

Population Worries Aussies

Australia (CP)—Latest figures indicating a steady increase in the population have the population worried.

At six per cent in the year ending July 1 to 1950, the population rose from 19 13s. to 19 10 7s. a year. An office boy at a lead mine at Mount Isa, 12 9s. a week, and a whale chaser at a week.

There has been a creeping up in the population of Australia for more than a year. In 1909 the average population was 100,000. In 1923-1927, the official index stood at 100. It rose to 149, 164 in 1930. For 1949 the figure was 183, for September, 183.

Worries Prime Minister Churchill most is that since the office in December, the cost of living has increased about 35 per cent. The system of fixing wages means that the cost-of-living index automatically reflected the wage.

The old spiral of higher wages, higher prices, and higher wages.

Trade unionists accept that automatic adjustment does not keep pace with living costs, but they are prepared to accept the fact that the only way to stop the vicious circle is to stop wages.

On the other hand, employers are not prepared to accept the proposition that the cost of living is a factor in the price of goods.

Royal Tour Nearing End

NEW SCOTIA—Prince and the Duke of Edinburgh are now on the sea travelling from here to St. John's, Newfoundland, on the ship of the Royal Tour. They left early this morning aboard HMCS Ontario due at St. John's tomorrow. At noon Monday they will embark for the Empress of Canada.

A two-hour visit here today, after being received by Mayor Tony Galbraith, an address and a luncheon at the City Hall. They visited the sports and one of the Dominion's plants.

Today was Prince Edward day which culminated in a dinner last evening at the Charlottetown Hotel. Princess was presented with a sapphire fox cape. Preceded by the Duke of Edinburgh, earlier in the day the royal couple had lunch with Lieutenant and Mrs. Prowse.

Mock Attack Proves Fatal

B.C. Soldier Killed During Army Practice At Camp Borden

CAMP BORDEN — Sgt. Edward Francis Smith, aged 29, of Erickson, B.C., was killed Friday during a mock infantry attack in which more than 100 infantrymen, firing live ammunition with tanks, threw up a protective fire from machine guns.

Sgt. Smith was acting as co-driver when a bullet struck him in the head.

Fisherman Drowned

VANCOUVER — Hisao Yamamoto, Japanese-Canadian fisherman, is believed to have been drowned in the near sinking of his gillnetter in heavy seas off Milne Bay near Campbell River.

The motor vessel Northern Express pulled the 30-foot half-submerged boat from the island beach and towed it into Vancouver Friday.

No trace of the fisherman was found in the gillnetter.

Russia Is Rebuffed

Proposal to Seat Red China In United Nations Blocked

PARIS (CP)—Russia suffered a sharp defeat today in its campaign to seat Red China in the United Nations.

The 14-nation steering committee refused 11 to 2 to put the question on the agenda of the General Assembly.

One nation abstained.

The United States delegate, Warren R. Austin, said the Soviet move "is a proposal which has been considered and rejected nearly 90 times."

Log Scale Runs High

Increased Manufacturing Activity Boosts Forest Production

Timber scaling in Prince Rupert forest district continues to hit new high levels owing to the consumption of the new Columbia Cellulose pulp mill and sustained intensive sawmilling operations throughout the area.

The scale for the month of October this year totalled 42,686,691 board feet, compared with 38,342,182 board feet in the same month last year.

So far this year the scale is 299,389,500 board feet compared with 214,709,268 board feet in the first 10 months of 1950.

Here was the scale per varieties this October with figures for the same month a year ago also shown for comparison:

	Oct. 1951	Oct. 1950
Bd. Ft.	Bd. Ft.	Bd. Ft.
Fir	1,158,384	3,045,114
Cedar	5,548,292	6,642,609
Spruce	16,885,743	13,431,711
hemlock	13,753,365	10,497,754
Balsam	2,539,163	2,486,225
Jackpine	2,077,732	1,827,807
Miscellaneous	719,032	410,962
Totals	42,686,691	38,342,182

FOREST PRODUCTS

Production of poles and piling in the district during the month of October amounted to 316,800 lineal feet, compared with 127,974 lineal feet in the same month last year bringing the total for 1951 to date to 1,710,477 lineal feet as against 490,379 lineal feet in the same period of 1950.

The tie scale this October was 22,576 pieces while 189 cords of wood were counted in the past month.

Xmas Wheat Payments

Proposed to Young Liberal Convention in Vancouver

VANCOUVER — "Christmas payment" for prairie farmers may be recommended to the federal government by the Young Liberal Federation in convention here.

Delegates from Saskatchewan and Alberta Friday pictured the harassed condition of prairie farmers in financial straits because the bulk of their crop is unsold.

Price controls are due for discussion before the convention ends Saturday night but a survey shows few delegates in favor of price-fixing.

Question of a national flag for Canada is expected to spark sharp discussion, Montreal delegates have brought three designs which they waved on the convention floor yesterday.

Poppy Day, promoted here by Canadian Legion members with headquarters for the day in the old liquor store on Third Avenue, launches again the November 11 Remembrance Day services to be held tomorrow at the cenotaph in the square before the Court House.

Platoons of Navy, Sea Cadets, Reserve Militia, Cubs, Scouts, IOOE, Legion members, Legion Women's Auxiliary and other veterans with medals clanking, will fall in Sunday morning at 9:45 in front of the Legion building.

Parade to the cenotaph, accompanied by the Civic Band, will be led by Zone Commander J. S. Wilson, assisted by Ald. Darrow Gomez.

Rev. Fred Antrobus will conduct the Remembrance Day service. Because this day falls on a Sunday, Prince Rupert churches will hold their morning services beginning at 11:15. The cenotaph ceremony, including laying of wreaths, will end with the two-minute silence period at 11 a.m.

GRAVE DECORATION

Parade will then march through city centre, down Third Avenue to Sixth Street, following Second Avenue back to the Legion building. Following this ceremony, a decoration party headed by Legion President Rod MacLeod, will continue to Fairview Cemetery where wreaths and poppies will be placed on the graves of veterans.

BANQUET

A banquet Monday afternoon and a dance in the evening, both at the Legion Auditorium, will climax the week-end celebration, and an eight-day Legion Week during which the Women's Auxiliary to the Legion supplied all catering.

"And they've done a wonderful job," said President MacLeod today.

Variety entertainment will be presented at Monday's events, including community singing.

WEATHER

Synopsis

Rapidly moving storm centres from the Pacific continue to make British Columbia weather. Strong southerly winds are blowing over the coast today, behind a system which moved inland overnight. These winds will decrease slowly in most sections during the day. Another active system is expected to lie just off the coast tomorrow morning and to move inland during the day. This system will cause an increase in coastal winds tomorrow. Showers will be quite general on the coast and in much of the interior today with some decrease in precipitation and cloudy tonight. Tomorrow will be cloudy and showery as the new storm moves through. Precipitation will fall as snow in the northern and extreme eastern sections of the interior.

