UNITED STATES REPORT THAT PRINCE IS TO BE REGENT

Prince of Wales to be Appointed Regent Because of Poor Health of King Who May Not Fully Recover

London Dispatch to New York Says King's Health Such That He May Never Again Participate in State Affairs

NEW YORK, March 6. — A news dispatch received here from London states that the Prince of Wales will be made regent within the next month and that it is thought King George will never resume his kingly duties, his physical condition being such as to make this imperative. While the King is much improved in health, his physicians warn him that he will have to use the greatest care not to excite himself and to forego any undue exertion.

Since the commencement of the King's illness the council of state has functioned, but it is pointed out that it cannot well function in such matters as the opening of parliament because Premier Baldwin is a member of that council, and as he prepares the speech from the throne and places it in the hands of the sovereign, it would be a rather anomalous condition of affairs.

Also, it is pointed out that the question of the dissolution of parliament has to be undertaken. Should Mr. Baldwin be defeated at the polls he would have to resign and his resignation as premier would be accepted by himself as a member of the council of state.

The only person who might object to the regency of the Prince might possibly be the Queen, but she has no authority in the matter.

The appointment of the Prince of Wales as regent has been suggested as a possibility before, but now, it is understood, the move has been decided upon and will be made very soon.

BOGNOR, March 6.—The King walked from his bedroom to the adjoining sun room at Craigwell House yesterday, sitting there all morning in the warm sunshine.

QUEBEC, Mar. 6:—Premier Taschereau told the legislature yesterday that one constitutional authority he had consulted gave a definite opinion that the Federal Old Age pensions law was ultra vires. It raised the question as to whether the Dominion had power to use money to pay the provinces for part of the cost of the scheme.

INVESTIGATE SECRET FUND

Hon. R. H. Pooley Says Matters of Serious Moment Brought to His Attention

VICTORIA, March 6.—An investigation is to be held into the expenditures made out to the secret service fund established under the Government Liquor Act. This was decided when a motion was introduced by Hon. R. H. Pooley in the legislature and passed. A select committee consisting of Ed. Twigg, J. W. Berry and Ian Mackenzie will conduct the investigation with power to call witnesses and take evidence on oath.

"I have given serious consideration to the motion. Matters of serious moment have come to my attention during the past few days. I should feel lacking in my duty if I did not carry out the investigation," said Mr. Pooley in reply to T. D. Pafullo and A. M. Manson, who had asked that the motion be withdrawn on the grounds that it would be a very unwise precedent to set.

Prince Rupert is Exonerated From the Ice Bound Charge

(Vancouver Province)

Lukin Johnston's efforts on behalf of Prince Rupert in nailing an article by one Barbara Austen in Pearson's Weekly, have borne fruit. It will be remembered that recently Barbara wrote a thrilling story for the London Weekly in which she alleged she walked two miles over an icefield into Prince Rupert. Mr. Johnston, London representative of the Southern newspapers, immediately took steps to challenge this reflection on Prince Rupert.

The editor of Pearson's Weekly now writes Mr. Johnston, stating: "I have now heard from Miss Austen, who much regrets that an error crept into her article to which you refer. She feels quite certain that she probably did say Prince Rupert, whereas the place she had in mind was Prince Edward."

It is now up to Barbara to explain where Prince Edward is. Does she mean Prince Edward Island? Mr. Johnston intends to enquire.

Barbara visited Vancouver about two years ago and sang at one of the churches.

ASSISTING LAND SEEKERS

EDMONTON, March 6.—In order to help land seekers in their search for suitable locations, three parties will be at work under Dominion government auspices all spring and summer. Their work will be to report on the kind of soil in each quarter section, so that the government officials may be able to give the immigrant the right advice.

ABRUPT DROP IN OIL SHARES

VANCOUVER, March 6.—Oil shares on the stock exchange yesterday declined abruptly in the face of heavy profit-taking. With the continued heavy turnover the mines were practically ignored. Home lost $1.25, Coalmont 20, A. P. Consolidated 35, Dalhousie 20, Illinois Alberta 25, Mayland 60, McLeod 40, and Royalite $15. Devonish improved 12 cents and Big Missouri was 5 higher.

Terrible Civil War is Commencing in Mexico Fighting Everywhere

NEW YORK, March 6. — Word received here from Mexico City indicates that out of the 60,000 men in the Mexican army, 10,000 have gone over to the rebels.

Military action on an extended scale marked the progress of the Mexican revolution today. Both government and rebel troop movements have begun in the north and south and heavy fighting is in prospect.

The federal forces were today marching in five directions to recapture Monterey, an important railway centre. The condition with regard to Vera Cruz is different, the government being content to battle up that port.

