COMMUNISTS ARE FALLING BACK IN KOREA

Russians Active Again Big Diomed Island

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (CP)—Russian soldiers reported more active on the visible corner of Big Diomed Island than at any time in several years. Report from Little Diomed to Mr. and Mrs. Morgan of Anchorage, who formerly taught in the American island, discloses such activity.

Earlier report was made by James Tyapan, of the island. The island is owned by Big Diomed, less than three miles from the tip of the Alaska Peninsula, and is the site of the Bering Strait. This spring there had been a sighting of Russians on the island, the weekly publication of the Star reported.

A year ago the Daily News reported that a Russian traveller of Russian movements on Big Diomed Island.

Russia Interested in War Being Ended

24 SUSSEX—Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent have moved into their new home, Canada's first official residence for her prime ministers. Oceanographic Vessel in Port

HMCS Cedarwood, Esquimalt-based Royal Canadian Navy experimental ship, shipped into Prince Rupert early Sunday morning to take on supplies.

The ship was a former Canadian Army vessel brought around from the east coast and commissioned for the navy at Esquimalt. It plies the seas some 400 miles off-shore from a point west of Cape Flattery to west of Prince Rupert.

Very little sea traffic is encountered on her two-to-three-week cruises, said Capt. Wolfenden. However, last week the Cedarwood sighted the drifting Cape Spencer, an American halibut, and towed the vessel for more than 16 hours.

"There's nothing very glamorous about this job," said the captain, "but there's a job to do and I think we're doing it well."

The Cedarwood expects to be in Prince Rupert again about the end of July.

Cdr. Wolfenden is no stranger to Prince Rupert. He was here last as captain of H.M.C.S. Charlottetown when it took part in a search a few years ago for a Queen Charlotte Airlines Stranrear flying boat which was lost in Chatham Sound while returning from a mercy flight to Stewart with several people on board.

Why 'Mac' Was Fired

General Omar Bradley Tells Senatorial Joint Committee
WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—General Omar N. Bradley told the senators today that joint chiefs of staff recommended the dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur because he was "not in sympathy" with Korean war plans.

Iran Is Not Negotiating

Utah Pen Cons Riot

POINT-OF-THE-MOUNTAIN, Utah (CP)—Two hundred prisoners took eight guards as hostages at Utah's new "escape-proof" penitentiary last night and riot through the buildings and corridors, for 4½ hours, doing damage estimated at $100,000.

Only persons hurt were several fellow prisoners who were beaten up by their fellows. None of the prisoners escaped and hostages were released after a delegation of convicts met with Warden Alvin P. Severson.

The prisoners released six men in "Death Row."

The riot developed when word spread that several prisoners had been disciplined Sunday for a previous disturbance over food.

Would Stop at Thirty-Eighth

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia CCF convention today urged United Nations troops "not to again cross the 38th parallel" in Korea.

A preamble to a foreign policy resolution, passed unanimously, said "the Socialists everywhere are apprehensive that actions of the United Nations in branding China as an aggressor in Korea are more likely to lead to a third world war than to preserve peace."

The convention agreed to support CCF Members of Parliament "and those who oppose following up of the aggressor motion by economic sanctions."

The resolution, which came at the end of a three-day meeting of the party's B.C.-Yukon section, also urged that Communist China be seated in the United Nations.

The convention roared the provincial government for its handling of the compulsory hospital insurance scheme and demanded that the recent increases in premiums and the co-insurance charges be rescinded.

Grant McNeill was re-elected chairman, defeating Robert Strachan. Dr. J. N. Thomas was elected first vice-president and Alex McDonald, second vice-president.

Being Pushed Toward Russia?

TEHRAN — Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh has rejected a proposal by Great Britain to arbitrate the explosive dispute over nationalization of the wealthy Anglo-Iranian oil company.

A government spokesman also told Parliament that Great Britain and the United States are pushing Iran closer to Russia and a Communist revolution by opposing oil nationalization.

United States, Russia Differ

Come to Parting of Ways On Japanese Peace Treaty
WASHINGTON, D.C. — United States and Russia have reached the parting of the ways over preparation of a peace treaty for Japan. The spread of their differences was in the spotlight with an American charge that Moscow is "conniving at aggression" by proposing to deny to Japan adequate post-treaty defence arrangements.

An American note published last night made it clear that the United States is determined to go through with its plan of using American forces to help protect Japan against any threat of Communist aggression from Asia.

Russia proposed that all occupation troops should be withdrawn from Japan within a year after the treaty became effective.

Patricias Moving on

Advance to New Positions in Korea

WEST CENTRAL SECTOR, KOREA — Troops of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade and the Second Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, are closer together than they have been since the Princess Patricias sailed for Korea last November but they have yet to be re-united under Brig. John M. Rockingham, Brigade commander.

Rockingham has a Filipino battalion serving with his Royal Canadian Regiment and the Royal 22nd Regiment.

The Princess Patricias, registering their first move in almost three weeks, left their strong defensive positions on the north Han River and moved on to hills several thousand yards north-west as the whole western front at least temporarily wrested the initiative from the Chinese Communists. The Patricias advanced unopposed.

Including casual workers and the Women's Land Army, Britain had 842,900 farm workers in 1950.

Cease Fire At 38th is Being Urged

Reds Withdrawing After Big Loss

TOKYO (CP) — Communists began withdrawing today from half of the Korean central front after losing nearly 60,000 men by Allied estimates in their five-day offensive.

At the same time Moscow dispatches indicated that Russia was anxious that the war in Korea should be ended. The newspaper Pravda appeared particularly interested that a cease-fire should be agreed upon by both sides at the 38th parallel on June 25, the first anniversary of the commencement of the war.

Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond announced that his Tenth Corps had killed or wounded 48,341 Reds on the east central front. Sunday's total alone was 24,700, he said—the biggest one-day total of the war.

Allied officers estimated that 10,220 other casualties were inflicted on the west central front. In this sector the Reds retreated through driving rain.

