Canadian Government Merchant Marine is Discussed and Thornton Agrees to Try to Eliminate Losses

Lumber Was Taken From Vancouver to Churchill by Way of Panama Canal and This Route Cheaper Than by Rail

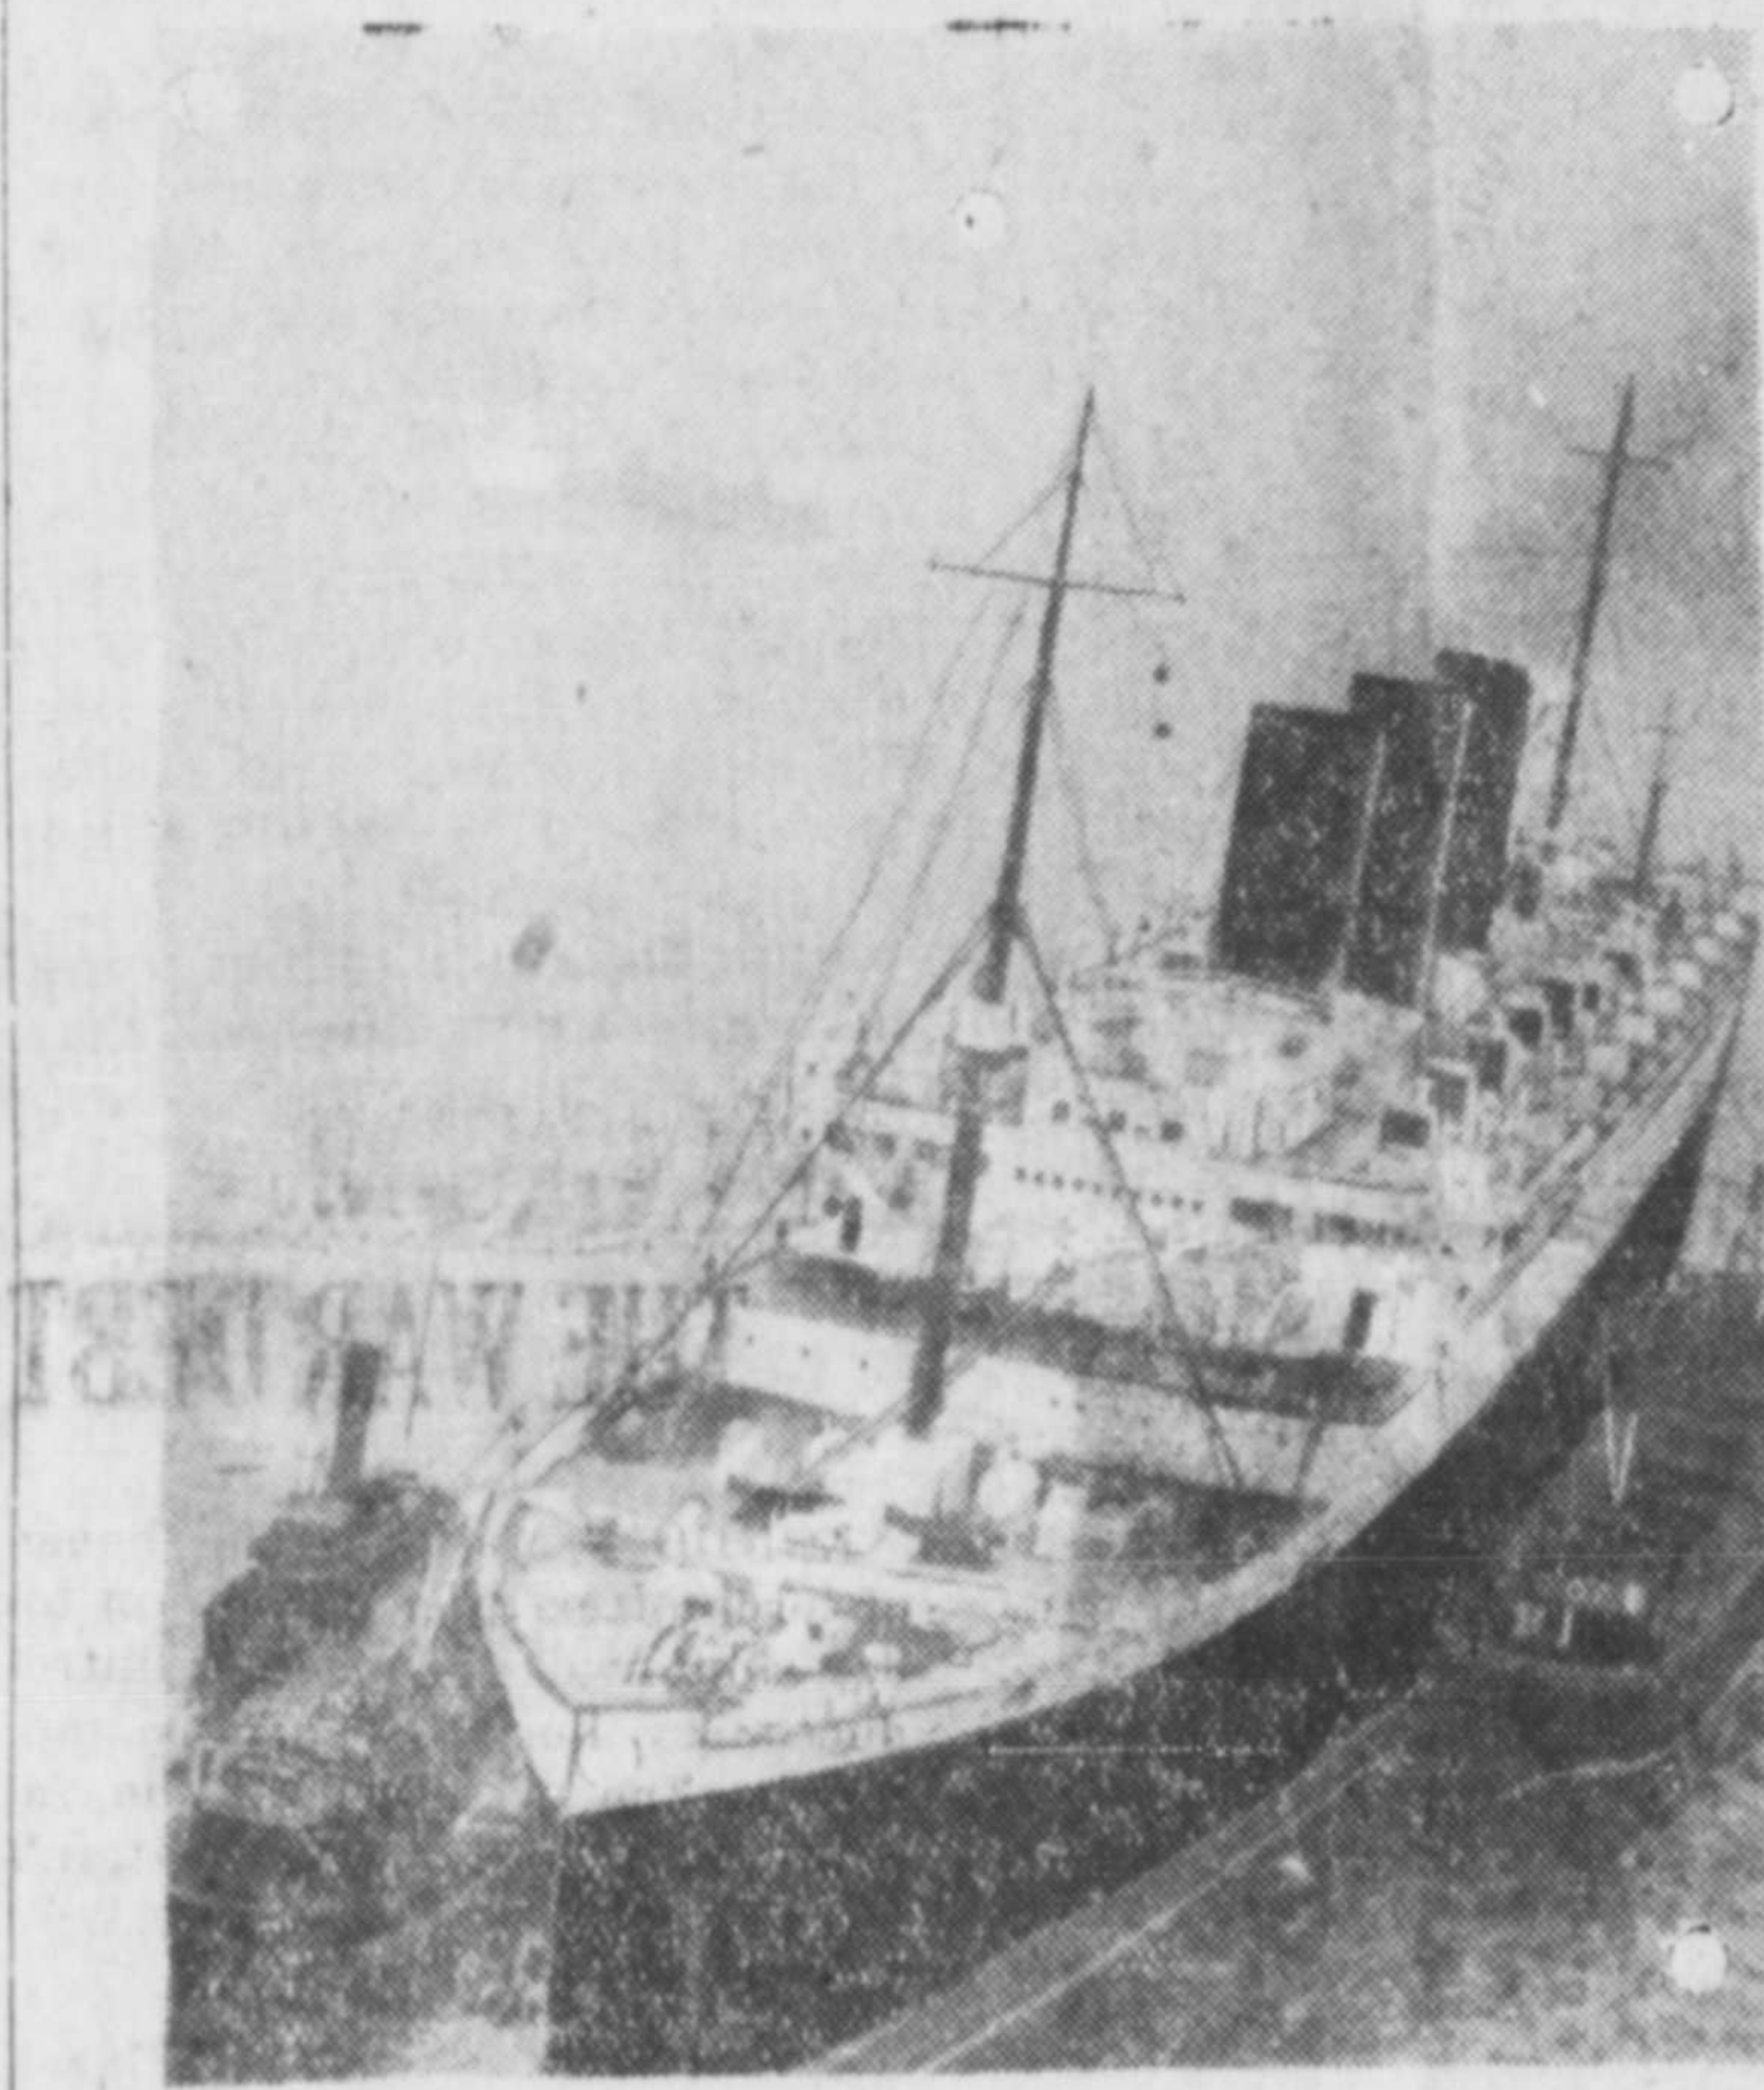

OTTAWA, May 2.—When adopting the annual report of the Canadian government merchant marine today, the parliamentary committee on railways and shipping canvassed the whole of the government's shipping activities. The suggestion of Hon. H. H. Stevens that Sir Henry Thornton address himself to the task of reconstructing the finances of the Canadian government merchant marine with a view to eliminating the dead weight losses incurred year after year met with Sir Henry's approval. He was already giving the matter his consideration, he said.

Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of railways, asked if Mr. Stevens would support such a project if it were brought down by the government next year and Mr. Stevens replied in the affirmative.

