CONTRIBUTORY OLD AGE PENSIONS, INDIRECT SALES TAX BROUGHT OUT IN THRONE SPEECH

Consider Hospital Insurance

VICTORIA (CP)—Federal government plans for contributory old age pensions and the right of the provinces to impose an indirect sales tax will be before the 1951 session of the British Columbia Legislature.

Speech from the Throne, by Lieutenant Governor Wallace at the opening of the 22nd Legislature today, stated that the federal old age pension proposal, requiring the provinces to contribute to the British North America Act, would be placed before the Assembly.

The pension plan would be a month without a contribution. Now the province receives a month including $10 bonus—but there is a cost.

Finance advised the House of Commons on an advisory committee on civil defence. The plan is in line with the federal plan. The plan will be presented to the House of Commons. The plan will be presented to the House of Commons.

Speech also calls for legislation for an agreement between the government and the unions of Canada which a $500,000,000 plant in the near future Prince Rupert.

Profits Shared
The profits of 4.18 percent of turnover has been allocated to members of the Kaituma Co-operative Association. The association arrived at the figure after paying in tax out of earnings from members' business.

Federal Rent Controls?—Labor Delegation Gets Satisfaction

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent, after meeting a joint labor delegation asking for price and rent controls today, is reported to have told it that the government may re-enter the rent control field after its powers lapse April 30 if the provincial administrations do not hold down rentals.

A labor spokesman at the meeting quoted the Prime Minister as expressing this view and also saying: "The government is keeping in close touch with the price situation and studying the report of the 1948 commission on prices. It is also introducing general legislation on emergency powers this afternoon in the House of Commons. If the government comes to the conclusion that price controls are necessary, it is sure the Canadian people will go along."

CASE PRESENTED
Canadian labor, placing its control program before the government, offered to consider wage "stabilization" but not a "freeze" if the government would put in general price and production controls.

In the first joint presentation to the government from four central labor bodies with about 1,000,000 members, the delegation sought:
1. "Adequate" rent control (federal rent controls will lapse April 20).
2. Freezing of prices.
3. A public board on which labor would be represented to pass on all applications for price and rent increases.

Joining in the presentation were top officers of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, Canadian Congress of Labor, Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor and the Dominion Joint Legislative Committee of Railway Transportation Brotherhoods.

First Aiders Busy—Working for Civil Defence

Need of Disaster Precautions Here Emphasized
Spurred by the grave international situation, the local St. John Ambulance Brigade is campaigning on a Civilian Defence program.

"We must co-ordinate our work. For instance, should there be a major fire in the hospital, instead of having units of men not knowing exactly where to go to offer relief, we could co-ordinate our efforts through the brigade," said John McLean, secretary of the local St. John Ambulance Brigade.

John (Jack) Davidson, superintendent of the brigade, urges Prince Rupert citizens to contribute at least one evening a week to prepare against a national emergency.

Mr. Davidson points out that holding a St. John certificate of first aid will benefit the working man at all times of life. "Thirty-three thousand people died in one year in Canada from accidents in the home," said R. E. Eyoifson, the local instructor. "While accidental deaths on the highway came to thirty-two thousand. This shows the necessity of parents being aware of first aid principles," the first aid instructor points out.

U.S. In Tri Pact

WASHINGTON (CP)—United States is considering a triangular defence alliance with Australia and New Zealand as a move toward a projected Pacific pact, similar to the North Atlantic Pact treaty.

Informed officials reported today John Foster Dulles, State Secretary Dean Acheson's adviser, is ready to discuss this and other possible defence lineups. He arrived at Wellington today for official talks and met with Premier Sidney Holland and the cabinet.

Horrorified Children Watch Lion Tear Tiger to Pieces

DETROIT (CP)—A lion pounced on a performing tiger with lightning fury here and ripped her to death while 3000 children watched in horror. The savage fight flared just as veteran trainer Clyde Beatty was completing his act at the first performance of the annual Shrine circus.

Prince, a new lion in Beatty's troupe, suddenly flashed from his position, pounced on Sheba and sank his powerful teeth into her neck. As childish screams shrilled through the arena, the two beasts grappled. Beatty, advancing at point-blank range, vainly fired blank cartridges to drive the snarling animals apart.

The veteran animal trainer said Prince would stay in the show but he was saddened at the loss of Sheba, one of his star performers since 1934. He said he had planned to have her act soon in motion pictures.

Huge Waterway Urgent Demand

Billion Dollar Project in East
WASHINGTON (CP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson and Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer asked Congress today to approve a quick start on the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

Acheson said the proposed development is a matter of "urgency" for joint defence of Canada and United States. Sawyer said that should war come, "only" through the proposed seaway could U.S. be assured of an adequate supply of iron ore from Labrador.

Two cabinet members testified before the House of Representatives getting under way the administration's campaign for congressional approval of the long-debated $1,000,000,000 project. It would provide a deep-water route from the Atlantic Ocean to the Great Lakes and would develop power estimated to yield annually 13,200,000,000 kilowatts.

"But the way it is now, only the old time first aid men turn up," said Mr. McLean, "and these won't be enough to withstand a city emergency, let alone a national disaster."

"We find now that even elementary first aid would have saved one-third of the Japanese fatalities from the atomic bombing they received during World War II," says Instructor Eyoifson.

The local branch of the St. John Ambulance wish to combine forces with the Prince Rupert Red Cross disaster relief committee, who recently formed for plans against emergency.

"But to have effect, we need more members — anyone, men, women, boy scouts or girl guides — with the members we now have (Continued on page 5)

HONG KONG (CP)—Heavy fighting between Chinese Communist troops and guerrillas in Eastern Kwang, China, with as many as 60,000 troops involved was reported today by both Communist and pro-Nationalist sources.

