Operations on Black Sands at Queen Charlotte Islands Said to Be Proving Successful This Time

Gold and Platinum Being Recovered and Report From Vancouver Says Rush On to Stake Lands on Islands

Arrivals from Queen Charlotte Islands yesterday state that one machine operating on the black sands of North Beach is giving good returns in both gold and platinum. It is the first of many operations there in the past many years to give results which would lead to the belief that the precious metals could be successfully recovered. One dollar of platinum is taken for every $10 of gold, according to the reports.

Very little news is being given out except to say that the operations are entirely successful. It is also understood that there is a second outfit at work and two other groups of claims have been staked on the beach.

The range of the sands extends over many miles, so that if this work should prove a real success the supply of sand is almost unlimited and the possibilities very great.

Word received from Vancouver is that there is a rush from there to stake the black sand claims.

The people of Queen Charlottes, according to reports, do not seem particularly interested in the black sand operations, as they have so often been aroused to excitement with no results following.

TURNER VALLEY HAS 118 WELLS 34 OF THEM ARE PRODUCING; MANY BORING THERE FOR OIL

(By H. F. PULLEN)

Turner Valley was visited last week by the members of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce following an open air luncheon at Pat Burns' Alberta ranch and all were impressed by the activity shown in putting down new wells. There were at the time of the visit 118 wells either being bored or producing, but the probability is that the number has already increased. Of these, 34 were producing naphtha or crude oil, mostly the former. This was more than twice as many as most of us expected to see. The huge derricks dotted the landscape mostly along the centre of the valley. These were the wells that had not yet struck oil. The producers were hardly noticeable except for the tanks and scrubbing plants.

While the largest number of plants are working on the formation first discovered, the operations are being extended and widening, and it seems reasonable to expect that they will soon cover a very extensive area. As each well costs from $150,000 to $250,000 to complete, a huge amount of money is being spent in the valley and Calgary is benefitting considerably.

At the first well visited they were drawing the casings in order to change the drill at the end. The huge lengths of pipe were being pulled out, screwed apart and stacked inside the derrick as if they were so many light parts of a fishing rod. It seemed to us a wonder that the men handling them were not hurt.

The naphtha after it has been purified of gas is piped to the refinery at Calgary, forty miles distant, and after being refined is sold there. The gas is burned with the exception of a small quantity at the Royallite plant, which is passed through the "scrubbing" plant and piped to Calgary for local consumption.

Something like 1500 men are employed in Turner Valley at present with an annual payroll of three million dollars.

There is a difference of opinion among visitors as to the permanence of the field. Some think it will not be permanent until the large crude oil reservoir is reached and many are drilling for it. In the meantime, some of the wells are producing sufficient of the marketable commodity to enable the payment of dividends, while others expect to pay in the near future.

PREMIER OF BRITAIN TO BE SPEAKER

Will Be Guest of Government at Ottawa After His Visit to Washington

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—Premier Ramsay Macdonald will be the guest of the government of Canada at an official dinner when he visits the Dominion after the visit to President Hoover in Washington, Premier Mackenzie King states.

Mr. King said he felt quite satisfied Mr. Macdonald would make but one speech during his three or four days' stay in Canada and that at the government dinner. If Mr. Macdonald has anything to tell the Canadian people about his discussions with President Hoover he will probably do it on that occasion.

Mr. Macdonald will visit Toronto, Montreal and Quebec while in Canada.

THE COAST OUTLET FOR PEACE RIVER

At the present time part of the cost of carrying grain from the Peace River country to the market is absorbed by the railway companies, the present charge averaging about five cents a bushel more than from the city of Edmonton.

The residents of the district think that if a coast outlet is built they will make a saving of about twelve cents a bushel. On a thousand bushels the saving to them would be about $120. As nobody raises less than a thousand bushels and some raise ten thousand or more, it is clear why the farmers of that part of the country are keen to have the outlet built as soon as possible.

Vancouver and Prince Rupert are actuated largely by selfish motives in wishing to have the outlet built and so is the grain grower. The farmers would benefit and the port would benefit. It would be good for all.

You can't keep out of trouble just by refusing to strike the first blow. A telephone pole never attacks a car.

NOT IMMIGRATION BUT TRANSPORTATION

The people of the Peace River declare they do not want immigration but transportation. Given the latter the former will follow with lightning rapidity. In fact, the building of a coast outlet would be the best possible immigration policy for the country. It would advertise the Peace country as nothing else could and the lands would fill up and provide traffic just as fast as the rails were laid. In that respect the line differs greatly from that to the Hudson's Bay. It would be a paying line right from the start.

It must be a great disappointment to a mosquito when he drills a bald head and strikes hardpan so near the surface.

