George Murray May Break To Form Northern Party

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Daily Province said today that George M. Murray, Liberal Member of Parliament for Cariboo, has threatened to resign his Parliamentary seat and lead a new political party in British Columbia. Murray is quoted as saying that he will consider resigning his seat if Johnson "doesn't push the railway through to the River."

Royal Couple In BC

ARM—The Princess Elizabeth and Duke of Edinburgh arrived in British Columbia. It was snowing as they made their train stop in the province where their train arrived last night, remaining in the province for a few minutes. The royal party, they had chatted with an assembly of children. One hundred children sang "God Save the King."

Prepare for Royal Visit

VANCOUVER.—British Columbia Electric Railway Co. will increase its transit services in Vancouver by 70 per cent for the royal visit Saturday morning, extra carriers being put on all runs to carry people to various points of vantage. Thousands of visitors are expected from outlying points and many are coming over from Seattle or elsewhere in the Pacific Northwest. Hotel reservations for tonight are at a premium. Liquor stores will be closed during the morning so employees may have a chance to see the Princess and the Duke. Beer parlors will remain open. Cloudy and showery weather, with possible bursts of sunshine, is predicted.

Allies Hit Kumsong

TOKYO (CP)—Allied big guns pounded Kumsong today as tank-supported United Nations infantrymen fought to within two miles of the former Communist bastion on the central front of Korea. The Reds stubbornly resisted attacking United Nations troops in almost every fighting sector. The Allies failed to take two hills on the western front in a day-long battle. Planes, tanks and infantrymen battled fresh Chinese replacements deeply entrenched in the last major ridge line south of Kumsong.

Hearing on Light Rates

Public Utilities Commission Sits Here Next Monday
A Public Utilities Commission hearing on the proposed rate increases by Northern B. C. Power Co. Ltd. begins here next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Court House. City council has refused to approve the rate hike, first proposed by the power company in March, which calls for a computation of rates on a power-demand basis. The proposed new rates will increase the city household's electric bill, on a basis of 50 kilowatt hours a month, by 30 per cent.

At present, rates are based on seven cents for the first 20 KW hours; five cents for the next 20, and two cents for all excess KW hours, bringing a 50 KW hour bill to $2.60. Proposed rates call for eight cents for first 30 KW hours, per kilowatt demand, which for the average household, not using electric stoves or water heaters, is two kilowatts. The next 20 KW hours will cost per demand; all excess power at one cent, bringing a 50 KW hour bill to $3.40. The power company claims, however, that the average residential usage of electricity is 189 KW hours per month and in such cases increase over present bills would be slight. On the average, householders not using electric stoves and water heaters would compute consumption on the basis of a two-kilowatt demand; those using the heavier appliances would likely have a demand rating of three kilowatts.

Mutual Rebuffs

WASHINGTON, D. C. (CP)—President Truman said today that he is sticking to his statement that a Russian agreement is not worth the paper it is written on. That was the President's only comment on Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky's statement in Moscow which took a crack at Truman's recent statement on relations with Russia. Moscow had rebuffed secret United States proposals that she act to bring about an armistice in Korea.

Warship Trains Its Guns on Canal Port

CAIRO (CP)—Backed by growing sea, land and air forces, Great Britain today tightened her hold on the strife-ridden Suez Canal area and moved against Egyptian officials in the vast Sudan area of south Egypt. With British naval guns trained on Suez, authoritative sources here said that the British governor-general, Sir Robert G. Howe, told two top Egyptian officials not to return to their posts there for the time being "on grounds of public order."

Both British and Egyptian troops are digging in along the canal area today. A British cruiser, apparently the Gambia, anchored last night off Port Said at the northern end of the canal. Other sea forces are expected to arrive shortly from the Persian Gulf and a contingent of 1000 parachute troops is on the alert at Trieste for a move to Suez.

Egyptian and British army troops clashed yesterday in the area of the El Ferdan bridge, only crossing over the Suez Canal, and some Egyptian soldiers were killed. No British troops were injured. The British maintained control of the bridge. In London the War Office reported today that a convoy of British Army three-ton trucks was fired on this morning between Ismailia and Del-el-Kebir in the Suez Canal zone with automatic weapons. No further details were available.

WEATHER

Synopsis

A storm which developed rapidly off the British Columbia coast last evening is now moving inland over the south coast and will be evening by moving into Alberta. Strong southerly winds and heavy rain preceded this storm but conditions on the coast are now moderating as the storm moves inland. Over the interior rain is falling in southern sections while in the more northern and eastern sections where the polar air is still entrenched snow is continuing.

