From what one gleams from the daily papers, it seems evident that the boys in the boxing racket around Seattle grew bery panicky when the Portland old-time ringster, Eddie Cartwright, thrust his chin out for that lethal sock administered by Cecil Geysel. At chett who recently explored Wall any rate, up went their hands in gestures of resignation. The Seattle situation probably has no parallel. > Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling are now both at Miami Beach, Florida, where their big heavyweight elimination battle will take place toward the end of this month. Sharkey is now staging an intensive training campaign and is said to be the favorite to win. "If I find I am getting overtrained, I will slow down for a while." he states. Stribling, who has been training hard for the past week or so, is now on a fishing trip to the Everglades. Jack Dempsey says that ticket sales for the fight have reached the $189,000 mark which is some $30,000 more than the estimates which have been placed on the cost of promoting the fight.

Geary A. Steffen, otherwise Willie Ritchie, former lightweight boxing champion of the world, has entered a new role in the sport world. He is the goalkeeper of the San Francisco team in the California Hockey League. Just where Ritchie learned his hockey is not known No record of his appearance with any Canadian team has ever been disclosed. Ritchie is about 38 years old. He was always a clever boxer and goalkeeping may be just in his line. The padded mitts have given way to the padded shins. CANADIAN SENATE

The reopening of the Canadian parliament reminds us by the way, at the rate of 50 a that Premier Mackenzie King promised the people that year. something would happen to the senate before long. Since that time there has been a Conservative majority in the and is jealous of, and antagonistic upper chamber and it has been useless to expect any to Britain. change. Now, however, the balance of parties must be I have the nasty knack of sayvery close and the time should come before the general election when the premier may redeem his promise to the electorate.

Should the senate refuse to be reformed, it would make a good election cry next year or the year after, whenever the govenment decides to appeal for another term of of-

At Confederation it was understood that the senate was to be a non-partisan body. Governments of both parties, however, have invariably, with one exception, ap- ing, but a European pact of peace pointed men of their own party . The result is that a new government usually finds itself confronted with a senate in which its opponents predominate.

Proposals for reform have been of several kinds: (1) abolition of the second chamber, (2) popular election, (3) tion. appointment or election by provincial legislatures, (4) lessening of the veto power, as was done in Great Britain, (5) the over-riding vote, a measure becoming law if it is supported by a majority of the total number of members and senators, (6) an age limit, (7) a fixed term of office. At a conference of the Dominion and provincial govern- tomleys live by a demagogy to ments held in 1927, abolition found no supporters, and the question of reform was left open. The over-riding ma- spense, or they would not live jority was favored by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but nothing has since been heard of it. Before Confederation, the second public: say in some measure now chamber of the old parliament of Canada was elected by what better men will be saying popular vote. All the old members were appointed senators, but the elective method was abandoned as inconvenient, involving (because of the large area of the constituencies) electioneering on a large and expensive scale. The argument was also used that an elective senate might claim equal rights and powers with the house of commons, alarming is the fact that the poppaget causing deadlocks in government. But none of the proposals for reform really goes to the NELLIE M'CLUNG SEES root of the difficulty, which is the inherent difficulty of two chambers functioning together. In the early part of the session, after the address in reply to the speech from the throne has been carried, the senate has nothing to do, and usually adjourns until some legislation is passed by the Well Known Author and Lecturer house of commons, and afterwards there are other adjournments for the same reason. The senate is criticized for these adjournments, and hard working senators are sensitive on the point, but it is difficult to find a remedy. Some say that more legislation should be initiated in the senate. Others try to find occupation by discussions which against the ordination of women, are cand academic because they do not produce imm diate according to the finding of the fruit in legislation, but which may nevertheless be useful

