

ALL SET FOR CEASE-FIRE PARLEY

MIDDLE EASTERN DEFENCE—Commonwealth Defence discussions in London are dealing with the Middle East, which is a weak but vital link in Commonwealth defence. The Middle East is not only important as a source of oil, it is also the cross-roads of East-West air traffic and the gateway to Southern Asia and the Indian Ocean. The strategic value of the Persian Gulf is illustrated on the map above by the network of shipping lines within a black circle. Britain has never been able to station large forces in the Middle East in peace time, but until 1947 her control of the Indian Army gave her a large reserve of force in the area. The defence of the Indian sub-continent still rests in the Middle East and South-East Asia, but partitions have deprived the Commonwealth of a central military command, and the Kashmir dispute has diverted the military resources of India and Pakistan. Russia's last bid to reach the Gulf and acquire the oil for her own use failed in 1946, when she withdrew her armed forces from Azerbaijan. But the Middle East remains a very tempting prize, for of all the directions in which Russia might expand, it is the one where effective military resistance is hardest to organize.

No Freeze In Dispute

Iranian Official Is Held Behind Cordon

TEHRAN (CP)—Prime Minister Mossadegh today rejected the World Court's suggestion for a "freeze" in the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

He made his statement soon after a British embassy spokesman warned that British oil men will quit Iran if she refuses to abide by yesterday's court proposal.

Mossadegh said: "We shall go ahead with nationalization. Iran is not prepared to recognize the jurisdiction of the World Court to make ruling on a matter which is not within its competence."

Armed Iranian police today surrounded the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. office at Khoromsaahr. Michael Keeley, assistant to the company's chief representative, was inside the office. Five hours after the cordon was formed he said: "I intend to stay here unless I am forcibly evicted."

Police refused to allow anyone to enter or leave the plant.

White Sox Badly Beaten—Brooks Stretching Lead

NEW YORK (CP)—New York Yankees bounced back into the American League lead Thursday night by crushing Washington Senators 8 to 2 after Chicago White Sox lost the afternoon game to Detroit 8 to 0.

The combination night and day action left the Yankees half a game in front of Chicago with the onrushing Boston Red Sox. 8 to 3 winners over the Philadelphia Athletics, only two games off the pace.

Cleveland Indians, rained out in a night game at St. Louis, are only 4½ games out of first place in the four-way jam.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Newcombe boosted Brooklyn's National League lead to 7½ games over second place New York Giants by downing the Gothamites 8 to 4. It was Newcombe's 12th victory of the season. Gil Hodges' 27th homer and Andy Pafko's 17th helped chase Larry Jensen to the showers in the sixth inning. New York staged its only threat with four runs in the eighth but the Brooks came back with three.

TRANSFERRED—G. R. S. Blackaby, manager of Bank of Montreal.

Banker to Vancouver

G. R. S. Blackaby, B. of M. Manager, Transferred

Manager of the Prince Rupert branch of the Bank of Montreal for the past eleven years, G. R. S. Blackaby is being transferred in August to Vancouver as manager of the Prior and Main Street branch.

Ernest Paulding, from Osoyoos, will be the new manager here.

Mr. Blackaby has become a well known and popular member of the community here and the departure of himself, his wife and family will be regretted in many circles.

Mr. Blackaby was born in Hertfordshire, England, on August 5, 1891, and received his education at Ware and Hertford grammar schools. After a year or two in commercial life in London he entered the service of the London City and Midland Bank, leaving them in July 1911 to join the Bank of Montreal at London, England. Coming to Canada in September of that year, he served in the Fredericton, N.B., Merritt, Rossland, Vernon, Kelowna, Armstrong, Summerland, Vancouver, Cloverdale, Terrace and Williams Lake branches, coming here from the latter branch in July 1940.

During World War I Mr. Blackaby served overseas with the 2nd Brigade Machine Gun Company, First Division, being wounded at Passchendaele and gassed at Hill 70. He was for three years president of the Central Cariboo branch of the Canadian Legion and president of the Williams Lake and District Board of Trade.