Temperatures will continue much as they have done for the past few days as moist Pacific air continues to push over the coast.

Forecast

North coast region — Cloudy today and Sunday. Occasional light rain, little change in temperature. Winds — easterly (20) except 30 over open water, increasing briefly to 15 tonight. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow — at Port Hardy and Sandspit, 40 and 48; Prince Rupert, 36 and 48.

Snow Lowering On Mountains

During the week, enough snow fell to whiten the peaks surrounding Prince Rupert, without coming down as far as the townsite. But high on the mountain tops, overlooking Wark Canal and on Mount Hays in particular, the snow that is there now appears heavy enough to be still there well into next summer.

Turkey Joins Big Three

To Go Ahead With Middle East Command

PARIS (CP)—The Big Three and Turkey joined in a four-power declaration today that they would set up an Allied Middle East command despite Arab objections.

The statement said that the United States, Great Britain, France and Turkey had decided to go ahead with the defence organization because "defence of the Middle East is vital to the free world."

The Arabs have claimed they are capable of providing adequate defences against possible Communist aggression.

'Phone Workers Stay Independent

VANCOUVER — Members of the Independent Federation of Telephone Workers in British Columbia yesterday voted down a proposal to join an international trade union.

A total of 2,486 ballots were cast but the necessary two-thirds majority for adoption of the proposal was not forthcoming. The vote showed 2,452 "yes" and 2,030 "no."

Bids for a merger had been made by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFI) and Communication Workers (CIO).

Problem Ships Now Useless

HONG KONG — The seven Ming Sung ships which have stirred prolonged controversy in Canada now are lying idle and useless on China's Pearl River, behind the Iron curtain at Canton.

Reliable reports reaching here indicate that the Communist authorities have found the ships cannot be of use to them and the vessels, built in Canada with a federally-backed loan, are simply rusting away.

They were seized by their crews after their owners, the Ming Sung Industrial Co. Ltd., failed to meet an instalment on the mortgage held by a Canadian bank. The payment was made good by the Canadian government which guaranteed a $12,000,000 loan to the Chinese firm, which has a subsidiary company in Canada.

Perilous Game Played With Mighty Weapons

Prime Minister Sees Nations Hovering on Fearful Brink

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill voiced fear Friday night that Russia and the West may "tumble or drag each other" into a third world war.

Churchill Humorous

Premier Winston Churchill quipped humorously in his speech in the Guildhall in London last evening, the occasion being the Lord Mayor's annual banquet. He made brief reference to the bombing attack on the Guildhall building by Hitler's bombers. He mentioned that it was the first time he had spoken there as Prime Minister.

"The Guildhall, My Lord Mayor," said Churchill, who was Britain's wartime premier, "was blown up when I would have spoken." There was a pause. "As for me, before it was restored, I had been blown out."

Second Pats Taking Over

WITH CANADIAN FORCES IN KOREA — A dirty, shabby flag was hauled down and seconds later a new maroon and gold one was put up in its place. The simple ceremony marked relief of the Second Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, by units of the First Battalion.

The First Battalion's movement to Korea was completed with the arrival in the regimental area of its last two companies of 200 officers and men.

Remaining members of the Second Patricia's still in the theatre paraded for United Nations Army Commander, General James Van Fleet, who expressed desire to meet "heroes of Kapyong before they leave Korea."

General Van Fleet congratulated the battalion on its record and read aloud its presidential citation for conduct which set it "apart from and above" other units of the Eighth Army.

Rebellious Young Liberals Seek Johnson Resignation?

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Sun, in a newspaper story today, says the resignation of Premier Byron Johnson as provincial party leader has been demanded by a group of rebel British Columbia young Liberals.

The Sun says the decision to ask for Johnson's resignation, and an immediate end of coalition was voted on at a secret meeting Friday.

The newspaper added that the rebel group set December 15 as the date for an emergency convention to discuss future action on coalition.

The closed door meeting, said the Sun, was held during a lull in the Young Liberal Federation convention.

"About 20 of the 35 British Columbia delegates to the national meeting attended the secret session."

Arthur Laing, member of parliament for Vancouver South, who flew home from Ottawa last night, is considered the most likely candidate for the new provincial leader.

The young Liberal group also threatened to run an independent Liberal candidate in every provincial riding in the next

He said that he had a feeling that neither side wants to fight and both are afraid of war's consequences.

In a speech at the annual dinner of the Lord Mayor of London in the famous Guildhall, Churchill said:

"What is the world scene as presented to us today?"

"Mighty forces armed with fearful weapons are baying at each other across a gulf which I have a feeling neither wishes and both fear to cross but into which they may tumble or drag each other to their common ruin."

Churchill said that the American efforts to deter communist aggression are the "main foundations of peace."

The fact that the United States had been permitted to establish an atomic base in East Anglia placed Great Britain in the forefront of Soviet antagonism and Britain was, therefore, entitled to expect that the maximum of assistance would be forthcoming from the United States.

The Prime Minister pledged that, no matter how unpopular the course of duty might be, his government would not falter or fail to do its duty.

"I am confident we will succeed," he asserted. "It is always a comfort in time of crisis to know that we are reading the path of duty."

Mr. Churchill said he had good hope that the great mass of the nation would give ungrudging aid to the government.

He expressed hope that in two or three years a faithful and independent Britain would have gone far to restoring herself as an important nation in bringing peace and security in the world.

Railwaymen Are Buying Bonds

Poppy Day Reflections

IN THESE DAYS of continuing conflict and uncertainty and even as Canadians are still giving their lives on the rugged fighting grounds of Korea in the struggle for democracy's preservation against the forces of aggression, it is fitting that we should dedicate ourselves anew in the observance of another Armistice Day anniversary.

It would be well too that we made the day, as we so rededicate ourselves, something more than a mere gesture or empty demonstration. In these times of selfish struggle, it is possible that many of us are not fully mindful of our responsibilities and fail to realize that the first thing we must do is to be good citizens in our daily avocation and pursuits. That is one thing that every one of us can do in fighting the good fight. In fact, if we do not do that, anything else we might attempt would be largely futile.

The Poppy is the symbol of remembrance and tomorrow is Remembrance Day. While we suggest that people live in their daily lives and actions the principles and precepts for which our men in the growing number of wars have fought and died, let us also wear a poppy for remembrance.

On Remembrance Day let us pause for a moment and think once again of the man or men we knew who left home and loved ones, the pleasures of peace and happy life, to take part in the conflicts and did not return.

In this spirit let us perform the simple act of remembrance—buy and wear a poppy, the emblem of sacrifice, the blood-red flower which reappears each year among the crosses now spread far beyond Flanders' Fields.

And as we pin upon ourselves these emblems, may we pray that man may yet learn to live in peace.

