2 Years For Maltreatment

VICTORIA (CP)—Mrs. Rose Cole was sentenced Tuesday to two years in prison after conviction on a charge of causing grievous bodily harm to her three-year-old daughter, June. The child died March 6.

Police testified that Mrs. Cole had admitted to them that she lost her temper when the little girl had thrown some food on her bed. She picked up a piece of wood in the kitchen and beat the child with it.

Post-mortem examination disclosed fifteen broken bones, evidence of scurvy and nearly 100 abrasions, concussion and bruises.

Judge Holds His Decision

Physicians Conflict in Testimony at Government Investigation

VANCOUVER (CP)—Conflicting testimony of two doctors came yesterday at the conclusion of the government-ordered inquiry into circumstances surrounding the miscarriage of an 18-year-old Vancouver wife.

Mrs. Donald Ritchie lost her unborn child April 11 when it was claimed her admittance into hospital was delayed three days because of bed shortage. She had an abortion 36 hours after being admitted to hospital.

Inquiry under Mr. Justice H. S. Wood was ordered by Minister of Health Douglas Turnbull.

Mr. Justice Wood said he would release his findings after reviewing the evidence of the two-day inquiry.

He was ordered to investigate the circumstances surrounding the case, the publicity given it and "motives behind" the publicity.

Dr. Abraham Greenberg, Mrs. Ritchie's physician, said he had told hospital officials that her case was an emergency needing immediate hospital care.

Dr. John Ross, resident physician in gynaecology and obstetrics in Vancouver General Hospital, denied this.

"He did not tell me Mrs. Ritchie was running a temperature and he did not tell him he considered her case an emergency," Dr. Ross said.

Thanks of Athabaskan

Commander Robert Welland, in a message to HMCS Chatham, soon after leaving this morning following the overnight visit of the Canadian destroyer, expressed appreciation as follows:

"On behalf of all the Athabaskans, may I thank you for the wonderful welcome you gave us and the arrangements you made at such short notice. On the ship's behalf will you please thank those in charge at the Canadian Legion Hall and the Civic Centre for their hospitality and kindness shown to all who visited those most generous places.

"We all had a bang-up time.

"Good Bye and Good Luck."

"No Heroic War," Says Captain of Athabaskan

Commander and Crew Tell of Experiences—Critically Ill Seaman Landed in Emergency

It is not an heroic war and there is not a great deal of excitement as far as the Navy is concerned in Korean waters, it was agreed by Commander Robert Welland and the rest of the personnel of HMCS Athabaskan which put into Prince Rupert Tuesday night direct from the war in the Far East.

In fact, it became monotonous after a time, said Chief Shipwright Frank Logan of Victoria.

The personnel of the Athabaskan made no bones about being glad to be home.

Said Able Seaman Ken MacKay of New Westminster: "As soon as I smelt those pines and the stink of fish, I knew I was home and was it good!"

Most of the 280 men of Athabaskan have accumulated up to 70 days leave and they have very definite plans of how they are going to spend it. Smart and enthusiastic, they looked forward to heading soon to their respective homes in all parts of Canada.

Athabaskan steamed into Prince Rupert at 9:30 Tuesday night to put ashore Able Seaman Raymond Dean of Toronto who had been stricken with acute appendicitis two days ago. Athabaskan, 600 miles from Prince Rupert and 1100 miles from Victoria, then altered her course at 4 p.m. Monday and headed for this port. She steamed the 600 miles at 24 knots.

With the ship's medical officer, Surgeon Lt. Cdr. Wallace, fearing that he might expire before he landed, Dean was whisked away from Athabaskan in the city ambulance immediately after landing. Within an hour he was on the operating room table in the Prince Rupert General Hospital under care of Dr. L. W. Kergin, World War I veteran and naval surgeon at Prince Rupert. Latest reports were that Dean was doing well.

Prince Rupert people lined up in hundreds along the waterfront to greet Athabaskan. It was the first time that a naval vessel had ever put in to this port direct from action. Lt. Cdr. J. D. McRae, Lt. Cdr. J. W. Golby and Lieut. Walter Smith of HMCS Chatham were on hand.

Athabaskan was only nine days out of Tokyo. Following the Great Circle course, she called at Adak in the Aleutians to refuel.

She had left the west coast of Korea May 3, heading home to Esquimalt. Calls were made at Sasebo, United Nations naval base in Japan, and Tokyo Bay.

CLOSEST PORT
"We had not enough fuel to run full speed (24 knots) into Victoria. So we headed for Prince Rupert," Commander Welland explained.

Athabaskan sailed at 9 o'clock this morning for Esquimalt. She will head south via the Outside Passage and Cdr. Welland said he expected to reach the home port by Thursday afternoon. She took on fuel here while overnight leave was given half of the personnel.

It was the first time they had been back in Canada in nine months.

"We engaged in a lot of bombardment but our wounds were all self-inflicted," said Cdr. Welland as he glanced at the broken plaster in the wardroom. That was caused by the firing of a gun on the deck immediately above in the course of shore bombardment.