Cigaret Study Not Approved

OTTAWA (CP)—Commons members last night defeated by a vote 98 to 42 a motion calling for establishment of a committee to study the whole cigarette question.

The motion was sponsored by Rev. Dan McIvor (L—Fort William) who said a committee ought to study "cigarette effect on moral, mental and physical health, especially teen-agers and unborn children," as well as fire hazards.

Stanley Saville left on Monday's plane for Vancouver to attend the annual provincial council meeting of the British Columbia Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society this week. He will be returning to the city on Saturday.

Epidemic On Wane

TORONTO (CP)—Influenza—haphazard in its spread across Canada—appeared to be waning in most sections of the country today. Ontario is latest and hardest hit of the ten provinces, but even there the epidemic is believed to have reached its peak.

Possibility of a renewed outbreak was suggested by Dr. G. M. Little, medical health officer in Edmonton, who said the present mild spell might tend to increase the chance of catching the disease.

Mild weather is general over most of Canada and is expected to continue several days at least. Flu has taken the greatest toll of death in Montreal, where 127 persons succumbed since Christmas. About 10,000 still are with 'flu in and around Kelowna, B.C.

Senate Reform—Appointment By Provinces

Proposal by Farris to Broaden Red Chamber
OTTAWA (CP)—A 73-year-old British Columbia senator suggested last night that Canada's provinces should be given the right to choose one third of the senate membership on short term appointments to broaden political thought in the upper chamber.

Senator J. W. de B. Farris, one time Attorney General of British Columbia and still a practising lawyer, made his suggestion at the close of a two-hour speech on Senate reform. But he could not go along with other suggestions put forward previously by Senator Wishart, Robertson, government leader, in moving for a committee to study ways so that the Senate might better serve the people.

He was against any age limit for senators. He said he would vote against the motion of his leader. Senator Farris said, if the present system of government appointment of senators for life was continued, it might well be that a re-election of a Liberal government would mean an all-Liberal Senate. Standing now is 80 Liberals, 11 Progressive Conservatives, and 11 vacancies.

After spending the past two days discharging sulphur at Watson Island for Columbia Cellulose, the British freighter Walvis Bay is sailing late this afternoon for Powell River.

Allied Forces Continuing Advance Along Entire Front

TOKYO (CP)—Gen. MacArthur visited the roaring central Korean front today, watched allied guns and planes pound fading Communists and then ordered his troops to resume the initiative generally.

This did not mean allied forces would attempt a new drive across the 38th parallel into North Korea.

When MacArthur spoke allies already had kicked off on a renewal of the "limited offensive" started January 25, but which was stalled last week by a Red push that failed. MacArthur recalled President Truman had said the General should make the decision whether to cross the border again.

"I shall not arbitrate that authority," he told correspondents. The allied commander indicated if and when allied troops reach the border he would give consideration to any "cogent political reasons against crossing."

United Nations forces scored gains of three to three-and-a-half miles all along the front today. They seized the town of Chchon and moved on north from there.

strike and at least 12,000 others are working on a go-slow basis and 11,000 more are due to walk out tonight.

Wide Rail-Strike Threat

LONDON (CP)—Start of a court hearing for seven men accused in an illegal dock strike conspiracy touched off a sympathy walkout today, crippling four of the biggest seaports in Britain.

At the same time the country faced a railway strike which threatened to spread throughout the island. Dockers are idle in London, Liverpool, Glasgow and Manchester. Already 3500 railmen are on strike.

More Bribes: Basketball

NEW YORK (CP)—Three Long Island University basketball stars are charged today with accepting bribes as college basketball's sensational game-fixing scandal spread to another major team.

An LIU trio was charged with accepting a total of $3,000 to lose a game between their school and Kansas State last December 2 at Madison Square Garden. LIU barely won 60-59 after holding a wide early lead.

Ages Of Canadians

INFORMATION on the age composition of Canada's population is not only necessary to governments for various purposes but is also useful to private enterprise in many ways. Reflecting the need for such information is the fact that a question of age has been asked in each census of Canada since 1871. It will be asked again in the 1951 census, to be taken in June this year.

In contrast with most other attributes of the population, age is an ever-changing characteristic. Marriage and parenthood are associated with certain ages; death is more frequent during the very early and the late years of life; school attendance is confined to the younger ages; employment opportunities are highest for the ages 20 to 45; military service is generally confined to males from 18 to 45, with a breakdown within those limits in accordance with the physical demands of the type of service; retirement from the stress and strain of active employment is usual between 65 and 70.

At the time of the last census in 1941 the average age of the Canadian population was 30.4 years. This figure compares with 28.6 ten years earlier, 27.4 for 1921, 26.9 for 1911, 27.1 for 1901, 25.8 for 1891, and 24.7 for 1881. Thus, except in 1911, when the census reflected the effect of the heavy immigration in the immediately preceding years, the decennial censuses have recorded an unbroken upward trend in the average age of the population. In the first four decades of this country there was a rise of 3.3 years.

The answers to the questions on age in the 1951 census will show whether the trends of the past decades have continued and the extent to which the increased birth rates of recent years have altered the country's age composition. From the resulting figures, all levels of government will be in a better position to determine the requirements for such things as infant welfare, provision for the aged, and primary and secondary schools. Likewise, manufacturers and others engaged in business will have a new set of up-to-date facts on the age distribution of the population in all parts of Canada to guide them in shaping business plans and programs for which such knowledge is often essential.

Freedom In Reverse

ONE MIGHT suppose that a treaty which proposed to commit a large number of governments of the world to support of the general principles of freedom of information and freedom of the press would naturally be a desirable convention, comments Christian Science Monitor.

