Frank Kaffel Sells Property—To Be Converted Into 60-Suite Apartment
Important preliminary move towards providing Prince Rupert with a substantial block of much-needed new housing has been taken.
Announcement was made late yesterday of outright purchase by a Prince Rupert syndicate of the former United States administration building on 1st Avenue near Seventh Street.

Organizing School Band

Me-Hi Students Going
With New Musical
Instrumentation
According to the accompanist of a brass band may be expected innovation on Prince Rupert's basketball floors — in Memorial High School has been the balance of instruction for its high school band. The band, teacher of music, other subjects at Bo-Me-Hi, organizing membership to the following: two alto, two trumpets, two trombones, one baritone, one bass, one bass drum and a side drum. A flute on order is expected to arrive shortly.
Membership will be confined to present students, said Mr. Hu, who said that a progressive group be kept well trained. An effort will be made, he said, to band practice incorporated into next year's student curriculum. During the past year, students in Grade VII have been given instruction in music theory and on the fluteophone, which are arranged similar to brass instruments.
It is hoped to begin this type of instruction for Grade V students for purchasing instruments and for running the band. Funds are being secured from local contributions. For any further contributions the band will be very grateful, said Mr. Hu.
Present students are being given for their adaptability to present instruments and it is hoped to begin rehearsals next week. Students will be given instruction in their instrument during the day and after school as required.

Vendor was Frank Kaffel of Toronto who purchased the war-built property from War Assets Corporation over a year ago.
The group is now working on arrangements with a view to immediate conversion of the property into an apartment building of some 50 or 60 suites.
Details with this end in view have yet to be settled.
Campaign with a view to raising the money locally to take over the building from Mr. Kaffel has been in progress for the past few weeks. Several local citizens have put up varying amounts.
The group which organized and developed the undertaking consisted of A. B. Brown, J. T. Harvey, Orme Stuart, Dr. L. M. Greene, A. S. Nickerson, C. G. Ham and S. D. Johnston.

B.C. Electric Negotiations

VANCOUVER — Union and company officials met for an hour yesterday after transit workers in British Columbia's three major cities rejected a wage offer by B. C. Electric Railway. An increase of 13½ cents was offered.
Details of the discussions were not disclosed but both sides indicated the meetings would continue "within several days."
Majority of the 3200 transit workers in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, seeking a wage hike of 25 cents an hour, rejected the company offer.
The workers are represented by Amalgamated Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees Union (AFL) which had recommended acceptance.
Rejected along with the wage offer was the "package deal" which would have given workers an increase in sick benefits from $20 to $30 a week and three weeks vacation after 10 years' service.

Could Strike United States

Chief of Air Force Thinks Russians Could Get Through
WASHINGTON — Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of the Air Force, believes Russia could push at least 70 out of 100 bombers through to United States targets in a determined attack.
Vandenberg said in a signed article in the current issue of Saturday Evening Post that Russia "has been working intensively on a heavy bomber to match the B-36 Superfort" and that "she unquestionably will build it."
Analyzing Soviet striking power and United States air defenses, Vandenberg said Russia "now has at least 450 planes that can strike out major population and industrial centres from bases in the USSR" (a reference to Russian copies of the B-29).
He expressed belief no conceivable defence could fully stop a determined bombing attack.

Japanese To Stay Away From Western Pacific Fisheries

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Japanese government announced yesterday a voluntary agreement to bar its nationals temporarily from the major fishing areas in the eastern Pacific and in the Bering Sea.
The ban is to be effective until after Japan regains full sovereignty with signing of a peace treaty. Hereafter, Japanese pledged their willingness to negotiate conservation agreements with other countries applying to all fisheries accessible to the Japanese.
The Japanese government will keep its citizens from those fisheries already being conserved where Japanese were conducting operations in 1940. Among such fisheries would be salmon, halibut, herring, sardine and tuna in waters of the eastern Pacific and the Bering Sea.

