Hardships of Southern Cross Crew Set Forth in Brief Despatches

LONDON, April 15.—Despatches to the Daily Express from Sydney, Australia, today related something of the pitiful scenes enacted when the Heath rescue plane landed beside the Southern Cross. Kingsford Smith and his companions approached the rescue plane at a staggering run and pressed around the occupants to shake hands. Laughing, sobbing, haggard, emaciated, unshaven and weak from privation, they raised a pathetic cheer of relief.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 15.—A 12-day diet of wild beans and mud snails went hard with Captain Kingsford Smith and his three companions on the Southern Cross. They were said today to be so weak from the long vigorous experience that they might be a full four days preparing to take off on their plane for the return to Sydney.

BOSTON IS GREATEST HOCKEY TOWN IN ALL WORLD, SAYS PATRICK

VICTORIA, April 15.—"Boston today is the greatest hockey town in the world," declared Lester Patrick, well-known Victorian, who guides the destinies of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

"People of Boston were just hockey crazy this season," Lester remarked. When the Stanley cup game was played at Boston between twenty and thirty thousand fans were turned away, the rink being jammed to capacity long before the game started. The reason for so much interest being taken in hockey is the fact that Boston has not held a major sports championship since 1918, when the Boston club captured the American League, Lester states.

Asked what he thought of the Bruins as a team, Lester declared it was no super-team. Its big advantage lay in the fact it did not have a single weak link. Every position is filled by a capable player and this means a lot, the Rangers' pilot stated.

Evidence of fishery officers was taken by Stipendiary Magistrate H. F. McLeod this morning in the case of Ole Skog who is charged with seining within the herring spawning area at Pearl Harbor and the case was then adjourned for ten days so that the defence may obtain witnesses. E. F. Jones is acting for the fisheries department and Milton Gonzales for the defendant.

Sport Chat

It is encouraging to note that baseball seems to be itself again after some of its fretful athletes, determined to seek self-expression even if they had to climb four flights for it, were instrumental in making the 1929 training season the most turbulent in modern history, writes Davis J. Walsh.

True, the boys were careful not to express themselves on their employers' time. They went in for it after business hours; too long after business hours, as a matter of fact. In consequence, the managers of five ball clubs were constrained to make a number of overt gestures before the desired effect was achieved and house detectives could be permitted to go home for the night.

Judge Fuchs is said to have been one of those who had to speak firmly to the help on several occasions, although I'm inclined to think that this must have been somewhat exaggerated. The Braves have nothing to celebrate about. Neither have the Chicago White Sox, for that matter, yet Mr. Blackburne had to take his team captain, Mr. Shires, so severely to task that the latter had to leave town before he could get away from the harangue. The departure, of course, wasn't permanent, although Mr. Shires made it look that way. He even took his spats and cane with him. However, he'll be back at such time as the management sees fit to summon him, for baseball is an institution that it determines to get along without eligible ball players only when they die.

BURNS LAKE BEATS TOPLEY BASKETBALL

Close Game in Interior at End of Week Ended in Score of 22 to 20

Burns Lake beat Topley 22 to 20 in a close men's basketball game at Burns Lake at the end of the week. It was the most keenly contested game ever seen in Burns Lake. Return games are planned.

ABOLITION OF DUTY ON TEA

LONDON, April 15.—Immediate and absolute abolition of the tea duty of eight cents a pound at cost to the treasury of more than six million pounds sterling was an outstanding feature of the taxation announcements in the budget today. The betting tax of one per cent at the track or two per cent elsewhere is repealed and certain harbor duties are removed.

A 25 per cent reduction is effected in beer and spirit licenses. A tax of $200 a year on telephones in bookmakers' offices is imposed.

PROMINENT FIGURES IN SPORT

Written Especially for the Daily News by the Sports Editor

BARNEY DREYFUSS, BASEBALL MAGNATE

Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Nationals, is among the men who placed baseball, the American national game, on a high standard. Baseball has been his prime interest and he has devoted himself to improving the game in all its aspects in the business end as well as on the playing field. Dreyfuss is known as the shrewdest of the magnates of the major leagues.

At the conclusion of the American League war in 1903 Dreyfuss moved to strengthen the peace treaty between that league and the National by arranging a post-season series between his pennant winning Pirates and the Boston Red Sox, champions of the American League. Those games were the forerunner of the World Series which became the outstanding event of the baseball world starting in 1905.