But the treaty draft on this subject, which is being distributed to members of the United Nations for comment after long sessions by a 15-nation committee, would have the ironic effect of constricting seriously the very liberties which it was intended to enlarge and guarantee.

This comes about through Article 2 of the proposed draft, which enumerates various limitations that governments would be permitted to place on distribution of news and comment. Regulation would be allowed, of course, to punish libel or fraud and to protect information affecting national security.

But there are further proposals to add bans on "false and distorted reports likely to undermine friendly relations" and statements which would "injure the feelings of nationals of a state."

Who is to determine, for example, whether an estimate of the number of prisoners in Soviet slave labor camps is "false and distorted" or whether a description of General Franco's Falange Party is likely to injure Spanish feelings? Such provisions, however well intended, could be used to stifle honest reporting.

An international treaty in behalf of freedom of information should broaden rather than narrow that freedom.

VICTORIA REPORT

by J. K. Nesbitt

Labor Tells the Government—Nursing Service Costs—Government House Glitters

VICTORIA.—The powerful B. C. Federation of Labor told the government the other day that British Columbia's Labor Act is not a good act and should be repealed and that the operations of the Labor Relations Board should be fully investigated.

The Federation sent a delegation to see the cabinet and a brief read to the ministers said this: "It is not so many years ago that British Columbia led the way in improving labor conditions and recognizing the rights of organized labor. Unfortunately, that is not so today. At the national convention of the Canadian Congress of Labor in Winnipeg, delegates from all sections of Canada heard the B. C. Labor Relations Board singled out for condemnation by our national president, A. R. Mosher."

The labor delegation also caused a stir in legislative circles when it asked the government to take over the B. C. Telephone Company and operate it as a public utility. There have been many requests that the government expropriate the B. C. Electric—but this is the first time in this reviewer's memory that any influential body has requested the government to take the telephone company. This request, of course, will be completely ignored by the government.

NURSES' PAY.—The Registered Nurses' Association is contemplating raising nurses' wages to $10 for an eight-hour day. At present the rate is $8 a day.

At $10 a day—today—a trained nurse is not being overpaid. On a five-day week she makes only $200 a month—which surely is not a great deal for a woman who has given three years of her life to training, who has probably taken a post-graduate course and whose work is so vitally important to humanity. It is not a big salary at all—and that is why it is so difficult to persuade many young women today to enter our training schools. They can make far more money as stenographers.

Yes—a trained nurse is certainly worth $10 a day—but if you should need a special nurse right round the clock—that's $30 every 24 hours—enough to break the average person very rapidly.

This reviewer would think the time is surely coming when trained nurses must become government employees to some extent—like teachers are. Some system will have to be worked out whereby more trained nurses are stationed in hospitals—so that desperately sick people will have more personalized nursing care. Of course, human nature being what it is, everybody will want a trained nurse. Such a system would cause a lot of trouble—but that $30 every 24 hours for trained nurses can break a bankroll faster than a dice game.

It's a serious matter—and something will have to be done about it sooner or later.

BRILLIANT AFFAIR — Government House has seldom been so brilliant as it is the day of the opening of the House today. The State Dinner and State Ball will be as magnificent as any social event in Ottawa or Washington, D.C.

The Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace have engaged 49 extra servants for the evening—in addition to the regular household staff of 16 people. There will be 45 guests to dinner—and 15 maids waited on them, as well as the butler and assistant butler who serve wines, liquors, coffee and cigars. The guests will sit in high-backed chairs, each with the coat-of-arms of British Columbia worked into the richly colored tapestry. Six massive silver bowls of spring flowers and six heavy candelabra centre the long table in the state dining room and the dinner will be served on Crown Derby in red, blue and gold.

The dinner will last from 7:45 to 9:30 p.m. and the State Ball starts at 10 p.m. and "God Save the King" will be played at 2 a.m.

THIS TIME, HE MARKETS

When a Sussex Englishman went to collect his mail, he found in the one-man letter slot, the weekly mail ration for two. But there was no sense in feeling about it.

WAS BACK DOOR EVER USED?

A North Bay business man, long active in Canadian affairs, is under arrest for having slain his wife with a hammer. He is 69. Two years ago he retired. He does not deny the crime. He lived in the city's most exclusive district. His record was one of kindness and consideration. Neighbors all say his wife's whole life centred about her home—its neatness and perfection; how she often made her husband remove his shoes, before entering the house. Wonder if it was also necessary to polish them?

The Dean of Canterbury thought so much of Stalin's remarks in last week's interview that he offered congratulations. He's had considerable practice.

IT COMETH!

Less than a month to the "Seventeenth of Ireland" for in Canada, even allowing for frost here and there, St. Patrick's Day is hailed as the approach of spring. An anniversary parade in Montreal is remembered as an icy feeling affair, along with plenty of silk hats and the sort of music to be expected. The day we left Saskatoon for the coast was another seventeenth and weather strongly resembled January. The prairie was white, cold and desolate. But how different a day or so later at North Bend. Still a longish way to travel before seeing the Pacific yet here you sensed spring was on the way. Every turn of the westward rolling wheels said so.

Report from Parliament

By Edward J. Applewhite M.P.

SEES IMPOSSIBLE—I have just had a unforgettable experience and I have seen the impossible accomplished. A group of senators and members of all parties was taken to Cartierville, on the outskirts of Montreal, to see the airplane factory of Canadair Limited and to watch a demonstration of the F86E—the latest thing in jet fighters. The trip was arranged by Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Defence, with the co-operation of the RCAF and the officials of Canadair. We left Ottawa at 9:30 in the morning and were back in time for the afternoon sitting of the House. The plane, said to be the most efficient air plane production plant in the world, was an eye-opener.