"The naval war in Korea was over after the first three weeks," said Cdr. Welland. "The North Korean navy was sunk by then

Big Korean Offensive May Now be Starting

TOKYO (CP)—Red troops poured out of the hills in attacks all along the eastern front of Korea tonight. It was too early to tell whether it was the start of the expected Red offensive or a new probing in force.

Fifteen Bones Were Broken

Vancouver Island Mother Charged With Cruelty To Young Daughter

VICTORIA (CP)—A pathologist testified that a post-mortem examination of the body of a 3½-year-old girl disclosed 15 broken bones, evidence of scurvy and nearly 100 abrasions, contusions and bruises.

The testimony was given at the County Court trial of Mrs. Rose Ellen Hill of Port Renfrew on three charges of causing grievous bodily harm to her daughter, June Elizabeth Hill.

Dr. R. B. Roxburgh, pathologist, said pneumonia was the cause of the child's death on March 6 but that broken bones were "fractures usually produced by violence."

The girl suffered 11 broken ribs and fractures to both arms and collar bones.

RCMP Constable W. G. Lambert said Mrs. Hill had admitted to him that she lost her temper, picked up a piece of wood in the kitchen and beat the child.

The officer said later, following an inquest at Duncan, that Mrs. Hill admitted beating her daughter with a belt as well as with a stick.

WEATHER

Synopsis
A disturbance, which crossed the northern coastal areas of British Columbia during the night, is approaching the southern part of Vancouver and the lower mainland. Showers are expected to be general in these areas with sunny periods returning in late afternoon.

Rain is falling in the central areas of the province and cloudiness with scattered showers will spread over the southern interior as the disturbance moves eastward over the province during the day.

Tomorrow will bring somewhat better conditions in all regions.

Forecast
North coast region — Cloudy today and Thursday. Frequent sunny periods. Little change in temperature. Winds—northwest (25) in the exposed areas of the Queen Charlottes, decreasing to light in morning. Light winds elsewhere. Lows, tonight and highs tomorrow —at Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 45 and 55.

Collector of Customs Oscar Smith was personally on hand at the Imperial Oil dock, where Athabaskan tied up after moving speedily into the harbor at a clip which matched the speed at which she had hurried into port in the emergency. Mr. Smith promptly co-operated with Cdr. Welland with a view to giving the personnel shore leave. Liberty was allowed but taking ashore of parcels was not permitted. There was soon an exodus.

Athabaskan will go into refit at Esquimalt and, if the same practice is followed with her as with other Canadian ships which have returned from the Korean war, she should return to the Far East by late summer.

One former Prince Rupert man on Athabaskan is Stoker Mechanic Shatz, formerly on the staff of HMCS Chatham here.

Divorce and 3 Million

NEW YORK (CP)—Rita Hayworth has decided to divorce Aly Khan, her lawyer said today, and will ask for a $3,000,000 trust fund for their daughter, Yaemin.

Attorney Bartley Crum said the Aly Khan has indicated he will not stand in the way of the glamorous movie redhead.

Miss Hayworth went to Lake Tahoe, Nevada, a few days ago to establish residence. At the time she was quoted as saying she did not know whether to seek separation or divorce.

New Head of Atlin Fish

Harold Thom Succeeds James L. Lee Here

New president and manager of Atlin Fisheries Limited is Harold Thom, past assistant manager. The appointment became effective yesterday after election of officers of the company.

S. M. Rosenberg was elected vice-president and treasurer; R. T. Hager, vice-president and assistant treasurer; R. F. Govey, secretary; T. K. Milne and G. B. McKay, directors.

Norman R. Christensen was promoted to assistant manager and George A. Rorvik is now office manager.

Mr. Thom joined the Canadian Fishing Co. Ltd., parent company, in 1942, and transferred to Atlin Fisheries Limited in 1943.

James L. Lee, past president and manager, continues with the company as consultant but will be leaving Prince Rupert later in the summer to reside at Ganges, B.C.

Mr. Lee joined the company here in 1915 as bookkeeper and has been manager since 1918. When he joined, there were only three people on the permanent payroll. When they bought fish, everyone got into gumboots and worked and extra help was hired as needed.

Before the advent of modern machinery at the plant, fish were hoisted on the dock by a distillate engine driven winch. Ice was smashed with wooden mallets and shovelled into and away from a small ice crusher.

Since those early days development and progress has been steady and today the company has a payroll of 140 and modern electrical equipment is used throughout.

A special feature of the plant's operations is steaked and filleted fish, put up in cellophane wrappers ready for the housewife.

HEADQUARTERS HERE

In addition to the changes in personnel at Atlin Fisheries, Canadian Fishing Co. Ltd. announce transfer of their northern canning headquarters from Carlisle Cannery, on the Skeena River, to Atlin Fisheries Limited, Prince Rupert, where northern production will be in charge of C. E. Salter, manager at Carlisle for 25 years.

