Step Toward World Peace is Taken in Britain when Two World Figures Make Speeches

Premier Ramsay Macdonald Says Board Being Prepared For Nations of World to Sit Around and Discuss World Security Without Arms

LONDON, June 19.—The world learned a little more last night of those conversations which Premier Ramsay Macdonald and General Dawes, the United States ambassador to Great Britain, held on Sunday.

In speeches which both made last night, the prime minister at Lossiemouth and the U. S. ambassador in London gave common expression to a desire for the deepest Anglo-American friendship.

"The hands we clasped were not cold with official correctness, but warm with friendship, inspired by a common enthusiasm for service in the cause of international good will and commonsense," said Premier Macdonald. "Let's be hopeful for the cause of world peace and for the progress of civilization, for in the joint hands of the English speaking peoples rests not only their guaranty, but as well the ark of the covenant of human freedom," Mr. Macdonald declared.

"We met in the hope that we might be instrumental in preparing a board around which other nations might ultimately sit in co-operation, studying ways of gaining a sense of security, not by arms, but by the absence of arms.

"As to the wide world purpose of what is known as the Anglo-American conversations, I hope that neither large nor small states will have a doubt that they are not inclusive. They are inclusive."

Ambassador Dawes at the Pilgrims' dinner in London urged the outstanding importance of an early agreement on naval reduction. "It would seem to be the next step toward world peace. It's successful accomplishment required co-operative employment of two distinctly unrelated talents, that of naval technical experts and that of statesmen," he declared.

NEW SETTLERS FOR CANADA

Many Are Buying Farms From Canadian National Settlement Association

WINNIPEG, June 19.—Sixty five Polish families bound for farms in the prairie provinces, were among the 600 immigrants who arrived in Winnipeg by special train over the lines of the Canadian National Railways. The families are all buying land in Western Canada from the land settlement association of the Canadian National Railways, and within the next few days will be settled in their new homes.

Included in the party are 39 British, 96 Swedish, a number of Germans, Hollanders, Danes and Hungarians, who crossed to Canada on the steamships Gripsholm, Litunia, Pennland, Antonia, Letitia and the Aurania, and docked at Halifax over the week-end.

These people are all bound for farms in Western Canada and will leave Winnipeg for Vancouver and intermediate points in the course of the next few days.

RUM RUNNER WAR IN EAST

Revolver Fight on Detroit River Just Before Daylight

WINDSOR, Ont., June 19.—After a swift moving revolver fight in the Detroit River just before daylight today, rum runners of the East Windsor section retreated into Canadian waters after peppering a hole in the prow of a United States customs patrol cutter. There are no known casualties.

The rum runners opened fire without notice on the United States boat, it is charged by Walter S. Petty, acting collector of customs at Detroit. His men returned the volleys and chased the intruders back to the Canadian shore, he said. Petty charged that fire from the rum runners' boat continued long after it had reached Canadian waters. The customs boat abandoned the chase at the international line.

WELLINGTON, N.Z., June 19.—Severe earthquakes were felt today in Murchison and Takaka counties, both of which were hard hit in the tremors earlier in the week.

Bank Bandit Captured Yesterday Afternoon and Then he Pleaded Guilty

VANCOUVER, June 19.—Cool and defiant, Arthur Thomas, nineteen-year-old bandit, pleaded guilty in the Vancouver police court this morning to the holdup of the Grandview branch of the Royal Bank of Canada on Commercial Drive yesterday morning and asked for a summary trial. He was remanded to June 24.

Thomas refused to give his address or give any information about himself, except to say that he was an orphan and lived in the Grandview district.

The lad was captured yesterday afternoon in New Westminster after he had purchased an outfit of clothing in a store, the proprietor of which, F. J. Mitchell, being informed about that time by a seventeen-year-old youth, Fred Blewett, of the holdup. He became suspicious when Thomas offered him Royal Bank bills in payment.

