Cellulose Displays Coming to Exhibition Here

The Civic Centre-sponsored Industrial and Natural Resources Exhibition, to start June 29, has attracted country-wide attention, for one of the attractions to be featured will be a display by the Aluminum Company of Canada, shipped directly from the Toronto Trades Fair.

FL Wins Canadian Pact

Workers on the $40,000,000 Alcan project in British Columbia will have to sign a new contract with the American Federation of Labor unions un-derstanded yesterday.

Wasted Commons

The House of Commons agreed yesterday to continue to hasten the end of the current session but it will be only 32 minutes around the subject before it finally gave its consent.

Signations, Appointments

Former Prince Rupert school board members accepted the school board's offer to accept the new term. Applications of Miss Anna Beketov and Miss Anna Penoff, who are attending Normal School this year in Vancouver, were accepted for certification.

Man Falls From Territory

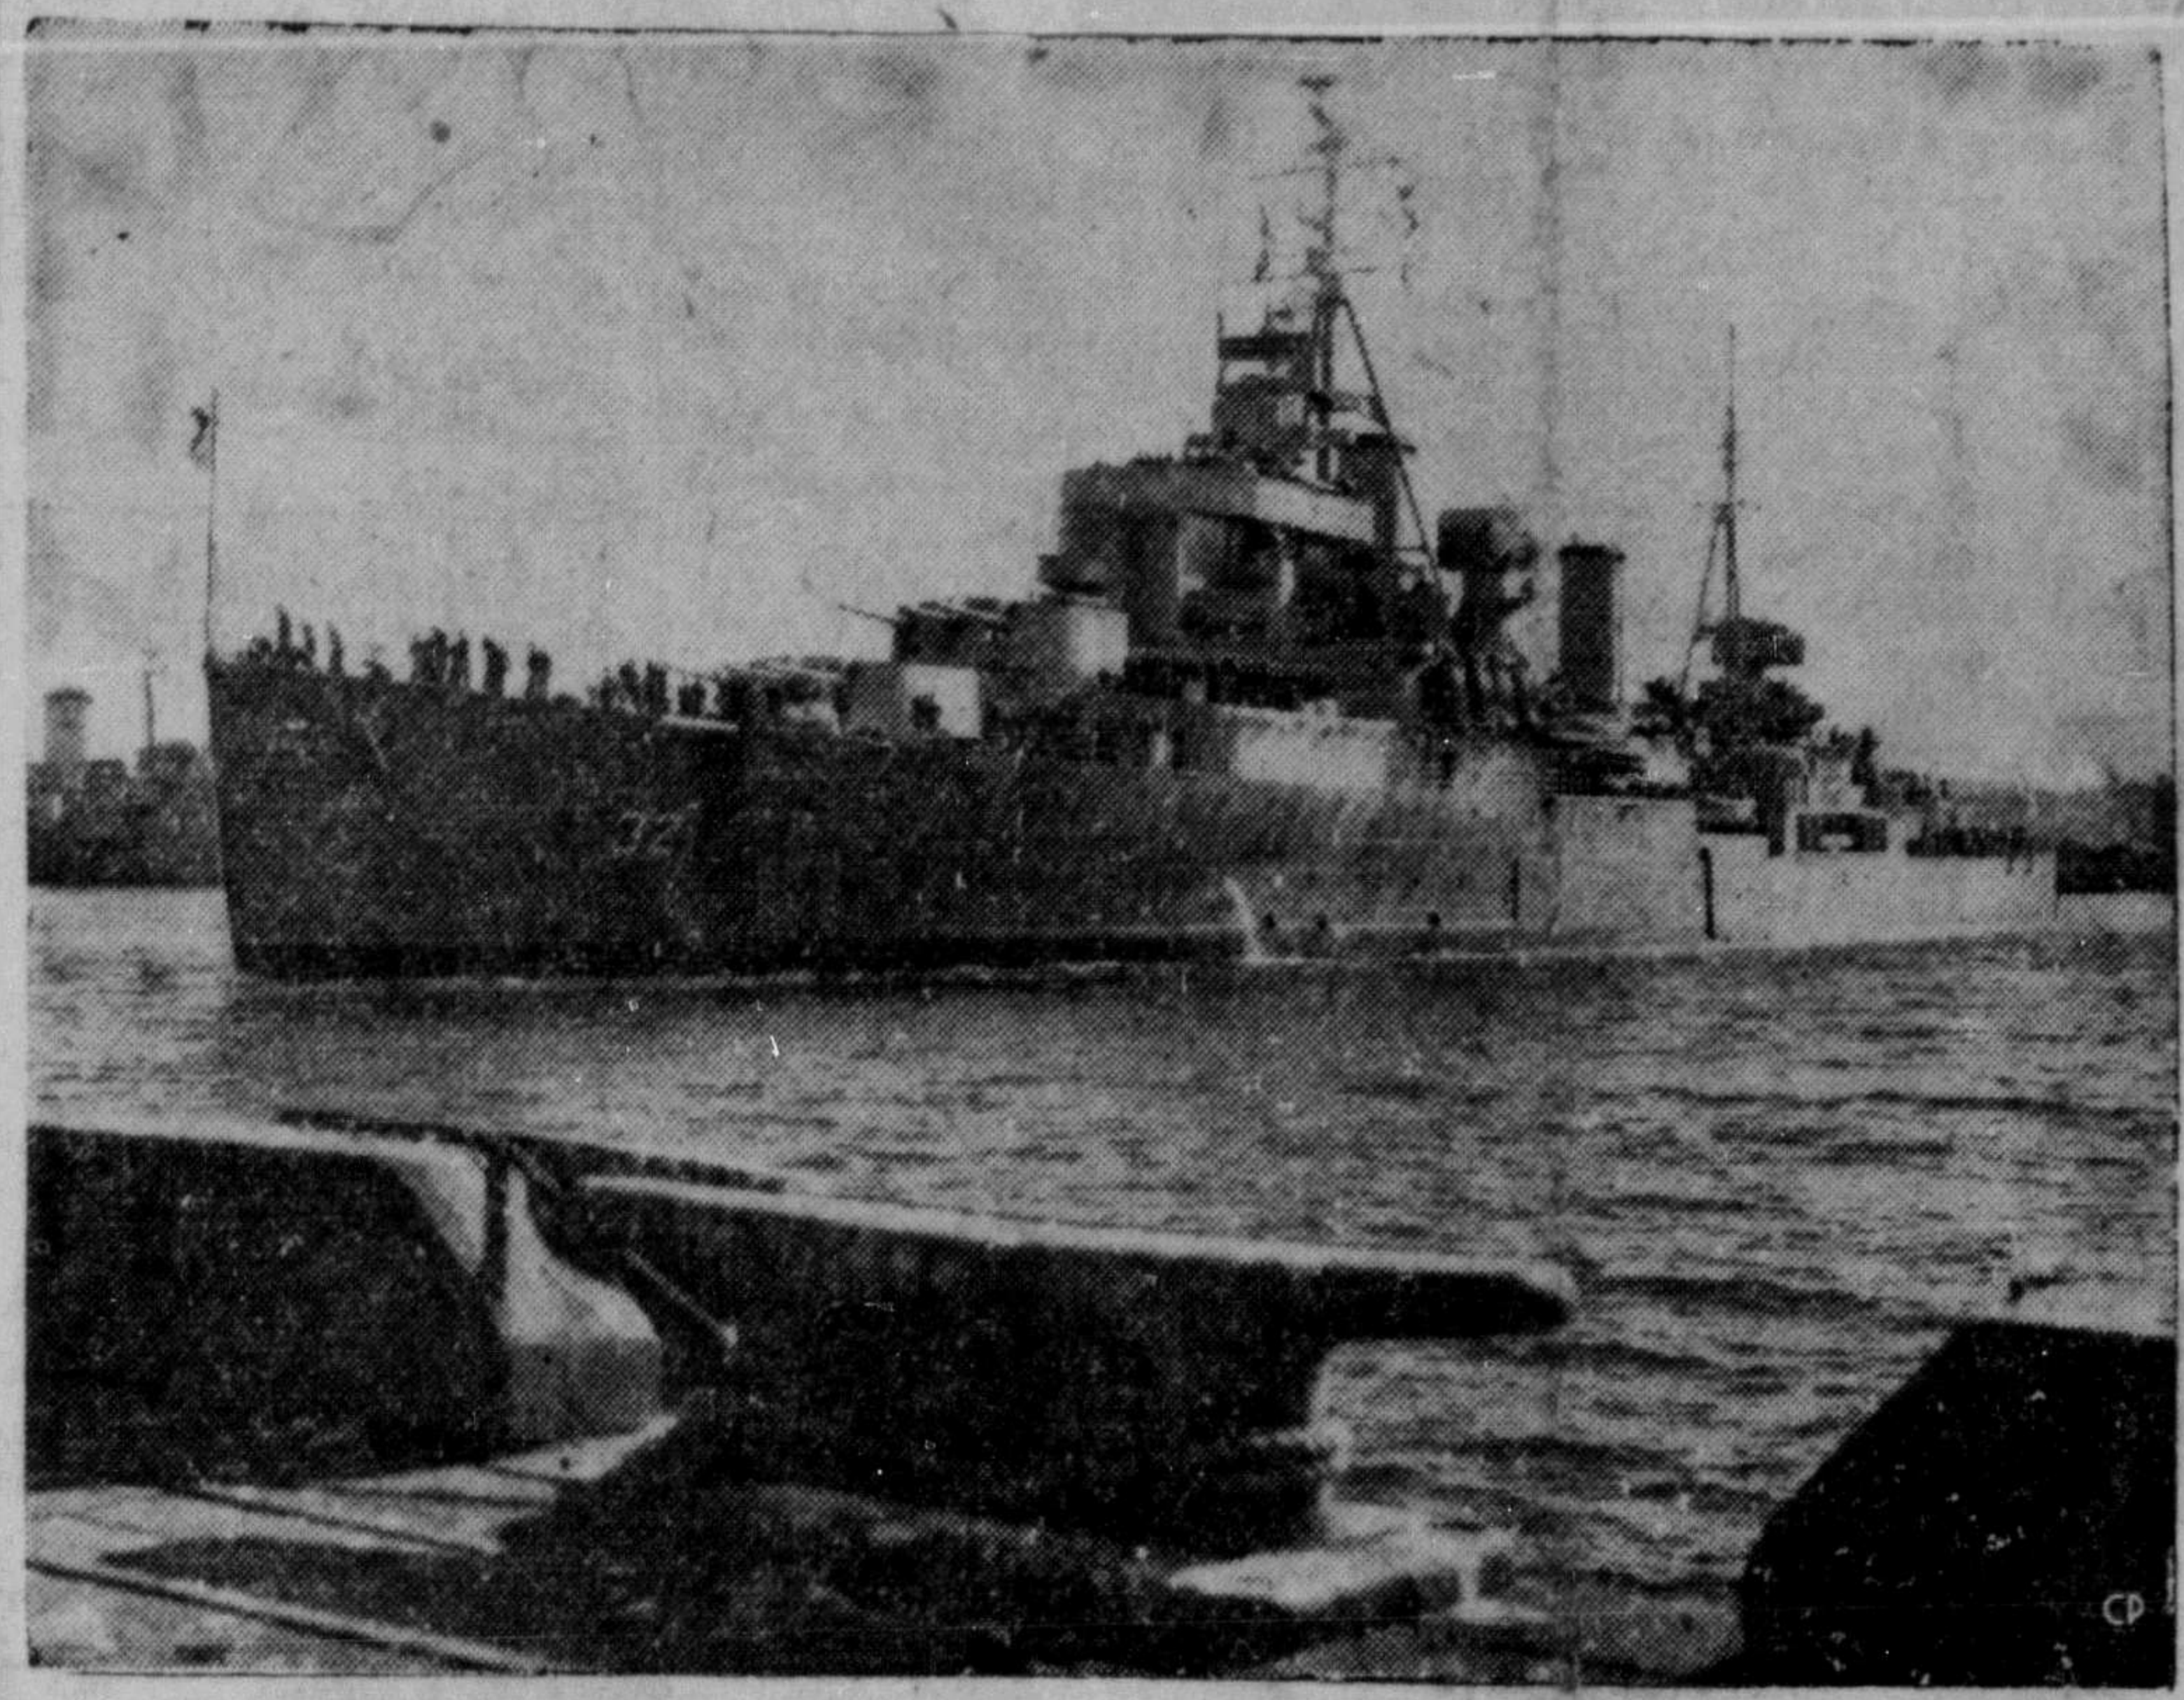

Another dormitory building is planned to be built here for employees of the M.L.L. Ltd.

Twenty-Fifth Heavy Losses

The Peiping radio claimed today that the Canadian Twenty-Fifth Brigade and two United States Army units suffered heavy losses on the Korean front last week.

FINNISH TRAFFIC

Number of motor vehicles in Finland reached 61,000 in 1951. There were 32,000 trucks and passenger cars plus buses.

CRUISE ENDS—After a four-month training cruise to the Antilles, the cruiser HMCS Ontario arrived back at home port three days ahead of schedule because of a 1,400-mile dash to aid a critically-injured British seaman. Gordon Lee, 17, of Kent, England, was injured in a fall aboard the British tanker Athel Chief. The Ontario answered the ship's call for aid, transferred the injured seaman and headed under forced draft for Esquimalt.

