CITY WINS
ITS CASE

Sewer Pipe Purchased Was Not Up To Specifications, States Arbitration Court

Decision in favor of the city was given by an arbitration board which sat here yesterday afternoon in the matter of a dispute between the Corporation of the City of Prince Rupert and the Clayburn Manufacturing Co. through its local agents, Albert & McCaffery, over payment for a quantity of sewer pipe delivered by the company which the city contended was not according to specifications.

The report of the board is as follows: "We agree that there is no advantage in sending the pipe to the University of British Columbia (for testing), as there is no question in our minds as to its present strength."

"We agree that a large percentage of the 111 pieces of pipe in question are not up to the specifications of Prince Rupert. "We agree that approximately one-half varies so greatly from the specifications of Prince Rupert that we do not recommend their use in this city and that the other one-half be held in the city by the contractor for future use under better construction conditions."

CONSERVATIVES RETIRE

It is a matter of some regret to see men who have taken a prominent part in public life retire as it is announced two prominent Conservatives of the province are doing. Hon. H. H. Stevens has been carrying the banner of the Conservative party for many years, and General J. A. Clark, who also recently announced his early retirement, has also been prominent in the party. Mr. Stevens has been a vigorous campaigner and has been heard often in the House of Commons. Hansard is full of his utterances.

There are not many men in either party who can be depended on to visit outlying constituencies and put heart into the party leaders and enthuse the following. When one disappears it leaves a gap which is not easy to fill.

ORIENTALS IN B. C.

According to a brief despatch published Wednesday, advisory board of the Farmers' Institute of B. C. passed a resolution favoring the removal of Orientals from British Columbia. That is just as reasonable as it would be for the Orientals to pass a resolution asking for the removal of members of the Farmers' Institutes from the province. Many Orientals are Canadians, adopted as citizens of the country, with the one paltry exception that they are not allowed to vote. They have all other rights the same as the rest of us, including the right to meet and pass fool resolutions.

We do not think it would be a good thing for the country to allow unrestricted Oriental immigration. We do not think the Orientals and white people mix well. There is also the danger of lowering the standard of living of the people here by allowing competition with a race whose standard is admittedly very low. It is very largely the virtues of the Orientals that are objectionable, although they also have some objectionable vices. We object to the Chinese because they save all their wages and send the money to China. With us saving is looked on as a virtue, but in their case it is extremely objectionable.

There are other reasons for preventing any great influx of Orientals into Canada, but there are no reasons for making martyrs of those here and returning them to their native countries. There might be a Longfellow to sing of their hardships as was done of the Acadians when they were banished.

It is not so very long ago that farmers were asking for the admission of Orientals to enable them to get their land cleared cheaply. We do not wish to pose as the champion of the Asiatic races, but would suggest that we have a lot to learn from them and that we are all looking to do business with them through our port. What we need to do is to keep on friendly terms with the Japanese and Chinese and to learn to know them better.

The Letter Box

FISHERMAN'S VIEWS

Editor, Daily News:—

In your editorial of a recent date, referring to us steering our fish to one company. Now, Mr. Editor, I think you will agree with us if you get the facts. When three of the big fishing companies combine to hold prices of fish down, and load in turns, would you think that we are so submissive as to say nothing? This went on at Hippo Island for the last two years and for a little while at North Island. "Competition is the life of the trade." That's what we all want. We had to put on our own packer and did you think that we were going to run them into the Cold Storage, New England or B.C. Packers. Any company that did not get fish from the trawlers this year, bid for it themselves.

We hold no great animosity against any of these buyers. We fully realize there is no sentiment in business. We have the fish and it's up to us to get the highest prices. But whenever such issues as combines, fish traps and privilege arise, which the cannery men are trying to put over us, we aim to destroy any such monopoly. We appeal to the public for their support, as this fishing industry is a heritage right of the people, and our aim will be to benefit and save it for the future.

Give us credit for raising the price of spring salmon from 9c to 14c per lb. In fact, this association has helped the fishermen in many ways, which increased his buying power and has helped the business people of Prince Rupert and Islands with good clean money which supports a white population.

Should the cannery men succeed think of the amount of Oriental labor! Has it helped the country as much as we do? We run our association on strictly hard and fast business rules. No theories or dogmas, as some would like to brand us, as if we were "Revolutionary movement."