• CENOTAPH SERVICE

As for the service of remembrance at the Cenotaph tomorrow, it would seem desirable to point out to the general public that that ceremony is not just a Legion obligation. It is true that the parade is a Legion one but the observance is, and should be, a citizens' tribute of remembrance to those who paid the supreme sacrifice in defence of their country and the rights of people to live our their own free way of living.

This then is a challenge to the citizens. Are you grateful for the freedom that you enjoy? Will you show this by attending the Cenotaph service? There are minor inconveniences, unsupervised children, snarling dogs, inclement weather, perhaps. But the men and women whose memories we revere in such a ceremony underwent sufferings and torments beside which these pale into insignificance. Can we do less than turn out in large numbers, in gratitude to them for their sacrifices and a friendly act to their relatives and survivors? An outward and visible sign of our gratitude will be to see every citizen not only wearing a poppy but everybody possible at the service.

"At the going down of the sun,
And in the morning,
We will remember them."

Sir Arthur Currie's challenge is contained in another Legion saying: "They served till death. Why not we?"

Congratulations, Shirley!

CONGRATULATIONS to popular Shirley Haugan, Prince Rupert-born girl and member of a pioneer local family, on her selection for the famous Elgar Choir with the trip to Britain next year as its highlight.

It is particularly interesting that this is the second year a Prince Rupert girl has been selected.

Once more a local young person shows that this city has talent and the ability to develop it. And it is all good publicity for the city.

ONTARIO SHRINES—Wayside shrines are not numerous in Ontario. Two of the finest border Waterloo County in Pilkington Township between Ariss and Maryhill. Left is a shrine about 40 years old on the Ed Seifert farm. It was built in appreciation of prosperity enjoyed by a family named Keleher. The children before it are Jackie Lucas and Barbara Bennett. The other shrine is thought to be at least 150 years old. It stands on the farm of Anthony Drexler, R.R. 2, Ariss. Mr. Drexler says he was told as a child that the shrine was built by three brothers who came to that section of the country when it was virgin territory. The figure of Christ was carved from cedar by Mr. Drexler's father when the original was ripped down by vandals.

Blast From Britain

WINNIPEG—The speech from the throne in Britain is confirmation of what I reported during the election campaign there, both through this newspaper and by radio:

Nobody in the two big parties told the people the cold-blooded truth during the speaking campaign. But now that the votes are counted reality breaks through.

Mr. Churchill says flatly that "Britain is on the road to national bankruptcy." He warns that only the most drastic measures will halt the move toward disaster.

The point is—everybody in high places knew this DURING the election. But neither Mr. Attlee, Mr. Churchill, nor even the bad boy of British politics, Nye Bevan, then said it. Each had a different reason for "laying off."

Only one prominent candidate said DURING the election campaign what Mr. Churchill says now. She was Lady Violet Bonham Carter—daughter of late Liberal Prime Minister Asquith.

THOSE who heard the two CBC radio broadcasts from Britain entitled "Press Conference" may remember how some of us tried to get the old Chancellor of the Exchequer—and also the new one—to talk reality.

Six of us first interviewed the Rt. Hon. Hugh Gaitskell and then, a week later, the Rt. Hon. R. A. Butler. We did not know at that time that Mr. Butler would be the new holder of Britain's purse strings. Looking back over the scripts of those unrehearsed free-for-all talks I see here the following:

PHILPOTT: Well, Mr. Butler, all this is very pleasant and educative but as I have gone all over this country in the election campaign I have the impression that both parties are completely unrealistic in their discussion of the real issues. . . . The Conservatives say very clearly they are going to have a bigger and better armament program and also they are going to have 300,000 houses per year instead of the 200,000 houses, and yet when I look up the figures in the Labor exchanges I see that Britain is already half a million workers short to fill the jobs there now are.

BUTLER: Well, the labor force, or the equivalent to the labor force before the war, are now producing 26 per cent less. If we could improve that we could do a great deal more with the force we have.

Mr. Gaitskell was somewhat more frank in answer to this same question. He said:

"Well, it's quite obvious that if we are to carry out this defence program the output of some consumer goods has got to go down—I've always said that, we made it perfectly plain from the start. It'll have to go down. . . . I don't myself think it need affect the housing program which as you

Reflects and

Juneau is about to have a postal delivery system and right thankful do the citizens feel about it. Juneau is not nearly as large as Prince Rupert. Yet here in Prince Rupert, for forty years a transcontinental terminus, one of Canada's main deep sea fishing centres, and rapidly expanding because of new and far reaching industrial growth, but with everyone still struggling to the post office to stand in line at the wicket or see what's in the box.

A KINDLY VISITOR

Friday, November 9, was a day of singular beauty. Sky was cloudless and atmosphere pleasant. But nothing like that could be said of Thursday, Wednesday, Tuesday and Monday. But it's just as well to remember that on Thursday the Minister of Education proclaimed a holiday.

HOW COME?

As a rule, when someone loses his cash savings it makes a newspaper story or he tells about what is to him, a personal disaster. And one cannot but notice the similarity in the size of the sums lost. Usually, it's handy to a thousand bucks, or possibly thirteen or fourteen hundred. Having accumulated that much—which the Lord knows is little enough—how did he ever come to drop the lot? If he did really lose it?

STILL CURIOUS

"Is Prince Rupert anywhere near Alaska?" asks somebody back east or down south.

"Ketchikan nearest town. About eighty miles."

"Good Lord. You must be freezing. Why stay?"

It's been like that since incorporation, despite miles of publicity and personal letters of contradiction. So possibly it's worth mentioning that within the past few weeks 88 individuals down south and back east have frozen, partly frozen and contracted serious illness through sudden weather changes.

Use of the expression "Dominion" in the House of Commons may become less, if the government continues to have its way. There are no visible signs of the British Empire or American Republic disappearing.

Skagway wants to be the White Horse highway terminal. So does Juneau. And Skagway, after so many years of peace and drowsiness, is again showing vim and push and almost a streak of the stampede. A road will be a major job, if it is to be handy to the trail of '98.

know is about 200,000 a year. But I don't think it's possible in present circumstances to carry on the defence program and also to increase the amount of houses built as the Tories are claiming.

NOW that the election is over everybody is talking in terms of reality—and nobody pretending that any nation can have it both ways.

Remembrance Day Service

Tomorrow morning the annual Remembrance Day parade to the cenotaph will take place and, as usual, the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League with the Ladies' Auxiliary is in charge. So as not to conflict with the regular Sunday church services the time of the parade has been changed so that the two minutes of silence, which usually is observed at the start of the cenotaph service, will conclude the ceremony, and churchgoers will be able to reach their respective churches in time for their regular service which will start at 11:15.

Warrant for Sea Cadets

Prince Rupert's Captain Cook Sea Cadet unit Thursday received its official "warrant" under which to operate in a brief ceremony performed by Sea Cadets Area Officer Lt. Cdr. Derek M. Tye (RCN).

