EVIDENCE AT FISHERIES COMMISSION WAS MOSTLY AGAINST SALMON TRAPS

Royal Commission of Judge Ellis Opens Here and Many Witnesses Submit Testimony

Representative of Cannery Company Is Sole Advocate of Salmon Traps at Morning Session

Emphatic and unqualified protests from public and fishermen's organizations in various parts of the district against any proposal which would permit operation of salmon traps in District No. 2 and a plea from R. R. Payne, production manager of the Canadian Fishing Co., for permission to instal fish traps in Pierce Canal in order that Wales Island cannery might be permitted to make a return on its operation, featured the opening session this morning of the royal commission being held here by Judge J. N. Ellis of Vancouver to investigate the advisability of permitting fish traps. Mr. Payne was the only one of several witnesses who spoke in favor of fish traps. Opponents of them expressed the view that such machinery would tend to further deplete the fishery and, if they became general, would put the fishermen—trollers, seiners and gill netters—completely out of business. Judge Ellis was assisted in the taking of evidence by Major J. A. Motherwell, chief inspector of fisheries. Milton Gonzales appeared as counsel for the Canadian Fishing Co. The audience consisted of about 50 persons, including mostly people who are interested in the fishing industry. Opening at 10 o'clock, the commission adjourned at 12:30 noon until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

In opening the session, Judge Ellis read the order-in-council appointing himself as royal commissioner and showing the authority and scope of the enquiry. He invited all who had anything to say to come forward and give the benefit of their knowledge. While the question of allowing fish traps in the vicinity of the Alaskan boundary was the particular subject of enquiry, he was ready to treat the matter generally.

Charles Lord, delegate from a public meeting which was held in the city recently, submitted a resolution from that meeting opposing fish traps. He traced the history of traps in this district and stated that both political parties had gone on record as opposing them. He accused the Canadian Fishing Co. of bringing the skeleton forward again now. In that case, he thought the Canadian Fishing Co. should be the first to give evidence to justify traps if possible. The judge suggested that Mr. Lord go ahead.

Mike Anderson of the Northern B. C. Salmon Fishermen's Association declared that each fish trap would displace upwards of fifty fishermen. Traps, being cheap to operate, would eventually displace the fishermen altogether. There were upwards of 5,000 fishermen in this district and Mr. Anderson believed that their interests should be considered. There were other auxiliary industries which would also be adversely affected. Who would buy the fish of the fishermen when fish could be caught cheaply?

CONSERVATIVE MEMBER PARLIAMENT DIES

Malignant Disease of Mysterious Origin is the Cause of Several Deaths

Public Gatherings Banned and Churches and Schools Closed in Effort to Check Spread in Ontario

GLENCOE, April 18.—Four people are dead as the result of an unknown malignant disease which broke out in Erfrid township last Friday. Cultures have been taken by the Institute of Public Health in an effort to determine the disease. Public gatherings have been banned and churches and schools closed.

The dead are Mrs. Dugald Sinclair and her 18-year-old daughter, Barbara, of Appin. Daniel Brown, aged 21, and Willie Brown, aged 9, sons of Thomas Brown of Tait's Corners. Edward Sinclair, aged 21, whose mother and sister are dead, is not expected to recover. Four others are under medical care.

The fact that from 400 to 600 residents of the district have visited the homes of Thomas Brown and Mrs. Dugald Sinclair to tender sympathy and attend the funeral services precipitated the quarantine against public gatherings.

Premier Baldwin Submits His Manifesto to People Opening Conservative Campaign Today

LONDON, April 18.—Premier Baldwin launched the election campaign of the Conservative party today with an address before 2000 representative Conservatives from all parts of the country, in which he emphasized the policy of the party as a steady going forward one and promised its continuance and development. "Ours is a policy of sobriety which you can see through," he said, "of nursing our trade into better condition, of looking after the education and health of our people and particularly of our women and children. It is a policy which goes into every home and every cottage throughout the country from end to end. It is a policy you know will be carried out to the utmost of our ability and I will promise nothing more.

"People who think pre-war electioneering is going to win a post-war election are making mistakes. Our people think they want to learn, and, above all, they want to do the right thing. I cannot stand up and will not stand up before a people like that and go one iota beyond that I know I can perform if I have the opportunity."

The premier declared that the Conservatives had been pursuing for some years a consistent policy aimed at the development of the country's industries and placing in them men of permanent employment. "We have not neglected any of those services which make for the happiness and welfare of our own people," he said. "You may judge us by what we have done. You may judge us by this—that we do not promise more than we can perform."