Nine Jet Planes Crash In Air Force Manoeuvre

RICHMOND, Indiana—Nine United States Air Force F34 jet fighters plunged to earth in a thunderstorm near here yesterday, killing four pilots while six other airmen died in three separate crashes in the west.

The jet fighters fell out of the sky in quick succession around Richmond, showering wreckage over a wide area. In addition to the dead, two other pilots were injured, one critically.

Two others rode their planes to crash landings without injury.

Eight parachuted to safety.

There was no official explanation of the mishaps pending inquiry.

Twenty-one planes were taking part in a formation. While the possibility of sabotage is being explored, the remaining planes are being kept under close guard.

North Korea Is Enigma

Reaction to Cease-Fire at 38th So Far Unknown

UNITED NATIONS, New York—Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general, said today that his proposal for a Korean cease-fire in the vicinity of the 38th parallel was received favorably by top United Nations diplomats.

But he has heard nothing from the Communists, Mr. Lie said.

"We do not know what is in the minds of the North Koreans and their supporters," he said. "We do not know whether they would welcome or reject a cease-fire."

Rebuild Smithers Garage Structure

SMITHERS—Initial step has been taken towards rebuilding the Smithers Garage which was destroyed by fire last February.

The local contracting firm of Bovill & Hann has a crew of men engaged in erecting a new addition immediately adjoining the site of the former structure, foundation and concrete floor of which were salvaged from the fire ruins.

The extension will add another 43 feet of frontage on Main street providing the owners with a one-storey building having 120 foot frontage and depth of 90 feet.