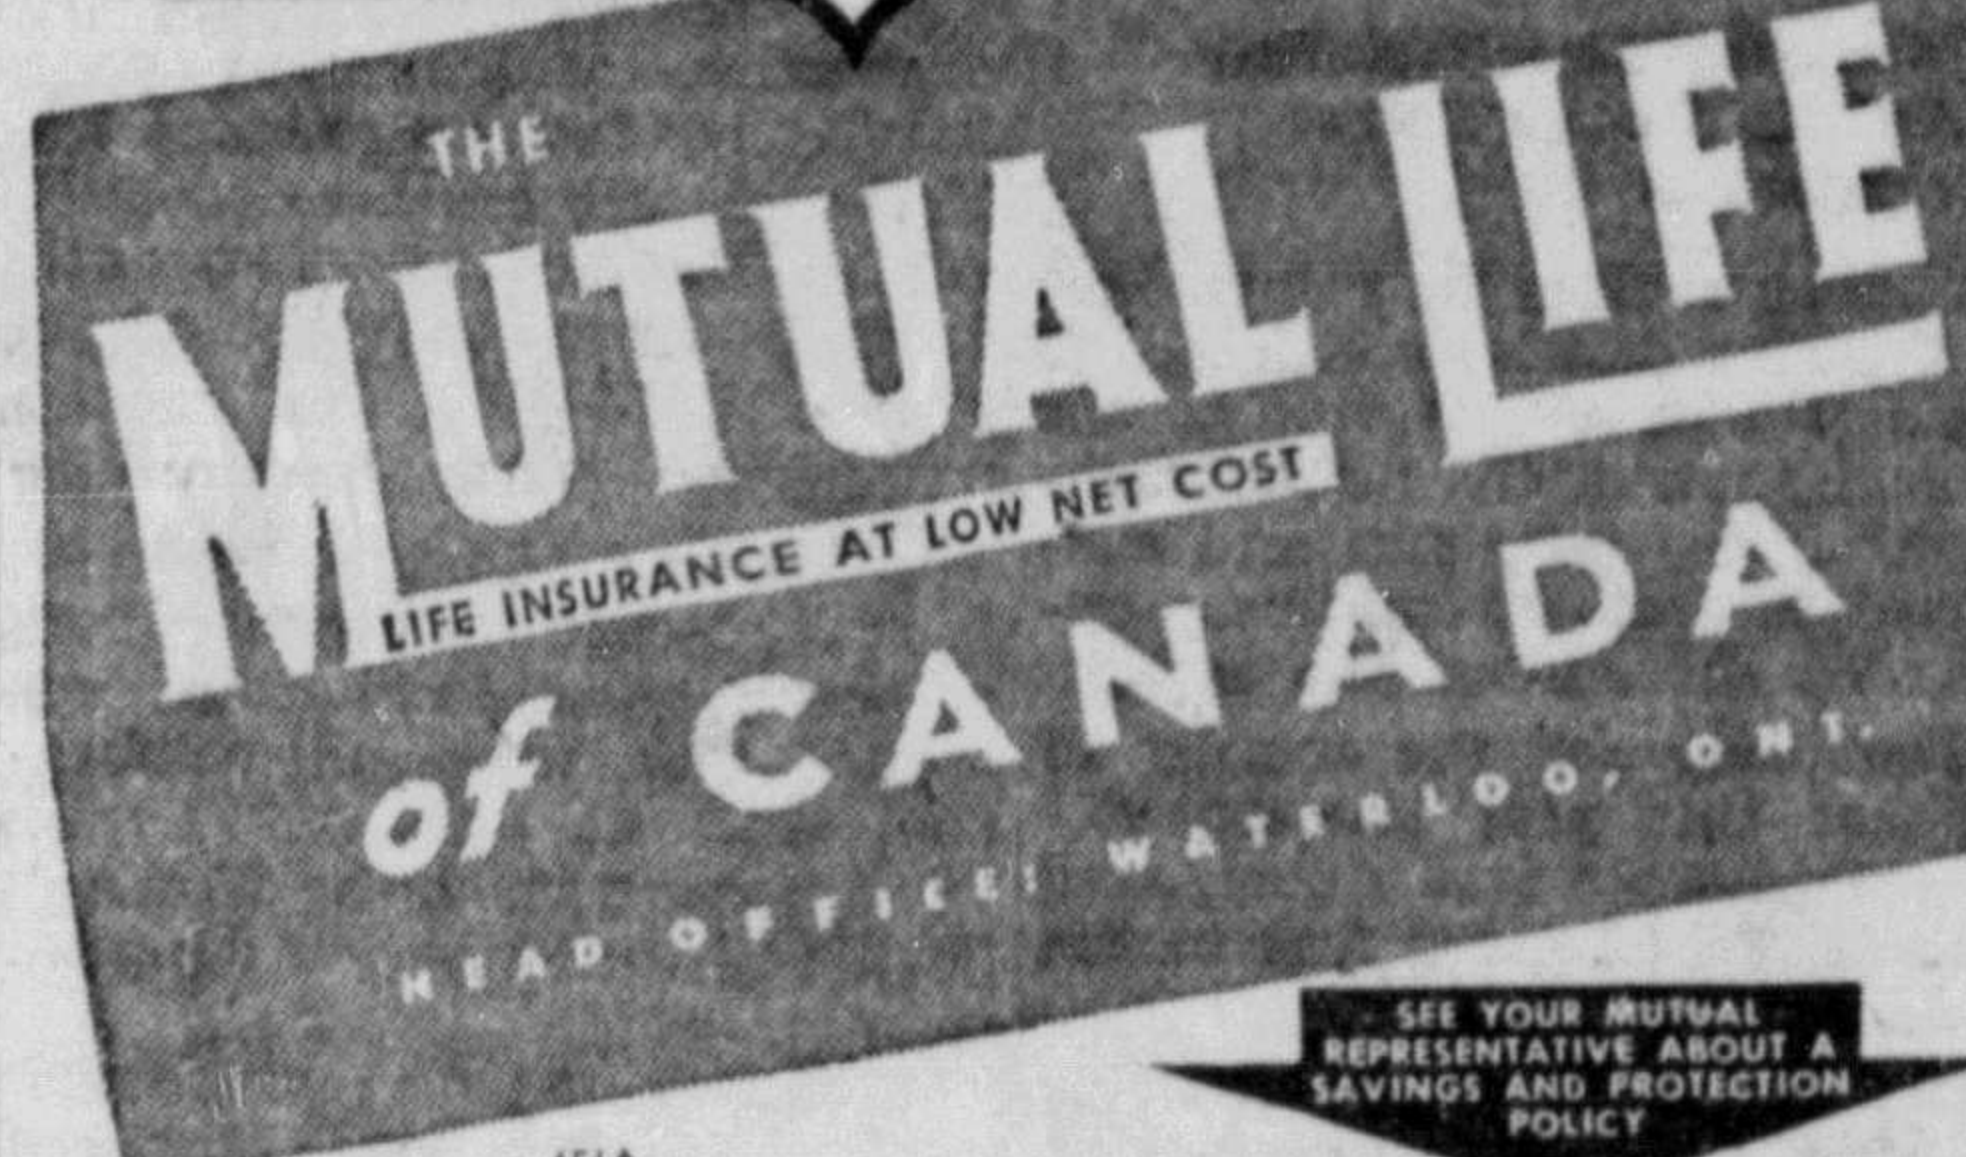

S. P. Woodside, president of the Navy League of Canada branch here, received the warrant from Lt. Cdr. Tye in the presence of Commanding Officer Sea Cadets Arthur Ogilvie and two sections of Sea Cadets, who fell in at the Navy Drill Hall.

