Tahoma Struck Breaker and James Kenny of Seattle Washed Overboard On November 11; Not Seen Since

Reporting the loss overboard in a heavy sea 18 miles south of Cape St. Elias on the night of November 11 of James Kenny of Seattle, a member of the crew, the American halibut boat Tahoma, Capt. W. Pierce, is in port for sale on the exchange today.

According to Captain Pierce, the Tahoma had experienced considerable rough weather. On the night of the fatality the storm seemed to have abated and two men went on deck to straighten up some of the gear. Suddenly the vessel struck a heavy breaker and Kenny was washed overboard and never seen again. He was a young single man and lived in Seattle.

Also in for today's sale at Prince Rupert was the American schooner Middleton, Capt. Gus Isaacson, which lost a man, Knute Haugen, off Icy Bay in the same storm.

TAY PAY IS PASSED ON

Famous Irish Member of British Parliament Ends Career, Aged 81

WAS NEWSPAPERMAN

Was Widely Known and Much Admired by Very Large Number of People

LONDON, Nov. 18.—T. P. O'Connor, "father of the House of Commons," died early this morning at the age of 81. The aged parliamentarian was affectionately known as "Tay Pay." He had been unconscious a considerable part of the last 48 hours. For ten days he had been confined to his bed by a septic condition of one of his legs.

Had there been more Irishmen of the type of Thomas Power O'Connor back through the centuries of the Irish question, it is possible that there would have been no such issue. Certainly, it would not have developed the acuteness that marked it at frequent intervals.

"Tay Pay," as he was more familiarly known to the public, always was a Nationalist—in fact, the last survivor of the Irish Nationalist Party. But he was not an

MARGARET LOST GEAR

Decks of Halibut Vessel Swept Clear by Storm, But No Lives Lost

Most of the Canadian boats are believed to have weathered safely the storms on the fishing banks during the last few days of the season. However, the Prince Rupert boat Margaret L. Capt. George Fritz, was one that suffered. While returning to port with her final catch of the season the seas washed her decks clean and all her gear as well as a couple of dories were lost. The Margaret arrived in port yesterday morning and sold her catch at the exchange today.

LADY ASTOR NOT WANTED

Says British House of Commons Improved Since She Arrived

LONDON, Nov. 15.—"I know what it is like to be in a place where I am not wanted," said Lady Astor, M.P., at a meeting held at the Liverpool Town Hall under the auspices of the Lancashire and Cheshire Child Adoption Council.

"When I first went into Parliament, although the men behaved with something like dauntless decency, no one but a blind idiot would fail to see that they did not want a woman. But the House of Commons has changed for the better since women came into it.

"The world has come to a point when it is getting much better in every way. We have got a lot of new and young citizens—some who are only one year old and others who are only eleven years old. In the short time of our citizenship we have made an enormous difference to the history of this country.

"I am very partial to the weaker sex, but I am one of those people who have always known that they are the weaker sex. Every woman knows that who has anything to do with men. It has taken us 100 years to get equal guardianship of our children. You have got women taking equal part in the Government and making the laws which are changing for the better."

Anaconda Enters Portland Canal Field; Work Suspended For Winter On Melvin; Mountain Boy Has Big Winter Program

Heralded as one of the most important deals in the history of the Portland Canal camp, the Anaconda Copper Co., one of the most powerful of the world's mining organizations, has taken a working bond with payments spread over several years on the Good Luck group of four claims, situated on the west side of American Creek, three and a half miles north of the Mountain Boy or some eight miles from the railway survey on Bear River. The deal followed several months of search by Harry Townsend, Anaconda engineer, for a suitable property. The group, which lies at an elevation ranging from 3000 to 5000 feet, was located and is owned by William and Fred Bosence and Charles Lindstrom. Showings on the property consist of a large iron cap with an average width of from 700 to 800 feet over a mile in length. Where opened by surface cuts, the owners state that they never failed to get an appreciable return in gold, the lowest assay secured by them being $2.50 in gold and seven ounces in silver. It is a heavy iron pyrite in a greenstone gangue on a contact with red andesite. Terms of the bond call for the expenditure of considerable money next summer in preliminary exploratory work.