In the north the rebels appear to have scored signal successes, but the battle lines were being drawn at points almost within gun range of the United States border.

Mexican reports have been received of fighting favorable to the rebels at Mazatlan, Sinaloa, Torreon, Coahuila and Cannea, while the rebels also claim to have captured Chihuahua a city of 60,000 people.

It is becoming more evident that the war is largely over the question of religious liberty.

GARRISON REVOLTS

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The United States consul, Willis Myers, at Vera Cruz, reports to the state department today that a third battalion of the revolutionary garrison at Vera Cruz had mutinied and was occupying half the city.

NEW GAME ACT IN COMMITTEE

Will Be Put in Force by Order-in-Council on Manson's Suggestion

VICTORIA, March 6.—The Game Act amendments introduced by Hon. R. H. Pooley were considered by the committee of the whole legislature yesterday. Some amendments relative to the trap line registration which Dr. Wrinch had offered were not finally disposed of and are to be considered at the next sitting.

Mr. Pooley conceded a request of former Attorney-General Manson for a little delay in bringing in of the administrative sections of the bill. It will be brought into effect by an order-in-council. Mr. Manson's plea was that the attorney-general should try out the present administrative sections before making the changes which he had in view.

C. N. R. WINS FIRST BOUT IN BRANCH LINES

OTTAWA, March 5.—While the application of the C.P.R. to build what the C.N.R. complains was their territory was held over, the standing committee of the house of commons yesterday recommended construction of branch lines by the C.N.R. between Melfort and Aberdeen, Sask. The branch lines measure of the C.P.R. will be considered at a later date. The Canadian National branch would cost $1,800,000, covering 89 miles.

Canadiens and Boston Likely to Prove League Winners in Eastern Hockey This Season

TORONTO, March 6.—After heading the National Hockey League through most of the season, New York's two teams seem doomed to fight it out in the second place playoffs, for the Canadiens and Boston are the most likely prospects to finish at the top of the two groups. The Bruins regained their tie with the Rangers by beating the New Yorkers last night. The Rangers have only three games left to play, while Boston has five.

The New York Americans lost much of their chance of overtaking the Canadiens by tying with Ottawa, leaving the Canucks four points ahead. The Americans have four games to go and the Canadiens five.

VICTORIA, March 6.—Frank Patrick's Vancouver Lions, who lead the coast hockey league by a yawning margin, took a smack on the chin here last night, when they met with a three to nil defeat at the hands of the cellar occupants, the Victoria Cubs.

Hardacre, who assumes the role of substitute goalie with the league, turned in a phenomenal performance.

The Lions weakened in the absence of Jackson, their net minder, and by Phillips and Cummings, never gave up trying, but failed to score.

Sport Chat

As the last disappointed boo and hiss died down at Flamingo Park Wednesday night, 35,000 fans, suffering from ire and ennui, were ready to announce to the world that the heavyweight situation is no nearer a solution than when Gene Tunney donned the high hat and decided to use his fists on obnoxious newspaper persons who tried to photograph him instead of on low repulsive prizefighters, observes Sy Moyer, sports writer of the Vancouver Star. This battle of the Everglades, with all its preliminary bombardment, ballyhoo and hokey, turned out just as most people knew it would—a contest between a couple of second raters, neither of whom would get past the third round with Dempsey, Tunney, or even the green, crude fighter Max Schmeling. The hardest worked man implicated in the contest was Lou Magnolia, who struggled and took off about 10 pounds in an effort to keep the pair out of loving embrace for a sufficient length of time to get in a few punches.

I picked Stribling to win, not because I thought him a great fighter, but because I expected the affair to be so close that, as the fight was staged in Dixie, the referee would give the decision to the Southerner as a polite gesture to the people of the south. From all accounts that could have been done without doing Sharkey a great injustice. The Associated Press score sheet gave Sharkey five rounds, Stribling four and one even. But when one considers that six warnings from the referee went against Stribling in the score sheet, which is according to the New York system, it is possible that on fighting alone the Georgian at least held his own.

BLIZZARD HITS PRINCE RUPERT

Weather Conditions Generally Uncomfortable This Morning With Considerable Snowfall

From 7:30 this morning until shortly before noon Prince Rupert experienced something which very much resembled a good old Manitoba blizzard. There was a thick snowfall and a brisk easterly wind which caused drifting and made travelling around generally uncomfortable. About an inch or so of snow fell and the ground was well covered. At noon the wind was veering around to the southeast and rain was in prospect.

It was clear and cold last night and the thermometer went down to 26 above zero during the evening.