A sharp increase in the precipitation is looked for after the passage of the storm. For tomorrow cloudy conditions are expected to continue in the interior and over the north coast. A few snow flurries will persist in the polar air. Over the south coast however, after several days of cloud and rain, sunshine can once more be looked for. Temperatures will remain mild over the southern half of the province but will be cold in other sections.

Forecast

North coast region—Gale warning over. Cloudy with showers today. Cloudy tomorrow with a few showers in northern sections. Little change in temperature. Winds easterly (30) decreasing to (20) northern sections by evening and shifting over southern sections to southwest (20) during the afternoon. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow—at Port Hardy, 47 and 56; Sandspit, 42 and 52; Prince Rupert, 38 and 48.

Kitimat Railway To be Built Soon

It will not be long now, according to what is heard in Vancouver, when building of the CNR branch line from Remo to Kitimat will get under way. Remo is a few miles from Terrace. Borings have been taken by an engineering party, this job being done to secure approaches for the railway bridge which will cross the Skeena River to enter Lakelse Valley and thence through to Kitimat.

Snow and Rain Delays Harvest

WINNIPEG.—After several days of fine weather during which farmers in the three prairie provinces made good progress with their harvesting operations, snow and rain over the week-end and early this week again halted activities, according to the final crop report of the department of agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

In southern Manitoba harvesting is about 80 per cent completed, with a number of points practically cleaned up. Northern Manitoba reports more than half the crop threshed or combined, while in southern and southeastern Saskatchewan more than 50 per cent of the harvesting still remains to be completed.

Throughout central Saskatchewan, about one-third of the crop remains to be harvested, while in the northeastern territory harvesting varies from 50 per cent to 57 per cent completed. All operations were brought to a standstill in northern Saskatchewan where 60 per cent of the harvesting is completed. Reports from Alberta indicate that in the central area cutting is 20 per cent to 100 per cent completed and threshing, 15 per cent to 100 per cent, while in the north-central area wheat is 40 per cent to 70 per cent threshed, barley about 40 per cent to 80 per cent, and oats 10 per cent to 30 per cent.

In the Peace River territory generally, about 80 per cent of the crops have been cut or swathed while wheat and oats are 40 per cent threshed or combined and barley is pretty well completed.

Burned Bodies Brought Down

Nanaimo Crash Second Worst in Canadian History

NANAIMO (CP)—Twenty charred bodies have been brought down Mount Benson from the wreck of the Queen Charlotte Air Lines amphibian flying boat which crashed Wednesday night. Three of the remains were very badly burned.

Evidently the bodies of three others on board were burned to ashes. They were not found. The crash occurred 1800 feet up the 5,000-foot mountain. The twin-engine plane was on a flight from Kamano to Vancouver. Twice it circled over Nanaimo before the crash. The machine exploded like a meteor against the rocky face of the mountain. Those first on the scene found only six bodies. For a time one was believed to be that of a woman but later it was established that all on board were men—twenty passengers and crew of three.

The fiery wreckage was scattered over 500 feet. Police poked through embers of the wreckage for remains but said definite identification of all victims appeared almost impossible. The scheduled flight had taken off from Kamano, 80 miles south of Prince Rupert, where the Aluminum Co. of Canada is working on a $550,000,000 project. The aircraft, apparently, developed engine trouble as it neared Vancouver. NEARLY HIT WIRES Just before the crash fires lit the sky just north of Nanaimo. Then a plane circled over a power station just south of the city, narrowly missing a 130,000-

Indian Princess From This District to Honor Elizabeth

An Indian princess left Prince Rupert today to meet Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth in Vancouver Saturday and to present her with a personal gift on behalf of all British Columbia Indians.

She is Mrs. Irene Harris, princess of the Finback crest, of Skeena Crossing, where, according to legend, originated the ancestry of all Indians in America. The meeting between the two princesses has been arranged by J. D. McRae, MLA for Prince Rupert, and Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests, in conjunction with the Native Voice, Indian publication. Mrs. Harris, who left by plane this afternoon, will meet Native Voice representation Mrs. Macey Moore in Vancouver. The gift is a gold bracelet with the tribal crest, the fin back, engraved on it and is valued highly as an heirloom. Tribal name of Mrs. Harris, who is a descendant of a long line of Indian chiefs, is "Ant-quillibicks," translated to mean "roaring canyon." Her mother was Chief Nogwah, and two uncles, Arthur and Alfred McDames, are Chiefs Gah-pa-gwah and We-ya-gadents, respectively. A son, Kenneth, in the RCAF stationed at Clinton, Ontario, has received the name of his grandmother, Chief Na-gwah. Mrs. Harris, a widow, feels greatly honored, she says, but hoped it had been possible for Her Royal Highness to have come to Prince Rupert. "All of us people would have really loved to see her," said the Indian princess.