When the sockeye season opens, Canadian Fishing Company's $200,000 new cannery on Ocean Dock will go into operation with employment to 175 to 200. The combined operation of the two plants is expected to create the largest payroll in the city.

The cannery will be managed by John Fraser, formerly in charge of Porcher Island cannery.

Mental Patient Dies Suddenly

A 48-year-old man died early this morning in Prince Rupert General Hospital after being admitted last night.

Police say Joseph Trempe, Prince Rupert, Northern B.C. Power Co. lineman, had been committed to a mental hospital yesterday and was held pending escort to Essondale. He died shortly after being removed to hospital on recommendation of the attending physician.

An autopsy will be held. Relatives are being contacted.

William Scuby returned to the city on yesterday's plane from a business trip to Vancouver.

Port in Emergency

THE STRATEGIC position of the port of Prince Rupert in relation to the Orient is again demonstrated in the emergency call here of HMCS Athabaskan coming home from the war in Korea.

Athabaskan was headed for base in Esquimalt but when the condition of a sick crew member so developed that immediate hospitalization was necessary, she cut at least a day off the trans-Pacific voyage to come into Prince Rupert. She took advantage of Prince Rupert's position as being 500 miles closer to the Orient than Victoria (and Vancouver as well).

In the emergency of war, Prince Rupert has often been used. It became a principal port of embarkation during the war.

Some day Prince Rupert will, undoubtedly, be more than a port of emergency in the Pacific theatre. It will become a port of permanent efficient usefulness which is its proper function.

Political Effects

THE DISMISSAL of General Douglas MacArthur is having political repercussions which threaten to work changes in places far less distant than Korea and China.

No one can tell yet what the net result will be after the Senate hearings have dug into the background of the controversy. But, so far, the most obvious political effect is a tremendous boost for the Republicans. Ousting a popular hero is politically dangerous at any time but Mr. Truman's action was even more of a jolt to most Americans coming at a moment when the disclosures of the Fulbright and Kefauver committees had driven his own prestige to a new low.

However, it is far from clear amid the shifting political currents and crosscurrents to assume what will happen in another year. A dozen different events could push the present issue to the back of the stage.

The unfortunate effect of the long-continued tenure by one party is to be seen. Developing weaknesses at home, having settled down to mere office-holding and the laxity of entrenched power, the administration may be said to lack leadership, vigor and imagination.

On the other hand, the MacArthur episode tends to show to what extremes some elements of a power-starved party may go in seeking to destroy an administration which under the constitution must remain until 1953 as the nation's agent in foreign affairs. The pressure of unlimited party warfare appears to be going just a little too far in the United States today.

Those British

WHEN Paul and Silas were thrown into prison they sang hymns of praise. When Britain found itself hedged about by continuing austerity, dollar shortages, war threats and American criticism, it put on a festival.

The analogy is not altogether fanciful. The fanfare of trumpets with which the Festival of Britain has opened is, in a very real sense, an assertion of faith. Unlike the great exhibition of 1851, this century's festival rests on no comfortable pride of expanding empire. It is more like Churchill's undaunted eloquence and the Cockney wit that flourished under exploding wartime skies—founded on character polished by adversity.—Christian Science Monitor.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

As I See It

SOUTH SLAVS FACE WEST

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA. — Yugoslavia's Five Year Plan may have been over-ambitious, even from the beginning.

Those enthusiasts, fresh from their double victory, over the Germans and Italians from abroad and the right wingers at home, attempted to do TWO years after their revolution what Red Russia attempted only ELEVEN years after 1917.

Some of it, to Westerners, appears even now much like the Charge of the Light Brigade appeared to the French military expert:

"It is magnificent, but it is not war."

When you see youngsters, even in 1951, getting ready to build another hundred miles' stretch of railway, with only picks and shovels, you may think:

"Hats off to them, but does it make sense, when a few bulldozers would do the whole thing in a fraction of the time?"

BUT OVER-AMBITIOUS OR not, the Yugoslavs were far on the way towards completion of their goal when came the historic break with the Kremlin. Why?

Now comes the point of vital significance for us: Sixty per cent of Yugoslavia's trade had been with the Cominform countries, which were compelled by the Kremlin to blockade Yugoslavia. Yugoslavia could neither sell in her old markets nor buy from the countries with which she had contracts for supplies. Her Five Year Plan bogged down badly in spots.

But, still being a Communist-governed country, Yugoslavia could not readily get from the West Marshall Plan advances or other such support.

EVEN YET, THREE YEARS after the history-making break between Moscow and Tito, it is obvious that the Western nations in general, and the United States in particular, have not fully made up their minds as to their attitude toward Yugoslavia.

That brings us to what seems to me the greatest question of this decade:

Are we really fighting the cold wars, and actual wars, such as in Korea, to stop "Russian expansionism"?

Or are we really, secretly, fighting to maintain the capitalist system?

If we really are sincere in basing Western and UN policies in combatting the new, more subtle Red imperialism, then of all countries in Europe, Yugoslavia is the one most deserving of support. For the outcome in this country will have effects all over Europe and even in China.