Front line dispatches Monday night told of Communist withdrawals before the advancing Allies across more than 20 miles of the front.

The Reds were reported to be abandoning their bridgeheads below the Pukhan and Hongchon Rivers and pulling back toward Chunchon in the centre.

"We have taken the starch out of what is in front of us," the Tenth Corps commander told a press conference, "and I feel certain that, if they come at us again even in greater numbers, we can handle them."

Collision in Juan de Fuca

SEATTLE — A troopship, outbound from Seattle with Korean war replacements, collided Sunday night with a tanker in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

Two large holes were torn in the bow of the troopship Pvt. Sadao Munemori. The ship reported that she was listing but there were no casualties.

The tanker was the Union Oil Co.'s L. P. St. Clair.

Both vessels later proceeded to Seattle under their own power.

Buildings of Eton College, one of the most famous English public schools, date from 1442.

Reds Want Korea Peace

UNITED NATIONS, New York (CP)—Informed western sources said Sunday that Russia has indicated privately in western diplomatic circles that she is anxious to end the war in Korea now.

And the United States now would back peace terms which would leave North Korea and South Korea as they were constituted before the North Korean attack last June, these sources added.

Four Firemen Blaze Victims

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP)—Firemen and volunteers Sunday recovered the last of four bodies buried under tons of wreckage Saturday during a $300,000 blaze that injured 11 other persons, destroyed a four-storey downtown business block and damaged an adjoining building.

Each of the four firemen was married and they leave, besides their widows, 14 children. A public relief fund has been organized with $4000 subscribed within a few hours.

Body Now at Ocean Falls

Body of Lawrence P. Dupuis, 40-year-old lighthouse keeper at Egg Island, is now at Ocean Falls where it was delivered early yesterday morning by the lighthouse tender Alexander Mackenzie of Prince Rupert.

An inquest was to be held at the paper town.

The verdict, if any, had not been received up to this morning.

Dupuis is believed to have shot himself after understanding that the woman who was believed to have been his wife would not be returning to him. It was she, however, who found his body at the lonely light when she did return.

At Victoria Stanley Rife said that the woman who was believed to have been Mrs. Dupuis was really his (Rife's) wife and that divorce proceedings had been started.

Mrs. Rife (or Mrs. Dupuis) was also taken to Ocean Falls by the Alexander Mackenzie.

BURIAL AT EGG ISLAND
Department of Transport headquarters here said today that the woman wanted Dupuis' body buried at Egg Island and that she wanted to remain there in charge of the light.

Oil In Iran

NATIONALIZING of Iran oil is not to the liking of Britain which enjoys a control that is full of uncertainties and anxieties.

It is worth remembering that in 1921 a treaty between Iran and immediately adjacent Soviet Russia provided that, in any intervention in Iranian affairs by a third power, Russia could legally bring in Soviet forces.

The oil of Iran is six per cent of world production and, while this is important to Britain, it could be of even more concern to Moscow.

It could be that the crisis in Iran might become more momentous than Korea with even graver possibilities.

Rocks More Than Cradle

SOME of the best stories of political conventions aren't written at the time. That was the case at a recent rally of Ontario Conservatives in London. With George Drew, Premier Leslie Frost and a fair ration of cabinet ministers on hand, reporters were kept on the double chronicle events that took place at the men's sessions. Had they slipped into the women's gathering they might have walked away with a scoop.

Seems that the women, sensible folk that they are, wanted to do something about the proposed turnover tax. They didn't like the idea of an amendment to the British North America Act which would permit the provinces to levy a three per cent tax on the gross turnover of retail goods. From their angle living costs are already high enough. The provinces have no right to add new burdens to the bills we pay.

The lady Pro-Cons introduced the subject at their London meeting—knowing as they did that Premier Frost was already on record as being willing to support the amendment if the other provinces agreed to do likewise.

Small wonder that there was an air of embarrassment in the room when a resolution was introduced opposing the tax Mr. Frost had promised to uphold. Embarrassing—because Mrs. Frost was in the room at the time.

What happened? Well . . . when arms were raised to vote against the turnover, Mrs. Frost's arm was among 'em.

Later, when husband Les spoke to the girls—he gave in. After a chat with the good wife, no doubt, he was willing to make this statement: "The turnover tax is dead."

It's a statement the premier hasn't made publicly so far—but the women delegates to the convention got the scoop.

That famous "hand" rocks a good bit more than the cradle.

Overdone Modesty

IN A RECENT column, Dewitt Mackenzie, of the Associated Press, wrote:

"Every once in a while I get out my map of North America and study it with fascination. There is U.S., which enjoys a large measure of world leadership. She is rich and powerful.

"Then to the north is the sister nation, even greater territorially than the U.S. Canadian resources already disclosed are tremendous, and we know that there are other vast treasures to be uncovered.

"In due course Canada may have a population as big as, or bigger than ours. Maybe the leadership will pass to her—who knows?"

These reflections, coming from an American news analyst, cause no raised eyebrows. Had the author been a Canadian . . . but, well, everybody knows Canadians don't talk that way. Canadians have always been quicker to achieve than to recognize Canadian achievements. A modest matter-of-factness about our resources and resourcefulness is one of our national characteristics.

But modesty, like any other virtue, can be overdone, especially when it is combined with a lack of imagination. It would probably be a good thing if a few more Canadians could find the same fascination as Mr. Mackenzie in poring over a map of North America.

As I See It

TWO MONT BLANCS

GENEVA, SWITZERLAND.—They have a lot of dull weather here in Geneva. On many days it is impossible to see Mont Blanc—the prize exhibit. But on such days they have a substitute which locals genially call "the English Mont Blanc." The fake is much smaller and much closer, and hence may almost always be seen.

Moreover, the gullible foreigners who take it for the real article go away just as happy as if they had seen the genuine one.

HERE IN THIS HISTORIC town you see where Calvin and Knox and other leaders of the Protestant Reformation ruled with a moral rod of iron. Incidentally, some of the hour atmosphere remains to this day.

