Ski Meet Bonspiel

Prince Rupert Represented In Big Winter Competition

SMITHERS (Special to Daily News)—Smithers curling and skiing clubs are coinciding this year in the biggest show in the history of the two organizations. Featured today and Sunday are the curling club's twenty-fourth annual bonspiel, and the ski club's twentieth annual tournament combined this year with the Northern B.C. championship tourney.

Prince Rupert representatives at Smithers are, skiers: Foster Husoy, Oddy Eldsvick, Harold Eldsvick, Allen Armstrong, Leif Husoy and Archie McLeod. Three rinks of curlers also arrived this morning.

Curling began Friday evening with local eliminations continuing early this morning. The 'spiel will last until Monday.

Reportedly, one of the toughest cross-country race routes ever laid out was tackled this afternoon.

Starting and finishing at the curling rink, it stretches nine miles over rough terrain. Competitions will continue tomorrow on the slopes at the base of Hudson Bay mountain.

Both competitions have drawn widely on outside entries including skiers from Burns Lake, Prince George, Wells, Jasper and Prince Rupert.

Thirty-one rinks have so far registered for competition. Curlers have come from Prince George, Terrace, Hazelton, Vernon, Telkwa and Prince Rupert. Prince Rupert rinks, headed by Dr. L. M. Greene, William McKenzie and G. N. Moore, were to meet Smithers' rinks, Simpson, Bovill and Delage this morning.

Curling trophies at stake are Haggie's Cafe main event; Imperial Oil; Bulkley Hotel and B.C. Collieries secondary events.

Snow is reported good for cross-country races and jumping, but thin for downhill following two days of thawing conditions.

SULPHUR SHIP IS DUE SUNDAY

Coming from the Gulf of Mexico, the "Walves Bay," which called at Ocean Falls, is expected tomorrow night with a load of sulphur for the Columbia Cellulose Company at Watson Island.

Three car loads of frozen hail but were unloaded here yesterday for transshipment by Canadian National Railways for American markets. The "Sidney," Capt. Osmond Hendricksen, brought the shipment in and returned the same day to Ketchikan.

"Prove It" Demand—

Western Allies Answer Stalin

LONDON (CP)—Western European countries agreed today with Joseph Stalin that war is not yet inevitable but they asked him to prove he means it.

Italian Premier Alcide De Gasperi said Stalin's statement would be more assuring "if Russia would demonstrate with facts contributing to true peace."

The Russian prime minister, in a newspaper interview broadcast by Moscow radio last night, charged United Nations is a tool of the United States. But he added that war was not yet inevitable.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said:

"We do not regard war as inevitable at all. In our view there is no problem which cannot be solved by peaceful negotiation, given goodwill. Certainly, on our side, such goodwill always has been and always will be forthcoming."

Robbed His Benefactor?

McBride Street Garage Man Relieved of $117 — Arrest Made

Over $117 in cash was stolen from Bill's Service Station, McBride Street, Thursday night shortly before the departure of the southbound steamer Prince George. Royal Canadian Mounted Police are holding a man at Ocean Falls to be charged with the theft.

Owner of the garage, William Thain, said: "I had left the garage in charge of a young man while George Heppner, my assistant, and I went out for coffee."

"When we got back George Tomlinson, a customer, was waiting for us. He had found the garage wide open, lights on, but no one there," said Mr. Thain.

"The first thing I did was check the cash. There were a few bills left. The young man was gone. The RCMP say he's caught at Ocean Falls," said the garage-man.

Mr. Thain said that he had identified for the RCMP a fifty dollar bill left at the C.N. ticket office Thursday night.

"The young man come to me about a week ago; said he was hard up so let him stick around to wash cars—pretty handy kid. We worked late at night so I let him sleep in the garage with some car rugs. I guess it's just one of those things," said Thain.

Communists Succeed Only in Denting Line

TOKYO (CP)—Elements of three North Korean divisions today dented the Allied east flank in central Korea but failed to turn it. Accurate artillery fire and counter-attacks blunted the force of the enemy punch. It shifted eastward from bloodily-repulsed onslaughts at Chipyong and Wonju.

A smash at the east flank near the transport hub of Chechon, mountain gateway to South Korea and Pusan, was the only serious enemy effort.

The Reds massed 15,000 or more men in the area but a late field report said only spearheads had been committed.

Eastward on the coast, South Korean troops made a deep pull-back from the 38th parallel to a new defence line, but under no enemy pressure.

Westward for 70 miles to Seoul, there was scattered small-scale fighting.

Around Wonju and Chipyong, where Chinese Reds suffered 22,128 casualties in four days but failed to break through, allied patrols ranged one to more than two miles north without finding any Reds.

Fourth Note To Soviet

LONDON (CP)—Britain today sent a new note to Russia rejecting the Soviet complaint that Britain broke the Anglo-Soviet Treaty of 1942.

Commons Defeats Conscription Move

Diesels are Coming Loco

MONTREAL (CP)—"Passenger trains in this country's very severe winter conditions require a tremendous amount of steam for train heating and it would be unwise to dispatch a train on one of our transcontinental runs under severe weather conditions unless its diesel locomotive was equipped with boilers capable of producing 7000 to 8000 pounds of steam per hour," the Society of Automotive Fleet Owners of Montreal was told last night at the Berkeley Hotel by E. Feasey, general supervisor of diesel equipment, Canadian National Railways.

On the subject of progress of dieselization of the railway, Mr. Feasey said that each passenger car in very cold weather requires between 350 and 450 pounds of steam per hour and this represents approximately 45 gallons of water per car to be converted into steam. Thus a normal train of 16 cars may require 700 gallons of water an hour which must be converted into steam. Providing space for tanks to carry heavy loads of water has been a major problem to the manufacturers of diesel locomotives and some designers have been unable economically to arrange for more than 1200 gallons of water for each locomotive unit, Mr. Feasey said.

