

CEASE FIRE PARLEY SLOW AFFAIR

Agreement on Minor Points Tho' Agenda Is Not Settled Yet

SEOUL (CP) — Allied and Communist envoys agreed today on two points of the cease-fire agenda but dispute over "at least one major point" is blocking part of actual war armistice negotiations.

The United Nations announced this tonight after negotiators had returned after their longest session this week.

Vice-Admiral Turner Joy, head of the United Nations cease-fire team, accepted the Communist wording for two agenda items. The Communists appeared grateful "mixed with a certain element of relief," a spokesman said.

Points agreed upon were not disclosed.

Meanwhile fighting on the fronts is quiet.

BUSINESS BOOMS ON ADVERTISING

It pays to advertise in the Daily News. For proof, hundreds of people, men, women and children stood in line this morning in front of a shoe store which advertised a close-out sale in last night's edition.

And by noon today, the line-up had not receded, but grown, even though customers were being served steadily throughout the morning. At times doors had to be locked.

Britain Feels Dollar Crisis

Old Land Plagued Again With Fiscal Worry

LONDON (CP) — The "dollar" crisis has returned to plant a baleful foot on the British body politic.

For the first time in more than a year sterling area's gold and dollar reserves are going down instead of up.

A third crisis, perhaps as acute as the contravertibility crisis of 1947 or the devaluation crisis of 1949, may be in the making.

Rising import prices are the new villain.

Britain pays 42 percent more than in 1950 for imports as a whole and 72 percent more for imported raw materials while export prices have risen only 17 percent.

Experts say it may be necessary for Great Britain to make another cut in dollar imports.

Soviet Russia Courts Britain

LONDON (CP) — Responsible government officials today viewed new Communist talks of "traditional Russian-British friendship" as a move to wear Great Britain from the North Atlantic Pact and to split the Anglo-American alliance.

This was the opinion expressed concerning Moscow's new English language publication "News" and an article in its first issue.

Observers also viewed the article as a bid for support from the Labor party's left wing minority led by Aneurin Bevan.

Dutch Queen to Visit US-Canada

THE HAGUE (CP) — Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands will make an official visit to Canada and the United States next year, it was announced today. Invitations of the two countries have been accepted. Dates of the visit will be announced later.

Britain Cool About Spain

Split in Views Admitted By Secretary Acheson

LONDON (CP) — A Foreign Office spokesman said today that the British government feels any bilateral agreement between the British government and Spain would weaken the western stand against totalitarianism.

The British government objects not only to admission of Spain to the Atlantic Pact but also to "any close association" between Spain and any of the members of the pact.

Admiral Forest Sherman, U.S. chief of naval operations, is visiting Spain, leading to reports of the possibility of bringing Spain into the pact, but in some quarters it is reported that Sherman is after no bigger game than air and naval bases in Spain.

Railway is Feeling Boom

Big Increase in Business All Along Line, Says Al Berner

C. A. Berner, superintendent of Canadian National Railways here, returned yesterday after a two week official visit at points along the Northern main line as far as McBride, and he says "business everywhere is booming."

Sawmills everywhere are working full capacity and a lot of activity is centered around the Alcan project at Vanderhoof and Burns Lake.

"All this business is straining our service to its utmost," said Mr. Berner today.

Weather conditions had been dry for several weeks, he said, but he thought most fires along the line were under control.

A severe electrical storm was reported in Prince George last night.

Premier Attlee Coming Over

LONDON (CP) — Well-informed sources reported today that Prime Minister Clement Attlee may make another trip to Washington late next month for talks with President Truman and other American leaders.

Mr. Attlee is expected to go over the whole range of British-American relations and world issues with American leaders. Britain's worsening financial position is likely to figure high in any top-level discussions.

It's Merry Flag Race

American League Pennant Pursuit Tighter Than Ever Today

NEW YORK (CP)—The top four American League teams came to grips Tuesday night and, when the smoke of battle had cleared, the lead of the Boston Red Sox in the hot pennant race had been shaved to two percentage points.

Bobby Feller and the fourth-place Cleveland Indians turned back the Red Sox 8 to 5 while the runner-up Chicago White Sox edged the third-place New York Yankees 4 to 3 in 10 innings.

Yanks and Indians now trail Boston by 1½ games.

In other American League action Detroit Tigers defeated Philadelphia Athletics 8 to 5 and Washington Senators and St. Louis Browns split a doubleheader. Senators won the opener 7 to 2 and the Browns the nightcap 2 to 0.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

In the National League the Pittsburgh Pirates edged out the front-running Brooklyn Dodgers 4 to 3 but the Brooks remained eight games ahead.

The runner-up New York Giants bowed to the Chicago Cubs 7 to 4.

Boston Braves blanked St. Louis Cardinals 5 to 0 and Philadelphia Phils split a night doubleheader with Cincinnati Reds, winning the nightcap 10 to 0 after losing the opener 9 to 8.