Here also you see where Jean Jacques Rousseau wrote some of his great rolling phrases which became the ideology of the French Revolution; and where Lenin and his fellow Red Russian exiles played chess in a student cafe—and planned what became the Russian revolution.

THE SPEAKER ON OUR sight-seeing bus cracked this feeble joke today—referring to the number of crowns which had already toppled in this century: "Some say that in five years there will only be five kings left in Europe—the King of England and the four kings in the deck of cards."

WHICH COMES FIRST—THE chicken or the egg?

Is Switzerland probably the most prosperous and enlightened part of Europe because of its no-war policy; or is its no-war policy the consequence of the fact that it is the most enlightened?

Suppose it were possible to convert all Germany to the no war principles, which is the bedrock foundation of Swiss existence? Would not that fact change the whole world picture, and instantly and infinitely for the better?

IN BERNE, RIGHT OUTSIDE the Parliament of Switzerland—on the very doorstep, in fact—there is a fine farmers' market.

Can anybody imagine what would happen in Ottawa if farmers began to sell their stuff on that nice green lawn in front of the House of Commons? Or in Queen's Park, Toronto—or in front of the Legislature in Victoria, B.C.?

One explanation of the amazing standard of living that these Swiss have achieved is that they don't go in for silly and shallow show-off stuff.

THIS MORNING, SUNDAY, was an unofficial Bevin memorial day in the Church of England here. The place was comfortably full. The rector invited the whole congregation to meet in the tea room across the road after the service, as a means of getting better acquainted.

In his sermon he also mentioned the fact that he had been at one of London's most famous churches last Sunday where the morning congregation numbered just 50 persons.

THERE ARE MORE PROTESTANTS than Catholics in all Switzerland. But here in Geneva, the core and centre of the Reformation, the Catholics are outnumbered by the Protestants by less than three percent.

The last war they had in Switzerland was a civil affair—fought in 1847 between the Protestant and Catholic cantons. However, due to a very wise general, they settled it with almost no bloodshed.

ONE SECRET OF THE DEMOCRACY in Switzerland is that every able-bodied man is a soldier—for home defense—and he keeps his rifle right in his own home. This tends to discourage any would-be Swiss Mussolinis.

Incidentally, they proudly show you the jail here—where a young anarchist named Mussolini—later the dictator—spent some weeks.

Another secret of the Swiss warlessness is that they keep their brass hat class down to a minimum. They fire their generals as soon as the war threats are over.

They have extremely effective-looking anti-tank defenses here in Switzerland, in those spots where invasion could be expected. Their army would never win any prize for spit and polish—but my observation is that it would stand very high for hitting bull's-eye with the rifles.

EVACUATE WOUNDED—This United States heli opter is landing at battalion headquarters of the 1 PCLI, somewhere in Korea, to pick up Maj. Henry Tighe, acting commanding officer of the unit, who directed evacuation of wounded members of the regiment. Casualties are carried in the pontoon-like "sidecars" on the helicopter. Reflects and Reminisces

Lady Astor, who has divided much of her time and thoughts between Britain and the United States recently, remarked that, if the United States would give Britain the food it wastes, the British would look almost as well fed as the Yankees. Perhaps it would be a case of out-weighing.

One sometimes wonders what all the notables would do if radio broadcasting had not yet become a proven fact and was still something more or less of a problem. For it's not so very long ago President Harding was the first chief executive to use the miracle. This was in 1922 when he journeyed away up to Alaska and was in Ketchikan the first Sunday morning. Regretfully, there was lack of time to accept Prince Rupert's invitation. Later he contracted illness, passing away in San Francisco.

PERFECT GUEST: One who can make his host feel at home—Daffynition.

NOT A NAG

There used to be horses in Prince Rupert—strong enough to sweat over heavy harness loads and sufficiently nimble to gracefully wear a saddle. Then, over in Fraser Street stood the blacksmith partners, Mac Keen and Hunter, and down on the waterfront, Alex Yule gave everyone as good as he sent. Jimmy Hunter hailed from St. Fergus, Banff. When he finally did settle, it was a long way from Scotland. As for Alex, he had known something about Montana when a younger man.

He could tell many a buffalo hunting story.

PAT CAREY, O.T.

Whiskers and witticisms distinguished Pat Carey who many memorable years ago served as caretaker at the government wharf.

"Would ye now?" was usually his way of cautioning someone disposed to talk too much.

Pat knew his trade. To him there were few strangers in the sheds, along the docks or aboard the pioneer craft that had sailed north to scout for business in the new port people called Prince Rupert.

"O.T." MEANS OLD TIMER

One day a sailor on an approaching vessel failed to drop his mooring line near enough. This happened more than once. Plainly, Mr. Carey was annoyed. "Blast it," he roared, "Is it the dock that's wanted? Can we shove it out to yez?"

But much of his wrath was merely simulated, which helped make him the original and engaging companion he undoubtedly was. Loitering in public places could not be permitted—but there was many a snug nook that did not pass unnoticed. But Pat was usually equal to any

Father of Mrs. Prockter Dies

J. F. C. Reipsamen, father of Mrs. Basil S. Prockter of this city, passed away last week at his home in Regina. Mrs. Prockter and daughter Julie, were in Regina for the funeral which took place Friday. The former will be returning to the city soon but the latter will be remaining for the summer in the Saskatchewan capital with her grandmother.

Mr. Reipsamen for twenty-nine years was building superintendent for the Young Men's Christian Association at Regina. He was also a noted collector of ancient weapons and the walls of his home were lined with hundreds of old firearms as well as knives, spears, swords and clubs.

Born in Holland 68 years ago, Mr. Reipsamen was active in the Dutch colony in Regina and had to do with the bringing of his Canada including many war brides.

Mr. and Mrs. Reipsamen visited Prince Rupert in 1948.

Check Artist is Sentenced Again

An 18-month sentence in Oakalla jail was imposed upon "Rev." G. A. Garland by Judge W. O. Fulton at the week-end in County Court for obtaining money under false pretenses.

