Premier Mackenzie King Urges Confidence in the Dominion and Its Future During Hectic Time

OTTAWA, Oct. 30-In face of the serious decline in the price of stocks, Premier Mackenzie King last evening made a brief statement to newspapermen in which he declared the economic conditions in Canada had never been sounder or the faith in the development of the Dominion the prime motive. He will be acgreater, if one was to judge by those indices used by large Moodies, secretary of the party. financial and insurance companies.

The hectic conditions which prevailed, the premier said, might have an adverse effect on Canadian stocks, but the confidence shown by foreign investors should in itself be a factor in insuring confidence in the Dominion and its

Wheat Situation Is Daily Becoming More Acute and Speculation Is Rife As to Which Side Will Win Struggle

As the autumn draws along and October melts into November the people of Canada are wondering what is going to happen to Canada's wheat crop and what price the farmer is to get for his product. So far little marketing has been done, the elevators are bulging with grain, both at terminal points and in country districts. The Wheat Pool, which controls the situation, is sitting tight and telling the world it cannot have Canadian wheat except at a price that will make production profitable.

Some one will have to give way. Either the Pool will have to sell at consumer's prices or the consumers will have to buy at the price set by the Canadian consumer.

Here are two articles on the same subject written from somewhat opposing points of view:

The Conservatives have the advantage of eight acclamataions. If the Liberals were strong in the province they would not allow that many seats to go without a struggle. We look for a Conservative victory.

THE OLD COUNTRY STRUGGLE

A political struggle is in progress just now in Great Britain. The Macdonald government, which faced par- witches and other spooks, that liament for the second time yesterday, is on trial. Nothing was expected at the previous session, but now the extreme labor people are wondering why they voted Labor if no Labor legislation was to be introduced.

Mad by Public Opinion

The real force behind morals was public opinion, which was exerted in ways ranging all the way they complied. Dewey stated that had a gallery to which they lery morally, those playing to it Children were known to have three of four vocabularies, which they used under different circumstances, that being their way of accomodating themselves to different planes of conduct.

Children, said the speaker, had certain instincts, which impelled them to different courses. The instinct of gregariousness caused them to accomodate themselves to the group. Then some had the inothers of submissiveness. But he doubted whether a child came into the world with a moral instinct. It had to acquire the manners! and decencies of life. Further, it did not become moral, but was made moral.

HEADS CONFERENCE

Most Rev. William Temple, scalp treatments. archbishop of York, who has been elected President of the Committee continuing the World Conference on Faith and Order as successor to the late Bishop Charles H. Brent Jake says he thinks it's about time we had a new post office and he thinks it should be built over that big hole on Third Avenue which is reputed to have cost the country $100,000.

Yes, give us a post office A stately building true, That will make us really proud To know that it is new.

Build it high and build it wide And let its rooms be light, For we in Rupert surely need Something to make us bright.

It's time we had this building We've managed long enough With something no one else would

As a result of the recent visit here of David Thomson, president day of October, 1929, at 12:05 A.M. of the company, it has been decided to surface strip the ore veir on the Mohawk property this fall if weather conditions will permit.

P. LaFrance has arrived in town after having spent the summer in the Naas Valley.

J. A. Anderson, district road oreman, Anyox. has been spendng a few days in town making plans for the clearing of the new streets here.

Norman Fraser, superintendent of the Esperanza mine, returned last week from a business trip to Prince Rupert.

Anglican Church services were eld here on Sunday by Rev. W. B. Jennings of the mission boat Northern Cross.

A vein from four to five feet in width carrying high grade galena ore and good silver values has been encountered on the Moose property by J. W. Strombeck, half owner of the mine. A tunnel is now being driven on the ore in order to determine values at depth.

New Syndicate at Stewart to Develop Tacoma Property; Blackhill Prepares For Winter Work; Independence Closes Down

A new syndicate has just been formed at Stewart to develop the Tacoma group of mineral claims on the Porter-Idaho hill. The property consists of six crown-granted claims lying northeast of the Prosperity and Porter-Idaho and adjoining both. The Melvin Mining Co.'s property lies due south and the ore zone on this continues into Tacoma ground. Engineers who examined the Tacoma this fall are reported to have spoken very highly of the future prospects for the property. WHEAT SITUATION IS DAILY BECOMING MORE ACUTE AND SPECULATION IS RIFE AS TO WHICH SIDE WILL WIN THE STRUGGLE.

and not one watereshed alone, but the watersheds of all the earth are contributing to the ocean of wheat which will sweep away this manmade barrier. Let them keen that barrier intact a day too long, and Canada will be strewn with wreckage by the devastating torrent that the Wheat Pool is creating.

At this very moment wheat is germinating in the spring in other lands; it is approaching maturity in the summer suns of others; it is being harvested in still others where utumn is approaching. The stoppage of the flow from Canada has but stimulated the flow from elsewhere, and should that flow from other sources suffice, as conceivably it can be made to do, the Wheat Pool, preparing a feast, will be confronted by a tragedy.

This thing has been tried before. "Corners" in wheat have been effected, but Nature has always defeated them in the end. There is a storry, "The Pit," by Frank Norris, founded on actual happenings Of properties in close proximity when speculators in the United to the famous Premier, the B. C. States have done just what the Wheat Pool is doing-dammed one in a class by themselves, for they of Nature's great life-streams in have the extension of the Premier order to force prices to a higher level. Listen to this about the leading character in Norris' story—a man who had effected a corner in wheat and set a price below which he would not sell—a man who had

> "First in one place, and then in another the new harvest was coming on the market. It was not the brokers, traders and speculators who fought him now; it was the very Earth itself. Demand and supply, these were the two great aws the wheat obeyed. Almost blasphemous in his effrontery, he had tampered with these laws, and had roused a Titan. He had laid his puny grasp upon Creation, and the very earth herself, the great nother, feeling the touch of the cobweb that the human insect had pun, had stirred at last in her moving through the grooves of the world, to find and crush the disturber of her appointed courses. The new harvest was coming in; the new harvest of wheat, huge beyond possibility of control; so vast that no money could buy it, so swift that no strategy could turn it. $1.35 Ocean of the Wheat, leaping to the lash of the hurricane, struck him "The avalanche, the undiked QUAKER OATS with new 40c fairly in the face. The wheat had broken from his control. For fairly in the face. The wheat had months he had, by the might of his 550 single arm, held it back, but now it rose like the upbuilding of a colossal billow. It towered, towerd, hung poised for an instant, and hen, with a thunder as of the grind nd crash of chaotic words, broke pon him, burst through the Wheat it and raced past him, on and on o the eastward and to the hungry

Yes, it is a mighty, a murderous irama that is being played by the Wheat Pool in Canada. And even within the few short weeks in which it is possible, the spectre of amine overseas sends prices mounting to the Wheat Pool's mark, the momentary success will be dearly bought, for higher prices will precipitate a flood of planting in other lands, and competition on a mightier scale will face the Wheat Pool in the coming year.
