Gov't Assured People Still Want Housing

Positive guarantee has been given the federal government by city council that rental of 50 housing units in Prince Rupert is assured, even at $60 a month. City Clerk R. W. Long said today that investigations revealed that enthusiasm for housing "has not slackened a bit."

"In fact, one company alone said their employees could use the 50 units."

Following the Daily News report yesterday that the city needed assurance that proposed houses would see constant tenants, many citizens responded with positive answers.

Property sites which were approved yesterday by both the city and government housing representatives included three main areas.

About 22 units are proposed for Section 2, on Second Avenue, between the bridge and Fifteenth Street.

Fourteen units have been estimated for Eleventh Avenue, just past McClymont Park, and 16 more on Fifth and Sixth Avenues, between Herman and Jeffrey Streets.

Next step will be the city's move, which is to forward an estimate of costs for installation of required services in these areas. Pending approval of these costs, tenders for bids for the project is expected around October 15, housing representatives surmised.

"Then we'll have the most concrete evidence on which the housing scheme depends," Mr. Long said. "If the costs are too high, prospective tenants won't pay the rents, nor would the federal government, responsible for 75 per cent of the capital investment, consider the project, the housing men say."

Jack Adams, housing engineer for Central Housing & Mortgage Corporation, yesterday looked over the proposed sites with city council members and housing officials, and passed his approval of the sites.

Price Controls Demanded By Labor Heads

OTTAWA (CP)—Heads of Canada's two biggest labor congresses renewed union demands for anti-inflation price controls in Labor Day messages today.

Annual messages were issued to Canadian labor by Presidents Percy Bengough, 500,000-member Trades and Labor Congress and A. R. Mosher of Canadian Congress of Labor which has 350,000 members. They speak for about four-fifths of Canada's organized labor.

Because of "high and uncontrolled" prices, Bengough said the dollar now is worth only 54 cents. He pledged Congress to work for price controls and reduced living costs in the next year.

Mosher said probably no one condition could provide more fertile soil for the growth of communism than "the unprecedented rise in the cost of living in Canada since the war, and hardships imposed upon such a large number of its common people."

The government had made a "very serious error" in not imposing price controls, he said.

Heavy Fighting Along Eastern Korean Lines

TOKYO (CP)—Allied spokesmen said today "there is no indication there will be permanent breakdown" in truce talks to end Korean war.

The spokesman made the announcement amid a welter of new Communist charges that the United Nations forces had violated Kaesong neutral zone in Korea. The United Nations command began an immediate investigation of new complaints that there were three of them. All previous charges have been denied.

At Munsan, advance headquarters in Korea of United Nations truce negotiators, Major James MacMaster told correspondents there is no sign of a final breakdown in talks.

Allied spokesman amplified his statement only by referring to the announced United Nations willingness to resume talks whenever Reds are ready. Communists broke them off eight days ago.

Other sources observed that neither side wants to assume responsibility for renewing full-scale warfare.

SAVAGE FIGHTING
Meanwhile thousands of North Korean troops were reported moving towards the front in hilly eastern Korea. Savage fighting has been in progress there for more than two weeks. Yesterday and last night, allied planes ripped into these reinforcements, into their high-way supply convoys and railroads feeding down to Communist front lines all across Korea.

The allies supplied their own front line troops with the biggest air drop in two months. Thirty-six flying box cars parachuted 110 tons of ammunition, rations and medical supplies yesterday to troops battling high in mountains of eastern Korea. Rain-swollen streams and muddy roads cut off truck routes.

Yanks on Top Again; Dodgers Surge Ahead

NEW YORK (CP)—New York Yankees were perched atop the league today without lifting a bat as the pesky Philadelphia Athletics knocked Cleveland Indians out of the tie for first place with a 6-2 victory at expense of 20-game winner Bob Feller. The Yankees dropped the Indians into second place, one-half game behind the idle Yankees.

