OTTAWA. — Canada's living index rose to a new high record during the month of October. The index for November was announced by the Bureau of Statistics as 191.2, an increase over October 1.

Increase For Ford Workers

Reid Sees Menace of Foot-Suit

Senator Reid referred, he said, to "zoot-suit bands" which were active in various British Columbia cities.

These youths, Reid said, would be the first to join any organized Communist movement in Canada.

Urges Lash on Bidding Reds

Senator Reid said he was glad that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police had taken over in British Columbia because this was the force with whom "zoot-suit" apparently, feared to

Chamber of Commerce Opposes Referendum On Question of Power

Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce is opposed to a referendum which is being presented by the city council at the civic election next week on the question of asking the British Columbia Power Commission to supply electric energy in this area and is recommending to the public that the referendum be defeated with a "no" vote so that the door may not be closed to competitive negotiations for supply of power when the franchise of the Northern B.C. Power Co. expires.

Chinese in Prince Rupert Victims of Red Extortion Game

But They Wonder if Sending Money Home Will Really Help Relatives

Prince Rupert Chinese, along with thousands of others in North America, are paying extortion money to Red China with a last shred of hope that extreme hardships on their relatives in the old country may be alleviated—at least for a time.

They cannot turn a deaf ear to the plea for help from relatives. One city Chinese told the Daily News today:

"We have received the letters and we must try and help them—but it may be in vain. We have given this serious problem much Chinese thought that way, asked thought but it is hard to decide. If we do not send the money, the Communists will surely kill our relatives. But if we send it, will that save them?"

The spokesman, who felt most not to have his name mentioned for fear of reprisal by Communists against his aged mother.

"This is a barbaric situation and it is a heavy burden on us," he said as he told how other relatives of his in a village near Canton have been fined an average of $1500 by the Red Chinese government. According to recent letters received by him, he said the "ransom" money demands were part of a Communist drive to slaughter of a certain class of people—"those that have."

"The demands are so tight that they cannot be fulfilled. The time limit on the money demands is only a few weeks. If the money isn't paid by then, say our relatives, torture and even death will come at the hands of the Reds."

"When the Communists first began making trouble we used to get letters of their doings. We in Prince Rupert, in Vancouver and in other parts of B.C. come generally from the same district, near Canton. In the past we have sent money to that district, most of us to support our families, wives and children, or parents and other close relatives."

"Because of this, our families were in many cases much better off than others who received no outside help. When the Communists came they pointed out to the poorer class how unfair it was that such a difference should be maintained, and the poor people were incensed to take action against those that had something."

"It is a war by the 'have-nots' against the 'haves.'"

"Many of our relatives worked for the Nationalist government. Others had little plots of land"

Allies Hit Reds' Rear

SEOUL (CP) — British and American Marines ripped through Communist defences 150 miles behind the front in the most powerful hit-and-run commando raid of the Korean war, the Allies announced today.

An Anglo-American force stormed ashore on the east coast Sunday night under cover of heavy naval gunfire.

Troops shot up Communist communications and transport midway between the Soviet frontier and the front.

United Nations naval headquarters listed two British commandos as wounded.

No United States casualties were reported.

The surprise assault on the beaches near Tanchon, 170 miles north of the 38th parallel, broke through heavy Red machine-gun fire and carried the raiders astride of Communist coastal transport lines.

Delayed announcement of the commando raid did not say how many troops were in the raiding force.

The attack was carried out by the 41st Royal Marine commandos attached to the United States Marines.

Lad Froze To Death

LILLOOET (CP) — A 19-year-old boy told Monday how he lost a desperate night-long battle to save the life of a 16-year-old companion in snow-covered wilderness back of this Cariboo town.

Darwin Laroche stumbled out of the mountains and described how he and his school chum, Wilbert Whitney, Jr., had lost their way while on a hunting trip Friday.

Wilbert, poorly clad, cold and exhausted, died in the early hours of Saturday after they had spent the night lying side by side in the snow.

Darwin had spent most of the night frantically rubbing the limbs of his companion in an attempt to keep him from freezing to death.

It was foggy throughout the mountains and, when they started home, they found they had gone in the wrong direction. They were coming down the wrong side of the mountain.

Depends on This Coast

WINNIPEG (CP) — R. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, said Monday that Canada expects to move more than 100,000,000 bushels of grain from the Pacific Coast during the present crop year—between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 more than was shipped in the 1950-51 crop year.