Work, which it was expected would be carried on throughout the coming winter, has had to be shut down on the Melvin Mining Co.'s property adjoining the Prosperity and Porter-Idaho on Marmot River because of the fact that very loose ground was encountered in the tunnel, not sufficient timber having been taken in to block it up. The season's work, which included surface prospecting and tunneling, disclosed very encouraging conditions on the property. The tunnel was extended 170 feet, in the driving of which two shoots of high-grade ore were encountered but in such a way as to indicate that the tunnel was passing just through their apex. When the shutdown became necessary, the tunnel was facing in ore of similar character to that in the first shoot from which six tons were extracted and sorted in the course of driving the tunnel. These samples assayed well over 200 ounces in silver. The shipment is being forwarded to the Selby smelter in California.

Necessary buildings have been constructed and one hundred tons of supplies are now being taken in preparatory to continuing an active program of winter's work on the Mountain Boy property in the Bear River section at Stewart. Development of the property has been proceeding systematically and the plans for the winter outline a program to gain great depth, while ore bodies already indicated will be further opened up. No. 4 tunnel, started as a cross cut, will reach the intersection of the Mann vein and the high-grade vein at a depth of 400 feet. Here the drift will be swung to the right and the high-grade vein followed, the present program calling for this drift to be continued until a depth of 1200 feet is secured. In about three weeks an upraise will be made to connect the old Mann tunnel, thus providing a passage way for tools and powder and also a manway free from the danger of snow-slides. When the upraise has been finished it is the intention of the management to let a contract for 2000 feet of tunneling or drifting which it is expected will be completed next May. Most of the money for extensive work being carried out on the Mountain Boy has come from Montreal.

After the first season of development, the Bi-Metallic Syndicate has suspended operations for the year on the group of claims it owns on the south side of Marmot River. The management is well satisfied with results obtained and amount of work accomplished under the experienced management of Clay Porter. Suitable camps have been established and two tunnels, approximately 80 feet in length, were driven. One was on the Stimulator vein and the other on the Gold Pan vein, each of which holds up to an average of about three feet in width carrying ore of commercial grade, the values being principally in gold which is frequently encountered in native form in the network of veins occurring on the property. These tunnels, driven virtually on a mountainside, give a vertical depth of close to 100 feet, which depth will be greatly increased on the resumption of work next spring. The crew averaged eight men throughout the season and, with a similar number employed next year, extremely satisfactory results are anticipated, preliminary work such as trail and camp construction having been completed this year. The syndicate is in a satisfactory financial condition, having a substantial cash balance remaining in the treasury.

Clay Porter has now completed the forming of another syndicate—the Argentine Mining—at Stewart. This was formerly the Mobile group of claims on Bear River. Only a limited number of units were offered for sale.

L. Jessen, managing-director of Boyle Bros. diamond drilling concern, arrived at Stewart last week with considerable equipment which has now been set up on the Woodbine property for the purpose of undertaking an extensive diamond drilling program to prove up definitely just what the ore bodies are on that much discussed property.

James Ferguson, discoverer of the Ferguson mine, has now returned outside after spending a season on the property and reports that a large body of silver-lead-zinc ore has been developed and now only transportation facilities are needed. It is expected, however, that another two years of development will be carried on before any attempt at production will be made. During the past year the federal department of public works has done a good deal of work to improve navigation on the Finlay River so, in future, supplies for the mine will be taken in by water which will mean trading with Edmonton instead of Vancouver.

The Prince Rupert Amateur Athletic Association has let a contract to W. J. Greer to put the Agricultural Hall in shape as a gymnasium. The cost of the work will be $1,350.