PLACE FOR WOMAN IN MINISTRY OF CHURCH

Urges in Favor of Ordination of Members of Fair Sex

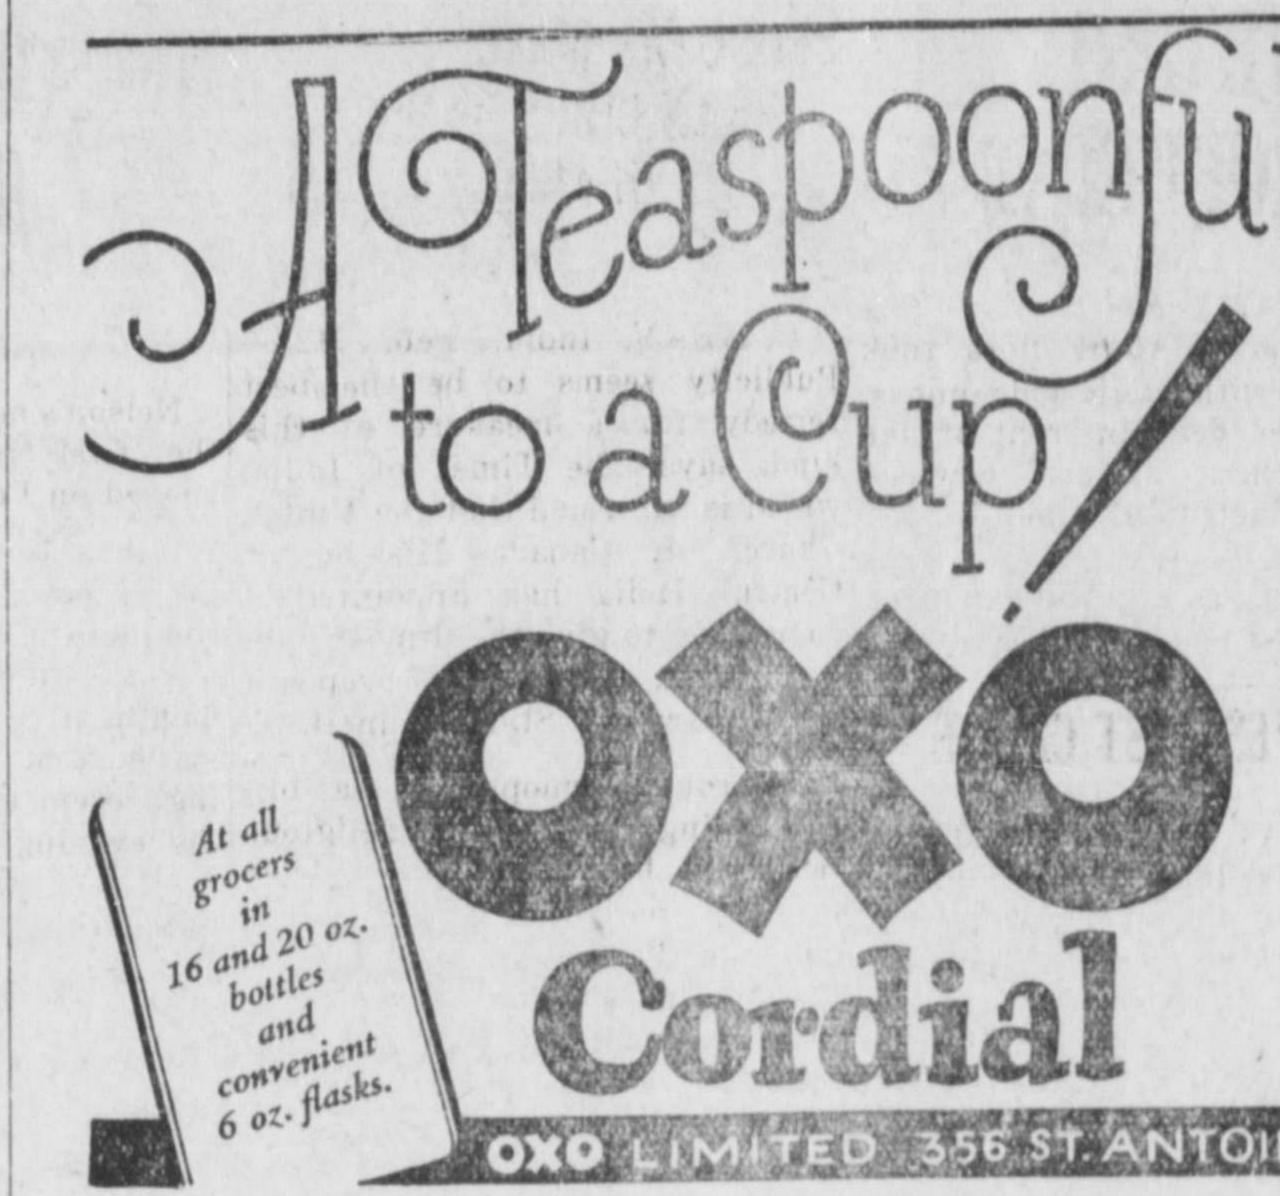

EDMONTON, Feb: 12:-There is no bar in reason or religion commission of the general council of the United Church of Canada; there are 52 places in women out of their homes. These were the chief reasons advanced by Mrs. Nellie McClung "Why Women Should Be Ordained to the Ministry of the United Church of Canada on the Same Basis as Men" when the subject was debated by Mrs. McClung and Rev. W. A. Lewis of Calgary et McDougall Church, and won by the former.

Church Losing

Mrs. McClung pointed out that it was not women's fault that industry had been taken out of the home and they had been left with leisure on their hands. She took one instance of a girl in Saskatchewan who had completed her studies for the ministry and was now carrying on at Wakaw, dying splendid work for the church but is handicapped by the fact that she hasn't the full authority to give the sacraments. This girl had taken up the study to fill the place of a brother killed in the great war, who vas a theological student. It's meat and drink to you

Before going out into the cold, or after coming in, steaming hot "OXO" makes such a warming, delicious drink. And it's ready in a minuteso simple, so inexpensive, so invigorating! Quickly removes fatigue.

TROM the cold, deep waters of the seven thousand miles of British Columbia's Pacific Coast, comes a harvest of fish that the palate of all mankind enjoys! For over twenty years our Province has been a leading factor in Canada's fishing industry. Progress continues unabated ... the markets to the ends of the earth demanding ever increasing quantities.

The past ten years have seen this industry grow from 14 million to 27 million dollars . . . an increase of 89%. Our annual catch totals nearly half the entire Canadian production, and "King Salmon," our marine silver mine accounts for at least 15 million dollars a year.

The distribution from our Provincial hatcheries of millions of salmon eggs to renew the harvest that goes into the nets; the Treaty between Canada and the United States for the protection of the Pacific Halibut (March, 1923) providing a close season from November 16th to February 15th; modernized canneries, 83 in number, and sane Federal Fishing Laws, carefully administered, are the foundation of an industry that will continue to grow.