WALTER JOHNSON LOSES HIS FIRST BASEBALL GAME FOR WASHINGTON ON ASSUMING MANAGEMENT THERE

NEW YORK, April 18.—Baseball got a start in the east yesterday when Walter Johnson made his managerial debut in Washington against Philadelphia. Johnson sent in "Sad" Sam Jones against Connie Mack's choice of Yerkes. They were both wrong, Walter more than Connie. Mack sent for Eddie Rommel as the big train shuffled out of Garland, Braxton.

The Athletics led 5 to 4 as the second choices settled into position after the second innings, but they continued their familiarity with senatorial pitching until the margin was 13 to 4 at the end of the fifth.

Adolph Liska halted the debacle, but the score remained stationary to the finish.

Detroit poured a neat dose of shellac down the throats of Cleveland to win 15 to 3, despite Averill's second homer in two days.

Daw Howlet urged St. Louis troop to a second straight triumph over the White Sox with a score of 5 to 3.

PROMINENT FIGURES IN SPORT

Written Especially for the Daily News by the Sports Editor

Thomas J. Hickey, President of American Association League

Thomas J. Hickey, who is president of the American Association League, was also its organizer. Born at Sandwich, Ill., on October 7, 1871, and the owner of a roller skating rink at Lincoln, Neb., Hickey was looking forward to the summer of 1893 with no baseball in his town when he was seized with the idea to remedy the matter by organizing a league. Although not quite 22 years of age, he went right ahead with his baseball league and named it the Western Association. Thirty or more cities were represented at times in the league. This circuit struggled along until the end of the century and, when the larger cities balked against remaining in the league with others so much smaller, two circuits were formed—the American Association and the Western League. Middle Western cities dropping out of the struggling American League were taken into the American Association. The Western League later ranked among the most stable of the minor league organizations. Hickey headed the new American Association League for two years after its organization in 1901 and then resigned to enter business in St. Paul and Minneapolis. In 1915 he was induced to return to the presidency of the American Association which has become one of the strongest leagues in the country, outside the two major leagues, under his guidance.

The latter made high breaks of 46 and 34, while Balagno made a 30 and a number of twenty-fours. The final block of the 1000-point match will be played tonight.

per by trap? Mr. Anderson questioned figures of "trap" catches which Mr. Motherwell read. He suggested that these figures might be prepared to suit the cannery interests. There was an average of 1121 fishermen on the Skeena River and 300 on the Naas, Mr. Anderson stated. Their earnings might average $1000 a year out of which expenses might amount to $450, leaving only $550 to purchase the necessities of life. Even that was below government standard. The earnings of the fishermen stayed in this country but he would like to know where the profits of the canneries went.

Resolution Presented

Arthur Brooksbank, secretary of the Prince Rupert Board of Trade, read resolutions from Onah River, Lewis Island, Osland and Jap Inlet protesting against fish traps.

George Kane expressed the opinion that fish traps should be allowed so that the fishing industry might keep pace with modern developments of other industries.

Ald. G. W. Rudderham appeared to lodge the protest of the city council against fish traps. He believed that allowing fish traps on Portland Inlet would be but the thin end of the wedge which would lead to traps all over the district. As a result, the fish would be depleted and the fishermen deprived of their livelihood.

William Beynon read a resolution from the natives of Port Simpson protesting against fish traps.

Ambrose Reid dealt further with the effect fish traps would have on the natives whose only means of livelihood fishing had become. Mr. Reid also declared that traps had been contributory to depleting the salmon fishery of the Fraser River.

Mike Anderson presented petitions from Kitkatla and Metlakatla opposing fish traps.

R. R. Payne of the Canadian Fishing Co. told how his company had acquired Wales Island cannery in 1924 for $233.00, paying $72,000 for the putting in of traps which the government had sanctioned. American traps in Steamboat Passage had taken 735,000 fish in 1928. All his company asked was permission to operate traps there so they could get a share of those fish. He did not think that traps would adversely affect fishermen in Portland Inlet. As for conservation, he believed that it could be attained by such regulations as the weekly close season. Fish traps were easier to regulate than any other method of fishing. Mr. Payne gave figures to show that three of his company's traps in 1925 had taken a total of 105,426 fish the most of which were pinks and chums. Over fishing could be caused by any kind of gear.

Asked Questions

Mr. Payne was being questioned by opponents of fish traps when adjournment was made.