The car slip which is being built on the waterfront below Westview for use in connection with carload shipments of pulp and paper through here from Swanson Bay to the east is nearly completed. Shipments, it is expected, will commence about December 1.

Angus Macdonald, superintendent of schools, reported at the school board meeting that there were many cases of truancy. The board is determined to put a stop to it, even if it is found necessary to call in the police.

In a recent painting contest conducted for boys and girls by a local hardware concern, the winners were Edna Stiles, Gertrude Pitman, Mathilda Van Dyk, Roland Allen, Hubert Armstrong, Harry D. Peterson, Blanche Aitchison, Margaret Forbes, Duncan Pitman, H. Ekblad and Martin Peterson.

Armistice Day was observed here with a service in the Canadian Legion Hall at which Rev. T. S. DePencier officiated, ex-servicemen from all parts of the district being in attendance. After the service, there was a procession to the cemetery where wreaths were placed on soldiers' graves. In the evening, a smoker was held. There was also a dance at which Miss Ida Miller, Mrs. Dornbier and Doc Cameron were winners in a raffle.

Weather here of late has been unsettled with rain and snow. The lowest thermometer reading of the week was 10 above zero.

quantities has been discovered for the first time in this district on the Glacier Gulch property near here. Assays from a vein at least five feet wide showed eleven per cent of sulphide and telluride of bismuth. It is planned to carry on development work on the property as soon as conditions will permit.

The annual Armistice Day dance on Monday night under the auspices of the local Canadian Legion was a great success. There were about 450 persons in attendance and all parts of the district were represented. Gray's Orchestra supplied a fine program of music and, during the supper intermission, Miss Mary McKenzie danced the Highland Fling. The hall was beautifully decorated under the direction of J. A. Finnerty.

After a visit of several months with relatives in Ireland, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Byrne and son have returned to Smithers.

Word has been received here that Frank Taggart and associates, who contemplate the establishment of a large plant for the extraction of by-products from Telkwa and Copper River coal, are making plans for the establishment of a large steam electric plant to supply light and power throughout the district. It is stated that powdered coal will be used for fuel.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Apps of this town has lost permanently the sight of both eyes as a result of a recent accident when playing with lime. This is the announcement of experts in the east where the child was taken for examination. Practically all of last season's contractors share in the work although it is understood that many operators will not open up camps for the smaller quantity. Prices will be the same as last year.

Armistice Day services were held here on Monday in the United Church. Rev. William McKenzie of the United Church and Rev. L. J. Hales of the Anglican Church being jointly in charge. There was a parade of ex-servicemen to the church. Suitable hymns were sung with accompaniment by Gray's Orchestra.

The sum of $100 was realized by sale of poppies in connection with the observance of Armistice Day in Smithers.

Around The World
With Sport Fans

(By The Tramp)

Frank Patrick, crafty manager of the Vancouver Lions, champions of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, had a big burden lifted off his mind on Tuesday when Bill Phillips, crack right winger of the champions, reported for duty. Bill spent the summer in Vancouver on a survey behind Half Moon Bay. Later he went east to visit his home in Carleton Place. When it came time for the Lions to get their notices to report, Phillips announced that he wished to stay in the east, and was promptly instructed to report to Vancouver. As a matter of fact three NHL clubs were seeking Bill's services.

Patrick was so pleased to see Phillips that he immediately appointed Bill skipper of the team. He succeeds Art Somers, star center ice player of the Lions last season, who is trying out with the Chicago Black Hawks. Even although Somers was captain last season, Phillips did a deal of the work that should fall on the shoulders of the skipper.

National Hockey League heads are feeling satisfied with the changes in the rules. They believe that the new rules, which were calculated to speed up play and result in more goals being scored, are satisfying the public. It was with due deliberation that the rule-makers accepted almost wholly the Patrick idea of the winter pastime. They had been criticized most freely in the past, the absence of goals being the main issue in dispute, and so they took a desperate step that may bring the desired results. In the past it was possible for mediocre teams to hold opponents to 1-to-6 and 0-to-0 scores. It is not likely that this will happen again.