Mitchell will probably receive the standing $5000 reward of the Bankers' Association for the capture of the bank bandit and Blewett may share it. While Thomas went over to another store Mitchell phoned the police, who arrived and arrested Thomas on his return.

Thomas said he had a car and when this was found a large sum of money was found in it in a canvas bag. Altogether $3822 was recovered in the car and on Thomas' person.

Free Trade Within the Empire Seems Likely to be Govt. Policy

TORONTO, June 19.—The Globe published the following despatch today from its Ottawa correspondent:

"Tariff changes which will have a revolutionary effect on Canada's external affairs are under consideration by the Dominion cabinet. In response to demands from all parts of the country for action, the government is taking preliminary steps towards what will undoubtedly be the most drastic revision of the fiscal policy of the present century.

"The present prospects are that the vital changes will take the form of a material increase in the British preference, if not the inauguration of complete free trade on the bulk of British or Empire goods, while the general tariff which applies to imports from United States will remain stationary."

SKIDEGATE, Q.C.I., June 19.—A. Hanow, pioneer prospector of Queen Charlotte Islands, who owns a group of claims known as the Copper Island group, is here looking for what is known as the lost Molken silver mine, supposed to be on the east coast of Moresby Island.

COMMENT OF CHIEF JUSTICE IN HARRIS CASE

VICTORIA, June 19.—In delivering judgment in favor of William F. Harris, aged prospector of Port Angeles, Washington, giving him $100,000 and costs as his interest in the Big Mission mine, Chief Justice Morrison found that a verbal agreement between Trice Harris, Hiram Stevenson and James Proudfoot, of which Trice Harris is now the sole survivor, was a binding contract before witnesses and stood today. The Chief Justice said in part: "Incidents of these transactions on the part of Harris, Stevenson and Proudfoot are exemplification of the simplicity of the true pioneer prospector, who in consequence was on the occasion victimized by designing and dishonest partners."

"I find that the agreement as pleaded was entered into between the plaintiff Stevenson and Proudfoot; that the Lindbergs were brought into the agreement or that they intruded themselves with it and were fully aware all along of such agreement; that Daniel Lindbergs took advantage of what he tribulation seemed to be a safe situation with the intention of depriving plaintiff of his just rights."

BENNETT IS AGAINST BR. PREFERENCE

Would Develop Empire Trade but Not at Expense of Canadian Interests

SIMCOE, June 19.—The promotion of Empire trade without the granting of market preferences which would destroy Canadian industry was advocated by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, here last night as a solution of Canada's trade problems. He condemned the treaty made with Australia by the Mackenzie King Government on the ground that it was destroying the Canadian dairy industry and said he did not consider Empire trade entailed the destruction of home industry.

CLEVER WORK OF BANDITS

Some bandits are very clever. They do not really need to become bandits. Such cleverness directed into other channels would bring a safe reward without the danger of spending the rest of their lives in prison or ending them prematurely on the gallows.

That boy who robbed the Royal Bank yesterday at Vancouver seems to have done a neat job. Yet the probability is that he will be caught, some time if not now. At the best he will have little peace, for the fear of being caught will haunt him to the day of his death.

A man clever enough to rob a bank should be employed inside it, or at some even more lucrative business.

THE BIG YACHT RACE

The big international yacht race planned for next year when Sir Thomas Lipton will again be the challenger, promises to be just as spectacular as have been former similar events. From now on we may expect to get news from time to time in regard to the construction of the new vessel, the trials she will have to undergo and every move and word of Sir Thomas.

Yacht racing is still a pleasant sport, although it is wholly divorced from commercialism. Ships do not sail any more, but are propelled by some power within them. Whether this race is worth the money expended on it is quite a debatable question and can never be decided. All depends upon the point of view. It is probably worth it to Sir Thomas or he would not undertake the enterprise.

POLITICS IN THE SOUTH

The Vancouver Sun publishes a political article in which it says that R. B. Bennett, K.C., will be in Vancouver next month to try to straighten up political difficulties and to lend aid to Premier Tolmie in carrying on his work in the provincial arena. Also, it has as part of its purpose the laying of plans for trying to retain federal seats now held for the party.

