Consolidated Takes Over the Railway at Stewart and Port Is Likely to Develop There

Stewart Paper Makes Announcement of Transfer and Comments on Possibilities of Development at That Point as a Result

The Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Refining Company, which already owns the George Copper mine, for which the railway is an outlet to the sea, has taken over the railway at Stewart. Word to this effect has been received and the following despatch from Stewart tells the story:

The Stewart News will say this week: "The Hon. H. H. Stevens has announced that the interest of the Vancouver holdings company in the Canadian Northeastern Railway Company has been turned over to the Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Refining Company. The charter for the Canadian Northeastern was granted during the last session of the legislature of British Columbia to construct a line of railway from tidewater at Stewart, B.C., to Fort Graham, on the Finlay River, thus opening up two of the largest known mineral belts in western Canada, namely the eastern contact belt, in which Stewart is located, namely the Ingenki mineral belt, paralleling the western watershed of the Finlay River. Between these two mineral belts is situated the famous Ground Hog coal fields, which, according to the Geological Survey, is only 90 miles from tidewater at Stewart and comprises an area of more than 2000 square miles. This field contains the only known anthracite coal in Canada, and if coking coal, as is expected, can be found, this with the large known water powers available may as a result of its unique position in relation to the large mineral areas mentioned very easily develop as a large industrial centre with Stewart as a sea port."

VANCOUVER, July 3.—Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, which is closely allied with the Canadian Pacific Railway, has purchased the Canadian Northwestern Railway in northern British Columbia from the Vancouver Holdings, Ltd., of which Hon. H. H. Stevens is president. The deal was closed here yesterday but the purchase price was not announced. At a meeting of the new owners yesterday afternoon the following directors were elected: James J. Warren, Roland C. Crowe, Selwyn G. Blaylock, Thomas W. Bingay, William Munro Archibald.

Plane Leaves Vancouver Today or Tomorrow for Stewart and Will Ply to Bowser Lake from There

VANCOUVER, July 3.—Plans to transport a party of engineers and several tons of material in a series of flights from Stewart to Bowser Lake have been made by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, following its purchase of the Canadian Northeastern Railway. A contract has been signed with the Western Canada Airways by the Northern Prospecting Syndicate, a subsidiary of the Consolidated, and as a result a flying boat piloted by Walter E. Gilbert will leave today or tomorrow for Stewart.

The party of engineers now in Stewart will be taken in first and construction and survey material during the next three or four weeks.

Pilot Gilbert will probably fly into Bowser Lake by way of Bear River valley. This will give an all-weather route of 75 or 80 miles. The Consolidated has 56 mining claims along the Bell Irving River and Bowser Lake district and it is estimated the survey and development of these claims can be completed this summer.

If the materials were freighted in by ordinary methods it is estimated that the development work could not start until next summer.

Stewart People Would Like Airplane Base to be Located at Rupert

Stewart people are anxious that an airplane base should be located at Prince Rupert so that they might benefit by using airplanes in prospecting the more remote regions of the Portland Canal country. Interior points might also use the service a great deal and there have been numerous applications for transportation to and from Vancouver. Following is a letter on the subject received yesterday:

Editor, Daily News:

Sir—In your editorial "Prince Rupert Again Loses," in the issue of the News dated June 22, it appears prospectors had utilized an airplane from Alaska into Canadian territory, but this is impossible, judging from the attitude of the Canadian customs at Ottawa.

We had arranged with a United States seaplane outfit operating out of Juneau—after failing to make adequate arrangements with Canadian operators—to transport four men and supplies from Hyder to a lake in the Iskut river country, near where high grade ore veins were discovered forty years ago by placer miners, and leaving here on June 1, but Ottawa emphatically refused to grant us a permit to use an American plane, the reason being that there was no Canadian customs office in the interior, although it was pointed out that the plane would enter and clear at Stewart.