The fame of British Columbia's Whaling Fisheries is of long standing, and has materially increased the value of the products from this industry. The yearly catch, now about 400, is taken between one station on Vancouver Island and two stations on the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Much as has been done to develop and conserve our fishing industry, there still remains a great deal to be accomplished. The vastness of our waters and the extent and ruggedness of our coast make organized protection and administration extremely costly.

But the safeguarding of our fisheries is a matter which now commands the earnest attention of our government, who realize the importance of conserving this basic industry.

As the oldest industry of our Dominion, fishing has been one of the largest revenue producers, and it is significant that Canada's youngest Province, in less than awenty years, should secure a leading position in the world market. This aggressive search for foreign business has been an asset which undoubtedly has created one of the most amazing records of our basic industries. Well may we be proud of our Fisheries!

for Out-of Town Subscribers

To serve its women readers, and particularly those who live at a distance from a retail centre. The Daily News has instituted a Shopping Service. The Daily News is read by hundreds of women living far from any urban facilities for shopping and it is for these that this shopping service is primarily intended. Of course, The Daily News Shopper will attend to the man also, although he can buy a pair of braces anywhere. But not everywhere can a woman get a bit of lace matched-or a piece of embroidery thread-or the thousand and one things that make up the difference between a woman's wants and a man's.

The Prince Rupert Merchants Carry between them Stocks running up to $2,000,000 and while it is not possible to purchase everything in this world in Prince Rupert, most things are available by return mail.

None of the Prince Rupert merchants can possibly advertise everything they carry in stock, but if the thing wanted is to be got in this city, our out-of-town readers may be sure that The Daily News Shopper will get it when asked for.

If any of our women readers cannot get what they want in their nearest store, all there is to do is to write to The Daily News Shopper, stating what is required with whatever details there may be, enclosing the cost, and if it is in Prince Rupert, The Daily News Shopper makes your purchase.