Thanking you for this space, I am yours very truly
CHARLES VALLEY,
Sec.-Treas., Hippo Unit,
N. B. C. S. F. A.

DENIES GOSSE STATEMENT

Editor, Daily News:—

It was with astonishment I read in your paper of yesterday's issue, a statement made in Vancouver by Mr. Richard Gosse, President of the B. C. Packers, regarding the amount of sockeye salmon taken by the Indians from the spawning grounds.

With regard to the Indians on the Naas River, he estimated that 34,000 sockeye salmon were taken during this year by the natives—presumably for food purposes. This is entirely erroneous. The Indians leave their villages about the middle of June to fish at the canneries at the mouth of the

TOOK CATHARTICS EVERY NIGHT

Eating ALL-BRAN Relieved Constipation

Everybody who is slave to cathartics and laxatives will be interested in this letter—

"I took cathartic pills every night and enemas daily to relieve myself and take away the awful headaches I was subject to. Two months ago I started eating a large bowl of your ALL-BRAN with cream for breakfast and today I am in fine condition, better than I have been in three years. My bowels are regular every day. I have not taken one cathartic pill in two months." (Name and address upon request.)

Constipation gets in its deadly work when bulk is left out of the diet. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, however, will supply this bulk. It sweeps the intestine clean and stimulates normal action. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

Thousands have regained their old-time vigor and relieved constipation forever by eating ALL-BRAN. Doctors recommend it.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Delicious recipes for muffins, breads, etc., on the package. Grocers sell it. Restaurants, hotels, dining-cars serve it. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

river, and on the Skeena, and do not return until after the sockeye season is over. A few—possibly half a dozen old people—remain at home and may if they are fortunate enough, put up a few bundles of smoked sockeye salmon, some 800 fish. This is very different to 34,000 sockeye as stated.

The main fish supply for their winter consumption consists of coho, dog salmon and humpbacks which are caught and dried generally in October when the Indians return from the canneries.

This year owing to the poor season for fall salmon, the Indians were unable to put up an adequate supply for their winter needs.

Indian Agent.

WAR LEFT HIM TO SUFFER TERRIBLY

Until He Found Happy Relief in "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Many a battle-scarred veteran of the Great War has found succor from pain and suffering in "Fruit-a-tives." This famous medicine, made from fruit juices combined with the finest medicinal ingredients, has helped them to adjust themselves to modern conditions and to correct these faults of digestion and elimination which resulted from their terrible war experiences. "Ever since leaving the army," writes Mr. E. E. Newman of Iona Station, Ont., "I suffered terribly from Constipation. After spending a lot of money on remedies, I took four boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and I can sincerely say they gave me permanent relief." Other Great War veterans have taken "Fruit-a-tives" for Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, Indigestion and Dyspepsia, Nervousness and Sleeplessness with equally gratifying results. Try them. 25c. and 50c. a box—at dealers everywhere.

"Miss Crabbe (she's my teacher) says that there is nothing worse than being late for school . . . well! I wouldn't mind missing school, but gee! I'd hate to miss a plate of this Clark's Pea Soup!"

Here is a soup to satisfy a real husky child's appetite. A pure wholesome food . . . made from big, garden-grown peas . . . seasoned to a nicety . . . no adulterants added. Such delicious soup as this could be the only result.

A Tiresome Cough Was Left By A Severe Cold

Mrs. Chas. Eldershaw, Morrell, P.E.I., writes:—"Some time ago I was seized with a severe cold that left me with a bad, tiresome cough. After trying different cough medicines, to no avail, my husband brought me home a bottle of which I started to take at once, and before I had taken several doses I noticed a change, and when I had finished the bottle my cough was completely gone."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

MANY AT FUNERAL OF EVERSLEY GLASS

TERRACE, Dec. 6.—There was an unusually large gathering at the funeral of Eversley Glass which took place on Tuesday. Service was held in the United Church, conducted by the Rev. H. T. Allen. The Rev. Canon Marsh and the Rev. A. W. Robinson spoke feelingly of the loss sustained by the unexpected death of a young man of so exceptional a character. The burial took place in the Kalum cemetery. Rev. H. T. Allen reading the burial rites. The pallbearers were companions of the deceased and floral tributes were sent in large display. Business in the town was suspended for the funeral.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

Nevertheless, later in the evening, when it became evident that Frankland was hastening over his dinner in order to join them, Miss Brown ventured upon speech. "I don't see why we encourage those two men," she remarked, as the two girls loitered over their coffee. "I don't dislike Mr. Greatson. He seems very intelligent. Your friend Mr. Frankland I am beginning to detest."