Throughout the eleven years he has lived in Prince Rupert, Mr. Blackaby has taken a very active part in almost every worthwhile public effort, serving on the executive and as President of the local Chamber of Commerce, Industrial Development Committee, Victory Loan drive and as treasurer for the Chinese, Greek and Russian Relief campaigns, as well as for the Home Front, Red Shield appeal, and as chairman of the combined War Services drive. Mr. Blackaby is an active Rotarian and also takes a live interest in church work. His recreational interests include music and literature as well as work with children and young people. These interests he has shared to the full with his fellow citizens of Prince Rupert.

He expressed the hope today that, on leaving Prince Rupert, he could feel that the city had

Bush Pilots Are Striking

PRINCE ALBERT (CP)—Bush pilots, who fly in supplies to Saskatchewan's booming north country, went on strike yesterday. They were still out today.

The pilots walked off the job with other employees of the Saskatchewan Government Airways to protest the dismissal of Pilot Stuart Miller.

The strikers, about 70 in all, are members of Local 1, Canadian Airlines Employees' Union (CCL).

Reinstatement of Pilot Miller is demanded by the strikers.

The reason for his dismissal has not been made public.

C. G. Palmer of Regina, CCL regional director, said the strike was 100 per cent effective.

Picket lines were set up at the air lines' Prince Albert base.

"The pilots flying out of northern points due to take off shortly after dawn today remained at their bases," Mr. Miller said. "This is nothing moving at all."

Church and kindergarten work have also been among her interests.

Kitimat—Pulp Mill Also

VANCOUVER (CP)—A newsprint mill at Kitimat is under consideration.

Aluminum Co. of Canada, which has a $550,000,000 aluminum plant project there, today confirmed a report that a large pulp and paper mill is under consideration.

Alcan officials said a survey will be made in co-operation with the Powell River Co. "with possibilities of Kitimat for a newsprint pulp or paper mill."

MOST BEAUTIFUL LEGS—

Pretty Nanaimo Girl Wins "Double" at Exhibition

COLORFUL CROWNING

Parade from Post Office to Civic Centre this evening will precede the special Exhibition feature of crowning of the Queen of the North and the Junior King and Queen at Civic Centre. Lending further color and harmony to the proceedings will be the presence of a guard of honor from the Job's Daughters' Drill Team and the Prince Rupert City Band.

It certainly pays for a pretty girl to come to Prince Rupert on a holiday. At least, that's how Miss Gilberte Smith of Nanaimo thought last night when she became a beauty winner for the second time in as many days.

Miss Smith won the "beautiful gams" contest at the Prince Rupert Exhibition, besting ten contestants in the novel leg show.

And the prize she won will display her "beautiful gams" to their best advantage for "several years to come," she says. She won 26 pairs of nylon stockings.

Night before last Miss Smith came first in an eight-entry beauty contest, winning a bathing suit and a $100 award.

She has been here only a little more than a week, on holidays from Nanaimo.

Second high honors went to Miss Donna Richards, who received a certificate for 16 pairs of nylons. All other contestants drew one pair of the sheer hose as entry prizes.

Judging the merits of the legs were members of the audience, chosen at random by master of ceremonies T. Norton Youngs.

On the stage in the Civic Centre auditorium, a false curtain was raised several feet from the stage floor. Behind the curtain, invisible to the audience except for their legs, paraded the contestants, coming to a stop before a number on the curtain.

Judges voted for the numbers in three eliminations. Different judges voted each time.

After the final judging, Miss Smith and Miss Richards both appeared before the audience, wearing dresses. Audience did not see the other contestants.

Miss Smith, slightly over five feet tall, considered herself "very lucky" to have taken either prize, but confessed she tried "awfully hard."

"Nylons don't come so easy today," she explained.

How About Sports?

SPORT is an important part of community life, even more so since working hours for the most of people, under the modern way of pleasant living, are shorter and there is more time for leisure.

Well organized sports, in which there is enthusiasm both by participants and spectators, are a form of community expression.

A happy and flourishing and well-regulated community usually has plenty of well-conducted and sportsmanlike athletic activities. They are a reflection of good living conditions.

So it is well that we should look upon our sports from a long range and, might we say, a business-like point of view.

We are inclined to wonder if there is not something too haphazard, lackadaisical and loosely planned about sports in Prince Rupert.