Its size, complexity and efficiency made a lasting impression on us all but the spectacular and thrilling feature—particularly to one who is not familiar with engineering and mechanics—was the demonstration by the completed F86E. It was piloted by Flt. Lieut. Teddy Evans of the RCAF who, I am told, came back off a furlough in order to do this demonstration for us. On his first run he zoomed over us at about 300 feet at 670 miles per hour. Have you ever seen anything go by you at 670 miles an hour? If you have you will realize that the only way I can describe it is to say, it's impossible—but I saw it. He then did a series of quick rolls, very quick indeed, and then made a run at the end of which he shot straight up—straight up, I said, some 9 to 12 thousand feet. Sure, it's impossible. I knew it was, as I watched him doing it. As we were going over to Cartierville from Ottawa we had an "escort" of vampire jet fighters. They shot past the Dakotas of the Air Transport Command as though we were standing still. At Cartierville, three of these Vampires flew over us, and along came the F86E over them, and he passed THEM as though they were standing still. On his last swing over us, the F86E came over at about 130 miles an hour. That, I believe, is one of the most difficult things of all for a plane, the cruising speed of which is about 450 and efficient maximum about 670. The whole demonstration was a triumph for Canadian production engineering—and for Canadian flying. Golly, if I had one of those I could come home to Prince Rupert in time for tea every Saturday.

HOUSING.—To get down from 670 mph to the somewhat slower speed of the House of Commons—Gordon Graydon has urged upon the government reconsideration of the changes in the loan provisions in the National Housing Act. Replying, the Prime Minister said that as he understood the statement of the Minister of Resources and Development, it was a promise to keep the matter of housing constantly under review, on the basis that, next to construction, required for defence purposes, housing was to have the highest priority. I think Mr. Graydon expressed the general feeling.

New Swiss Discovery for Eczemas, Boils, Psoriasis, Leg Ulcers

Authentic photograph of Mr. J. Biller on November 16th, suffering for 20 years from Eczema all over the body, before the F "99" Treatment.

Authentic photograph of Mr. J. Biller on February 11th. The Eczema was completely cleared up after 11 weeks of F "99" Treatment.

EMINENT Scientists have discovered that the lack of unsaturated fatty acids in human nutrition is one of the main causes of skin diseases, such as Eczemas, Boils, Leg Ulcers and Psoriasis. The modern diet, in which these essential substances are often completely lacking, have brought about a deficiency in a great number of individuals.

Remarkable Swiss Discovery

A Swiss chemist, Dr. W. Schmitz, succeeded after 10 years of research work in extracting from pure vegetable oils an unsaturated fatty acid in a concentration of 99% and therefore named F "99". Thanks to this hitherto unattained purity, F "99" is so readily absorbed into the blood stream, that it has a decisive biological activity in the treatment of skin diseases.

Natural way to clear up skin troubles
F "99" is not a synthetic drug but a concentrate of natural nutritive substances. It is so harmless that it may be given even to infants without any hesitation. Its remarkable efficiency in the treatment of Eczemas, Boils, Leg Ulcers and Psoriasis has astonished even Skin Specialists of international reputation. As its name suggests, the F "99" Two-Way Treatment acts internally as well as externally. While F "99" Capsules or Liquid give the body the power to suppress the cause and combat successfully skin disease, the F "99" Ointment treats its external, visible symptoms. To many thousands of skin sufferers all over the world, F "99" Two-Way Treatment has already proved its tremendous value and is being used with outstanding results even on cases where all ordinary treatments have failed.

Percy Hughes-Hallett, World Traveller, Retires from CNSS

This week's voyage of the steamer Prince Rupert marks the retirement from service of Canadian National Steamships for Percy Hughes-Hallett, well-known and popular assistant purser, who has reached the retirement age—but it does not mean the end of a colorful career. He will carry on steamboating—or, at least, his association therewith.

Born in Paris, France, March 14, 1886, Mr. Hughes-Hallett's birthday was duly recorded at British Embassy. He belongs to the well-known Hughes-Hallett family who are scattered all over the world. Two of the most distinguished are Rear Admiral C. C. Hughes-Hallett, who commanded the aircraft carrier "Implacable" when she visited Vancouver shortly after the close of the war, and Capt. J. Hughes-Hallett, who had charge of the naval operations at Dieppe, now an A.C. C. to the King.

EDUCATED PRIVATELY

Percy entered the merchant service and served his time as a cadet in sailing ships and visited many out of the way places. On his first voyage he called at St. Helene, thence to Capetown. While in South Africa he made a trip very similar to the recent Royal tour, going as far north as Salisbury in Rhodesia, and next called at Kergueland Island in the Indian Ocean.

In 1905 after a six weeks' unsuccessful attempt to round Cape Horn the ship endeavored to make Port Stanley, Falkland Islands, in distress but was forced to anchor in Falkland Sound. Young Hughes-Hallett and four other members of the crew tried to make Stanley in a lifeboat to get help. The boat was blown out to sea for two days but finally made port all the crew being in an exhausted condition. Later they rejoined the ship and eventually got her safely into Stanley. It was here they rescued R. N. Stuart of the "Kirkhill" when his vessel foundered. They became lifelong friends. Stuart won the Victoria Cross while serving with R.N. in the first war, later commanded many of the Canadian Pacific passenger vessels on the Atlantic, including the "Empress of Britain". Hughes-Hallett has travelled with him on many occasions.