PRESCOT, Lancashire, England—Pas Preece, opening batsman in a cricket match here, was hit by the first ball and broke his glasses. He returned shortly with a new frame and scored 29 not out.

LEA, Lincolnshire, England—The two village pumps, favorite gossiping place for village housewives, have disappeared. They were stolen for the amount of lead they contained.

CHINESE ORGANIZE
MONTREAL—Naturalized Chinese-Canadians here formed a Montreal Chinese-Canadian Association recently. Chinese-Canadians in Toronto and Vancouver already have similar organizations and plans are under way to establish such groups in other communities.

Are Being Driven Further Back From the Thirty-Eighth Parallel

TOKYO (CP)—Battered Chinese Reds started retreating today from their main Korean stronghold—the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Pyongyang "Iron Triangle"—field reports said. A pooled dispatch from the western front said the Reds were falling back toward Kumsong, 17 miles due east of Pyongyang and about 28 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Yanks Win From Sox

Torrid Chicagoans Cooled Off With First Loss In Seven Games

CHICAGO—Big Vic Raschi and the New York Yankees cooled off the torrid Chicago White Sox 4 to 2 last night before a record throng of 53,940 fans at Comiskey Park.

The victory ended a six-game winning streak and reduced the lead of the White Sox over the Yankees to 3½ games.

Raschi, in becoming the first American League pitcher to win nine games so far this season, spiked the White Sox on seven hits.

Bob Feller turned in his eighth victory against one defeat as he pitched the Indians to an easy 7 to 1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox before 34,860 fans in a night game at Cleveland.

Feller scattered seven Red Sox hits, blanking Don DiMaggio in five trips to the plate to end the Boston centre fielder's hitting streak in 27 straight games.