We hear of this or that line of sport languishing, about lack of talent, about little enthusiasm and sometimes about bad sportsmanship.

We are pretty sure for one thing that there is a distinct lack of organization, in our summer outdoor sports particularly, of the younger players. We may have a few good older baseball or football players who are valiantly carrying on but what about the follow-up, what about the developing of our own talent?

Prince Rupert has done a lot of things in recent years to make this a more attractive and a more interesting community for the younger folk but in the actual organization of our sports we think there might be more of a follow-through and build-up from the younger ranks by getting them early and really developing them. Among other things, it would also play a part in promoting stability and permanence of population. It would be a factor, too, in building up a real community spirit and pride.

It would seem that the time has arrived when a greater interest with adequate and competent leadership should be taken in the organization of sport along broad and co-ordinated lines in Prince Rupert. Maybe we have not been paying enough attention to it in the past, adopting, like we have done in some other things, a "let George do it" attitude.

Invite Them Here

IN VIEW of the growing importance of the Prince Rupert area together with its scenic attractions and substantially increased population, it seems natural that a visit here should be included in the itinerary of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Phil when they tour Canada this fall.

Whether or not they come, it would be an obviously courteous gesture, in any case, that an official invitation should be sent from here in the sincere hope, of course, that it would be accepted.

The royal couple would be assured of as warm a reception and welcome here as they would get anywhere in Canada. It would be a culminating event for a year which has already seen and will see many important visitors here.

No doubt, the city authorities from whom the invitation should be extended through the person of the mayor will see that the necessary steps are taken in the proper way.

Iranian Oil

OIL produced in Iran enters into world trade through the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's pipe-lines, its refineries in Iran and other countries, through its huge tanker fleet (the largest in the world) and through its world-wide sales organization. The royalties paid by the company to the Persian government were fixed on the basis of these world-wide operations of the company. In addition, that area of Iran where oil is found and processed has benefited greatly from the housing, education and other social welfare schemes instituted by the company, which cannot be valued in cash.

Britain shows no indication but to respect the desire of the Iranians to take a greater share in the operations of the industry in Iran, and has repeatedly declared herself in favor of negotiations to secure this. Unilateral decisions by Iran are a breach of international good faith and are most likely to result in great harm to the economy of Iran herself, since the profitability of the oil industry depends so much on the world-wide operations of the company.

Reflects and Reminiscences

Dominion Day in Prince Rupert was not without a few bare flagpoles here and there. This is not at all unusual. For some unknown reason, the national colors are not always flown in Canada—even on her natal day. Perhaps Chinese Communists want something or other for their ships.

An Associated Press correspondent, William Oates, charged with espionage, has been sentenced in Prague to ten years. It he behaves with due humility he may have it reduced to five. What the late R. C. Edwards of the Calgary Eye Opener would say about Communists in Prague might have made diverting reading.

Calgary had a good old thunder and lightning crash, as the end of June approached. All the other varieties and degrees of weather had been experienced within the previous two weeks.

The name of Dr. Claude Fortin was mentioned in a recent story in Macdonalds, in which the statement appeared that he frequently travelled back and forth between St. Johns (Nfld) and Halifax and was affected by the turbulent waters of the Bay of Fundy. Curious folks are now writing, inquiring what the good doctor was doing in the Bay. The editor takes it, with some philosophy. He writes: "We got off lightly. Only twelve letters so far."

Prince Rupert has long been thought of as a deep sea fishing centre and, while that's true enough, there is still a great deal left unsaid and unrecognized. No one can deny that immense amounts of halibut and salmon are caught in season and shipped in mass quantities to the great markets. Black cod is also deserving of mention. But how much further than this does Prince Rupert's standing as a sea food hub, really go?

Fish specialization in cooking, a cafe where artistry, flavor and nourishment come as a matter of course, utter cleanliness and good taste would help. There are such places in the world, and they are welcome when the craving for a fish that isn't found everywhere, is felt. As for Prince Rupert, it all comes down to more consumers and population, civic development and gradual education in appreciating the ocean as a source of what is good for us—properly prepared and served in appetizing premises.