VANCOUVER JAP ASSASSINATED

Sonji Yamamoto, Elected to Japanese Parliament by Labor, Stabbed to Death

TOKYO, March 6.—A radical leader and deputy who worked his way through high school in Vancouver, B.C., by doing odd jobs and later became a university professor, was assassinated on Tuesday by a reactionist who objected to his radical activities.

Sonji Yamamoto, 40 last year, was elected to parliament from Kyoto by the labor and peasants party. Calling on him, a man named Furoda stabbed him to death.

Yamamoto, sent to Canada in 1907, worked as a dish washer and train boy in order to obtain an education.

CAPITOL MUSIC

SCORES AGAIN

Last Night's Program Was Greatly Appreciated

That musical presentations by the Capitoliens are becoming more and more popular was evidenced last night at the Capitol, when a special program was offered to a large and appreciative audience.

"Love's Old Sweet Song," featuring Freddie Wells on the xylophone was most artistically rendered, as was "Lucia di Lam-ermoor," and reflects great credit on the work of Jack de Jausserand, the popular conductor of the Capitoliens.

Music is being specially featured all this week at the Capitol and tonight and Thursday Capitolian Bill Beaumont will play on the cello the serenade,
"The Pale Moon" (by request).

On Friday and Saturday of this week, possibly one of the most ambitious presentations attempted in the city for some time will be given with Al Smaile and his orchestra on the stage, augmented by the Rupert Capitoliens. The popular melodies "Querida" and
"Sonny Boy" have been selected for this big musical event.

MORE TELEPHONES USED

The steady growth of the telephone service resulting in the necessity to extend the plant indicates a steady normal growth in the city along permanent lines. We are making progress, although not as rapid as might have been desired. Possibly in the near future there will be an acceleration of the rate of progress. We all think there will and that is the first step toward securing it.

ELEVATOR MEN GOING

The staff of the elevator is being moved south and the big plant here has ceased to function. While it may not be that the delegation to Calgary will secure the re-opening of the elevator this year, it is hoped to prevent any repetition of the action taken by the Pool. That organization exists as a result of its appeal to public opinion on the prairies and cannot afford to make itself obnoxious to Prince Rupert.

LOCAL BOYS' BAND

The re-organization of the management of the Boys' Band and the re-appointment of Bandmaster Wilson should result in renewed activity on the part of that organization. Prince Rupert cannot afford to lose so valuable an asset as the band, which has been built up largely as a result of the excellent work of the bandmaster.

BEYOND THE LAW?

(Edmonton Bulletin)

The bill to reconstruct the charter under which the Wheat Pool operates was the subject of a lively debate in the legislature on Monday. Interest centred naturally in provisions of the bill which deprive, or appear to deprive, a member of the pool of the right to take action in the courts, and to thus demand an accounting, should he be dissatisfied with the treatment he has received from the management. All such complaints, it is stipulated, must be settled by arbitration. This restraint upon the civil liberty of the pool member is a new one. As the bill is retroactive, the provision is in the nature of a new condition imposed upon all who have been members of the Pool at any time since its inception, and of particular importance to those who signed the new contracts during the recent campaign for members. So far as known, no steps were taken to inform the signers before-hand that they were to be thus dispossessed of the common right to appeal to the courts and to secure their assent to that restriction. How the Wheat Pool runs its business is the business of the Wheat Pool. The outsider has no concern with the manner in which a complaint made by a member against the management is to be settled. The bill is one which relates solely to the internal economy of the organization. If the Pool members are content to be legislatively denied the right to seek protection by law, that is their affair. If any of them are not content, it is not very clear what they can do about it, unless the legislature adds a rider that these clauses shall become operative only when they are accepted by the locals. The proposal is certainly unusual enough to justify the house in taking such precaution, alike in the interests of justice and the interests of the Wheat Pool. When a provincial legislature undertakes to deprive a British subject of the right to appeal to the courts it is undertaking a somewhat large order for an institution of the kind. And, while the rule may not work that way in the case of the Wheat Pool, any other organization which undertook to sweep away the civil rights of its members would be due to suffer a slump in membership.

COLONEL PECK ON PATRONAGE

Former Prince Rupert Man's Speech Described by Gallery Reporter

REFERS TO ELECTION

Tells How Heads of Some of His Opponents Rolled in the Basket

In describing the speech of Colonel Peck, V. C., in the Legislature the other day, Bruce Hutchison, writing to the Vancouver Province from the Press Gallery at Victoria said in part: First he turned his attention to the opposition. He called Mr. Manson a young Napoleon upon whose lofty brow was the troubled look of a man yearning to lead the opposition. He also called him a restive political jack-in-the-box who found it irksome to keep his seat for many minutes at a time. Colonel Peck has heard that Dr. Sutherland would shortly be translated to an important federal post, while in Mr. Ian Mackenzie he found a fiery Scot who was burning to draw his claymore and lead the whole Liberal party.