However, as the diesel has a thermal efficiency of over 30 per cent which is much greater than that of a steam engine which is eight per cent, and with its relatively low cost on maintenance and other advantages, it is safe to predict that the diesel will dominate the motive power field for a long time to come even though progress is being made in the development of the gas turbine. No matter what the prime mover may come to be, "the locomotive of tomorrow is the electric locomotive whether it receives its power from a steam turbine, a diesel engine or a gas turbine because in all of these the axle traction motors are electrically activated," the Canadian National official told the gathering.

Mr. Feasey's speech followed a successful test run of a diesel car from Ottawa to Montreal.

Cars Collide On Galloway Bridge

Five broken ribs, three teeth lost, and bruises were the injuries inflicted on J. H. Tusfin who left the city hospital today after a head-on collision with a taxi on slippery Galloway bridge Wednesday.

Driver of the cab, D. Montezano, received minor cuts, the attending physician said.

"There was one passenger in the other car. I think he got his nose broken," said Mr. Tusfin, explaining that the other car was driving out to Columbia Cellulose Company with an employee.

"I guess my car is damaged beyond repair. I got the engine right in my lap," said Mr. Tusfin, who was returned home from Watson Island where he works as a C.C.C. engineer.

The Great Illusions

IN A RECENT speech to the Ottawa Canadian Club, Lord Tweedsmuir, son of a former Governor-General, pointed out that democracy didn't provide the good life, it merely provided the means by which the "good life can be obtained." While most of us are aware of the mechanics of obtaining the good life, it is apparent that a good many of us are not clear on what must be done to preserve it. Above all we must be realists, and this involves exploding some false theories. "Seldom, indeed, have these been more clearly exposed than by Lord Tweedsmuir in his Ottawa speech," states the Globe and Mail. "He spoke of the five great illusions which afflict the public mind and obstruct the proper functioning of our national and international bodies."

They are:

1. The belief that because we are big, it automatically follows that we are strong.
2. The assumption that the world's peoples are craving for democracy.
3. The spirit which puts comfort before national security.
4. The habit of forgetting too easily—forgetting wars and how they came about.
5. The illusion of oversimplification of our problems.

Existence of still another great illusion is revealed by the London Economist when it says: "The free world cannot just go on preserving itself by being strong enough to deter aggression."

"At some point, whatever the Russian decision on peace and war, there has to be a break in the international tension," the Economist adds. "At some point in the twentieth century the success of the free world will consist not in its self-preservation but in its ability to advance—which means, in democratic terms, its capacity to offer both for its own people and for the poor communities of Africa and the East rising standards, both material and moral, that dictatorship cannot provide. For this capacity, two things are necessary now. In the stage of defence against Communism, the West has to maintain, through perhaps a decade or more of acute mental and physical strain, as much as possible both of its freedoms and of its economic progressiveness. Without the freedoms, the heart would be gone out of the defence anyway; but economic progressiveness is hardly less important."

Clearly it is our duty to discourage the harboring of all these false theories wherever and whenever they are encountered.

Scripture Passage for Today

"We are fools for Christ's sake, but ye are wise in Christ; we are weak, but ye are strong; ye are honourable but we are despised."—I Cor. 4:10.

Evangelists In District

Washington Women at Masset After Stay at Kitkatla

From Bremerton, Washington, two women evangelists have arrived to preach the Gospel among adjacent Indian reservations.

Mrs. Margaret Kimball and Mrs. Inez Gaither left here last night on the Chilcotin for Old Masset after a 10-day visit to Kitkatla. The two were here last year.

Both were very enthusiastic about their reception at Kitkatla where they were met with banquet and band music, sponsored by Matthew Hill.

"Those people are very talented," said Mrs. Gaither, who plays accordion and sings. Mrs. Kimball is the minister of the duo and also sings.

The evangelists, who represent the Assembly of God, said so far their visit was highly successful, and expect they will stay in Masset for 10 days before returning to the United States.

At Kitkatla, a nine-day service was held in the Church Army Hall. They drew capacity crowds each evening. Some of the services lasted for seven hours, one finishing at 2:30 a.m. One hundred and eight natives received the faith, said Mrs. Kimball.

While there, they were guests of Arthur and Grace Vickers. Chief Russell Gamble officiated at a grand farewell dinner when they left.

TO BUY YACHT

A fund was started by the natives to help the missionaries buy a yacht with which they hope to reach all the villages along the coast.

Two years ago, said Mrs. Kimball, her physician had given her up as incurable. She had heart disease.

"But because of my faith, I'm as well as anybody today." The doctor, who she said had marvelled at her recovery, was offering her his $18,000 yacht for only $6000, because "he feels our work has proven itself."

Mrs. Kimball is also a hymn-writer and says 30 of her hymns are now being published in the United States.

Mrs. Gaither is a stenographer for the U.S. government, but saves up her vacation days to go on these trips. Next year Mrs. Kimball hopes to have the company of her husband who now works in a naval shipyard.

William Glass of the B.C. Packers, returns to Vancouver on the Chilcotin tomorrow night after a business visit here. He will stop off at Namu on the southbound trip.

Services in the Church

Saturday Sermon

Death and Hereafter

(by REV. C. D. CLARKE, Vancouver)
(Formerly of First United Church, Prince Rupert)

Recently on a "Revival" broadcast, a letter was read from a woman who wished some assurance that her late husband had been saved. She told that before his sudden death he had gone forward with her at a revival meeting but was not sure that he had been saved and yearned for a word of assurance. The answer over the radio was "Yes, he was saved" but "what a pity it had not taken place earlier so that he could share in the rewards on the great day of judgment." What a travesty of religion.