The veteran Dizzy Trout, backed by a twelve-hit attack, pitched Detroit Tigers to a 9 to 2 triumph over Philadelphia Athletics in the only game in the Major League.

St. Louis Cardinals edged out Boston Braves 2 to 1 under the lights at Boston in the National League's only game of the day.

Scheduled night games between Pittsburgh and Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Philadelphia and Chicago and New York in the National League were rained out.

A scheduled night game between Washington Senators and St. Louis Browns in St. Louis was rained out with the Senators ahead 4 to 1 after four innings.

Opening Up Old School

There will be more children going to school next term than ever before in Prince Rupert. School board, at a meeting last night, heard from Inspector G. W. Graham that not only would all primary schools be filled but more space would be needed.

And the solution to the situation is to open the Seal Cove school, the board decided. An estimate on the cost of rehabilitation of the old school will be called for immediately.

Mr. Graham said he estimated 65 beginners in Conrad school, which would mean the removal of one grade in order to provide room. At King Edward school 63 would start next term and at Borden school, about 33.

Tells of Ordeals

Torture and Degradation In Communist Prison Detailed by Vogeler

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Robert A. Vogeler, grim and unsmiling, told yesterday of seven months of torture and degradation in a Communist Hungary prison and disavowed as "rubbish" his purported confession of sabotage and spying. The "confession" had been wrung out of him after seventy hours of torture when further resistance seemed futile.

Among other things he had been forced to remain for many hours in ice cold water with penetrating white lights all around him.

The American business man detailed for the first time the ordeal he underwent before being freed. He was released April 28 through a deal with the Hungarian regime arranged by the Department of State.

New Townsite is Popular

Residential Section at Terrace

The old Keith property on the south side of the Canadian National Railway track across from the main townsite of Terrace is proving popular with new home-makers at Terrace.

Already 130 of the one-and-one-tenth acre lots on the recent new subdivision have been taken up with immediate building plans in the most cases. Seventy more lots are about to be put on the market by the agents, E. T. Kenney Co. Ltd. Street and road improvements have already been made.

Mystery Deepens

Hunt for Diplomats Turns to Italy

LONDON—The hunt for two missing British diplomats widened suddenly from France to Italy today after the Foreign Office disclosed a telegram to a relative of one of them was sent from Rome.

A British embassy official in Rome said that, even though the message did come from the Italian city, it was no conclusive evidence that the men had been actually there.

Nevertheless, some French police officials, after a thorough combing of Paris, expressed belief that the men are not in Paris and may have gone to Italy.

Reuters News Agency quoted French secret service chiefs as saying they believe it possible the diplomats may have flown from Paris to Warsaw last Sunday in place of two policy diplomats who had arranged to fly that day.

Both diplomats—Guy Burgess, former British embassy official in Washington, and Donald D. MacLean, head of the foreign office American secrets.

Fear has been expressed in London and Washington that they may have ducked behind the Iron Curtain.

A Foreign Office spokesman said that the message was to Burgess' mother and related that Burgess, 40 and a bachelor, was going on a "long Mediterranean holiday." It was sent Thursday.

Two other messages, to MacLean's wife and mother, were sent from Paris Wednesday. The latter two were reported sent by a mysterious third person. The men have been missing since May 25, MacLean's thirty-eighth birthday.

WEATHER

Synopsis
Rain was falling on much of the north coast this morning as a weak storm front moved in off the ocean. The rest of British Columbia was favored with bright sunny skies but a general increase in cloudiness is looked for in central and northern parts today.

Tomorrow afternoon will see another in a series of Pacific storms strike the north coast. However, sunny weather can be expected in much of B.C., especially in southern parts.

Forecasts
North coast region—Cloudy with a few showers today and Sunday. Little change in temperature. Winds south (20 mph) during the day and light at night. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow—at Port Hardy, 45 and 58; Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 45 and 55.

Making Tourists Welcome

THE TOURIST season is almost here again and the question of suitable attractions again arises. What does the average United States visitor want out of a Canadian trip?

It has been made pretty clear that the main interest Canada offers is the fun of discovering a foreign land which is just what Canada is to a great many Americans. We have unspoiled scenery by the hundreds of square miles up here and that is something that is getting mighty scarce in many parts of the United States. We have a restful change of scene.

The Canadian Travel Bureau says the American traveler wants good, convenient accommodation at a reasonable price. He wants good food, good fishing and good hunting, and courtesy and freedom to do what he wants to do in his own way.

The American tourist, as we have said before, does not want the waving of the stars and stripes in his face. He is out of the States on a holiday because he wants it that way. He does not want cheap imitations of things American to "make him feel at home." Nor does he want to feel that Canadians are only after his dollars. Just being ourselves is probably the best way of making the American visitors want to come back.

Congratulations, Edith

CONGRATULATIONS to Edith Johnston, who has won a trip to Honolulu for herself and her mother after being adjudged the outstanding High School girl for British Columbia in her knowledge of the countries and peoples of the Pacific area and by reason of her personality, bearing and ability to express ideas!

Miss Johnston brings honor not only to herself and her family but also to Prince Rupert. It was no small accomplishment to win such a comprehensive contest from among thousands of girls in this province.

As I See It

NOTES ON SCOTLAND

EDINBURGH, SCOTLAND.—To anyone who revisits Scotland after an absence of thirty-odd years, the visible improvement in the condition of the poor people is most impressive.

But there is still a grave housing shortage in Scotland. In one city here public officials are now dealing with applications for public housing which were filed in the year 1933!