In an address to the Canadian Club, Mr. Howe said the government is "counting heavily on the movement of grain to the west coast from the western sections of the prairies."

"This program will require a persistent rail movement of grain from Alberta and western Saskatchewan for the next ten months at least."

The minister said that, for the first time in several years, the port of Prince Rupert is being used to handle export of grain.

Would Keep Germans Out

PARIS (CP) — Over violent Russian objections, the United Nations political committee today voted to ask representatives of east and west Germany to take part in its debates on all-German elections.

Russia's Jakob Malik had told the committee earlier that the question of German elections was none of the United Nations business.

Malik's attitude appears to rule out any chance of east Germany accepting the invitation since the Communist east German regime closely follows the Soviet line.

Chamber of Commerce Opposes Referendum On Question of Power

Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce is opposed to a referendum which is being presented by the city council at the civic election next week on the question of asking the British Columbia Power Commission to supply electric energy in this area and is recommending to the public that the referendum be defeated with a "no" vote so that the door may not be closed to competitive negotiations for supply of power when the franchise of the Northern B.C. Power Co. expires.

The Chamber, at its meeting last night, gave its approval to the following resolution:

The Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce deprecates the wording of the referendum to be submitted regarding the power situation in Prince Rupert.

The Chamber, without bias to the Northern B.C. Power Co. Ltd. or the B.C. Power Commission, recommends the defeat of the referendum by a "no" vote as the effect of an affirmative vote would close the door on competitive negotiations.

The Chamber further recommends that the city council immediately undertake concrete negotiations with all potential suppliers of power and develop concrete proposals for submission to the electors at an early date.

CAIRO (CP) — New fighting erupted in the Suez Canal area today, Egyptian reports said.

Fighting was renewed today after a British military gas filling station was blown up.

In day-long battles between British and Egyptians yesterday—the worst in the two-month-old conflict—at least 50 persons were killed.

CCF and Social Credit members voted with the Conservatives.

It was the third non-confidence motion to be downed in the lengthy Throne Speech debate which began with the opening of the fall session of Parliament October 9 and has been going twice weekly since.

A fourth non-confidence thrust was introduced last evening by Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) who presented a motion expressing regret that the government had "failed" to make provision for immediate payment to wheat producers of 75 percent of the initial price of grain stored on farms.

Wanted—Aldermen

WE HAD THOUGHT of writing this editorial for Wednesday, the day before nomination day, but, feeling that something of an emergency exists, we are doing it today.

There is one mayoralty candidate definitely nominated up to the time of writing. There may be more by the time this appears. So far, so good!

However, the field for the aldermanic board is still obscure and that is very bad.

Even, if we are repetitious, we think we should point out again, as we did a few days ago, the importance, equal at least to that of the mayoralty, of having a good, competent board of aldermen to direct the affairs of civic business in these very crucial times.

This is too important a matter for political or personal consideration. What should be the actuating factor is the realistic and commonsense consideration of the city's best interests.

The thing, as we see it, is to get the best men in there for the common good.

We would even suggest that good material which might be considering the mayoralty field could be better advised to go for aldermanic chairs. It would be a pity if the services of good men, who would be reasonably certain of being elected aldermen, would be lost through defeat in the mayoralty contest.

It is still to be hoped that between now and Thursday there will be a choice of men or women put up from whom we can vote with a feeling of assurance that we are safely entrusting this very important business.

And the same goes, as we said before, for the school and parks boards.

Better Bad Than Careless

IT LOOKS very much like some irresponsible reports or some ill-considered statements have been issued of recent days in connection with the war in Korea.

There is always the difference of opinion as to whether even the whole story of a war's progress should be told because of considerations of security, on the one hand, or the effect on the public morale, on the other. That is where censorship, unpopular as it might be, comes in and is a necessity.

But the truth can be a lot less dangerous and morale-deteriorating than badly founded good reports and statements.

Last week, the press services and the newspapers fell for reports that a ground truce had come in Korea. From considerations of news importance or gratification at the prospect of peace, newspaper editors indulged in big headlines. Even the Daily News offended.

Now, we find there is no truce and there are today rumblings of even more extensive and widespread fighting. So there is a feeling of being let down and some are unduly depressed.

We all hope for good war reports—but, if they cannot be good, it would be better to have them bad than careless and misleading.