The dentifrice

Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream is the world's largest-selling tooth paste. More people use it . . . and more dentists recommend it . . . than any other dentifrice.

The reason for this is simply that Colgate's cleans teeth better. Colgate's contains the world's best cleansing agent—a penetrating foam that cleanses where the toothbrush cannot reach.

Your dentist will tell you that decay doesn't start on the smooth outer surfaces of the teeth . . . but in the tiny crevices where food-particles and mucus collect.

No ordinary toothbrush can reach these hard-to-clean places. They must be cleaned by the dentifrice.

Hence the real test of a tooth paste is its ability to get down into these crevices and cleanse them thoroughly. A recent scientific test proved that Colgate's has a greater penetrating power than any of the leading tooth pastes on the market today. This is the secret of Colgate's superior cleansing power.

The foam of Colgate's carries a fine chalk powder . . . a polishing material prescribed by dentists . . . which polishes the enamel safely, brilliantly.

The Colgate method of scientific tooth brushing

After years of study and thousands of experiments, the Colgate Method of scientifically cleansing the teeth has been developed by the Colgate Dept. of Dental Education.

This method is most effective when Ribbon Dental Cream is brushed on with the Colgate Brush. For the springy, serrated bristles, set at exactly the right distance, act in a way that applies the full, concentrated cleansing power of the famous Colgate foam . . . deep down into the "hard-to-clean" places. DIDO GURVICH GOING STRONG

Local Boxer Showing Old Time Form in Daily Workouts

One week from tonight will find Dido Gurdich, popular local mil artist, in what promises to be one of the most interesting bouts of his career, when he meets the Swedish boy, Gus Gustafson, in a ten-round match at the Moose Hall. Dido's followers are most enthusiastic over the form he is displaying in his daily workouts at the Old Empress and while it is known that the boy from Sweden can take "plenty punishment" Dido is not using the old punching bag every day for nothing. Closer followers of the game believe that Dido's reach and greater experience will prove winning features for him.

Gustafson is expected from Vancouver on the Wednesday boat and will work out the same afternoon or evening at the Old Empress. Benny Wendie and Ted Jones will meet in the semi-final and there will be several other fast preliminaries. The ticket sale opens tomorrow when reservations may be obtained at the Grotto, Joe Brown's, Empress Social Club, Ross Bros. or Big Four.

With the three times a week service for the winter now in effect, there will be no train arriving here from the east this afternoon nor will one go out tomorrow morning. Trains will now arrive from the east Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday afternoon's and leave for the east Monday, Wednesday and Saturday mornings.

TELLS ABOUT ENTHUSIASM FOR RUPERT

Article Sent to Presbyterian Record Mentions Number of Interesting Points

The following article has been sent from Prince Rupert to the Presbyterian Record for publication:

The whole Presbyterian Church in Canada is deeply interested in the vast possibilities that stretch before Prince Rupert.

"Prince Rupert is on the direct route from Peace River to the Orient, and if connected by railway at some point at, or near, Hazelton, the distance will only be about five hundred miles from the western boundary of the British Columbia Peace River Block."

Rev. Thomas McConnell, brother of Rev. W. F. McConnell, of Paris, who has been selected to take charge of the work at this interesting point, travelled to his post on the same train as Canada's Premier, Right Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King.

The Premier, meeting him after a gathering in Prince George, where the train stopped long enough to permit the Premier to address, sought him out the next day on the train and very kindly invited him to take lunch with him on his private car.

Sitting between the Premier and Senator Haydon the new Prince Rupert minister shared the Premier's evident enthusiasm as he gazed upon the broad swift waters of the Skeena River mountain-surrounded and hasting to the sea.

"I have been around the world," the Premier exclaimed "but never have I seen anything more wonderful than that." He sprang up to gaze at the almost unbelievable beauty of this largely unknown piece of Canada's fair domain. "Switzerland," he declared "has nothing to compare with it."