COUNTING THE COST

There have been Prince Rupert people who have doubted the wisdom of sending a delegation to the big convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce recently held. While no one can estimate what the value of such a delegation might be in inducing the building of the railway to such a point as might cause the grain to flow to Prince Rupert, there is no doubt whatever that it gave Prince Rupert a great deal of publicity. It was the only place heard from outside of Vancouver, and the name of the city was on everybody's lips. The people at the gathering realized that the city was making a bid to become the seaport of the Peace River and the western outlet for all northern British Columbia. It is also possible that it might have been the turning point in a movement to secure the use of the port for Peace River grain. At any rate, the delegation left no stone unturned to bring before the people at the convention and in the country the possibilities of Prince Rupert.

The Canadian government is to make "talkies," according to a report from Ottawa. It is to be hoped it does not make them in the house of commons.

FEW CASES AT ASSIZES

Two Criminal Charges to Be Before Jury on Wednesday of Next Week

The fall session of the supreme court assizes will open here next Wednesday morning, with Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald presiding. There are two criminal cases on the docket and civil work will include a couple of divorce actions.

One of the criminal cases is that in which Stephen Boljkovic is charged with the murder of Dimitar Similevich at Dorreen on July 14. The other is a manslaughter charge against David Lewis Jones of Smithers, arising out of an automobile accident early in the summer, when two men were killed on the Duthie mine road. A. M. Johnson, K.C., will prosecute in both of these cases and L. W. Patmore, it is understood, will defend in both.

Boljkovic will be brought to the city on Saturday morning from Okalla, where he has been awaiting trial, by Inspector William Spiller. Also coming north at the same time from Okalla will be Robert Malcolm Wylie, who is to be tried at the Prince George assizes a week later on a charge of theft. A charge of infant murder against Signa Ford will also be heard at the Prince George assizes.

RED LETTER CHURCH DAY NAAS RIVER

Members of Anglican National Commission Visit Kincolith and Other Points

Sunday, September 15, was a red letter day for the church people of the Naas valley. On Saturday afternoon the members of the Anglican national commission—Rt. Rev. Bishop Owen of Hamilton, Rev. Dr. Gould of Toronto and Chancellor Gisborne of Ottawa—arrived at Kincolith on the Northern Cross. Dr. Gould went on up the river to Greenville to pay a short visit to Greenville mission, while the bishop and Chancellor Gisborne landed at Kincolith and established themselves at the mission home.

On Saturday evening they were officially welcomed in the Church Army Hall by Chief Counsellor Peter Stewart, Acting Chief of Church Council Henry Smart and Captain Benson of the Church Army.

The Sunday services began with a celebration of the holy communion, the celebrant being His Lordship Bishop Owen, assisted by Rev. Henry Flores of Aiyansh and Rev. O. Thorne of Kincolith.

The missionary of Greenville, Rev. Walter Cooper, with his lay readers and choir, arrived in the village about 10 a.m., and conducted the morning service, their choir singing a selection from the "Messiah" most creditably, especially considering that the choirs have not been together since Easter. Bishop Owen preached, and outlined to the large congregation the work of the general synod of the church and the especial work of the visiting commission.

At 1 o'clock a banquet was served in the Jubilee Hall by the ladies of the village to all their visitors, over 200 sitting down at the well-filled tables.

Short speeches voicing their affection and reverence for the faith brought to them by their old missionaries Colbran and McCullough were made by the chief of the three Naas villages, and after an excellent speech by Dr. Gould in which he said that he had heard a great deal about the brass bands and wanted to hear them, the bishop pronounced the benediction.

About 4 p.m. the combined Church Armies preceded to the mission house and escorted our visitors to their Church Army Hall. After the opening exercises Chancellor Gisborne gave a short talk, telling of the useful work the laymen of the church were doing.

The evening service was in charge of Rev. O. Thorne, assisted by Rev. Henry Florey of Aiyansh with lay readers Charles Merven and Pete Stewart. The Kincolith choir assisted by some members of Aiyansh choir sang the Hallelujah Chorus and Mrs. Arthur Nelson sang the offertory solo. Bishop Owen at the conclusion of the service expressed to the conductor and choir his great appreciation.

Dr. Gould preached on the parable of the talents, emphasizing the ways in which the man with only one talent could use and multiply his gift. At the close of his address Paul Mercer of Aiyansh gave to the people in their own tongue an accurate resume of what had been said.

During the day the special needs and views of the several villages were given to the visiting commission by deputations of their chief men.

On Monday morning at 8 a.m. the Northern Cross, captained by Rev. W. B. Jennings, weighed anchor and left for Anyox and Stewart with the commission.

Before leaving Bishop Owen, on behalf of the commission, expressed his appreciation of the manner in which they had been received and of the splendid way in which the people of Kincolith had welcomed and entertained their many guests.
