PRESIDENT TRUMAN DISMISSES GENERAL MACARTHUR

Found Unable to Keep In Tune With United Nations

WASHINGTON D.C. (CP)—President Truman fired General Douglas MacArthur today on the grounds that he failed to support and publicly sought to change grand strategy of the United Nations in the war against Communist aggression in Korea.

GENERAL DOUGLAS MacARTHUR

In a sensational statement, released at the White House at 1 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, after days of soul-searching and indecision, the President announced:

"With deep regret I have concluded that General of the Army Douglas MacArthur is unable to give his wholehearted support to policies of the United States government and the United Nations in matters pertaining to his official duties."

ACTS SUDDENLY
Acting with lightning speed on that conclusion once he had reached it, the President:

Relieved the 71-year-old MacArthur of his four-fold duties as Supreme Allied occupation commander in Japan, United States commander-in-chief for the Far East, and commanding general of the United States Army in the Far East.

Named Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway field commander in Korea to succeed MacArthur in all these commands. That means that Ridgway will not only direct the United Nations command in Korea but will also wind up the Japanese occupation, assuming peace treaty plans go through.

Named Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet commander of the Second Army at Fort George G. Meade in Maryland to take over the Eighth Army command in Korea from Ridgway.

The order relieving MacArthur of his command was Truman's answer to the general's persistent campaign of public statements to get the United States to follow a different policy in the Far East and especially, with its United Nations allies, in the Korean war.

Essentially, MacArthur has advocated expanding the war to include direct attacks on Communist China.

His dismissal amounts to re-affirmation by Truman of United States policies for a strictly limited war in Korea, if possible, and for treating Europe as the ultimate decisive area for a contest with Soviet Communist power.

The President told MacArthur that he is free to "travel to such places as you select, thus freeing the General to return to the United States after an absence of nearly fourteen years."

NOT TAKING IT
A Reuters News Agency dispatch said MacArthur was understood to be preparing a "vigorous and forthright public statement in defence of his Far Eastern policy."

Stone of Scone Turns Up In Dramatic Circumstances

DUNDEE (CP)—Britain's coronation stone, stolen from Westminster Abbey early Christmas morning, was handed to the custodian of Arbroath Abbey near here today.

The famed Stone of Scone was placed in the high altar of the Abbey on the grave of King William Lion, King of Scotland from 1143 to 1214.

The abbey, founded in 1178, is now largely in ruins.

Two unsigned letters, one addressed to the King and the other to the general assembly of Scotland, were left with the stone.

People who left the stone did not identify themselves.

The sandstone slab is reliably reported to have been taken from Westminster Abbey by Scottish Nationalists.

Ouster is Approved

Non-American World Pleased at Removal of MacArthur

LONDON (CP)—Dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur met with general approval today throughout the non-American world.

In Great Britain, France, India and many other countries the move was seen generally as one offering new chances for peaceful settlement of the Korean conflict and for improvement in relations between Communist China and the western powers.

Woolworths Purchase 3rd Avenue Property And Will Build Store

PURCHASE "OLD POST OFFICE" SITE

F. W. Woolworth Co. Ltd., continent-wide chain variety store organization, is coming to Prince Rupert. The company has purchased property with 64-foot frontage by 100 foot depth on Third Avenue opposite the Post Office from G. W. Nickerson and W. J. Scott. As soon as the material situation permits, a two storey building the entire size of the lots will be erected.

Deal for the property, which for many years was held by the federal government as a possible Post Office site and a couple of years ago was acquired by its present vendors, was closed yesterday by G. W. Milne of Toronto, real estate superintendent for Woolworth's. Price is undisclosed.

In view of the material situation, Mr. Milne was hesitant about committing himself as to when construction might be expected to begin other than "as soon as materials are available." Steel, plumbing and electrical wiring he mentioned as being items in short supply. Plans are being prepared at once, however, with a view to calling for tenders.

The main floor of the two-storey building will be entirely devoted to sales premises. Upstairs will be stock and staff rooms.

Prince Rupert is being added to the British Columbia Woolworth chain which already consists of Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster, Penticton, Chilliwack, Trail, Nelson, Nanaimo and Kamloops—all thriving centres of population.

"It is not necessarily the present population or purchasing power which decided us to locate here," Mr. Milne said, "but, rather, because we are convinced of the great growth and development which is due for the northern part of the province and the important position of Prince Rupert in connection therewith."

It will be a typical Woolworth store. Except for the store manager, local help will be employed if possible.

Mr. Milne, having arrived here on Monday, left by plane today for Vancouver.

Labor Renewing Control Demands

OTTAWA (CP)—Demands for price control were renewed before the government today by the 360,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor.

In its annual brief to the cabinet, Congress declared that federal credit restrictions and similar measures are "wholly inadequate" and discriminate against low-income workers.

CARS UP $200
TORONTO—The average increase on the price of new cars will be about $200, it was estimated today, as a result of the budgetary boost from 15 to 25 of the luxury tax and eight to ten per cent increase in the sales tax.

BIG FLOOD POTENTIAL
VICTORIA — The highest snow level on record in the mountains of British Columbia exists and there is a large flood potential for this year, depending on the nature of the run-off within the next three months. A continuing cold spring and sudden warm spell would present a flood menace.

ASSISTANT BISHOP
VICTORIA—Rt. Rev. Victor Howard, Bishop of Hong Kong, has been appointed assistant bishop of British Columbia for the Anglican Church, it is announced.

M'Arthur Would Face Congress

WASHINGTON—Senator Waring said today that he had had telephone conversation with General Douglas MacArthur and they had discussed the possibility of a joint session of Congress to hear the General in regard to his dismissal and the circumstances leading up thereto.

There is talk in Republican quarters of the possible impeachment of President Truman.

Gov't Wins House Vote

VICTORIA (CP)—A CCF-sponsored motion of non-confidence in the Coalition government was beaten down early today by a vote of 33 to 10.

The motion was brought on by an increase in compulsory insurance premiums and implementation of co-insurance charges.

Coalition members voted solidly to support the government after a night session carried on into the early hours of the morning. W. A. C. Bennett and Mrs. Tilly Roulston, Coalition rebels, voted with the Opposition.

"I have no regrets that we have brought hospital insurance in," said Premier Johnson. "In order to maintain that service it must be paid for."

Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb said bluntly: "This government is not going to resign."

The Budget

It might have been worse. This may be said by the average taxpayer of Mr. Abbott's defence preparedness budget.