Garland was sentenced to two 6-month concurrent and one 6-month consecutive terms previously in Smithers and Prince Rupert police courts respectively on similar charges.

The "check artist" is believed to have cashed worthless cheques from Prince Rupert to Houston in amount of $200 before police caught up with him.

Recently, in Prince Rupert, he signed a cheque, "Rev. G. A. Garland, Gospel Worker," and with it bought $30 worth of bibles and took $57 in change.

Last Rites for Joseph Trempe

Requiem mass for Joseph Hercule Trempe, 48, power company lineman, who died suddenly last week, was held at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Church of Annunciation by Father R. J. Raynor.

Prayers by Fathers O. K. Mohan and O. P. Mohan were said at Fairview Cemetery, place of interment.

Pallbearers were Arthur Alger, Clarence Adland, Carl Brechin, Frank Dafee, Al Johnson and Barney Turbitt.

Miss Grace Soderlov of the Bank of Montreal staff at Stewart was a passenger aboard the Camosun last evening returning north after a trip to Vancouver.

Prince George to Make Special Voyage for Pulp Mill Opening

Dignitaries and officials, coming here for the official opening of the Columbia Cellulose pulp mill June 12, will travel north on the specially chartered steamer Prince George which will be their floating hotel throughout the trip.

Some 250 people will be here, coming from all parts of Canada and the United States and including many prominent figures in the pulp and paper industry. President Howard Blanche and Vice-President George Schneider of the Celanese Corporation of America will be with them.