Boss Turns Other Cheek—Question of More or Less Seats

VICTORIA.—Liberals' chief complaint about Premier Byron Johnson is that he won't slap down his critics. The Premier's a peaceful man. He hates to hurt anyone. He just can't believe that his critics intend to be mean when they blast him. And so he won't reply. This infuriates many Liberals, who think the Premier should get out and answer his critics—whether they be restless young Liberals or the Tories.

Reflects and Reminisces

Someone in a broadcast Sunday night said Truman is like nylon. He's on a limb and nobody is sure if he'll run. Reminds one of Prince Rupert candidates.

Carrying Canadian troops, a 12,500-ton liner sails for Germany. Canadian destroyers do a lot of damage in Korea and about a hundred Canuck soldiers will not see Canada again. This may be what is called a cold war but Sam Hughes might call it reasonably warm.

HISTORY WATCHES

As a Canadian living in Britain to Canadians living in Canada, Beverley Baxter writes: There is no law which makes the British Isles the perpetual centre of the Commonwealth. All of us, no matter how scattered, are heirs to the tongue of Shakespeare, the courage of Elizabeth, the humanitarianism of Wilberforce, the vision of Raleigh, the faith of John Wesley, the spirit of Churchill. Now is the time when these of us who were born in the outer empire and accepted without thought all that the past had given us, can sustain and strengthen the mother country. Heavy forces are arrayed against her and history is watching, with pen poised.

Why anyone expects to find pleasant weather on the British Columbia coast in November is beyond average understanding. Yet, some do. Last month was wet, windy, dull and with next to no sunshine. There were slight snow flurries and touches of frost. So long as a person was comfortably dressed and shod, there was no occasion for serious complaint. But there usually is.

NUMBER ONE

To have roller skating in Prince Rupert, as now appears probable, will be nothing new. It was one of the earliest forms of sport ever enjoyed here. The rink, established by Luke Marren from Ontario, stood on Sixth Avenue on the site occupied today as an armory. In fact the old partially burned building was the nucleus of the armory. This was practically forty years ago. Learning to skate entailed bumps and tumbles but that was all part of a hilarious game and public response could be called prompt and generous. As for Luke, younger patrons, if they did not

There is something to the belief that a premier shouldn't take everything sitting down. The public likes a scrapper, one who hits back now and then. Mr. Johnson very often believes in turning the other cheek—and this doesn't always work in the tough game that's politics.

The politicians are rubbing their hands in glee because they think British Columbia will get a few more seats in the House of Commons at Ottawa, now that the population of this province is well up. Surely, to goodness, however, we have enough elected representatives in Ottawa as it is. We have 18 members of the House of Commons. One would think that quite enough until we reach the 2,000,000 mark in population.

The people of Canada know that this country is now over-governed. We have far too many elected representatives for the size of the population. And yet the politicians want more seats. And they'll probably get them too unless the public gets up in wrath and forbids such exploitation of the taxpayers.

There'll be a move in B.C. soon to increase the number of seats in the Legislature. We have 48 now. The move will probably be to increase the House to 52 seats.

But there's no excuse for this, either. The B.C. Legislature is quite large enough as it is. Mrs. Tilly Roiston last session horrified MLA's when she suggested the number of seats be reduced in the interests of economy and efficiency. Mrs. Roiston is right—though no one will pay any attention to her.

Looking Into Waiting Room

Local Canadian National Railways officials have been asked for a report on wharf waiting room facilities here with a view to suggesting improvements, the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce was told by W. F. Stone at last night's meeting. Mr. Stone mentioned a conference that Chamber members had had with railway officials on a recent visit here when the matter had been taken up.

The Chamber has been pressing for better waiting rooms for the travelling public here.

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

If Your Son Died?

HOW WOULD your like to receive a letter asking what was to be done with your dead son's effects—when you did not even know there was anything amiss with your son—let alone that he was dead?

How would you like to find that your son had been found in conditions which suggested suicide—but that his corpse had been cremated before his family had even been notified? That is what happened to a Vancouver father lately—and unless things are tightened up it could happen again.

WHEN I read about this case in the papers it just did not make sense to me.

So my wife and I went out to hunt up the father. We found him a friendly, level-headed person. Naturally he was deeply concerned by the death and incensed by the circumstances following it.

The father showed me the

Here's an idea for those days when you feel like going down to deal with the fish personally.