After that Colonel Peck turned his attention to a former government, whose name he would not mention, and gave the House what he called a few "rough reminders of yesterday." Before doing so, however, he first gave it a classical discourse on political patronage, swept aside sickly hypocrisy, and boldly declared that politicians would appoint to jobs men who were their friends. They would not search for appointees in the ranks of their enemies, he declared, but this was not news to the house.

By this time, Colonel Peck was thoroughly warmed up to the job of telling all about the government whose name he would not mention. This government, he roared, and waved his arms, had never purchased a pound of nails without considering the political effect of the purchase. Why, Mr. Speaker, in his own constituency, in twelve years, a Liberal firm had received $22,259 in government business and a Conservative firm only $1930. Even that revelation did not knock this hardened House unconscious.

Only a direct quotation can do justice to Colonel Peck's classic statement of his own political philosophy. Pounding his desk with a mighty fist, he cried: "I said in my campaign that any government employee who had played politics would have short shift from me. That's what I said, Mr. Speaker, and that's what I did! I demanded their heads and they rolled in the basket!"

Made House Chuckle

These sanguinary executions, it turned out, removed the heads of six road foremen and one assessor, and even that did not make the house shudder. Indeed, it chuckled with delight as Colonel Peck went on to give details of this moral butchery. He told how eight men had been dismissed from the government rock crusher in 1924 because they voted for him. He told how a Liberal family had reigned over Salt Spring Island like a hereditary dynasty. He gave the House a colorful account of the great game of politics as it is played, unknown to the rest of the world, in the dark recesses of those other islands which dot the Gulf of Georgia. Finally he told how Mr. Manson, as attorney-general had come to Ganges to rescue the islands from Colonel Peck.

Mr. Manson, said Colonel Peck, had come to Ganges with a provincial policeman, with a corps of spellbinders, and with his famous magic lantern. But the young bloods of Ganges, growing tired of the magic lantern and looking forward to the dance which was to follow it, had ruined the whole meeting by blowing the horns of scores of automobiles parked outside.

APPRECIATION OF LOCAL SPEAKER AT VANCOUVER AFFAIR

Official comment on the address of Colonel Nicholls at the luncheon of the foreign trade bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade recently appeared in the bulletin issued by that organization as follows:

"It was gratifying to see such a good attendance at our last luncheon, when we were favored with a highly interesting address by John W. Nicholls, comptroller of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. Ltd. at Prince Rupert. In the limited time at his disposal he presented in a very pleasing manner some facts well worth knowing concerning the halibut trade, and we are much indebted to him for obliging us during his holiday here. Mr. Nicholls was president of the Prince Rupert Board of Trade last year, when our Board of Trade excursion visited that port. As pointed out by the speaker, Vancouver benefits considerably from the halibut fisheries through the sale of supplies, etc., and it is desirable that some of their problems be more clearly understood and closer co-operation with our northern ports will be increasingly necessary as time goes on."

Supplying the world!

FROM the cold, deep waters of the seven thousand miles of British Columbia's Pacific Coast, comes a harvest of fish that the palate of all mankind enjoys! For over twenty years our Province has been a leading factor in Canada's fishing industry. Progress continues unabated... the markets to the ends of the earth demanding ever increasing quantities.

The past ten years have seen this industry grow from 14 million to 27 million dollars... an increase of 89%. Our annual catch totals nearly half the entire Canadian production, and "King Salmon," our marine silver mine accounts for at least 15 million dollars a year.

The distribution from our Provincial hatcheries of millions of salmon eggs to renew the harvest that goes into the nets; the Treaty between Canada and the United States for the protection of the Pacific Halibut (March, 1923) providing a close season from November 16th to February 15th; modernized canneries, 83 in number, and sane Federal Fishing Laws, carefully administered, are the foundation of an industry that will continue to grow.

The fame of British Columbia's Whaling Fisheries is of long standing, and has materially increased the value of the products from this industry. The yearly catch, now about 400, is taken between one station on Vancouver Island and two stations on the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Much as has been done to develop and conserve our fishing industry, there still remains a great deal to be accomplished. The vastness of our waters and the extent and ruggedness of our coast make organized protection and administration extremely costly.

But the safeguarding of our fisheries is a matter which now commands the earnest attention of our government, who realize the importance of conserving this basic industry.

As the oldest industry of our Dominion, fishing has been one of the largest revenue producers, and it is significant that Canada's youngest Province, in less than twenty years, should secure a leading position in the world market. This aggressive search for foreign business has been an asset which undoubtedly has created one of the most amazing records of our basic industries. Well may we be proud of our Fisheries!