WHAT IS IT THAT WE really fear in socialist economies? Certainly it is not the public ownership or state enterprise system. Even in old Tory Ontario, we had many ultra-successful public ownership enterprises before World War I. Out in India recently, I chuckled to myself to realize how many purely socialist utilities the old British imperialists have inaugurated and bequeathed to the Indian republic.

What we are rightly opposed to in Communism is, surely, the harsh dictatorship principle—which is the negation of humanity, not to mention democracy: AND ABOVE ALL, THE DICTATORSHIP PRINCIPLE WHEN IT OPERATES AS THE NEW TYPE OF IMPERIALISM, WITH UNDERGROUND, HIDDEN PIPELINES OF RULE FROM ONE COUNTRY TO ANOTHER.

THIS GOVERNMENT OF Yugoslavia, in 1951, is still a dictatorship, but one which shows signs of democratic inclinations.

There is no democracy here, as we understand that term in the West—and let nobody fool us: There is no other meaning; there is no other true democracy.

But Yugoslavia faces West—not East. Get that fact—for it is the most important fact of the Yugoslavia of 1951.

This people's dictatorship, which is still run on police state principles, is honestly trying to work out a basis where it can combine what is best in the economies of the East and the democracy of the West. There are many signs that the rulers here really would like to combine Western democracy with their economy.

So far this is only a dream. It may be a dream beyond the capacity of this primitive country to realize, at least soon.

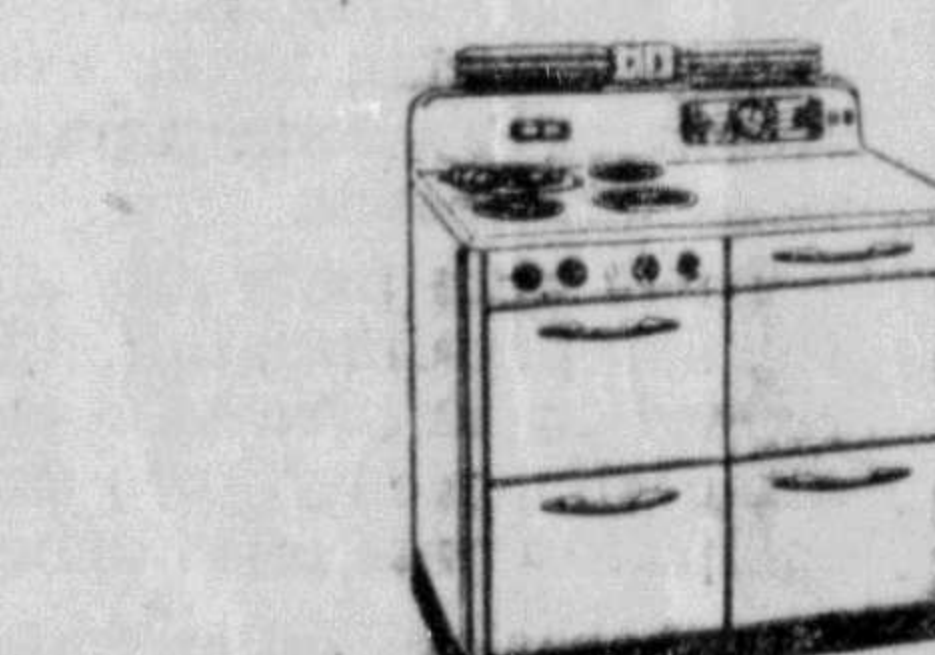

But we could try to make the realization come to pass. I do not believe that there is another country in all Europe where large-scale economic help would pay such big dividends for international peace and reconciliation, as this country, Yugoslavia.

Jones Act Suspension

WASHINGTON, D.C. —The House of Representatives merchant marine sub-committee Tuesday approved renewal of a bill which would permit Canadian vessels to serve south-eastern Alaska ports of Skagway, Haines and Hyder for the carry of American freight and passengers until June 30, 1952.

The suspension of the Jones Act is in view of the fact that these ports are not served at all or irregularly by United States lines.

Reflects and Reminisces

WELCOME

Serving for nine full months in the Korean war zone, the general record of the destroyer Athabaskan has been excellent, as one would gather from reading yesterday's News. It's a pleasure and an honor to have her in port. And as for the skipper himself, he's very, very good, and he is understood, he commands a right good crew.

WHEN IT'S EDUCATION

This being graduation time, it is suggested that a trip across Canada would be a gift to be remembered with pleasure for a lifetime. To every graduate it would be a school finishing experience. It would be more than that. Travel is education—particularly when one is a sharp observer. Canada is full of Canadians who, possibly have never been beyond the borders of their own provinces. How much more widely educated today, are the boys aboard the Athabaskan than they were ten months ago!

RESEMBLES ARGENTINE

Spain's people may continue to read the papers but they will peruse what General Franco and his government think they should know—but nothing else. It looks like this, when seven correspondents face handicaps and discouragement, and the chances of soon having a ticket for home.