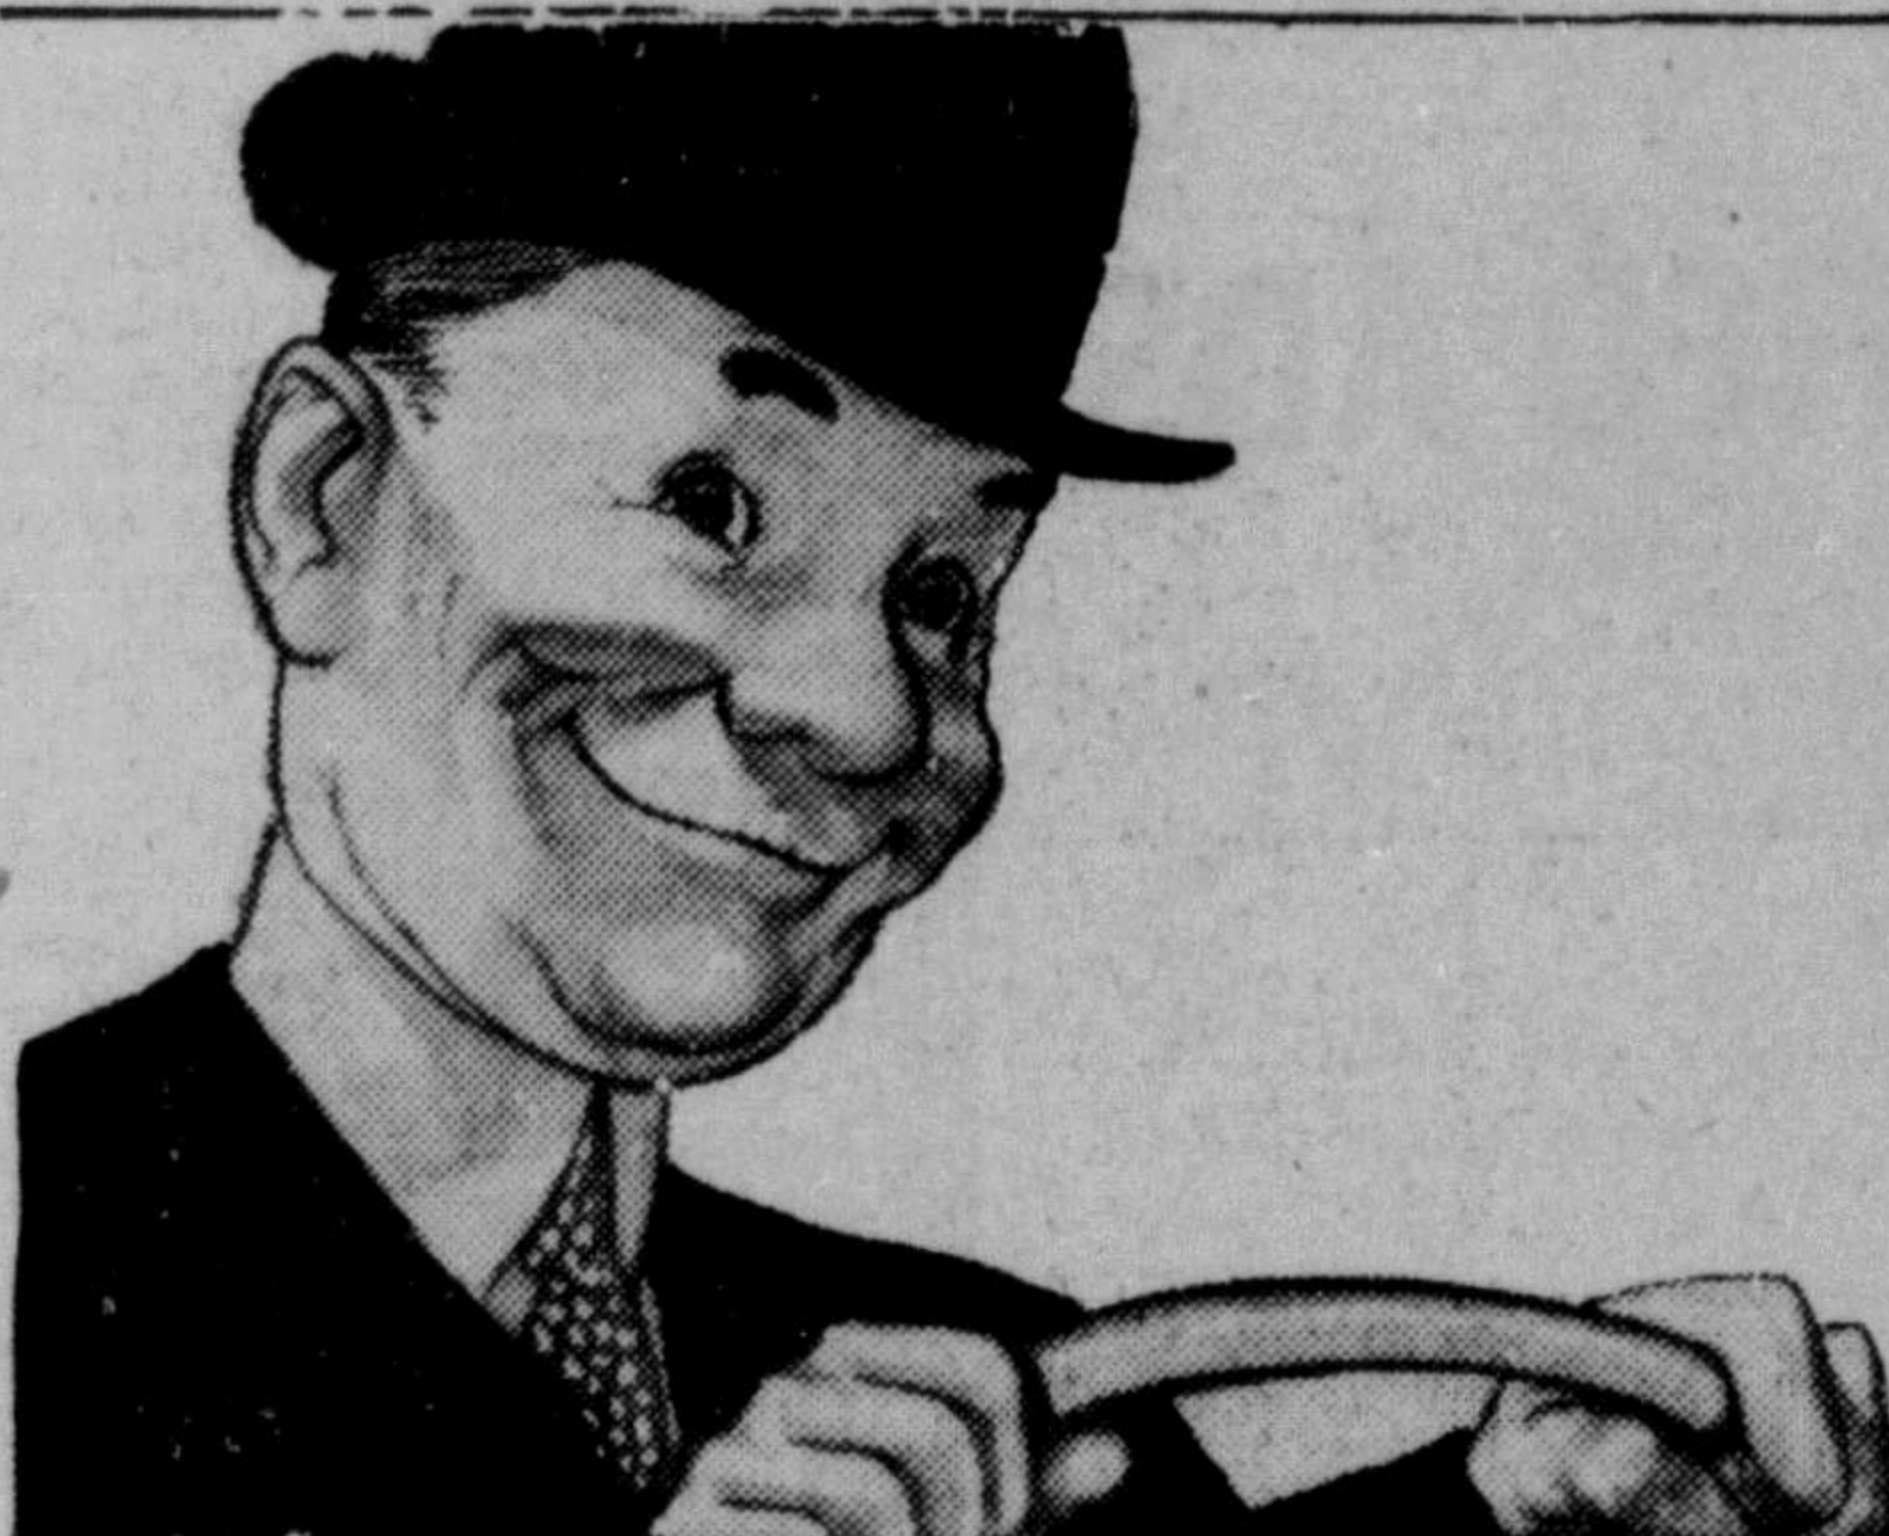

The Prince George, on the way north, will call at Ocean Falls and Khutzmateen Inlet. She will arrive here Monday morning and early next morning will proceed to Watson Island to remain for the day during the official opening proceedings. That night she will leave for the south, calling at Kemano Bay enroute to Vancouver.

NSMEN CLUB CELEBRATION, THURSDAY MAY 24

There are two worlds: the world that we measure with line and rule, and the world that we feel with our hearts and imagination.

Celebration At Kitwanga

KITWANGA — The biggest sports celebration ever to be held at Kitwanga is planned for Victoria Day, May 24, with visitor participation, ball games and a parade led by the Totem Pole Brass Band.

Sports committee appointed for the celebration are Chief D. L. Wells, Chief Josiah Bright, Chief W. B. Morgan, Chief Fred Johnson, Solomon Bryant, Arthur Matthews, Richard Fowler, James A. Fowler.

Secretary is Harold Sinclair; Howard Morgan, treasurer; and Geoffrey Morgan, sports manager.

Bed Smoking Causes Fire

A smoke in bed can be expensive. In this case it cost a roomer $35 when his mattress caught fire early Monday morning. Fire department arrived in time to confine the fire to the mattress in a Fraser Street rooming house.