The Pittsburgh club, under the direction of Dreyfuss, has been uniformly successful financially and its owner is one of the wealthiest of baseball owners. The club's success from the playing standpoint is marked by the winning of the National League pennants in 1901, 1902, 1903, again in 1909, then in 1925 and 1927 as well as the world series against Detroit in 1909 and against Washington in 1925.

Dreyfuss was born in Freiburg, Germany, February 23, 1865. He came to the United States in 1881 and was first employed as a distillery laborer. He soon owned the company and became interested in baseball in Louisville, eventually owning the club there. When the National League was reduced from twelve to eight teams and Louisville dropped, Dreyfuss merged his club with Pittsburgh in 1899 and ultimately became sole owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

TROLLING POOR VANCOUVER ISD.

Salmon Scarce This Year in the South As Result Possibly of Cold Weather

VICTORIA, April 15.—From all along the west coast of Vancouver Island, trollers report that the salmon run is very late this year. Only small catches have been reported so far this season, which gives rise to the belief that this will be a short season. The salmon catch in British Columbia waters for the past several years has been decreasing steadily.

Trollers give the reason for the late run as due to the cold weather, but it is felt that the findings of the International Fisheries Commission bring more authoritative light to bear on the matter. The commission's report on salmon fishing, both in British Columbia and United States waters, resulted recently in the signing of a treaty between Canada and the United States whereby restrictions will be imposed on fishermen in an attempt to build up the salmon runs on this coast.

PAPERS OPPOSE RECOGNITION OF SOVIET RUSSIA

LONDON, April 15.—While Labor has declared for resumption of diplomatic and trade relations with Soviet Russia, the great majority of English newspapers are against such resumption. They object to the visit of the British trade delegation being made a lever for securing what could not be secured in any other way.

Large orders of British goods are promised to the delegation, but these are dependent on the British banks financing them.

FOUR NEW C. N. R. BOATS PLANNED

Three Large Boats to Run Between Here and Islands and One to Islands

The 1929 estimates of the Canadian Railways which have been tabled in the house of commons contain a figure of $5,235,000 for the construction of four new steamers for service on this coast, despatches from Ottawa state. Three of these new boats are quite large vessels and will ply between Vancouver and Prince Rupert to Alaska and the fourth steamer will be operated in and out of Prince Rupert to the Queen Charlotte Islands and other district points.

The four new boats will just double the present C. N. R. fleet on this coast.

SHRINE TEMPLE TO BE BUILT VICTORIA

VICTORIA, April 15.—Permit to cover the erection of new Shrine Temple, at 1037 View St., at an estimated cost of $20,000, has been issued. The plans call for a one-story stucco and concrete structure, with six rooms, and a basement.

A large auditorium will be provided by the use of basement space, with a seating capacity of several hundred people. The building will be built on property secured in exchange for Rockland Avenue lots. The site of the new temple will be on south side of View Street, between Vancouver and Cook Streets.

AN ELECTRIC CAR TO TERRACE

The Daily News has been asked to suggest that the time is about ripe for the commencement of a gas-electric service between Prince Rupert and Terrace. Another opinion is that the service should be extended to Smithers. We pass on the suggestion for what it is worth. The time will undoubtedly come soon when such a service would be a financial success. Whether we have yet reached that point is matter for expert opinion.

ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY

There are four reasons against the St. Lawrence waterway scheme, which would provide a way for deep sea vessels to reach Fort William. The first reason is the falls at Sault Ste. Marie, the next the flats in the St. Clair and Detroit rivers, third, the Niagara falls, and fourth, the rapids in the St. Lawrence river. These are potent reasons.

Canada has already spent huge sums on some of the canal projects. Welland canal has cost the country $155,600,000. It would cost nearly $100,000,000 to make the St. Lawrence navigable and variable sums for the other works. It is too big a job for Canada just now.

But Canada has a way of undertaking big jobs and probably the near future will see some action taken, possibly by joint action with the United States. The possibilities are great.

EFFECT OF LANGUAGE ON PEOPLE

(Edmonton Journal)

Bernard Shaw does not take any stock in the theory that language is a bond of union between peoples. The fact that Britain and the United States speak the same tongue, he says, only makes it possible for them to insult one another with more deadly effect. It does enlarge the opportunities for creating ill-feeling and those who take advantage of them have it in their power to do a great deal of harm.