Everybody had expected an increase in the personal income tax. It takes the form of a surtax on the present tax. The surtax is twenty percent per annum but, since it does not become effective until July 1, that means only ten percent for 1951. Further tax changes depend on the international situation. If it deteriorates taxes will go up. If it improves, taxes will go sky high. If it improves, they will go down.

The increase in the sales tax from eight to ten percent will effect everything we buy and use. Its tendency will be to further increase prices. If that discourages buying, it will tend to curb inflation.

We may not like it particularly but we will have to put up with the increase to 25 percent of the excise tax on "luxury items" such as motor cars, radios, furs and jewelry, also the 15 percent tax on electric refrigerators, washing machines and cooking stoves. This will not hurt anybody very seriously. The increased cigarette and tobacco taxes also will not hurt anybody very much. Nor would we have minded very much if they had boosted the tax on liquor and beer. In fact, there will be some people who are disappointed that Mr. Abbott did not do so.

Business people, of course, will not relish the increase in the tax on corporation profits over $10,000 a year but there will be some satisfaction that the excess profits tax has not been resumed.

In his financial policy, Mr. Abbott continues the "pay as you go" principle, budgeting for surpluses which, so far, have been substantially underestimated.

All in all, it was no sunshine budget, of course, but it was not so cloudy either. Canadians still have a long way to go to be exacted upon as severely as are the British people who got another "austerity" budget yesterday.

The main criticism of the budget will probably be that it is not sufficiently anti-inflationary. But the government has definitely gone on record as being opposed to controls at this time, leaving it to the people themselves, for the time being at least, to combat the trend of rising prices by working hard to increase production and, at the same time, voluntarily curtailing their spending.

General MacArthur

WE have been prone to criticize General MacArthur but there is something sad about his summary dismissal as Far Eastern commander-in-chief. We presume there was nothing else for it. Quite evidently, he was not going to submit to anything in the way of discipline and there is every indication that he was not receptive to advice. Away over there in Japan, where he had ruled with something in the way of despotic powers for so many years, he quite evidently, got out of touch with democratic public opinion or chose to ignore it.

There are still some who believe that he was the right man in the right place. There may be more who feel that pettifoggish politics may have had something to do with his removal.

MacArthur will go down in history as one of the great, strong men in the international scene.

What will be the ultimate effects of his removal remain to be seen. It would appear at the moment to facilitate the movement for a negotiated, if not a permanent, peace in the currently major troublesome part of the world.

Confidence In City

ENTRY of one of the big chain store concerns—F. W. Woolworth Ltd.—into Prince Rupert, announced today, is indication of the new importance that outside business is attaching to this city. It is to be noted that the official of the company said that his company had purchased important downtown property and would build here not because of the present size or buying power of the city but because of the obvious fact that it was due for further growth in the certain expansion of north country.

There is difference of opinion about the popularity of the chain store, particularly in view of the tough competition it gives the independent community store, but one thing about them is—they do not enter communities where the business trend is on the downgrade.

As I See It

KASHMIR LEADS INDIA

J A M M U, Kashmir, — One reason why I was so anxious to visit Kashmir was that everywhere I went in Southern India the state government evaded Kashmir's advanced land reform program.

The chief minister of one key state, menaced by Communist violence, told me that if he had the legal power to do what Kashmir had already done, his main worries would be over.

The land ownership question is vital in a vast area of the earth, stretching from Asia across the Middle East and into Africa. Everywhere the mighty carrying cry of the Communists is "the land for the peasants." The impoverished, ignorant peasants are not always well enough educated politically to know that under Communism, the peasant does not always keep the land he helps take over from the landlords, but is "collectivized" or chased out for being a "kulak."

The obvious fact is that the cry has titanic appeal.

In India, many wise men ask "can a democracy deliver the results in time, or will India, too, go the way of Russia and China?"

IN KASHMIR, UNDER WHAT is clearly the most progressive administration in all India, the resolute government of Sheikh, Abdullah has already enacted a model and drastic land reform program.

The Sheikh sent Mr. R. C. Raina, his "land reform officer," to see me. He had all the facts and figures, including a copy of the actual act under which the land was transferred. I checked later and found that the land reformer had long since taken a demonstration dose of his own medicine. That is, years ago he had freely given away his own land inheritance to the actual tenants.

WHEN THE GOVERNMENT of Kashmir put through the land reform program last year there were 123,213 "sleeping partner" landlords owning 643,546 acres of land (exclusive of orchards). There were 275,890 landless tenants—that is, farmers who worked the land for landlords, who often took all the income except a small pittance.

The Kashmir government made the new law which says that (apart from orchards) nobody may own more than 23 acres. Landlords with more than 23 acres had to hand over the surplus to tenants with no land.

To date, 15,872 former tenants got land grants. There, with their families, total 65,000 people. Till now, they have taken over only 20,000 acres—for the process takes some time. Of course, many of these small holdings are very fertile.

Here are the rates of compensation to the ex-landlords: The first year he gets three-fourths of the yearly land tax. The second year he gets two-thirds of the land tax. The third year he gets one-half.

The forthcoming Constituent Assembly is to decide how much more than the above (if any) the ex-landlord is to get.

NOW CONTRAST THE above with the scale of compensation in South India and you see what's what.

In Hyderabad and Madras they pay lump-sum compensation at the rate of about 20 times the year's rent PLUS A BONUS OF 15 PERCENT OF THE TOTAL. The yearly rent mentioned in the latter figures should not be confused with the yearly land tax, used as basis of part compensation in Kashmir.

In Kashmir, for instance, the tax runs less than one-eighth of the worth of the crop. Rents in Hyderabad often run more than one-half the crop values.

KASHMIR IS ABLE TO DO this because she is not fully under the new Indian Constitution, except for defense, foreign affairs and communications. Elsewhere in India, the new Constitution compels payment of more generous compensation—even to landlords who in Hyderabad sometimes charged as high as 35 PERCENT PER YEAR on loans to their tenants.

MR. NEHRU—KNOWING full well that India is in a race against time in its race with Communism—is determined to speed up land reform everywhere. He hints that even the

May Mean Prosperity

Fine New Ore Opened Up in Premier Border

Next to Premier Gold Mine, British Columbia's largest gold producer in the past, Premier Border Gold Mining Co. Ltd., has opened ore predominating in lead and zinc which gives promise of ushering in a new period of prosperity for the Portland Canal mining camp.