Sees No Russian China Break

OTTAWA — It is idle to believe that there is any possibility of Communist China breaking with Communist Russia, said Hon. George Drew, leader of the Progressive-Conservative party, yesterday. Only a break between dictators could bring that about, Drew said. He was speaking before the Ottawa Business and Professional Women's Club.

Government Is Upheld

OTTAWA — Parliament yesterday rejected a CCF want of confidence motion criticizing the government for failing to institute price controls. The vote was 150 to 54 with Progressive Conservatives and Social Credit members joining with the CCF. Liberals voted solidly against the motion.
A. J. Brooks, Progressive-Conservative, New Brunswick, and Hazen Argue, CCF, Saskatchewan, were among the Opposition members who spoke against the government yesterday.

Mrs. William White returned on the Prince George today after a month's holiday in the south, during which time she visited with Major and Mrs. J. M. Cockburn. Major Cockburn was identified with gun emplacements in Prince Rupert during the war.

The job awaiting the Patricias may keep them out of battle news for some days. Under regulations, reporting is permitted only when firm contact has been established with the enemy.

Mrs. Sullivan Is Acquitted

OTTAWA — Mrs. Marion Sullivan was acquitted here late yesterday on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of her husband, Francis J. Sullivan, in a room of the Chateau Laurier here last fall. The jury deliberated for four hours. The verdict was the only one the jury could bring in, the presiding judge agreed.
The 48-year-old woman was charged with manslaughter after the body of her husband, corporation lawyer for the province of Ontario, had been found in the hotel bedroom last November 18.
The jury heard a summary of the evidence by Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier and from Royden Hughes, counsel for the defence, and received its charge from Chief Justice J. C. McRuer.
Mr. Mercier contended that Sullivan died from blows received in a struggle. Mr. Hughes submitted that he died from natural causes.

Special Survey
To Be Made in
Kitimat-Nechako Area
Due to the aluminum manufacturing plans at Kitimat, the provincial game department will conduct a scientific survey this summer in the area from the Nechako River west, Game Commissioner J. G. Cunningham said here this morning.
Referring to the aluminum project, Mr. Cunningham said: "I think it will be established — they have gone too far to back out."
The commissioner, who arrived here on the Prince George this morning for the annual Rod and Gun dinner, said that a contract has been signed with guides and field men to investigate the results of the Aluminum Company's planned flooding of northern lakes.
In addition, he said, Dr. Peter Larkin, game commission biologist, will conduct a fish survey in the Tweedsmuir Park area where the aluminum damming is planned.
Also here to attend the banquet to be held tomorrow is Game Inspector W. H. Hill of Prince George.

Cominco Takes Taku Mill

Two New Tulsequah Properties
Start Production
TRAIL — The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada Ltd. will lease the Polaris-Taku Mining Co. surface plant on the Tulsequah River in British Columbia, about 60 miles east of Juneau, according to an announcement made today following completion of arrangements between the two companies.

The present Polaris-Taku concentrator will be modified to handle ore from Cominco's Big Bull and Tulsequah Chief operation at the rate of about 250 tons a day.
Operation is expected to start by midsummer this year and a crew of about 200 men will be employed. The arrangement between Cominco and the Polaris-Taku Mining Co. provides for a minimum five-year lease period.
Cominco's Big Bull and Tulsequah Chief properties have been under development during the last three years and adequate ore reserves have been established. Ore from the mines will be trucked an average of five miles to the concentrator.
Production at the Big Bull will commence this summer with the Tulsequah Chief coming in at a somewhat later date.
Mineral values at both properties occur as a complex copper-lead-zinc ore containing gold and silver.
The concentrator will produce a copper, a lead and a zinc concentrate. These products will be trucked seven miles to Tulsequah Landing and barged down the Taku River to tidewater.
The copper concentrate will go to a customs smelter at Tacoma and the lead and zinc concentrates will be shipped to Trail.

Community Enterprise

THE MOVE to relieve the housing shortage here by local initiative in taking over for conversion to apartment purposes of the former United States Army administration building is something greatly to be commended.

Prince Rupert is "on the spot" now to provide housing for the permanent employees of Columbia Cellulose at Watson Island. The use of the old administration building, with its possible 60 apartments, should go far to meeting the need.