After a loss of a month of valuable time we have concluded arrangements with Vancouver operators, our outfit leaving here July 5. The charge for the trip being the same as that of the United States plane plus $550 flying time from Vancouver.

We have endeavored in every way to patronize Canadian industry and to further the development of the country by demonstrating the mineral potentialities in connection with the carrying out of our enterprise, and would not have considered using an American plane had a Canadian plane been sooner available.

Credit is due to the Americans for their enterprise in establishing airplane bases throughout Alaska and it is a pity that they are debarred from assisting in the opening up of northern British Columbia when no Canadian operators show any disposition to do so. By old time prospecting methods it will take years to cover territory that could be done in days with the use of the airplane.

Prince Rupert is well situated as an airplane base, possibly if this fact was presented to Canadian airplane companies with information relative to possible profitable business an airplane base might be established.

Trusting that the foregoing may be of interest to your readers, we remain

DRIVER ON BAIL

David Jones Declared to Have Been Under Influence of Liquor When Driving

SMITHERS, July 3.—After an all-day session yesterday a coroner's jury consisting of E. E. Orchard, foreman, Charles Reid, W. J. O'Neill, W. H. Doodson, John McKenzie and Hans G. Olsen returned the following verdict at seven p.m. yesterday:

"It is the opinion of the jury that these men, Isak Karstved and Uno Ferner, came to their deaths between 7 and 8 o'clock on the evening of June 29, 1929, through the overturning of an automobile and by being pinned under the Duthie mine road, at a point about three and a half miles from Smithers, the said auto being driven by one David Jones. It is our conviction that the said David Jones, the driver of the automobile, was under the influence of liquor and not capable of properly handling the car at the time of the accident."

Jones is held on a charge of manslaughter and has been remanded on bail to appear Monday next. Death in both cases was due to broken necks.

A third passenger in the car, Elgot Biornhof, was not injured.

THE STEWART RAILWAY

The Stewart Railway has been sold to the Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Refining Company, a concern that was bound to have it to serve the George Copper mine, which they have just definitely purchased and which, it is understood, will be operated by them in connection with the proposed new smelter to be established on the coast. Doubtless, too, they may be interested in the coal of the interior which is at present under a government reserve. It is also pretty sure that when the Canadian Pacific Railway gets its Peace River and other northern connections established they will join up with the Canadian Northwestern if it should be built to the interior.

The deal is a very important one for the town of Stewart and the whole Portland Canal district. It indicates that northern British Columbia is in for a period of rapid development. Prince Rupert people will be glad to know that the whole British Columbia coast is in the way of making progress and will doubtless from this time on pay more attention to the Portland Canal mining districts than they have in the past. It will be up to them now to get behind Stewart and help that place realize its ambitions to become an outlet for the rich country back of it.

FEARFUL SOULS

There will be some Prince Rupert people who will be fearful that the prosperity of Stewart may tend to retard the development of Prince Rupert. Such a viewpoint is wrong. Prince Rupert is firmly established as the seaport of the central part of the province and must now see to it that she holds that position. The development of Stewart will be one of the steps in the realization of her hopes. At the same time this city cannot afford to sit back and allow other parts of the north to forge ahead without making an effort to do the same. She must insist on connection by road with the interior and that at an early date as one of the big factors in her future development.

The tide of Empire for many years was westward. Now it is northward. The real wealth of the country will be found there and Prince Rupert must exert every effort to share in that wealth. She must be willing to give as well as take and thus make herself a real factor in the progress of the country.

With the opening of parliament and reading of the King's speech yesterday, the Labor government of Great Britain comes into the limelight and for the next few months will often be heard from. We shall have very interesting development from time to time, developments that will affect the whole British Empire and indeed the whole world. They will indicate a total change in the policy of Great Britain both in foreign relations and home affairs and it will be intensely interesting to note how these changes work out.

FASHION FANCIES

THE ULTIMATE CHIC FOR RAINY DAYS

Here is an unusually attractive adaptation of the ever popular trench coat for rainy days. It has a military air that will endear it to the woman fond of tailored clothes.