In the discussion on the Hudson Bay route, Mr. Dunning cited how one ship had loaded three million feet of lumber at Vancouver and had come via the Panama Canal and discharged it at Fort Churchill. An analysis of the costs showed that it was cheaper to transport lumber in that way than to bring it by rail from Vancouver to Churchill even if the rails had been laid.

Sir Henry Thornton said that no doubt one of the difficulties facing the shipping of wheat through Canadian ports was due to the greater number of vessels calling at New York and other large ports.

Thousands of Tourists are Coming this Season by way of Canadian National Route

There will be many tourists, running into the thousands, brought through Prince Rupert on Canadian National Railways and steamers this summer, according to R. F. McNaughton, C.N.R. district passenger agent, who this morning announced some of the more important groups that are coming. Among the early tourist groups of the season will be one or more parties of Shriners from the eastern states, returning home after the imperial council in Los Angeles. One of these parties will consist of about 100 nobles from Buffalo, who will arrive from the south by steamer on the morning of Friday, June 14, and proceed east from here by special train.

Two hundred travelers from Winnipeg and other prairie points will be here on July 6 with the eighth annual personally conducted tour of the Canadian National Railways. They will arrive that afternoon from the east by special train and sail at 7 p.m. by steamer for Vancouver.

On July 15 the first of three northwestern Alaska parties from Chicago and vicinity will be here, after having made the trip from Vancouver north to Skagway and back here. They will proceed east by special train. Similar groups will be here on July 29 and August 12, the three parties totalling about 250 persons.

On Saturday, July 20, an Adams across Canada tour party numbering about 60 persons from Ontario and Quebec will arrive in the city from the east and sail the same evening for Vancouver.