Public-spirited local enterprise has seized an opportunity to help relieve an emergent situation. Nothing should be lost by those participating in the deal but the gratifying thing is that Prince Rupert people are backing their enthusiasm with their cash.

It is a testimonial to community enterprise in putting the project over.

Meantime, it is not the rain which keeps people away from Prince Rupert. It's the chronic lack of housing, and this deal is going to help a lot.

How It All Began

WHAT'S this business of St. Valentine's Day, with hearts and flowers everywhere and Cupid running wild with his little bow? How did it all begin?

It seems that St. Valentine won his letter in the sweetheart league by performing secret marriages. That was in ancient Rome. Emperor Claudius, who, it turns out, was a stuffed shirt, had hung the "verboten" sign on the marriage bureau (by way of revenge on the women of Rome who wouldn't support his war policy). So St. Valentine saved the day.

Swains stricken speechless with emotion have been saying "Be my Valentine" with a handful of posies since the Greek goddess of love Aphrodite chose the rose as her personal trademark. Venus, the better-known Roman love queen, was a copy-cat and took her cue from Aphrodite. Since then hearts and flowers have been as inseparable as Romeo and Juliet.

The Proper Approach

PRINCE RUPERT'S ice arena project is now being approached in the common-sense manner. Elsewhere in the Daily News today, it is announced that a quick canvass of the whole city will be undertaken this week-end to ascertain if the people really want an ice arena and how much they are willing to put up to establish and maintain it. This follows up the suggestion made by the Daily News when the ice arena idea was revived a few weeks ago that the financial aspects of the undertaking should be carefully considered before anything else.

That there is a good deal of favor for an ice arena in Prince Rupert is evidenced by the recent poll in the Daily News. In addition to those who answered the poll, there are also many who have been talking-up the ice arena for years. The most of these enthusiasts will, no doubt, be ready to back up their talk with their cash.

The measure of support expressed through the questionnaires to be circulated this week-end will decide whether or not the project will proceed. Talk is cheap. Now we shall see who is going to put up the cash—or let George do it.

After unloading one car load of frozen salmon and two car loads of halibut, the freighter on the Prince George today from "Sidney," Capt. Osmund Henderson, returned yesterday to Kelchikan. He will return south tomorrow night.

GOODBYE TO GRAND SHIP

ABOARD RMS CHUSAN.—It is my last day at sea, before landing at Port Said, Egypt.

The sleek greyhound of the southern oceans, the good ship Chusan, is not really racing for port—rather, she is loping in, for she is slowing down a bit so as not to arrive before dawn.

The wind is still cutting and cold, although the thermometer now reads 62 degrees on the leeward side—which, by the way, is the side toward Europe, not Africa, whence the cold winds are coming.

NOW THAT THIS little voyage is nearly over, I am surprised to note how many new friends I have made. Two young British kids (my table mates) and two Americans, man and wife, are coming ashore with an Indian to put me safe aboard the t-a-m for Cairo.

They will be going on to India—the two English lads to take jobs, the American couple to supervise a rubber factory extension, the Indian to open a half-Swiss-owned plant.

THE ENGLISH BOYS think that most of the fellow passengers aboard this ship are "stuffy." I guess old age is creeping over me, for I haven't particularly noted the stuffiness.

My impression is, both from what I have seen aboard this ship and on my two last visits to England, that the English are definitely changing their outlook toward the outside world—and changing it very much for the better.

They seem to be less shy than they used to be. The snobs are not quite so snobbish as they once were. The others, who are the vast majority by the way, are not nearly so reserved and standoffish as they used to be.

The Indians aboard this ship notice the difference, and comment upon it, without malice, but nevertheless with apparent satisfaction.

One keen young Indian chemist said to me that the partial failure of British policy in India, and all Southwest Asia, could be summed up in four words: "Too little and too late."

Had they granted dominion self-governing status to an undivided India back around 1927 instead of 1947, the whole history of those tragic times might have been changed—indefinitely for the better. His theory was that there would have been no portion of India.