One of the rocks on which the party is splitting, according to the Sun, is that of patronage. The party heelers want the Government positions for their supporters, the present holders of such positions to be replaced from among the ranks of the faithful. To this Premier Tolmie is said to object. Mr. Bennett, as leader of the party, it is thought, will have some influence in curbing the activities of the militant job hunters.

Unfortunately such a position does exist to some extent throughout the country. Also, it has existed under other Governments, not excepting the Brewster and Oliver regimes. There are always heelers who see in political changes opportunities to secure positions. Whether Mr. Bennett or Dr. Tolmie can curb the tendency remains to be seen.

It is no argument for any party to say someone else did the same. The way to abolish patronage is to do it, not to talk about it.

ACTIONS, NOT WORDS
(Financial Post)

It took just 25 words in the annual report of the Canadian Pacific Railway to refer to the construction of the Royal York Hotel in Toronto. The hotel is costing the C. P. R. $16,000,000, which is something over $600,000 for each word in the report.

Canadian Pacific has become such a large institution that even its mightiest works must be kept in perspective when one attempts to view them as evidence of what C. P. R. is doing for Canada. Three millions is being spent on the Empress Hotel in Victoria and $2,000,000 on the Palliser in Calgary, but these are routine matters to C. P. R. Millions will be spent on a gigantic Canadian hotel in London, but this will be only one item in a year's program of construction. Within about one year, four magnificent ocean liners have been put into commission; contracts were let for two others and five ocean freighters have been loaded with their first cargoes. New lines as long as the distance from Montreal to Toronto were built. Millions were spent on equipment.

Bishop Lloyd is Flayed by Young University Man of Ukrainian Birth in House

A few days ago the House of Commons at Ottawa was startled out of its usual humdrum course by a speech in defence of central and southern European immigrants in Canada and combating the utterances of Bishop Lloyd of Saskatchewan, whose anti-foreign views are well known. The speaker was Michael Luchkovich, B.A., representing the United Farmers organization as member for Vegreville. In his address he hit the bishop blow after blow, without gloves, using such terms as "Neurotic and un-beautiful Lakes of Killarney, and urged that the matter of assimilation of the immigrant be left to nature. Mr. Luchkovich was complimented on his speech by Mr. Manion who said: "I think the whole House has listened with a very great deal of interest to the speech of the hon. gentleman who has just taken his seat. I believe the people of Canada can take pride in the fact that one who, although born on this continent came of Ukrainian parents, has been able to deliver, as member of this House, a speech of which any hon. member might well be proud."

Mr. Luchkovich says it is a crime against Christianity, against civilization and against Canadian unity when a bishop, who should be following in the footsteps of the Prince of Peace and preaching the gospel of eternal love and the brotherhood of man, can see nothing better in Central Europeans than a class of "dirty, ignorant, garlic-smelling, unpreferred continentals." Notwithstanding this indictment by the "saintly" bishop, does it not seem passing strange that from amongst these "dirty, ignorant, garlic-smelling, unpreferred continentals" have sprung such world figures as Paderewski, the world's greatest pianist; Tolstoy, the world's greatest philosopher and humanitarian of the nineteenth century, and from whom Bishop Lloyd might learn many a lesson in humane and temperate conduct; Madam Curie, the lady who discovered radium, an element which some day may help to cure even so hard-crusted a personage as Bishop Lloyd; Caruso, whom Bishop Lloyd would no doubt designate a dirty, ignorant, garlic-smelling, unpreferred dago, but the records of whose golden voice may even now be giving supreme pleasure to the goodly bishop, if such a thing be possible to one of such warped sensibilities—and a host of others whom the time limit set on any speech will not allow me to mention.