What difference does it make if one dies without the assurance of salvation given by a revivalist, or without the prayer of a minister, or the last rites administered by a priest? Thousands upon thousands die every day in Christian lands without religious rites of any kind and still more die in non-Christian lands. Does not God care for them? Are they not also children of God?

One may well ask: How many heavens are there? From what one reads and hears there must be a heaven for each particular (peculiar) group and what may be heaven to one might be hell to another. Whoever created the ideas of heaven and hell and all the trappings of rewards and punishments did a colossal disservice to humanity and profaned the very nature of God.

Some person once expressed the hope that hell might be extinguished and heaven destroyed by fire so that people would love God for God's sake, be good for goodness' sake and do right for conscience's sake. Then religion would be pure and undefiled.

NO "SANTA CLAUS"

It is a tragedy of this day and age that so many people still retain a "Santa Claus" conception of God. If one is good, Santa will reward. If there is no goodness, there will be no reward. If one is good only to attain a reward, self-interest is the motive and end of goodness and there is no virtue in it. So with love and righteousness when selfishness is the motive and end.

One is good because God is good and by being good he identifies himself with God. One loves God because He is the God of Love whose love goes out to all people alike. "He maketh his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust." (Matt. 5:45). By loving God, one identifies himself with all of God's children, the whole human family. One does that which is right because God governs the world in righteousness. The whole universe, material and spiritual is ruled by God's moral law which is as sure and as certain as is physical law upon which the scientist and engineer rely in their work. By doing that which is right, one lives in harmony with God's world and participates with Him in creation. Creation, material and spiritual, is a continuing process. Nothing in our world is complete, but, all things move toward their completion in the Kingdom of God.

The mission of the Church is to bring all people into harmony with God, with the family of God, and with God's world by proclaiming by every means possible the knowledge of God to all.

The goodness, love and righteousness of God make their own appeal to the human heart. Neither the coercion of fear nor the enticement of reward are needed to impel the soul toward God. As the plants grow toward the sun, so the human soul reaches out toward God. Each person must respond in his and her own way. The better one's understanding of God, His goodness, love and righteousness, the greater will be the response, and the more active his co-operation with God in the development of His Kingdom. That is real religion. But, some will say: "What of the Cross?" Aye, there is a cross. The great primary virtues of goodness, love and righteousness are in themselves creative forces and seek to generate their kind. The person who responds to these virtues becomes a co-worker with God and will soon find a cross. It was because Jesus so completely identified himself with God that he was confronted with the cross early in his career. Whoever follows Jesus will find a cross. "Whoever will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me."

Now, regarding death and the hereafter, there is little to be said except that they are as natural as life itself. Death holds no terror for the dying. It may have done so in years gone by, but not now. For the most part, people pass without a struggle and there is no fear. The hard part about death is that those who mourn miss the presence and companionship of the one who has died. Yet, in this regard life itself is merciful because life must go on. It is good to pause and mourn the passing of a loved one, but it is wrong to make the pause a permanent lingering. Life must go forward. It is the good way for it is God's way. We remember and honor our dead best by carrying on in the important business of the good life.

As for the hereafter, that can be left in the hands of God who is good and righteous beyond human understanding. God in His goodness has provided abundantly for mankind in this world. The earth is stored with all things needful for a abundant life for all people. That God's bounty is not shared is due to the fact that man has not risen to the responsibility of sharing it with the whole human family. As God abundantly provides for all people here, shall He not also care for them in the hereafter?

IMMORTAL SOUL
That the human soul is immortal is in keeping with God's universe. In the economy of God, nothing is ever lost or destroyed in the material realm. Matter is indestructible. The leaf that falls to the ground returns to the earth, or, if burned, becomes gas, vapor and ashes which are elements in the universe. What is true of the material realm is true of the spiritual which is the highest order of life known to man. The soul, the spirit, is indestructible. It is immortal. What form immortality takes, no one knows. There are many theories and much conjecture but it is ALL supposition. Whatever it is, it can be left in the hands of God. God, who is good and loving and righteous, will take care. It is better to leave it in His hands than in the hands of any human.

To some, the foregoing may seem all too simple. Is it not true that if religion is to be understood and practiced by every human being, it must be simple? The founders of the world's religions must have had this in mind when they proclaimed their beliefs. In this regard what could be more simple than the utterances of the prophets and Jesus?

"What doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God" (Micah 6:8) is the essence of Old Testament teaching. The New Testament teaching is summed up in the words of Jesus: "Thou shalt love the spirit, is indestructible. It is heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind; This is the first and great testament. The second is like unto it. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets" (Matt. 22:37-40). If one wishes more, let him turn to the Sermon on the Mount. Nothing in all religious literature can compare with its simplicity, yet, it is so comprehensive, so real and vital that it demands the complete surrender of one's whole being.

As I See It

THE GREAT PYRAMID

CAIRO, Egypt. — It takes you about half an hour, by taxi, to reach the Sphinx and Great Pyramid from downtown Cairo.

You cross the Nile in the bright sunshine of the Egyptian winter and you notice that the water is much cleaner looking than our Canadian Fraser, though drab as compared with the crystal-clear St. Lawrence.

The drive out the pyramid road is really an eye-ful. On both sides are the many lovely homes of the well-to-do. From the outside most of the buildings are newer looking than our best new structures in Canada. Many of the apartment houses are as modern as anything you can imagine. But the modernity is blended with much that is best in ancient Egyptian architecture. The result is something as pleasing to the eye as anything I have seen anywhere.

(I must interject that some of the foreigners who live in these homes tell me that external appearances are deceptive, and that they are not as well built or well fitted as our similar looking new buildings in America.)

TO ME THE BIGGEST thrill in and around Cairo is to see the way the passengers ride the street cars. Most of these cars are the open variety. In the rush hours people are packed like sardines inside. But they are hanging on to all parts of the cars—and at times even hanging on to other human hangers-on.