Net smelter returns of $159,983 were realized from 5,776 tons of Premier Border ore milled by Silbak-Premier Mines Ltd. in the first five weeks of 1951. This was an average of $28 per ton. Silbak-Premier mines the ore and profits are divided 50-50 after all costs, including development. Premier-Border has received a cheque for $55,720 as its share of net profit for the milling of 5,776 tons during the five week period. Settlement was made as at Feb. 6, because the following day a new agreement became effective, more beneficial to Premier-Border in allocation of overhead costs.

Of the 4,735 tons milled during January, metal content was 6.05 per cent lead; 6.40%; 0.102 oz. gold and 3.58 oz. silver. In the five days of February included in the settlement 1,041 tons milled averaged 7.91% lead; 8.76% zinc; 0.076 oz. gold and 4.01 oz. silver. In addition to gold, silver, lead and zinc, the smelter pays for a small cadmium content.

Present mining is above Premier Gold's old sixth level. In recent months diamond drilling has proved the presence of ore 200 feet below the No. 6 level. Eight out of 12 holes drilled below the level intersected good ore. One of the last holes drilled, No. 1956, cut an ore zone having a true width of about eight feet and an average grade of over 25% combined lead and zinc at about 200 feet below No. 6 level. This value compares with 12.45% combined lead and zinc for the ore milled in January and 16.97% combined lead and zinc for the six days in February.

Shaft sinking to make available the deeper ore is scheduled for 1951.

City Grants Trade Licences

Trade licences were granted by city council Monday night to the following:

M. J. Saunders, trucking; Magloire Gagnon, roofing and shingling contractor; F. X. Farrell and J. H. Jeffries, hardware store.

Council approved that single quarters in RCMP barracks be furnished at a cost of $525, and that C. T. Young, city rest rooms cleaner, be paid $50 a month for his services.

A bylaw will be prepared for purchase of a three-ton truck from the land sale trust fund. Board of works committee also recommended that an eight-inch water meter be purchased and installed at Canadian Fish and Cold Storage plant at an approximate cost of $2100.

The first Welland Canal, connecting Lakes Erie and Ontario, was opened in 1829.

new Constitution may have to be changed in a hurry to follow the Kashmir lead everywhere. For, he argues, the Constitution was made for man and man was not made for the Constitution.

Big Tourist Year Coming

British Columbia to Share in Record Business

VICTORIA (CP) — Canada is looking for 5,000,000 tourists this year to duplicate 1950's record figure.

A Canadian Press survey today shows that the experts believe the season ahead will be as good as last year's—barring a major war. They base their prediction on healthy advance prospects.

While the war in Korea was a limiting factor in tourist travel and trade last year, the conflict may have different effects this year. Inquiries to travel agencies suggest many potential tourists are planning an early vacation in case of a service call-up or with the thought that conditions arising from the defence program may make pleasure trips difficult.

Government travel agencies have increased their activities and advertising in an effort to reach more travellers and bring more new money into the country. Agencies in all provinces are active.

Tourists spent $275,000,000 in Canada in 1950. Ontario, the biggest tourist magnet, reaped a harvest of $165,000,000 in tourist dollars.

British Columbia valued its tourist industry at $53,999,000 last year and believes it could double the figure through large conventions if it had the hotel accommodation for the additional thousands. With its Pacific Coast attractions, the province is looking for an increase of between five and 10 per cent.

Predicting a record year, deputy trade and industry minister E. G. Rowbottom believes it will also be a challenge year, calling for redoubled efforts to meet the intense competition of every country which feels it has something to offer for the tourist dollar.

THE LETTERBOX

NOT TOO EASILY OFF

Editor,

Daily News,

By comparison values are generally determined. The information given here is taken from Maclean's Magazine in an article entitled "You Are Lucky You Don't Live in New York" by Harry Henderson.

The population of New York is 8,161,000. In the central part of the city real estate is valued at $32,000 per square foot.

The water supply is rationed. A single room apartment costs $130 per month to rent.

In New York the average time spent by people going and returning from work daily is two hours.

New York's thousands of children attend school in buildings erected before the Civil War—over 100 years old—described as filthy and unsanitary.

In New York 38,000 children attend school only part time on account of overcrowding. Another 25,000 are stuck in sub-standard equipped rooms.

The basic salary of teachers is $2500 per year up to $5375 after 16 years' service.

New York has over 5000 miles of streets that cost $23,000,000 per year for cleaning.

People are forced to wear goggles to protect their eyes from dust.

In comparison, Mr. Editor, the people in Prince Rupert are not too badly off.

GEORGE B. CASEY.

THEATRE OPENING

Editor, Daily News:

As you know the Totem Theatre is about to be opened. The central idea or the theme throughout the theatre is the native art of B. C.

I don't know how the people would feel about this, but I think that the theatre should be opened by a native girl or boy—not just any native girl or boy but one who is going to school here; and one who has been going to school here the longest. Of course, the mayor should be there, but I think it would be very nice if it could be, for a native girl or boy to open the theatre.

Respectfully,

"INTERESTED."

London Invites Ballet Dancer

Auburn-haired Jean Stoneham, 21, is employed by a city insurance company, but she's better known as leading ballerina with the five-year-old Ottawa Ballet Company. Miss Stoneham danced recently in New York and has been invited to study with the Sadler's Wells school of ballet in London, England.

At the Ottawa company's recital this year she played a leading role in "The Eternal Symphony" which director Yolande le Duc plans as a festival entry.

While anyone—at any age—can take ballet lessons, both Mrs. Toumine and Miss le Duc feel children should begin studying at eight if a future in ballet awaits them. Miss le Duc says that even six is not too young.

"Dancing gives them poise and it helps to build their bodies," says the Ottawa Ballet Company's director.

Miss le Duc also believes that to encourage larger audiences, companies should experiment—try new ballets.

This she endeavored to prove this year, the first that Capital City audiences have had the opportunity to sit in on three evenings of ballet—and on each a different program. This experiment in repertory included eight ballets, most of them new this season.

Father Carroll To Hold Mission

Father J. A. Carroll, O.M.I., for several years popular parish priest of the Roman Catholic Church here, is coming back to Prince Rupert at the end of this month to preach a week's mission from April 26 to May 6. Father Carroll for the past few years has been stationed at Fort St. John in the British Columbia Peace River Block.

Each Sunday between now and the mission there will be a succession of parishioners at the Church of the Annunciation for adoration services. During the week of April 22 there will be daily devotions for women in the afternoons and men at night.