Lt. Cdr. Tye told cadets that their uniforms had been ordered and that it was likely they would be received "in a month's time—maybe six weeks."

Captain Cook corps, a corvette unit with a complement of 50 cadets, brings to 800 the number of cadets in British Columbia, said Lt. Cdr. Tye. Next summer Comox would be opened up as a camp for cadets which would give summer training to junior and intermediate cadets west of Winnipeg.

The area officer of Pacific Area left Friday by plane for headquarters at HMCE, Discovery.

Sheep Or Men?

By Rev. Basil S. Prockter, Dean of St. Andrew's

The Bible often compares men with the animal creation and most frequent of all is the comparison of the nation of Israel and the Church of God with a flock of sheep. In once place, however, the difference is most explicitly pointed out, where Ezekiel says: "And yet my flock, the sheep of my pasture, are men. And I am your God, saith the Lord God."

There is a most profound tendency in our society to treat not only the children and the unfit, but also able bodied men and women as domesticated animals. All the social devices to take the risks and venture out of living . . . insurances and social securities and the governmental regulation of life . . . might well be classed under this head. I am not attacking these things. Many of them come into being through the application of Christian teaching. It is a good thing if men will in some ways regard he said.

As for the Captain Cook corps, he felt there was a "great future" and reminded cadets of past performances of the corps. They would be well equipped and would have the full support of the Navy, and it was the intention to provide this unit with a specially-designed whaler for cadets.

Across Canada, 6000 cadets are active in 82 corps and from this said Lt. Cdr. Tye. Next summer Comox would be opened up as a camp for cadets which would give summer training to junior and intermediate cadets west of Winnipeg.

themselves as a flock of sheep under a competent shepherd or shepherds. It will be a wonderful thing when the whole world shall be one flock under one Shepherd.

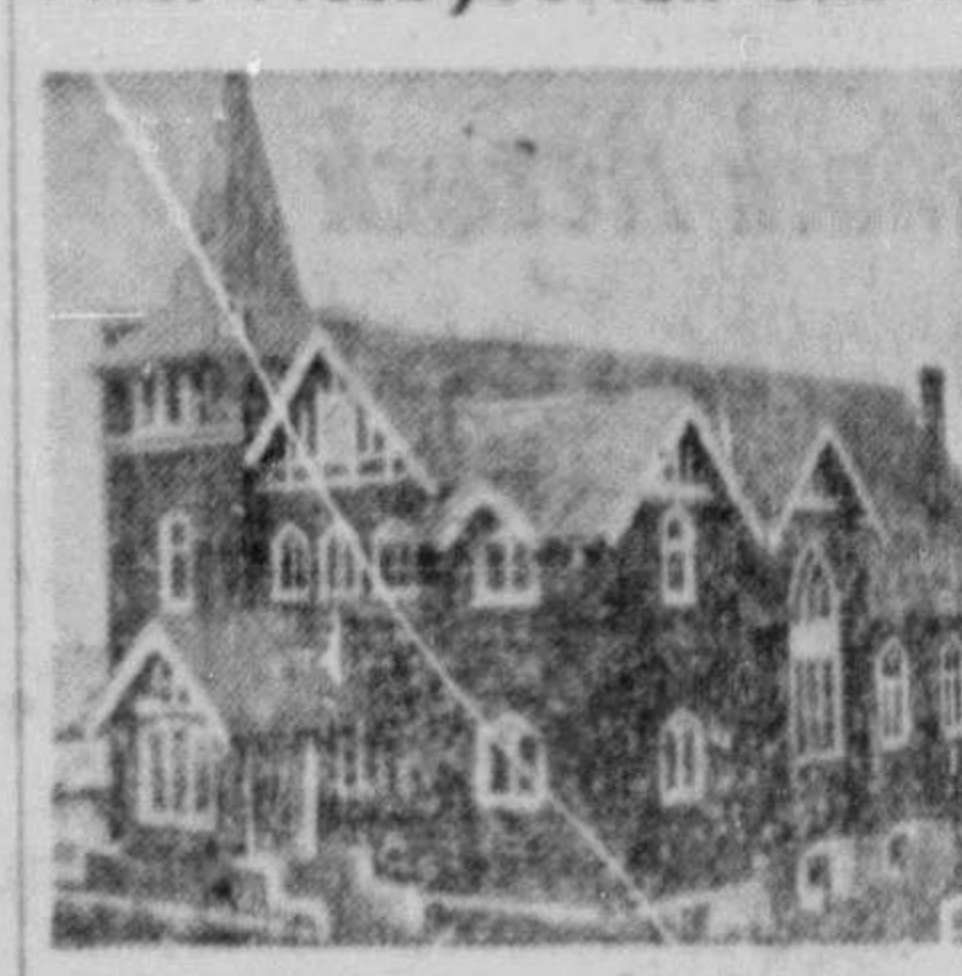

But this aspect of life must not be regarded as the whole truth or the whole answer with regard to the human being.

It is also terribly vital that every man find his manhood and every woman her true womanhood in the taking of risks and the lone facing of fearful odds. A dreadful day is upon us if the decision and the bravery of the individual no longer matters.

This very life that we have to lead is represented to us in Holy Writ as the Crossroads of Eternity and that it matters for all eternity to us and to our fellows, how we as individuals act and think.

And there is little doubt but that every man knows in his heart that he is living at the truly human level when he is charged with great responsibility. Thus, the truer picture of living at the human level is more apparent in the fisherman risking his life for his living or the soldier going out, never knowing if he will return. The Cross which Christ calls us to carry is surely that of dread adventure undertaken in the spirit of love.

Local Girl Selected For Elgar Choir Singing Overseas Next Year

Sixteen-year-old Shirley Haugan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Haugan, has been accepted for the Elgar Choir of Vancouver and will travel to Britain next summer on the celebrated juvenile choir's annual overseas tour.

Announcement of the acceptance of this budding Prince Rupert vocalist was made last night by C. E. Findlater of Vancouver, veteran director of the choir, following audition yesterday afternoon and consent of her parents.

She was proposed by Barbara Haugan, who was a member of the choir and made the trip to Britain during the past summer. She will go into intensive training immediately at the home of Henry Elwyn, director of the choir, at Both Memorial High School, and will travel to Vancouver at Christmas and Easter for periods of rehearsal with the choir prior to the overseas tour.