But after my first ride to the Sphinx, I knew that many of the Arabs ride outside the cars because they like the sun and fresh air and NOT because they are crowded out.

So help me, Bob, I saw one middle-aged woman calmly sitting on that little projection on the back of a street car. Her skirts were flying out behind the car, modestly, however. She looked as nonchalant as if she were sitting sedately, say, in church.

Yet the inside of the tram was nearly empty.

THE TRAMS IN CAIRO ARE many and good. In the outskirts they run on their own right-of-way. Nearly hundreds of cars whiz down the modern highway. But along these trudge Arabs with camels and occasionally you see a tiny ass (donkey) pulling a "Life assurance?" said a friend of mine the other day. "Death assurance is more like it."

This casual remark gave me a chance to put across an important point about the business I am in.

I told him life assurance was concerned with life rather than death. Its chief job was to defeat the consequences of death by making a normal life possible for those left behind. I told him of homes held together by the proceeds of insurance policies of widows saved from poverty, of old folks living out their lives in dignity and comfort; of children getting a good start in life with a college education; of farms and businesses saved to provide a means of livelihood for a growing family.

These things are made possible every day by life assurance. Through life assurance a man reaches beyond death and continues to bless and enrich the lives of those he loved. Yes, it is indeed life assurance.

huge cart, with maybe six star-wart Arabs atop it.

AS YOU APPROACH the great Pyramid itself, its really great size becomes impressive. But so many hangers-on are trying to sell you rides on horses, camels and whatnot, or to get themselves hired as guides, that it is hard to concentrate. It's anticlimax.

One Arab offers to climb from the bottom to the top of the pyramid in exactly eight minutes—12 minutes up and down again—amid a crowd in the front of the ride in style in my pony cart from the back of the Great Pyramid.

But there I get taken for a real ride. I think I am ordering about $3 worth of photos of myself, with camels, Sphinx and the Great Pyramid in the background.

It turns out I have actually ordered $15 worth—including one wearing a fez or turban, as the locals call it.

THE SPHINX AS everybody knows, has the face of a lady and the head of a lion. (Come to think of it, being very much in the same pose as the twin lions on Vancouver mountain.)

In the unearthing part, just below the stone lady and/or lion's breast, there is a temple entrance. The guards let me browse about a bit in it. As I knew this was an ancient temple dedicated to the Sun god, Ra, I kept my promise to a nice Canadian girl, Sally Taylor, to say a prayer for her in a real Egyptian temple. And just to make sure, and not to play favorites, I did likewise in three Mohammedan mosques, later in the day.

TWO GUIDES ESCORTED me into the Great Pyramid. I did not ask them if they knew that deep students of the ancient mystic schools believe that there were subterranean passages from beneath the breast of the Sphinx to the initiation chambers within the heart of the Great Pyramid—about a quarter of a mile away.

Nor did I discuss with them the prophecies of the Pyramids, about which many books have been written. The boys were so eager to convince me that I ought to give them a personal tip—I did not figure they would know what I meant if I asked them whether

Reviving— P.R. Council Has New Job

Prince Rupert Public Relations Council which has been carrying on of late as a one-man show with the secretary-treasurer, Ald. H. F. Glassey, doing all the work, is to be reorganized. The annual general meeting will be held Friday night of next week. It was decided at a meeting of the council last night.

Immediate and major undertaking that the council has before it now is the publication of a new local publicity booklet. The 20,000 copies of the latest booklet have now been almost exhausted through widespread distribution. To publish the new booklet, the council will have to build up its financial resources which are almost depleted.

Representatives of many local organizations interested in public service will be sought to attend the annual meeting.

Secretary-Treasurer Glassey told last night's meeting that, during the past year, he had replied to no less than 537 letters of inquiry from many parts of the world. The work had been carried on in close conjunction with the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

The chair at last night's meeting was occupied by Ald. Douglas Frizzell. Others present were Ald. H. F. Glassey, Wm. Cruickshank, J. Davidson, G. A. Hunter, R. Hundelde, N. R. Young and Hugh Mackenzie.

print which traditionally was free of tax. On a pretext, Person halted installation of a new press. Some advertisements had to be set free. The government set the number of pages a paper might print. The government became sole distributor of newsprint. The News Vendor Union, in devious ways, practically killed the subscription list.

Tonight's train, due from the East at 10:15, was reported this morning to be seven hours late, which would bring it in at 5:15 a.m.

Support For Rink—

Watson Island Strong for Full-Sized Ice Arena Here

Employees of the Columbia Cellulose Co. at Watson Island, polled on the subject of proposed ice arena project in Prince Rupert, are overwhelmingly in favor of the full-sized combination skating and curling rink plan and would give their financial support thereto.

The Watson Island vote is 120 in favor of the combination skating and curling rink with 10 for the skating rink and one for curling.

The poll tabulation shows 110 would give their financial support to the full-sized regulation rink and six to the two-thirds.