Central Europeans
In the few moments left at my disposal I do not intend to deal with any general arguments with regard to immigration, but I do intend to flay and flout the ignominious references made by Bishop Lloyd to the central Europeans. The central Europeans are neither dirty, ignorant nor unpreferred, and as for being garlic-smelling, I consider such a weakness a thousand times better than filling one's mind with the hideous and discriminatory epithets I have mentioned, which appeal to the mentality of, and could be uttered only by, a moron. I repeat most emphatically, Mr. Chairman, that the central European is not what Bishop Lloyd would make him out to be; his opinion is an insult not only to the central European but to humanity in general. It is true that most of these central Europeans are rather poor when they come to Canada, but they make up for this "disqualification"—and I would put that word in quotation marks—by their thrift, their sturdiness, their perseverance and their determination to reclaim homes for themselves on our prairies.

Lovers of Land
Once these Europeans come to Canada they stay here; they are sticklers in the fullest sense of the word. It does not take them long to fulfil their homestead requirements; it does not take them long to pay off their debts and obligations, and that is more than I can say for a number of those so-called preferred European immigrants. In the old country their fare was the simplest and poorest, yet they finely thrived on it; they had very few home comforts as we know them in Canada, yet they dearly loved their rude dwellings. They were family men in a much closer sense than is usually known on the North American continent; they lived, they loved, and their whole world was the land on which they worked. They retain in Canada those fine characteristics for which they were noted in the old country, and unquestionably Canada has been a gainer thereby.

Sedition
"Arvo Vaara was sent to jail for uttering in Canada certain seditious sentiments and in his charge to the jury Mr. Justice Wright had this to say:—
"Was the article calculated or intended to excite ill between different classes of the King's subjects, because that comes within the definition of sedition—
"If Vaara, because of this article, was sent to jail for six months I contend that Bishop Lloyd should be sent to jail for six years, because his reference to the different races in Canada was just as bad as the article written by Vaara in the paper which he edited somewhere in Ontario.

Further along in his address the speaker referred to a number of prominent members of the House including J. C. Brady of Skeena and his

When appetites are sluggish - WIN THEM with Quaker Puffed Wheat

EVERY MOTHER knows that appetites are often sluggish. Sometimes the children won't eat; sometimes it's dad himself. Ordinary food does not tempt them.

Quaker Puffed Wheat always wins the sluggish appetite. Puffing the wheat grain to eight times its natural size gives it a delicious, nut-like flavour which everyone relishes. It contains astonishing nourishment, too.

In each grain, the puffing breaks down millions of tiny food cells and releases valuable food stores so that their assimilation becomes easy and complete. The wheat bran is all retained, but artfully concealed.

Serve Quaker Puffed Wheat just as it comes from the package or warm it. Use it with berries, jelly or jam, or just with cream or milk.

Puffed Rice is Good, too

Quaker Puffed Rice is exploded the same way as Puffed Wheat, and is equally delicious. Full of the ready energy of the finest white rice. For variety, keep both kinds of puffed grains in the house.

Around The World With Sport Fans

(By The Tramp)

Fight fans are looking forward to the big match on June 27 between Max Schmeling, the young German imitator of Dempsey and Paulino Uzcudun, the fighting Basque, one of the most interesting figures in ring history. This will be the second act in the melodrama which will end in the crowning of a heavyweight champion in place of Gene Tunney, resigned.

The announcement that Sir Montagu Allan has presented a cup for cricket in Canada will be welcomed throughout the Dominion, and will, it is hoped, help to revive and foster a game that seems to have fallen into decay in this country, says the Toronto Globe. Time was when many towns and cities in the eastern part of the Dominion boasted fine cricket clubs, each one of which could produce a star bowler, fielder or batsman; but those days, to a large extent, have passed away.

Freddy Mack of Ketchikan is to box Joe Manilla in the main event of a smoker at the Alaska city on the evening of June 22 at a hospital smoker. At the same event it is stated in the Ketchikan Chronicle, some quick stepping fightweights from Prince Rupert will show their wares for the first time there.