In Scotland, as in England, there is a shortage of policemen. They pay here (for example, in Glasgow) is about $18 per week for a police recruit. Of course, $18 per week buys much more here than in Canada. For here most of the food necessities are subsidized by the government—that is, paid for out of taxes and not by the individual purchaser.

ONE SWALLOW DOES NOT make a summer. But even in Scotland I notice the same trend as I did in England—or, for that matter in India.

American theatrical performers are top "box office" attractions here. In London, Danny Kaye is still the show girl's idol. But don't ask me why. Here the headline at the local variety theatre is Red Ingle, whose company of four features 100 percent American corn, including "Cigarettes and Whusky and Wild, Wild Women."

PS: The Scots visibly, audibly enjoy that brand of U.S. corn.

PFS: We have all heard of the fellow who swiped the other's pants. Maybe Red Ingle has the same idea about Scotland's comedians. I can vouch for the fact that Red has equipped himself with a bonnie kilt while here—at the very same shop in which we invested in a Black Watch plaid skirt for our daughter.

IN EDINBURGH CASTLE they show you the room where Mary Queen of Scots gave birth to the baby who became the first King of the united monarchy of Great Britain.

The room is small, dark and uncomfortable. It makes one remember that the living standards of the humblest people of our times are much more comfortable than those of the very rich and powerful of earlier centuries.

A visit to Oxford, a couple of weeks ago, set us to thinking along somewhat similar lines. The architecture of the famous old university city is superb—but, to my way of thinking, only externally. Some of the buildings have no real heating system, and the cooking facilities are, in some, very crude.

The internal arrangements of most of these Old World colleges, such as at Oxford and Edinburgh, simply cannot compare with those of much more modest establishments in North America. But it makes one wonder just where we are going in America, anyway. What will we gain in the long run if we go on spending vast sums of money on brick and mortar and stone and steel, if we do not really develop and hold the great teachers who are the real life and soul and spirit of any educational establishment.

In India, some of the colleges which in some respects lead the world actually impart all instruction outdoors. Great teachers can teach anywhere—but not all the millions in the world can make a really worthwhile educational institution if there are no great teachers to use it. Here in this land they have the teachers.

Undying Message

By Rev. E. A. Wright, D.D., First Presbyterian Church
"Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you; for I go and prepare a place for you."—John 14:1-3.

These words, among the most familiar and most sustaining words of Jesus, speak their own undying message. The literature of Christendom tells us of the central place this chapter has had in the hearts and minds of her seers and her soldiers. When the words were read by Lockhart to Sir Walter Scott, has always interested me:

In the earlier years of the wars between the Revolutionary France and the intervening outside nations, Burns' sympathies were very ardently with France.

One night after he had taken on a bit too much liquid refreshment, Burns got into a fierce argument with a local military figure whom we might call, in our own times, the Colonel Blimp of the town.

Burns infuriated the Blimp by ironically proposing a toast "To the success our cause deserves." He narrowly escaped having to fight a duel.

Later, when the social aspect of the French Revolution gave way to a new period of French imperialism, Burns joined the volunteer militia, and also wrote a stirring poem about what would happen to the French if they attempted to invade Britain.

IN ONE SENSE, EDINBURGH seems to me the most historic city in all Britain. That is, it is easier to follow the history here, for the landmarks are fewer, but much better preserved than south of the border. You can see the very spot where John Knox preached his sermons, or where the Romans built the wall.

during his last illness, he said: "Well this is a great comfort. I have followed you distinctly and I feel as if I were yet to be myself again."

It is a message to bring reassurance and peace to perplexed and disquieted men.

To Jesus death was not a cessation of life in the grave. It was going from one abode to another abode in the one house of the Father. It is well to remember there is only one house, but there are many rooms. This house, says Jesus to the disciples, was theirs as well as His. He goes to get their's ready.

Television In Canada Costly

OTTAWA.—A. D. Dunton, chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, told a Senate finance committee on Thursday that it would cost $18,000,000 to $19,000,000 to equip Canada with a national television system that would serve half the population. Meantime the first station has been established and a second is going into Montreal this fall.

THE GOVERNMENT OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

HON. W. T. STRATH, K.C., Provincial Secretary

MAJ.-GEN. C. E. STEIN, Civil Defence Co-ordinator

BE PREPARED!

In the news columns of the daily and weekly newspapers you have read that in the event of war British Columbia will not occupy a favoured position. In short, it is liable to be attacked by a potential enemy.

Consequently, it is vital that each and everyone of us learns the facts about such an attack... what to expect and how to prepare to fight back. Such preparation does not bring war any closer, nor does it mean war is imminent. It is just sound common sense.

Your Federal and Provincial Governments have started a Civil Defence Organization and soon local Civil Defence will become an integral part of community life. The outcome, in case of war or disaster, will depend on your knowledge and co-operation, together with the assistance of a trained and up to date Civil Defence Corps. During the early stages, there will be a shortage of qualified instructors and other facilities, but active steps are being taken to remedy the situation as quickly as possible.

Everyone must accept the fact that attack can happen and that Civil Defence is essential if we are to maintain our way of life.

Authoritative sources say, "It is possible to prevent 75% of the death, injury and horror wrought by attack IF WE ARE PREPARED."

Your Provincial Government is therefore publishing this series of bulletins on Civil Defence, which will appear weekly in newspapers throughout the Province. These bulletins will provide you with simple basic information. They will give you the facts that will enable you to do your part in protecting the lives and property of your neighbours, your family and yourself.

You must know and do your part... National survival and our way of life depend on you. Read these bulletins... clip them out, know them and act upon them.

Watch for another bulletin in next week's newspaper.