"I don't quite know what the attraction is myself," she confessed, "and yet I suppose I do. I am in what the modern novelists call a reactionary state. I like playing with fire even though it isn't fire."

Miss Brown's face duly expressed her disapproval.

"Nothing that you could say, Frances, would make me believe that Mr. Frankland could possibly be 'fire' to you."

"Precisely, my dear, but don't you see that I am obviously 'fire' to Mr. Frankland. It is a poor sort of one-sided emotion," Frances continued, tapping a fresh cigarette on the table, "but there it is, you see. It yields me a faint amusement to read what the man has in his mind when he invites me to various expeditions. He thinks he is so clever, and he is keeps on edging her chair a little further away."

Frances laughed softly. "I'm just the same as I've always been, Mr. Frankland," she assured him, "only sometimes you don't understand me."

"Come and dance then," he invited sulkily.

She laid down her cigarette and rose.

"I can't resist so gracious and pressing an invitation," she murmured.

Eric Greatson reached across the table for his hitherto untasted glass of brandy and drew his chair nearer to his companion's.

"Miss Brown," he said, "you ask me on to talk, but you say very little yourself. Yet in a way you are a very mysterious person. I should like to know more about you and your life."

"Why?"

"Is that coquetry, or do you really wish to know why I am interested?"

"I really wish to know."

"May I tell you this then?" he begged, and Miss Brown, watching his sensitive face, realized that there was no doubt about his sincerity. "It isn't because you are—shall I say the executor—of the great enemy of our cause. It isn't for anything to do with that. My interest is in you personally."

"Are you married like Mr. Frankland?"

"I am not," was the emphatic reply, "and while we are upon the subject I should like to say that Frankland's moral standards are not mine."

"I am glad to hear that," Miss Brown confessed. "You imply that I am very secretive. I will give you a proof to the contrary. I will take you into my confidence. I don't like Mr. Frankland, and I wish that Frances would not encourage him. I know that she only does it because she finds some foolish sort of amusement in it, but at the same time I think that it is unworthy of her. Mr. Frankland is not a nice man."

Greatson shrugged his shoulders.

"Don't think I'm a snob," he begged, "intellectually or otherwise, if I point out that Mr. Frankland has had no opportunity of understanding in the least what women of Miss Austin's stamp are like or how they should be treated. He was down in the mines at 12 years old, his father was a drunkard and his mother worse. He has picked up an immense store of general knowledge by sheer force of will and industry. He has developed the knack of seeing certain vital matters clearly enough from one point of view—his own—and speaking of them fluently, but as regards the more gracious side of life, he has never seen it, and if he had he would not be able to appreciate it. A woman means only one thing to him. The greatest height to which he rises is that he has fancies. Sometimes he fancies one woman more than another. That is just as far as he reaches."

"Then don't you consider," Miss Brown demanded, "that it is unpardonable impertinence on his part to dare to make the suggestions he does to a girl like Miss Austin?"

"It isn't exactly impertinence," he argued. "It's sheer lack of comprehension, as I told you before. All women are the same to Frankland, except that he fancies one more than another. He thinks that he is only offering your friend what any man has a right to offer any woman. And as his experience has been gained in a different circle of life he doesn't, I suppose, understand failure."

"I think," Miss Brown pronounced, "that he's a most abominable person. I believe that Frances has made up her mind not to encourage him any more. I am thankful for it."

PRINCE GEORGE GETS SLAP ON WRIST FROM SMITHERS EDITOR, WHO STRONGLY AND ABLY URGES PRINCE RUPERT OUTLET.

doubt be seized upon as a motive for inaction, not only in the matter of a line northerly from the Canadian National, but also for any proposed extension of existing lines.

"Sir Henry Thornton has recently stated publicly that the C.N.R. can haul freight cheaper to Prince Rupert than to any other Pacific port. In that statement there is sound argument given the people of this country for a demand that the people's port be further developed and fully utilized. In that statement and in work quietly being carried out there is the promise that this line will see increased traffic at an early date. It is quite probable that expansion will take place next summer. By that new business Prince George would benefit largely; the greater the business so will their benefits be greater, and it is difficult to see where they can figure their best interests rest in a policy formulated in Vancouver to divert that business from the district in which Prince George has so much to gain."