BEST YEAR FOR THE RAILWAY

OTTAWA, April 18.—A special standing committee of the House of Commons on C.N.R. affairs was told yesterday by Henry Thornton that the railway showed the calendar year of 1928 to be the most satisfactory in its history, both financially and from an operating standpoint. Out of every dollar of traffic receipts earned by the C.N.R., 17.84 cents was available for interest. On the U.S. class-one railways, only 15.21 cents were available for interest. Sir Henry Thornton thought that this was a very good factory as many of the lines were in new districts.

R. W. Cameron, chairman of the executive committee, reported at the meeting of the hospital board last night that all arrangements had been completed for the concert that will be staged on April 29 by the Prince Rupert Singers, under the direction of H. N. Brocklesby, for the benefit of the operating room. A rental of $175 for the Capitol Theatre had been arranged.

A. P. Allison, who has been on a trip to the Queen Charlotte Islands in connection with his logging interests, arrived in the city from Skidegate Inlet on the Prince Charles this morning and will proceed to Vancouver on the Prince George tonight. Mr. Allison is accompanied by K. W. Worsoe, a Norwegian capitalist, who has been looking into gold mining possibilities on the islands.

Capt. F. T. Saunders, agent of the Marine Department here since the Digby Island marine station was established eighteen or so years ago, whose appointment as superintendent of pilotage for the Pacific Coast with headquarters in Vancouver was recently reported from Ottawa, will sail tonight on the Prince George for Vancouver, accompanied by Mrs. Saunders. Capt. Saunders has as yet received no definite instructions to move to Vancouver.

National Hospital Day on May 12 will be observed in the Prince Rupert General Hospital by throwing the institution open for public inspection, it was decided at the meeting of the board last night. Arrangements for the occasion were left in the hands of the executive committee.

Miss Harrison, the lady superintendent, mentioned at the meeting of the hospital board last night that she was about to lose the services of two of her nurses, Miss Hunter and Miss Castell. They had been valued members of the staff and their impending departure was regretted.

During the month of March, hospital expenditures amounted to $4,878.54 with collections of $5,023.90, leaving a surplus of $150.36, it was reported at the meeting of the board last night by G. P. Tinker, chairman of the finance committee. There were 117 hospital days during the month at an average cost of $2.82 per day.

A high testimonial from John Joy sr. for the splendid treatment his wife had received while a patient in the Prince Rupert General Hospital recently was conveyed to the hospital board last night by the president, J. H. Thompson. H. Levine, it was stated, had also spoken highly of the treatment he received in the institution.

R. E. Benson was welcomed as a member of the board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital by President J. H. Thompson at the regular monthly meeting of the board last night. Announcement of an order-in-council by the provincial government making Mr. Benson's appointment and rescinding that of Leo. Waugh, was read.

A letter from the Canadian Laundry suggesting the appointment of a board of arbitration to pass on laundry work in case dispute should arise as to its satisfaction, was read at last night's meeting of the hospital board. The laundry asked this in connection with the laundry contract for the year which it had been awarded. The matter was left to the house committee with power to act.

Reporting for the house committee of which he is chairman, Ald. Brown stated at the meeting of the hospital board last night that a new sterilizer had been ordered for the operating room at a price of $1275 less ten per cent discount. Repairs had been made to the basement in the nurses' dining room and also to the hardwood floor in the nurses' home which had been damaged by water from a leaky radiator. The basement ward had been fitted with a bell and blinds and laying of new linoleum throughout the hospital was under consideration.

SIR CLIFFORD SIFTON

When Sir Clifford Sifton died yesterday there passed from this world one of Canada's great men. He was not popular throughout the country for several reasons. Liberals did not like him because he bolted their ticket over the reciprocity arrangement with the United States and worked against his old chief, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Conservatives did not like him because he had a newspaper at Winnipeg, the Free Press, which consistently advocated Liberal principles, although, at the same time, taking an independent attitude on the big questions of the day. Labor did not like him because he accumulated wealth.

Sir Clifford was the father of unrestricted immigration and it is claimed that he made money from the filling up of the Canadian prairies. At any rate, it can be said that during the time of that immigration flow into Canada, the country was prosperous and has benefited since as a result. It led to a few problems, such as that of dealing with the Doukhobors and Galicians, but they were minor troubles affecting only very small areas. Children of most of the immigrants of that day are now good Canadians imbued with the Canadian spirit.

Sir Clifford was an eloquent speaker, a strong personality, had a keen business sense and enjoyed spending on horses some of the money he made in other directions. While it is true that he made money for himself, he also worked throughout for the benefit of the country. A few more such able citizens would be a great advantage.