The Yankees are idle until Saturday when they open a two-game series at Washington.

At Detroit the Boston Red Sox belted four Tiger hurlers for 14 hits and a 10-4 decision that left third-place Sox 4½ games out of first place. Ralph Kiner's 37th home run of the season in top of the ninth broke a 9-9 tie and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates over the Giants in New York.

The loss dropped the Giants seven games back of the league-leading Dodgers who clipped Cincinnati Reds 3-1 in a night game at Brooklyn.

Preacher Roe got credit for his 18th victory against two defeats to become the first 900 pitcher in National League history. Roe was forced to leave the game when his arm tightened in the seventh inning.

Boston Braves ended their best home stand of the season taking 14 of 18 games by rocking Chicago Cubs 16-2. Jim Wilson, who pitched his sixth victory against four defeats, helped out on the attack with three of the 15 hits garnered off three Cub hurlers.

At Philadelphia St. Louis Cardinals defeated Phillies 6-3 for sweep of the three-game series. This enabled the Cards to supplant Philadelphia in third place.

Rains Delay Harvest; May Prove Dangerous
WINNIPEG—Further general rains in the prairie provinces during the past week have delayed crop harvesting operations practically to a standstill in earlier sections such as southern Manitoba and southern Saskatchewan, according to the weekly report of the department of agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

The urgent need throughout the west is for warm sunny weather. Nights have been cool in many areas and some frost damage is reported on lower lying land in northern sections. The damage is not serious as yet, however.

Two Years on Charge
Canadian court today sentenced Private Gibson, Ottawa, to two years imprisonment on charge of rape. Gibson and two other members of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry were charged separately on charges of rape in the killing of a Korean army officer and sergeant on March 17. The trial was charged with attempted rape, will begin either tomorrow or next week.

New Parley With Japan Says India

NEW DELHI (CP)—Prime Minister Nehru told parliament today that Asian countries may hold a Japanese peace conference on their own after the American-sponsored conference in San Francisco ends. Nehru said earlier this week that India, which was boycotting the San Francisco meeting, would sign a separate individual pact with Japan.

He said today that India, Indonesia and Burma have considered calling separate Asian parley.

Prince Rupert Sails Tonight For Vancouver

Princess Joan Here Saturday Morning
Canadian National steamship Prince Rupert, in dry dock here since her arrival, has been repaired well enough to continue her trip south and leaves at midnight, CNR officials announced today.

Ketchikan passengers, who had to return following collision of the ship with Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Kathleen yesterday, transferred to the Prince George yesterday afternoon.

Meanwhile, to return some 300 passengers of Princess Kathleen to Vancouver, the company's Princess Joan will arrive here 7 a.m. tomorrow. Meantime, passengers have been accommodated on the damaged vessel.

Here to make arrangements following the collision, is Capt. C. J. Williams, B.C. coast manager for CPS, and F. K. Bailey, superintendent engineer, who flew here from Vancouver yesterday.

H. E. Warkman, representing insurance underwriters, accompanied CPS officials.

Princess Kathleen will remain here for a few days, said Capt. Williams, in order to effect temporary repairs at the drydock. Complete overhaul will be done in Vancouver or Victoria drydock.

Princess Joan, the Canadian Pacific steamship, is expected to leave here before noon tomorrow, arriving Vancouver at 8 a.m. Monday, daylight saving time.

Transport Minister Chevrier today ordered preliminary inquiry into collision between the two ships. Captain J. C. Barbour, Transport Department official stationed at Vancouver, will conduct inquiry.

Mrs. Durling lived at Cambridge, Mass., for a number of years but returned to the Nova Scotia Cambridge Station when her husband died some years ago.

She was impressed by the shopping districts and the Halifax public gardens.

"You know," she said, "I would live here except for one thing. If you ask me, this would be a

Canada Protests Trade Restrictions With US

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has protested to the United States against its restrictions on imports of dairy products, charging that it violates the Geneva trade agreement and threatens "immediate damage" to Canadian trade with United States.