Intrepid souls who, with spear in hand and web on foot, chase fish in southern waters, can now increase their range with aluminum harpoon-guns.

Aluminum is used because it is light and does not rust. These are the main reasons why this metal is so popular—and why Alcan is busy with projects which are planned to increase Canada's production to 500,000 tons a year. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

NOTICE

A few local interruptions to electrical service have occurred recently in residential areas and one in the business district.

These are all directly traceable to additional heavy loads having been added without notice being given to this Company.

We would request that when any range or large heating load is added in your home or business premises that you personally notify this Company.

In this way, we can provide immediate additional transformer capacity where needed and avoid interruptions which are a source of inconvenience to you and your neighbours, and are also costly to us.

ONE FALSE STEP

Yes sir, this poor chap's had a heap of trouble. Somebody directed his attention elsewhere and he took one false step that landed him there.

Well, a similar situation exists right now in Prince Rupert, we believe, with the power referendum that comes up on December 13th.

It would appear that the attention of some Prince Rupert citizens is being diverted away from the real issues of the power supply question to such an extent that they may take one false step which will jeopardize the industrial future of our city. Their false step may be to mark "yes" instead of "NO" on their referendum ballot.

Their attention has been diverted away from the fact that they are being asked to give a decisive answer to a question before they are in possession of all the information with a bearing on the question. Information they can secure from an impartial source, the Public Utilities Commission, when it releases its findings as a result of an exhaustive study of the operations of Northern British Columbia Power Company.

Their attention is being diverted away from the fact that in the form the referendum question is to be put to them, their minds are being made up for them by someone else. That the question pre-supposes they no longer want the company to look after their power needs.

And what is equally important, their attention is being diverted away from the fact that they have no guarantee that under public ownership of the utility, they would get power cheaper than the company could supply it; or that public ownership would guarantee that sufficient power would be available to keep pace with Prince Rupert's industrial growth in the future.

And further, their attention is being diverted away from the fact that if the company's expansion plan is interrupted, there is reason to expect that within two to three years there will be a definite power shortage in the Prince Rupert area, and a serious situation might arise whereby there would be continued distribution system overloading, transformer failures, interruptions to plant operation and, possible damage to generating machinery. Further, industrial growth would be retarded as well as the continuous and increasing use of electrical appliances of all descriptions by both residential and commercial consumers.

We request all citizens ask themselves for what motives do the referendum's sponsors direct attention away from these facts. We are sure that when you do, and arrive at your conclusion, you will vote "NO" when you mark your referendum ballot.

1951 Building So Far $315,961

Building permits here totalled $25,575 in November, bringing the 11-month total this year to $315,961, compared to $337,197 in new building at the same time last year. Figure for November, 1950, however, was only $5,900. Last month's total included new construction of three dwellings, 15 items of repairs and additions to existing buildings, and new construction of two garages.

attention of the police, the hospital, the morgue, the coroner, the undertaker, the crematory. Yet not even a phone call was made to the boy's father till several days after cremation!

SO FAR as I could find, this case centres around nothing worse than personal negligence. One or more policemen and other public officials plainly did not do what their duties should have required them to do.

But are our laws strict enough and mistake-proof enough? Let us ignore for the moment the aspect of sheer inhumanity—of callous indifference to the feelings of the family under such circumstances.

Let us consider how such slipshod procedures could invite much graver abuses.

If alleged suicides can be cremated, without formally of a coroner's inquest and even without positive identification of the corpse by the family—without even notification of the dead person's parents—can anyone fail to see where that could lead?

What a beautiful set-up for would-be murders. The victim is framed in circumstances which point to suicide. But nobody gets the chance to check up on the official story.

In the case of a burial, the corpse can at least be exhumed and an autopsy performed. Cremation precludes even this post-mortem safeguard.

IN THE Vancouver case there is no suggestion that anyone had any ulterior motive for the failure to notify the family. But when I see that the original death certificate described the corpse as that of a man around 48, and when everybody agrees that the deceased looked his actual age—which was 26—I wonder.

Are our laws covering procedure to be followed in case of such deaths strict enough? In this case the boy's father was right in town—right in the phone book. What of such deaths when they occur thousands of miles from home, and where the identification papers are not so obvious?

HERE'S a welcome change of subject: Hats off to the Pythian fraternity for the grand work it is doing for children across Canada suffering from cerebral palsy. There are over 400 of these in B. C. alone. Nearly all can be helped by training and treatment. Cerebral palsy cripples more children than polio.