France Cannot Find Premier

PARIS (CP) — Finance Minister Maurice Petsche today gave up a week-long attempt to form a new French cabinet.

Petsche told President Auriol that he was unable to get France's political leaders to agree on a number of domestic issues.

Auriol must now try to find some one else to try to do the job of forming an administration from out of the complex political polyglot of the nation.

Gordon Root, well known Victoria newspaper correspondent and now public relations officer for Columbia Cellulose Co., arrived in the city yesterday from the south and will spend the next couple of weeks here and at Terrace visiting the company's operations.

Fuel Minister P. J. Noel-Baker in making the announcement said domestic consumption was not only rising at a staggering rate, but serious manpower problems also had developed, if the coal industry is unable to find the necessary quota of recruits in the United Kingdom, miners will be sought from the pool of unemployed in other countries.

The new committee which will operate independently of the recently-created Fuel Economy Board, has under consideration several measures it hopes will prevent recurrence of last winter's drastic restraints on supplies. Dim-out restrictions were then imposed throughout the country and coal rations were cut sharply.

In the latest government economic survey a warning was given that the country's coal budget for the year is already running at a deficit.

The total maximum output in 1951, including emergency imports from the United States, is estimated at 223,200,000 tons, approximately 1,400,000 below requirements.

Miners throughout the land responded wholeheartedly when the government this spring issued an appeal for stepped-up production. The increased requirement over last year was fixed at 6,000,000 tons. More than half this figure has already been attained but other problems have cropped up.

Not only has consumption during the first quarter of 1951 risen by about four per cent, but stocks have not been piling up at the pace expected.

BELOW OBJECTIVE

A stock pile target of 40,000,000 tons has been set for the coal season beginning November 1. But with only five months to go before the deadline, the reserve is still about 7,000,000 tons below the objective. The answer, the experts say, is a sharp rise in output, immediate restrictions on consumption and curtailment of waste. The alternative is heavy additional imports from the United States.

E. H. Browne, director-general of production for the National Coal Board, says that the problem would be met by a speedy, bold and efficient scheme for reorganization of the coal industry.

"For 10 years we have lived from crisis to crisis," he said. "The deep-seated disease in the industry cannot be cured by palliatives. Unless reconstruction forges ahead we are in grave danger of prejudicing the whole economic position and security of the nation within a decade."

Referring to the problems confronting the special investigating committee, Mr. Noel-Baker said annual coal consumption in Britain was running approximately 15,000,000 tons above the 1949 figure. He thought this rate of increase, however, could be more than counterbalanced by effective measures in eliminating waste fuel and power.

He also deplored loss of output as the result of "ill-advised" disputes. Since the beginning of May of this year, more than 200,000 tons had been lost, he said, through disagreements that never should have arisen.

The committee's appointment follows a recent call from the Conservative party's fuel and power committee for drastic reorganization of the coal industry, based on decentralization of control.

Let's Be Different

THIS is the height of the season when transportation lines, shops and other Canadian enterprises benefit by the influx of summer visitors from the United States. A majority of them, we suppose, are lured here by the publicity campaigns sponsored by the Dominion and provincial governments, the railways and other organizations.

This is the time of the year when firms and individuals catering to the tourist trade enjoy the fruits of the plans laid earlier in the year to receive the welcome flow of friendly visitors. Some will do better than others. They are the ones, it seems to us, who have come to realize at last that primarily the American tourist comes to Canada because he has been led to believe that he will find a warm welcome, yes, but also new scenes and something different from at home. Well, does he?

Certainly the advertising and publicity in the United States on Canada, vaunting the country's natural beauty and its limitless opportunities for sports and relaxation, are not exaggerated. Insofar as these efforts go, they do a magnificent job. It's when the tourist actually enters our sovereign Dominion that we begin to wonder if he's going to be struck by any great, or even little, "difference."

Let the stranger in our midst like us or criticize us. But let us make sure he recognizes in us a people with self-respect, folks who treasure their own very particular code—not merely acquaintances who yes-yes him to utter boredom in the insincere acquiescence and the fawning hope of a "fast buck." Let's be ourselves! He'll respect us more.

Highway Policy

INTERIOR newspapers are becoming editorially indignant at the policy of the provincial Department of Public Works in regard to the Northern Trans-Provincial Highway and the road leading up to it at Prince George from the south. The Interior News of Smithers follows up some rather pungent criticism by the Prince George Citizen.

The Interior News, with whom there will be many to agree along this western end of Highway 16, has the following to say:

"The Prince George Citizen comes out editorially in a recent issue condemning the program of road construction and improvements in the Cariboo district especially the section from Quesnel to Vanderhoof—or perhaps we should say lack of program. The Citizen seems to be finding out at this late date what the News has been condemning for many months: that is, the lack of any development of roads throughout the Central Interior.