THRICE AROUND WORLD

After making three trips around the world, Hughes-Hallett obtained a second mate's certificate and operated a pleasure craft in the Mediterranean running between Genoa, Italy to Ajaccio, Corsica, occasionally calling at Monaco. He spent much time, prior to 1914 in the Pacific Coast states at various occupations and was briefly a cowboy, bartender and newspaper reporter.

He started a steeplejack business in Tacoma and it was here he worked with Victor McLaglen, later of moving picture fame. He wrote a couple of short stories for the pulp of those days and the pen name of Circle Ecks.

Hughes-Hallett came to Canada shortly after the outbreak of the first war. He joined the Army and served overseas with the 47th Battalion. While convalescing in England he received a "command" to appear at Windsor Castle for afternoon tea which was served by the Princesses.

He returned to Canada in 1918 after a brief spell in California and went to Australia to join a schooner which visited Norfolk Island, Levuka and Suva in the Phis, Noume, New Caledonia.

He arrived back in Canada and in 1923 joined the CNSS in Vancouver, was transferred to Montreal in 1927, later to Halifax and then to Saint John. He was appointed agent at Skagway in 1941 and when that office closed he joined the Purser's staff on the coast boats where he remained ever since.

In recent years Mr. Hughes-Hallett has become very well known in Prince Rupert, one of his connections being as a member of Tyee Lodge AF & AM.

Mr. Hughes-Hallett expects to become identified with the Kingsley Navigation Co. at Vancouver after his retirement from Canadian National Steamships.

Smithers Bonspiel Is Ended

Rupert Rink Loses
In One Final—
Heggie's Grand Champs

SMITHERS—Through slushy and water-covered ice, rocks slithered to a stop late yesterday to end Smithers' twenty-fourth annual bonspiel.

Playing in temperatures of 50 above and on badly beaten ice, Heggie rink came out on top to take away their own trophy, emblematic of the grand championship. They won over Spicer rink 9-6.

The Simpson rink won the Bulkley Hotel trophy, defeating Carson, Hazelton rink, 11-5. This was Simpson's second year to take the trophy, but they lost out to Burns rink for the Bulkley Valley Collieries shield after a tie score was decided by extra rocks from the skips.

Anderson Brothers' rink took the Imperial Oil cup from Prince Rupert's Greene rink with a score of 10-3. The Rupert rink suffered a severe handicap in a mix-up which cost them six points.

MacKenzie rink, Prince Rupert, reached eighth in both Bulkley Hotel and Collieries competitions.

Consolation prize went to the Downey rink of Telkwa, which defeated Prince George's Sales rink 5-4.

SPORT SHOTS

Members of the Oxford University golf team have discovered to their chagrin that the female of the species is a deadly opponent on fairways of her own choice. In an off-guard moment they accepted a taunting challenge to meet a picked squad of women golfers from the Sunnisdale Club, on level handicap terms but at odds of 3-1 against them.

Well, the girls are still chuckling and counting the spoils. Over their short-3,819 yards—home course, known as "the hen run," they lathered the students to the tune of 12 matches to six, many by top-sided margins. After leading by four games to two in the four-somes, the Oxford players managed to win only two of the singles.

The long-hitting students found the field of battle strewn with grief. They were in constant trouble as their booming drives and iron shots scattered across greens into yawning traps and unfamiliar hazards. Around the greens their opponents gave them a practical lesson in accurate pitching and putting.

It was, however, anything but a humiliating setback for the university men, because arrayed against them was the pick of Britain's women golfers, some champions in their own right. Leading them to victory was Mrs. A. C. Critchley, wife of Calgary's Gen. Critchley, who needed the Oxford players into accepting the challenge after a 17-1 trouncing by the Sunnisdale men's team. Before her marriage, Mrs. Critchley was known to the international golf fraternity as Diana Fishwick, twice holder of the women's championship and captain of last year's British Curtis Cup team.

Prince Rupert and Central Interior Importance Stressed

Prince Rupert and Central British Columbia figured prominently in an address Monday night by Hon. Leslie Eyres, provincial minister of trade and industry. He gave an optimistic picture of British Columbia's industrial potential as he covered the province area by area and touched on the development already being made in those areas and work now under way or projected to bring the potentialities into being.

Mr. Eyres commented on the gradual tendency of industry to move away from the cities of the lower mainland.

The minister outlined the development in the Prince Rupert area with the building of Columbia Cellulose Company plant costing $27,000,000 and its effect on the city of Prince Rupert and the district through the establishment of another large payroll, and the impetus it will give to the development and expansion of that city's port and harbor facilities.

He mentioned the proposed aluminum industry and its far-reaching effects on the entire province. The growth of the pulp and paper industry in this province was covered briefly and the minister pointed out the ideal conditions existing in British Columbia for the continued development of this industry.

The minister dealt with the area known as Central British Columbia, that broad belt which stretches from the Rocky Mountains to the coast, from McBride to Prince Rupert, and traversed from end to end by the Canadian National Railways. Climatically pleasing, scenic to a remarkable degree, well watered, and rich in fish and game, it was admirably adapted to mixed and dairy farming, and appealed alike to the man of modest means and to the man with substantial capital. The natural resources are such as to support substantial industries, but only the sawmilling industry has really been developed. Pulp, paper, plywood and rayon mills all suggest themselves as possibilities; grist mills, canneries, packing plants are all perfectly logical enterprises.

Still another area of immense promise is British Columbia's Peace River district. Here again we have an agricultural area of striking potentialities. Known the world over for its record yields and championship wheat, there has been a marked tendency to look upon it as a "one crop" area. Even were it so, it would still be sufficiently attractive, but actually it is an admirable mixed farming area with one of the finest climates to be found in that whole climate zone.