Rubberized silk of heavy weight is the medium used to develop this practical garment. And whether you choose it in a dark or a very vivid shade you are bound to be impressed by the smart neckline, the shoulder shields cuffs and very wide belt worn at the natural waistline.

A COAT OF RUG FABRIC FOR SPORTS WEAR

Reports indicate that spring sports coats will be simple in design, employing novelty weaves and fabrics for media. This is welcome news, indeed, for simplicity is the keynote to chic.

Fashioned of a Donegal rug fabric of blues and tans in mixture effect, the coat sketched here carries a deep border of the blue, with cuffs and belt to match.

SEASON'S MOST POPULAR TENNIS DRESS

The model illustrated here will probably be the most highly favored tennis frock this season, for it is cut for freedom and ease.

Of an off-white shantung it has the usual sun-back, no sleeves and carefully applied pleats, set on lower in back than in front. It is smartly accompanied by a ruby red velvetten jacket, for wear after the match.

The Season's Simplest and Smartest Ensemble

When in doubt choose the simple! That is the true law of chic—and it has no exceptions. Frills and furbelows may come and go—they may even achieve a season's vogue—but if you would be smartly dressed you will eschew them generally.

Here is an ensemble that illustrates the point aptly. The coat is a plain model of black, flat crepe with a short cape collar. The dress is sleeveless, of a varicolored print, and with three important bows down the front.

THE SPORTS SUIT TAKES VIVID COLORS

Orange, red and yellow—or a combination of the three, are to be summer's favorite colors, according to authentic reports from Paris which emphasize clear, vivid hues.

Here is a smart sports suit in orange wool crepe. The collarless jacket features bands stitched down in back. The skirt is yoked and circular. White shantung fashions the blouse.

A Youthful Evening Gown That Is Sophisticated

Here is a black taffeta picture dress in the Lanvin manner that manages to be as youthful as it is sophisticated! It is designed with an eye to chic, but does not sacrifice line in achieving chic.

Of special interest is the long fitted bodice with overall straps in back. A handkerchief flared skirt is very full and very long, and there is a sunburst design done in pearls that is laid on the fitted back of the bodice.

COOL LINEN FROCKS FOR HOT AFTERNOONS

The washable summer dress, relegated last year to porch wear, is back with us again—this time for sports. And a sane idea it is too, for there is nothing so fresh looking as a crisp linen frock that has just come from the laundry.

In French blue linen, the model sketched here is banded in red-checked gingham. It has a tiny Peter Pan collar, little short sleeves cut in one with a yoke, and a higher waistline.