But there is reason for believing, as the retiring American ambassador to Great Britain said the other night, that such "hobgoblins" in both countries have less heed paid to them now than at one time. It is recognized, he told his audience, that "the world has become astonishingly safe for loose talk, which is one of the luxuries of security." There is much to support his view that existing Anglo-American differences have been exaggerated and that the two nations are drawing more closely together. The link of language must tend on the whole to bring about a better understanding.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS SOCIETY

The League of Nations Society in Canada is starting a drive for members tomorrow, the idea being to organize a force of public opinion which will back up the work of the League of Nations in abolishing war by putting in its place a world court. There is no branch of this society in Prince Rupert, but it has branches in all the larger cities and most of the smaller communities have formed committees to carry on the drive for members.

We believe that Prince Rupert is as much in accord with the League of Nations as any place on the continent, but there are so many organizations in the world today and these cost so much to keep up that any place can be excused for neglecting to add yet another. So far as can be gathered the chief work of the branches is to forward funds to the head office for propaganda.

The work of the society is a most laudable one. Anything that can possibly be done to help bring about world peace is deserving of support.

RADIO INQUIRY VICTORIA TODAY

Question of National Broadcasts One of Chief Matters Being Considered

VICTORIA, April 15.—Sir John Aird, Dr. Augustus Frigion and C. A. Bowman, members of the federal radio commission, are holding an inquiry here today into radio problems. The question of national broadcasting is one of the foremost matters before the commission. One of the members of the commission states that the broadcasts in England are of a higher standard under the national system than the ordinary broadcast in this country.

Inspector William Spiller, provincial police, returned to the city on yesterday afternoon's train from a trip to Burns Lake and Smithers on official duties.

EARLY START WHALING FLEET

Supplies Already Gone to Queen Charlotte Islands From Victoria and Hunters Follow

VICTORIA, April 15.—Victoria's whaling fleet will steam out of the harbor for Rose Harbor and Naden Harbor, the Queen Charlotte Islands whaling stations, early in May, it was learned yesterday.

Preparatory to the opening of the stations and the dispatching of the whalers to the Queen Charlotte Sound, the tender Gray has already gone north to Rose and Naden Harbors with supplies for the stations.

The whalers are being hauled out at the various marine ways for overhaul before sailing north. Harpoon guns have been uncovered for a final reconditioning. Engines are being tuned up and crews for the vessels are being signed on.

Everything points to an early start. Hunting will probably get under way early in May. Last year's season was marred by stormy weather, which somewhat diminished the size of the catch as compared with other years.

The stations at Rose Harbor, at the southern end of the Queen Charlotte Islands and Naden Harbor, at the most northerly tip of the group, are being whipped into shape and by the time the tender Gray delivers her supplies both depots will be ready for the opening of the season.

WORKING ON SITE

W. A. Gourlay and R. F. Davy, engineers of the federal department of public works, who arrived in the city on Saturday from Victoria, have already got under way with the work of surveying sites for the fishermen's floats that are to be built here this summer.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE NEW FORD

Production and Demand for New Ford Exceeds All Previous Records

The manufacturing schedules of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, have been steadily built up until a new daily record for Canadian automobile production has been reached.

Despite this peak output, orders for the new Ford keep uniformly ahead of the rising tide of manufacture. It is therefore necessary to continue a high rate of production. To this end a steady flow of material from more than 385 Canadian sources streams into the Ford plants. And here, with more than 10,000 men on the payrolls (almost double the previous employment record) these materials are converted into New Ford cars.

Ford Quality of Manufacture Has Been Strictly Maintained

In the effort to build enough New Ford cars to meet requirements, no deviation from the high standard of Ford precision has been permitted. This standard, unbelievably strict, was set before the car was placed upon the market, and it has since been rigidly adhered to.

In the New Ford Car 40 different steel alloys are used. Each is chosen for the specific use for which it is best adapted. In the transmission gears alone there are seven different kinds of alloys. Likewise, the forged steel spring perches, hardly bigger round than a man's thumb, will withstand a strain of 15,000 pounds. This is 30 times greater than the strain put on them in ordinary use.

The excellence of materials used is matched by the careful precision of its manufacture. For example, the eight valve guides in every engine may deviate from perfection only by 1/30th of the thickness of the average human hair.

The simplicity and soundness of Ford design is unparalleled. Such manufacturing methods ensure a high degree of satisfactory performance over a long period of years.

Ford Performance is the New Standard for Judging Automobiles

The rapidity of get-away and acceleration of the New Ford is a by-word. Its endurance, which permits sustained driving at the higher speeds hour after hour, is little short of marvelous. The ease with which steep hills are climbed in high gear is equally as impressive. Shifting gears, steering and handling the car under the most trying road conditions are exceptionally simple. 25 to 30 miles per gallon of gasoline and remarkably low oil consumption give a worthwhile operating economy.