Three games of last night's Billiard League fixture between the Canadian Legion and Grotto were played and, as a result, the veterans, having won all three, are leading by 750 to 675. The individual scores of these games were as follows:

M. Andrews (Canadian Legion), 250; George Waugh (Grotto), 232; J. W. Scott, 250; W. J. Nelson, 219; G. P. Tinker, 250; J. Andrews, 224. Tinker ran a high break of 50 and Waugh, 46.

The remaining two games are to be played tonight:

A. Murray (Canadian Legion) vs. Don Brown (Grotto).

M. E. Young vs. J. Hillman.

In another of Tuesday night's delayed games, J. W. Scott (Canadian Legion) beat W. E. Williscroft (Elks) by a score of 250 to 226, bringing this tournament, with one game between A. Murray and A. A. Easton yet to be played, to 968 to 838 in favor of the Elks.

Anaemia Weakness of the Blood

Pallor of the lips, gums and eyelids is proof that the blood is thin and watery. Anaemia is the name given to this condition.

Anaemia is most prevalent among girls and young women. The school girl often suffers as the result of an anaemic condition of the blood as the consequent upsetting of the nervous system.

The remarkable success of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in cases of this kind is perhaps the best proof that it goes directly to the formation of pure, rich blood. And pure blood is the foundation of the health and strength of the whole human body.

THE CHURCH IN LIFE OF A COUNTRY

Dean Gibson Gives Interesting and Instructive Address To Rotary Club

In its normal action religion is a unifying influence in the state. It gives the sanction of conscience and of precept to the law and sanctity to the obligation of an oath.

This was a closing paragraph from the address of Dean Gibson of St. Andrew's Cathedral in an address to the Rotary Club yesterday when the principal of the high school and members of the senior matriculation class were guests of the club at luncheon.

Mr. Gibson gave a very instructive address on "The Influence of the Church On Canadian Life." While he disclaimed the ability to deal with the whole subject in a quarter of an hour, he touched on a great many high lights.

Coming down to modern times, Dean Gibson spoke of the wonderful work of such men as Father Duncan, Archdeacon Colson and others who had been the means of changing the warlike tribes of the coast to peaceful citizens such as they are today.

Things of Spirit Today the schools and colleges looked after the training of the body and mind, but it was the work of the church to cultivate the things of the spirit.

Without faith it was impossible to do anything great," declared the speaker. And this faith is not developed by the resources of the nation but from the people. It is developed by the churches.

Blessed are the dumb. They do not have to answer for their sins.

I knew a man And he was dumb, He had politicians Under his thumb. He could not talk. But he could say Things should be done In the proper way.

The unwritten law may be all right but there's a man at Penticton today who does not seem to be getting the benefit of it.

If you waken, call me early Call me early, mother dear. For I'm the bird that gets up early To work for a worm that we all fear.

effort.

was rendered during the after-ant; selections by the Sunday School orchestra consisting of Miss Connie Moran, Percy McInosh,

Miss Ruth Wilkinson and Miss
Bernice Ross; piano duets by Mrs.
Alfred Wilson and Mrs. James S.
Black, and violin solos by Miss Bernice Ross, accompanied by

MONEY FOR CHRISTMAS

Cash and Carry Store Gives Opportunity to Make Money By Saving It

The Cash and Carry Economy
Store, Third Ave., gives Prince Rupert people an opportunity to make money for their Christmas celebration by saving it on their groceries. Money can be saved on each article purchased and the results are amazing at the end of the month.

The day is gone by when the cash customer is willing to make up for the bad debts of the charge accounts. The person with cash knows that it is worth a great deal and is looking around to see where he can get the best returns.
Many of them are coming to the Economy Store and more would come if they only realized the saving they could make.

Those not wishing to carry home
the order can have it delivered free if the order is made up to five dollars, otherwise a small fee for delivery is charged.

Out of town customers can buy at just as good advantage here as those living in the city. If they send along the cash they will get the goods in as brief a time as possible.

In this store the prices are all plainly marked on the goods and any person can do his own shopping. He does not have to be waited on. The same prices exactly are charged the person living in the country.—Advt.