At Presbyterian Church

Next morning, Mr. McConnell still having the memory of that half hour's conversation on the train, when he talked with the man whom Canada delights to honor, about many things of mutual interest, and that gracious hospitality later extended, when he acted as chaplain and said "grace" at the Premier's table, had the honor of escorting that good Presbyterian Elder in St. Andrew's Church, Ottawa, who is also the leading statesman of Canada, the Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, to his place in the church. When the Premier travels, even though speaking at large gatherings at night, and holding important interviews by day, he evidently does not forget the need of a human soul for communion with God, that he is a faithful Presbyterian, and that by his presence at church service he can render a signal encouragement to those who are trying to be true in the distant places to our common heritage and faith.

Mr. McConnell ventured from the pulpit to invite the Premier to wait and see the Sunday School and perhaps address the children; the children's choir with their fresh, young voices had sung charmingly; perhaps the Premier would like on his rest day a little more of the inspiration the children of our church can give.

Smilingly, Canada's chief statesman responded; the children and young people were filled with the importance of the occasion and were rewarded with a very wonderful talk which revealed the Premier as a great Christian as well as a great statesman. The children of Prince Rupert Presbyterian Church who were fortunate enough to be there, will never forget the Premier's sincere, luminous words which, with their perhaps unconscious confession of a great faith, they eagerly listened to. What a great preacher the Premier would have made!

"Mr. McConnell," Canada's leading statesman declared, "will perhaps never forget that we travelled on the same train to Prince Rupert on his first coming, as I shall never forget the wonderful reception I received."

The band and citizens were out to meet the train.

It was a tremendous incentive to the new minister to have won the interest and friendship of this great son of the church on his outgoing journey and to be assured of the Premier's good wishes and receive the Premier's blessing.

Mrs. D. C. Stuart had the misfortune Saturday afternoon to fall down a flight of stairs in her home on Second Avenue, Westview, sustaining a broken hand and painful cuts about the face.

Mrs. J. S. MacDonald, who was called south recently on account of the death of a grandchild, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gibson, returned to the city on the Catala yesterday afternoon.

With a very light passenger list, Union steamer Catala, Capt. A. E. Dickson, arrived in port at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon from Vancouver and waypoints and sailed at 8 p.m. for Anyox and Stewart.

76 beats 36

Read this wonderful letter from a man of 76 who is "more active than 40 years ago," thanks to the "daily dimful" of Kruschen Salts.

"As a subject of both gout and rheumatism for just over 50 years, I wish to acknowledge that I have found nothing so absolutely certain as Kruschen Salts. Epoom and other things all have their virtues, but also their drawbacks. Kruschen Salts I have so far found after 5 years or more of using them, have no drawbacks and no counter-effect whatever. I am 76 and more active than 40 years ago."

Original letter on file for inspection.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at drug and department stores in Canada at 75c a bottle. A bottle contains enough to last for 4 or 5 months—good health for half-a-cent a day.

MERRYFIELD THROWN OUT

Is No Longer Tory Boss in Vancouver: Rejected as Being Cause of Party Discord There

J. E. Merryfield, formerly of this city, lost out at a hectic meeting in Vancouver on Tuesday of last week in his campaign to maintain his position as boss of the Conservative party in Vancouver. Not only was Mr. Merryfield beaten two to one in his appeal for re-election as president of the Vancouver Conservative Association but every one of his supporting officers was also ousted. The new president of the association who defeated Mr. Merryfield is T. A. Lamb, who has a solid slate of new officers with him. Two thousand ballots were cast at the meeting, which was as interesting as it was lively.

The retiring president, J. E. Merryfield, added fuel to the heat of the controversy in making his annual report, when he charged the sitting members of the Legislature with lack of co-operation with the executive, says the Vancouver Province in reporting the meeting. He declared that at the annual meeting, a year ago, the city members of the Legislature had lined up strongly in support of his opponent, and had since failed to recognize him and other officers of the organization in relation to party affairs. This, he added, could not be regarded as anything but an insult to those officers.