Defence Plan To Continue

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson said last night that the United States' three-year defence program "must and will continue whether or not the fighting stops in Korea." It must be backed, he said, with vigorous price control, rollbacks and "stiff" taxes. Wilson notified President Truman and Congress, in his second quarterly report, that the first goal—3,500,000 men under arms—has almost been reached. Munitions deliveries have risen three-fold since the Communist invasion of Korea, he reported, and tank and aircraft production will treble again in the next year.

Luckenbach was also chairman of the American Merchant Marine Conference and president of the Board of Trustees of the Webb Institute of Naval Architecture. (CP PHOTO)

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

DIVORCE SANITY

THANKS TO THE lawyers of B.C., Canada has taken a great step toward getting a sane, decent divorce law.

In its 1951 session, the Law Society of B.C. has voted to bring the Canadian law into line with the modern British divorce law—namely, to add desertion, incurable insanity and cruelty to the permitted single cause for dissolution of marriage; namely, adultery.

THE DIVORCE FARCE HAS long since reached the proportions of a national disgrace. Far from maintaining the integrity of the family or the sanctity of marriage, the present hypocritical divorce law does the very reverse.

It is an open secret that most of the present divorces granted in Canada are on arrangements deliberately framed up by the parties concerned. There may have been adultery in the first place. But the real adultery is rarely the adultery which appears in the court evidence.

HERE IS HOW THE BUSINESS works:

The marriage has, in fact, gone on the rocks. For one reason or another, one or both parties have decided they can't make a go of it. Either one determines to get a divorce, with or without the consent of the other party. Or, more often, the married couple comes to agreement. Then, on advice of those who know their way around, they proceed to arrange things to slide the divorce through the courts.

For a money fee, professionals are quite willing to be "found" in compromising situations by witnesses who also are professionals. They are willing (for a fee) to be named in court as the supposed breaker-uppers of homes.

Of course, everybody knows it is nonsense—and we have even had Chief Justices declaring from the bench that over 90 per cent of the divorces are faked.

A YEAR OR TWO AGO I GOT a call from a detective agency which specializes in such arrangements. They asked me to hear their story. A very decent fellow said:

"For heaven's sake, why don't you write and write and keep on writing about this scandal?"

He was sick and tired of it all. He told me of dozens of cases which he had helped to arrange. The one which topped them all was about an incurably insane husband.

The wife could not get a divorce under our absurd and unclear law, even though her husband was, as it were, dead. They arranged to have him released from the institution, under custody, but in circumstances where he would be considered by law to have committed adultery.

It worked, too—and the lady got her divorce!

NOW CONSIDER AN EVEN worse farce. Quebec won't stand for provincial divorce courts. But hundreds of Quebec people demand divorces every year. Instead of passing one law, which provides for divorce in Quebec as elsewhere in Canada, our national Parliament is compelled to waste a large part of its time hearing evidence and passing HUNDREDS of individual divorce bills each year.

Could there be any greater hypocrisy?

Could there be any more convincing proof of the lack of backbone of our political parties?

PARLIAMENT HAS TWO DIFFERENT ways in which it could deal with the divorce scandal:

One way would be to revise the BNA Act to give the provincial legislatures—not the Dominion Parliament—jurisdiction over marriage and divorce. If we got that, we could really write modern, sane laws, especially in Western Canada.

The second way would be to do what the Law Society of B.C. has urged—that is, to add desertion, etc., to the legal causes for divorce.

Parliament could also employ a commissioner, or name a federal court, to hear the hundreds of cases from Quebec.

Physician on Coast Cruise

On a month's sailing tour of British Columbia's and Alaska's west coast are Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Harrison and with them Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Black and young Donald Black, all of Vancouver.

Dr. Harrison's 48-foot yacht, MV Hulaki, tied up at the Prince Rupert Rowing and Yacht Club Wednesday afternoon. The party sailed for Juneau, Alaska, on Thursday morning.

Dr. Harrison, well-known physician and surgeon, is making his first cruise with the Hulaki since he purchased her two years ago.

Mr. Black, who has held the continent's amateur golfing championship several years, says he has "retired" from the "strenuous competitions," but still loves his golf as a "friendly game" as much as ever.

Included in their itinerary are such sight-seeing places as Taku Glacier, the Territorial Museum in Juneau and historic places of Gold Rush days along the Alaskan coast.