Read these announcements and understand your province's progress... clip them out and send them to friends. If you desire extra copies of these announcements a note to this newspaper will bring them. Advertise your Province!

News of the Mines

AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Further Details of New Topley Richfield Ore Zone; Consolidated Negotiating for Hercules Property; Development of Woodbine Likely

Operations following the recent new strike of rich ore at a depth of 250 feet in the Topley Richfield mine have disclosed the ore zone to be between 10 and 11 feet in width. The new ore was located when the cross-cut had been run only 30 feet from the shaft sunk to tap the ore at a depth of 120 feet lower than the old workings permitted. The tunnel is now being extended to link up five holes sunk by the diamond drills into ore.

H. L. Batten, M.E., of Vancouver, consulting engineer, recently visited the Topley Richfield and expressed himself as being well pleased with the improved condition of the property following the striking of this big ore zone.

Improvements at the Duthie mine mill whereby its capacity will be increased from 75 to 100 tons daily should be completed within the next two months, according to C. A. Banks, managing director. Present work underground includes drifting on the Handerson and Fault Plane veins, cross cut to the Ashman vein and a three-compartment shaft to the lower workings. Much footage has been made and important ore bodies and new veins are looked for soon. The large shaft should be completed within two months. Other veins on the property are also to be explored. The complete board of directors of the Duthie Mines, Ltd., for the year consists of: J. F. Duthie, president; C. A. Banks, managing director; H. S. Gould, secretary; W. E. Williams, Dr. J. M. Bell and T. G. Acres. Under the recent deal with the Atlas Exploration Co., the capital of the company was increased from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

It is reported that the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. is negotiating for the Hercules Mines Ltd., which lies at the north end of the Big Missouri. Thus it would appear that the company, already controlling the Big Missouri, is seeking to increase the area of its holdings in that territory. Negotiations have been under way for some time and are said to be progressing satisfactorily. Hercules comprises crown granted claims with values in gold, silver, lead, zinc and copper. Values average from $34 in all metals. At one time Hercules, which is capitalized at $1,000,000 with 623,751 $1 shares issued, was considered to be even better than the Big Missouri.

The Amalgamation Mines, Ltd., owning Hyder Lead mine, intends to pursue active development this spring with a view to bringing the property into production as soon as possible. An extensive program conducted last summer is stated to have been highly satisfactory, definitely warranting the expenditure of money in further investigation. Such importance is attached by the management of the Georgia River Gold Mines, Ltd., to the new strike recently made on the property that officials state that, in spite of the portable unit which it was originally intended to install on the property and in view of the exceptionally pleasing results obtained by development, an order will be given for machinery suitable for a stationery plant. The company plans to develop on a large scale and extend operations considerably. Drifting on what is believed to be the southwest vein will be undertaken immediately to determine the size and extent of the ore body. This ore was struck in the main tunnel at a depth of over 100 feet from the surface and carried very high gold values. Assay returns ranged from $51.39 to $94.50 per ton in values. In view of the decision of the management to install a permanent plant, there is reason to believe that the strike was much more important than is generally realized.

Decision was made at the annual meeting of the Woodbine Mining Co. in Vancouver recently that, if better terms can be secured from the vendors of the property, development work will be continued by the present company. Extension of time will be sought for a payment of $50,000 which becomes due on March 7. There is still considerable confidence on the part of shareholders that there are great bodies of rich ore on the Woodbine. Some five engineers gave favorable reports on the property, while one gave an adverse report. All the former directors were disposed to abandon the property with the exception of S. Burke, who was the only one of the 1928 board who was prepared to go on the new board. The new directorate, consisting of men who have been active in their insistence that work on the property be continued was elected as follows: S. Burke, president; H. C. Briggs, P. T. Kenyon; E. S. Knowlton, Alexander Henderson, K.C., W. A. Forrest, A. E. Munn, with one to be elected in Winnipeg and another in London, England. It is considered likely that development of the property will be continued.

BABINES GET PUBLICITY IN SEATTLE PAPER

The Seattle Star published in a recent issue a picture of Miss Mary Higgins who is attending business college in Seattle and who spends every summer in the Babines with her father, E. J. Higgins of Smithers. The accompanying story follows:

Mary Higgins and the Babines are coming into their own—at least "The Sweetheart of the Babines" will tell you so if you ask her about development plans in her summerland home, the rugged Babine Mountains, up the Skeena River from Prince Rupert. For 15 years E. J. Higgins of Smithers, B. C., and Seattle has worked at his silver-lead-zinc-gold claims in the Victoria group. He and his partners, three Pennsylvanians, have been "sold" on the Babine mining district ever since they first followed up the "signs" of mineral wealth.