This was disclosed today by External Affairs Department as it made public the text of 300-word diplomatic note handed to State Department by Canadian embassy in Washington earlier this week.

The note said that the recent announcement of U.S. Department of Agriculture regarding control of fats, oils and other dairy products "has created a situation which is of urgent concern to the Canadian government."

"Restriction of imports of dried milk products, and cheese in particular," will cause immediate damage to Canadian trade with United States."

Boy Hit by Car

A 10-year-old boy was knocked down by a driverless car shortly after 2 p.m. today and was taken to hospital by ambulance.

Witnesses said Robin Gilmour was walking down McBride Street, near Fourth Avenue, when a new model car, parked in front of Dan's Service Station, began rolling backwards across the street. It caught the boy on the sidewalk, knocking him unconscious.

His condition at press time could not be learned.

Eye-witness Frank Kilborn, Daily News delivery boy, said he saw the car rolling.

Canadian Press Staff Writer
Korea may offer "something new, something different" to the ordinary Canadian soldier. But the botanist in uniform—such as Capt. Murray Edwards of Kelowna, B.C.—finds he might almost as well have stayed at home, as far as his hobby is concerned.

Edwards, 31-year-old quartermaster for the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in Korea, since last spring has been collecting specimens of wild and cultivated flowers growing alongside the paths of his military duties.

All but two or three of the blossoms collected, he says, are duplicated in his Canadian collection at home.

Last spring he gathered and pressed 18 types of Korean spring flowers, all but two or three of which were found in Canada. Since then he has added to the collection—at the moment reposing between the pages of several books in his tent—17 more varieties.

He also has identified and made notes on 14 types of vegetable known in Canada that are grown in Korea, and seven common fruits.

He also can lecture—with photographic illustrations—on the art of building a Korean house.

Commonest wildflowers found by the Q.M. are "New England" asters, tiger lilies, daisies, snow-

Korean Landscape Like Canada

balls, lupins and vetch. They grow mainly on the uncultivated hillsides, on the lower stretches of ground above the cultivation level.

The vetch, a member of the pea family and in Canada used as a cattle food when mixed with hay, is used as a textile here. The vine is treated and processed into coarse cloth—used principally for mourning—and is similar to unbleached flax or muslin.

Lupins develop into bushes here. A rarity in the daisy family is the black-eyed susan.

POPULAR IN CANADA
The cultivated varieties, found mainly in abandoned gardens, include many that might be found in any garden back home—canterbury bell, morning glory, peony, gladiolus, sweet pea, cocks' comb, sunflower, portulaca, hemp flower, 100-day zinnia, golden glow, cosmos and hibiscus.

The hibiscus is the Korean national flower, appearing as a common motif in building ornamentation and in native art. A flowering bush, its pale purple flower with a plum-red centre, it is common in Canada.

Staple cereals are rice, barley, rye and wheat.

The rice seedlings were transplanted by hand into the flooded paddies during July and now stand about one foot high. The paddies, kept under about two inches of water by systems of irrigation sluices that draw on reservoirs in the hills, look well in their thick, yellow-green coat.

Vegetables here include the cucumber, squash, pumpkin, yarrow, and soy bean. There are tomatoes, onions and lettuce —"Out of Bounds" to allied troops because grown in fields fertilized with human manure and with the consequent danger of bacterial infection.

Koreans grow their several varieties of beans—similar to Canada's string beans—in cornfields between the rows of cornstalks. Canadians now call the patches combining the two growths "fields of succotash."

There also is the sponge cucumber which, dried, is used as a dish-cleaner.

Ground fruits include the watermelon, the honey-dew melon and the cantalope, while tree-grown varieties are the cherry, the pear, the apple, the crab-apple and the plum. The plums, already on the market, are delicious.

Troops buy them at 6,000 won ($1.15) a measure, which is more than one peck. For their evening snacks they also buy tomatoes at about the same price.