THE STEWART RAILWAY

The report of the Northeastern Railway Company which has a short line at Stewart and which it is planned to extend to the interior, was read with great interest by many people here. All Prince Rupert people are interested in that line and would like to see it succeed. This is a huge country and transportation is its greatest need. While doubts have been expressed of the intention of the present company to build the line, any effort at railway building is always hailed with delight by the districts likely to be affected by it. Stewart is particularly pleased at the effort and is ready to back the company almost to a man. We hope it will be a success. At any rate, the company will probably spend some money in the district and that will benefit some of the people.

DAY OF EXPANSION

This is a day of expansion. The C. P. R. is just issuing a large block of new stock which will be spent in extending their lines. The C. N. R. is completing the line to Hudson Bay and other branches. The two big railways are considering a scheme for the opening up of the Peace River country and providing a western and southern outlet. Power concerns are extending their operations in order to provide for the development which is going on. Canada is growing.

The only fly in the ointment is the slow growth made by Prince Rupert. The city has not as yet benefited to any great extent from the general prosperity. Today we are publishing the first article on what would most benefit northern and central British Columbia. We hope to have a good many more sent in. If anyone has a brain wave, here is a good opportunity to give expression to it. If it will benefit the country, let us all hear it.

UNDENOMINATIONAL CHURCH

Yesterday we published a report on the opening of the new undenominational church at Usk. It is a community church for the use of the community and not of a denomination. That seems a reasonable method of catering to the religious needs of small communities. Usk will be watched with interest to note what use they make of their new building.

MODERN YOUTH LIKES FIGHT

Speaker Urges in Address Cultivation of Natural Instinct Along Right Lines

SNOBBERY OBJECTIONABLE

Rev. A. Wilson Urges That Fighting Instinct be Used to Meet Ringing Challenges

An address of great interest was delivered last evening to the Parent Teachers' Association at their regular meeting in Borden Street School which touched a responsive chord in the audience.

The speaker was Rev. A. Wilson, B.A. of the United Church, and his subject was, "Teaching the Youth How to Make Use of the Fighting Instinct." "Nothing is more evident than that the fighting instinct is strongly ingrained in the young; and therefore one of our greatest problems today is to guide the youth towards the proper way to give expression to this innate fighting instinct," said Mr. Wilson. "This instinct is in the young in varying degrees and while it does not always find expression in fighting yet most boys like to read about fighting or watch fighting pictures on the screen. Boys' literature has always contained a great many fighting stories and now since the war, stories based upon fights on land, sea, under the sea and in the air have greatly increased. Opposed to this is the fact that the nations of the world are rapidly moving toward universal peace and have agreed to abolish war as an instrument of national policy.

"The subject of history is also changing. Instead of dwelling on the details of battles and conflicts scholars are asking how people lived in those times, and what were their springs of conduct," the speaker continued. "How are children to interpret these facts and reconcile their literature with the changing ideals of history and the changed atmosphere of a world now striving for peace and brotherhood?" "Yet it was a splendid thing that the rising generation was strongly endowed with this fighting instinct. It was a challenge to the home, the school and the church to see that our young people put this important instinct to the very highest use. They should see how humanity has advanced from stage to stage until now the great nations had seriously taken up this very challenge and had agreed to divert this force towards endeavors for the well being of the human race. They saw clearly now as Napoleon saw and remarked many years ago, 'The more I study the world the more I realize that force can achieve nothing enduring."

Play the Game

The speaker dwelt upon different ways in which this fighting instinct could be expressed. Boxing for physical culture was good but the prize fight has a harmful influence upon youth. Friendly contests in organized games such as the schools conducted was splendid and taught the youth to ever play the game fairly. But there were greater opportunities for service in which the fighting instinct was needed. "Our own country provides many and wonderful opportunities, and gives a thousand challenges to youth in the domains of agriculture, industry, science, engineering, medical and surgical science, the wiping out of disease, ignorance, and poverty. Our own city of Prince Rupert was a splendid example of how the fighting instinct properly directed has overcome many physical obstacles in the planning and building of our city."

"Moral and spiritual influences had been won also but a great deal still remained to be accomplished along these lines.

"Some people had allowed the fighting instinct to lapse, had failed to make a right use of their leisure and neglected their reading and ignorance had grown up in spite of the splendid school system. Snobbery had also to be fought against. Snobbery had not been all left behind in the old land. One has only to look at the front pages of the society supplement of the Vancouver papers to see that snobbery and class-consciousness have a strong root in the life of Canadian cities. The youth must be taught that snobbery springs from shallowness of mind. The true aristocrat is not of this type. He is truly cultured and loves his fellow man."