Shirley has been a member of the Junior choir of First Presbyterian Church which is directed by Mrs. E. J. Smith.

Mr. Findlater was impressed with the candidate at yesterday's audition and was enthusiastic about the qualities which led to her acceptance.

It is expected that Miss Hayward will reach this city on Monday by steamer and leave for Prince George by Tuesday evening's train.

New Juvenile Volumes Are Here For Canada's Young Book Week

"SHARP EARS," the story of a baby whale, by John Y. Beaty, will hold fascinating interest.

"Sharp Ears" was one of the largest babies ever born. His mother weighed 28 tons, and he weighed seven tons. No other animal in the world is as large as the sperm whale.

One of the most interesting habits of "Sharp Ears" is to travel around the world, through all the oceans, where he becomes acquainted with the extraordinary life that goes on underneath the sea. Following the travels of "Sharp Ears" to foreign countries, islands; seeing the plants and other animals that live in the sea is an experience made still more fascinating by colored illustrations and maps by Helene Carter.

"THIRTEEN BEARS" is a collection of bear stories by Charles Gordon Douglas Roberts who has spent much of his life on the "secret trails" of nature's people.

The black bear is highly intelligent and often shows originality and wisdom in solving a problem or facing a danger. That may be why Roberts found the bear so interesting and wrote many stories in which Bruin takes a leading part.

For instance, there is the friendly bear and the ferocious bear, the greedy one and the inquisitive—a veritable gallery. There is the lordly bear, so for stealing his trout that he angry at the impudent osprey climbed a tall pine to wreak vengeance on the nestlings and avenge the insult to his pride.

There is the wise bear, terrified yet stout-hearted, who swam a raging river with a man clinging to his thick coat, the beast and his enemy uniting in a desperate effort to escape the fury of the forest fire.

And there is the gallant fighter who stood at bay, again with a man as partner, in a terrific battle with a pack of ravenous wolves.

"Thirteen Bears" gives 10 other such tales, told with keen understanding of the animal world by a superb storyteller.

Mrs. Frank Skinner and Miss Gienna Moore are sailing tomorrow night on the Camosun to make the round trip to Alice Arm and Stewart.

Council Seeks Film Interest

Prince Rupert Film Council, in its attempt to bring to member organizations films of topical interest, are endeavoring to obtain the film "Juvenile Delinquency" and if possible a National Film Board coverage of the Royal Tour.

Secretary David Fyffe also announces the following films now in the library for the use of members:

"Airscrew"—Production picture of propeller construction.

"Julius Caesar"—An 18-minute black and white film showing part of Shakespeare's famous play, highlighting Mark Antony's well-known oration.

"Cambridge"—A tour of the world-famous university.

Two United Kingdom Information films, "North East Corner," and "Shown by Request."

Above films are those received in the "bonus block" or extras, based on the number of showings of the regular block.

Regular films now in the library are:

"Eye Witness"—A report on the Ganarask reforestation project in southern Ontario, and on the same bill, Montreal police juvenile clubs.

"Fibre Flax"—A review of the process of cultivating, harvesting and spinning flax in Canada.

"A Mile Below the Wheat"—Growth and prosperity from oil in Leduc.

"Our Town Is Our World"—In miniature, one of UN's many problems.

"Over-dependency"—Deals with emotional problems of a young man crippled by behaviour problems carried over from a too-dependent childhood. "Ukrainian Festival"—Social life of one of Canada's racial groups.

At present the film "Get Rid of Rats" is proving popular in demand by organizations. Film shows control methods adopted against man's "greatest enemy" of the animal world.

Meanwhile, the projectionist class of free instruction at the Fire Hall each Tuesday evening is looking for a few more entries. Rupert Greissel is instructor and the class is open to anyone interested in studying operation of 16 mm movie projectors.

WINNIPEG @—Education as a whole is suffering because of the decline in emphasis on Latin as a subject, said Dr. C. McCullough, of Kelvin High School in an address to teachers. "You can teach grammar better through Latin than through English," he said.

Local Skiers Join C.A.S.A.

Prince Rupert Ski Club will be one of the newest members in the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, western division, following decision last night at an executive meeting that "it is time now to join."

With nearly 50 active members expected this year, the Ski Club will enter the Northern B.C. Amateur championship races again and unless members belong to the association they can not be recognized officially as winners, should we be that lucky, quipped President George Mostad.

Honorary memberships were approved for Mr. and Mrs. Wally Langford and Mr. and Mrs. Jan Skladany. Mr. Langford spent several week-ends with his power saw giving "invaluable help" in clearing this season's new run-way and cutting firewood.

Skidany, a former Olympic teams ski instructor and member of the Czechoslovakian ski troops, now resident in Prince Rupert, has offered to give ski instruction to Ski Club members this season.

Meanwhile, to take care of additional members, several mattresses and two bunks will be purchased and a transients' dormitory will be opened at the ski camp, providing at least four bunks and cooking facilities.

This week-end will see many club members on Mt. Hays gathering and cutting firewood for the winter months and doing repairs to cabins.

SARTORIAL PRIORITY
LONDON 6—A peculiarly-shaped package was given top priority at London airport. Labelled "Urgently Required, Handle with Care," and addressed to a Mr. Sen Chee-Wong of Hong Kong, the package contained a shiny top hat.

Fight Card Nov. 30 To Feature Ratzo-Morrison

Tentative arrangements have been finally made for a Prince George-Prince Rupert boxing card which will feature as the main event the Mike Ratzo-Mouse Morrison fight, a five-rounder, November 30.

Nick Schmeling, Prince George's trainer and matchmaker, informed Joe Ward, Elks Boxing Club trainer, that four entries would be able to meet Prince Rupert boxers.

Besides Ratzo, who weighs 155, are:

Rene Michoud, 165 pounds, fighting Andy Marshall, 162, four rounds.

Ken Larson, 141 pounds, to fight Chubby Stacey, 141, three rounds.

Larry Brewer, 133, to fight Charley (Chuck) Place, 135, four rounds.

HEAVYWEIGHTS
The heavyweight event will feature two fighters under the same colors, Glenn "Tiny" Carlson, 197, against Art Senft, 195. Senft, former Golden Gloves contender and well-known amateur boxer in the province, is located at Masset but has offered to fight under Elks Boxing Club colors. Trainer Ward will match him against Carlson in a three-round event.

Other preliminary bouts which Ward expects to match will be in the paper and featherweight class of the boys he is training. In all, Ward expects to have eight or nine bouts.

Meanwhile, Schmeling admits in his letter to Ward that

The Wily Birds May Move But Hunters Ready

A long week-end and cool weather conditions have teamed up to make the opening at sunrise today of the duck and goose hunting season in the western district "mighty fine." According to many hunters who left yesterday and this morning by boat for the coastal regions, small islands and the Queen Charlottes, conditions are "ideal."

