a mine, was never in better position nor held out more promise than it does today. The company paid two dividends on the basis of 36 per cent per year and shareholders were given to understand that these would be continued, since the mill was earning more than that dividend requirement. Apparently the position of the shareholders should have been secure. There was obviously no actual need to double authorized capitalization and issue new stock in order to enlarge development to a scale more commensurate with the mine's potentialities. Expansion might have been done slowly out of revenue, either by withholding dividends for a period or by paying at a lesser rate, the ultimate advantage to be gained thus being conserved for the original shareholders alone.

Dollar a Share

However, we do not argue that the capitalization should not have been increased, nor do we find fault with the closing of a deal with Atlas Exploration for the financing of expansion at the Duthie. But we do suggest that the shareholders who paid $1 a share for Duthie stock early in 1928, and those who bought in the open market when the mine was on a profit-making basis with a fixed dividend policy indicated, are entitled to "rights" customarily given when, under such circumstances, extension of capital structure is deemed advisable.

Since the increase in capitalization was a matter of policy rather than necessity, we should say that shareholders of Duthie should not be required to accept lessened equity in the property while awaiting the beneficial results that should attend large development and production but should be compensated by right to buy some of the new stock at a discount or by a stock dividend.

It may be that some such step is still contemplated by Mr. Duthie, although no mention of it was made in the letter to the shareholders. He has held and continues to hold such a decisive majority of the stock as to make a shareholder's vote merely a formality. Consequently, it is for him to decide what policy will be adopted. His long-standing reputation for integrity and fair-dealing is assurance that when he has noted the effect of the recent announcement—which is to put the price of Duthie down to slightly more than 55 per cent of the issue price of last spring—he will find some equitable way to compensate shareholders for what now stands as a severe paper loss for most of them.

We affirm our faith in the ability of the Duthie Mine eventually justifying its new capitalization, if the new resident management measures up to the broad gauge of Capt. J. R. Turner, former manager, but we feel that this individual instance should be used as a case in point of the need for mine financing in the West to follow the fair-play practices now so general in corporate financing generally and responsible for the awakening public interest in the opportunities for profitable speculative investments.

News of the Mines

AROUND PRINCE RUPERT
Omineca District Making Great Progress; Marmot Metals Extends Holdings; New Strike on Sebakwe

No part of the province is making greater strides in mining development than the Omineca mining division, writes E. A. Haggen, editor of the Mining and Industrial Record. Much credit for this satisfactory condition of things is due to Douglas Lay, resident engineer for the district. Mr. Lay was for some years manager of the Le Roi No. 2 Ltd. at Rossland and the Van Roi mine in Slocan. It was due to his work on the new discovery at Topley two years ago that public interest was first aroused in what now gives promise of becoming one of the most important gold-silver mines in the province. Eastern capital has been negotiating for the Duthie mine and it is reported on good authority that this mine has been sold. The Duthie mine has made wonderful progress in the short time it has been in operation. Development has been attended with so much success that ore reserves are assured to maintain for several years.

An important mining operation is that at Owen Lake, where the Weinch, Cole and Chisholm properties are under active development by F. T. Taylor, discoverer of Topley. The Owen Lake property has long been regarded by mining engineers as an attractive proposition. The Mohawk at New Hazelton is developing remarkably well. It has some of the richest ore mined in the New Hazelton district, which is famous for its rich silver values. The Silver Cup mine should be an active proposition with the turning over of the new mill. Ore reserves are ample to assure continuous operation for some time and they average unusually well for in values for milling ore. An English company has acquired the Copper River and Sekwa coal holdings and has already started active development of the latter. The Copper River coal is especially valuable for the manufacture of metallurgical coke and, as important industries using this fuel are projected on the northern coast, a market is likely to develop. Tributary to the Copper River coal field are large deposits of a high grade limonite suitable for the manufacture of iron and steel, so that it would not be surprising if one of the most important industrial developments in the province should result from the acquisition of the coal field by British capital. Such new developments would bring back to that section of British Columbia an era of prosperity not experienced since pre-war days.