During the mission week there will be sermons each evening by Father Carroll.

THE ANGLIA has the living room and kitchen facing the front of the house with the two bedrooms and bath in the rear opening into a small hall. Adjoining the bathroom and kitchen is the utility room with an alcove for the hot water heater and furnace.

The first floor is an insulated concrete slab laid on either a gravel or cinder fill, to be covered with composition flooring or carpeting.

Closets are provided for in the hall, bathroom, all bedrooms and in the utility room.

Plans call for frame construction, insulated walls and ceiling, wide siding and asphalt shingles.

Dimensions are 42 feet by 20 feet. The floor area is 1,162 square feet, with cubage being 14,525 cubic feet.

NEW CITIZEN COMPARES

Speaking of Prince Rupert, James K. Sanderson, recently arriving from Yorkshire, England, believes there is no place he would sooner be than in Canada.

"There seems to be extravagance here," said Mr. Sanderson over bacon and eggs in a city restaurant this morning. He pointed to the rashers of bacon on

Wash-day Blues Still Handicap

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—A study group which toured Britain diagnosing wash-day Monday blues found plenty of reason for woe.

Researchers from London's School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, in their first report, indicate that British housewives have little reason to face blue Monday with the happy smile of a soap-suds advertisement.

They found that the average woman spends between 4½ and 5½ hours doing the weekly wash—2½ to 3½ over the tub and two hours over the ironing board. They also noted, and commented on, a considerable array of outmoded equipment, cramped washing quarters and unsuitable conditions. In extreme cases, there was only the bathroom for wash-day chores.

For this season, the group said it was unable to assess the outlay in money and strength needed to improve, or make tolerable, present-day conditions. "We will continue our research and hope to arrive at a figure soon," said Prof. J. M. MacKintosh, head of the researchers. "We may also be able to assess the real effect of washing on the health of the housewife."

Lots Sold by City Council

Land sales reported by the finance committee to city council Monday night were:

Lots 25 and 26, block 23, section 8, for $190 to Nels Carlson. Lots 4, 5 and 6, block 20, section 6, for $1200, to Henry Lindseth.

Lot 81, block 39, section 8 for $35, to Thomas N. Rowe.

Lots 36 and 37, block 23, section 8 for $180 to Frank Frey.

Conciliation Agreed Upon

A conciliation board was approved Monday by city council to settle a wage dispute with electrical workers for the city who "turned down" the latest offer of a 10 percent wage increase and hiked their original demand of 15 percent to 25 percent increase.

In a letter read to the council by City Clerk R. W. Long, the union cited the "sharp rise in living costs" as the basis for their demand.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Sometimes it is a winning play to use the hold-up when you have two stoppers or even more in the suit opened by the opponents.

General rules are dangerous things to give to bridge players. There are so many exceptions to most of them. Common sense is so much better than general rules. But with that warning, here is a general rule which has wide application and usefulness. Unless you have one more stop in the suit led by opponents that there are cards you have to knock out to make your contract, then use the hold-up.

The bidding:

Take today's hand which Mrs. Keen was playing at three no trump. Mr. Abel opened the seven of clubs. Mrs. Keen could see that by knocking out the ace and king of diamonds, she could make her bid without a trick. That was two cards to knock out. But she had only two stoppers in the suit led by the opponents. So she let Mr. Champion hold the first trick with the ten of clubs, he returned the jack of clubs which was won on the board with the ace.

The ten of diamonds was now led from dummy. Mr. Champion would have barged right in with the ace if he had held a club to lead to his partner. But the hold-up play had robbed him of this opportunity. He ducked the diamond lead and Mr. Abel won with the king.

Mr. Abel saw the hopelessness of continuing with clubs and switched to the deuce of hearts. Dummy played the six, Mr. Keen won the ace. Another diamond lead knocked out the ace and nine tricks were ready for the taking.

Had Mrs. Keen won the first club trick, then Mr. Champion would have won the first diamond lead with his ace and led back the jack of clubs. Mr. Abel would have overtaken with his queen and continued clubs until Mrs. Keen's last stopper was gone. And Mr. Abel would still have had the king of diamonds as an entry for his remaining clubs.

Fort Frances Dumps Nanaimo

FORT FRANCES (CP) — Fort Frances Canadians went one game up in their best of seven Allan Cup western finals last night as they dumped the Nanaimo Clippers 7 to 2.

Fort Frances outscored their opponents in every period, taking a three to one lead in the first session, then edging Nanaimo 2 to 1 and 2 to 0 in the other two frames.

LONDON (CP) — Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison said today that Great Britain is now ready to negotiate a cease-fire in Korea but the "other side" so far has shown no desire to stop hostilities.

Speaking of the dismissal of George Douglas MacArthur by President Truman, Mr. Morrison said the action harmonized with the British view. Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill endorsed Mr. Morrison's view.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Clover Leafs defeated Toronto Tri-Bells 64 to 62 last night to take a 2-to-0 game edge in their best-of-five series with the Easterners for the Dominion Basketball championship.

Lady Nelson In Collision

MONTREAL — The Lady Nelson of the Canadian National Steamships was in collision Monday night with a barge near Port of Spain, according to a report received here by the company's head office.

The Nelson had sailed from Port of Spain, and when near the Bocas, hit an unlighted barge being towed by a small vessel.

The Nelson suffered slight damage to her bow. No passengers or members of the crew were injured, and no cargo damaged.

The ship returned to Port of Spain where she will be detained two or three days while repairs are made.

Hopeful For Housing Here

With good hopes for the housing problem of Prince Rupert, Ald. Doug Frizzell returned here by boat this morning from the south where he has been conferring with government officials.

"We have received the promise of the premier and the government, who are very much behind Prince Rupert getting a number one listing for housing," said Ald. Frizzell, who will report at tomorrow night's special meeting of the council.

New Rifle Range Open

Shooting in the Rod and Gun Club's new rifle range in the Civic Centre begins tonight with rangemaster Robert Collart in charge.

Doug Kerr, chairman of the rifle range committee, said at the meeting last night that the club was now open to receive registrations. Thirteen members registered last night and a name for the rifle club is to be decided on shortly.

It was decided only individual entries would be made at first in the Dominion marksman competitions but that probably next year it would be hoped to enter a team or more in the national contest.

Moose Hold Children's Party

Close of the "kiddies' season" was marked last night by Loyal Order of the Moose members with a party for 35 children and presentations.