Thistles Win Opening Game in Dominion Day Cup Series One of Goals Called Doubtful

Before one of the largest crowds of the year on the Acropolis Hill grounds, Thistles won opening honors last night in the Dominion Day Cup football series over the Regiment by a score of two to nil. Practically all the spectators and most of the players thought that it should have been one to nil, but the referee was absolute. There was no scoring in the first half and back and forth play was quite even. Immediately after the kick-off in the second half, Bill Mitchell scored the first goal for the Thistles. The second was scored by Charlie Baptle when a doubtful penalty was awarded against C. J. Norrington. Most everybody in attendance thought that Norrington had not really handled the ball before it was outside. The decision caused some dissatisfaction.

Nevertheless, the Thistles had the most of the play in the second half and pressed all the time, being thoroughly entitled to their win. Bill Mitchell, at centre for the Thistles, was the outstanding player of the game. On the whole, it was a very satisfactory match from the spectators' point of view.

W. E. Williscroft refereed and linemen were Alex Clapperton and A. Bureau.

The teams were as follows:
Regiment — Underwood; Kelsey and Ross; Strachan, Haddon and Burdette; Wilson, Russell, J. K. Murray, Tinker and Norrington.
Thistles — Campbell; Erskine and Jack G. Mitchell, Baptle and Haig; J. Smith, A. Macdonald, W. Mitchell, J. Campbell and Farquhar.

STORY RECALLS KILTUISH LOSS

Ship's Record Gave Bare Facts Without Recording Struggle and Rescue Thrills

SAILED FROM RUPERT

A skipper's log does not deal with any but actual facts, says the Vancouver Province in a recent feature story. There are no trimmings, no explanations of the perils of the moment, for the master takes not pains to outline adventures or risks of life and limb which occur in the ordinary or extraordinary moments of life at sea.

Take for instance, the case of the Vancouver fishing boat, Kiltuish, lost on the Alaska coast late in March, 1927. She had a terrible time with snow and storm and ice, in reefs and ripping seas. Her crews risked their lives again and again and gave up hope finally, until one of the men battled his way to the beach through waves which crashed and roared over and around the jagged rocks of the bitter shores.

Captain F. J. Brown wasted no literary effort in maintaining his log.

"March 7, left Prince Rupert for fishing banks," he wrote. Next day he recorded, "Off Cape Spencer, steering almost half west, magnetite."

There was nothing more worthy of note until 7 a. m. on the morning of March 13 when the ship arrived at the banks, "heavily leed up, wind blowing hard." They hove to.

Ice and Fishing

Next day, "Still hove to," and on the morning of March 15 the skipper shifted inshore, under the lee of Trinity Island, and anchored. There she lay for three days with the barometer at 28.40. On March 19 they hove up anchor at midnight and bucked into the gale for the fishing grounds, but were driven back by a hard north-easter, taking shelter in Three Saint Bay, Kodiak Island.

The weather was cold and everything was frozen tight. "Bill at anchor, frozen up hard," reads the log. At midnight on March 21 the ship broke out and fought her way for 45 miles to sea, to the edge of the banks. The crew fished next day, rode a gale all night and fished the next afternoon. They sailed for Port Lock Rocks, arrived on March 24, and fished that afternoon and the next two days. On March 27 they headed for Prince Rupert with what fish they had.

A strong south southeast gale hit them, accompanied by snow. It was impossible to take any sights and they travelled by dead reckoning. Thick snowsqualls swooped down and blinded them at frequent intervals. They could see no distance, and were proceeding carefully with the waves crashing over the decks, and the water freezing as the spray hit house or rigging. The clothing of the men on deck was heavy with ice, and the pilot-house windows were continually deadened by clinging, heavy snow.

No Sign of Land

There was no sign of land, and Captain Brown figured he was still in safe waters. A heavier squall, prolonged, wrapped the boat in its smothering and blinding silence. There was no sound but the waves hitting the hull, and the snow-sifted chatter of the engine.