Careful Shoppers Learn Uses of Fibre Fabrics

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Is it animal, vegetable, or mineral? The old game is up against some tough sledding in the new fabrics that are on the market today. A generation ago the answers were simple. Most fabrics were either cotton or linen (vegetable) or wool or silk (vegetable).

But now we have clothing, upholstery fabrics, automobile tops and tires, awnings and outdoor furniture covers that are none of these. They are members of the vast new family of synthetics which are changing our way of life faster than we think.

The woman who goes shopping in the new wonderland of miracle fabrics, with the purpose of getting the most for her shrinking dollar, needs to be fully informed as to the specific advantages of each.

The man-made fibres are getting more and more wonderful—but they are arriving on the market so fast that most average shoppers are confused as to which is which and why.

Most women are familiar with the first of the synthetic fabrics, rayon, used in a great percentage of feminine apparel. But many do not know the difference between its two forms—viscose and acetate. Viscose rayon, the first to be evolved from chemists' test tubes, is sturdy and tough, can be laundered almost as casually as cotton, does not melt under ironing.

Acetate rayon, introduced shortly after the stock market crash of 1929, is a more luxurious fabric in drape and appearance, requires greater care in handling. A move is now under way to require specific labeling of rayon fabrics as "viscose" or "acetate" or a blend of both, for consumer guidance in correct cleaning and care of garments.

Next and most sensational of the synthetic fibres was nylon, which was introduced late in 1938 and since has revolutionized the stocking and lingerie market. Because of its great strength and quick-drying properties, nylon has become a staple wardrobe item in most North American homes. Nylon stockings have replaced silk almost entirely, and most women have a wide range of nylon wearables, including nightgowns, slips, girdles, bras and blouses.

INSTANT SUCCESS Nylon was an instant and sensational market success, and the demand for it still exceeds the supply. Its resistance to wear, and its easy laundering endeared it to women almost overnight.

However, there were some points in which nylon was found lacking. Nylon curtains were found to shrink or stretch according to weather conditions. It did not withstand exposure to sunlight well.

So the chemists got to work and produced a new fibre, orlon, which had many of nylon's favorable characteristics and in addition stood up under all kinds of adverse weather conditions. Orlon has greater absorbency than nylon, a softer feel and is impervious to humidity changes. It is used for a great variety of outdoor fabrics. It also is used in curtains and in experimental quantities in clothing and fabrics, one of the most important of which is automobile tops.

Newest of the synthetic family is dacron, which promises to give men a new freedom from cleaner's bills, this man-made fibre, on the market now in small quantities, is used in men's suits and blenders, in women's blouses and other wearing apparel; its greatest value, in addition to quick-drying and easy laundering is its resistance to wrinkles.

Men's suits of dacron have been submerged in a swimming pool, dried, and then worn without pressing, looking as fresh and smooth as if they had just come from the tailor.

Still other synthetic fibres are still in the test tubes. Newest of all is Du Pont's "Fibre E," a form of viscose rayon which will be used for upholstery and rugs, is impervious to moths, resistant to wear and weather and promises new fields of usefulness.