The melon crops are valuable, and while the fruit is ripening—most of it is in by mid-August—the farmers build small straw-thatched shacks on stilts in their fields and guard them against thieves.

Talent Advertises

LOCAL talent in the past has done a lot for the locality from which it stems. In fact, quite a few small centres have been "put on the map" due to outstanding local talent which received sudden recognition.

Prince Rupert has been on the lips of a lot of people this month due to our local talent, for in three different parts of America in as many different competitions, this city's representatives have competed in contests of wide-spread interest.

And even across the "big pond" people have been hearing a little about Prince Rupert, for a member of a British Columbia choir, touring Britain all summer, is from Prince Rupert.

If, then, we are interested in good public relations—getting people to learn more about Prince Rupert—we should not forget that local talent can play a large part in obtaining the recognition we desire.

And Now Housing

FOLLOWING two years of continued strain for action by this city and by this newspaper, a housing scheme for Prince Rupert may finally be adopted—if a fair building price can be found.

Now, a lot has been said about the difficulty of building in Prince Rupert, but it appears that the situation is not nearly as bad as it has been painted. Following a survey by a government housing engineer yesterday, he remarked he was pleased with the sites and could foresee few building difficulties.

The government housing authorities have assured us they will seek by tender the lowest bid to build 50 units here. The sites have been approved, and the main points of the housing agreement between the three levels of government also have been approved. But we are dubious that local contractors will ring a bell on this job, if their bids will be higher than those tendered by Vancouver contractors.

But we don't think there should be any reason for such big differences in building costs between here and Vancouver as indicated in the past. Our labor—which is the greatest cost—is no higher. Lumber shows only a slight difference in costs. Naturally, it would be an asset to keep an extensive building program such as is mooted in our district. It might be well for local contractors to sharpen their pencils for once.

Housing authorities have advised the city that capital investment on rental houses must be recovered at a rate of eight per cent per year. So it is quite evident that unless the units can be built for around the $9000 mark—which would create a rental of $720 a year—Prince Rupert people will hardly accept the proposal.

As I See It

Gen. Ike Half Right

GEN. EISENHOWER has told the U.S. Congress that there is only one answer to the so-called "German problem."

There must be a federal union of Europe, he says. That is, one great federation of Europe must have a common citizenship and one defence force for the whole union.

The genial Ike admits that some of his military colleagues will think he is "half crazy" for suggesting this. He does not go into details, but his implication is plain. Some of the Brass Hats in Washington take as dim a view as the Brass Hats in Moscow of Europe, fully armed and able to stand up to both of them.

WHAT GENERAL IKE has told Congress in 1951 is along the same lines as what I have been saying through the press and radio of Canada ever since 1938. Many other ordinary people, like myself, long since saw that the only way to keep Germany from upsetting the appellation in Europe over and over again was to abolish rival nationalism and balance-of-power politics altogether.

But surely General Ike is only half right. No federation of western Europe alone is now practical politics. If Uncle Sam wants such a federation to succeed he will have to join it himself. He can't just tell Europe it is a good idea—for Europeans only. The obvious answer of Europeans is, "If it's such a good idea why don't you join up yourselves?"

AT THE ROME conference on world government, held in April 1951, I spoke against the piecemeal federation of Europe. I argued that it was sending a boy to do a man's job, and said: "Surely Britain will not join any federation which would tend to detach her from the rest of the British Commonwealth. Canada will not join any Trans-Atlantic federation unless her next door neighbor, the United States, is also a member. Also, a federation of Europe, in which Britain was not a member, would be dominated by Germany."

NO MATTER how the United States, and other countries, may try to dodge the issue, there is only one answer to the great crisis of our times.

That is a world federation—a brotherhood of man, with a democratic world parliament, elected by the people themselves, and a world police force adequate to deal with any attempt to upset international peace.