UN Vote Deferred

NEW YORK (CP)—The United Nations security council decided today to drop its debate on the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute until the International Court of Justice can rule on the council's competence to deal with the question. The action was proposed by France earlier in the day and came after Yugoslavia announced it would not support the British proposal for a resumption of talks between Britain and Iran.

Six Years For Saxey

Straight Election

THE British general election lacks refinements like second ballots, party lists, alternative votes or any form of proportional representation. There can be only one successful candidate for each constituency, elected on a simple majority of votes.

This produces curious results. In general, it exaggerates the success of the most successful party. Conceivably it could lead to absurdity. Suppose that the candidates of one party won by very small majorities in every constituency. Then Parliament would consist entirely of members of that party. In the general election of 1935 the Conservatives polled only 53 per cent of the votes, but they got 70 per cent of the seats. Labor won 38 per cent of the votes but got only 25 per cent of the seats.

In 1945 when Labor was winning, the position was reversed. Conservatives, with 40 per cent of the votes, had only 33 per cent of the seats. Labor with only 48 per cent of the votes got 61 per cent of the seats in Parliament. Such a state of affairs, indeed, is normal in Britain. The Parliament dissolved on October 5, 1951, has been very exceptional. In the election of 1950 the votes divided at exactly the point where the system—which tends to magnify, in the House, any superiority of votes in the country—gave no special advantage to either of the largest parties.

Too Many Brides

WE CONGRATULATE the editors of The Vancouver Province on doing what editors all over Canada would like to do if they had the courage, says Saturday Night. From now on there will be no engagement pictures and no wedding pictures in The Province. Undoubtedly, an exception will be made for the marriage, when it comes, of Princess Margaret, and for other weddings which, in the language of the newsroom, are newsworthy, rather than women's page.

Wedding pictures would be the joy of women's editors if only they could take them or leave them alone. But no paper can run all the brides' pictures that come in, and proud parents do not take kindly to a daughter being left out. Consequently, pictures of brides swamp women's pages for at least three months of the year.

One Ontario paper had 500 brides' photographs still to appear when June ended this year, and a women's editor remarked sadly that she had got so far behind on her weddings that in two cases the birth notices got in first.

Saturday Night solved this problem 15 years ago by dropping weddings and social news from its pages. The Vancouver Province has taken the sensible solution and it will be interesting to see how soon other dailies follow the example.

As I See It

by Elmore
Philpott

South Still Tory

LONDON.—Back in the big city, after a two-day look-see trip out towards Plymouth, I see definite signs that at least that part of Old England is swinging Tory-ward.

Labor might retort: "We can't lose what we never had."

It is true that only a tiny handful of non-Tories have recently made the grade in that region of this ancient island. But from what I saw and heard, it was pretty clear that Labor candidates are simply not putting up the fight that they did before.

LEST ANYONE jump to false conclusions, let me state as clearly as possible that this may be due to the "grand strategy" that both big parties are pursuing. Both are letting the other's "safe" seats go pretty well by default.

It is only in the marginal seats that either party is putting up a real battle.

There is one seat down near Plymouth where a battle royal is expected. It is now held by a cat's whisker margin by the brilliant writer, Michael Foot. But the Tory candidate is Randolph Churchill, whose famous father, Winston, is going down on the second-to-last day of the campaign to address what is advertised as a monster public meeting.

THE LATEST polls show a trend back toward the Tories—which confirms what I wrote in this column several days ago. But I do not find a single authority, in either party, who privately expresses any kind of confidence as to the outcome.

The British are in an unpredictable mood.

In Canada, old-time political experts taught me that the great mass of the people make up their minds how they are going to vote about 10 days before the actual poll. But here, authorities all warn me, that is not so. There is, of course, a fixed vote that votes Conservative, Labor, or even Liberal, come hell or high water.

But the floating vote—which by its very nature contains the most unstable elements in society, as well as a tiny minority who do vote by the issues—that floating vote did not decide until the very "eve of the poll."