Music But No Harmony

In a stormy sequence the school board last night fought pro and con as to whether or not Booth Memorial High School should have a full-time music teacher.

No decision was reached before the matter was referred to a committee-as-a-whole.

A letter from A. M. Hurst, principal of Bo-Me-Hi, asked the board to consider obtaining the full staff of 24 teachers for the coming term. The number of students warranted a full staff of teachers for which the government would pay grants.

Then, said Mr. Hurst, Fred Huber, a qualified music teacher, would be able to concentrate exclusively on teaching music and the school band and orchestra could be put on the curriculum, providing five periods weekly.

Mrs. M. M. Roper, school secretary, reminded the board it had made provision for 23 teachers. An extra teacher would cost "about $1,000 for an experienced one."

Trustee Bruce Brown thought "these extra courses were harmful in that they gave students the chance to pick the easiest courses." He criticized the "modern curriculum" which only calls for four constant courses.

"But I'm only looking at this from a dollar and cents angle," Mr. Brown said.

J. W. Scott, finance chairman, felt such courses as music and art did not have a place on the curriculum.

"If they want to play in a band bad enough they can do it after school," he declared.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

G. W. Graham, inspector of schools, who had voiced his support of Mr. Hurst's application, turned to Mr. Scott.

"Things have changed since you went to school. A good band is highly commendable to any school. If you have a good teacher, and if there are enough youngsters interested in bandwork and music, it is their right to have it because the department has listed it as an optional subject."

Dr. R. G. Large, school board chairman, agreed the board should acquire an extra teacher to allow the band on the curriculum.

"I think we should look at it from the principal's point of view. If he thinks his school can only be run efficiently in the way he suggests, we shouldn't interfere," Dr. Large felt, and added a school board could "get into trouble" by interfering with a principal's administration of his school.

At the end of the meeting Mr. Hurst was called to attend the committee-as-a-whole discussion.

Divorce decree has been granted in Vancouver in a petition of Edna Grace Atkins and Frederick Atkins who were married at Sandspit, Queen Charlotte Islands, in 1928.

James S. Eckman, president of Canadian Fishing Co., arrived in the city yesterday from Vancouver for a visit to the company's new salmon canning plant on the local waterfront.

BEAKED BEAN AND PORK CHOP CASSEOLE

1 15-ounce can oven baked beans in tomato sauce or with pork and tomato sauce.
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons tomato ketchup
3 medium size pork chops

Heat oven to 350° F. Combine first 4 ingredients. Pour into 1 quart casserole or 100" x 6" x 2" baking dish. Brown pork chops in frying pan. Place on top of beans. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) uncovered, 1 1/2 hours or until meat is tender.

A family of four more than satisfies its hunger with a half-pound of ground round steak. How? By your combining the beef with oven-baked beans in tomato sauce and baking till piping hot. To point up the flavor of the beans and meat, add a bit of chopped onion, a dash of tomato ketchup, and a sprinkling of cider vinegar and prepared mustard.

WESTERN BAKED BEANS

1/2 pound ground round steak
1 cup chopped onions
2 tablespoons fat, shortening, or salad oil
2 teaspoons salt
Dash pepper
1/2 cup tomato ketchup
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 15-ounce cans oven baked beans in tomato sauce

Heat oven to 400° F. Brown steak and onions in fat in frying pan. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Turn into 1 1/2 quart casserole. Bake in moderate hot oven (400° F.) 30 minutes or until beans are hot. Serves 4 to 5.

QUICK BRUNSWICK STEW

William Priest, of Queen Charlotte Air Lines, returned to Prince Rupert by plane yesterday from a short business trip to Vancouver.

Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce has received a communication from the office of Premier B. I. Johnson at Victoria stating that consideration will be given to a request of the chamber that the proposal to extend the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from Squamish to Vancouver be reconsidered. The matter had been brought before the local chamber by the West Vancouver Board of Trade which is opposing the extension of the PGE through their municipality.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Mr. Champion lost about five pounds during the bidding and play of this hand. He disliked bidding his anemic heart suit and he couldn't bid no trump with nothing in spades. So he finally called "three diamonds" in a strangled voice. He groaned when Mr. Muzzy went all the way to five.

Mr. Meek won the first trick with the king of spades. He continued with the queen of spades and Mr. Muzzy ruffed with the four of diamonds. The queen of diamonds was finessed and it won—but it was bad news when Miss Brash showed out, playing a small spade.

Mr. Muzzy took time out to count the diamonds and finally figured out that Mr. Meek had started with four—so there was no way to capture the king.

"WE'RE NOT DOUBLED"
"Well, let's get what we can, partner," Mr. Muzzy remarked. "At least we're not doubled."

He led the seven of diamonds and finessed dummy's eight. He took three rounds of clubs, ending on the board. Then he led dummy's last spade and ruffed it with his nine of diamonds. Next he cashed the ace and king of hearts and followed with a third heart. Miss Brash winning with the queen.

At this point everybody was down to two cards. Miss Brash had the ace, 10 of spades. Mr. Muzzy had the jack, 10 of diamonds. Mr. Meek held the king and six of diamonds and dummy had the singleton ace of diamonds and the eight of hearts.

Mr. Champion was dying a thousand deaths. He knew what the situation was. He realized the hand could be made. He was afraid Mr. Muzzy was going to throw his cards in and concede that he was down one.

But for some unknown reason Mr. Muzzy played it out. He played his 10 of diamonds when Miss Brash led the ace of spades at trick 12—and Mr. Meek was fixed good and proper. He played the six of diamonds, and Mr. Muzzy looked very confused. He did have presence of mind enough finally to play the heart from dummy and win the last trick with the ace of diamonds.