Two other calls were answered over the week-end—one to Cow Bay, where an oil stove on a fishing vessel flooded; another, a chimney fire.

"What is your age?" asked the judge. "Remember," he cautioned, "you are under oath."

"Twenty-one and some months," the woman witness answered.

"How many months?"

"One hundred and eight."

Tells About Jew Problems

TORONTO — Shimon Hacoheh has the rough hands of a dirt farmer, which he is, but when he talks his mild grey eyes light up and impenetrable, but in a quiet, English pours out in a flood.

Hacoheh, writer, poet, agricultural scientist and dirt farmer, is in Canada to tell Canadian Jews how they can help people become self-supporting citizens of Israel.

He and his family are typical intellectual leaders who have a burning zeal for Israel's freedom.

His father was Mordecai Hillel Hacoheh, the famous Hebrew writer. His brother is mayor of Haifa, Israel's major port, and his nephew was chief of staff of Israel's army during the war with the Arabs.

Hacoheh, himself was a Hagah, a military leader—during the bad 20's and 30's. Twice he fought for Britain, winning decorations, a command visit to Buckingham Palace and a private audience with the King and Queen.

He enlisted with Allied forces in 1914 and at 16 was the youngest sergeant in the British army and the subject of many newspaper and magazine articles.

When war came again in 1939 he enlisted with the Royal Engineers. As a Captain, he was captured in Greece during the historic retreat to Crete.

ALMOST A LEGEND

When freedom came, Hacoheh had become almost a legend as a Jew who bearded Hitler and deliberately courted death. Letters and sketches sent home and which were published in Palestine, earned him a transfer to the infamous Straft camp for punishment of unruly British officers.

Hacoheh today lives in the community of his youth, Benyaminzuzgog, manager of a local co-operative.

But for the next six weeks his address will be Canada. He is here to tell Canadians about Jewish refugees, of which 1,000 arrive in Israel every day, without money and homeless.

There are 320,000 anti-Communist Jews in Romania alone for whom Israel is paying $300 each so they won't be deported to Siberia. There are 55,000 Jews in Iraq and more in Iran, Hungary and Russia.

"I'm in Canada to tell Canadians about them," says Hacoheh. "We must have money to help an unbalanced economy caused by the doubling of our population in three years. Israel can succeed and will succeed because democracy must prevail in the Middle East."

The tired store clerk had pulled down blanket after blanket until only one was left on the shelf. Then the customer remarked, "Well, I don't really want to buy anything today. I was only looking for a friend."

"Well, Madam," said the exasperated clerk, "I'll take down the last one if you think he's in it."

One morning Brown looked over his garden wall and said to his neighbor: "What are you burying in that hole?"

"Oh," he said, "I'm just re-planting some of my seeds."

"Seeds—" screamed Brown angrily, "It looks more like one of my hens."

"It is and the garden seeds are inside."

Norwegians Celebrate

Celebration of the annual Norwegian Independence Day was marked by Sons of Norway with a smorgasbord and entertainment Friday night in the SNC Hall.

In a brightly decorated setting of red, white and blue streamers and Norwegian flags, 114 people sat down to loaded tables of traditional smorgasbord after singing of "O Canada," and "Ja Vi Elsker."

Program of entertainment which followed the feast featured vocal solo, "Norge Mitt Norge" by Mrs. Anton Dybhavn; two accordion solos, "Leibestraum" and "La Sorella," by Sandra Giske; two duets, "Santa Lucia" and "Just A Wearying for You," by Margaret Olsen and Mardell Soiland; two selections by the Varden singers, "Aa, Eg Vert Meg Land," and "Syltende Mai Sang."

Rev. Earl Soiland, giving the address of the evening, spoke on Norway and the heritage of the Norwegian people.

Further entertainment was provided with two vocal solos by Mrs. Ruth Wick, "Mid Elvtn" and "Sjonnann Og Stjernen"; two piano solos by Mardell Soiland, "Polka De Lorraine," and "Nightingale"; three selections by the Varden singers, "Near Fjordene Blaenen," "Dans Raalite Sela" and "God Signe Norges Land."

Master of Ceremonies was Peter Petersen.

Rudolph Olsen was program convenor, assisted by Mrs. John Pedersen, Mrs. C. Strand, Mrs. J. Ritchie, Mrs. Alf Jensen, Mrs. F. Schrader, Mrs. B. Roald, Mrs. C. Giske, G. Selvig, J. McNaughton, R. Hundelde, K. Dehli and J. Pedersen.

Dancing to the music of Mike Colussi and Barney Christman followed from 11 to 2:30.

Ocean Falls Founder Dies

Lester W. David, who, in 1919 started the first sawmill at Ocean Falls out of which developed the present pulp mill and paper plant of Pacific Mills, is dead in Ocean Falls at the age of 86. Mr. David's first venture in British Columbia was the mill at New Westminster, now known as Fraser Mills which he sold for $3,000,000. He was the first postmaster and first mayor of Blaine, Washington.

Hospital Work Reviewed

Furnishing of the lounge in the new Nurses' Home, setting up of a library tray service for patients, providing of book covers were listed among the year's accomplishments of the Women's Auxiliary to the Prince Rupert General Hospital which held its monthly meeting last Thursday in the Civic Centre.

The chairman, Mrs. Jens Munthe, after reviewing the activities of the year, expressed appreciation for co-operation and support of members.

Mrs. R. G. Moore was the unanimous choice as delegate to the annual convention of the Association of Hospital Auxiliaries to be held in Vancouver October 17. Thanks were extended to members of the hospital nursing staff who acted as servitors and provided for flowers at the tea which was held on the anniversary of Florence Nightingale.

Regular meetings of the Auxiliary are being suspended until September.

Softball Urge Starts Slowly

Softball enthusiasm is slow in developing this year. Last week the annual softball meeting was to have been held but there were not enough people present to warrant going ahead. Another try will be made this Wednesday night.

It seems that the softball urge does not develop until weather gets really good.