Past three months, children from ages 4-12 were given mat training and physical work-outs one night a week at the Moose auditorium.

Charles Logan and Mrs. Beryl Karasosky, instructors, were thanked for their work and presentation made by young Garry Muncey and Eileen Rensvold of a lighter to Instructor Logan and a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Karasosky.

Refreshments of ice cream, soft drinks and cookies were served for a wind-up, with vows by the children they would be on hand for the opening of the season next October.

City Case Presented

The Board of Conciliation over the wage dispute between the city and the Prince Rupert Fire Fighters' Association, heard William Long, city clerk, present the city's brief at a meeting in the court house last night.

In the city's brief it was felt that Prince Rupert should keep similar wages to Kamloops, North Vancouver, Vernon, Trail, Nanaimo, Penticton and Kelowna, which are of comparable size.

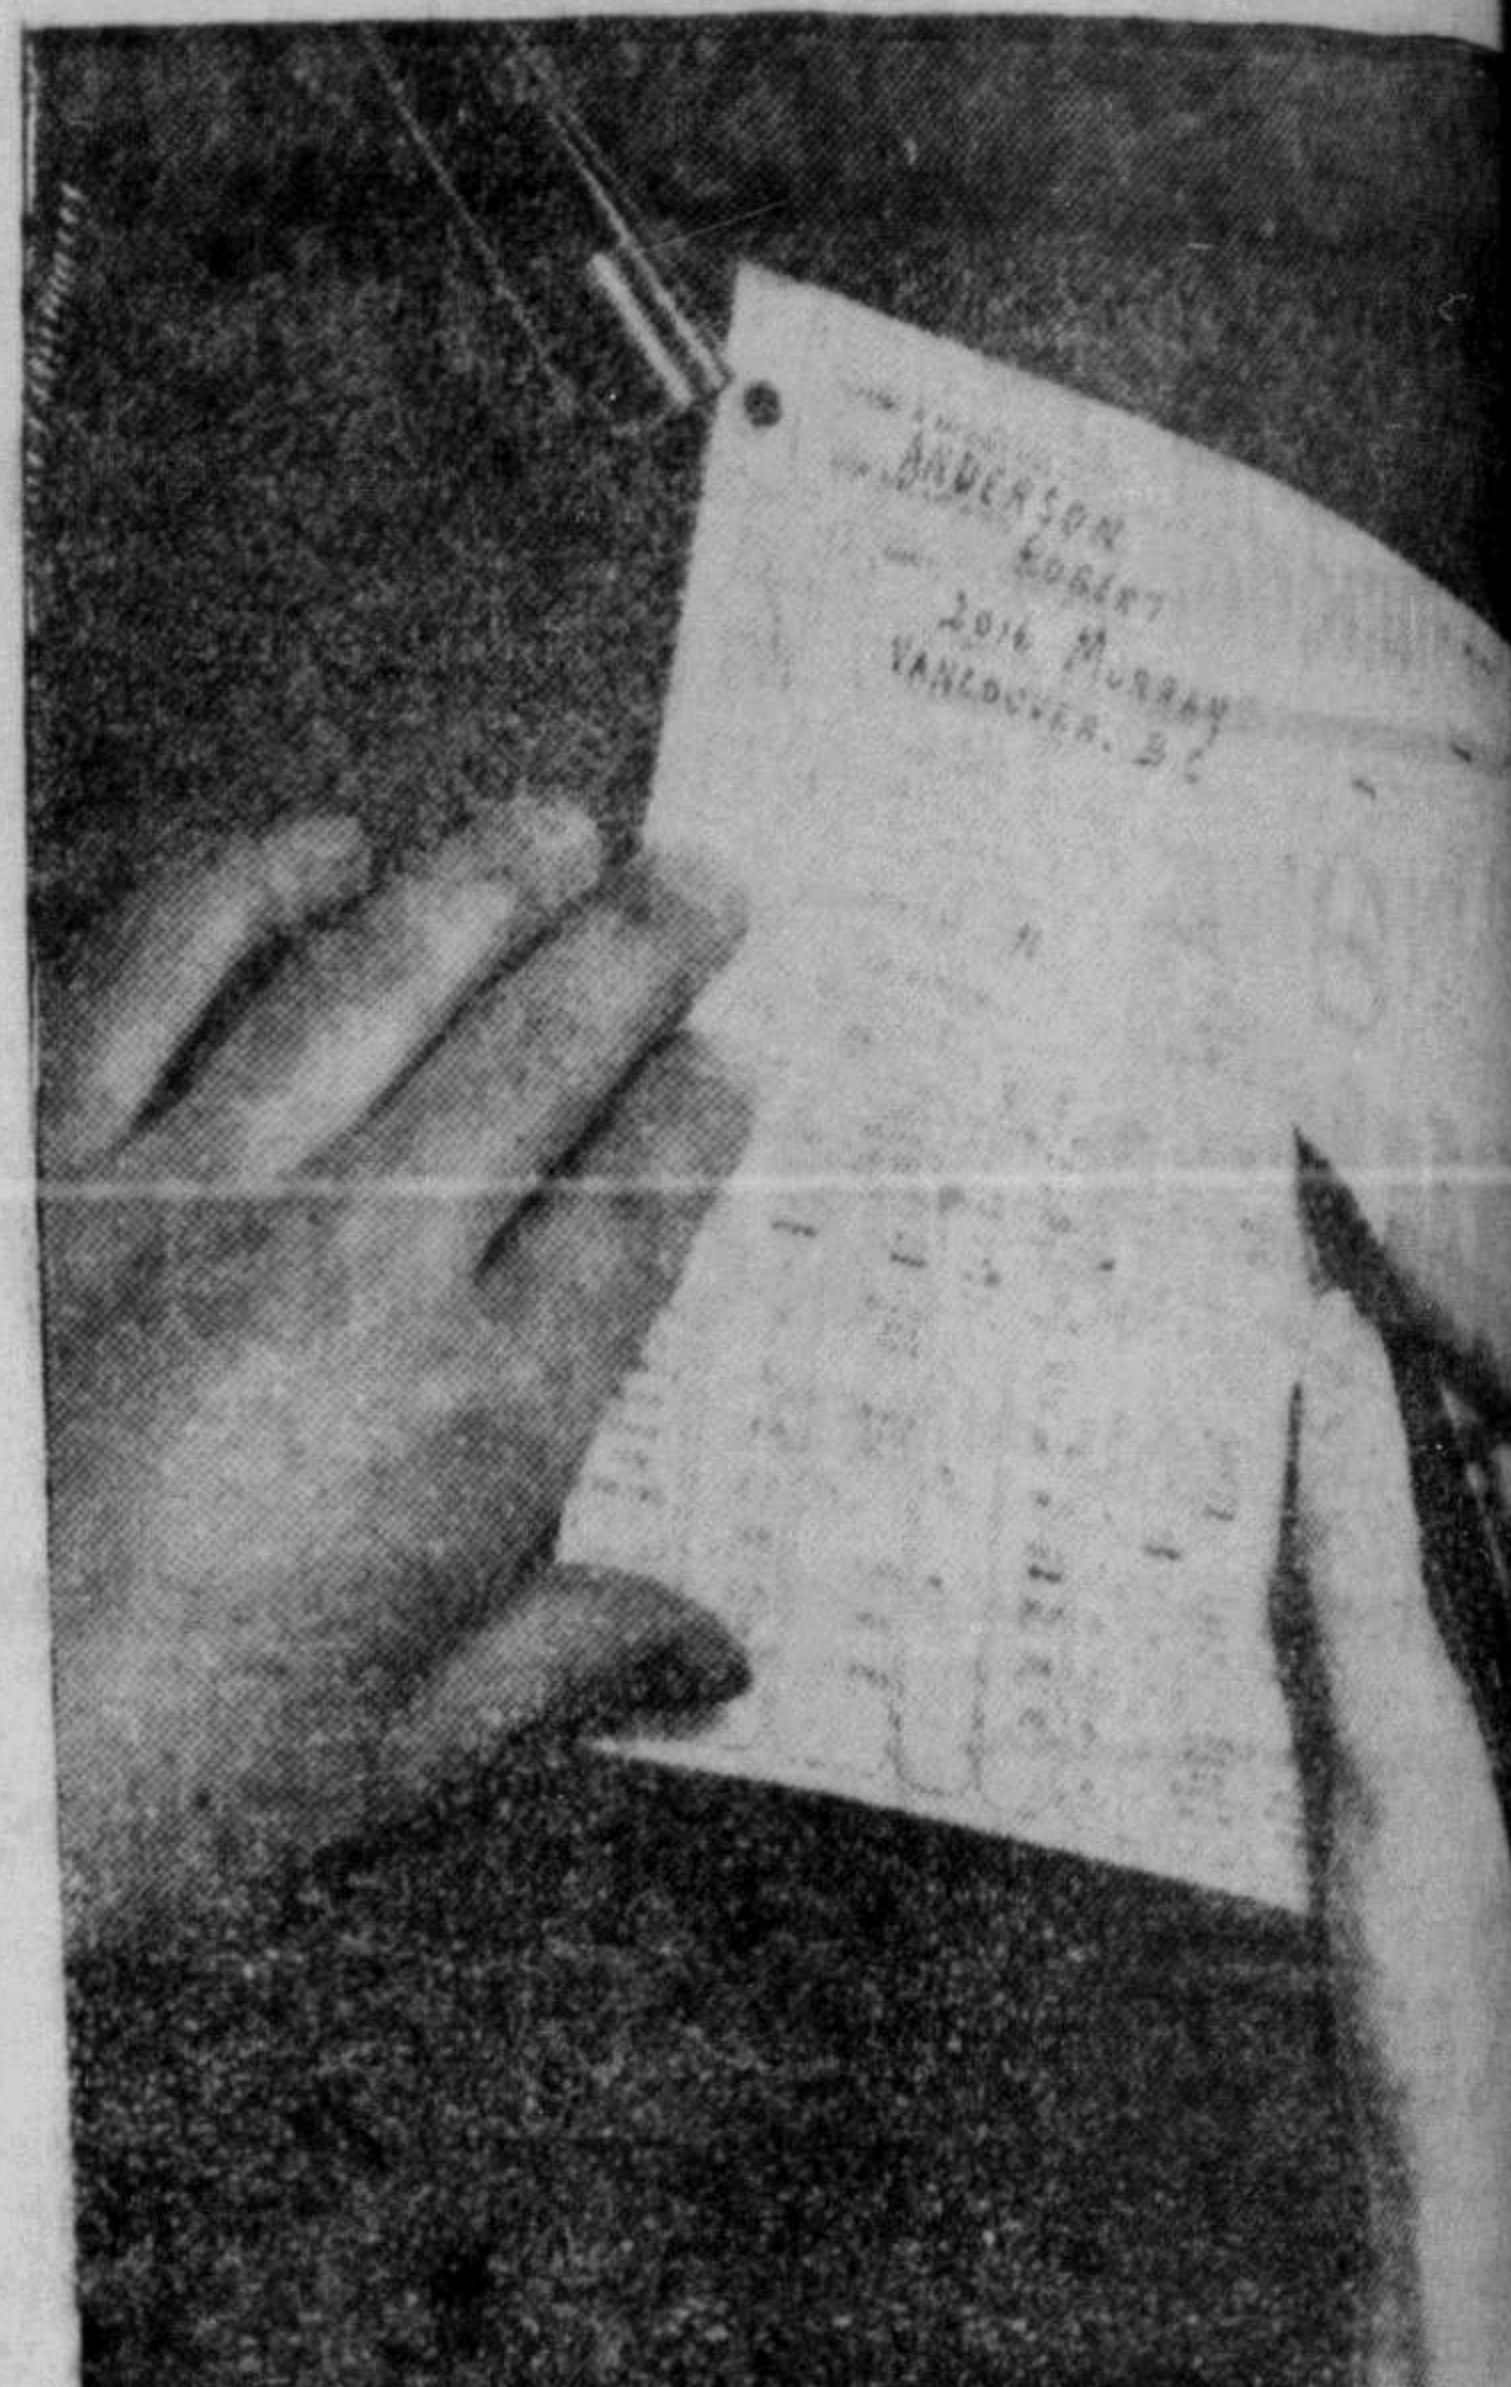

That there are only two buildings in the city of Prince Rupert of more than three stories, a population of 10,000, the Canadian National Railways, Canadian Fish & Cold Storage and the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-op having their own fire departments; that no fire hazards are caused by mills; that the five oil companies are distributors only, with trained men for fire. These were some of the points included in the city's brief, which disagreed with a proposal to equalize the Vancouver wage scale.