The Watson Island poll brings the total returns to date in the public opinion poll to:

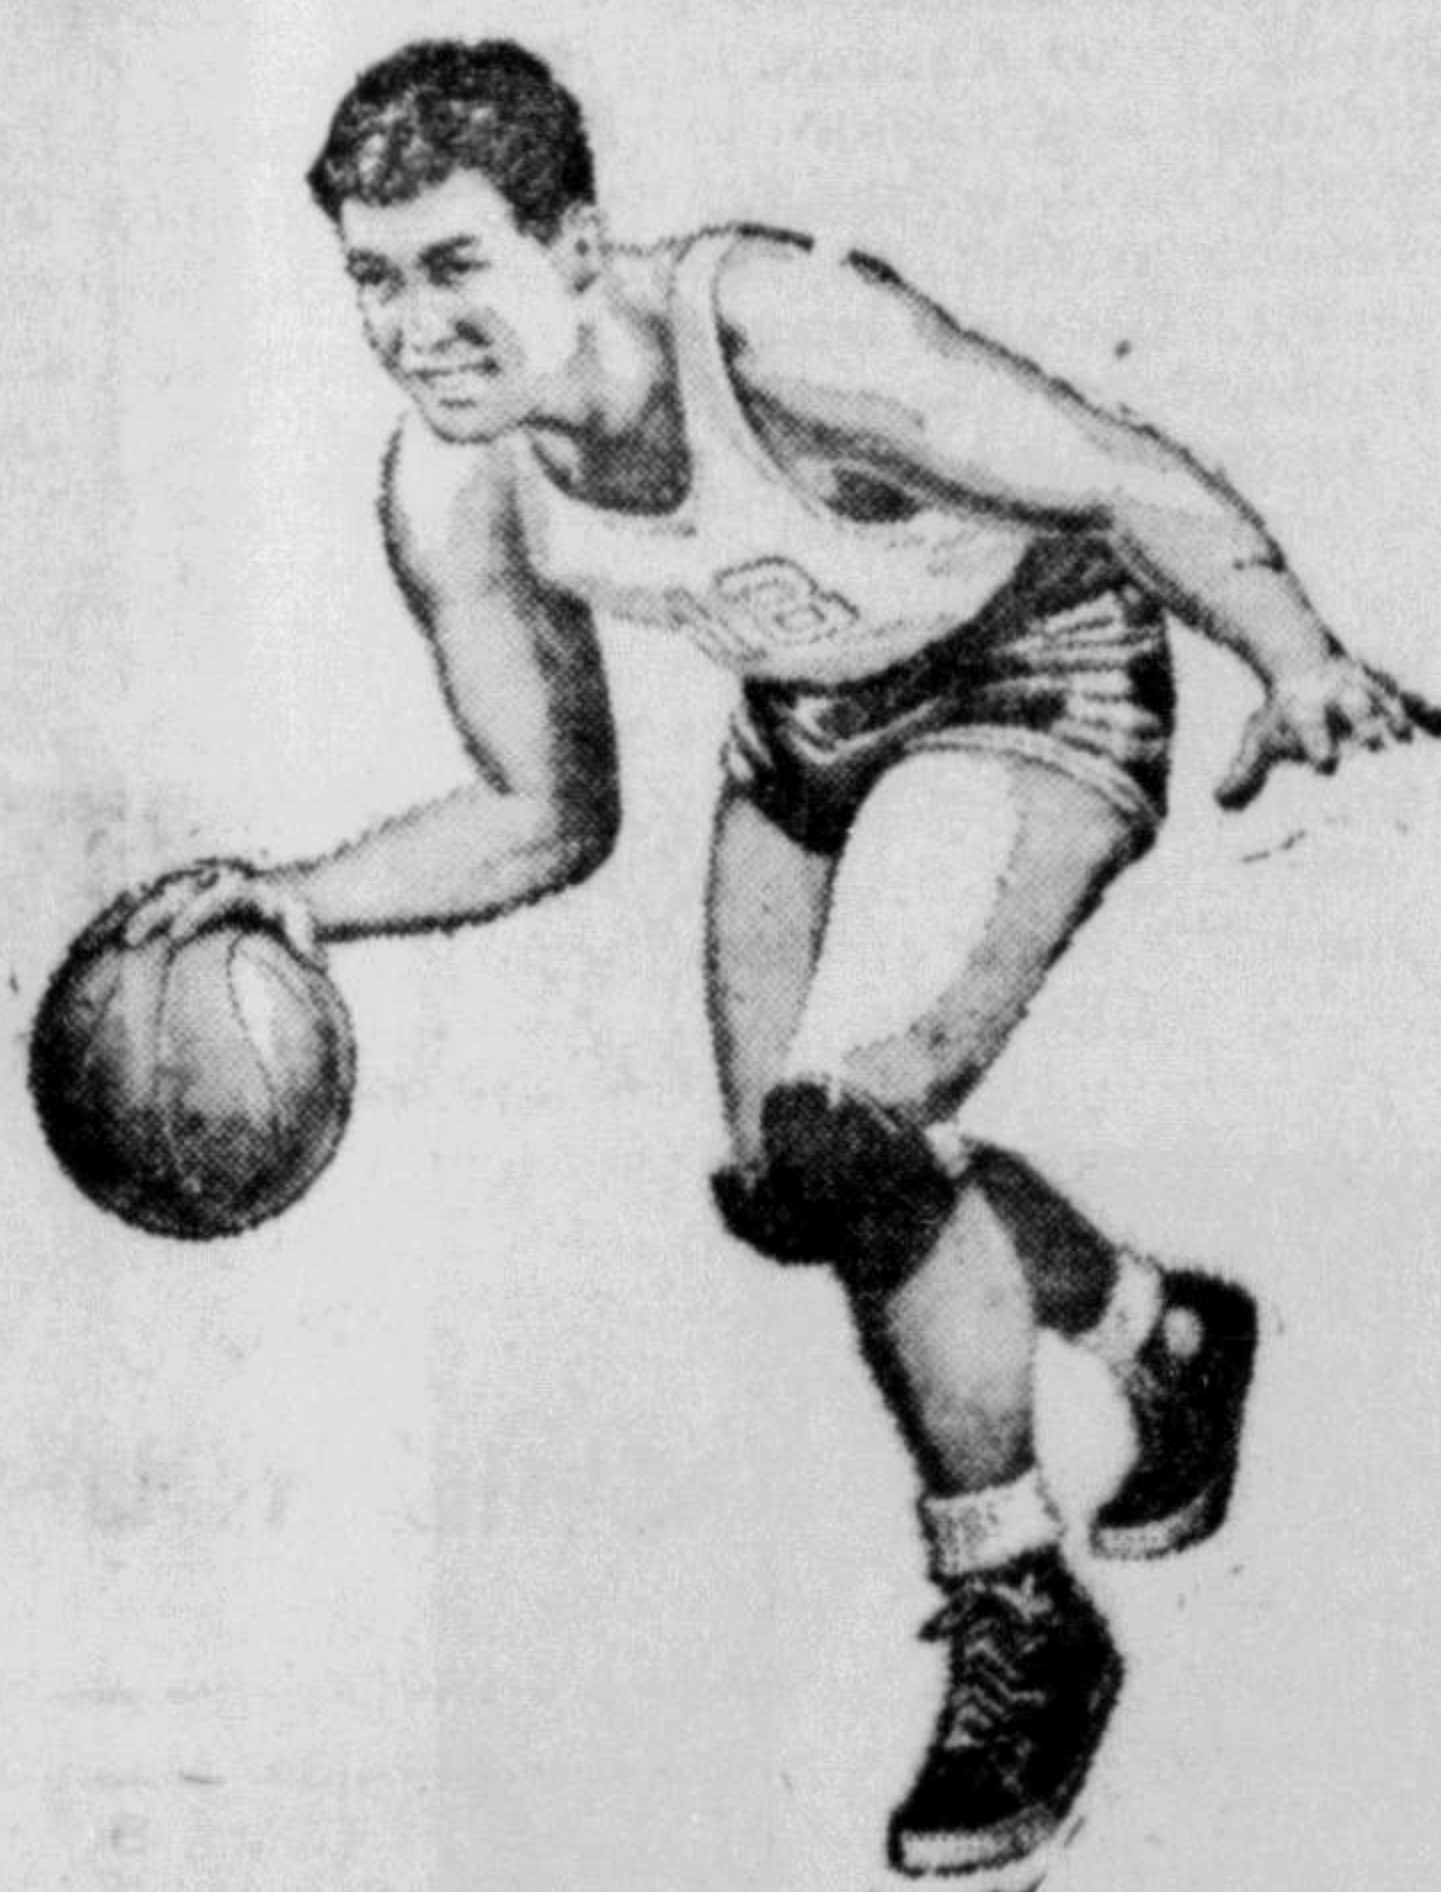

For combination arena	238
For skating rink only	17
For curling rink only	2
$250,000 project	172
$75,000 project	55

Since writing last I, with hundreds of others, had the great pleasure of seeing our senior basketballers take the first position in the recent international tournament. In my book the present team goes down as one of the most formidable ever produced here and should have no trouble regaining the senior "B" title of the province this season. In the meantime, however, the boys that make up our all-star squad are battling it out on their respective commercial league teams for the city title.

At the beginning of the present season it was decided that the top two teams of the league would play off for the championship and now many are sorry such legislation was passed. Gordon and Anderson, under Doc Montgomery, have hustled themselves into contention this past month but, unfortunately, too late to overtake Brownwoods who are in second spot. As a result this band of youngsters, led by two young veterans in Rupe Holkestad and Jimmy Platen, are through until next year just when they are beginning to show promise.

It doesn't seem too unreasonable to suggest that the Basketball Association reconsider their original intention, something that has been done before many times, and give these eager lads a crack at the city title.

Angus MacPhee, Co-Op coach, doesn't see it this way and claims his team was beaten out of the city title once before after having to wait until a semi-final series was played and getting stale in the meantime.

With four starting all-stars on his first string it appears that MacPhee should not have too much doubt of the outcome, yet the manner in which the Montgomery crew has been handling both the Co-Op and Brownwoods lately, there is ample reason for caution. I haven't spoken to Alex Bill on the subject but have discussed it with many fans and if the fans had their way it would be Gordon and Anderson in the playoffs by twenty lengths.