But, despite the producing Cronin and Duthie mines, the Babines have remained almost unknown because of lack of development. Summertime, Mary accompanied her father up into the wilderness, where placid, snow-fed lakes and rushing cataracts splash at the feet of the heavily eroded mountains. Wintertimes she stays in Seattle.

Now, a corporation is being formed in British Columbia to develop the mines—and "the sweetheart of the Babines," as they call the dimpled girl up in Smithers, is going to business college here and dreaming of the time when she can use her book-keeping and accounting knowledge to keep "Dad" Higgins' expected wealth in shape.

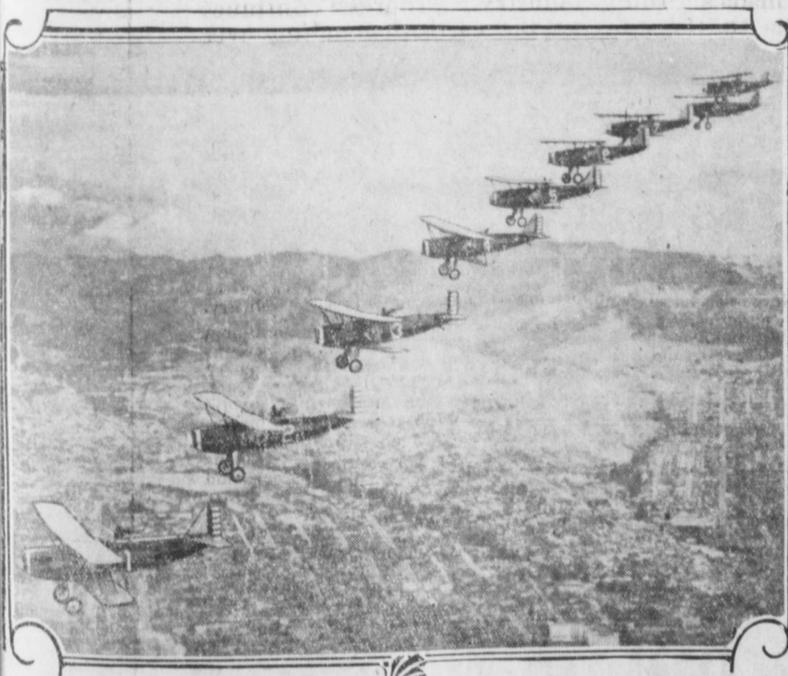

Smithers is more than 200 miles east of Prince Rupert, and on the Canadian National Railroad, twenty-five miles from Smithers, by wagon road is the Victoria group, soon to be renamed the Lorrain, by Higgins and his associates, DeWitt and B. F. Messner and A. T. Harrier, cousins, of Johnstown, Pa.

The Victoria group includes the Lead Creek, Victoria, Prospector's Dream, Morning Star, Lakeview and Spokane claims. The owners also hold about 90 other properties in the immediate vicinity.

Never a Milk Shortage

WITH Carnation on the pantry shelf there is never a shortage of double-rich, absolutely pure milk for every milk use. For Carnation can be bought a month's supply at a time—it keeps indefinitely. It even keeps several days after the tin is opened, so that there is no waste.

Because Carnation is just pure, fresh milk evaporated to double richness and kept safe by sterilization, it meets every need for milk or cream. Undiluted, it takes the place of cream at one-third cream cost. Diluted it gives superior results in all cooking. It is the most completely useful milk you can buy. Order several tins or a case of 48 tins from your grocer.

CARNATION JELLIED RICE—One cup Carnation Milk diluted with 1 cup water, 3 level teaspoons granulated gelatin, 1/4 cup rice cooked in milk till tender, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 cup cream beaten stiff, fruit to taste. Soak gelatin in a little of milk till tender. Add rest of milk boiling hot, rice and sugar. When cool fold in cream and chill. Unmould and serve with any fruit and heavy cream. Lemon rind makes a nice flavoring for the pudding.

STUDY OF HOME NEED BY GIRLS

FAIR MEETING IS ADJOURNED

Miss Rogers Tells Teachers' Federation About Work of Home Economics Classes

The Prince Rupert Teachers' Association held their regular monthly meeting in the Booth Memorial School last evening. The president, Mr. J. S. Wilson was in the chair and other members present were Miss E. A. Mercer, Miss Pierce, Miss Rothwell, Miss McArthur, Miss Mitchell, Miss Grassie, Miss Rogers, Mrs. Walker, Miss Lamb, G. Stocks, A. Halleran and W. W. C. O'Neill, secretary.