H. W. M. Rolston, managing-director of the Marmot Metals property, in a lengthy statement, has explained the extent to which the company has secured substantial interests in other properties. He states that his company has had a very successful year. It has taken over the Glacier Girl Mining Co. and has done considerable staking around it, with the result that Marmot Metals now owns and controls some 40 odd claims stretching for a distance of three and a half miles with some very interesting mineral showings and possibilities. The company has also optioned the Melvin Synchite and has done some work this season on the property. Some sensational ore was discovered and work on this property is to continue throughout the winter, a tunnel being started about 1000 feet from the Prosperity. Ore veins on the Melvin have been found to run into Porter-Idaho ground. The company has also become interested in the Bitter Creek Mines (L. I. H.) and has opened up high values in silver and lead. Work will be continued next spring. The company is thus in a position that it does not have to depend on any one property, though all its holdings show great promise. Entire satisfaction with the progress of development on Marmot Metals properties was expressed at a recent meeting of shareholders in Vancouver, Vice-President Nicol Thompson presiding, in the absence of the president, Dr. R. E. McKechnie.

A recent strike of ore in the third crosscut tunnel on the Sebakwe and District Mines at Stewart is reported to have widened to 40 feet. A large block of stock in this company is owned by National Silver and the Dominion

Metals Investment Co. and both companies will benefit from the strike.

The Afternoon Reception Frock Takes to the Jacket

Borrowing a touch from the formal evening mode, this charming afternoon model emphasizes the longer-in-back line. This is a youthful and smart figure which deserves recognition in the field of informal fashions. Cocoa chiffon is the medium in which this smart frock is carried out, while the short jacket is of a deeper shade of the same color. Note the novel shirred effect at the neckline.

SEND-OFF FOR BOB DAVIE

Mr. and Mrs. Davie and Son Will Leave For the South Tomorrow Morning

Quite a number of members and friends gathered in the St. Andrew's Society rooms last evening to bid farewell to Robert Davie, who is leaving Prince Rupert to reside in North Vancouver. A pleasant evening was spent with music, songs and stories.

During the course of the evening, S. D. Macdonald, on behalf of the members of the society and the Thistle Football Club, presented Mr. Davie with a handsome club bag, and Mrs. Davie with an umbrella as a token of the esteem in which they are held by their friends they are leaving behind. Mr. Davie suitably replied. Those taking part in the program were J. Campbell, Ald. W. M. Brown, C. Taylor, Geo. Scott, B. Ferguson, J. J. Little, Geo. Abbott, Wm. Smith, Geo. Mitchell, A. A. Connan and S. D. Macdonald. W. Vaughan Davies officiated at the piano. Refreshments were served, with D. Findlayson in charge of the kitchen.

The Greatest Man in the World

To those dear to you, you are the greatest man in the world . . . the wisest and the most far-sighted. They trust you to protect them from hardship and privation. And to the best of your ability you would do so.

Yet there may come a day when you will no longer be here to shield them . . . to provide for their needs. Will their faith in you then be justified?

You realize that their confidence challenges you to greater vigilance in their behalf. Have you made the provision for them that you know to be necessary? Is your Life Insurance sufficient to meet their needs? Do you realize that $5,000 invested at 6% yields an income of less than $6 per week?

For the sake of those who love and respect and trust you . . . those to whom you are the "greatest man in the world" . . . take pencil and paper, and figure how much you have done toward the building up of an estate. Then call in the representative of any Life Insurance Company and learn how little is the cost of adequate protection.

Man in the Moon

Now that 1928 is gone and we have set out to make a new year, what about paying up some of our old debts.

Jake says he wishes he could forget 1928, especially the money he owes.

But the bills are coming along as usual marked "To Account Rendered."

Jake says what he hangs around his neck these days has nothing to do with the Sunshine Club. It's simply one of the new flashy ties that all the boys are wearing.