Then—Crash! Hard and fast on a reef. Men dashed out. The waves poured more violently across the decks and made life in the open a very poor risk. They tried to pull off but were unable to move. Great rollers smashed and shook at the hull and the steering chains broke. Like a ceaseless trip-hammer the big billows from the Pacific slipped smoothly and softly up in the smother of snow, broke at the edge of the reef and smote the stern of the lost craft with thunderous smashes. The deckhouse was carried away and the timbers of the stout hull began to tear from their fastenings. Between boat and shore was a wild turmoil of waters, raging white, gashed here and there by the black teeth of the reefs.

Swam in Cauldron

A volunteer started to swim through this cauldron, taking a light line. He drew a heavier line in after he had negotiated the passage. Then, when the tide dropped, the rest of the shipwrecked mariners were able to make shore in comparatively shallow waters. They had escaped with nothing but the clothes they wore, and they were drenched and chilled. Fortunately there was a settlement within a few miles, and they staggered there for refuge.

Captain Brown's log does not tell these things. It reads: "Ran on reef in snowsquall. Tried engines astern. No use. Tried to steer head out, but wheel chains carried away. The waves carried away the deckhouse, and the vessel began to break up. Each wave forced us up on the reef and closer to the beach so that we were finally able to wade ashore, saving nothing but what we stood up in."

TENNIS FINALS COMING ON NOW

Defeat of Brand and Currie Last Night By Stamford and Joslin Surprise of Tourney

The big surprise so far of the Prince Rupert Tennis Club's tournament was the defeat last night by W. L. Stamford and P. Joslin in the men's doubles semi-finals of Carl Brand and William Currie, two of the club's strongest players. The score was 6-2, 5-7, 4-6. Stamford's lobbing was a factor in deciding the issue.

In the other men's doubles semi-final, Eddie Smith and Poll Howard beat Peter Black and W. O. Fulton, 6-2, 6-2.

Carl Brand and Miss Caroline Mitchell defeated Col. W. J. Nicholls and Miss Etta Robertson 6-2, 6-0, in a mixed doubles semi-final.

The whole tournament is now in the final stages.

Finals Schedule

The following finals will be played tonight:

Mixed doubles—Miss Caroline Mitchell and Carl Brand vs. Miss Vera Smith and Poll Howard.

Ladies' singles—Miss Caroline Mitchell vs. Mrs. H. L. Shadwell.

Men's singles—Carl Brand vs. Poll Howard.

Tomorrow night the following finals will be played:

Sport Chat

The annual city championship tennis tournament will start on Sunday next, it is announced. Members of all clubs are being invited to participate and, in addition, any players who are not members of the clubs will be welcome as the competition will be strictly open to all. There will be events in ladies' and men's singles and ladies' men's and mixed doubles and all games will be played at the courts of the Prince Rupert Tennis Club. Entries are being received by Poll Howard and Carl Brand and will be open until Saturday evening.

Baseball at Anyox this season is proceeding so far without a hitch. The teams are providing a good brand of ball and the spectators are turning out well, three hundred having witnessed the last league game which the Mine won 7 to 3 from the Elks. Of the six league games so far played, the Mine has won three, Concentrator, two, and Elks, one. The Concentrator, with an average of .243, leads in team batting while Hardy is the leading individual batter of the league.

Local baseball fans are glad to learn that the Native Sons of Canada are once again planning to bring Ketchikan baseball players here for the July 1 celebration. No doubt, this international series, which has always proven so popular in the past, will be just as well appreciated again. A series of games will be played here in connection with Dominion Day celebration and arrangements are being made for Prince Rupert to go to Anyox for a return series on July 4.

Several horses have already been entered for equestrian races which will feature the Dominion Day celebration at Smithers this year. Every event will be keenly contested from the present looks of things. A special new event that has just been arranged for the celebration will be a tie makers' contest which should command much interest. There will also be a baseball game between Smithers and an outside team as well as the usual track and field events for adults and children.

After an interval of four years, inter-town baseball games between Telkwa and Smithers have been resumed. In the first game at Telkwa, Smithers was the winner in a free hitting contest by a score of 19 to 7. Allen pitched for Smithers while Swanson and Cowanlock divided mound duty for Telkwa. Smithers scored six runs in the second inning and five in the fifth. Noonan's running one-handed catch in centre field for Telkwa was a feature of the game.