Returning south, Dr. Harrison will take the Hukalai up Douglas Channel and to Kitimat and Kemano Bay. In that neighborhood Mr. Black intends to get in some "real fishing," as he is an ardent sport fisherman.

Reports were received from east and west sick committees, also from Mrs. Rothwell, convener of the spring tea.

Mrs. F. Ellison was appointed convener for the west-end sewing group.

Miller Bay and the Eventide Home will be visited by the committees to be done this month.

It was decided to hold annual "Legion Week" from November 5 to 12 and the fall bazaar November 7.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. Rothwell in charge. Auxiliary members will attend a meeting in the fire hall Friday night for First Aid and ARP work.

SUMMER GARDEN MULCHES SAVE WORK AND MOISTURE

It will pay to experiment with garden mulches. There is nothing new about the idea, but the trend of expert opinion among agricultural experimenters favors the use of mulches to replace cultivation.

Anything which covers garden soil between plants is a mulch. Experiments have been made with nearly everything including concrete walks laid between garden rows.

One of the most practical and satisfactory mulch materials is lawn clippings. Three to six inches may be piled on the soil around tomato plants, and they will keep the ground moist, while allowing rain to enter. Such a mulch lowers instead of raising the temperature. In applying it a layer two inches thick should be worked into the surface of the soil, and additional material piled on later.

A covering of newspapers laid between the rows will keep weeds down. It can be held down by stones, or wire staples. The layer should be several sheets thick, and laid down wet. Rain will find its way into the soil in the spaces around the plants where the mulch does not fit closely. When hot, dry weather prevails the old papers can be removed and a new layer laid down after the ground has been thoroughly soaked.

Mulches of fresh organic material, such as manure, straw, alfalfa, and others, stabilize the granular structure of soils and prevent surface compaction.

Light aluminum foil, such as kitchen use, has proved good for mulching vegetable crops. The bright surface reflects the sun and keeps down the temperature of the soil beneath.

Waste lumber is used by some gardeners, to shade the ground between rows. By laying down boards when planting the garden, and walking on them rather than the soil, the ground is kept loose, and by shifting the boards between rows, weeds can be killed without hurting plants.

Paper Laid Between Garden Rows and Held Down by Wire Staples, Keeps Down Weeds, and Keeps in Water.

Both teams scored in the second and in the third the Radiomen counted four times. Then the Firemen got two to make the count 8-3.

The Radio team increased their lead until it stood at 14-4 when the Firemen came to bat in the bottom of the seventh.

A game last inning rally fell short but had the fans on their feet. McChesney led off with a walk. Bud Hatchford singled, Van Fykstra singled, Jack Sharpe flew out and Tiny Carlson singled to load the bases. Catcher Ken drove out a double to clear the bases. Danny Bill flew out and with two outs Olson, Hartwig and McChesney hit consecutive singles for three more runs.

Leading hitters for Rupert Radio were R. Ford and Monk Sunberg with a double and a single apiece and for the Firemen Bud Hatchford hit two for four with a double while Jack Sharpe, Keen and Danny Bill all hit doubles.

Odd Fish in Junior Derby

Small, Heavy, Long and Ugly Marine Specimens

Small, heavy, long or ugly—that's how entries in the Junior Fish Derby were judged last night in a feature contest at the Prince Rupert Exhibition, while 15 enthusiastic young anglers waited tensely for the decision.

Heaviest fish, a grey cod weighing 10 pounds, was caught by 12-year-old Bobby Mitchell. Bobby also won the prize for the longest fish, the same cod which measured 27 inches.

The biggest bullhead was taken by Billy Watmough, with a salt-water scavenger measuring 15 inches.

The booby prize went to Irvin Rensvold, for the smallest fish measuring only one and seven-sixteenth inches.

A Dolly Varden trout, 17 inches long, won prize as the biggest edible fish. It was entered by Carl Jackson.

The ugliest fish of all was entered by Reggie Crozier. That sea monster was a ratfish, and it was 21 inches long.

Not to be outdone by boys, three girls entered the derby as well, with Gale Gomez taking the heaviest fish prize for young feminine anglers with a rock cod weighing 1 1/4 pounds.