Uncle Sam is blundering and fumbling toward such a goal right now—but on his trial-and-error way there he is making just about all the mistakes that it is possible for a big power to make.

The truth of the matter, however, is that no matter how brave and skilled the U.S. leadership might be, rather than crude and clumsy as it now is—the basic grievance would remain.

On our side of the Iron Curtain, the policies which are driving us toward war, or peace, are made by Uncle Sam. In other words, even in Canada we are likely to be plunged into a war which might be prevented if we had the same kind of responsible government on the international level that we have inside Canada.

So Ike is only half right. He is right to tell Europe you must federate or perish. But he would be just as right, and a whole lot more effective, if he said to the U.S. Congress all democracies must federate or perish.

Venereal Ills Controlled By New Antibiotic

Successful treatment of three of the major venereal diseases by terramycin, a wide-range antibiotic, is described in a group of five new clinical studies by leading United States physicians.

In one series of 177 cases of gonorrhea, a primary cure rate of 92.6 per cent was obtained by Dr. Louis T. Wright and a group of associates at Harlem Hospital, New York, giving terramycin by mouth. "Highly gratifying" results were obtained with the drug when given to 20 patients suffering from lymphogranuloma venereum, a virus-caused venereal malady which has hitherto been "unsatisfactory and discouraging to treat," the same doctors say. Similar experience with a total of 43 cases of granuloma inguinale, a third venereal infection, is also reported by this and another research team.

"The discovery of antibiotics with such remarkable spectra and ease of administration brings eradication of widespread venereal disease within the realm of possibility," the Wright group, in reporting on their studies, told the Symposium on Recent Advances in the Study of Venereal Diseases, held in Washington, D.C.

Gonorrhea, in particular, is one of the most prevalent, troublesome and ancient of human afflictions. Its incidence and distribution are unaffected by geography, climate, season, age, race or sex. Its complications may be extensive and include sterility, semi-invalidism and the blinding of babies born of infected mothers.

In the series of 177 cases already mentioned, bacterial cultures from patients were negative—revealing elimination of the gonococcal bacteria which causes the disease—within 24 hours. Dosages of one gram and of two grams of terramycin produced equally good results. There were only 13 relapses. The same research team obtained cure rates of 95 to 96 per cent in treating a second group of 260 gonorrhea cases by means of both terramycin and another wide-range antibiotic, aureomycin, on a comparative basis. These drugs, they concluded, "are agents of choice in the treatment of gonorrhea." Unlike penicillin, which must be injected intramuscularly, they may be taken by mouth as a capsule, considered an important clinical advantage.

Lymphogranuloma venereum, sometimes called tropical ulcer or climatic bubo, is reported increasing in virtually all countries. One reason for its intractability to treatment has been that its causative agent is a virus—a microbe so small as to be almost invisible under the

Reflects and Reminisces

Some of us remember, way back when a child who was unco-operative was taken to the washshed instead of to a psychoanalyst. — Kitchener-Waterloo Record.

SO FAIR

A late summer sea, along the shores of British Columbia can be all the fond fancy hoped for by tourists. This has been particularly true of this season. But there is another picture few think about or even dream of, when deep water is calm and sunsets have the spell of beauty.

STEADY NERVES

This is when one awakens to sudden shock and crash, and possibly some cases, thrown from that luxurious bed. Or, else, away forward, there's a feeling of ice water. This is an emergency demanding plenty of presence of mind and self control. It is reported there was no panic in that collision yesterday, but those new to the hazards of the ocean, even mid-happiest of circumstances, might have been excused had they been so.

Newsboys had a windfall yesterday. The Daily News was on the street about the same time the steamships Prince Rupert and Princess Kathleen with more than four hundred tourists, and other visitors arrived—and all hungry for the latest. Some bought half a dozen copies each to mail away.