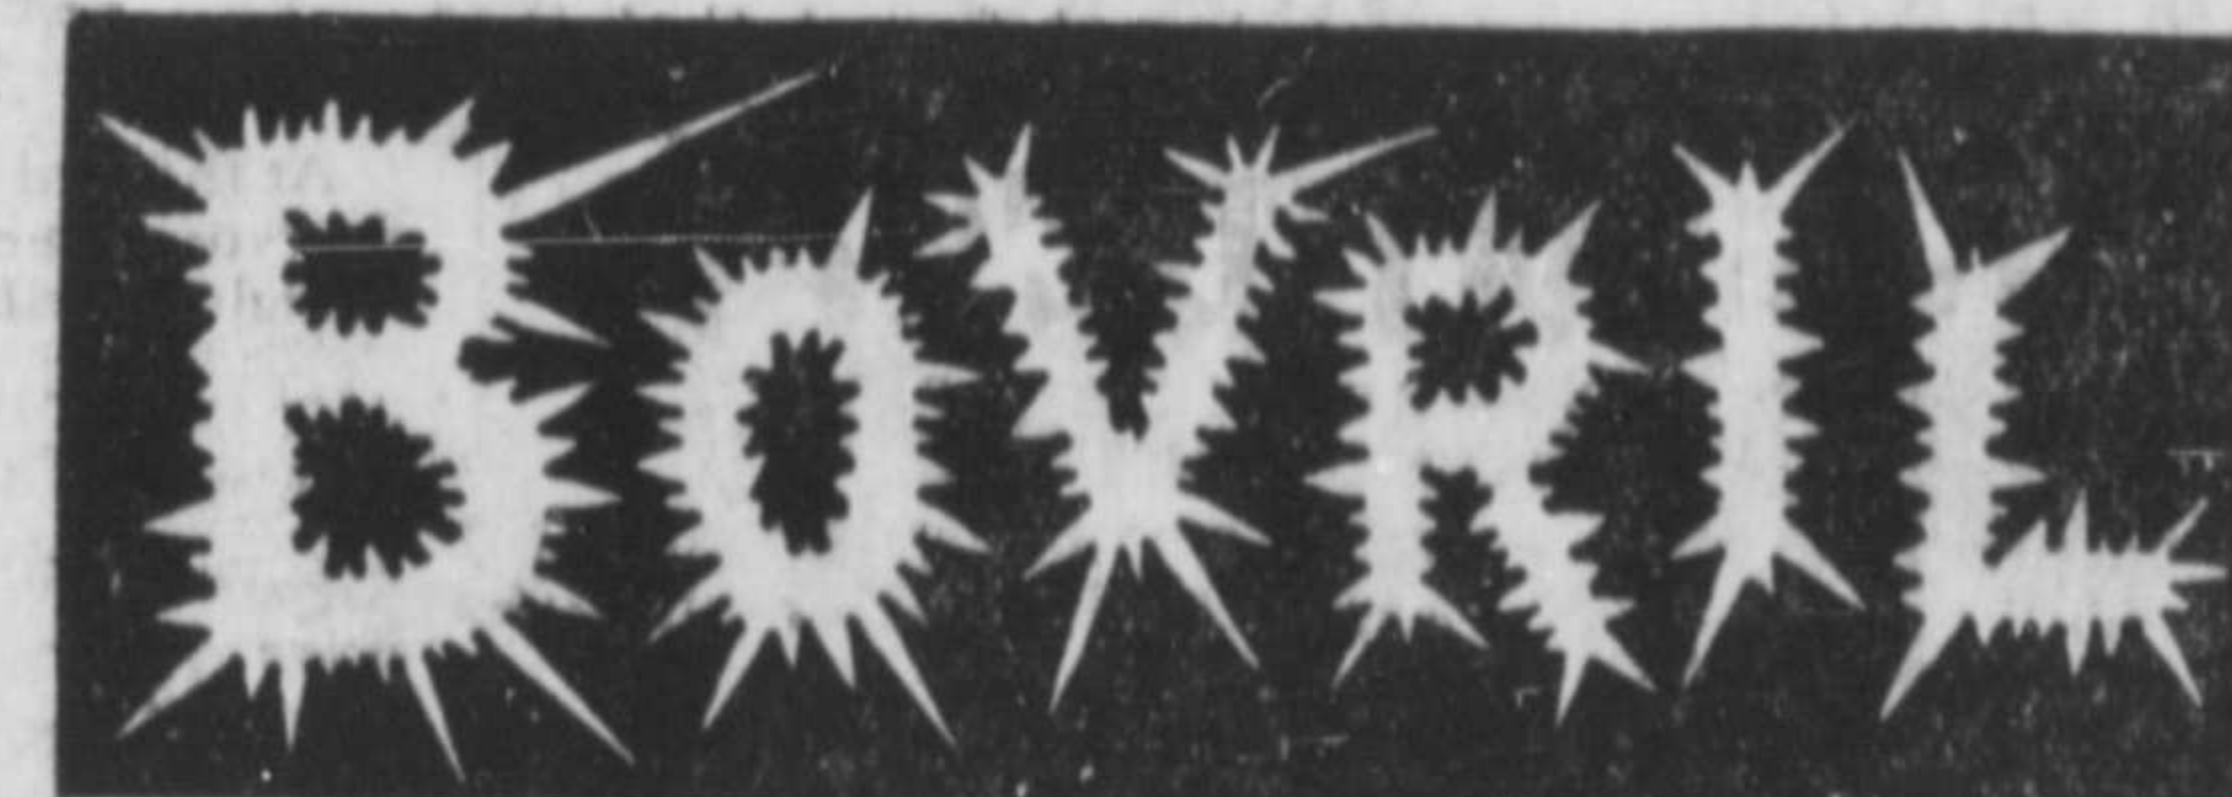

A BRIDESMAID'S GOWN YOU CAN MAKE YOURSELF

Here is a lovely gown suitable for a bridesmaid that skillful fingers can put together with no difficulty. It is extremely colorful and picturesque without being "drippy."

Fashioned of organdie in seven graduating shades of orange, from capucine orange to pale peach-flesh, it carries the very new bertha collar. There is a quaint little tailored belt and bow in the back.

When you feel chilled, or feel a cold coming on, GO TO BED and drink HOT

It will increase your vitality and resisting power and help you to avoid a possibly serious illness.

Sport Chat

There were many visitors to Smithers for the Dominion Day celebration Monday, hotel accommodations at the interior town being taxed to overflowing. The morning was devoted to children's sports while the program in the afternoon included field sports for adults and local baseball games followed by horse racing. At night a big dance was held, bringing an altogether successful day's proceedings to a fitting conclusion.

Burns Lake defeated Rose Lake 17 to 11 in a recent baseball game. It was a free hitting match but was interesting enough as first one team and then the other was ahead. With the score 4 to 1 against them, Rose Lake scored seven runs in the seventh inning but Burns Lake evened it up in the third and fourth by collecting seven runs. It was an eight inning game.

Rose Lake, however, took another win at football from Burns Lake to even things up. The score was 2 to 1 and the loss score for Burns Lake was made on a pass from Nohr Hauer which was neatly placed between the goal posts by Danny Trousdale.

Prince George staged a two day celebration in connection with Dominion Day, the proceedings having opened at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. The principal attraction on the program is the horse racing with the Prince George Derby the featured event, horses from all over Western Canada being entered, Williams Lake and Giscome baseball teams were imported to participate in the celebration.