According to this scientist's theory, the British are too slow, right now, in laying a basis of native democracy in other Asian areas, like Malaya.

WE HAVE PRINTED instruction sheets regarding landing at Port Said. One paragraph says:

"Photography is strictly forbidden and on no account should cameras be taken ashore or on deck during transit of the Suez Canal."

We are also warned that letters may be a bit late, due to the censorship in Egypt.

Here is another intriguing item:

"Members of the Jewish faith are advised that owing to Egyptian government regulations, they will not be allowed to land at Port Said."

The above ruling is a consequence of the war in Palestine in 1948.

THIS MORNING WE got a belated explanation of our rough ride last night. It seems that if the good ship wants to make top speed, they pull in the "stabilizers." While these variable fins keep the ship from rolling, they tend to slow her down a bit.

Well, I'm sorry to say farewell to the grand old lady of the seas and the fine new friends I have made aboard her. I never get such a reassurance of British competence as I do on a British ship.

As we used to say in my army days, when we had made a batch of things: "Thank God, we've got the Navy," and this new queen of the seas seems to me to symbolize Britain at her best—efficient and modern, but with no show off ornamentation.

Tahtsa Mine Shipping Ore

Underground work is expected to be under way this month with shipments of high grade ore from the Emerald Glacier Mines Ltd. property on Sweeney Mountain near Tahtsa Lake south of Burns Lake in the Tweedsmuir Park country.

In spite of difficult winter conditions, construction of a road to the property has been completed and equipment enough to start and maintain operation is being delivered from the Kentville mine at Nelson. Later a mill will be moved from the Kentville to the Emerald Glacier.

The provincial government contributed $35,000 toward the construction of the road to the mine. Ore shipments will be trucked to the Canadian National Railways at Burns Lake enroute to Trail smelter.

In the meantime, the company plans to ship high grade lead ore to Trail to be followed later by shipments of lead-zinc concentrates.

H. L. Batten, consulting engineer, estimates a tonnage of 250,000 on the property grading 27 percent in combined lead and zinc with $5 in silver and uncalculated values in copper. The gross value would exceed $100 per ton.

First underground work will consist of drifting on the main vein to be followed by cross-cutting on parallel veins. Diamond drilling will be carried out to determine the limits of the ore bodies.

Mayor Cuts His Salary to $1

VANCOUVER — The city council has reduced Mayor Fred Hume's salary to $1 a year—at the request of the mayor.

The change in salary necessitated a bylaw amendment which places $7499 of the $7500 salary into the city's general revenue fund.

The money will be turned over to charities.

Reflects and Reminisces

Seldom, if ever, has there been a case in Ontario similar to the Sullivan manslaughter trial that ended in an acquittal in Ottawa yesterday. The jury remained out for four hours. The charge was that Mrs. Marion Sullivan had beaten her husband, Francis J. Sullivan of Toronto, an official of the Ontario government, to death in a bedroom in the Chateau Laurier. The accused was at first charged with murder, this being later reduced. She was arrested when driving to her home in Toronto. Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, who presided, remarked that, guided by the evidence, there was hardly any other verdict the jury could have brought in.

Interest in the outcome has been intense. It always is when wealth and social and professional prominence become involved. Incidentally, a few lines of type, to the effect that the accused might be called as a witness, cost an Ottawa paper a cool three thousand. A reporter's forecast is sometimes expensive.

The eighty-two-year-old newspaper La Prensa of Buenos Aires, which suspended publication a few days ago was not remarkable for its age or circulation but it did possess an almost unrivalled influence in South America, as well as to some extent in Europe. La Prensa never counted the cost whenever it became necessary to get a story. That was by no means rare. Sometimes pages were cable. The present trouble was between La Prensa and the Argentine government.

Prince Rupert in the early summer of 1909, had not been quite tamed. The town was full of youth, ambition, impulse, generosity and, generally speaking, love of life. No one ever ran from a fight. It was usually the other way around. Rarely was there a dull or stupid day in court. Lawyers needed their brief cases for there was plenty to think about. William Manson, now living in Vancouver, and then government agent, was first magistrate. In subsequent years others included Alfred Carrs, Thomas McClymont and Col. S. P. McMordie.