However, time is passing and, if the organization does not proceed soon, softball may have to lapse.

Alberta Gets Too Much Rain

WINNIPEG—Spring seeding is general throughout Manitoba, mostly under favorable conditions. Seeding operations are also under way throughout Saskatchewan but this province shows considerable variation in the progress made to date, according to the weekly crop report of the department of agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

Seeding in Alberta will not be general for perhaps a week owing to excessive moisture conditions. In a number of the earliest districts in the west wild oats are causing trouble. In these same areas, some wheat is now a good two inches above the ground.

Two nice rains are reported from the Okanagan Valley during the past week, considerably improving tree fruit prospects. Last week's percentages by fruit varieties, however, stand as the best available estimate at this date. No further damage from any source is indicated.

It is alright to drink like a fish if you drink what a fish drinks.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

I wish I could report that all the hands played by my bridge playing friends were properly bid, but that simply would not be the truth. Mr. Abel could have made a grand slam at clubs on this deal, but clubs were never even bid.

The bidding:

1S Pass 4 NT Pass
5H Pass 6H All pass

When Mr. Masters opened the bidding, Mr. Abel didn't know what to do. In view of the partial 90 points, he was afraid Mr. Masters might drop the bidding before he could examine the possibilities of both his long suits.

So he jumped straight to four no trump. If you want to tell me that was an abuse of the Blackwood Convention I will have to agree with you. But that is the way the bidding went.

After showing his two aces with a bid of five hearts, Mr. Masters found himself playing six hearts with the singleton ace of that suit in his hand.

Mr. Champion opened the king of spades which was trumped in dummy. Mr. Masters led a heart to his ace and wondered how he should go back to dummy to pull the remaining trumps.

Holding ten clubs in his hand and dummy, there was a fair chance a club lead would be trumped. On the other hand one trick could be lost without going set. On such a freak hand if either opponent were void in clubs, that same opponent might have a long string of hearts—and maybe his holding in that suit needed to be shortened.

Mr. Masters avoided the "safe" play of entering dummy by trumping a spade. Instead he led a club at the third trick and went up with dummy's ace.

Mrs. Keen trumped but that was her side's last trick. She returned the king of diamonds and Mr. Masters took the ace and ruffed one in dummy. The dummy still had as many hearts as Mrs. Keen had. Her trumps were picked up and the club suit furnished the rest of the tricks.

You can see that had Mr. Masters entered dummy at the south at noon.

third trick by ruffing a spade, Mrs. Keen would have had more trumps than dummy—and the hand would have fallen apart.

TERRACE TOPICS

Mr. and Mrs. Alf K. Kadatz arrived last week from Tofino with their two sons, Garry and Dallas. A third son, Clifford, is remaining in the south until school is out. They are the new owners of the Terrace Hotel which they will take over on June 1. Mr. and Mrs. Murie will be remaining in Terrace until school closes after which they will be going south to reside in Vancouver.

Gordon Vosburgh arrived last week from the south to go into partnership with Darrall Collins, Terrace lawyer. He is at present making his home with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Osborne.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Haugland left last week for a month's holiday in the south, going as far as California. They are travelling by car and will be met at Prince George by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Munro, who will travel with them.

Mrs. Joe Schultze has returned from Vancouver where she visited her son, Charles, who has spent the past month in the Shaughnessy Military Hospital and who is still not able to leave hospital for some further time.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Macklin of Telkwa, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kill, arrived last week to reside here. Mr. Macklin will be employed with Little, Haugland & Kerr.

Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. William McCombe, from the south Queen Charlotte Islands, and steamer Camosun, Capt. John Boden, from Vancouver, were in port last evening. The Coquitlam arrived at 3 p.m. and sailed at 8 p.m. for the south. The Camosun arrived at 5:15 p.m. and sailed at 11 p.m. for Alice Arm and Stewart whence she will return here tomorrow morning to sail south at noon.

"Pull over to the curb, mister." The motorist stopped, got out and said the traffic officer. "You for a look, and was speechless haven't any tail light." The officer. "Oh, it isn't that bad," said isn't the tail light that bothers me — where's my wife and trailer?" The motorist quavered. "Oh, it with dismay."

Report from Parliament

By E. T. APPLEWHAITE, M.P.

LEADING IN SCIENCE—In the High Speed Aerodynamics Laboratory of the Division of Mechanical Engineering, National Research Council, a 10-inch super-sonic wind tunnel is now in operation. The vacuum sphere is evacuated by four rotary-vane pumps and the tunnel can be run every 10 to 15 minutes. This is an entirely up-to-date installation from control desk to camera. I mention this as it is just another of several examples of the leading part Canada is playing in aircraft and other ultra-modern development.

INTEREST IN ALCAN—Prince Rupert and its surrounding communities are certainly arousing great interest these days in connection with the Alcan development. I think the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-Operative is to be most heartily thanked and congratulated for its very reasonable and (forgive the pun) co-operative attitude in this connection. I have been keeping in constant touch with the Minister of Fisheries here, and I want to emphasize as strongly as I can that I feel confident our salmon industry is going to be amply protected.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS—It is unfortunate, I think, that more Canadian taxpayers do not have an opportunity to watch the Parliamentary Standing Committees at work. They might have a better opinion of the efforts of the rank-and-file M.P. The Public Accounts Committee is still hard at it. Lately they have spent several days examining C. M. Drury, Deputy Minister of National Defence. This brought out, among other things, the allotments of training time etc. for the Canadian Army Reserve Force last year. A training period of 30 days was authorized for all ranks, of which 10 days might be spent at annual camps by 15,000. An additional 15 days training is authorized for 29,600 all ranks for the training of officers, N.C.O.'s, tradesmen, etc. Additional training such as attending Active Forces schools of instruction was also provided for. Last year 11,241 of our Canadian Army Reserve Force attended camp. Davie Fulton had a prepared list of questions for Mr. Drury asking for details of all materials, equipment, etc. purchased from some dozens of firms. Mr. Drury indicated it would take some time to get all this detailed information, but it would be supplied at the earliest possible date. What often happens at these committee meetings is that a series of questions is asked, for which the witness goes back to the Department and produces the answers

MILESTONE—First flow of Alberta oil into eastern Canada started Tuesday, April 24, when Ontario Premier Leslie Frost opened a valve on a dock at Imperial Oil's Sarnia refinery. The ceremony started oil flowing from the tanker Imperial Leduc into storage tanks. The tanker brought 3,400,000 gallons of crude oil from Superior, Wis., terminus of the 1,136-mile pipeline from Alberta.