Delegates to the annual convention to be held in Vancouver from April 2 to 5 were chosen as follows: Geographical representative for Northern B. C., J. S. Wilson other delegates to be chosen from Miss Garnett, Miss McKay, Miss Rothwell and Miss Leitch.

Miss Rogers was the speaker of the evening, her subject being "The Home Economics Course." The subject deals with the social science of housekeeping and home making. This includes the study of food, clothing and shelter from the standpoint of health, economics and art, and the study of the relationship of each member of the home to each other and to the community in general.

The work begins in Grade 6. The different fibres, their source and manufacture of material are taken up in the work of clothing study. The use of the sewing machine, as well as simple hand stitching, the making of their own cooking uniforms and of playdresses for themselves follow.

Study of Foods

The study of foods begins in grade seven. The lessons are planned on the meal system, the first meal studied being breakfast. The different kinds of foods used, their source, ways of preparing and serving are all studied. Care and use of kitchen utensils are an important part of this work. The values of the different foods are noted in the preparation of the meals and the direct connection with everyday life gives these lessons a very practical value. The children are encouraged and expected to do similar work at home and credits are given when the girls bring a signed statement from their parents telling of meals prepared and cooked at home.

Personal accounts of budgeting, mending and cleaning clothes, the arrangement of the girl's bedroom, its color scheme, ventilation and care are all discussed. The home care of the sick, preparation of invalid dishes, treatment of cuts and burns and first aid are dealt with.

In the later work the girls use commercial patterns, and study materials, and care and hygiene of clothing. Work on design, suitability of style to figure and to occasion forms part of the advanced course.

In the High School work two courses are outlined. A special course allows Home Economics to be taken in place of a language or science. A general course covers much the same work but not in such detail or with the same attention to theory. These courses include food preservation, health and nutrition, marketing and home management.

A study of simple dietetics, the value of protein constituents, vitamin needs and sources, the deficiency diseases are all studied. The "Home," first as a house with attention to sanitation, drainage, lighting and conveniences and then the home as a social centre and its place in family relationship is an important part of the work in the High School course.

Give Girls Start

The value of such instruction to the individual and to the community can not be overestimated and while the intention is not to make each girl an expert in home economics it is intended that each girl should get a start on the right way and be familiar with the facts of the social

The "beauty diet" that made her ugly

SHE was one girl who was going to stay attractive—so she watched her "beauty diet." But, all the time, she was missing something every diet should have. In the dishes she so carefully selected there was scarcely any roughage. Constipation gained a foothold. Soon, her charm, her strength—the very youth she thought to protect—were paying the price!

This bulk carries moisture throughout the digestive tract. Gently distending the intestine, sweeping out poisonous wastes. Part-bran products seldom contain enough bulk to be completely effective. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. It is 100% bran. It accomplishes results part-bran products cannot hope to equal. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is infinitely better than habit-forming pills and laxatives.

Thousands of women and men are paying the price of soft, fibreless meals. Many are dieting—and yet they defeat their own purposes because constipation continues to poison the system. No other evil is more widespread. It may start with aching heads and blemished cheeks. It often ends with serious trouble and disease.

And more's the pity when it can be so easily prevented by means of a simple cereal. So quickly relieved. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring sure relief . . . safe prevention!

ALL-BRAN is 100% effective
ALL-BRAN is practically all roughage, or

A naturally healthful cereal! To enjoy with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added.

Use it in cooking too. Recipes on package. Mix it with hot cereals. Sprinkle it into soups. Just eat two tablespoonfuls in some form daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Its regular use will protect your family from the dangers of constipation.

Insist on genuine Kellogg's, the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants, cafeterias. On diners. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Guaranteed! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

Hon. R. H. Pooley of Esquimalt is a humorist. Here is what he is quoted as saying: "I am quite willing to enter the ring under Marquis of Queensbury rules if the editor of the Vancouver Conservative paper will put his cards on the table and play cricket."

A lot of young people long to be literary. All they have to do is to work hard all the time on their books and live on their private income. The time may possibly come when they will accumulate a bank account.

The advantage of living in the United States is that the drinker dies quickly and does not make a nuisance of himself in public.

The editor says I have to apologize to a Mr. Sherman for advocating the appointment of a live dog-catcher. He says that gentleman came to the office and was very wrathful because it seems he is dog-catcher for Prince Rupert and here I never even knew there was one. That's what comes of living the life of a recluse.