The late lamented W. E. Williams who died in Vancouver last week first knew Prince Rupert's police headquarters as a practicing lawyer. This place of justice was in the City Hall. It was here that all cases, important or of small consequence, were heard. Times were busy. Every day, the guns of a civilian army were sounding. Building the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway was a man-sized job and licking the rocky, stubborn site for a city became a series of adventures.

When flu appears there is sometimes a tendency to say, at first, that there is nothing much to feel alarmed about. Perhaps there isn't. But a change can set in and that's what is taking place today. There have been hundreds of influenza funerals in Britain. And now flu is making headway not only in Canada but among the fishermen on the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. There are a couple of thousand patients in the Penitentiary region.

Charges ranged all the way from murder, to just plain, everyday assaults and fights, drinking and slander. Many an incident was more humorous than serious. Forty years ago, people had a keen eye for anything in the shape of fun. One morning a new face appeared in court. He wished to see the magistrate, and the judge obliged. The stranger asked to be

YES OR NO—

Ice Arena Campaign Coming To Head With Support Drive

Prince Rupert's civic arena campaign will be brought to a head this week-end. High School students—senior and junior—will carry to every household in the city questionnaires seeking definite "yes" or "no" answers as to the desirability of the arena project and pledges as to what financial assistance may be expected in the way of straight cash donations or regular monthly payments. Assistance in the way of volunteer labor will also be enlisted and a further query will be as to what dues should be imposed for skating or curling rink participation.

As Dr. L. M. Greene, enthusiastic chairman of the area committee, commented last night: "We might as well be realistic about the whole thing and find out just where we stand, whether the people really want an arena and how far they are prepared to go in helping to get it."

Following instructions from the board of directors of the Civic Centre Association to get more information as to financial aspects of the undertaking, the committee is wasting no time.

The project has now resolved itself down to a $125,000 full-sized arena structure of laminated timber and trusses. The only steel involved would be the refrigeration piping for the ice sheets.

Meanwhile, the committee is getting in touch with E. T. Applewhite M.P. at Ottawa to ascertain whether a permit will be available for the steel piping.

The new ice arena committee consists of Dr. L. M. Greene, Earl Gordon, A. R. Crawley, Neely Moore, Ted Boulter, A. S. Nickerson, Harold Thom, Douglas Frizell, A. M. Hurst and Maurice Brydges.

Rotary, Masons, Catholic Church

Competent authorities urge that three things be kept in mind in connection with the Vatican ban on clerical membership in Rotary clubs, says a dispatch from Rome to "British Columbia Catholic," published in Vancouver.

1. It is not a new action. 2. It is not based on or directed at conditions in just one country or area, but is of universal application. 3. It is concerned with only Rotary clubs and not similar organizations.

(A secular dispatch had quoted "a Vatican source" as saying that the ban was meant to apply to similar organizations, such as the Kiwanis, Lions, etc.)

The Vatican decree was issued by the Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office and published in Osservatore Romano, Vatican City daily.

Authorities emphasize that the Vatican's ban on membership in, and attendance at Rotary clubs applies only to priests and not to Catholic laymen.

According to the opinion of authorities, this allows for judgment and decision in individual cases whether or not the Rotary club falls within the provisions of Canon 684, as regards the laity.

It is generally stated that in Latin America, particularly, Rotary is usually associated with a form of freemasonry which is actively hostile to the church.

In Latin America and some other countries Rotary has not only been allied with Masonry, according to authoritative persons here, but has in some cases been under its direction. Rotary clubs have also served in some cases as a spawning ground or candidacy school from which Masonic organizations choose likely candidates for membership in their lodges.

Interest In Mixed Choir

Interest in the joint Rotary-Gyro mixed choir is keeping up well, according to C. P. Balagno, director of the group.