I am astonished to find how many here do pin their hopes on big meetings, held within the last 48 hours before the actual vote.

THEY HAVE one very sensible variation here from our own system of voting. In Canada we have "advance polls" where commercial travellers and others

FIRST WHEAT COMING

Hundred Carloads on Way to Rupert Now

First wheat to be moved into the house in a decade will commence rolling this week to the Dominion government's 1,250,000-bushel grain elevator at Prince Rupert which is now being readied to receive the grain.

By the end of this week one hundred carloads of Northern Alberta wheat will be on the line, Canadian National Railways announced today. It should start arriving about Sunday.

Deliveries are expected to be at the rate of about 100 carloads a week. About 600 carloads, it is estimated, will fill the elevator.

Expectation is that the wheat may be moved out of the elevator fairly soon by ocean-going vessels for export.

Ketchikan Surveyed

JUNEAU.—Problems and opportunities facing Ketchikan, where construction of Alaska's first pulp mill is expected to begin early next year, are outlined in a special-purpose survey just completed by the Alaska Development Board.

The report points out the impact the entrance of this basic industry will have on population, community facilities and services in the Greater Ketchikan area.

Preliminary copies of the study, written by Ralph Browne, assistant manager of the Development Board, were reviewed by William Barton, city manager; John Weir, public utilities manager; J. E. Danielson, superintendent of schools, and others in Ketchikan. Representatives of the U.S. Forest Service and Alaska Public Works agency also reviewed the report prior to its final publication.

who must be out of town on election day, may vote in advance.

But here they have a much wider qualification. All sorts of bed-ridden people, and others who find it difficult to get out in person, have the right to vote in advance, by mail.

I NEVER cease to be astonished at how many Liberals there are in this country. Time and time again, after I lead the conversation around to the election, people tell me:

"Well, I am really a Liberal myself. But, of course, I can't vote Liberal for no Liberal would have a dog's chance here."

BOTH SIDES claim that they will benefit from the fact that there will be fewer than one-quarter as many Liberals running this time as there were last.

Most "experts" say this should help the Tories. But many hard-headed Labor people deny this. They say it depends entirely on the economic nature of the constituency.

Reflects and Reminisces

Weather was neither cool or unsettled, as it is today, when Royalty honored Prince Rupert with its first and only visit. This was early in September, 1912. The afternoon was calm and pleasant as the Princess Alice glided toward government dock, remaining like that throughout.

MEET TRH

His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada and son of Queen Victoria, wore civilian dress and had a capable valet. Accompanying him were the Duchess, of German origin—and daughter, the Princess Patricia. The Duke inspected the guard of honor, from Earl Grey's Rifles, a Prince Rupert unit under Captain Fred Sterk. Local active service veterans were also on parade, and to these the viceroy extended a handshake and an inquiry concerning services.

COMPLETES INSPECTION

This, of course, was long before the outbreak of great wars. As the guard inspection was in progress, Connaught paused before a young militiaman to inquire about a decoration he was wearing.

"Might I ask, my lad, in what campaign you won this?"

"It was for singing in the choir at New Westminster, sir."

Reception program now took the form of gifts, some of unique interest and reminiscent of a pioneer land and a city in the making. The ceremony, simple and brief, took place on the wharf, with the formal welcome on behalf of the municipality extended by Mayor Seville M. Newton and board of aldermen. The dual guests were familiar with century-old centres but never before had they seen a town aspiring to metropolitan distinction, looking quite so new, so hopeful and so brimming over with optimism. This was different.

MISSED NOTHING

Obviously, the royal interest aroused by the two-year-old railway terminus—its ruggedness, newness and breezy style—was real. This was clear, as they drove along partly graded streets and gained ideas as to the meaning of western nomenclature when people mention "from the grass roots up."

Doubling Annuities

OTTAWA.—The government disclosed today that it wants to double maximum annuity a Canadian may purchase through the government.

Minister of Labor M. F. Gregg placed on the order paper notice of a bill to increase the maximum annuity to $2400 from $1200.

This would be the first time the ceiling has been lifted in twenty years.

theatre, opening of the reservoir on the Acropolis—these were but a few of the functions as well as lesser events. The theatre stood on Second Avenue, not far from Sixth Street (about where Jones news stand is now located) and it was packed that evening with most of Prince Rupert in best bib and tucker. If there was a master of ceremonies, he must have been Lionel Crippen, a good old scout who never spared himself. Prince Rupert had not got around to cushioned seats in places of amusement. In 1912. And a glossy polish did not make them any softer.