A large party of some 125 persons will be here on Wednesday, July 24, with the Botany Travel Society of New York. They will proceed through from Vancouver to Skagway, returning here on Monday, July 29, and proceeding (Continued on page two).

OBJECTION TAKEN TO FISHING REGULATIONS

VICTORIA, May 2.—Several clauses in the new fishing regulations released by W. A. MONTREAL, May 2.—"Conditions in British Columbia are very good and the outlook for the province excellent," declared Hon. S. F. Tolmie in an interview here.

PATRONAGE UNDER FIRE OF CONSERVATIVES

(Victoria Colonist)
It is well that upon occasion there should be a definite protest in Parliament, in the press and throughout the country against the practice of political patronage. The system of awarding Government jobs to friends of the party in power can be abused, and the country can suffer to the extent that it is abused. Scandals in the spoils system have become too common and Civil Service Commissions, supposedly created to remedy a defect in government, appear in some instances to be little more than ornamental boards. After the experience of the past any government ought to know that its underpinning by popular favor is constantly being weakened according as it appoints to office those who have nothing to recommend them save that they are friends of the party in power, and those who at one time or other, no matter in how trivial a way, have rendered it some service.

HOUSE REFUSES CENSURE VENIOT

Postmaster General Defends Himself in Speech and Suspends Inspector

OTTAWA, May 2.—The House of Commons refused to censure Hon. P. J. Veniot yesterday when an amendment to the Government motion to go into supply on post office estimates was moved by H. A. Stewart, Conservative member for Leeds, censuring the minister in respect to the administration of his department. The motion was defeated by 24 votes, there being 92 against and 68 for.

In reply to criticisms levelled against him in the House, Mr. Veniot yesterday in a spirited speech dwelt on the loyalty of Acadians, of whom he was one, to the British crown. He did so, he said, because his loyalty had been attacked by certain newspapers.

On account of what he termed charges levelled against W. F. Griffith, inspector of Saint John postal district by Hon. R. B. Bennett, the postmaster general yesterday suspended Griffith, pending the outcome of the investigation being conducted into the disciplinary and other affairs of the district, Mr. Veniot announced.

Race Against Death from Sitka to Seattle Taking Woman to the Hospital

SEATTLE, May 2.—Ending a thousand-mile race against death, the airplane Juneau landed here last night with Mrs. Peter Kostometinoff of Sitka, Alaska. A waiting ambulance rushed the woman, who is in a critical condition from septic poisoning, to the hospital to undergo an operation.

Answering an urgent cable from the woman's husband, Pilot Ansel Eckmann of Seattle left Juneau at 4:40 yesterday morning for Sitka and picked up the woman. Her condition was such that it made it impossible to fly at a high altitude, so Eckmann was forced to follow the longer land route south.

Football for the Season was Formally Launched last night; Association Elects Officers

Football activities for the 1929 season were enthusiastically launched last night when a large number of persons interested in the sport attended the adjourned annual meeting of the Prince Rupert Football Association in the city hall.

George Hill was elected president and a strong slate of officers was named to assist him in carrying on soccer this year. Three teams—Thistles, Regiment and Empress Social Club—were entered in the senior league and it was decided to start play in the Stuart Benefit Shield series next week, providing the Acropolis hill grounds are ready by that time. A meeting of the executive will be held later to draw up the schedule for that trophy.

The new officers of the association are as follows: Honorary president—Lt.-Col. S. P. McMordie, D.S.O., mayor of Prince Rupert.

Secretary-treasurer—F. E. Wermig. Auditor—Frank Vickers.

Board of control—D. C. Stuart, R. M. Winslow, James Black, W. Murray and J. McLean.

W. E. Williscroft, retiring president, occupied the chair for the early part of the meeting.

A vote of thanks was passed to the members of the retiring executive.

NEW LINES OF SUMMER SPORT
C.N.R. Employees Making Preparations to Play Softball and Pitch Horseshoes

The C.N.R. Social and Athletic Association is to introduce two new lines of outdoor sport—softball and horseshoe pitching—in Prince Rupert this season.

A diamond for softball has been laid out not far from the tennis courts and it is expected to have three or four teams in play throughout the summer.

Ground for the horseshoe pitching is also being laid out in the same vicinity. These were among matters taken up at the regular monthly meeting of the association last night.

THIRTY-FIVE AT BALL PRACTICE

Acropolis Hill Grounds in Need of Repairs Before League Play Can Commence

Some 35 prospective league players attended baseball practice last night on the Acropolis hill grounds. Native Sons of Canada players were much in evidence in the workout.

Those at the grounds last night report that the grandstand and bleachers are in rather bad shape as a result of winter storms and should be repaired.

The netting is also in bad condition. The field itself should have some attention before ball playing can commence.

Sport Chat

It is very satisfactory that the Thistles Football Club has decided to again enter a team in the Senior Football League.

It would have been a pity indeed should football have lapsed this year as was feared.