"We have a great heritage in Canada, a wonderful democracy and our young people must be so trained that they will use every ounce of this splendid fighting spirit to meet successfully the innumerable ringing challenges which this new land and the new world sends out to its youth," Mr. Wilson concluded.

SIR CLIFFORD SIFTON HAD A GREAT CAREER

Broke With Liberal Government Over Reciprocity; Was Horseman of Renown

Hon. Sir Clifford Sifton, K.C.M.G., K.C., of Toronto, privy councillor, former minister of the interior, lawyer and statesman, who died yesterday, was for many years one of the most prominent public men of Canada. Of surpassing business ability, and possessing exceptional courage and independence of character, he towered above the average politician at Ottawa. Few men were better known in Canada. During his political activity he was regarded as one of the leaders of the Liberal party, and one of its best fighters.

Sir Clifford was called by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the federal cabinet on November 17, 1896, as minister of the interior and superintendent-general of Indian affairs. As minister of the interior he carried out a vigorous immigration policy, which added largely to the population of the Dominion. In the earlier period of his ministry he was specially charged with matters relating to the government of the Northwest Territories (now Saskatchewan and Alberta), and Yukon Territory and all unorganized and outlying territories of the Dominion. He introduced and carried through legislation at Ottawa giving responsible government to the Northwest Territories, 1898.

On account of a difference of opinion with the premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, over educational clauses of the Northwest Territory autonomy bill, Sir Clifford resigned from the government February 27, 1905. He continued to be a member of the house of commons until the general election of 1911, when he withdrew and did not present himself for re-election. He represented Brandon, Manitoba, in the Dominion parliament from 1896 until 1911, his first election to the house of commons being by acclamation, following upon his call to the ministry at Ottawa.

Opposed Reciprocity

Sir Clifford withdrew his support from the Laurier government in 1911, when the Taft-Felding reciprocity agreement was the paramount question in Dominion politics, he not being in accord on the matter with the leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He took an active part in the campaign in the general election of that year against the proposed reciprocity agreement with the United States.

Sir Clifford Sifton was an outstanding political figure in Manitoba for a number of years before he joined the Laurier government. His political career in Manitoba began in 1888. In that year he was elected to the Manitoba legislature as Liberal member for North Brandon. He continued to represent Brandon in the local legislature until he accepted the invitation to the larger sphere of usefulness at Ottawa.

Succeeding Hon. Joseph Martin as attorney-general of Manitoba in 1894, Sir Clifford was attorney-general and minister of education in the Greenway government until 1896, when he resigned to become minister of the interior and superintendent-general of Indian affairs for Canada. While a member of the Manitoba government he introduced the act abolishing divisions between law and equity procedure in the court of king's bench and codifying and simplifying civil procedure in the courts.

For some time Sir Clifford was chairman of the Canadian conservative commission, he having been appointed to this position in 1909. He lectured in many places

Urges Forming New Province as Best Means to Forward Interest of Northern British Columbia

(This is the second of the articles received in the competition now being conducted by this paper to try to find a means of improving the position of this part of the country. Names of the writers are withheld until judging is completed.)

According to my ideas re means of advancing the interests of northern and central British Columbia: The only, and the very best plan, would be to form a separate province for northern British Columbia. In fact, this should have been done a long time ago, as the northern part of the province has been neglected too long altogether.

There are lots of examples everywhere, but we needn't go outside our own town, where things would have been quite different if the dry dock and the elevator had been busy all the time, and if the work on the new highway had been pushed on as much as possible instead of shut down.

No country whatever will progress without communications.

Railways, highways, phones, telegraphs and steamship lines are the veins of the whole body, and as long as the northern part of B. C. is kept down, as up to the present time, there will be no advances whatever. All the vast possibilities of the interior and along the coast do not matter.

Our local elevator has become a regular warehouse. Our splendid drydock can't even get the contract to build the police boat for our own district.

Our harbor, one of the very best and finest in the whole world, is practically lifeless. The fish trade is poor and so is everything else. There is no life, no business, and there will not be any either, as long as the people of the north don't take the management into their own hands.