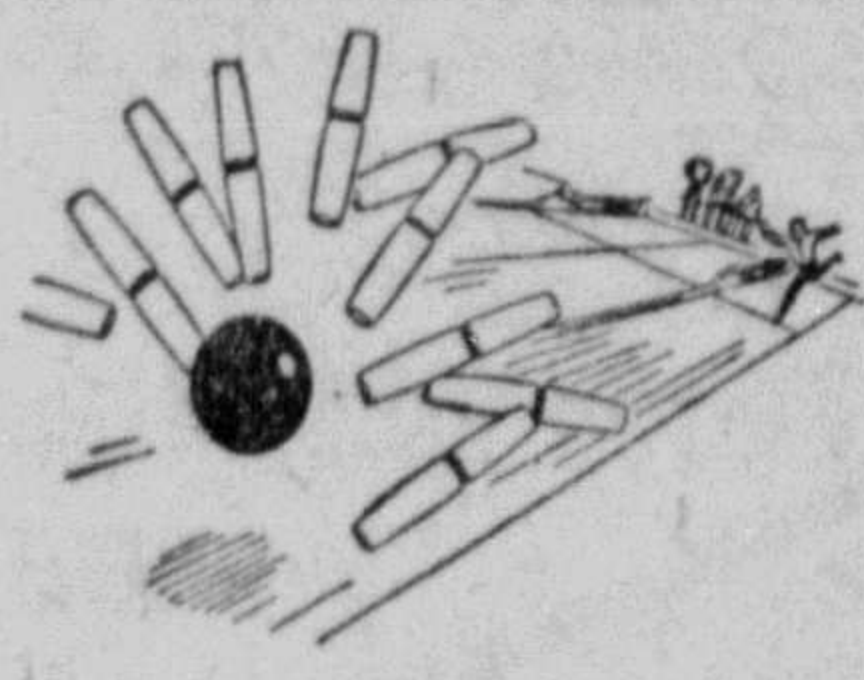

So when you go shopping, read the fabric labels well and remember what they mean: viscose rayon, for sturdy wear, acetate, for luxury fabrics, to be handled with care; nylon, for quick drying and resistance to abrasion; orlon, for weather resistance; dacron, for crease resistance; "Fibre E," for long-wearing upholstery and rugs.

All of them offer a new horizon of luxury and usefulness at prices within the reach of average budgets.

Remember when?

Ottawa Rough Riders defeated University of Toronto 10-7 to win the Canadian football championship 25 years ago today. Ottawa's second consecutive title was won on a frozen field at Toronto where Joe Miller was the outstanding star with his kicking for the Ottawa squad who did not win another Canadian title until 1940. Ottawa's Grey Cup victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders last month was their first since then.

Wedding Date Changes Hoop League Sked

Wedding of a basketball player scheduled for Saturday night has disrupted the senior hoop league schedule—but not seriously. Jimmy Flaten, frontliner of Gordon & Anderson, marries Miss Irene Kildal Saturday and the whole team is invited to the wedding.

Therefore, tonight G & A play Mansons in place of Elks, who will face the Jewellers Saturday.

Meanwhile, the Prince Rupert Basketball Association is seeking one or several sponsors for a senior basketball broadcast each Tuesday, which they believe will be welcomed by Prince Rupert fans who cannot attend the Tuesday night games.

Stanky to Pilot Cards

NEW YORK—Eddie Stanky is virtually certain of succeeding Marty Marion as manager of St. Louis Cardinals.

No definite agreement has been reached, but presidents Horace Stoneham of New York Giants and Fred M. Saigh of the Cardinals will meet within the next few days with the hope of closing the deal, brewing since the world series.

The transaction may not be announced until the minor-league baseball convention in Columbus next week.

The Cards will be asked to turn-over pitcher Max Lanier and outfielder Chuck Diering for Sankey, who will then sign as a player-manager for two years at $35,000 per season.

"Fluffy Stuff" Makes Skiers Take to Hills

That fluffy white stuff is on the hills and skiers are busy putting the finishing touches to repairs on poles, harnesses, boots and togs, for, if it doesn't thaw by next week-end, there'll be skiing on Mt. Hays. That's the report from Prince Rupert Ski Club members who found more than a foot of snow on their favorite run last Sunday. And it's been snowing up there since. About two feet is needed for limited skiing.

Conservatives Meeting Again

Too Much Business For Present Executive Session So Another Called

VANCOUVER (C)—British Columbia Progressive Conservatives decided Saturday to hold a special meeting early next year to consider a new constitution. A spokesman for the Progressive Conservative executive said that the constitution was discussed at a closed session but, in view of a large number of amendments submitted and lack of time to discuss them, it was resolved to call a special meeting.

Col. Cecil Merritt, V.C., was named National Leader. George Drew's personal representative in British Columbia and Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., of Nanaimo, was re-elected president. Other officers include George Ogston of Vanderhoof, fifth vice-president. Mr. Dew attended the meeting which was understood to have discussed issues between national and provincial organizations.

Should Pay For Recount

Chamber of Commerce Deals With "Short" Census Question

If the city council considers that a census recount here is necessary and provided that arrangements can be made to bring about one which will be accepted officially by the government, such a recount should be undertaken at city expense. This was the view that was taken by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce last night.

A resolution along these lines was passed by the Chamber on motion of Orme Stuart after a communication from the subject from the city council had been read. The city's letter suggested volunteer help from local organizations in making a resurvey. Mr. Stuart felt that volunteer help would be ineffective. If any worthwhile work was to be obtained, it should be paid for. Harold Whalen explained that the city was desirous of finding out if it was advisable to go further with the matter. Consensus of the Chamber appeared to be that the city had received a short census count and that support should be given the idea of a recount.