Catholic Party Attracts Many

Sixteen tables were in play at the Catholic card party last night. Prize winners were: Bridge—Mrs. H. Dickens and Les Hill. Cribbage—Mrs. Alma Murray and Theo Fortune. Whist—Miss Jean Cloutier and Miss Laure Letourneau. Mrs. E. Telseth was cashier. Members of the refreshment committee were Mrs. N. R. Young, Mrs. H. Roos, Mrs. J. Rogerson and Mrs. M. J. Saunders.

Personals

Bob Gleason, Vancouver Rotarian, was a guest at the Rotary luncheon here yesterday.

An interesting letter of a "Newcomer's" impressions of Prince Rupert has been received by the Daily News but it is unsigned. If the writer will make herself known, the letter will be published.

H. H. H. Heiberg, Norwegian professor of silviculture, and Tollef Ruden, head of tree breeding at the Forest Experimental Station, Vollebekk, Norway, are visitors here in the course of a one-month tour of British Columbia. They are in conference with Marc Gormley, district forester, and other forestry officials here.

What's doing at— CIVIC CENTRE

The regular showing of National Film Board films for Civic Centre members will take place in the Teen room on Friday night this week. There will be three films shown this week with titles as follows: "Eye Witness," which depicts news items of varied interest; "Silks and Sukes," which enlarges on the art of trotting races and the breeding of horses; and "Five Towns."

The Juniors will have their showing prior to the adults. The introduction of a new craft was anticipated at the centre on Thursday night when the adult advanced craft students met. Mrs. B. Boulton decided to take up Lamp Craft which is one of the newer crafts being demonstrated in the south. The materials are all available through the order catalogue and the advancement and progress in this line will be eagerly awaited. This opens a line for those who are looking for a new hobby and information and advice is available in the craft classes.

Guides and Brownies to Hold Rally Next Week

Next Wednesday afternoon there is to be a great event for Guides and Brownies when they hold a joint rally at the Conrad Street School. Some 25 Brownie recruits will be admitted to full membership and will be given their pins and then all will witness the "Flying-up" ceremony of a number of Brownies to the Guides. A goodly number of Brownies have qualified both by age and proficiency and will leave their Brownie packs for the wider and more advanced interest of the Guide Companies.

The members of the Girl Guide Association of Prince Rupert were very encouraged and happy to hear of the proposed formation of a Brownie pack and a Guide company at Miller Bay Hospital. These will be led by Mrs. Davis, hospital matron, and the teachers at the hospital. The small patients should find much enjoyment and education from these activities, which can be carried on even by bed patients. A special uniform in the form of a cape has been designed for convalescent Brownies and Guides, and the girls are looking forward to joining up. A special meeting is being arranged between the leaders and the Guide Association to work out the details.

The Brownies and Guides are off to a splendid start for the new season's activities. The Cathedral Company of Guides are combining for the time being with the Conrad Company and are meeting on Wednesday afternoons at Conrad Street School. They are enjoying the comradeship and expect to learn and give much to each other. They are under the leadership of Mrs. Duncan Black.

The Brownie packs are going very strong and they number 90 all told. The Cathedral Brownies, a very large pack, meets on Wednesday afternoons at the Cathedral; the Catholic Brownies at the Catholic school. The Conrad Brownies have arranged their meetings on Thursday evenings and meet at the Conrad School.

Evening Wedding At United Church

Prince George Girl Bride of Well Known Local Man

A double ring ceremony in First United Church last evening united Esther Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Jarvis of Prince George, and Charles Robert, son of Louis Postuk of Prince Rupert. Rev. Lawrence G. Sieber officiated at the lovely ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Reginald Wilson, chose traditional white satin with full length train and long lily-point sleeves. The off-the-shoulder neck-line was enriched with scalloped lace. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Dorothy Stubbert, matron of honor, chose a gown of green satin. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Postuk, gowned in yellow nylon, net over yellow taffeta, and Miss Madeleine Yungman, wearing mauve nylon net over purple taffeta.

Little Roni Jean Wilson, the flower girl, was frocked in yellow organza and wore a little Dutch Boy hat.

Alfred Dyer was best man and ushers were Mr. Neil MacDonald and Mr. Alex Bill.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Charles Roberts sang a lovely solo "Because," accompanied by the organist Mr. Henry Pluym.

Following a reception at the Canadian Legion, with many friends gathered, the newlyweds left on the Prince George for Vancouver from where they will motor south, later returning to Prince Rupert by car.