But still the hunters have their misgivings in this area, for they know how uncannily clever ducks and geese are these days. The western district opens, the eastern district closes. "Now where do you think these birds are going to go as soon as they hear the shooting?"

Answer: "Eastern district of course. Only 50 miles from here." Still more dubious hunters aren't putting anything past these wily birds. Says one:

"Bet these birds took a good look at the calendar last night and today they'll be laughing at us over the fence."

Game office here reports, however, that geese and ducks both have been plentiful in the eastern district this season and are now moving westward. So get the pan greased, Mrs. Hunter—father may bring back that goose anytime.

NOISY NEIGHBORS
LONDON 6—Families in a local block of apartments complained they could hear noises in adjoining apartments. It was decided to apply sound-proofing to one apartment, and if successful the others will be similarly treated.

Historic Island's Building Boom

CHRISTIAN ISLAND, Ont. (CP)—This historic island in Georgian Bay is experiencing a housing boom.

It's a slow-moving boom because the 370 Chippewa Indians who live here aren't anxious to build a city overnight. They realize the need for new houses—some of them were built a century ago—and are building them themselves.

Henry Gauthier, agent on the island for the Department of Indian Affairs, persuaded the band to re-open a sawmill at the edge of the village in 1949, and work has gone ahead steadily.

The tribe has a credit of more than $200,000 in Ottawa from the sale of Beausoleil Island to the government. One thousand dollars of this is put toward the cost of each house built, and the rest is paid off in instalments.

Cost of the buildings is about $2,400 each. They would sell for $6,000 in the city. The Indians build the houses themselves and are paid for their work. Some veterans' families also applied Veteran Land Act credits to their new homes.

Chief Simpson King, elected in June, and his four councillors select the families in greatest need to occupy the new houses as they are completed.

Slowly the island village is becoming urbanized. Agent Gauthier isn't trying to hurry the process because he believes in allowing the Indians to do things in their own way.

Originally known as St. Joseph's Island, it was named Christian Island in 1949 when Jesuit missionaries sought its sanctuary along with the Huron followers who had survived the Iroquois massacres.

A fort was built on the east shore of the island, but in 1650 the Jesuits abandoned the island and with their Huron converts returned to the valley of the St. Lawrence.

Griffin of the Copper mine returned from Prince George bringing back the jeep that had been undergoing repairs there.

The Catholic Ladies' Auxiliary held their monthly meeting in the clubrooms on Monday night with a small attendance. It was decided that Friday's bingo be cancelled on account of the bazaar being held on that night by the ladies of the Anglican Church. The drawing for the raffle will take place at a later date on one of the bingo nights.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ruyter of Inimistail, Alberta, have arrived to make their home in Telkwa. They are expecting their carload of furniture to arrive any day.

Paul Sargent of New Hazelton made a surprise visit to town and visited with friends and business associates.

Woman Takes Over Man's Job

TELKWA—Miss Betty Martin, only known forestry service woman taking full charge of a man's job, has accepted. Her responsible work entails checking and issuing permits of all lumber going out of Smithers and Telkwa. She also operates the radio at Houston, Topley, Southbank, Burns Lake and Fendleton Bay as her territory.

Checking of cars of lumber, whether spruce, pine, or any other kind, rough or planed, destination and shipper, this all must be recorded.

Miss Martin was a stenographer at the experimental farm before taking over this important work.

they take very little time to thaw. Leaving them in the kitchen for about an hour should be long enough.

With some types of entertaining, sandwiches are a necessity but often for such occasions it is a problem to get them ready. It is good to know that a variety of sandwiches may be made in advance. All that needs to be done is to remove them from the freezer a couple of hours before they are to be eaten. Fillings such as ground meats, cheese, fish or poultry are excellent. In freezing sandwiches the main points to remember are, in the first place, do not use too much mayonnaise in the fillings as the mayonnaise tends to separate on freezing and the bread may become soggy. Secondly, don't make sandwiches of fresh salad vegetables such as cucumber or tomatoes because they do not freeze well. In the third place, do not freeze hard-cooked egg fillings because the white tends to become tough and porous. Most important of all, package the sandwiches in wrapping sold specially for freezing foods.

THE EXPERTS Say...

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MEN AS COOKS.—Ever try letting hubby loose in the kitchen? There's no telling the surprises he may dream up—dishes you didn't think he even knew existed.

Men have gained the reputation for being able to make coffee and cook steaks—"just let it kiss the frying pan, that's all." But whoever thought they could bake a cake or whip up a dessert? And a friend of mine claims her father is a whizz at making porridge.

Here's proof that the head of the family can turn out as cute an array of bridge-club delights as mother would wish to set before her friends.

It's a bread-and-mushroom-soup special.

Slice a fresh loaf of bread lengthwise. Spread canned cream of mushroom soup heavily on the lengthwise slices. Roll it up "like a jelly-roll" and fasten down with toothpicks. Toast to a golden brown in the oven (about 300 to 350 degrees).

THE NEW LOOK

This male has picked up at least one of the cooking whimsies of the French. He likes to use a wooden spoon.

Break eggs into a bowl. Add salt, pepper and stir lightly with a wooden spoon.

Melt pat of butter in frying-pan. Pour in eggs and stir with wooden spoon—"It must be wooden," says our male friend—until almost cooked. Remove pan from heat, add a pat of butter and let it melt in. Serve.

Just in case you think men regard salads as panty-waist food, here's a favorite of one masculine connoisseur who tips the scales at the 200-pound mark.

One pound head cabbage; one medium-sized onion; four stalks celery (large); one large apple.

Put the vegetables through a shredder or use an ordinary grater.

Dressing: Juice of one lemon; add to this two tablespoons of sugar, one-third cup of boiled salad dressing. Salt to taste. Toss all this together. Garnish with slices of tomato and hard-boiled eggs.

However, left to his own devices—when the wife is down-town shopping—hubby most frequently will seek food from a can. One chap goes after any tinned salmon that may be around the house. This he puts in a casserole and spreads left-over potatoes on the top. First, however, he beats up "an egg or two"—men are so casual about the high cost of living—and mixes this with the potatoes. The dish is seasoned with salt and pepper and popped into a moderate oven for 20 minutes or so. "Excellent," says our friend, "with milk or lager."

Troller Turns to Crab Fishing—Twenty Grain Ships Coming?

For 15 years Ed Ling has trolled salmon in this area with Fatima, his trusty 38-footer—and, even as he announced yesterday that he was quitting, he looked a little wistfully towards the sea.

But the veteran fisherman is not putting the sea behind him. In fact, he'll probably spend more time on the rolling, shifting tides than ever before. Ling is going to be a crab fisherman.

Aboard the Fatima yesterday, tamping tobacco leisurely into the bowl of his pipe, Ling stopped awhile from fixing his rigging to chat. Crab fishermen in Prince Rupert are few, although the large bank area between the mainland and Queen Charlotte Islands known as Hecate Straits is believed to be the best "crabbing grounds" in the Pacific.