Entry of the Thistles eliminates that prospect and a good season may now be anticipated.

NEW WESTMINSTER ADANACS WON THE BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP OF CANADA, BEATING WINDSOR ALUMNI LAST NIGHT

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 2.—Coming from behind to win last night's game, the second and final of the series, the Adanacs, champions of British Columbia, defeated Windsor Alumnia 18 to 15 to capture the men's Canadian basketball championship.

Last night's victory gave the locals a one-point margin on the series, the total scores being 36 to 35, Windsor having won Monday's game 20 to 18.

The game last night was intensely interesting. At half time it looked as if all hope was lost, for the visitors had a seven-point lead on the Adanacs, 12 to 5.

By clever playing the new Canadian champions cut down the lead of the easterners to emerge at the close with just sufficient points to give them the Dominion title.

CONSTRUCTION GANG OR WRECKING CREW

It is always better to be on a construction gang than a wrecking crew. In one there is hope, joy, and, finally, triumph; while in the other there is nothing to look forward to except the completion of the work of destruction. Many like to build. Others like to wreck.

BEWARE SPECULATION

Possibly this is a good time to issue a warning to the people of the northern section of British Columbia against undue speculation. Such a largesection of the population are today taking a flyer in stocks, especially in mining stocks or oils, that it might seem like beating the air to say anything. We have no objection to the man who can afford it purchasing a few stocks in the hope of higher prices. Were it not for this gambling, it would be very difficult to finance the mining work of the country. The objection is to carrying it too far.

Business people withdraw from their businesses money which should have remained to take care of their obligations. Heads of households gamble with the money which should be spent in the home. Everywhere is seen this craze to buy and sell. Within limits it is not harmful, but if allowed to go beyond control it is decidedly injurious.

PUBLICITY FOR PRINCE RUPERT

The visit of the commission investigating grain business which sat in Prince Rupert last week was the means of giving the city a great deal of splendid advertising, but this was attained chiefly through the visit with them of two well known newspapermen. Lengthy despatches were sent out to all parts of the country and read by many thousands of people.

People do not realize what they owe to newspapermen. Prince Rupert with her isolation would not be known in the world today if it were not for them. They get the kicks of everybody and yet the community cannot exist without them.

SAD TRAGEDY

The deaths of the two aviators, Lieut. Keith Anderson and Robert Hitchcock, arouse the interest of all English speaking people. Anderson is reported to have quarrelled with Capt. Kingsford Smith before the latter left, but when it was reported that the distinguished aviator was missing Anderson was the first to set out in his plane to search and he never returned. Along with Hitchcock he died practically beside his plane in the parched Australian desert.

THE SPOILS SYSTEM

(Winnipeg Free Press)

The Conservative opposition in the Dominion parliament, in carrying on for several days a vigorous attack upon the administration of the post office department, showed that they have a realization that the temper of the public is hostile to anything that looks like a revival of the spoils system. While in the particular case of the postmaster at Simcoe, upon which a motion of censure was moved, the minister had a technical defense which was fairly sound, the general discussion, with the instances of dismissals cited by members taking part in it, was pretty conclusive that Mr. Veniot has been willingly active in the petty, wretched business of cutting off the heads of rural postmasters at the demand of local patronage committees or the sitting member. This means that in this limited sense we have been having an application of the spoils system which is out of keeping with the state of political feeling. Postmasters in the larger post offices are protected by the rule that there must be an investigation based upon formal charges; but with respect to the small offices the minister has been avowedly acting upon the principle that he will give effect to a recommendation as to dismissal or appointment by the sitting member or the defeated candidate, if of the approved political color. These are mostly small offices with remuneration which seems trifling; but, nevertheless, as was made clear during the discussion, there is often a good deal of personal hardship involved in the loss of even a small office. Public opinion, we are very sure, does not desire that the humblest official should be dismissed at the say-so of any individual without the right of some kind of an enquiry at which a defense can be offered.

SETTLERS COME TO WINNIPEG ON SPECIALS

Large Percentage of British in Group Just Arriving

WINNIPEG, May 2.—The largest all-British special train for many months pulled into the Canadian National Railways station here yesterday when 250 immigrants who crossed the Atlantic on the Athenia arrived for placement on western farms. Since last Tuesday nearly 1500 immigrants have arrived for distribution. The week end yielded a total of 8,000 new settlers for Canada, the largest immigration movement by the St. Lawrence route for many years.

Sixty per cent of the more than 500 immigrants who reached the city from the steamers Regina and Ascania were British and there was a large party of British families on the special which came in early this morning from the Dresden and the Lancaster. a total of 450. Today a special from the Calgary will add another 420, nearly half of whom are British. Single men who came under the British ministry of labor scheme, domestics, juveniles and families were included on the Athenia British special which steamed in at 11:30 yesterday. A finer looking group of immigrants never arrived in Winnipeg. They were all sturdy, well dressed and eager. A number of the single men were returned British harvesters of last year's experience.