At sixth practice Monday night there was a turn-out of about 25, almost equally divided between men and women. Mr. Balagno was emphatic in pointing out that, although the Rotarians and Gyros were sponsoring the chorus, membership in it was open to anyone. He hopes to have 45 or 50 voices in the chorus by the time the minstrel show is presented later in the year. Music for the show, which consists chiefly of negro spirituals, is expected to arrive before the practice next Monday. In the meantime, the group is singing mostly sacred music.

The chorus has been assured the use of Booth School for practices, he said.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Again today Mr. Muzzy used the Blackwood four no trump when he shouldn't have. The Convention will serve you well when all you need to know is the number of aces in partner's hand. But when you need to know which ace or aces, then it is better to use cue-bids in exploring slam possibilities.

When Mr. Champion raised his opening heart bid to three, Mr. Muzzy immediately got very bullish. He barged right into four no trump and Mr. Champion's response showed one ace. But which ace? Clubs or diamonds?

If it was the club ace the opponents could well have two quick diamond winners. But if it was the diamond ace Mr. Muzzy would have liked to be in six. He didn't know, so he gambled it out and bid six anyway.

Mr. Masters laid down the ace of diamonds and Mr. Dale's 10 spot screamed for a continuation. Another diamond to Mr. Dale's king set the contract.

Mr. Muzzy would have done better to bid three spades on the second round. Since hearts had been established as the spot for the final contract, the three-spade call would have been a cue-bid, showing the ace. Mr. Champion would then have bid four clubs, showing the ace of that suit.

A four-heart bid at this point would be about enough on the South cards. If you still felt optimistic you might bid five hearts or five clubs but even then Mr. Champion would not go to six.

Either of these latter bids would send this message across the table: "Partner, we have discussed hearts, spades and clubs and we seem to be pretty well fortified in those suits. But what about diamonds? Can you guarantee that we won't lose two diamond tricks at the start?"

Obviously Mr. Champion could make no such guarantee with the North hand and so the unmakeable slam would have been avoided.

BASKETBALL—

Co-op Hoop Lead Wider

Scored Close Victory
Over Gordon & Anderson

Co-Op widened the gap that separates them from the Brown-wood entry in the Senior Basket-ball League race by taking a 56 to 50 game from Gordon & Anderson last night. For the first few minutes of the game it looked as though G & A might come through with a win as they grabbed an early lead. They used Les Mathews in the first period and he scored seven points during his stay on the floor. G & A started to falter before the half was over and Co-Op pulled away from them going into the second half with a ten-point 32 to 22 lead.

In the final period Co-Op increased the lead to 16 points before G & A got going to end up with a driving finish that brought them to within four points of Co-Op and just 6 points down at the close of the game. Co-Op played a steady game all through and were particularly effective in their checking. The two Scherks played heady ball, as did Joe Davis and Ted Arney. Sonny Pevnon showed flashes of his former prowess. For the losers Flaten went great guns to sink 15 points. If G & A had played the whole game as they did the final part of the half it could have been a win for the hard-waremen.

EXHIBITION
Brownwoods won over the High School in the monthly exhibition game by a 41 to 35 margin. It was a lack-lustre game that saw Brownwoods, with only five regulars available, dispose of the students without too much difficulty. High School started to wear them down in the final period and outscored the senior entry. Coach Alex Bill of Brownwoods used Pete Postuk as a reserve player and he delighted himself and the fans by getting into the score column with three points. Olson continued on his high scoring spree and put in 15. McChesney was again top man for the school as he scored 11.

INTERMEDIATE
Fashion walked all over Merchants to trim them 67 to 23, with Danny Bill 18, Jim Hebb 15 and Barry Hill 13, all fattening their season scoring averages. It was not much of a game as Merchants were forced to go to the junior ranks to fill their line-up. They will certainly have to produce a better team if they are to remain in league competition next year.

JUNIOR
Rupert Hotel more than doubled the score on Manson's as they won the Junior game by 39 to 17. McKay had a big night, scoring 20 points. Manson's tried hard, but they just haven't the weight, height or experience to win over Rupert Hotel. Young Scherk of Manson's stumbled over one of the other players in a scramble and left the game with an injured leg.