In city traffic and on country highways, the New Ford performs as well as and often better than considerably heavier and higher priced cars. In the light car field it is absolutely without equal.

By these marks of Ford performance other motor cars are being judged. It simply means that price is no longer the gauge of automobile quality.

Ford Beauty Is More Than Skin Deep

On the surface the New Ford car is all that you want it to be. Beautiful low lines, harmonious color combinations, sparkling nickel, sturdy steel spoked wheels and balloon tires all play their part in making this a car of graceful proportion and handsome appearance.

But its real beauty is invisible. The quality of materials; careful workmanship; correctness of design; the things that really matter—these are the points in which the New Ford is exceptional.

Windshield of shatterproof glass and a six brake system, fully enclosed, safeguard occupants in any emergency. Four efficient shock absorbers in conjunction with the best proven light car spring system, give matchless riding comfort. All models are completely equipped to provide the ultimate in comfort, convenience and safety.

If you have not ridden in the new Ford car, or experienced the thrill of driving it, there awaits you the knowledge that car values have actually changed; that a really fine car has come into the light car field; and that values offered by the new Ford cannot be duplicated anywhere. Your local Ford dealer will prove these statements by demonstration.

PRINCE RUPERT LADY SUGGESTS NUMBER OF HARDY PERENNIALS THAT DO WELL IN GARDENS AND HAVE BEEN TESTED

A lady who has lived in Prince Rupert for many years and who has grown flowers with success gives some hints on what to plant in the way of hardy perennials that will stand the winter here. She says there are a good many plants that can be grown in the south that are not a success here. For instance, the hollyhock, a very beautiful plant, seldom survives.

For spring flowering this lady suggests polyanthus, English daisies, Leatorbane (yellow daisy), forget-me-nots, pansies and Arabas (rock cress). These will all stand the winter and make a good showing in the spring.

For early summer there are columbine, painted daisies, delphinium, gypsophila, monkhood, spirea (Van Houtti), Lupin and Oriental poppies.

Later in the season are the shasta daisy, michaelmas daisy, Japanese sunflower, goldenglow, chrysanthemum, achillea (white), and perennial phlox.

It is noticed that in this list the bulbs such as crocus and daffodils are not mentioned and neither are the tubers, such as dahlias, all of which do well.

Early spring flowers should be planted in the fall, but they may be moved early in the season if plenty of mould is taken with them and the roots are not much disturbed. If possible, plants of these should be purchased in Prince Rupert from local gardens, as they are then not so likely to be injured in moving.

A LABOR-SAVING GARDEN

Gardening without weeds or the necessity of hoeing, a perennial condition that seems too good to be possible, seems close to realization in the new system of paper mulch gardening. This consists of covering the soil with a specially prepared heavy asphalt paper with the plants in the cracks between the lengths of the paper or planted in holes or slits cut in the paper. Of course with the paper covering the soil no weeds can grow and there is no soil uncovered to be hoed. The paper also is strong enough so that it can be walked upon.

The system was discovered by Charles F. Eckart, an Hawaiian pineapple grower. It proved so surprisingly successful with pineapples, although in violation of many long held notions of gardening, that the Department of Agriculture at Washington began experiments with paper mulching under the direction of Doctor Flint and the reports have been so favorable based on thousands of tests that it now seems likely that before long it will be generally accepted.

This paper comes in 18 or 36-inch strips and is now commercially available. There are two grades, A and B, a light and a heavy grade. The latter is more practical and durable as shown by experiments. The use of the paper was objected to on the ground that the soil must be exposed to the sun and air so that it could "breathe." The paper has stimulated growth of plants, produced earlier and more abundant crops and greatly improved gardens.

It has proved especially valuable for orchard and shrubbery, small fruits, vegetables and flowering plants.

Plants under paper survive dry weather exceptionally well. The objection was made that the paper would shed the rain. It carries it to the cracks and holes in the paper where the plants are growing and seeps into the soil so that the plants get more benefit than if the soil were exposed. The paper mulch checks evaporation and keeps the soil moist. Sweet corn, cucumbers and melons have shown to be greatly benefited by this treatment.

While the method may be expensive for large plantings it is ideal for small gardens. The heavy paper lasts two or three seasons. Tar paper cannot be used as the tar washes out and is poisonous to plants.

garden and offer a tall subject of value.