Burns Lake has been playing baseball and football with outside teams but without much success. A baseball game with Wistaria was a close and thrilling affair, Wistaria finally winning out after a back and forth contest on the long end of a 12 to 11 score. In the first football game, Burns Lake descended on Burns Lake to win decisively by a score of 6 to nil.

GREETINGS FROM PRINCE

Westminster Glee Singers Receive Message From Prince of Wales Before Starting Tour of America

This great company of singers from London, England, who will give a magnificent program in the Moose Hall on Friday and Saturday, June 21 and 22, have as their organizer and director, Edward Branscombe, formerly tenor soloist of Westminster Abbey, London, England. Mr. Branscombe has taken his unique organization around the world several times, and they have appeared in many of the leading cities of the world under distinguished auspices and patronage.

The company is unique as it is the only one touring the world with famous boy sopranos from the great Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's Cathedral of London. These boy sopranos were chosen from the cathedrals because of the beauty and purity of their voices which many a more mature vocalist might well envy. They invariably arouse enormous enthusiasm wherever they sing and will unquestionably thrill and delight local music lovers when they make their first appearance here next Friday night.

The Prince of Wales sent the following message to Mr. Branscombe recently, when he learned that this famous company were starting their first American tour.

"May your wonderful organization have the same enthusiastic reception in the United States and during your tour to Australia and New Zealand as you received when we last heard you 'ring in London.'"

Their local concert is under the auspices of the Gyro Club, and tickets are on sale at Orme's Drug Store, The Rupert Pharmacy and Rose, Cowan & Latta, Ltd.

LAST CHANCE GROUP AT STEWART TO BE WORKED THIS SEASON

H. A. Hallum of Seattle, owner of the Last Chance group of mineral claims, situated near the foot of Salmon glacier, was a passenger aboard the Catala yesterday afternoon returning south after having spent a week at Stewart. Mr. Hallum stated that he had prepared a program of quite extensive work on the Last Chance this season but was not yet prepared to proceed with it on account of climatic conditions and an unexpected flow of water in the workings of the mine. There has been done on the Last Chance, to date, about 5500 feet of underground work, supplemented by a geophysical survey, and this will be followed this summer by further tunnelling and shafts.

J. M. Harkin returned to the city on the Prince Rupert this morning from a brief business trip to Ocean Falls.

COUNCIL PROBE IS ON TONIGHT

Public Works Affairs to Be Discussed in Private Session—Garbage Contract to Be Let

The city council will meet in special session tonight to deal with Ald. Prudhomme's suggestion, backed up by the recent money bylaw vote, that the municipal public works department should be reorganized. This discussion, it is understood, will be held in private but it is expected will be followed by an official announcement as to the council's decision. Ald. Prudhomme would have had the investigation in public but other aldermen insisted it should be in private session. Prior to the investigation session, the council will meet in public to deal with a few items of business including the letting of a contract for garbage disposal service.

DOUBLE BILL AT CAPITOL

"Me Gangster" and "Saturday's Children" to Be Shown Tonight

There is a big double bill at the Capitol Theatre tonight and tomorrow, "Me Gangster" and "Saturday's Children." "Me Gangster" is taken from the Saturday Evening Post story, and is a fast moving drama of the underworld of America. The story was published in book form and has become one of the popular publications of the day. Don Terry and June Collier are the gangster and girl and the supporting cast is one of the best. Corinne Griffith is the star of "Saturday's Children." Miss Griffith in the role of Bobby Halvey plays a working girl, who gives up her economic independence to marry a clerk in the same firm—played by Grant Withers—earning $40.00 a week salary and as they can only afford $27.00 a month for rent, Miss Griffith has to learn to do her own housework. "Saturday's Children" is the Pulitzer prize play by Maxwell Anderson and a First National picture, co-author of "What Price Glory."