Tonight Gordon and Anderson meet Brownwoods to prove little or nothing in the league standing. Without a chance for a playoff spot the Hardware crew will fruitlessly battle it out to the end of the season and even by winning tonight will do nothing to help anyone. If they take Brownwoods that will definitely settle the league standing and playoffs might as well begin Tuesday evening as far as the public is concerned.

As far as I can gather the Basketball Association had themselves a bit of a get-together a night or so ago and what they discussed is unknown to the press. Probably the matter of playoffs has been settled by now and, if it is a case of the two top teams, it will be a blow to the G & A club.

CLOVERLEAFS COMING

The Vancouver Cloverleafs are to show here in March and, after the fine showing put forth by our reps in their recent outing, there will be no doubt much speculation as to the outcome. Definite dates on this series will be announced in the near future.

WHAT ABOUT IT, BO-ME-HI?

One could not help but notice the sad lack of support the Bo-Me-Hi team received from the student body when it played Wrangell a week or so ago. What ever the trouble may be, it is hard to understand that support of the student team must come from the faithful public instead of the students. Without that old "rah-rah," school athletics are an amateurish effort at the best unless we get into college conferences where big money is involved. There is no reason why something cannot be done that will instill a touch of school spirit throughout the Bo-Me-Hi halls and it should be done now.

AND NOW POLITICS

Kinsmen clubs all over British Columbia are now in the midst of their annual drive to raise funds for the less fortunate of our population under treatment for drearyed polio. The touch of the radical prompts me to point out that it should be our M.L.A.'s that do the work on these drives and they might suddenly come to life and realize how ridiculous it is to spend millions preserving forests, fish, game, etc., and all the while victims such as those with polio depend upon service clubs and worthy citizens to help them in their fight for survival. This, however, is not a political column and I had better get back into line before Mr. Editor begins to straighten me out.

What I mean to get across here is that the Kinsmen need help and there should be none more willing to give that help than the athletes within the community.