Mr. Postuk is identified with the MacDonald & Postuk Logging Co. at Shames.

Mrs. Sanford to Meet WMS

Mrs. O. M. Sanford and Miss Ida Lawrence flew at the weekend from Vancouver to Prince George, where their sister, Mrs. C. L. Gibson, met them.

Miss Lawrence is spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. Gibson, at her home in Burns Lake. Mrs. Sanford is staying with Mrs. R. B. Carter at Prince George, before starting on a lecture tour for the WMS of the United Church. She will speak on the meeting of the Dominion Board of the Women's Missionary Society, which is held every second year in Toronto. She is in Burns Lake today and will be in Prince Rupert on October 24.

Mrs. J. Connery, well-known resident here for 22 years, will be leaving for Vancouver in the near future to make her permanent home in the Point Grey district. While here she was an active member in the Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary.

Progress Phenomenal

CORNWALL.—Canadians have become so accustomed to industrial, social and political progress that they have come to regard it as commonplace instead of as the phenomenon it really is. Donald Gordon, chairman and president of Canadian National Railways, said here Thursday at a luncheon meeting of Cornwall business men.

"Perhaps it is because we are so engrossed with the present and absorbed in the future that we do not appreciate the speed at which we have been travelling," Mr. Gordon said. "The more he is privileged to move around this country, the more one realizes how close are many of our yesterdays and tomorrows," he continued.

On its Hudson Bay division, Mr. Gordon explained the Canadian National is presently cutting a right-of-way from Sheridon to Lynn Lake, Manitoba, over which will operate a new 147-mile rail line by the end of 1953 to make possible the development of a major nickel-copper mine in an area where, until now, only a wilderness of swamp, rock and tangled bush has existed.

On the other hand, Mr. Gordon pointed out that it is almost within the memory of living men that Cornwall was the end of steel on the westward projection of what is now the CNR. "Canada's geographic horizons are wide but wider still are the horizons of her economic future," he said.

Reports of surveys in our many resources hold immense promise for the future but men, transportation and markets are necessary for the fulfilment of this promise.

Mr. Gordon saw cause for optimism in the case of manpower, noting that the 150,000 newcomers who will have arrived in Canada this year will be double the immigration figure of 1950. In the case of transportation, also, he saw the picture as bright, pointing out that Canada has a railway machine which is adequate for its present needs and those of the immediate future and which, as in the case of the Lynn Lake line, is capable of expansion when necessary.

In the field of markets, Mr. Gordon said that, while the many trading difficulties that now exist when dealing with overseas countries give cause for uneasiness, our domestic market is expanding rapidly.

"We can be justifiably hopeful of the future, believing that what has been done is small compared with what we will yet do, for this nation is on the march," Mr. Gordon declared. For this he said the Canadian people owe a debt to the men who built the northern lines which are now part of the Canadian National system. He said that their foresight in putting main line transcontinental trackage within reach of what are potentially the richest ore-bearing areas of Northern Ontario and Manitoba made it possible for the Canadian National Railways to continue its important function as the development railway in Canada. The faith and vision of the men who built these lines has already been amply justified and it seems obvious that existing discoveries are still waiting to be made, he concluded.

Gets Award in Sportsmanship

OTTAWA—Dr. Robert Malcolm (Bob) McFarlane, London, Ontario, track and field star, has been awarded the national amateur athletic achievement medal by the National Council of Physical Fitness. It was announced today.

The award is in recognition of a career of good sportsmanship. It was instituted in 1947 but has been awarded only once before—to Barbara Ann Scott.

Government War On Mental Ills

Alarming increase in mental diseases of Canadians has caused the federal government to embark on a health program which constitutes a major spending of the $35,000,000 annual health grant instituted in 1948.

Deputy Minister of Health Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, here on an inspection tour of Miller Bay Hospital, told a Rotary Club luncheon Thursday that five to seven million dollars of the grant is spent annually on research, treatment and training personnel in combatting mental disease.

"We are trying to bring psychiatry right into the community and into the general hospitals."

"A percentage of mental cases is incurable, but many people of your province would never get to Essondale if they were treated in their early stage of affliction."

Dr. Cameron, a medical research scientist since 1927, said that once psychiatrists could deal with mentally ill people in general hospitals, the majority of them would probably be cured.

NOT TO BE SHUNNED

The attitude in the past has been to shun the afflicted and to put them away. Not only is it usually too late to do much for the victims once they are in an institution, but "they are branded with a stigma. If they are cured, there is always a finger pointing at them."