To the Overtaxed Motorists of B.C.

Have you ever added up how much you pay to drive a car in this province? You pay 10c Provincial Tax plus Federal Sales Tax on every gallon of gas! You pay new car taxes . . . registration fees . . . a fee for the reexamination of your driving ability—and a semi-annual car checkup charge! You pay more for your car license than any car owner in Canada! And now your government in Victoria is collecting your driver's license fees five years in advance—another $5.00 out of your pocket! What can be done? If all motorists speak together, excessive taxation can be reduced. The only way you can speak effectively is through your Automobile Association.

Fill in and mail to your local member of the Provincial Government.

I believe B.C. taxes on automobiles and motorists are completely out of line, and that action should be taken now to secure relief from the present administration's tax policy.

Problems of Film Board

Problems of the local branch of the National Film Board were discussed with the regional supervisor, J. D. Patterson, at a meeting in Booth Memorial High School Monday night. Mr. Patterson flew here from Vancouver for the meeting.

Praising the work done by the local film executive and members, Mr. Patterson, the new regional supervisor, explained improvements in the service plan.

The local meeting will be attended by a National Film Board representative at least once every three months, he said.

Specialization of requests for films was causing a problem for the film board which covers general film subjects.

Mr. Patterson said that effort is being made to remedy this by urging sponsored films such as from dairy, oil and railway companies, which would circulate through the film board loan.

MANY FILM COUNCILS

Due to the overwhelming demand for films, Mr. Patterson said that in one way they were sorry that they had as many as 35 film councils in British Columbia. Although utilization of films is their objective, the film board needs co-operation from each film council.

"The pink cards are the basis of your film supply," said Mr. Patterson, who explained that the pink cards returned from each council are the only record they are able to send to Ottawa to further grants for more films.

He said that it would help the film council's quota of films if all city organizations would order their films through the secretary of local councils instead of writing directly to the University.

BORROWING FILMS

To help the local quota, D. R. Fyffe's amendment to a motion by E. A. Evans that the individual who borrows the films be held responsible for the pink slip, was endorsed by the supervisor. Mr. Evans' motion stated that the individual and organizations are to be recorded when films are borrowed.

Other motions included that films should be taken out only days when they are to be shown, allowing for Thursdays when the library is closed; that films should be returned to the library when it is open and not left at the Civic Centre desk.

It was agreed that all films should be re-wound after use, or if not, a note left inside the film indicating that this had not been done. If repairs are needed to the film this should also be noted.

Mr. Patterson explained that the order "not to re-wind" the films applied only to the person shipping the films back to the University where they are inspected and re-wound simultaneously. Otherwise, he said that the films must be re-wound immediately after use.

Upon a query from Chairman Potterton, Mr. Patterson said that the latest block of films ordered before Christmas by the local council will be here not later than the end of March. Reason for delay was due to trouble in ordering, the supervisor said, in apology for the long wait.

Outlining the provincial film council's work, Mr. Patterson praised the efficiency of the work of the regional agent, Dr. Schrum, and Norman Barton, who handle hundreds of bookings and problems of the 35 council. This office is at the University of British Columbia, while the provincial regional supervisor's office is in Vancouver City. "Preview films of the latest film board work may be borrowed from my office," said Mr. Patterson, "But Dominion, provincial and municipal government departments have priority."

Graydon Roberts, the district representative from Prince George, was introduced to the council. He will keep contact with Prince Rupert, ordering films through his Prince George office.

Secretary-treasurer of the local council, Mrs. Rupert Griesel, recorded a bank balance of $434.56 in the financial statement. A check for membership was received from the Prince Rupert Fire Fighters' Recreation Association.

Films taken in color by Sgt. L. A. N. Potterton, illustrating the Okanagan Valley, Smithers district and Prince Rupert, were shown at the conclusion of the meeting.