If Mr. Meek had played the king of diamonds at trick 12, Mr. Muzzy could have killed it with dummy's ace and won the last trick with his own jack of diamonds.

"Oh, brother, what a play," exulted the kibitzers. They wrung Mr. Muzzy's hand and told him he had just made that rarest of all gems, the smother play.

"You mean I wasn't down one?" said Mr. Muzzy dazedly. "This was too much for Mr. Champion. 'Count me out of the next rubber,' he said. 'I'd like to lie down for a few minutes.'"

Reflects and Reminisces

If there was need of an airfield at Prince Rupert a year ago, necessity is far greater today. W. J. Windrum, CP assistant manager of airlines, on a recent sojourn here, commented on the industrial activity and he certainly said it. With suitable equipment established here, the time would be two and a half hours between Prince Rupert and Vancouver.

FROM GERMANY

A German flier alighted at Seal Cove late on an afternoon not so long before the outbreak of the Second World War. There had been vague rumors. No one seemed to know much. For weeks a barrel of special gasoline had been awaiting his arrival. On the off chance that he would land where he did, hundreds were on hand to meet him. Being under the wing of the Fuehrer, he must have been a Nazi, but much milder than Adolf. His party remained overnight in town. Interviewed, he talked amiably without saying anything, which often is far from uninteresting. He was merely cruising over the northwest of America and might go further. He evidently did for during the war he served in Japan as an agent of Berlin.

PRINCE RUPERT GOES ALOFT

When an aeroplane was a novelty in Prince Rupert, a syndicate of railwaymen got possession of one that had seen service. The idea was to sell flights and at first it seemed to work. Hundreds, for the first time, had the thrill of gazing down on Prince Rupert as they soared over Kaien Island and further. The first time it took off, was by the railway grade and scores had assembled to watch.

"How far up are you going, Len?" asked Geo. Nickerson from the grade.

"That depends," shouted Len Bell, as the plane began to move. "on how far-rar they want to fall."

And the flight was on.

AROUND GLOBE

A party of young officers of the United States Army, attempting to make the first journey around the world by air, spent a couple of days in Prince Rupert. They arrived direct from Seattle on a Sunday afternoon in cool, wet weather. Making his landing at Seal Cove, Major Martin, the commanding officer, experienced an accident. The ship

BATTER UP

(By LARRY STANWOOD)

The junior baseballers in Prince Rupert didn't give the organizers too much encouragement when only eight boys turned up for a meeting after last Thursday's baseball game. But the next day, a meeting of interested ball players was held in Booth Memorial High School, called by Les Mathews, and about 25 showed up.

"The best thing we can do is to have a practice," said Ian McHardy, who is trying to get the boys together for a junior ball league. He has called a general practice for Sunday noon and is hoping that all boys between 12 and 17 years, who want to play baseball, will be at Roosevelt Park at lunch time.

Abel & Odowes meet Gordon & Anderson again Sunday afternoon and it should be a good ball game, for each have won and lost one game this season.

We didn't get to see the last game between G & A and Commercials, so Alex Bill, manager of Abel & Odowes, took care of the reporting for which we would like to thank him.

Reason we didn't get to see the game was that another ball player was added to our family that afternoon and we were at the hospital congratulating the principals.

pancaked and a strut broke. This mishap disabled the plane. There appeared at first small chance of making repairs or finding replacement in Prince Rupert but it was done.

It so chanced an employee of the dry dock had seen war service, and was familiar with aviation, and the construction of a plane. Here, in Prince Rupert, was an emergency and he was equal to it. The major found the new strut suitable, but his ill fortune did not end there. In the Aleutian Islands happened another break. No one was injured, but it meant a return home for Major Martin. There seemed to be a jinx flying with him. The rest of the party went on to Japan and gradually encircled the rest of the globe. But it took most of the summer.

Although he started out again the next year, he never saw Siberia. He deserted to, for he tried hard enough. He took off again, this time from Alaska. All went well, until in a storm he was forced down alighting in the midst of a great herd of caribou. And his plane was wrecked. He never tried again.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Ron, W. C. Hood, killed in action, Normandy, France, June 8, 1944. Seven years have gone, our hearts still sore. As time goes on we miss you more. To have, to love, then have to part. Is the hardest trial of a mother's heart. You are where we cannot see you. We often wish, dear Bill, you were here. But we know you walk beside us. Never absent, always near. In his far-off grave, we humbly pray. That God will shine his greatest ray. Sadly missed by Mom, Dad and family. (11p)

Nominate For Queen

A candidate for "Queen of the North" will soon be chosen, Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary decided at their meeting Thursday night.

Mrs. J. S. Black, visiting outlying districts in her capacity as president of the B.C. command, gave her report and Mrs. W. Rothwell reported on the card parties for the year.

It was decided to postpone the day of the next tea to co-operate with the IODE at their request. A fashion parade will be held in the fall, members decided.

The raffle of an apron was won by Mrs. Montgomery after which refreshments were served.

GALT, Ont. (CP)—The beautiful new ornamental fountain had only been installed two days in Soper Park when colored plates over its lights were found smashed. Police believe children were throwing stones into the fountain.

Radiophone Interference

Radio committee of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce has been asked to go into the matter of interference on regular radio reception caused by the operation of ship to shore radiotelephones. Complaint was made at the meeting of the Chamber this week that this radiotelephone communication sometimes drowned out the news and other broadcasts.