We cannot expect that the Dominion government shall guess what we want, or fulfill all our wishes; neither can we expect that the business men of the south shall favor this northern district. If they did so, they would not be

Interest in Horses

Apart from his political career Sir Clifford Sifton was widely known in Canada and the United States, he being for many years one of the leading horsemen at the principal races and horse shows in the big Canadian and American cities. He was an importer of English hunters. He was a great lover of high-bred, high-spirited horses, and probably the numerous trophies which he won in horse competitions gave him more genuine pleasure than the honors that came his way in the political arena. He was elected president of the Ottawa Racing Association in 1903, and in 1909 was head of the national bureau of breeding.

He was created Knight Commander of St. Michael and St. George on January 1, 1915.

PLANE MADE BRIEF STAY IN RUPERT

Proceeded to Alaska Yesterday Afternoon After Refuelling Here

Another fine flight was being made by the Gort Air Transport Co.'s Boeing amphibian biplane which made a brief stop here yesterday afternoon to refuel. The ship, an eight passenger carrier and one of the largest airplanes that has ever been seen here, left Seattle at 6:45 yesterday morning, arrived at Campbell River at 9:15 and, after refuelling there, hopped off again at 10:15 and arrived here at 2:40. The flight had been made in six hours and fifty-five minutes actual flying time. The trip spent about an hour here before proceeding to Ketchikan, a destination was Juneau.

On board the plane were five persons—Verne Gort, president of the owning company, Clayton Scott, pilot; Gordon Graham, mechanic; E. Greenwood, commercial representative of the Gort Air Transport Co., and A. L. Iverson, a mining man.

In a brief conversation with the Daily News while here, Mr. Greenwood said that they had had an excellent trip north under ideal weather conditions. The 25 Wright Cyclone engine had functioned perfectly. They expected to reach Juneau today.

This plane brought north the first Seattle papers ever to be distributed in Prince Rupert on the day of publication. Copies of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer of yesterday morning were dropped from the plane at settlements along the coast.

Good lessons come out of well-filled school lunch boxes

by Mary Blake

No child can do good work in school unless he is well-nourished. Too often, the school lunch box is filled with whatever happens to be at hand, rather than with a definite plan to give a child fuel and energy and material for growth.

In every school lunch box there should be a fruit of some sort. This may be the usual apple or orange or other raw fruit, or it may be a jar of some cooked fruit, a baked apple, stewed prunes, rhubarb, perhaps. There should be a vegetable. This, too, may be raw: raw cabbage and raw carrots chopped together make an appetizing salad and one that most children like. Other combinations will suggest themselves to you.

A sandwich should be included, and varied from day to day as much as possible. A dessert such as custard or cookies should complete the lunch, which is to be supplemented at school by a hot dish of some sort or a hot drink.

How to get milk into the school lunch

The most important food on the whole school lunch menu is, of course, milk. At a very great many schools milk is supplied the children. But it is always advisable to augment this, if possible, by including in the lunch box a dessert in which milk is used. Rice puddings, blanc mange, custards, bread puddings and tapioca all contribute a generous quantity of milk to the diet.

You'll find Carnation Milk preferable for cookery

In preparing dishes for the school lunch, in all your cookery, in fact, you will find Carnation Milk particularly convenient, dependable and economical. It is simply pure, full-cream milk, evaporated to double richness, and "homogenized" to give every drop its share of the double helping of cream.

In cooking results it surpasses even the finest bottled milk for flavor, richness, smooth, creamy texture and certainty of success.

The only way to realize fully how many advantages Carnation offers, is to try it—in soups and sauces, which it makes wonderfully smooth and creamy; in candies and ice creams, to which it gives an exceptionally velvety texture; in cakes and puddings, to which it contributes both delicacy and richness.

You'll find a host of excellent recipes in the Carnation Cook Book. Won't you send for it? It is free. Address Carnation Milk Products Co., Limited, 134 Abbott Street, Vancouver, B. C.

Carnation Cup Custard

2 cups Carnation Milk, 2 cups water, 5 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. vanilla. Scald Carnation and water; beat eggs slightly, add sugar, salt, vanilla and scalded milk. Pour into individual buttered custard cups, set in pan of hot water. Sprinkle with nutmeg and bake in a slow (225°F.) oven until knife inserted in center comes out clean—about 40 minutes. Serves eight.