SURELY NO SIN

Sometimes things will become hopelessly mixed, and there is no explaining. The less the better, unless its frank admission that other, instead of the proper thoughts were in mind. Anyway, most of us love sport, and often argue about it. For example, a funeral service was being printed not so long ago, in which the following line occurred: "A favorite hymn of the deceased, 'The Old Rugged Lacroze' was sung."

Prince Rupert has been receiving its share of criticism, from the standpoint of lack of neatness and all that, but far greater cities do not escape. The press of Washington declare broad lawns ragged and untrimmed. Ornamental pools are muddy and weedy. The Montreal Gazette laments inexcusable carelessness—streets made practically unwalkable, grounds strewn with papers, bottles and cartons, and acres of weeds including poison ivy.

AFRICAN PIONEERS
The Orange Free State in Africa was first entered by Europeans about the year 1750.

If the fish won't bite

Here's an idea for those days when you feel like going down to deal with the fish personally. Intrepid souls who, with spear in hand and web on foot, chase fish in southern waters, can now increase their range with aluminum harpoon-guns.

Aluminum is used because it is light and does not rust. These are the main reasons why this metal is so popular, and why Alcan is busy with projects which are planned to increase Canada's production to 500,000 tons a year. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Old Timer, Telegrapher Visits City

E. R. Cox, who spent much of his interesting life in northern and central British Columbia, left for his home in Prince George last evening, travelling by car. He was here a few days, but during early times was for years in this city, being in charge of the Government Telegraphs Service.

It was in Hazelton in 1901 he directed the establishment of the telegraphs, then being built through from Ashcroft to Dawson.

Paul Maslenki, vacationing for two weeks in the south, returned microscope. Because viruses attack the body in a different manner from that of bacteria, which are considerably larger, virus diseases have tended to resist even many of the most modern chemotherapeutic agents. Terramycin and the few other wide-range antibiotics are practically alone in possessing effect against some, though not all, viruses.

In contrast with the 24-hour gonorrhoea treatment, however, terramycin was given for an average of a month in the 20 lymphogranuloma cases treated by Wright. And the doctors believe even longer therapy is needed in order to avoid recurrence. Careful follow-up for almost a year was maintained.

Granuloma inguinale, also called pūdaral ulcer, is manifested by deep ulcers of the skin and mucous membranes.
Originally thought mainly a tropical infection, it is now encountered more and more frequently in the United States.
That terramycin is effective against it is the conclusion not only of members of Dr. Wright's group but also of Dr. Robert L.
Greenblatt and associates of the Medical College of Georgia, Augusta, Ga. The former treated 11 patients, the latter 32 with the drug. Here, too, treatment last as long as two, three, and four weeks, sometimes even longer, and follow-up was continued for as long as eight months.

Two of the Wright team's reports are published in a recent issue of Antibiotics and Chemotherapy, major journal in this field, another in the New York State Journal of Medicine. A fourth was delivered at the Symposium on Recent Advances in the Study of Venereal Diseases. The Greenblatt study appeared in the Journal of Venereal Disease Information.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

"Everything happens to me," moaned Mr. Muzzy as he went down one on this hand. "Look how those diamonds were divided—all in one hand."

Mr. Champion pointed out that the division of the adverse diamonds had nothing to do with the case and that three no trump was cold against any defense.

It started out with Mr. Dale opening the six of clubs and Mr. Muzzy winning with the king. Now at this point there is only one correct play. In order to make the play, Mr. Muzzy had to be able to count as high as nine and he had to be willing to give up practically all chance of making four-odd.

These two requirements are fairly easy and, although it might be close, I would say that Mr. Muzzy could qualify on both counts. However, there is one more thing, Mr. Muzzy had to recognize the need for the play. This he failed to do.

At the second trick he led a small spade to dummy's ace and pulled out the queen of diamonds, Mrs. Keen showed out, playing the deuce of spades.

Mr. Muzzy played low, as did Mr. Dale. Gradually Mr. Muzzy realized the full import of the situation. He groaned. Desperately he played the jack of diamonds from the board and ducked it.