"What are the possibilities there?" asked Mr. Eyres. "At once, we think of its enormous coal deposits. It is reliably estimated that the total content is in the neighborhood of 2,000,000,000 tons of coal second to none and superior to most in any present producing or known field in North America."

"It is estimated to contain about 49,000 acres of merchantable timber, and more than 90,000 acres of immature timber of all species."

In hydro power alone, the Peace River Canyon was said to be capable of developing enough for a city of 1,000,000 people. With this and all its other resources, British Columbia's Peace River district had all the essentials for the establishment and support of a great industrial centre. With the provision of the railway connections that the coalition government was planning and bent on carrying out, there was no doubt that the Peace River district could develop many thriving new industries.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

The laws of contract bridge are supposed to simplify matters for all concerned and to avoid confusion at the bridge table. Somehow they don't seem to help my friend Mr. Muzzy. Maybe there is just no way for him to avoid confusion.

The bidding:

You will notice that all the bidding is not given on today's hand. Usually the actual play does not begin until a bid has been followed by three passes. But this hand is different. Play began immediately after Mr. Abel bid four hearts. Mr. Muzzy started the play at that point by banging the ace of clubs on the table.

Mr. Champion clapped both hands over his eyes. "Why does this sort of thing always happen to me?" he said in a strangled voice. On the other hand Mr. Dale and Mr. Abel both looked pleased.

The premature lead gave Mr. Dale the right to enforce a penalty. The penalty was two-fold. First, Mr. Champion (partner of the offender) had to pass when next it was his turn to bid. That wasn't so bad as he didn't want to bid any more anyway. He felt that a four spade contract, played by Mr. Muzzy, might be pretty bad.

So the bidding reverted to where it had been so rudely interrupted and Mr. Abel's four heart bid was duly followed by three passes.

The second part of the penalty was that the ace of clubs became a "penalty card." It had to remain face up on the table and it had to be played the first time Mr. Muzzy could legally play it.

Against the four heart contract Mr. Champion opened the ten of spades. When the dummy went down Mr. Dale saw at once the advantage he could realize from Mr. Muzzy's premature lead. He won the first trick with the ace of spades, killing East's king. He then laid down his deuce of clubs and played

Grader Out On Highway

Public works grader was out on the road between the city and Port Edward yesterday. The work was timely. There had been considerable complaining of potholes developing in the road as a result of the recent soft weather following the cold.

The five from dummy. Mr. Muzzy was forced by the laws to take this trick with his ace.

Had the hand been played normally, East and West would have won two clubs, the ace of hearts and a diamond trick. But when Mr. Muzzy's error gave new life to the king of clubs, Mr. Dale rolled the contract home with ease.

"In the future, Muzzy," said Mr. Champion with mock friendliness, "please depend upon me to tell you when it is time for you to lead. I will use a signal. The signal will be that I hit you over the head with this chair."

instructors could be passed to handle enrollments," Mr. Eyoifson points out. There are many certificate holders, who could come to refresh their knowledge and register up to date, the instructor believes.

With the many trained nurses and nurses' aids in the city, the St. John Ambulance believe that they could have practical home-nursing taught to the women.

"We welcome newcomers, or other first aid men, just as long as we get some enthusiasm or interest to satisfy the Prince Rupert need," says Mr. McLean.

"But we also want the skilled first aid men—there are many working here who have first aid jobs—to qualify immediately as a member—it is only necessary to have your certificate within the last five years," said the secretary.

COURSES FOR ALL

"There are advanced courses in Industrial First Aid Monday and Thursday at the fire hall, which include instruction on poison gases and such treatment as severe burns or amputations.

"But for the beginners, we will fit them into the classes where they are most needed," said Mr. McLean.

Dr. A. W. Large is the St. John Ambulance Brigade divisional surgeon.

Enrolled in the first aid course are: P. E. Eyoifson, instructor; John (Jack) Davidson, Supt. of the St. John Ambulance Brigade; J. C. Franks, ambulance officer of the brigade; John McLean, honorary sergeant of the brigade and secretary; F. Bugyinka, J. C. Ewart, J. F. Eyoifson, William Rothwell, K. R. Slater, George Redhead, R. J. Speers and Edwin Kermede.

In the Industrial first aid are: R. E. Eyoifson, instructor; Nick Mazzone, Donald Main, Jr., R. J. Speers, J. A. Green, W. M. N. Ramsay, Larry Henning, Mrs. Alice Denton, M. C. Hauser, J. S. Furness.

SEED BOX GOOD PLACE TO SOW MOST FLOWER SEEDS
If seeds are sown thinly, they will reach garden size faster without transplanting

Many home gardeners start most flower seeds in seed boxes, even after the weather has warmed up outdoors. Advantages of this practice are:

1. Soil well suited for germinating seeds can easily be supplied in the box.
2. Boxes can be placed near the source of water; moved to the shade when the sun is too hot; moved into the sun in cool weather.