"I went back to Scotland," said a Dunsmore man, "because I was not altogether satisfied with the wages I got, but I liked Canada and here I am again, to go through harvesting from plowing and seeding to the last." Dunsmore not only returned himself but brought his brother William, a miner, and a friend.

One of the most interesting groups was the family of Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly, a widow from Glasgow. Mrs. Kelly goes to Wainwright, Alta., with her daughter Maisie and her seven sons, to say nothing of the frisky collie dog, Rolla.

Vancouver Funny Man Gives Interesting Sketch of Typical Political Job Hunter

(Vancouver Province)

Attorney-General R. H. Pooley has been accumulating a great deal of unnecessary worry lately because too many of the boys have been rather insistent in their personal canvass for political jobs. There are not enough jobs to go round and a few of the pre-election promises will have to go into cold storage for a while.

So that he may recover a little of that poise for which he is justly famous, Mr. Pooley has decreed that henceforth all applications for positions in the gift of the government must be made in writing.

As campaign followers have ever had a high regard for truth we may consider the following a fair example of what Mr. Pooley is about to receive:

"Dear Attorney-General:—You will not be surprised to learn that I am now prepared to accept the government position for which I have been training for years and years and years.

"My qualifications are well and widely known, but it will do no harm to recapitulate them at some length, so that you may recognize the urgency of creating a post for me if there is no Grit that can be fired without raising too much of a rumpus.

"The success of the party at the last election is generally admitted to have been due to my unremitting efforts. It is a matter of record that I argued the point with 146 strangers in street cars, shook hands with 801 ladies and gentlemen who came into the committee room to see if they were on the voters' list, and got rid of all who were not with alacrity and made myself agreeable to all who might possibly vote the right way, but money right and left that we would have a huge majority, and smoked an average of five election cigars every day for six weeks, a devotion to duty, I sincerely believe, never approached anywhere in Canada.

"I was a member of every delegation of the faithful that assembled to greet incoming speakers from the east, and I took part in every parade and procession, rain or shine. Sometimes I carried a flag, sometimes a banner, sometimes a balloon, sometimes a broom, and always I hollered to the full force of my lungs whenever I thought that this would have a salutary influence on the observers.

"I attended as many as five meetings in one evening, and also insisted on my wife, sister-in-law and the older children, doing the same. In one week I travelled 113 miles right here in Vancouver and listened to the same speech nineteen times. I applauded that speech just as heartily the nineteenth time as the first; that's how good a Conservative I am, Mr. Pooley, sir.

"On forty-three separate occasions I was the man who got up in the back of the hall and asked a question that could be answered with credit to the party, and no less than nine times I was hustled out by other Conservatives who didn't know I was doing this by request of the speaker.

Started the Hissing

"You may perhaps have forgotten, Mr. Pooley, that I am the man who started the hissing at the big Liberal rally in the old Vancouver Theatre on August 10, 1902, but I shall always remember that day. Even if I do say it myself, it was as good a hiss as ever was given anywhere in the Dominion without just cause, and I have always been properly proud of it.

"It is well known that I have sneered at Liberals for so long that my nose is wrinkled and my upper lip has a perpetual curl. I have said 'Bah!' to Liberal policies—good, bad, or indifferent—so consistently that nowadays I often find myself baa-ing like a sheep in my sleep, to the great annoyance of my wife whose insight into politics has never been of the best.

"Anybody has only to see me in a strong light to realize that I look like a life-long Conservative, and I do not even get annoyed when my attention is called to the fact by rude and ribald persons. That's how stout a Tory I am, Mr. Pooley, sir.

"I have four children whom I will personally guarantee will never cast any other than a Conservative vote, no matter what the issue. I have provided for this by christening the boys Richard McBride, William Bowser and Harry Stevens. The girl, you will be delighted to learn, is called Clemintina Josephine Tompkins; there is no Tory politician of that name, but at least it's different as possible from Mary Ellen Smith.

At All Picnics

"The records will show that I have never missed a Conservative picnic, even when this interfered with my plans for going fishing. Furthermore, I have always taken part in every race except the fat women's and the girls under 10, and have consistently allowed myself to be beaten by some poorer runner whose support of the party was suspected of being slightly luke warm. As you know, sir, there is no surer way of cinching the allegiance of a voter than by allowing him to win a race at the annual picnic. That's what picnics are for.

"As for my qualifications for the particular job to which you will assign me, Mr. Pooley, I can assure you that I am a man of such tremendous energy that even after I have done all that can be expected of me in a political way, I will still be able to devote some time to the discharge of my duty.

"Naturally, I would much rather be with the Liquor Control Board, but if this is not possible a place on the Court House staff will do. If you would rather have me on the provincial police, all right, or even with the Forest Patrol, or the Game Board, or what have you?