LOOK FIRST CLASS

They turn out a ten page newspaper aboard the Athabaskan, too! It is said to be crisp, a bit spicy and informative which is all that can be said for any sheet. There must be keen rivalry when the newsies struggle to be first to plunge overboard with the latest.

Violin solos by Donald McLeod, the Boccherini's "Minuet" and the "Elves" Dance were well played by Mrs. C. Anderson at the piano.

Little Barbara Cross recited "Somersaults" with fine interpretation while Grade Four pupils of Mrs. Cobb's division gave a choral recitation of "Hiding" with Joanne Procter an alert and expressive conductor. This item was very much appreciated by the audience.

An arrangement of paper cartons made by Grade Four pupils to form "Mother's Day" was highly admired.

The film "The Feeling of Rejection" showing the value of psychiatric treatment, made a notable impression on the grown-ups after the children had left. Mrs. Evans operated the projector.

The banner for the class having the largest number of parents in attendance was easily won by Mrs. Cobb's division with 27 present.

Mrs. Dominato was in the chair and Mrs. H. C. Flood acted as secretary.

blown up. Everything went up in a pandemonium of flames.

Shipwright Logan admitted that, while he had been in the Navy since 1941, his naval career had been mostly ashore. He had been for a long time in charge of the boat yard at HMCS Cornwallis. He actually saw more excitement in the Korean war than he did in the World War.

But even Korea became "tiresome routine" with monotonous patrol and continuous blackout. Apparently, Logan would have welcomed a little more excitement. But with the vessel shaken by her bombardments, there was always plenty of carpentry work to be done.

"She's a good ship and I have no complaints," Logan told a reporter. "She's far from pleasant at sea on a rough day," he added.

Logan had considerable experience with Japanese workmen in the big shipyards where Athabaskan would go for repairs. "They're good workmen, good humored and extremely honest," he said. As for life in Japan, Logan said: "There's plenty of wine, women and song for those who like that kind of thing. As for me, I was not interested."

And the reason for the big shipwright's disinterestness became soon apparent. He has a wife and three children (one of whom he has never seen) and a new home in Victoria at Moss and Clover which his wife purchased during his absence. "I'm keeping my fingers crossed," he remarked when asked if he expected to return to Korea.

Homecoming means the end of the wars for Leading Seaman Jerry Thompson of Ottawa after seven years in the Navy. He has a tubercular infection of the right hand and is fearing that it may have to be amputated. However, he also hopes that expert surgery at Montreal might obviate this. He has a wife and two children at Ottawa. Actually, Thompson is not an Athabaskan man. He was transferred over in Far East waters from HMCS Nootka for transport home.

While there are no Prince Rupert men aboard Athabaskan, there were reunions here.

One incident was in the wardroom when Lt. Cdr. Jack McRae, HMCS Chatham, greeted PO2 John Cammell of Vancouver. Cammell, wardrobe steward, was with HMCS Puncit, aircraft carrier, with McRae in the Atlantic.

Mrs. James Nicoll this morning met Cdr. Welland at breakfast. Mrs. Nicoll and Welland went to school together at Oka River, Manitoba, the home town of both.

HEARTWARMING WELCOME
At the jetty gates hundreds of people cheered and shook the sailors' hands leading them to cars—more than a hundred were parked there—and offering them rides to anywhere they wanted to go.

"When we heard we were going to stop off at Rupert there were a lot of sour faces. We wanted to get home fast," Leading Seaman R. E. Johnson, 927 Craigflower Rd., Victoria, said.

"But when we saw all those people waiting for us we felt mighty good," and he threw his hat into the air and shouted, "It's good to be back."

Able Seaman A. J. Stringer of Ridgeville, Manitoba, said he was not in a hurry to leave the West Coast, "just as long as I've got two feet on Canadian soil."

A Vancouver sailor, Able Seaman "Doc" Boschee, 6557 Doman Street, had just yesterday signed on for another term in the permanent Navy. That was an important event, he thought, but not at all as important as getting a taste of some fresh milk, of which he had seen none since leaving Vancouver last summer.

The Athabaskan has steamed 75,000 miles since heading for Korean theatre and she's "still going strong," Engineer Lt. Cdr. Erik Revfem said proudly.

"She's just a good warhorse. We never had the time even to give her a good check-up, and we were the longest down there of any destroyer under the UN."

Lt. Cdr. George Olson, 475 Constance Avenue, Esquimalt, was anxious to phone his wife. When he finally placed his call he found there were some 50 sailors ahead of him and that he would have to wait three hours, maybe more.

It was well after midnight when he spoke to his wife, the first time in nearly 11 months.

"My son was eight months old when I left. He'll be big enough to beat up on his daddy," the senior watchkeeper and naval pilot laughed happily, looking up from a stack of souvenirs and toys which he purchased in Japan and Hong Kong for his wife and baby.

The men didn't talk much about the fighting. They were too happy to be back on home soil.