3. All plants that develop can be set out in the garden each in the place desired, with no losses from thinning out.

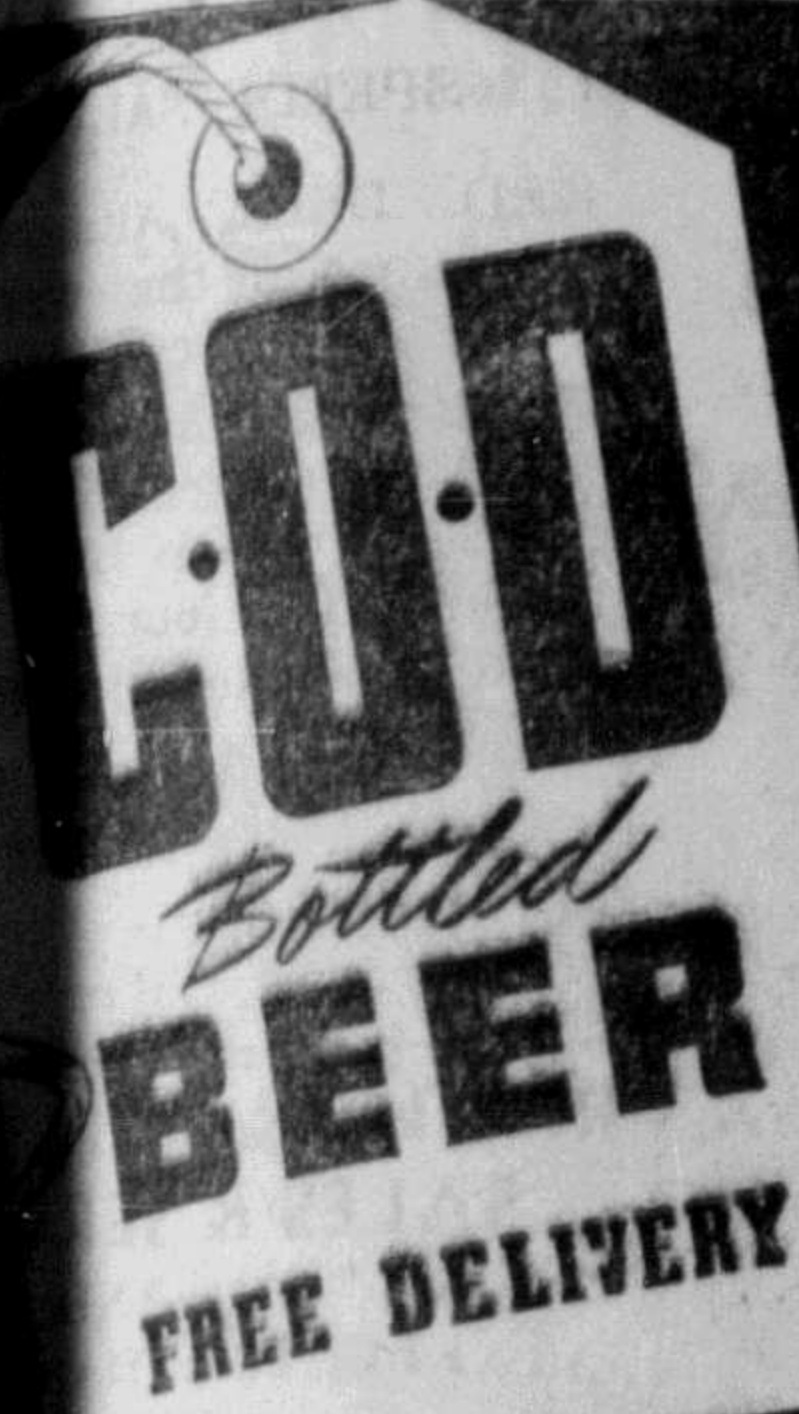

These are real advantages, as those who have tried sowing seeds direct in the garden will understand. They apply especially to the larger flowers, which must be widely spaced, but not so well to plants that grow in ribbon plantings, such as alyssum, and not at all to those that dislike transplanting such as poppies, portulaca and salpiglossis.

A disadvantage is that every time a plant is lifted and moved to a new location it experiences a shock and set-back. This can be overcome by starting your seed boxes early in a cold frame, hot-bed, or in the house; and also by sowing the seed so far apart that they can be moved from the box direct to places in the garden, thus experiencing transplanting shock only once.

To grow the largest plants you can in the shortest time, sowing in a seed box should be made with the seeds thinly spaced, so plants will not be crowded when they come up.

It should be sufficient to sow twice as many seeds as you have room for, to allow for failures from accidents, or other causes. If all seeds grow, some plants may have to be taken out, but as many as possible should be grown

Herring Plant Here Approved

City Council
Gives Permission
For Reduction Factory

Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Company (B.C. Packers) last night received unanimous approval of the city council to build a herring processing plant at Seal Cove—providing there will be "little or no smell."

At a special session, council heard one written protest; a verbal report of a telephone conversation by City Clerk H. D. Thain with North Vancouver's city clerk, and a clarifying statement by D. W. Souter, manager of the fish company which is a subsidiary of B.C. Packers.

Mr. Souter gave council assurance that "everything possible will be done to eliminate any odors from the proposed plant." He said the city would receive such an undertaking in writing today.

"We have three other reduction plants near residential sections and we have no complaints," said Mr. Souter. He cited plants at North Vancouver, adjacent to Burrard Shipyards; at the foot of Gore Avenue, Vancouver, and in the centre of Steveston. Modern equipment, he said, had done away with obnoxious odors.

Mr. Thain said he had telephoned the city clerk of North Vancouver with regards to odors from the plant there. He was told, said Mr. Thain, that after installation of new equipment, complaints of residents averaged about two a month. The plant is located within half a block of a large residential section.

McLean Shipyards wished to go on record with a mild protest. Mayor G. W. Rudderham explained a letter from the company had been handed to him with the statement that, just in case odors arose from the plant became obnoxious, the company wished to be recorded as having protested.

ALDERMEN PLEASED

Ald. T. B. Black, who moved that permission be granted, said he was happy to see the industry expand.

I want to see the fishing industry reach its highest development here," he said, adding he had faith in the company's ability to control the odors.

Ald. George Casey, who at first protested on the grounds that other fish companies had built at a distance from the city, agreed that he wanted to see "the fullest realization of an industry which is the foundation of our livelihood."

