Canada to be Directly Represented at Five-Power Naval Conference States Ramsay MacDonald Today

Nothing Affecting Canada Will Be Done Without Her Full Knowledge and Consent Declares Britain's Premier

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—"Canada will be represented at the five-power conference in January by her own delegates, as will other entities of the British Commonwealth."

"No arrangements which are binding on Canada will be entered into without the knowledge and consent of this Dominion."

"Final agreements in respect to the disarmament problem depend entirely on the London five-power conference."

Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay Macdonald, prime minister of Great Britain, made these statements to newspapermen following his arrival today from Toronto.

When his attention was drawn to despatches intimating that he would take up the question of demilitarization of Halifax with Premier Mackenzie King, he replied: "I would suggest that you take those despatches with a large grain of salt. I do not just know what Premier King and will discuss."

Little Hope Now For Tyee Crew to Be Found Alive

KETCHIKAN, Oct. 17:-Although hope is still held by some that the crew of the wrecked Tyee will be found, it is believed generally, and particularly by those assisting in the search for the missing men, that they never reached shore; that they did not even succeed in launching the dory and that the life preservers proved of little value in the breakers as they no doubt were close to land and the surf breaking on the shore off Baranof Island is always rough.

Captain Levi Mathisen leaves a wife and two children, Robert, nine years old, and Howard, five, residing in Ketchikan. The family have lived here for eight years. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. D. McDonald, living at Varonia, Ore., and a father, brother and three sisters living in Alten, Norway, and a cousin, J Basse of Ketchikan, who is on the halibut schooner Alten.

The other three members of the crew were single men. Tom Venes, who was 28 years old, had lived in this country only six years, and Ronnai Hoel, who joined the crew of the Tyee when she left here on her last voyage, September 9, had also lived in this country six years. He was 27 years old; Christ Klokstad, who had been on the Tyee for a long time, was also a young man only 27 years old. If the Hudson Bay Railway never carries a pound of wheat commercially, Mr. McCarthy believes that the expenditure of much money there is well justified by the mineral possibilities. One can gain some idea of these when it is pointed out that twenty-five million dollars is being spent in making the Flin Flon mine a producer and that the Sherritt-Gordon mine is declared to be even a greater mine than Flin Flon. Two large marble quarries on that railway also make a unique addition to Canada's mineral store.