Smooth, Creamy, Custards

Doubly rich in cream, Carnation Milk adds creaminess to any dish. "Homogenized" to break up the cream into finest particles, it makes the most velvety custards, soups, sauces, puddings, candies and ice creams. You'll agree it's wonderful. (See recipe above)

GAME COYOTE THAT FOUGHT FOR ITS LIFE

Lost Two Feet in Traps and Finally Died Beneath Bunk in Trappers' Cabin

The story of a game coyote, that was not sufficiently wary but game in the extreme and which had a number of adventures with traps is told in a recent number of the Edmonton Journal as follows:

This particular coyote, whose training in the ways of the world had been sadly neglected by his mother, walked into one of Falk's traps during the first part of the winter. By twisting, the coyote managed to free his leg from the trap, but he left part of his front foot between the steel jaws. For a month or so, Falk noticed the tracks of this three-legged animal, but it stayed clear of all traps and out of gun range. Then one day, while absent-mindedly dreaming of a rabbit dinner and limping down an old game trail, it walked plumb into another of Falk's traps. This time it was the other front leg that was caught.

Lost Another Foot
Again the animal freed itself at the cost of its remaining front paw. Traveling on the stumps of its legs, the coyote sought seclusion in its den until the last maimed member had healed. Now, however, it could no longer chase game and had to take a chance on mice or an occasional rabbit which it might catch by lying in wait along a rabbit run and making a single spring with its hind legs.

Game was scarce for even a four-footed coyote, and it was not long until this maimed one was at the point of starvation. At last in desperation it attempted to reach the enticing bait behind a ring of Falk's concealed traps. It got the bait, but a trap got its hind leg. Struggling wildly, the animal pulled the trap loose from the drag. Following the instinctive urge of wild animals to hide themselves when sick or crippled so that they would not be preyed on by others, the coyote dragged itself and the trap through the woods for a mile or so without finding any place of concealment. Then across an opening, it saw the head cabin of D. B. Lake, Falk's neighbor.

The cabin was deserted at the time and the door was ajar. Ordinarily the coyote would have gone through fire rather than enter such a suspicious looking place, which to its delicate nostrils fairly reeked of the man odor, but now the animal was dying of starvation, suffering from the trap on its leg, and frightened to remain in the open while unable to defend itself. After dragging itself around the cabin in a wide circle and watching for some time to make sure that no one was there, it timidly crawled into the shack and lay down under a bunk.

Died Under Bunk
The next day, tracking his escaped catch, Falk came to his neighbor's cabin. Hardly able to believe his eyes, he followed the trail through the door. There under the bunk, dead as a door nail, lay the hard-luck coyote.

LOG CARRYING BARGE ASHORE

Black Wolf Dragged Anchors and Drifted to Beach at Q. C. City in Storm

The log carrying barge Black Wolf of the Pacific Coyle Navigation Co., which went ashore last Friday night in a storm near Queen Charlotte City wharf after having dragged her anchors and drifted from anchorage where she was loading logs from A. P. Allison for delivery to Vancouver, is now being lightered of some 400,000 feet of logs which had already been placed in her, preparatory to a survey being made of the damage sustained by the craft. The barge is half submerged at high tide and the extent of the damage has not yet been ascertained.

The log carrying barge Biscayne was to have sailed from Queen Charlotte City today with a cargo of logs for the Powell River paper mill.

PARENT-TEACHERS MAKE DONATIONS TO SCHOOL SPORT FUNDS

Successful Gathering Last Evening and Plans Made For University Lecture

The regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Parent-Teacher Association was held last night in the Borden Street School the outstanding feature being an address by Rev. A. Wilson, published elsewhere.

Mrs. R. M. Winslow presided over a very large attendance of members. The treasurer, Mrs. H. B. Eastman, reported a balance of $95.23 in the bank. It is expected that in the near future a public meeting will be held under the auspices of the association at which Professor F. H. Soward of the University of British Columbia will deliver a lecture on one of the following topics: "Canada's Place in International Affairs," or "The Future of the League of Nations."

Professor Soward is one of the outstanding men in the field of present day international problems. In order to increase membership in the association it was decided to appoint three membership conveners. Mrs. G. A. Kelsey was appointed to take charge of Booth Memorial and Seal Cove Schools, Mrs. E. W. Tucker, for Borden Street and Westview Schools and Mrs. D. C. Stuart for the High School.

Sport Equipment
The association donated a sum of $20 to each of Borden Street, Booth Memorial and High Schools, and $10 to each of Westview and Seal Cove Schools to provide for sport equipment and other necessary materials. A sum of $10 was also donated to the home economic department to provide prizes for the girls in the clothing classes. It was also decided to hold a tea and sale of home cooking in connection with the annual exhibition of the girls' work early in June.