Measuring and weighing the derby entries was Joe Scott, official judge. T. Norton Youngs was master of ceremonies. The judging was held on the outdoor stage.

Vancouver Pro-Ree Continues To Make Hit at Exhibition

The 12-man gymnast team from Vancouver Pro-Ree who vaulted and somersaulted into the hearts of Prince Rupertites at the Exhibition last night again were hailed as one of the "greatest attractions" to have come to the city.

Giving their fifth complete show, the gymnast champions of Canada presented a varied program different again than their previous shows.

Stunts which drew gasps of amazement from the crowds were somersaults over the box, through loops made by extended arms of team mates and over a high tier of performers' bodies, built upwards from the top of the box.

A springboard was used in conjunction with the trampoline act which featured Ken Doolan doing the "one-and-half" somersault and a complete turn onto the floor.

By special request, the gymnasts will present their show tonight at the Coronation Ball and an early show tomorrow night for the benefit of children and adults who have not been able to see the late show.

Nightly prize winner last night was W. S. Stein, 128 Ninth Avenue West.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

You would think Mr. Meek would brighten up a little after he and Miss Brash finally got vulnerable. But he didn't. He looked more miserable than ever. Undoubtedly he was thinking that sets would be more costly now.

This was the fourth deal of a rubber in which the Brash and Meek bidding philosophies had clashed badly.

When Miss Brash doubled the opening spade bid for a take-out, Mr. Meek wished he was dead. To bid his trickless hand at the two range, vulnerable, was almost more than he could stand. And yet to leave in the double of one spade might be worse.

So he called two diamonds in a weak, sad voice. Incidentally, there was nothing unethical about this. Mr. Meek always sounds sad during the bidding. Even when he has a good hand he expects the worst to happen to it.

DANGEROUS RAISE

Miss Brash made a dangerous and unjustified raise to three diamonds, and Mr. Abel climbed all over it with a double.

Mr. Champion opened the king of spades on which Mr. Abel placed the discouraging trey. Mr. Champion then underlined his ace of hearts. Dummy ducked and Mr. Abel won with the

Mr. Champion then led the queen of clubs. Dummy's king was put up and Mr. Abel killed it with the ace. At this point the defenders had won their book.

But they had only started taking tricks. A club was led back to Mr. Champion's Jack. He cashed the ace of spades and followed with a heart which Mr. Abel ruffed. Mr. Meek still had to lose another trump trick for a snappy down four—1100 points.

"Now don't get excited, Meek," kidded one of the kibitzers.

The traveling public is hereby warned that, commencing July 2, 1951, and continuing from time to time throughout the summer, asphalt spraying operations will be carried out on the Northern Trans-Provincial Highway from Prince Rupert to Port Edward in connection with the forthcoming paving program.

It is important that travelers heed carefully all warning signs and flagmen for the benefit of themselves and the work.

The Department cannot in any way be responsible for the removal of asphalt stains which may be caused from driving over the fresh oil nor for accidents which might occur due to the road being freshly oiled.

"Invasion" of Philippines

An exciting true saga of World War II—the "second invasion" of the Philippines—is depicted in "American Guerrilla in the Philippines" being featured tonight and Saturday at the Totem Theatre.

Filmed in technicolor, the actual locale of the picture was on the islands of the Pacific, centering on Luzon, for the actual major battle operation.

For Tyrone Power as the young Army ensign the Pacific battlefields became not only settings for danger but for romance and personal drama as he becomes involved with Micheline Prellie, the wife of a native who is killed in action. Robert Barrat enacts the part of General Douglas MacArthur to whom he has a striking resemblance.

NEW UNIFORM—A newly designed white uniform for men of the Royal Canadian Navy will make its appearance in the fleet next month. Of improved quality and comfort, the new uniforms have a number of innovations, including pockets in the trousers and zippered jumpers. Top photo shows Ldg. Ssa Peter J. Butler of Toronto, left, modelling the new "whites" while Able Seaman G. G. Roberts of Kirkland Lake, Ont., examines them with satisfaction. In the lower photo Ldg. Ssa Butler demonstrates how the zipper front makes the jumper much easier to don and doff, as compared to the old sweater-type garment. Blue serge uniforms of similar design will be issued in the RCN later this year. (National Defence Photo)