"I'm handing you a trick," he said angrily to Mr. Dale. "Go ahead and take it!"

"A bomb you should hand me," grinned Mr. Dale. "You play your hand, I'll play mine." And he followed with the six-spot.

As you see, Mr. Muzzy was able to get only one more diamond trick, the ace. Thus he won only eight tricks.

Of course the correct play at trick two was the ace of diamonds. Diamonds should then be continued until the king is knocked out. The ace of spades must be preserved in dummy at all costs—as an entry to the set-up diamonds.

"Muzzy," said Mr. Champion sarcastically, "I would like to give you some information. I would like to tell you that three no trump calls for the taking of nine tricks."

"I know that," replied Mr. Muzzy sullenly.

"Then tell me," Mr. Champion asked, "why did you try for 10? You had two club tricks, two spades and one heart—that's five. And you had a five-card diamond suit missing only the king. That means you could have Colonel Gilbert Best, Field Secretary of The Salvation Army in Canada, was born in Carbonear, Newfoundland. He became an officer from St. John's I Corps, prior to which he taught school for three years in St. John's. He received his training as a Salvation Army officer in Toronto, and was commissioned in 1903.

He served in three field appointments in the Canadian Field, following which came appointments at Territorial Headquarters, in the Chief Secretary's office and the Field Department.

For some years, the Colonel served in Divisional offices at Toronto and Vancouver, and also spent a period as Private Secretary to Commissioner Richards. From this appointment, he was appointed Chancellor for the Saint John, Hamilton and Toronto Divisions successively.

In 1925, Colonel Best became Divisional Commander for the Ottawa Division. Other Divisional commands followed at London, Montreal-Ottawa Divisions; and in 1939, following the movement of the Canadian Army overseas, he was appointed Secretary for War Services in Canada, from which work he returned to the Montreal Division early in 1940. He was appointed Field Secretary for Canada, on July 5, 1945.

Colonel Best married in 1913 to Captain Louise Reid. They have three children. Two sons served overseas with the armed forces, and the daughter is a registered nurse.

taken four diamond tricks if you'd started on them right away.

"Five and four are nine. You weren't willing to give up the king of diamonds as a safety play—so you give up the whole hand."

"Nuts," said Mr. Muzzy. "It certainly was," Mr. Champion agreed.

Clothers Tie G&A One-Hit Whitewash

Abel & Odowes 2, Gordon & Anderson 0

Robbed of a no-hit game by one single, Jack Lindsay tossed the whitewash brush over Gordon & Anderson last night in a 2-0 shutout for Abel & Odowes. It was the second game of a five-game final series, and it tied the standing. Gordon & Anderson won the first game last Sunday.

Lindsay's no-hit game was ended by a single to Ray Spring, redheaded pitcher, singled in the fifth inning to bat one for one. He was hit two other times at bat.

Following Arney's triple, Caroll passed both Abel and Lindsay to lead the bases after Pavlikis and McHardy flew out. But "Giordi" queered the set-up for the hardware lot by a sharp ground single, scoring the run.

Caroll looked brilliant in the sixth inning when he struck out three batters in a row, but he went to pieces on one batter in the last round for A & O. With Pavlikis on first with a single, Caroll threw two wild pitches to McHardy to allow the runner to reach third. Catcher Young topped the wild throwing with a hard toss wide of third baseman Sunberg, to score Pavlikis.

Both teams were playing short of some of their favorite players. Clothers' first baseman Cliff Dahl and hardware's Don Scherk and Doug Shier were on the absent list.

Next game will be played Sunday afternoon, and it's likely, too, that Monday-Labor Day will see a game.