IMPRESSIVE SIGHT
The most impressive sight that he saw in the eastern war theatre, said Lieut. Bob Sturgeon, ordnance officer, was the setting sun on Mount Fujiyama.

The tall, ice-capped cone appeared like a huge strawberry sundae set in marshmallow-like clouds, he described, and added: "Sure could have used one of them too."

Most enthusiastic about the way Prince Rupert people received the crew of the fighting ship were Able Seaman Roy Griffin, Victoria, editor of the ship's newspaper, Athabuletin, and his assistant, Leading Seaman Fred Alliston, the ship's poet-laureate.

Alliston, who wrote a lot of poetry in the John Drummond style while in Korea, devoted his talents to personality lyrics and some 20 of his works appear in the last edition of the Athabuletin, a souvenir copy which goes to press tomorrow.

"We'll have pleasant memories of Prince Rupert," both said.

Junior Girls Stage Party

A Rup-Rec party was the wind-up for 165 junior girls in the Civic Centre auditorium Monday.

The program was arranged by the instructress, Miss Gloria Sather.

The girls sang songs, followed by a little stage show by some of the girls in which they did a Dutch dance, sailor's horn pipe, "As I Was Walking Down the Street," and "Way Down Upon the Swanee River." Two films, "Come to the Fair" and "Trappers of the Sea," were shown. The girls then played games followed by the serving of the refreshments by the junior leader.

The party was a big success. Miss Sather was the recipient of some lovely gifts.

One Sunday morning the dootbell rang and the husband put on his wife's robe and went downstairs to answer the door. As he opened the door, the milkman kissed him. After giving due thought to this strange occurrence, he decided that the milkman's wife must have a similar robe.

Library is Hampered

Plans for the Prince Rupert Public Library to bring its services up to at least average for cities of this size in the province has not received the full support of the City Council. The board was notified by City Clerk W. Long at its meeting last evening that the $6,000 budget prepared by the library had been cut to $5500.

While realizing that the 1951 budget for the library has been considerably increased over past years it was felt by the Library Board that, if adequate library service is to be given the people of Prince Rupert, some expenditure in new books and equipment is essential. Until this year Prince Rupert has been operating its library on a lower per capita cost than any other city in British Columbia, it was pointed out.

Partially offsetting the cut in the city's grant was announcement from the Public Library Commission at Victoria that the local library was to receive a grant of $255 in the current year.

The librarian's report for April showed a seasonal drop in circulation to the month of March. Last night's meeting was presided over by Mrs. M. Roper, chairman, and attending were Mrs. W. S. Kergin, A. D. Ritchie, T. B. Black, Bruce Stevens, and the librarian, Miss M. Macdonald.

BRIDE DEMANDED MUSIC MIDDLEBROUGH, Eng. (CP) — A bride refused to go on with a wedding ceremony at a local church until the organist arrived. The vicar and the wedding party waited patiently for 40 minutes while a taxi-driver rounded up a substitute organist.

Power Company Buys Building

The Northern B.C. Power Company Limited is acquiring the Newell Building on Fifth Street at Stewart from W. L. Newell.

The Power Company is at present renting part of the building as an office and retail store.

Mr. Newell arrived yesterday from Stewart to complete the negotiations with T. B. Black, manager of the company.

Cat Licences Are Advocated

LONDON (CP) — A convention of more than 50 animal protection societies is planned by E. Keith Robinson, secretary of Our Dumb Friend's League, to plead a new legal status for Britain's 9,000,000 cats.

Resolutions will be proposed advocating licensing of all cats; a law requiring all cats to wear a collar with the owner's name and address; and equal rights with dogs which cats outnumber by three to one.

Through the collar identification Mr. Robinson hopes to have all stray cats rounded up and retained for seven days for their owners to claim.

To be exempt from licensing: all working mousers at farms, docks and warehouses.

SPORTS VOLUMES—

Library Gift Memorializes Name of Oliver Santurbane

The name of a well-known former Prince Rupert athlete and basketball fan will be kept alive in local hoop circles for a long time through the gesture of Mrs. D. Parent. On the flyleaf of three volumes of the famous Barnes Sports Library given to the Prince Rupert Public Library by Mrs. Parent are inscribed the words: "In Memory of Oliver Santurbane."

Written by Claire Bae, former college basketball coach, the volumes contain full information on defense and attack and also in drills and fundamentals of passing, shooting, dribbling and play work.

Any local sportsman may easily locate the books in the reference section of the library.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Mr. Dale didn't like to go to two hearts on his first bid. He likes to have more than two kings to respond at the two level. But with a partial score of 40 he couldn't even consider passing—and he didn't fancy a one no trump bid holding a singleton spade.

The bidding:
South West North East

3 S All pass

There was a chance—although a slight one—that Mr. Muzzy would let him play the hand. So he bid two hearts with a silent prayer that Mr. Muzzy would remember the part score.

Miss Brash pushed the bidding up as usual and Mr. Muzzy's three spade call won the auction.