Comparing the salary of a first class Royal Canadian Mounted Police constable, with that of a fireman, first class, the city's brief states that it requires 48 years to become a first class constable with rigid training.

It points out that a first class police constable's salary in the RCMP for 1951 is $260 per month as compared to the firemen's proposed rate of $258.50.

The city brief also says that Prince Rupert has the greatest rainfall of any city in the province and the rainfall is fairly well spread over twelve months, which was because the Chairman of the board of conciliation, Hugh McLaren, and representatives of the employees and employer, Thomas Elliott and T. W. Brown, K.C., respectively, attended last night's session this morning.

STATISTIC WEAPON—Specially developed for use in 1951 census, to be held in May, is this pen which can conduct electricity. Census cards are filled out with the ink. The cards later are placed in electronic machines and the information on the cards is transmitted electric brushes to punch-cards for filing and recording.

Canadian-Built Bridge is Hit

LEATHERHEAD, Surrey, England (CP)—Englishmen who live near here jokingly say they have the last laugh now on the Canadian soldiers who built a temporary bridge along the Leatherhead by-pass.

The bridge and a carriageway were built early in the Second World War by a company of the Royal Canadian Engineers. A London newspaper praised the Canadians saying they had done in about three months what British workers would have done in two years. The story became a standard joke in this area.

Now Leatherhead has the last laugh—one of the bridge's spans has collapsed. Floods this winter piled tree trunks against one abutment, causing it to fall.

But British engineers say there isn't any cause for Anglo-Canadian rivalry. In the first place, the bridge was really a joint effort between the Canadians and Surrey council. In the second place, it was intended to last for only a limited period.

Rivalry or no rivalry, Leatherhead has a permanent reminder of the Canadian troops. The road near the bridge is called "Young Street." In honor of a Canadian major of that name, and there is a plaque giving details of the construction.

Montreal Says Homes Elusive

By STEWART NEBBS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Housing shortage in Montreal? It may not appear so from the week-end ads but footsore home hunters, trying to find something to fit the small man's budget, say this town is as badly off as any for housing.

This is the case despite a building spurge since the end of the second world war which outstrips anything Montrealeers can recall.

With May 1—traditional moving day in Quebec—less than a month away, signs already are liberally posted throughout the city proclaiming in both languages that living quarters are available—at a price. If the price is right, usually something else is wrong.

For instance there is the five-room apartment in the town of Mount Royal, badly in need of repair of course but the landlord will redecorate at $45 a room. He wants $110 a month for it. And the tenant undertakes to let the janitor have right of way through the apartment at all times as he goes and comes from his room in the basement.

IN $100 CLASS
For $100 a month one can have a heated 5½-room apartment. But it's nearly 20 miles from town. Closer in town the same thing rents for $130. Or one can have 4½ rooms close to Mount Royal for $100.

The average-pay white collar worker just skips over these ads and it's true—one can find five rooms listed for $66. The catch is one must buy the furniture in the flat, or maybe the landlord doesn't want children; or may be there are extras to be charged for the refrigerator and stove.

Then, there's the "cheaper" range—$50-$60. The catch here is that these places are usually unheated and consist mainly of 2½ or three rooms. One can add a good $10 a month for heating.

For $65, if one is lucky, one might get a heated, three-room flat. Of course, one pays the water tax and will probably have to buy an electric range because "these new places aren't equipped with gas."

For those who have the price there are nice four-room apartments with all the trimmings for $200 to be had within walking distance of Montreal's business section.

Rental agencies say there are still many apartments accommodating two families. They don't hold out any great hopes that things will improve in the immediate future for persons seeking moderately-priced accommodation.

Union Parley Talks about Many Things

Everything from British Columbia's recent innovation of the five dollar car license plan to free trade with China came under discussion in resolutions brought before the provincial convention of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union attended by delegates from here recently.

Thomas Parkin, northern representative of the U.F. & W.U., here, says that the recent wage negotiations here were one of the biggest issues under discussion. B.C. Hospital Insurance, wage agreement and increased prices for fish were other matters.

"We are very concerned about the possibilities of a strike this year, unless companies take a more serious view of the membership's attitude on increased wages," said Mr. Parkin.

Stressing the sharp rise in cost of living, he said that if the demand for 40 cents an hour wage increase was not decided soon, there would be conciliation, with an impending strike threat.

"A substantial increase in the prices received for fish" will be negotiated with the company soon, the northern representative said.

Objection to the five-year payment of driver's license was endorsed at the convention, because of failure to refund money on the relinquishing of a license. The union also criticized the loss of several months of driving time owing to the demand of the license being paid retroactive to the last birth date.

Regarding hospital insurance the union felt that the social security of insurance is good but they wanted no increase in premiums other than what they paid in 1950.

They believed that many lower income brackets couldn't pay the premiums, even at the old rate. In their resolution they asked that incomes of less than $1000 be exempt from insurance premiums.

To meet the increased cost of the hospital debt, the convention said that such revenue "could be obtained by increasing the taxes on the natural resources of the province of B.C. or out of consolidated revenue."

They also asked that the month's waiting period after an overdue premium has been paid be eliminated with additional facilities provided so that there need be no refusal of admittance to hospitals.

Disarmament as a resolution also came up before the convention. A resolution urging the government to recognize the Chinese People's government, which would bring Canada trade prosperity, was endorsed by the convention.

Scoring the billions spent on war armaments because of "hysteria generated by the U.S.A., a resolution for protection against a war which "may well exterminate the greater part of mankind" was brought to the convention.

A policy that "butter must come before guns" should be adopted and it was resolved that "the federal government reverse its armament policy and instead institute a campaign for reduced armaments, instructing the Canadian delegate to the United Nations to lead the fight for disarmament."

"We draw to the attention of the federal government that wars are prevented by general disarmament of all nations rather than by race to pile up the greatest amount of arms," the Women's Auxiliary resolved at the convention. They urged the (Continued on page 6)

Mothers in Wales Protest Drinking

RHOSLLANERCHURGOG, N. WALES (CP)—A petition has been presented to the British House of Commons on behalf of some 2,000 mothers who live in this north Wales community.

Robert Richards, Labor member for Wrexham, Wales, said in presenting the petition the mothers are upset about drinking in the community's drill hall, especially on Sundays.

"We're great chapel-goers," said postmistress Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis. "That was one of the reasons why all these mothers signed the petition."