Effort of the health department is to help every Canadian province to combat this to the point where mental patients would be treated in general hospitals, like any others.

Of the $35 million yearly grant, at present British Columbia's share is $2,897,000. Grants are divided among the 10 provinces, first on a basic distribution, then according to population.

Largest portion of the grant is devoted to hospital construction, which totals $13,500,000 annually. On the present operating basis, $1000 is provided for each new bed, if this sum is matched by the provinces.

The tuberculosis control grant of $4,700,000 a year to the provinces is "helping a lot" in expanding T.B. control programs.

Half a million dollars has been set aside for VD control. With the emergence of penicillin, however, "the VD picture has completely changed," said Dr. Cameron.

"Practically all forms of VD can now be conquered by penicillin. This is a conquest of modern science if ever there was one."

To aid crippled children in Canada, the grant has set aside half a million dollars, "but this is only a drop in the bucket," said the doctor.

The great difficulty—the "bottleneck"—in developing greater health services was the lack of trained personnel and special attention is given this problem.

Not only are doctors, nurses and research scientists trained in every health department but $50,000 has been set aside for professional training of individuals, "yet this is not enough."

For public health research, $400,000 is taken from the grant.

"Coupled with the work of the National Research Council and other research divisions, we in Canada need not hang our heads," declared Dr. Cameron.

"Per capita, the U.S. has no larger research program than we have, and certainly no better."

Dr. Cameron joined the department of pensions and national health in 1939 as director of the laboratory of hygiene. In the fall of 1944, the department was reorganized to form the national health and welfare department, and in 1945 Dr. Cameron was appointed as deputy minister of the health division.

Born in Peterborough, Ontario, Dr. Cameron is a graduate of Queen's University and for 12 years directed laboratory

ACHIEVEMENT

FOR B. C. ARTISTS
OF STAGE • SCREEN AND RADIO-TV

SONS AND DAUGHTERS of British Columbia are rapidly piling up an impressive record of accomplishment in the entertainment capitals of two continents. Currently at the pinnacle of U.S. radio and television is a young B.C. comedian whose phenomenal success is being matched in England by a celebrated acting team of husband and wife. Still another B.C. man has won international distinction as a playwright, radio producer and movie director while a fourth is making a notable career on the London musical stage. Two established Hollywood stars are girls born in this Province and many of Canada's best known radio actors, singers and musicians call British Columbia their home. In the fiercely competitive world of show-business, success is seldom cheaply earned or easily held. ## AGED FURNACES HEAT ROBBERS

The owner of an average heating system five or more years old is warned by National Warm Air Heating Association that the odds are 7 to 10 his winter heating bill is at least 10 percent more than necessary.

This is because 7 out of 10 older type systems of heating are in need of repairing and cleaning. Air leaks in and around furnace combustion chamber, soot in the chimney or furnace, warped burned bars, corroding smoke pipe all create loss of heat right in the furnace itself. Therefore using more fuel to keep the proper temperature.

Heating experts report that home owners are "robbing Peter to pay Paul" through use of improper firing methods and negligence in furnace maintenance.

The majority of costly repairs could have been avoided if owners had followed a regular program of having heating systems inspected each year, says the heating association. Minor repairs can add longer service to heating systems and insure health and safety of families.

Klondyke Was Never Like Roistering Burns Lake

(By EVANGELINE VANN)
BURNS LAKE.—"I don't know where to begin," said the Doc when, for the second time of asking, I got a seat in the only place to eat, and asked how things were in Burns Lake. "There's no start and no finish," he added.

That's exactly how I felt, when trying to tune in on their wave length. One feels that anything that is written should be in red, or something equally vivid, glorious technicolor, for example, to show the buckets of blood that must have flowed, or the quality of the permanent convention of "Shiners."

American tourists have sat up all night during the summer months watching the passing show, and have been heard to observe: "The old girls have never seen anything like this before. They will remember it all their lives. The Klondyke, Gold Rush and Dawson City could have been nothing like this."

In eighteen months, twelve thousand visitors have been here at the modern Tweedsmuir hotel. Many of them passed through "the snake pit," "Dungeon," or "Bull Pen," at one time or another.

So rough has been the behaviour that an appeal had been sent to Gordon Wismer, attorney-general, for reinforcements to the RCMP. "There are four of us now, but there should be fourteen," said one officer. I understand two of them are too young to go into the beer parlor to make arrests. I suppose prospective clients have to be beckoned out. "Things are quietening down now," he added. "I suppose reports are exaggerated," says I. "Just hang around, and you'll see," I was told.