"Insidious Propaganda"

"Certain members of the Legislature, Mr. Kirk in particular," continued the retiring president, "have been circulating insidious propaganda to show that the dissatisfaction prevalent in the party has been brought about by myself, as president, and intimating that all that is necessary to remove the dissatisfaction is to defeat me as president, to which end Mr. Kirk has been working strenuously."

The speaker denied that this "propaganda" was true, stating that he had acted in the best interests of the party and that, "had the members co-operated, as they should have, and received representation and advice," a great deal of dissatisfaction would have been avoided.

Mr. Merryfield declared that "had Hon. Mr. Shelly and Mr. Kirk consulted the executive, they would not have spoken as they had on social legislation."

Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., also came in for the president's disfavor. He said Mr. Maitland had been asked to furnish a list of names and salaries of those appointed to positions since the change of government, "but had not seen fit to lay this open for public inspection." He submitted there was no good reason for withholding this from the executive, unless the members did not wish the rank and file to know who had been appointed from time to time.

Deficit Reduced

The executive on taking office was confronted with the absence of all records, the speaker continued, and a check book from which the stubs had been deleted. It found outstanding accounts to the amount of $928 but finished the year with material reduction in the deficit it found of $896.

The president's report was the signal for a lively flare up for a few moments. A motion was presented that it be filed, and an amendment followed that it be adopted and the members reply to the charge. There were loud cries of dissent, as the amendment was made, and the motion to file the report carried readily.

TELLS AIM CONGRESS OF LABOR

President Mosher at Third Annual Convention at Winnipeg Today Gives Address

WINNIPEG, Nov. 15.—In his address at the opening of the All-Canadian Congress of Labor here today, President A. R. Mosher said in part:

"Our chief function, I believe, as a congress, must be the education of the workers to the point where they will see the necessity of forming national, industrial unions in every industry in Canada. Our enemy is not so much the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, but capitalism and the capitalistic spirit, which is quite as evident in the attitude of the average worker as in that of a captain of industry. In Canada, as in the United States, every worker has looked forward to the time when he would, himself, become an employer, and he has felt that his own interests would be best served by fighting his way as an individual in older countries, with restricted opportunities for personal advancement, labor organizations had made much greater headway, and a similar state of affairs is now being reached on this continent. With the concentration of financial and industrial power in comparatively few hands, the day of the small employer is past, and it is becoming evident to the worker that his welfare as an individual depends upon the welfare of his fellow-workers and of each industry as a whole. The rise of intelligence in human beings promotes individuality, but it also enables men to recognize the value of co-operation and the necessity for collective bargaining as the sole means for the improvement of wages and working conditions.

"In many of the great industries of Canada, labor organization has made little or no headway, and the organizing efforts of the congress may very well be concentrated for the time being in this field. While we must recognize the power of great corporations to make organizing difficult, we must endeavor to convince the employees of the necessity for organization and at the same time to arouse middle class opinion to the point where it will endorse the formation of labor unions in every industry and bring pressure to bear upon the employing interests with this end in view.

"What we want, therefore, is a national, industrial union covering every industry in Canada, which will be strong enough to take a share in the control as well as in the profits of the industry. In the second place, we want to unite all such national, industrial unions in the All-Canadian Congress of Labor and to have our congress, in turn, affiliated in a great international federation which will bring together the national congresses of other nations for the promotion of world-wide co-operation between the workers. In the third place, we want a national labor party in Canada, which will provide direct representation for the workers and which will provide direct representation for the workers and which will ultimately give us a true democratic government.

"If we keep in mind these three requirements, national, industrial unions in a national congress and supporting a national labor party, such congress co-operating with other national congresses in an international federation, we shall be able to guide the Canadian labor movement in the light of those ideals."