"If people, writing letters to the newspapers haven't got the courage of their convictions to sign their names, then I can't consider them as protest," said Ald. H. M. Daggett. He referred to two recent letters in the Daily News.

A rider was added to the motion granting the permit, which stated that everything possible was to be done by the company to eliminate objectionable odors. "We don't want another stink plant," said Mayor Rudderham, referring to a former reduction plant in this area.

William Long is Clerk

Promotion for Assistant Treasurer
And Collector

New city clerk of Prince Rupert, beginning March 1, will be R. W. Long, present assistant treasurer and collector.

Out of six other applicants, Mr. Long was selected last night by a majority ballot vote of the city council to replace City Clerk H. D. Thain.

Mr. Thain has resigned to take the similar position at Port Alberni of city clerk, treasurer and collector.

Mr. Long has held his present position in City Hall four years. A native son, he was born and educated here. He is 29.

"I like it fine," he said, when asked about his new appointment, "but I'll wait until the next council meeting before saying any more." Next meeting is March 5.

Mr. Long was appointed on a six month probationary period at the minimum scheduled salary of $320 per month.

ANOTHER VACANCY

Another unfilled position still exists in City Hall. Council decided to advertise locally only for someone to take Mr. Long's place as assistant treasurer and collector. Also, unsuccessful applicants for city clerk will be notified of the vacancy. Two weeks will be given for replies.

Other applicant from Prince Rupert was John Mulroney. Also applying were George E. Mullen, Armstrong, B.C.; William Kolasas, C. W. Van Hekhouse and E. P. McDermid, Vancouver, and Donald MacKay, Victoria.

City Clerk H. D. Thain read out the applications and references, most of which showed varied experience. After the reading, Ald. George Casey moved a selection be made by majority ballot vote. It took two ballots from each member to make the final decision.

The first ballot lacked a majority for any applicant but the second was:

Prince Rupert Due Tomorrow

Following annual overhaul and the installation of a sprinkler system, the veteran Canadian National steamer Prince Rupert has returned to service on the company's weekly run between Vancouver, Prince Rupert and Ketchikan.

In command of Capt. William Eccles, the well known coastal vessel is due here tomorrow morning from the south.

Called for under the new federal regulations governing fire prevention on passenger ships in Canada, the vessel has for weeks been undergoing installation of extensive fire protection equipment.

With the return of the Prince Rupert to service, the Canadian National has withdrawn the steamer Prince George. During the next few months the newer ship will be thoroughly overhauled and also equipped with additional fire protection devices.

The Prince George is due to return to service late in May to start the 1951 Alaska tourist season, commencing with a charter trip for the Portland (Oregon) Journal. On June 15, the Prince George will leave Vancouver on the first of eight scheduled 10-day summer voyages between Vancouver and Skagway.

ing when he said: "I am very glad the door has not been closed."

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS—International affairs are of such overwhelming concern these days, and "Mike" Pearson is such a well-known figure throughout the world, that I would like to close this letter with a short extract from the speech made on February 13 by John Dickey of Halifax:

"I have been particularly pleased to note the almost universal approval and esteem in which the Secretary of State for External Affairs is held by the people of this country. This is a second instance to which we can point in which public opinion in Canada is at the present time particularly sound and firm. I should like to point out to both his friends and his enemies, if he has any enemies, that behind the Secretary of State for External Affairs in all his actions and in the stands which he has so courageously taken in the name of his country is the solid backing of his colleagues in the Cabinet, and particularly our great Prime Minister, Mr. St. Laurent; and—I would add—the firm determination of the Canadian people."

Old Game is Tried Again

VANCOUVER.—The "Spanish prisoner" game is still being played even though it is one of the oldest confidence stunts ever invented. It's been tried in Prince Rupert more than once, but one here has been known to fall for the deception.

The latest prospective victims to receive attention live in the Cowichan Lake-Princeton Lake region, according to Supt. C. W. Harvison, RCMP. They are in receipt of letters. The writer says he is in a Mexican jail and has documents entitling him to vast wealth stored in a customs warehouse. All he needs is a loan to enable him to again be a free man, and obtain his wealth.

Beer Jerkers Seek More Pay

VANCOUVER.—Beer parlor tapmen, waiters and utility men will seek a 40-cent hourly wage increase. There are 400, and negotiations will be with 67 Vancouver hotels. The present contract expires April 1. Tapmen now get $47.50; waiters, $40, and utility men, $36.

AIR PASSENGERS

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—About 13,000 aircraft passengers touched down at Prince Albert last year. They included trappers, teachers, missionaries, prospectors, medical men, miners, nuns, fishermen, convicts, outpost nurses, business men, housewives and ordinary vacationists.

TO SPEAK HERE—A. Gordon Huson, information adviser to the United Commissioner for the High Commission in Canada, will be in Prince Rupert this week to speak Wednesday night before the Women's Canadian Club. "Britain Today" will be the subject of this graduate of Sorbonne University, Paris, and London School of Economics, who was an intelligence officer with the British Army during the war and was associated with the United Kingdom embassy in Washington before coming to Canada and his present post last year. Mr. and Mrs. Huson will arrive from Ottawa on Tuesday night's train and sail on the Prince Rupert Thursday night for Vancouver.

Good Tourist Season Seen

VANCOUVER.—This is going to be a good year for Canada's tourist industry, O. A. Trudeau, assistant general passenger traffic manager, Canadian National Railways, Montreal, told newsmen here Monday. Bookings are very good up to present and indicate as great an influx of visitors to Canada as last year, said Mr. Trudeau. All that could be hoped for now was that the international situation did not deteriorate further.