An old timer which has made its appearance in florists' windows and found garden recognition again is Flora's Paint Brush or the "fassel flower" of our grandmothers' gardens. This botanically was known in the older days as Cacalia coccinea and is sometimes so catalogued now.

Its modern botanical name is Emilia flammea. It has long-stemmed clusters of brilliant orange scarlet tassels that make fine subjects for cutting.

And in the galaxy of reds, yellows and oranges the old favorites, the nasturtiums, are the reliables of the garden, giving a wealth of material for bowls on the table all summer.

PROVIDING PLANT FOOD

In considering the nature of the fertilizer to be applied to the garden, the first question is what part of the plant is used for food. There are three principal fertilizing factors in plant growth which affect different portions of the plant. Nitrogen is the principal one and promotes the growth of leaves.

Phosphorus in the form of phosphates encourages the growth of stalk and stem and aids of potassium or, as it is generally known in commerce, potash, encourage the development of fruit and root growth, particularly of bulbous plants.

Besides stable manure which furnishes all of the fertilizing factors in well-balanced proportion, the chief sources of nitrogen for the garden are nitrate of soda and sulphate of ammonia. The latter is coming into frequent use as a lawn fertilizer not only for its fertilizing value but because it has proved a great discourager to dandelions, plantains and other broad-leaved weeds while encouraging the growth of grass. It has an acid reaction.

Acid phosphate, or as it is now quite well known by its English term, superphosphate of lime, is the common phosphorus fertilizer and is used frequently in flower gardens.

Muriate of potash was formerly the commonest form of potash fertilizer imported from Germany and a supply is once more available at reasonable price. It is useful on dahlias in mid-summer in combination with bone meal, using one part of the muriate to four parts of bone meal. It is also a valuable dressing for fall bulbs just after the bulbs have been put in the ground.

For general purposes these three fertilizing elements are furnished in sufficient quantity in the so-called balanced fertilizers which are sold with a formula attached consisting of three figures, the first telling the proportion of nitrogen, the second the phosphates, and the third the potash. The selection of a balanced fertilizer should be governed by the portion of the plant it is desired to encourage. A larger proportion of potash would be needed for root crops.

Willoughby—I used to, but I don't now.

"And why not?"

LETTUCE, LEAF AND HEAD

There has recently come a recognition that the old-fashioned lettuce had something in the way of flavor not possessed by the more attractive head lettuce with its closely packed cabbage head. It is well worth growing in the garden as a change from the head lettuce now so common and so cheap in the market that there isn't so much incentive for the home gardener who usually has his troubles getting the fine solid heads of a professional market gardener.

Head lettuce must be started early in the house or in a hotbed to have any degree of assurance of getting good because they must form their heads before hot weather sets in or up they go to seed. Sow the seed early and transplant the seedlings into flats once before setting them out in the garden if possible. The two transplantings, according to some successful head lettuce growers, make a heavier root system and speed growth and the consequent heading.

A compromise between the leaf and the head lettuce with the best qualities of both is the cos lettuce. It has the blanched central leaves and is the finest flavored of the lettuces. It is an upright grower with long narrow leaves overlapping at the tips, thus covering the centre of the plant. It may be assisted by lightly tying it with raffia. This lettuce does not need the early indoor start but may be sown outside as soon as the soil is workable. It requires thinning to six inches apart for its best development.

SMITHERS

The Catholic Women's League held its monthly bridge and whist party on Monday night, the affair being a financial success. Prize winners at bridge were Mrs. J. H. Rife, Mrs. William Grant, C. L. Dimock and Norman Kilpatrick and at whist Mrs. Pike, Mrs. I. A. Bahler, James A. Macdonald and Mrs. Charles Morris.

So great has the canine nuisance become here that Smithers merchants are making determined efforts to keep dogs out of their stores.

More moderate weather conditions have prevailed here during the past week. Last week-end the thermometer went as low as 8 below zero here.

Smithers Assembly, Native Sons of Canada, has elected officers for the year as follows: president, James P. Downey; first vice-president, A. C. Fowler; second vice-president, E. C. Capitol and Westholme Musical Groups Show Joint Versatility, Assisting Artists Splendid

An event of importance and pleasure for local music lovers was the concert in the Capitol Theatre last night by the combined orchestras of the Capitol and Westholme Theatres under the leadership of Jack de Jausserand, popular conductor of the Rupert Capitoliens. There was a well selected two and a half hour program which proved a thing of real delight to an appreciative audience which filled practically every seat in the house. It was a notable get together of two musical organizations which, individually, have become much esteemed locally. It would be a great thing if all of the artists who participated could be retained here and it is therefore very disappointing to hear that, owing to local theatre reorganization, most of them may soon be leaving.