Mr. Abel opened the king of clubs which was won by the ace in the closed hand. Now all Mr. Muzzy had to do was to count. Unless the spades broke as badly as five in one opponent's hand and a singleton in the other, he had six spade tricks, one club and two diamonds—nine tricks in all.

If trumps did break 5-1, he could then go to work on the hearts and try to win a trick there.

But that is not the way Mr. Muzzy operates. He won the first trick with the ace of clubs, did not bother to count, and led a small heart, finessing dummy's nine.

Miss Brash won with the jack of hearts and returned the queen of clubs. Where are Mr. Muzzy's six spade tricks now? Whatever he did, he had to lose to spade trick to Mr. Abel. He trumped with the seven spot but Mr. Abel overtrumped with the eight and led back the queen of diamonds.

Mr. Muzzy won with the ace in his own hand and now—NOW—he drew trumps. He was just a little late. He led a heart, hoping Mr. Abel had the ace, in which case dummy's king of hearts—and possibly the entire suit—would be available for diamond discards. But this was not to be. Mr. Abel played the eight, the 10 was put in from the board and Miss Brash won with the queen.

Eventually Mr. Muzzy had to lose two diamond tricks for down one—and all because he didn't lead trumps. He either didn't count his nine winners or he was going for an extra trick. In this situation, with the rubber practically entered on the score, one is about as bad as the other.

Smart Newspaper Turned Out Aboard H.M.C.S. Athabaskan

Before HMCS Athabaskan steamed into Prince Rupert harbor last night after completing nine months in the Korean war zone, the 28th edition of the ship's newspaper had gone to press.

The "Athabulletin," as the paper is called, has become one of the eagerly awaited features in the lives of the 280 men serving aboard the destroyer.

The ship's paper started its career soon after the Athabaskan arrived in the Far East late last July.

The idea was fostered by Lieut. Cdr. Stuart Peacock, of Quebec City, executive officer of the ship, and an editorial staff headed by AB Richard Griffin, of Calgary and Victoria, set to work on the first issue.

From an initial run of three mimeographed pages, the paper grew in scope and a profusion of talent was found in the mess-decks and wardroom.

TEN PAGER

Today the "Athabulletin" sports ten crisp pages of cartoons, verse, editorials and news from the ship's various departments. Publishing once every patrol, the "Athabulletin" has done its share in livening up the long Yellow Sea operations off the Korean coast.

CPO Ronald Emmerson, of Lethbridge, Alta. and Victoria, is the official cartoonist and he wields his pen with a professional calibre. The Athabaskan's "poet laureat," Ldg. Sea. Fred Alliston, of Montreal, is a regular contributor of verse and some of his poems have become minor classics of the Korean war.

A column which has become a by-word in the destroyer's news-sheet is, "You've Had Your Whack," by FO Kenneth Perry, who hails from Vancouver and is one of the ship's supply petty officers. Many others aboard the Athabaskan help put the paper over.

The editorial staff has suffered all the headaches which plague a sea-going publication. Rough seas have delayed deadlines. The ringing of the action alarm has sent the editor and his cohorts running from their typewriters to their stations at the guns and control positions. But the most serious threat to the "Athabulletin" was a temporary paper shortage, a problem which has confronted some of their big brothers in the professional world.

War or high water, the Athabaskan's newspaper has hit the decks and added another portion of cheer to Canadian seamen fighting thousands of miles from home.

Abandoned Car Puzzle

Who owns an abandoned automobile parked near the city shops on Fraser Street?

That is a question city council would like answered. The car, termed by Ald. Frizzell a "wreck"—but not without value—has been parked there for a year. The city wants it moved but cannot find the owner.

City police were asked to move the car but they would not take the responsibility. The city didn't feel it could "very well remove it to the dump" because the car had some value, according to Ald. Frizzell.

Mayor G. W. Rudderham solved the problem by suggesting a notice be placed on the car asking the owner to remove same within a stated number of days. If not removed, the abandoned vehicle would be hauled to the city dump.

Cronin Mine Values Good

Net smelter return of $105.20 per ton has been realized by Cronin Babine Mines Ltd. on its first shipment of high grade ore to Trail smelter.

While advancing work on mill installation as rapidly as possible, the company utilized trucks bringing in equipment to ship two carloads of ore previously mined and stacked at portal of the Cronin Mine tunnel. Trail smelter's settlement sheet shows that the first car of 40 tons of this ore averaged $141.17 gross value in gold, silver, lead and zinc and that net smelter return to the company was $4264.57 or $105.20 per ton. This was after $18.01 per ton for treatment and $16.31 for freight. The 40 tons of ore averaged 0.045 oz. gold and 35.5 oz. silver per ton; 23.3% lead and 29.3% zinc.

Leslie C. Creery, president, reports no difficulty in obtaining sufficient efficient labor. There is now accommodation at the mine for 30 to 40 men. Four tunnels above the main haulage level prove upward extent of the ore and diamond drilling will be started to test its downward extent.