Football is being revived at Smithers after several years of inactivity. The first practice was held last week and there was a good turn-out of players. A game is planned with Telkwa at an early date while at the Smithers Fall Fair in August a Smithers team will clash with natives from Kispiox. Meantime, the Smithers team will be practicing faithfully for that event.

SPAIN HAILS FOREIGN BULLFIGHTER

They said it couldn't be done, but Sydney Franklin, citizen of our neighboring nation, showed Spain that a "foreigner" could play at their national game of bullfighting even better than their native matadors. Under the watchful and critical eye of a representative Spanish fight crowd Franklin dispatched two bulls in the Arena at Seville, with such fine work that he was awarded the signal honor of being carried through the gates on the shoulders of his thrilled audience.

"ALIAS JIMMY VALENTINE" STARRING WILLIAM HAINES IS AT CAPITOL TONIGHT

William Haines' latest picture, "Alias Jimmy Valentine," made from the famous stage play will play a two-day engagement at the Capitol Theatre, beginning tonight.

The picture is of interest because it gives the star his first real chance at a straight dramatic role. Hitherto, his name has been associated with roles of the smart-aleck type, and the comedy angle has predominated.

Noted players in the supporting cast include Leila Hyams, Karl Dane, Lionel Barrymore and Tully Marshall. Jack Conway directed from an adaptation by A. P. Younger. Joe Farnham wrote the titles.

Haines plays a young safe cracker who outwits the police at every turn. Then he meets a girl, determined to go straight, and is tracked by his old enemy, Detective Doyle, in a succession of scenes full of excitement and surprise.