"Salary is no object, so long as it's big enough.

"I have by no means exhausted the list of my qualifications, Mr. Pooley, but probably I have said enough for you to realize that now is the time for the party to come to the aid of a goodman."

The true purpose of a Budget

EVERY year you spend a large proportion of the money you get. So much for clothing. So much for shoes. So much for things to eat—for house furnishings, books and what not.

Here is the way to get the most for your money.

Keep a budget. Decide what you can afford to spend for each item, and hold yourself within this amount.

Then—to get the most for your budget money read advertisements carefully. The advertisements you read tell you what is newest and best. They give you the latest ideas and improvements. They help you to get more from each dollar you have apportioned in your budget—and so live better and dress better with the same income.

The true purpose of a budget is to enable you to spend wisely—and only by careful reading of advertising can you hope to accomplish this result.

Read advertising regularly. It points the way to better living.

SHREDDED WHEAT

With all the bran of the whole wheat 12 full-size biscuits

Eat it for any meal with milk or cream—delicious with fruits—all the food elements you need, in a digestible form. Save the paper inserts in each package—lots of fun for the children.

Why don't you eat your way to slimmness?

by Mary Blake

Are you one of those feminine persons who, over your French pastry and hot chocolate, sigh for a slyphlike figure? Overweight usually comes from over-eating. Yet a radically restricted diet is dangerous, and difficult to maintain, because of our natural craving for a variety of foods.

The way to reduce is not by eliminating anything from the diet, but by cutting down the quantity of everything, making the sharpest cuts in concentrated foods, which are particularly fattening—sugar, cakes and candy, fats, cream, pie and such slenderness-wrecking delicacies. Eat lean meats. Use mineral oil in salad dressings. Mineral oil, not being assimilated, adds no calories to the diet.

Your meals should consist largely of vegetables, fruits and milk. They supply important food values—and no diet is safe which ignores this necessity—but they are not fattening. Of these milk is the most important, because it supplies as no other single food does, everything needed for bodily health, growth and activity. You can include it in your diet in various ways. A cream soup gives you a comfortable feeling of having lunched well, supplying essential food values without imperiling your weight. Milk should be used in the preparation of simple desserts to replace rich pie and cake. Custards, blanc manges and other milk puddings are nourishing, and do not threaten increased poundage.

Outwit your weakness for cream with this rich milk

For all these milk dishes, I suggest Carnation Milk, because by using it you can have the flavor of richness in your food without the lavish use of butter and cream. Let me explain why you get such an appetizing richness from the use of Carnation Milk. It is simply the purest of whole milk, evaporated to double richness and sterilized for safekeeping. It is also homogenized, which means that the cream content is broken up into minute particles which distribute themselves evenly through every drop of milk. Because every drop has its double share of enriching cream, everything cooked with Carnation has the creamy, rich flavor that you ordinarily get only with the generous use of butter and cream.

Another way to elude your whipped cream tastes is the use of whipped Carnation Milk as the foundation in bavarrian creams, charlottes and such dishes. In coffee, too, it gives you the creaminess without the extra calories.

Actually Carnation gives more delicious results in cooking than even the best of bottled milk—smoother, cream-cream soups and sauces, more velvety ice creams, more delicate, finer-textured puddings and custards. More than that, it is convenient; completely dependable, never varying in quality, and extremely economical.

Send for free Cook Book. Address Carnation Milk Products Co., Limited, 134 Abbott Street, Vancouver, B.C.

Include It In Your Diet

Carnation Milk—pure whole milk evaporated to double richness—supplies the nourishment imperative to health, and by its uniformly distributed double cream content makes unnecessary the lavish use of cream and butter. Use it for all cooking.

GRADUATION EXERCISES OF LOCAL NURSES

Four Young Ladies Given Diplomas and Pins at Impressive Ceremony Last Night

LARGE NUMBER PRESENT

Reception and Dance Follows in I.O.D.E. Hall When Congratulations Were Showered Impressive exercises in connection with the graduation of Miss Jean McMurphy, Miss Jeanette Morley, Miss Hilda Olafson and Miss Rose O'Neill from the Prince Rupert General Hospital training school for nurses were conducted last evening in First Presbyterian Church and were followed by a reception in the I. O. D. E. Hall in honor of the four popular members of the 1929 graduating class. Both affairs were attended by many friends of the new graduates.

Led by members of the graduate and undergraduate staff, all in uniform, the 1929 graduates marched into the auditorium of the church after the congregation was seated. John E. Davey presided at the organ for the processional march. The graduates carried beautiful bouquets and, altogether, had a very charming appearance. Enthusiasm was shown by the congregation with its applause.