Navy Film At Totem

Comedy and excitement are furnished with behind-the-scenes glimpses of what goes on in the navy in the feature picture, "You're In The Navy Now," coming to the screen of the Totem Theatre here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The picture concerns itself with the experiences and escapades of the "Ninety-day Wonders," the troubles with a top secret projectile tried out with sub-chasers in World War II and the attempt to substitute steam for diesel engines in a patrol craft to attain the speed of 35 knots.

Heading the cast is Gary Cooper in the role of a naval lieutenant. The domestic scenes on land with his film wife, Jane Greer, added to the obstacles of his path aboard ship, contribute further to the general hilarity.

Production of Virginia-type tobacco in Pakistan increased four-fold in 1950-51 to a total of 1,500 pounds.

Japanese Returning to Industry—A.B.C. Packing Co's Birthday—Sockeye Season Opens—Inverness Closes

Japanese fishermen are returning in large numbers to the fishing industry on the Pacific Coast. Last year 417 Japanese received licences as against 119 licences the year before. During the war all Japanese fishermen were "deported" from the coast. At that time some 1500 individuals had licences. In 1949 the federal government lifted restrictions and allowed the Japanese free movement back to the industry. The only provision for application for licences is that the Japanese be a British subject. Small shipyards are booming, building new fishing boats for Japanese customers. Many are building their own boats. New fishing boats are costing $4000 to $10,000 each, and are heavier and bigger and fitted for use all along coast waters rather than in the rivers alone. Under the new regulations the Japanese can transfer their licences to other districts when they wish and are not confined to one district. In 1948 there were some 6000 white fishermen licensed along the coast. While the Japanese "inroad" so far is 417, it is increasing rapidly, and in a few years some quarters figure the Japanese will reach or exceed their former numbers in the industry.

Anglo-British Columbia Packing Company, which operates North Pacific Cannery, is now celebrating its 60th anniversary. H. O. Bell-Irving, the founder, came out from Scotland as an engineer and assisted in the construction of the CPR line through the Rockies. He then settled in business here as an importer, and chartered a sailing ship to bring general merchandise to B.C. In order to find a cargo for the return trip, he decided to load salmon and in this way started in the fish business.

From this early beginning, the Bell-Irving family has been continuously associated with the fishing industry in this province, the firm now being headed by Col. Richard Bell-Irving, son of the founder.

When the company was a year in existence it had secured options for the control of seven canneries on the Fraser River and two on the Skeena River, and subsequently acquired these canneries for $330,000.

The firm has steadily expanded and is now once again concentrating its canning activities in the Fraser and Skeena Rivers.

Gillnet fishing for sockeye will open in the Skeena and Naas Rivers on June 17, a week from Sunday. This will be the signal for the commencement of the intensive canning season in the packing plants of District No. 2. Only four canneries will operate on the Skeena River this year, as compared with five last year. They will be the new Canadian Fishing Co. plant on the Prince Rupert waterfront, Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd. at Port Edward, B.C. Packers at Sunnyside and Cassiar Packing Co. at Cassiar. Elsewhere in the district down the coast will be Canadian Fishing Co. at Butedale, J. H. Todd & Sons at Namu and Canadian Fishing Co. at Goose Bay in Rivers Inlet.

Gillnetters from Vancouver are forming a long line headed this way, reports go, and fishermen in Prince Rupert as well are in readiness to meet the opening of the sockeye season.

The opening gun will be fired at 6 p.m. that Sunday evening and it is expected along the local waterfront that "everything that can pull a net" will be out. Meanwhile, the question of salmon prices has not been settled yet. The latest offer of 23 1/2 cents by the operators was rejected by fishermen this week who are looking for something around 27 cents a pound this year. Last year the price was around 20 cents.

Oldest cannery on Skeena River, the well-known Inverness plant of J. H. Todd & Sons will break some 50 years of continuous operation this season. It will be maintained as a fish camp but the owners will take their Skeena River fish to their newer cannery, Klemtu, down to coast, to be canned. However, this may not be a permanent abandonment of Inverness for canning. It is understood the owners are still interested in maintaining a packing plant on the railway.

HALIBUT SEASON ENDING
The halibut quota for Area 3 is expected to be reached by midnight, June 25, and that has been set as the official closing date.

One of the great effects of this early closing was felt in Prince Rupert yesterday when the waterfront saw 10 big American halibutters unload here instead of as planned—in Seattle. In this way, the Americans will get another trip in before the season closes on them.

The sudden influx of fresh halibut also had a depressing influence on the market, with buyers bidding one to two cents lower on the exchange on one of the biggest auctions for several weeks. Some 640,000 pounds were unloaded.

Some complete strangers have arrived at the waterfront. Perhaps a little bewildered but, apparently, quite satisfied in Jim Bacon's shed, half a bushel of fresh water shrimp are swirling around under the water tap.

These are the minute crustaceans which are expected to do wonders for sport fishing in Lake Prudhomme in the future. On Sunday, these freshwater shrimp, shipped to Mr. Bacon by the Smithers gas department, will be planted in Prudhomme by members of the Rod and Gun Club. First, the shrimp will be put in wire-screen boxes so it can be determined whether or not they will survive in their new environment.

If the experiment proves positive, it is proposed to plant the entire lake with the shrimp which are obtainable in some freshwater lakes in the interior. The shrimp provide delectable food for trout, research has shown, and by stocking Prudhomme the rod and Gun Club feels the trout there will progress rapidly in growth.

Hospital Rates And Services

Special committee of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce has in hand the preparation of a brief on the subject of hospital insurance for submission to a special committee of the Legislature which will visit Prince Rupert later in the summer in the course of a tour of the province to hear representations. The local submission will suggest that, in the setting of rates, consideration should be given the fact that more modern equipped hospitals of the larger cities are able to give services which are not available here.