We have at present our Basketball Association, our Bowling League, our Badminton Clubs who no doubt could do something to help by raising funds but until now have given the matter little thought. By this time next week it would be nice to read of individual efforts on the part of these groups towards this end and I for one will be more than happy to report them.

Mixed Bowls Finish Close

The second third of the Mixed Bowling League is over with Social Welfare winning in a close finish in "B" Division with Contrads who gave a hard chase right to the end.

Cantels ended up in first place in "A" League by defeating Cooks Jewellers 3-1. Two teams finished in second place only one point behind the winners. Shenton Sheet made a bid by defeating Wallace's Department Store 3 to 1. Prince Rupert Plumbing, who were on top nearly through the whole schedule, washed out Blow-Outs 4-0.

In the last third of play, which will begin next Wednesday, "A" and "B" Leagues will remain intact with the exception of the two bottom teams in "A" League. At the same time, the two top teams in "B" League—Social Welfare, Sons of Norway, will advance to the "A" Division.

High scorers in last Wednesday night's bowling were:

Ladies' single—K. Thompson (Cantels) 298; Ladies' three games—J. Shenton (Shenton Sheet) 722.
Men's single—T. Crawley (Optimists) 275.
Men's three game total—E. Musselam (Great West Life) 699.
Team results were as follows:
Prince Rupert Plumbing 4.
Blow-Outs 0.
Pushovers 4. Bulgars 0.
Cantels 3, Cook's Jewellers 1.
Shenton Sheet 3, Wallace's 0.

SPORT SHOTS

The game of curling was introduced to Canada two and a half centuries ago but during the last two decades it has rapidly grown in importance and favor. It is estimated there are now some 200,000 curlers in North America, of which well over half of these are in Western Canada. The largest bonspiel in the world is that held annually at Winnipeg, Manitoba, lasting 12 days, and drawing over 2000 curlers from all parts of the Dominion and the northern United States. The Winnipeg junior bonspiel claims over 600 students, none over 19 years of age.

Curling enthusiasts say it is more than a game. In fact, it is a fraternal fellowship which stands unique and unrivaled in the history of sport. Its ideology establishes an atmosphere of common meeting ground of equality, goodwill and mutual schools.

FOR PRINCE RUPERT—Prince Rupert will achieve automotive distinction this week-end when the first Buick automobile ever built in Canada will be delivered to Doug Frizzell of Long Motors and will stand in the showroom of Long Motors before going on the road. Numbered 1, it has just come off the lines of General Motors' new Buick factory at Oshawa. Doug Frizzell had just been ordered $200 by a "souvenir" hunter who would have liked to have had a Buick car but was not one for any such bids. With completely new body and mechanical features, it is a Buick four-door six-passenger custom sedan. Two similar 1951's have been delivered to Smithers and Burns Lake.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

One of the delightful things about bridge is the almost limitless variety of hands that can be dealt. As if the game were a goddess attempting to distribute her favors fairly, there are hands which suit the aggressive player, hands which fit the style of the conservative player and even hands which are likely to be handled better by weak players than by experts.

The bidding:

In today's hand my friend Mr. Meek held the West cards and found himself on lead against a three no trump contract. Many players would boldly open the spade suit hoping partner held the king or at least the jack. But not Mr. Meek.

He figured declarer probably had both spade honors and that a spade winner for Mr. Abel might very well represent his ninth trick. He also figured that since he was so short in diamonds, his partner might be able to stop the suit and lead spade up to him. And besides (we may as well admit) Mr. Meek has a horror of leading away from an ace-queen. So the opening was the four of clubs and when that card was laid on the table, the contract was doomed. You will note that two entries are needed in dummy to bring in the diamond suit—one to drive our Mr. Master's stopper and one to get back for the balance. The opening lead cut the entries to one. Mr. Abel won the first trick with the queen in dummy, led a diamond to his ace and then a club back to the king. When he played the king of diamonds he got the bad news. He cashed the queen of diamonds and then tried to break the heart suit 3-3. When that failed he was through he had to be down one. Mr. Meek was proud to note that the opening of a low spade would have given Mr. Abel his contract in spite of the grue-some break in the diamond suit. Yes, the game offers hands which favor all the different types of players. This one happened to favor Mr. Meek. And he enjoyed it.

Hospital WA Is Flourishing

Many New Members Enlisting In Active Organization

Gratifying attendance, including many new members, indicated the increasing interest that is being taken and the desire to support work on behalf of the hospital, marked the monthly meeting Thursday night of the Women's Auxiliary of Prince Rupert General Hospital, Mrs. Jens Munthe, president, was in the chair.

Reports on a tea and raffle on February 1 were presented by Mrs. L. M. Greene, convener, and Mrs. A. M. Hurst, respectively. Both of these affairs were eminently successful.

Mrs. A. Boas reported on the Library Service. It was decided to buy subscriptions to current magazines most requested by the patients. A letter of thanks from D. C. Stevenson, administrator of the hospital, for the work of the Auxiliary in buying furniture and drapes for the living room of the new Nurses' Home and the establishing of a Library Service to patients was read. Both of these projects had met with the approval and satisfaction of all concerned.

It was decided to hold a rummage sale May 4 and 5. May 12, Florence Nightingale's birthday, is observed as Hospital Day and the Auxiliary plans a tea for that day.

Mrs. Boas, Mrs. Lemon and Mrs. Hurst are undertaking the task of shipping old blankets to be made over into bedthrows for hospital beds.

Mrs. Norton Youngs reported that she and Mrs. A. W. Large had completed the purchase of toys and books with money that had been donated to the Auxiliary at Christmas time by the Rotary Club. These toys are to be left in the hospital children's ward.

The annual meeting of the Auxiliary will be held March 15. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Pett, Mrs. A. S. Nickerson and Mrs. Boas at the close of the meeting.