George G. Bushby presided and others on the platform were Miss Jean Harrison R. N., lady superintendent, James H. Thompson, chairman of the board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital, Rev. T. Ivon Jones, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Alfred Wilson, pastor of First United Church.

Rev. Mr. Wilson led in prayer and a few appropriate remarks were made by Mr. Bushby.

Rev. Mr. Jones delivered an earnest address to the graduating class. It was all very new to him, he said, but still it was a great pleasure and he felt highly honored in being called upon to address the nurses. He spoke of the ideals of service which he applied to the nursing profession, extolling a calling whose prime factor was the aid of mankind. He contrasted the high place of the nursing profession today to its status a century ago. Since the time of Florence Nightingale, the personality of those engaged in the profession, he held, had been largely responsible for its high standing at this time. Perquisites for the vocation were patience, compassion and hope and he urged the new graduates to ever keep these in mind. The speaker closed by mentioning the relation of medical science and religion which, he said, had much in common.

Diplomas and Pins

At the conclusion of Mr. Jones' address, James H. Thompson, president of the hospital board, presented their diplomas to the graduates and Miss Jean Harrison R. N., lady superintendent, invested them with their class pins. There was much applause as each young lady came forward.

A pleasing feature of the ceremonies were selections by a male quartet consisting of John E. Davey, J. A. Teng, M. H. Blott and A. Clapperton. They sang three numbers: "I Passed by Your Window," "Drink to me Only With Thine Eyes" and "Good Night" which were greatly appreciated by the congregation. Ushers were L. F. Smith, E. J. Smith, William Fisher and S. J. Hunter.

At the conclusion of the church service, which was in progress about an hour, about 150 persons repaired to the I.O.D.E. Hall for the reception where congratulations were offered to the graduates. Dancing was in progress until 1 a.m. with music by Charles P. Balagno, Robert Greenfield, K. A. Rood and J. Currie. Delicious refreshments were served.

Among those present at the ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. D. L. McIntominey of Anyox, parents of Miss Morley, and Mr. and Mrs. George McMurphy of New Westminster, parents of Miss McMurphy. Relatives of Miss Olafson and Miss O'Neill were unable to be present.

GAVE TALK ON PEACE RIVER

Moose Have Enjoyable Time After Lodge Meeting Last Night

A social hour was spent last night in the Moose Hall after the regular meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose.

Tommy Camm, late of the local detachment provincial police, gave an interesting talk on conditions in the Peace river country, where he is now stationed.

Vic Houston, accompanied by Charlie Bletsoe, rendered vocal solos and a string trio consisting of Jack Wilson, Ronny Bartlett and Bert Cameron were greatly enjoyed.

A comic song by Walter Howarth brought the evening's entertainment to a close, when refreshments were served with Louiskie Astoria cutting the ices and Jack Preece pouring.

BRITISH FILM MADE HIT WITH AUDIENCE LAST NIGHT

Realistic Desert Warfare With Stirring Military Action, Thrills Capitol Patrons

If you liked "Beau Geste," "Beau Sabreur," or other motion pictures dealing with colorful military action and a strong love interest, you will get much enjoyment out of "Tommy Atkins," which opened at the Capitol Theatre last night.

While the theme is similar to these pictures, the action and treatment are entirely different. No Extras Used

This is due largely to the fact that no stereotyped extras were used in the making of the picture presented last night. The scenes were photographed in Egypt and London on the very spots where the story is laid; the soldiers are actual English troops; the desert tribes participating are real natives; the fort is one occupied by an English garrison and the background is laid in the Sudan.

Stirring action marks the unfolding of this photoplay which brings new atmosphere, different story treatment and new faces to the screen—all much to be desired as contributions to real picture entertainment.

"Tommy Atkins" takes its title from the enlisted name of the hero of the story, who, in order to make himself and his comrades happy, sacrifices himself and hides in the army. Later he becomes the central figure in stirring action that keeps the audience in suspense until the story ends.

GOLDBLOOM COMES BACK TO THIRD AVENUE

Pioneer Fur Man Returns To His Former Location on the Main Thoroughfare

Because more people can admire his dachund, or maybe because he wasn't being admired sufficiently himself, or else possibly to be closer to the bank, Goldbloom is now back again in the premises he occupied years ago on Third Avenue, near to the C.P.R. office.

Goldbloom buys furs when they are pelts. He also sells furs when they are furs. And that the furs Goldbloom sells are furs, and the furs they are represented to be, he guarantees. Goldbloom has been in the fur business for more than twenty years right in this district and hasn't had a dissatisfied customer yet. That is a guarantee in itself of fair dealing.

Furs are still fashionable for summer wear. And Goldbloom's furs are right up to the minute in style. Visit his new store and look over his stock of coats, wraps, neckpieces, etc. You are sure to see something you will like. Furs are always dressy and they wear well. And Goldbloom's prices are moderate. Advt.