Under supervision of Roy L. Clothier, managing-director, a mill site is being cleared and the road from the Smithers highway is being improved. Transportation over this road is continuous but it will not be possible to take heavy loads until about the end of May he reports. The government road from Smithers is good for some 20 miles and the Public Works Department is at present improving the last five miles.

As there is a considerable tonnage of ore mined ready for milling and as the ore in the upper workings is well opened up, there will be no question about assuring a supply for the initial milling period.

Rushbrook Hts. To Get Streets

Authority to draw up plans and specifications of an estimated $60,000 street improvement plan for Rushbrook Heights was given at Monday night's council meeting on first reading of the local improvement bylaws.

The streets include Herman Street, Herman Place, Pigott Place and both ends of Overlook Street.

Notices to property owners on these streets have been mailed by City Clerk R. W. Long, indicating that cost to them, on a local improvement plan, will range from approximately $3 to $22 a year for 20 years, according to construction expenses of the streets on which they own property.

Construction of new streets, including hard-surfacing, was requested by petition.

Specifications will be drawn up and presented for approval and then tendered to contractors.

Would Broadcast Opening of Mill

John Fisher, travelling correspondent for Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, will be asked by Prince Rupert Public Relations Council to be present at the opening of Columbia Cellulose Company pulp mill, June 11.

Upon suggestion of Ald. George Casey at Monday night's city council meeting, Ald. Doug Frizzell, chairman of the council, said everything would be done—including "political pressure" if necessary—to have the mill opening broadcast over CBC.

Independence to Be Celebrated

Final arrangements for the annual Norwegian Independence Day Smorgasbord were made at a meeting of Sons of Norway Monday night. Although May 17 is Independence Day, the following day, Friday, was thought more suitable. A program of vocal solos, instrumental numbers and dancing will be included. R. Hundelde was in the chair.

Terrace WA Tea Success

TERRACE—Despite uncertain, showery weather the Anglican tea and sale held in the Oddfellows' Hall on Saturday afternoon last drew a very large patronage, many of whom had to wait for a tea table. The home cooking and candy tables held many tempting delicacies and the plant stall had a variety of lovely flowering plants in bloom which were all sold very early in the afternoon.

Vases of spring flowers, from the gardens of the members, decorated the tea tables and the lace covered pourers' table with its silver appointments.

Dispensing tea and coffee here were Mrs. Hodson and Mrs. P. Skinner.

Archdeacon Hodson officiated at the formal opening of the affair and Mrs. West, president of the W.A., received the guests. In charge of the tearoom was Mrs. G. Hamlin, assisted by Mrs. Head, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Morgan and Sheila Kill. Mrs. E. S. Laird was in charge of the kitchen with Mrs. Thomson, Mrs. Sande and Mrs. J. Kill assisting. At the stalls were:

Home cooking—Mrs. H. King and Mrs. H. Houlden.

54-APARTMENT BLOCK—

Administration Building Conversion is Starting

Work of converting the former United States Army administration building, First Avenue at the end of Seventh Street, will commence next week. Bert Blair and crew of men are to be here from Vancouver by Monday. Electric ranges have already arrived and the first carload of building material is due.

The work of converting the building is being carried out directly by Boulbee, Sweet & Co., Vancouver financial house, which became interested in the project with a local syndicate which took it over a few months ago from Frank Kafel of Toronto.

The building will be converted one wing at a time.

When completed it will provide 54 suites.

Streets Sought For Box Derby

Formal application will be made to city council for the closing of certain sections of streets on the evening of June 28, for running of a Soap Box Derby. Ald. Doug Frizzell advised Monday night's council meeting.

Ald. Frizzell said tentative plans were to have the Derby run on Third Avenue from Fifth to Eighth Streets. Aldermen felt that other streets, removed more from the business section, should be explored for racing possibilities. It would be difficult, they felt, to block off traffic in the downtown area.

Council assured Ald. Frizzell, however, that it would do what it could to assist in that matter.

TERRACE TOPICS

Mrs. G. Skinner of Copper City is leaving this week to travel by air to Britain for the Festival.

Canon Arthur Hinchliffe and Fred Fowler of Smithers spent a short time in Terrace on their way by car to Prince Rupert to attend the Anglican Synod which is being held there this week.

Mr. W. Donald left by bus on Tuesday for Prince Rupert where he will meet his sister, Mrs. Corlett, who is returning by steamer from Vancouver where she recently broke her shoulder in a fall. They will return to Terrace on tonight's train.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Olsen and son of Doreen have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Jackson for the past ten days, having left Doreen for work further up country.

An early morning chimney fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Doll was answered by the local fire engine on Tuesday.

In the course of levelling the lots on Greig Avenue and Attwood Street for Osborne's new garage, an unsightly spot has been covered up behind the Skeena Hotel and the dwellings nearby with the bulldozer, operated by Bill Martin, filling in the swampy holes.

Garnet Jackson left with his caterpillar on Sunday for Skeena Crossing, where he will be engaged building a road into some mining property there.

Archdeacon Hodson and Mrs. Bert West left on Tuesday's bus to attend the synod meeting in Prince Rupert this week.