During the evening Miss Cathie Eastman, accompanied by Wm. Fuller and Mr. Lincoln, accompanied by Mr. Blocklesby, sang solos which were greatly appreciated by all. Mr. Peddie proposed a vote of thanks to the speaker and artists.

Refreshments were served by the committee in charge of Mrs. O'Neill and Mrs. Viereck and a delightful half hour was spent in social intercourse.

NEW HOTEL IS BUILT TLELL

D. M. McLeod, the contractor, returned this morning from Queen Charlotte Islands, where he has been erecting a new hotel for Mrs. Rajout at Tlell. This will be used largely for the accommodation of those wishing to holiday on the islands and engage in fishing or hunting. It is built in an ideal location on the Rajout farm.

Mr. McLeod says the new building is the finest on the islands. It will be completed in a few weeks and he is here today to secure some finishing material for its completion.

DEBATE AT MOOSE LODGE LAST NIGHT

Interesting Arguments Pro-pounded in Discussing Wisdom of Majorities

Many interesting arguments were propounded in a debate at the Moose Lodge last night on the subject, "Is the Majority Always Right?" The judges—J. L. Blain, B. M. Simpson and Sam Haudenschild—were unanimous in their decision in favor of the negative side, which consisted of George B. Casey and W. Lamb. Those arguing in the affirmative were J. M. Morrison and N. Mussallem. D. C. Schubert, dictator of the lodge, presided over a large gathering.

After the debate a banquet spread was enjoyed. There were musical selections by the Rupert Capitulations under the leadership of Jack de Jausserand.

HOSPITAL BUYS TRACT OF LAND

Is Acquiring Ten Acres in Vicinity of Overlook Street From G.
T. P. Development Co.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital last night that negotiations had been practically completed whereby the hospital would purchase at a very favorable price 10 acres of land on the high hill in Section VII., in the neighborhood of Overlook Street. The property will be held as a possible future hospital site.

H. W. Birch, managing secretary, suggested that the property might be taken in trust by the city to relieve the hospital board of the payment of taxes. Ald. Brown took the view that the hospital should pay the taxes if it were at all possible for it to do so.

G. P. Tinker stated that the papers conveying the land to the hospital would shortly be signed in Montreal. The Grand Trunk Pacific Development Co. is the vendor.

George D. Beattie, well known Queen Charlotte City merchant, is a visitor in the city, having arrived from the islands on the

OPEN AIR WARD FOR HOSPITAL PROPOSED

Would be Benefit to Tuberculosis and Pneumonia Patients, Board Feels

At last night's meeting of the hospital board, President James H. Thompson brought up the question of erecting some sort of a glass enclosed structure adjoining the institution for the benefit of pneumonia and tuberculosis patients who could only get the fresh air now by being moved out on the walks which was a general inconvenience. Six or seven hundred dollars was mentioned as an estimate of cost.

After a general discussion, it was left to the house committee to go into the matter and return a report.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR HOSPITAL GROUNDS

Committee is Granted $100 to Continue Work Which Was Started Last Year

The hospital board last night authorized an expenditure of $100 for further improvements on the grounds. Last year a good deal of work along this line was done for $200.

The grounds committee, of which G. V. Wilkinson is chairman, will proceed with the work.
The board may grant further money if it is needed.

The hospital board last night
authorized payment to Chris Sather of an outstanding account of $25.30 in connection with grounds improvements last year.

Cups and Saucers, 6 for $1.00.

"Sins of the Fathers" Has Powerful Theme; Patrons Enthuse

With the coming of each new Emil Jannings picture, local theatregoers have fallen into the habit of becoming spellbound while the artist gives one of his characterizations. The sensation is not amiss with his latest Paramount starring film entitled,
"Sins of the Fathers," which opened last night at the Capitol theatre.

For approximately two hours the opening night audience was thrilled from beginning to end while Jannings gave his newest characterizations. The sensation powerful theme.

Jannings, in the role of a German-American, Wilhelm Spengler, starts as a waiter, becomes a saloon keeper, then a rich boot-legger, followed by a prison term in which he acts as a waiter, and upon release falls back to the vocation of a waiter again, this time in a picnic garden. Throughout he plays the kind of a man that American audiences know.
He plays the part of a man that every theatregoer can understand and sympathize with.

The sensational theme of bootlegging is handled in a way to which no one will object, because the picture does not glorify the criminal aspects of bootlegging.
On the other hand, bootlegging brings intense tragedy to Jan-nings' life.

The famous actor has a notable supporting cast headed by Ruth Chatterton, the well known stage actress.