Terrace Lawyer Census to Is Centre Head Catch All

Darrel Collins, Terrace lawyer, was elected president of the Terrace and District Civic Centre Association at the fourth annual meeting held in the auditorium on Monday evening. He thanked the members for bestowing the honor on him and promised to do his best to see that the Civic Centre carries on. He stated that his first object this year would be to increase the membership.

The meeting was very well attended with the retiring president, B. R. Dodds in the chair. In his presidential report Mr. Dodds spoke of the work accomplished at the Civic Centre during the past year, citing the insulating of the auditorium with aluminum foil and the installing of a new heating system. On behalf of the executive he thanked the symphony, choral and dramatics groups whose support had proved very satisfactory. He, himself, had enjoyed the past two years as president. He would always continue to be interested in the Civic Centre as long as he was in Terrace. He thanked all for their support of the executive during the past two years.

A good financial statement was presented by Treasurer Dave Bain and an audited copy will be published in the newspaper. The financial affairs of the Centre are developing to such an extent that it was decided to pay an accountant a monthly sum to keep the books and John Kill was contacted for this.

Other officers elected were: Vice-President, Oliver Baxter. Secretary, George Grant. The Kinsmen have donated $200 towards men's washrooms and showers and the meeting decided to devote the proceeds from the May Day activities, donated by the Kinsmen, towards the showers.

Stewart Protests Agency Closing

STEWART—Angello Bugnello and Owen McFadden are back in town and are looking forward to a successful season of mining.

With the hunt on for base metals and other strategic minerals this district should again stage a comeback—although the government, according to the Stewart Board of Trade, by closing the Stewart agency, apparently takes the view that the district is done for.

Some time ago the Board of Trade and other organizations wired and wrote the Minister of Finance with a view to having the closing of the agency reconsidered but, so far, no reply has been received nor has an explanation been given as the reason for the closure. It has been suggested that the agency could quite well have been kept intact with the agent here handling both the public works office and the agency work.

Vimy Day At Stewart

STEWART—Stewart Branch of the Canadian Legion celebrated the anniversary of "Vimy Day" by holding a whist drive and dance on Saturday in the Legion hall.

There was a fine turnout. Many residents of Premier came to town for the occasion.

Miss Irma Duff won the ladies' first prize, Miss Manojlovich taking the consolation. Isaac Soderlov was first in the men's section, with George Bunn trailing to take the consolation prize.

A feature of the evening was the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Tran of a small gift from the branch on the eve of their leaving for the town of Lilloet. Mr. Tran having been transferred to the government agency at that point.

at a gloomy future for the taxpayer—with heavier levies—if the international situation does not improve. But, if it does, new taxes may be dropped.

He said frankly that he wants this budget to be regarded as an "interim policy" for this year. If it becomes clear that "we are in for a long pull at these high levels of expenditure some major changes in the existing tax structure may have to be devised."

At another point, Mr. Abbott made the ominous observation: "I do not say that we have reached the practical limits of the income tax."

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—No matter where you go, no matter what obscure path you travel, you're almost certain to meet the census man next June.

Virtually every road and river, every hut and ship will be scoured by the ambitious name counters, say census officials.

All of Canada, from the frozen northern tundra to the warm valleys of Niagara, will become one enormous census-playing field when the big counting game begins.

Sailors on ships, Eskimos behind their dog sleds, prisoners in penitentiaries, men at fishing camps, business men stopping at hotels—all will be included in the most important census of the century.

Armed forces fighting in foreign lands will be counted through their service records. The merchant marine on ocean-going ships will be counted in on-the-spot surveys taken by ship captains named official census-takers.

Scows on lakes will be scrutinized; so will those lonely light-houses where strangers are rarely seen.

"We'll count every man, even if they live up in mountains or trees," said one official with a laugh.

NORTHERN PROBLEM

While all these various excursions from the beaten path present problems enough, probably the greatest problem will be in counting those rugged inhabitants of the north—the Eskimos.

Census officials realize the problems involved, the vast terrain to be covered, the difficulty of transportation and communication. So they've decided to launch the northern survey now, through Canada's Arctic guardians, the RCMP.

In planes and dog-sleds, the Mounties now are making their ice-chilling winter patrols over Arctic wastes. At each Eskimo village and trading post they'll bring out the little population-counting card that will be in general use across the country next June.

But even here there will be delay. For the latest invention of the census men, the new-type pen that is loaded with ink that conducts electricity, simply won't work in the Arctic.

So the Mounties will be making out the cards in ordinary pencil and a special staff in this capital, receiving the cards when they are shipped, will go over them all, remarking them with the ink before the cards can be made ready for the electronically-driven census machines.

Grable - Dailey In Color Film

Betty Grable and Dan Dailey come together again to the Capitol Theatre screen this Wednesday and Thursday in a bright technicolor picture "My Blue Heaven," cued from the famous old song of the same name.

The story concerns itself with the efforts of a celebrated husband and wife team of radio entertainers to have themselves a family. At first they think they cannot have their own but, just as two sources of adoption come through, they learn it is possible.

A warm and human story is set against the bright and modern pace of radio-television production—the first picture feat-government to "settle international disputes by peaceful negotiations."

WOMEN'S RESOLUTIONS

Recommendation to bring the milk prices back to 15 cents per quart with subsidies to the producers, if necessary, was endorsed at the convention by another resolution adopted by the Women's Auxiliary.

The Women's Auxiliary, who also supported higher wages and prices, felt that there "is an alarming increase and seriousness of juvenile delinquency."

It was endorsed at the convention that the provincial government be asked to do something definite to curb the trend of juvenile delinquency, by a large scale youth program.

Schools to be opened at night and other facilities to provide recreation for the young people was asked.

They also resolved that adequate funds be appropriated for the above program, with payment of instructors, educators and part time supervisors so that a wide network of personnel be available.

Finally one of the major resolutions endorsed at the convention was support of the Trades and Labor Congress, as long as the firm basis of the U.F.A.W.U. of "full democracy for all members regardless of race, religion, or political opinion," be recognized.

Refusing to be dominated but stressing co-operation, the union criticized "witch-hunting atmosphere" and moved that the congress recognize their elected union delegates.

Better weather broadcasting, the replacing of the Sidney Spit lighthouse with a light was endorsed by the convention in other resolutions.

Besides the 100 coastal delegates there were three fraternal union speakers from U.S.A.

Hon. Robert Mayhew, federal minister of fisheries, addressed the convention.

Fishery department members attended the convention, as well as three guest speakers from the biological staff of the International Salmon Commission of America and Canada.