SANDLOT BRIEFS: A surprise package was released by Ted Arney last night, who, hitless for most of the season, came across with a sparkling triple and a single. Ray Spring endured a few bad minutes when a fast pitch by Lindsay landed partly on his thumb. "Home-run-king" Dave Abel, with three round-trippers to his credit this year, was passed twice last night, much to his chagrin. Once last night, Lindsay was in a little trouble, when in the sixth in-

Two Vancouver Men Take Golf Championships

OTTAWA (C)—Phil Farley, 39-year-old veteran from Toronto defeated defending champion Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver 2 and 1 yesterday in quarter finals of Canadian Amateur Golf Championship. Two other Vancouver boys were more successful.

Laurie Roland, 18-year-old Canadian Junior Champion defeated his fellow-townsmen Percy Clogg 4 and 2, and Walter McElroy piled up an early lead to defeat Don Doe, Quebec amateur champion from Granby 6 and 5.

Fred Kammer, jr. of Detroit, 35-year-old former Walker Cup player kept United States chances alive. He had to fight off strong comeback by Roy Kepron of Winnipeg to win one up.

Remember When

Gene Kunes, 26-year-old Norristown, Pa., pro, won the Canadian Open Golf championship at Montreal 16 years ago. He fired a 68, two strokes under par in the final round for a total score of 280, two better than Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N.J.

Young, with bases loaded, he faced Young. But there were two away and with Young grounding out to second baseman Sharpe, the trouble was over.

Some of the popular places where fishermen are expected to be found over the week-end include the length of the Skeena River and its many tributaries, Rainbow Lake, Khtada Lake and Lakelse Lake.

The more ambitious are even expected to take more strenuous journeys to their favorite "fishin' holes" like Theo Fortune, for instance. That old-time hardy and rugged angler will make his last trip this year to his "secret lake" and expects to return "at least with something to show for it."

"Got myself some pretty nice ones the last time," he said. Johnny Walker is another old-timer and so is Jim Bacon, both of whom spend nearly every week-end doing the rounds of well-known angling spots.

Football Fact and Fiction

The question of a trophy for competition between native teams and city teams has been discussed with the suggestion that the Hanson Trophy be the trophy at stake. This is not possible as the trophy was donated for competition between Prince Rupert representative teams and visiting warships.

However there would seem to be no reason why some other trophy could not be obtained for competition between city teams and native teams.

The matter is not a simple one. It would seem desirable for representatives of native teams to meet the Prince Rupert Football Association and discuss the matter. It might be possible for a schedule to be drawn up.

Swimming Instruction Pays Off; 23 Learn

Twenty-three youngsters proved to several hundred people yesterday afternoon that they learned to swim during the summer Civic Centre swim classes. None of these youngsters, ranging in ages 6-10, were able to swim when they began July 10.

And those of the 53 students which started out in the beginners' class, 37 received awards, for those who couldn't swim, at least had learned to float. Instructor Ian McHardy says he is "satisfied."

"Maybe they're not world-beaters, but at least they can get from here to there, which is quite an accomplishment. They can have fun in the water which they didn't have before."

In the second class, ages 10-14, Beverly Calderoni came first in the 75-foot freestyle race. Karen Taylor was second.

In the backstroke, Karen Taylor came first; Joanne Procter, second. Sidestroke, Libby Pierce, first. Karen Taylor, second; and in the breaststroke race, Libby Pierce first, and Dorothy Wick, second. Twenty swimmers in this

Fire Razes Apartment

TERRACE—Fire gutted the apartment above the Mary Lynne shop on the southwest corner of Lakelse Avenue on Kalum Street late Wednesday evening, destroying the contents. The flames were seen near the rear stairs by Frank Peters who put in the alarm. The fire department arrived immediately.

Tenants were away from town and cause of the fire is unknown. Constable Brue and Constable Adams kept the crowd back while the firemen worked unhampered and the flames were soon under control.

The contents of the store below, a women's and children's apparel store, were removed in about two minutes by many willing helpers and little damage was done to anything.

The building is partly covered by insurance, and until the store can be cleaned up, the business of the Mary Lynne shop is being carried on in the IOOF Hall.