Though outstanding numbers on the program might be judged by individual taste, the stately Bachmanoff Prelude, from the standpoint of selection and execution, might be considered the most notable number. It was splendidly done although it did not meet with the response that was its due. Lovers of really high class music, however, were fully appreciative.

There were other numbers to illustrate the versatility of the participating musicians. The pompous Suppe overture "Light Cavalry" which was used to open the program was one of these. Luigini's delicate ballet suite "Egyptian" was another. Paderewski's rhythmic "Menuet" was a substitute item which was a happy choice. Bocherini's "Menuette" was a fine companion number for this.

Among the descriptive numbers "A Clock Shop" was an outstanding diversion with its entertaining effects. "In a Chinese Temple Garden" and "Tea for Two" were other charming items in this category.

Completing the orchestral program were Edouard Grieg's fine "Triumphal March" and a finely arranged Scottish selection which appealed to many. The latter number which completed the program was disturbed by thoughtless ones who started to make for the exits as "Auld Lang Syne" was played.

Supporting Numbers

The vivacious "Bolero" and the "Tales of Hoffman" were happy selections for trio work by Jack de Jausserand, violin; Bill Beaumont, cello, and Ewart Lyne piano.

Little eight year old Marie Balagno played two piano solos which earned an ovation from the audience. This little lady shows remarkable proficiency and holds a promise that succeeding generations will not fail to carry on the musical talent of the noted Balagno family. Her father, Charles P. Balagno, might be justly proud.

Mrs. J. J. Muldoon was in excellent voice in two sets of vocal solos which rounded out the program. Mrs. Muldoon is a popular local artist and she did not fail on this occasion. Her first accompanist was Charles Balagno, and in the latter numbers she was assisted with orchestral obligatos.

Xylophone duets by Fred Wells and Will Browne proved in keeping with the rest of the program and proved delightful to many.

Musicians who took part in the orchestral program were:

Jack de Jausserand, violinist and conductor.

Frank Williams and Prof. H. A. Pryce, violins.

Bill Beaumont, cello.

Ewart Lyne and Charles P. Balagno, pianos.

Bob Greenfield, cornet.

Fred Wells, xylophone and effects.

Will Browne, orchestral drums.

Late E. G. Osborne Laid to Rest Under Auspices of Bible Students Association

Many friends attended the chapel of the B. C. Undertakers at 3:30 Saturday afternoon to pay their final tributes of respect to the memory of the late Edmund George Osborne, pioneer resident of Prince Rupert, whose death occurred last week. The service was under the auspices of the International Bible Students Association and the speaker was E. E. Yaker. A. J. Lancaster presided at the organ and hymns were: "Sun of My Life" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Deceased was laid to rest alongside his son, who was killed last summer.

After the service interment took place in Fairview cemetery with Fred Cameron officiating at the graveside. Pallbearers were David McKenzie, Benjamin Johnson, Henry Smith, Duncan McKenzie, J. Anderson and William Rutherford.

There were no floral offerings by request.

All persons interested and who wish to give evidence relating to the matter so referred to me are hereby notified of the above sitting.

Dated this 4th day of April, 1929.

Milton Sills Excels in Picture That Glorifies Unsung Heroes of the Railroad; Thrilling Fight Scene; Thelma Todd Co-starred

All the power, the pathos and the dramatic events that have made railroad operation in out of the way places one of the most colorful episodes in the progress of this country, is vividly depicted in the feature offering tonight and Tuesday at the Capitol.

The picture is Milton Sills' latest starring vehicle for First National, "The Crash," and it is by far the best picture in which this virile star has appeared for a long time. As the "hard-boiled" leader of a tough wrecking crew, stationed in the High Sierra mountains, Sills lends a portrayal that compares with the season's best.

The picture was adapted from Frank L. Packard's magazine story, "The Wrecking Boss," and tells how the soubrette of a struggling burlesque troupe marries and tries to make a home for the boss of the wrecking crew. They have nothing in common except their love for each other. The girl has been used to the free and easy ways of the traveling show. The man knows nothing of women except what he learned as a boy. A wonderful situation and every advantage of it has been taken in the unfolding.

In one of the most thrilling scenes in the picture, Sills fights with William Demarest and two of the "heavy's" gang. The fight is probably the most thrilling and realistic scene since the never-to-be forgotten fight between Sills and Noah Berry in "The Spoilers."

Thelma Todd as the show girl is perfect.