Pretty Wedding Rite At Masset

MASSET — Masset Anglican Church was the setting of a very pretty wedding recently when Kathleen Genevieve, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Matthews of Masset was united in marriage to James Marvin Adkins, son of Mr. James Adkins of Prince Rupert.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was beautifully gowned in white satin, with a long veil flowing from a halo headdress. She wore elbow length gloves. Her ensemble was completed with a lovely bouquet of pink roses.

The matron of honor was the bride's cousin, Mrs. Olive Brown, who wore a lovely white dress, with a corsage of pink roses. The bridesmaids were Mona Bell, Pearl Parnell, Ruby Weir, Muriel Collinson, Blanche Wilson, Ramona Young and Myrtle Davidson, who wore lovely gowns of blue and pink with corsages of pink roses.

Arlene Davidson, niece of the bride, was flower girl, dressed in a pretty floor length blue nylon dress with a short white fur cape over her shoulders. Danny Matthews, nephew of the bride, was ring boy, dressed in a blue suit. He carried the ring on a little cushion covered with white satin.

Cecil Brown performed the duties of best man to the bridegroom. The ushers were Willis White, Robert Davidson, Jack Edgars, David Hunter, Reginald Davidson and Kenneth Brown.

Rev. Mr. Young of New Masset performed the wedding ceremony and Hester Marks presided at the organ.

Following the ceremony there was a banquet and wedding dance in the Masset Community hall. The beautiful five-layer wedding cake was topped by a miniature bride and groom under a wedding bell.

Mr. and Mrs. Adkins were the recipients of many and useful gifts which were displayed at the home of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Adkins will reside at Prince Rupert.

Terrace Dental Clinic Benefits

TERRACE—The Terrace dental clinic, for pre-school and grade 1 children, is to benefit substantially from the proceeds of an auction sale and dance which was held in the Civic Centre on Friday evening last. The affair was sponsored by the Kinsmen Club and was a huge success.

A large variety of goods, both old and new and all in good condition, had been donated for the sale. Bidding was brisk and competition for some of the articles very keen. A beautiful little six weeks' old puppy, whose mother was a pedigree Irish setter, went for $15.

During an intermission of the dance there was more auctioning and a box of ladies' clothing, hosiery and lingerie caused a lot of merriment when it was disclosed that a bachelor was bidding on everything and got the lot. Auctioneers were Earl Sargent and Rawley Beecher and they contributed much towards the evening's entertainment. Auctioneer's clerk was Bill Osborne.

Darrell Collins was the announcer and entertainment was provided by Margaret Groome, tap dancing; Gerald Toop, electric guitar; Dwayne Berger and Don Norstrum, guitar and accordion duet; Lorna Melvyn, pianoforte solo. The choral club, under the baton of C. J. Norrington, gave three items with Mrs. Norrington as accompanist. These were "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Land of Hope and Glory," and the ladies' chorus singing "Danny Boy."

The Terrace Ramblers, the boys' orchestra of accordion and string instruments, were in fine form with their playing and put on an excellent program of music for the dancers. There were two square dances for which Mr. Toop did the calling.

The canteen was taken care of by the Kinnettes and Dr. MacPherson sold tickets at the door.

Unusual Story On Screen

Reported in advance to be one of the most unusual stories to reach the screen, "Three Secrets," with Eleanor Parker, Patricia Neal and Ruth Roman, comes to the Capitol Theatre here this Wednesday and Thursday.

It is the story of three young mothers who turn over their babies at birth to an adoption home on the same day. Five years later a plane crash occurs on a remote mountain peak and only a little five-year-old adopted boy survives.

The three women, now in widely divergent walks of life, are drawn to the base of the mountain from where rescue attempts are taking place and come together in common bond—the possibility that the child is one of theirs.

Eleanor Parker plays the part of a happily married young matron, Pat Neal is a successful newspaperwoman and Ruth Roman is an ex-convict.

A dramatic ending is replete with romantic impact.

Frank Lovejoy and Leif Erickson are the featured male players.

A solo, "Teach Me to Pray," was sung by Mrs. Margaret Howell, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Beach at the piano.

Following an address by Mrs. A. W. Atkinson, Miss Clara Preston outlined the work undertaken by the Women's Church Council.