Two eating places re-opened to ease the almost impossible situation. The hotel cafe is being reorganized and will be under new management.

PROSPEROUS INDIANS
The boom has made some of the Indians prosperous, and I am told that an old Indian rushed into the bank. "I want a hundred dollars," says he. "What is your name, sir?" "I want a hundred dollars," he reiterates, and a blank cheque is passed to him, on which he proceeds to put a cross with the wrong end of the pen, tearing the paper. The new teller is purported to have said, "And what are your initials, sir?" I'm informed that even in white circles, on certain occasions, this writing with the wrong end of the pen is a frequent occurrence. The nib must be thought to be some kind of a clip!

It is considered certain characters in the town, would not be recognized if they were sober. In an interview with George Varhey, a Hungarian from Budapest, desk clerk at the hotel, and a lover of local color, I was told, "We noticed two shabby looking characters, gathering branches and bits of wood together at the back. Thinking that they were about to make a fire, to cook their bacon, or something, the manager thought he had better investigate, and on arrival on the scene, unearthing their comrade, whom they had considered dead, and had duly buried."

Now I know the answer to what has puzzled me on previous visits to this metropolis. There couldn't possibly be a proper sidewalk outside the hotel. The gentlemen from the beer parlor have to be considered, and the S.P.C.D., the Society of the Prevention of Cruelty to Drunks, looks after their interests. Ce-

HERE and NOW

By LARRY STANWOOD

When you switched on the light in your home today did you ponder the marvel of the incandescent light globe? Not likely. No do we give much thought when we use any number of electrical appliances taken for granted in this modern day.

The radio is a matter of course, and so are the big wheels of industry. And we go to the movies with no more thought than the entertainment they provide.

But twenty years ago an 84-year-old man responsible for these luxuries gasped his last breath and died.

He was Thomas Alva Edison. Edison did not have a chance at education. He had three months of formal schooling. Born in Milan, Ohio, of Dutch and Scottish parentage, he began to earn his living at the age of 12, as a railroad newsboy. But the telegraph office held more attraction for him than his newspapers and magazines. He studied the code and at 15 became a telegraph operator, the youngest in America.

He moved from city to city as an operator, but he felt the lack of education kept him from many things, he wanted to do. He spent all of his spare time in studies and in experimenting, and most of the money he earned was spent in text books and materials. This was the preparation period for the world-famous inventor.

At the age of 21, young Edison patented his first invention, an electric vote recorder. And then came an instrument which brought him a little money, a little fame but it literally turned New York's Wall Street upside-down. The ticker tape for recording stock prices revolutionized and sped into a frenzy the stock market trade in Eastern United States.

Still basing most of his inventions on the knowledge of the telegraph and electrical impulses, he designed and patented the duplex, quadruplex and automatic telegraph systems. Strangely enough, too, he patented but never marketed the electric pen, from which later developed the mimeograph.

Ten years after his first invention, Edison invented the carbon transmitter which aided Alexander Graham Bell to develop his telephone.

But at 31, the inventor felt there was so much to accomplish it could not be done in spare time alone and embarked on full time inventing. That year he marketed the first gramophone, or "speaking machine." It sold for $18 and consisted mainly of a cylinder covered with tinfoil turned with a hand crank.

Ten years later he developed a motor-driven machine with wax cylinders which proved popular for many years. Following further research, Edison discarded the cylinder in favor of the disc, from which he reproduced music with a diamond point.

October 21, 72 years ago, the first electric light was born. After spending more than $40,000 in fruitless experiments Edison was on the verge of laying aside the idea for a while when he found success in an experiment in which a carbonized cotton thread glowed for more than 40 hours in a vacuum glass envelope.

Most of his time after the incandescent lamp, Edison spent in developing methods of generating and distributing electric light, heat and power, including the three-wire system, underground mains, dynamos and generators and an electric railway for carrying freight and passengers.

In 1891, at the age of 44, Edison developed the beginning of today's movies when he patented the "kinescope camera," which took motion pictures on a band of film for projection on a screen.

During the same period he discovered the "Edison effect"—the

The "wizard of Menlo park," as he was known, made millions from his inventions, but spent much money in protecting his patents from infringements. He was married twice and had six children. He spent more than 50 years in active inventing and took out more than 3,000 patents, most of which have contributed to the luxury modern civilization now enjoys.