"Of course, on the Islands, they make a big thing of crab fishing," explained Ling, telling of Simpson's cannery at Masset and the dozen or so vessels that fish for the company.

But crabbing wasn't a profitable business until a few years ago. Once, a fisherman was lucky to get 50 cents a dozen. "Now they're two bucks a dozen for fair-sized crabs."

FISHING THE STRAITS

Ling is going to fish the centre of Hecate Straits, where the depth of the water measures an average 17 fathoms. He's installed an Echo-Lite sounder to keep him on his course and he hopes to operate around 100 traps and rings, fishing them alternately.

Rings, the simplest means of catching crabs, consist of two hoops, one slightly smaller than the other, to which is laced netting forming a three-foot pan. From the inner hoop, three or four lines are attached to a stouter line at the end of which is placed a buoy. The buoy keeps the main-line-end on the surface and provides a marker.

Traps offer a different proposition, in that they are larger and made of wire and hoops. There are different patterns of traps and crab fishermen are continually devising innovations to them. For instance, this spring, another crab fisherman, Jack Deane, devised a cone-shaped trap, with a false bottom for easier loading.

"I'm going to use a similar idea, but am going to put an extra loop on it so the crabs can climb in easier," Ling drew a diagram. With traps, as many as several dozen crabs may be caught at once because they can't stray away. Once they're in the trap they can't get out.

The former troller will use his own boat for operations and will install a spray pump in the hold to supply water to the crabs in order to keep them alive.

"Crabs got to be alive, or they're no good. As soon as a crab dies, he begins to spoil," Ling said. "In nearly all waters of between 20 and 12 fathoms deep

New Test Oil Well

VANCOUVER — A big American firm, Phillips Petroleum, announces new test well in the British Columbia Peace River district.

The firm has been conducting extensive exploration work in the Peace River district for some time.

The announcement said that the test well is about forty miles from Fort Nelson.

The well is called Phillios Tenaka No. 1.

ST. THOMAS, Ont. — There were a lot of glum-looking sheep around Humphrey Campbell's farm here after the first mass sheep dipping and drenching operation ever carried out in this district. A total of about 300 were given the full treatment.

In this area, says Ling, crabs can be found. Around the mainland shores, they run an average of six inches in size, the minimum size allowed for fishing. In the Straits, however, crabs may average nine inches and sometimes grow larger.

Beam trawlers often pick up a huge catch of crabs, even though they're not fishing for them, says Ling.

"The other day a fellow came in with a load of flat fish and had some 3000 crabs to boot. But they only keep them the last day they come in."

Is there money in crab fishing? Ling thinks so.

"I know of four young fellows—under 20, mind you—that fished for Simpson a couple of years ago and made $4,000 each. They took themselves a holiday down to California and then came back for more. One had bought a truck and now does a good business right here in Rupert."

"Of course, I don't know how I'm going to make out," he added, "but we'll give her a whirl. Better than being idle all winter."

There appears to be a fair prospect of 20 grain ships coming to Prince Rupert this winter to load for Japan. Many of them are expected to be Japanese. Though not promised, that many has been mentioned. What to do with their wheat has worried hundreds of ranchers this season. Between this year's harvest and last season's hangover, how to dispose of what is available for marketing is another of Canada's problems. There is nothing small about the crop grown in Peace River, which is believed destined to be loaded at Prince Rupert. Before the situation clears, it may take all of 20 ships. First ship to load here is due this month but grain will have to be coming to the elevator quicker than it has been so far if there is to be enough on hand to fill a ship.

It will not be until next February or March that there will be any change of consequence in the regular Vancouver-Prince Rupert service of the steamship Prince George. The handsome liner has had a busy summer taking care of the tourist trade north. Every indication, as winter approaches, suggests plenty of business throughout that season. It may not be until March or April that the Prince George will be taken off for general overhaul in preparation for resuming the tourist traffic to Alaska in June. She will then be replaced by the Prince Rupert.

It's not often a vessel has to have two launchings before she is considered actually afloat and in a position to move through blue water. In an English yard recently the 275-foot fore part of the Norwegian motor tanker Rondefjell waited for her after part, 290 feet in length and in another yard. It is here a six-cylinder Doxford engine is being installed. Some time soon, both sections will be joined in a dry dock and properly launched, after which the 23,000-ton tanker will take her place on the high seas—not partly, but wholly, down to the last rivet.

Repairs to the underwater section of Princess Kathleen's hull, damaged in collision with the Prince Rupert last August, were recently completed in Victoria. About three weeks' more work remains to be done on the Princess Kathleen before she resumes service as a coastal liner.

ON KEMANO RUN
Inaugurating a new service call which includes a weekly stop at Kemano Bay, Alcan power access point in Douglas Channel, Union steamer Chilcotin, Capt. James Hunter, arrived in port in good time at 7:30 last evening from the south. Having had considerable freight to discharge here, the Chilcotin sailed at 3 a.m. for north Queen Charlotte Island points and is due back here tomorrow evening south-bound. The vessel had 39 passengers from Vancouver and Kemano—Charles Guy of the Union-Waterhouse traffic department at Vancouver and former well known purser, is making the round trip on the Chilcotin.

Family Comedy Is Uproarious

A teen-ager's misunderstandings about the relations of her attractive mother with a handsome young doctor comprise the theme of a sparkling, witty comedy which comes as the feature to the screen of the Capitol Theatre on Monday and Tuesday. The picture is "How Could You, Mom?" and the stars are Joan Fontaine, John Lund, Mona Freeman and Peter Hanson. The saucy comedy introduces an unforgettable family in the throes of a wild dilemma.

The laughs start rolling when husband Lund and wife Fontaine return home after an absence of several years and set about to re-win the affections of their adolescent daughter Mona and two other children. Mona interprets an innocent caress bestowed by her mother upon the family medico, Hanson, as proof of an indiscreet alliance. To preserve the family ties, she contrives a fabulous scheme with ensuing complications which have New York's upper-crusters on their heels. The confusion is finally ironed out with an uproariously improbable assortment of situations.

$1. (Under the Australian system this $1 increase was related not to the price level but to the capacity of industry to pay. However, the increase has since been subject to changes in the cost of living.)

There is no unemployment in Australia today nor has there been for several years. Consequently the basic and generally lowest paid industries—have been starved of labor while less essential industries have been able to attract workers by paying considerable margins over the basic wage.

These are the factors operating to increase inflation.

The policy of the former Labor governments of John Curtin and J. B. Chifley was to curb inflation by controls, of which the most important were wage pegging, price control, subsidies on basic food items, and control of credit and land sales. Only credit control remains on the books.

The Menzies government has found it desirable to re-impose control of new capital issues and in the budget recently increased taxation rates sharply. Meantime the little man watches the climbing index with fear and puzzlement.