I humbly, meekly and subserviently apologize to the said Mr. Sherman for not knowing that he held that high position in the community. I apologize for saying I thought this should be a live town with a live dog-catcher and all the appurtenances thereto. I apologize for ever having had a daydream about dog-catchers and their work. I apologize for even mentioning the work dog, hot dog, bulldog or any other kind of dog. I faithfully promise and swear, especially swear, that if I ever see a dog-catcher with his cage and net I will run around the block and avoid him and if the said Mr. Sherman is not willing to take this apology as genuine and complete, I hope he gets caught in his own net and trapped in his own pound, so help me.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

SO MANY HUSBANDS DEPEND ON ME

A fable for British Columbia Housewives. Back of each local product she saw ambitious families just like her own. That is why she enjoyed a sense of pride and loyalty every time she purchased the products of her fellow men. In every room in her house she saw the vision of the elfine workmen, for the articles of her home from attic to basement were the products of her home land.

There's a moral to this story

Every time a housewife purchases a B.C. Product, B.C. husbands benefit. B.C. industries are kept active replacing the products purchased by local housewives. Every woman who knows the prosperity of British Columbia husbands depends on their wives asks first: "Is it made in B.C.?"

Junior Coghlan, the screen's best juvenile lead, is the star, with George Duryea, lovely Virginia Bradford and big supporting cast. There is also a good comedy and gazette.

A fine program of synchronized music has been arranged.

LUXURIANT FILM TONIGHT AT CAPITOL

Vilma Banky in "The Awakening" Is Glorious Picture Entertainment

The thrill of hard-riding Uhlans, the world-famous calvary troops that were Germany's pride before the War; comedy in quaint rustic inns; twilight courting in sleepy country lanes; stern drama in a shell-torn convent; a wild ride for liberty through a storm of shrapnel and bullet. These are among the high spots of Vilma Banky's first starring picture, "The Awakening," which comes to the Capitol Theatre tonight and Thursday.

Miss Banky appears as Marie, lovely, quiet, modest, whose virtues are the village boast. Into the ordered goodness of her life, a storm appears in the person of Captain the Count Karl von Hagan, with his troop of Uhlans on the spring manoeuvres. In the little Alsatian hamlet, indignation mounts in the hearts of the peasants as they see Marie courted,—and won,—by this philerer Karl, whom they know is seeking only conquest. "The Awakening," tells how their great romance almost grew to equally great tragedy, and of the advent of the War that brought them together.

Producer Samuel Goldwyn boasts of the fact that his 14-month search for a story suitable for Miss Banky's first starring picture was well rewarded in "The Awakening." Not only did he find the story, but from England, he brought back Walter Byron, a young Englishman and new to American pictures, as leading man to Miss Banky.

Louis Wolheim, hailed as the most magnificent of the screen's character players, following his success in "The Tempest" and "The Racket," has the last of the three great roles in Miss Banky's newest picture. Victor Fleming directed; Carey Wilson adapted the story from the original of Frances Marion.

A feature of this picture is the use of Irving Berlin's newest song success, "Marie," in the musical accompaniment. Mr. Berlin wrote the song to honor Miss Banky and her role in "The Awakening."

DROWNING WAS DEATH CAUSE

Coroner's Inquest into Demise of William Gamula Concluded Yesterday Afternoon

That the late William Gamula, whose body was found floating in the harbor last week, came to his death by drowning some time between 5:30 p.m. Tuesday and 11 a.m. Wednesday following injuries sustained between the same hours in some manner unknown and that the circumstances do not suggest foul play was the verdict of the jury which investigated the demise of the Ukrainian farm laborer, who had recently come to the city from the prairies. The verdict came at the conclusion of the inquest yesterday afternoon before Coroner Norman A. Watt.

Sergeant J. P. M. Hannah and George Gamula were recalled to the witness stand at yesterday afternoon's session. Sergeant Hannah read translations of four unposted letters which had been found in deceased clothing. Three of the letters were to a brother and one to a friend, all at Borden, Sask. Dissatisfaction at conditions here, as far as finding work was concerned, was expressed in the letters, as well as an intention of returning to Saskatchewan. In one of the letters deceased asked that the necessary money be sent him to return to the prairies, as he had left the most of his money in deposit in a bank. Sergeant Hannah stated that the police had visited all stores where deceased might have gone to purchase clothing and also the restaurants but, as far as could be learned, he had not been seen on the evening of February 26. The waterfront had also been fruitlessly combed with a view to picking up deceased's cap. The last time he had been seen alive, as far as could be learned, was on Tuesday evening at 5:30.

George Gamula, recalled, testified that deceased had complained of suffering from headache. He had said that he had had influenza on the farm a month and a half ago. He was of a quiet disposition and was not quarrelsome.

In reviewing the evidence, Coroner Watt referred to the fact that cuts and bruises on the face had come up much more plainly after the application of embalming fluid by the undertaker. The nature of the injuries might suggest that they had been brought about by the body grazing some object such as a barnacle pile in falling.

The jury took about 15 minutes to arrive at its verdict.