Commerce Chamber Busy Body

The "deplorably worded" referendum on the power question which is being presented at the civic election next week, the short census count, inadequate long distance telephone service, the rat extermination campaign, demand for early completion of the paving of Highway Sixteen, blowing up of the long accepted theory that the port of Prince Rupert was being discriminated under the international load line regulations were among matters which came up last night at a busy monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

Nominations of officers for 1952 were also received and will be voted upon at the annual meeting in December. T. Norton Youngs was the only nomination for president with O. G. Stuart for vice-president and P. M. Ray for secretary.

In the absence of President J. C. Gilker, the chair was occupied last night by Vice-President T. N. Youngs.

Guests were Postmaster R. S. Scherck and Jack Stansfield, new assistant general agent here for Union Steamships.

Some forty members were present.

The meeting heard a report from W. F. Stone on the progress of the rental housing project for which the city is negotiating and which the Chamber has been pressing. The city had had the lots cleared, Mr. Stone said, and within a week tenders would be called.

In the matter of traffic regulation revision, Orme Stuart reported having had a session with the city traffic committee which was drawing up proposed new regulations on which the Chamber's traffic committee would be consulted later.

Secretary P. M. Ray reported on attendance at the recent chartered meeting in Vancouver of the British Columbia Chamber of Commerce. Principal speaker had been Premier Byron Johnson who alluded to important new industrial developments in northern British Columbia including Columbia Cellulose and the Aluminum Co. of Canada. J. T. Harvey of Prince Rupert had been elected second vice-president and F. M. Dockrill of Telkwa to the executive.

On the current rat extermination campaign, Hugo Kraupner reported that the Junior Chamber of Commerce was going to put on a real drive with a publicity campaign after Christmas. Dr. L. M. Greene having been unable to take on the task, Hugo Kraupner will take over duty as chairman of the Senior Chamber's anti-rat committee.

P. H. Linzey reported on attendance at a recent meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He had been impressed with the large attendance and enthusiasm of that body. Ernest Paulding and David Radford will represent the Senior Chamber at the next Jaycee meeting.

The Chamber reiterated its opinion that a highway patrol should be instituted out of Prince Rupert. Mention was being made

'Best of Bad Men' Western Thriller

An exciting and picturesque story of the lawless days in the Cherokee Strip following the Civil War, "Best of The Badmen," in color by Technicolor stars Robert Ryan, Claire Trevor, Jack Buettel and Robert Preston. The picture, showing Wednesday and Thursday at Totem Theatre, presents a vivid conflict between heroism and villainy in a lawless period of American history.

Ryan plays a Union officer who persuades a group of outlaws to surrender, take the oath of allegiance and get a fresh start in life. Preston, as an unscrupulous detective anxious to collect rewards offered for the capture of the bandits, unsuccessfully tries to interfere, and in revenge has Ryan framed on a murder charge and sentenced to death.

He escapes with the help of Preston's bitter and disillusioned wife, as played by Miss Trevor, and, with a price on his head, joins the outlaw group in order to strike back at Preston. The ensuing enmity between the two men leads to the stirring climax.

Railway Has Less Traffic

DETROIT—The general slackening of industrial activity and the change over to defence production has caused a decline in freight volume in recent months on the Grand Trunk Western Railroad and will probably mean that the over-all results for 1951 will not be as satisfactory as those for 1950. Donald Gordon, C.M.G., told the G.T.W. board of directors at their meeting here Monday.

Coupled with the decreased traffic as adverse factors are increased material costs and wages, which are continuing to outpace rate increases granted to the railroads, Mr. Gordon said.

Indications are that traffic will not show improvement in the immediate future, Mr. Gordon asserted. The automobile industry, which is one of the sources of tonnage in the Grand Trunk western territory, is now curtailing civilian production to concentrate on defence materials.

Even if a truce is negotiated in Korea, building materials and other commodities which moved in considerable quantity this year will probably also show a decrease in 1952.

Oil Stoves Cause Fire

Two dwellings destroyed in Prince Rupert last month brought fire damage total to $2500 in November from 10 fire calls. Total damage by fire this year is $25,710, with heaviest loss of $20,000 occurring in March. Majority of calls were due to fire from oil stoves, according to the city fire department.