Tex Morton Staying Over

Dr. "Tex" Morton, whose show of mesmerism and hypnotism as well as cowboy singing, marksmanship and feats of memory, has been an entertainment sensation here during the past, turned them away from the Civic Centre again Saturday night and agreed to stay over for two more local engagements—a matinee this afternoon and another evening show tonight.

Tomorrow, Dr. Morton will leave by car for Terrace whence he will enplane for Prince George enroute to Dawson Creek, Dawson City and Whitehorse after which he will appear in Prince George.

Two Loads Chlorine And Soda Monthly

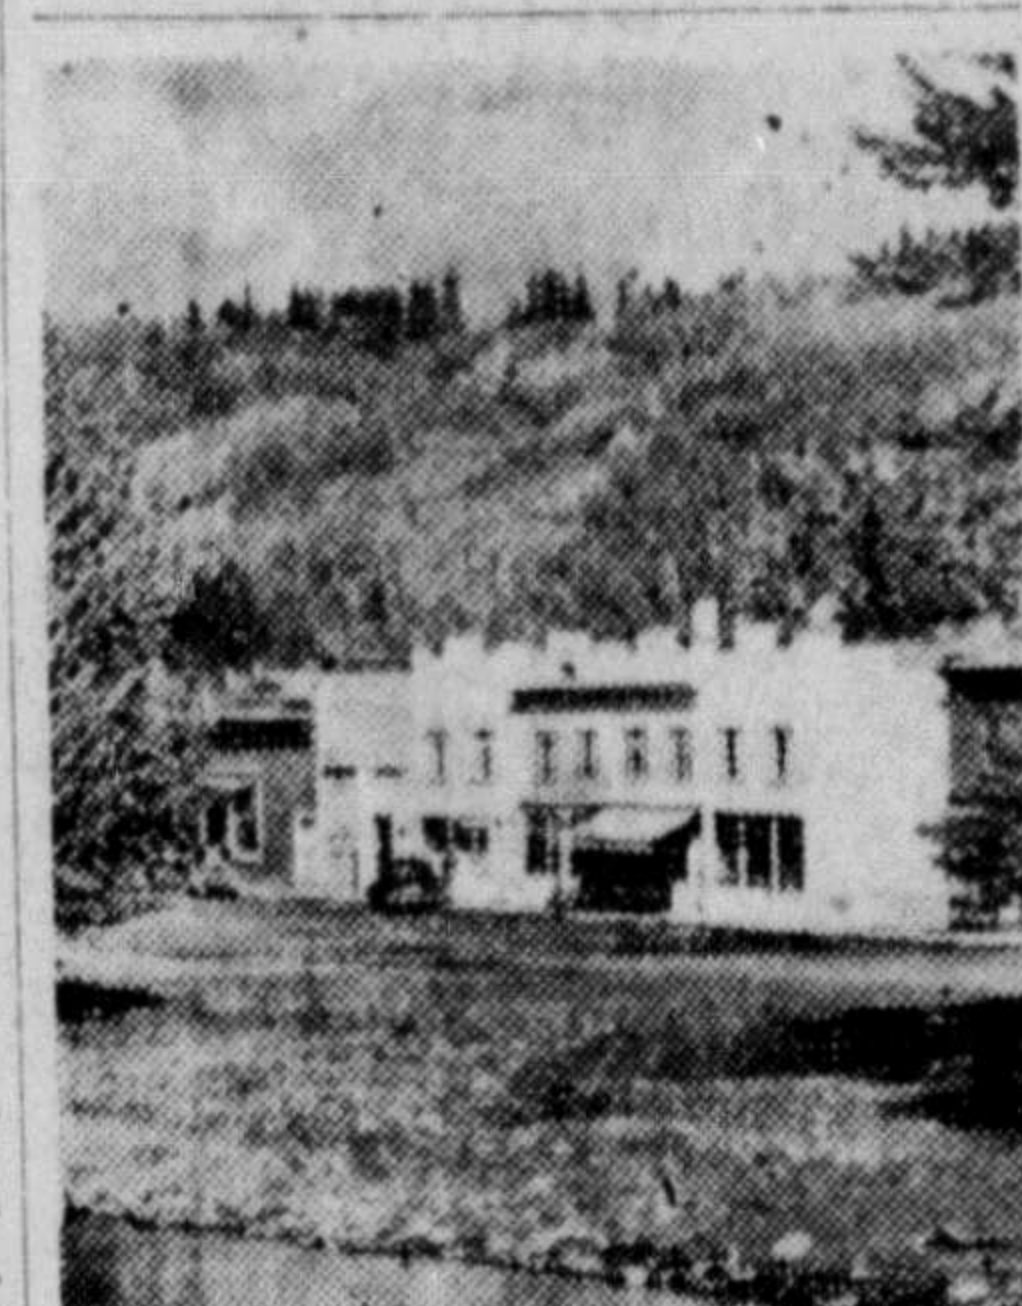

Capt. Harwood of the tug Mogul, in port at the week with soda and chlorine for the Columbia Cellulose mill at Watson Island, said two similar loads a month will arrive at tons of chlorine. Unloading finished Saturday.

The 160-foot diesel tug, operated by James Griffiths & Sons Ltd., has a displacement of 613 gross tons and is one of the largest tugs to ship into Prince Rupert.

William J. Clark, general manager of the shipping company, arrived by plane at the weekend to complete arrangements for future shipments to Columbia Cellulose Company.