I'm very disappointed over my presents this year. I wanted a new car and all I got was a picture of a steamship.

To listen to radio these days in the downtown section of the city is like riding in an old-fashioned dump cart without springs. It almost shakes yer innards out.

Most of the boys started off the New Year well, with big heads and empty pockets.

Champagnes and wines and Martini cocktails, rum and whiskey and brandy! This is not a liquor advertisement but a list of some of the bottled substance that a mysterious individual left outside the door of Judge J. W. Kehoe's home the days before Christmas, says the Ketchikan Chronicle.

There were 20 bottles of the Christmas cheer in all, wrapped in sugar packing. A detailed check of the ingredients for an old-fashioned Yuletide celebration showed that there were 12 bottles of champagne, two bottles of port wine, two bottles of apricot brandy, one bottle of Three-Star Hennessy, one bottle of Sandy Macdonald Scotch whiskey, one bottle of Old Buck rum and one bottle of Martini cocktails.

Judge Kehoe announced today that the owner of the liquor can obtain return of it by calling at the court house, failing which it will be destroyed. He did not reveal, however, just what would happen to his would-be benefactor if he showed up, although he intimated that he knew the source of the liquid cheer.

MY KITCHEN NOTEBOOK

by Mary Blake
Domestic Science Counselor

My Secret for Finer-Textured Cakes
I must confess that I haven't always been successful in the making of cake. I suspect that I possessed more zeal than skill—thoroughness rather than deftness. But when I learned to exercise my beating proclivities at the start in the creaming together of butter and sugar, and to exhibit restraint at the finish by stirring only a moment after the final ingredients were added, my cakes improved.

But the greatest improvement I have ever made in cakes has been through the use of Carnation Milk. Besides being evaporated to double richness and sterilized for safekeeping, it is "homogenized," the cream content broken up into minute particles and distributed throughout every drop. As a result, cakes are not only rich with this uniformly distributed, double share of cream, but because of the fineness of the particles the texture is exceptionally smooth, fragile and fine.

Carnation gives similar results in all cookery, a creamy smoothness to sauces, candies and ice cream, a richness to soups, and a delicate texture to puddings, cakes and waffles that even the best of bottled milk cannot equal. Try this convenient, economical and dependable form of milk—it's just pure whole milk with about half the natural water removed and nothing added.

Write for the free Carnation Cook Book—"My Hundred Favorite Recipes." Address Carnation Milk Products Co., Limited, 134 Abbott Street, Vancouver, B.C.

Carnation Date Cake
1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg, 3 tbs. Carnation Milk with enough water to make 1 1/2 cup liquid, 1 1/2 cups pastry flour, 3 tsp. baking powder, pinch of salt, 1 tsp. cinnamon, 1/2 tsp. vanilla, 1/2 cup chopped dates, 1 cup broken nut meats. Cream shortening; add sugar gradually and continue creaming; add beaten egg and beat mixture hard until it becomes a very light color and creamy. Add 1/2 cup flour and stir until well mixed. Measure flour after sifting once. Dredge nuts and dates with a little of the flour and add to mixture. Last, sift in rest of flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon; add diluted milk and flavoring all at once; stir vigorously for 1 1/2 minutes.

Pour batter immediately into pan which has been oiled and dusted with thin film of flour. Place in 300°F. (slow) oven for first 10 minutes, then elevate to 375°F. (moderate). Bake about 45 minutes. When done it shrinks from sides of pan and springs up when pressed with finger.

Remove from the pan, cool and ice with Carnation Icing.

Carnation Icing
1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar, 1 tbs. butter, 2 tbs. Carnation Milk, 1/2 tsp. vanilla. Cream butter and sifted sugar, add Carnation and vanilla. Beat thoroughly and spread on cake.

It Makes Better Cake

THE perfect cake is the cake of perfect texture. And the way to get perfect texture is to use Carnation—the double-rich milk with the cream evenly shared by every drop. Adds wonderful smoothness and flavor to all cooking.