Alberni Has Gale Experience—Got Adrift From Anchorage

Dragging her hook for a quarter of a mile, the lighthouse tender Alberni, Capt. A. F. Davidson, was blown out of her night anchorage at Banks Island before dawn Friday morning.

"After 60 to 70-mile gales blew us over 200 feet from our anchorage before the watchman reported we were adrift, I thought the best thing to do was to continue home," said Capt. Davidson in Prince Rupert today.

Battling through 12 straight hours of a snowstorm off Coughlin Anchorage in the Grenville Channel Wednesday, the Alberni anchored for the night off Little Norway or Banks Island Thursday, the captain said.

On their northbound trip from Egg Island off Queen Charlotte Sound, where gales blew a lighthouse into the ocean some years ago, the Alberni put in Thursday to Browning Entrance to repair a buoy as a routine service.

"Although that was a lot of snow, the weather was clean, cold and calm for most of the trip," said the skipper of the lighthouse tender at home here today.

The Alberni had made the 250 mile trip south to Egg Island since February 6, returning to port here yesterday morning.

Flat-fish taking in Skidegate net is expected to cease Sunday. Due to approach of spawning season for butter sole and flounders, too small a percentage in fillets is being realized, it is reported.

A total of 1,400,000 pounds of flatfish were taken from the Inlet this season, largest haul being made by Vinetta Prince, Capt. Adolph Prince, with a single catch of more than 120,000 pounds.

Other boats fishing the area are the Caroline Maria, Capt. Frank Gale; Zenard, Capt. Charles Haan; Combat, Capt. N. J. Nelson; B.C. Producer, Capt. F. Koshy; W10, Capt. Percy Alexander; Skeena Maid, Capt. Peter Haan; Thelma S. Capt. Ole Skog; Sandra Carol, Capt. Oliver Adams; Morris H. Capt. Oscar Gisky, and the Hero I, Capt. F. Vinberg.

Butter soles averaged four to five cents a pound; flounders, three cents.

Last week two vessels landed a total of 16,377 pounds of black cod. Miss Jean, Capt. Paul Johnson, sold to Atlin Fisheries a total of 11,739 pounds at 21.5 cents for six pounds and over, and 12 cents for fish four-and-a-half to six pounds. Miss Jean also took 1,350 red cod.

Bessie Mack, Capt. Thomas Dunvick, landed 4,638 pounds of black cod and 2,338 pounds of red cod at B.C. Packers. Also, 90 pounds of the rare Jewfish, similar to cod, but very large, were taken by the Bessie Mack.

There are reported to be prospects of herring sealing again taking place off the Queen Charlotte Islands this spring, Nelson Brothers Fisheries being mentioned in this connection.

Halibut fishing this year will start Tuesday, May 1. Although this is not official, there is to be little doubt this will be the date. It is expected that the season will be one of the best the north coast has seen in years from the price standpoint.

Nothing has been announced as to any change in the system under which the deep sea fishing will operate. There have been conferences in Vancouver and Seattle, as well as Prince Rupert but the matter still remains open.

The Alaskan fishing vessel Lassie of Ketchikan is being given a general overhauling and engine repair.

CLAMMER IS SAFE

When Miller's cannery found the boat Worthman T missing from the clam beds in Prescott Pass Thursday, a general alarm was sent out. But by late afternoon the Worthman T made her way back to the clam bed after a look at other waters. Since she had only one way communication from Miller's, no relief message was sent to home base to explain where she was, James Bruce, cannery manager, explained.

Then a dead battery, which she developed on the return to the clam grounds, held the Worthman T from returning to port.

It wasn't until late Thursday night that the boat came home, towed by the Sooke Post, Capt. Robert Reid, of the Department of Fisheries, who found the immobilized vessel at anchor in the clam bed.

Gloria Swanson Come-Back Here

"Sunset Boulevard," the picture in which veteran Gloria Swanson made her great comeback and which has been nominated for 1950 Academy Award honors, is coming to the Capitol Theatre here at the first of next week.

It is the dramatic story of a once great silent film actress who continues to live in the glory of her past, obsessed with the delusion that some day she will make a comeback.

According to all advance reports, Miss Swanson gives a superlative performance as the faded star. William Holden plays the part of a young disillusioned screen writer with whom she falls in love. Eric von Stroheim has the role of her former director and devoted servant. Nancy Olson is a youthful studio analyst who also loves the writer.

A distinguished supporting cast includes Cecil B. DeMille himself, Buster Keaton, H.B. Warner and Hedda Hopper, all popular old timers of the screen.

Timely RECIPES

HOT CROSS BUNS

¾ cup seedless raisins
¾ cup milk
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cake compressed yeast
3 to 3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup diced citron
2 tablespoons chopped candied cherries
Melted butter
Confectioners' sugar icing

Rinse and drain raisins. Scald milk and stir in butter, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Crumble in yeast and mix well. Beat 1 egg with 1 yolk, reserving 1 egg white for glaze. Mix eggs and about half the flour into yeast mixture, beating until smooth. Add spices, raisins, citron and cherries and mix well. Add remaining flour to make soft dough. Knead on floured board until smooth. Place in bowl, cover closely and let stand until dough is doubled in bulk (about 1½ to 2 hours). Punch down. Turn out on floured board and roll dough to about ¾-inch in thickness. Cut with 2½-inch round cutter. Dip in melted butter and place about 1 inch apart on greased baking sheet. Let rise until light (about 45 minutes). Make a shallow cut in shape of cross on top of each roll, using a sharp knife. Beat egg white with 1 tablespoon cold water until foamy. Brush onto tops of rolls. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Brush again with egg white and bake 5 minutes longer. Remove from oven and fill cross with stiff confectioners' icing. Serve warm.

Next of kin are his wife, Mrs. Martha Benson, three children and three brothers, Richard, Fred and Percy, all of the district.