"The Citizen is beefing because there has been no work done on the Quesnel-Vanderhoof section, which they say is in a deplorable condition, while, on the other hand, the Public Works black topped a stretch of wilderness from Lac la Hache to 100 Mile House.

"Perhaps if a few more of the districts in Central B.C., Quesnel, for one, got up on their hind legs and hollered about the condition of the roads, in unison with all the rest of the interior west to Prince Rupert, then the P.W. Department might hear us.

"The Citizen has been slow about going out on a limb regarding highway conditions, perhaps having fallen under the hypnotic influence of Mr. Carson when he orated about highways in that city last winter or thereabouts. Now they have apparently come awake to the true facts and are wondering, like a lot of others in the Central Interior, whether we are ever going to get some work done on our roads."

An appropriate place to take this whole central highway situation up would be at the forthcoming annual convention of the Associated Boards of Central British Columbia where possibly the minister of public works could be met face to face.

Scripture Passage for Today

Visitor: "What is in that love-ly vase on the mantel?"
Hostess: "Oh, that's for my husband's ashes."
Visitor: "I'm sorry—how long has he been dead?"
Hostess: "He's not dead. He's just too lazy to get an ashtray."

Excited woman in rear of bus: "Operator! Don't start the bus until I can get my clothes off!"
Passengers, startled, looked around only to see a young woman with a bulky bundle which she was taking to a laundry.

No Brains—No Beds

THE B.C. government is publishing large newspaper advertisements to explain the difficulties behind the Hospital Insurance Service.

The idea is good, and on the whole the ads make sense.

But right at the top of one big announcement is one bald statement which is downright silly. It says:

"Lack of money during the depression days brought the construction of needed hospital beds to a standstill."

The truth is that there never was any "lack of money" in the depression.

CANADA could have found the money to build a hundred new hospitals, and a million new homes. We could have done that any time between 1929 and 1939 just as easily as we waged all-out war between 1939 and 1945.

A civilian hospital bed costs no more than an army hospital bed. It is a matter of plain fact that we built dozens of armed forces hospitals when we were plunged into the Second World War. Some of those hospitals we still have—for we need them to care for the maimed and disabled of the second war. But most of the hospitals we simply scrapped—for they were not in the right places for civilian use.

WHAT WE lacked in the dismal and dirty thirties was not money but brains.

We could have declared war on scarcity and poverty right here in Canada, just as in fact we did declare war on Germany in 1914 and 1939. Instead of harnessing the whole manpower and money power of Canada to go out and shoot Germans, Italians, Japanese—or whomever else we were called upon to shoot at at any given time—we could have shot at a thousand such targets as these:

A decent home for every family in Canada. Installation of running water and indoor toilets for every farm home, too. Hospitals for all who need hospital care. Trans-Canada highway, paved coast to coast. Development of water powers, river conservation schemes, central heating plants in all cities.

NOBODY NEEDS to wonder where the money could have come from to do such things. It could have come from exactly the same place as it did come from when we fought the Kaiser in the first war or Hitler and (our new pal) Hirohito in the second.

The idea that only in wartime can Canadians have enough to eat, wear—or beds to sleep in when they are well, or to die in or try to get better in, when they are ill—that idea is not a very smart one to publicize when a lot of people see a third war looming up.

YOU CAN build a lot of hospital beds with what goes into one plane or a tank. You could build a brand new home for one Canadian family at a less cost than it takes to build the bombs and train the crews to knock down one home in foreign, enemy countries.

The point is of the highest importance right now. For many people, in Wall Street and elsewhere, are fearful of what might happen to business if real peace should break out.

We don't need to have a depression, if our rulers, the people, don't want one. We don't even need to change the basis of our economic system, any more than we did in two world wars.

What we really have to beat is the outworn thinking in our own minds.

Unions Should Be Moderate

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man — British trade unions must adopt a common sense approach in their demands for increased wages, J. Matthews, national industrial officer, told the annual conference here of the General and Municipal Workers' Union.

It was important, he said, for labor to realize that if the country went bankrupt, union members would suffer the same fate. It was far better to be assured of a reasonable pay packet every week than to enjoy a large one for a brief spell and then be thrown out of work.

"I hope members of our organization will use common sense in pressing their demands for wage increases," Mr. Matthews said. "We want agreements that will not only benefit our members but also the country as a whole."

J. Williamson, general secretary, said some left wing members of the movement thought democracy meant getting as much as possible for themselves and not caring about anything else.

"They call it militant trade unionism," he added. "I call it damned selfishness, that can only lead to disaster."

Might Produce Sulphur Here

There is said to be some possibility of building at Britannia Beach a plant for reduction of pyrites to obtain sulphur which produce is in extra demand because of pulp and paper making. A statement from the Columbia Cellulose Co. indicates it would use the sulphur, taking it out in the form of sulphur dioxide, with the residue used for pig iron.

Reflects and Reminiscences

A race horse called Citation made a million dollars in California last week. Fancy having a piece of him for dinner.

THAT SURPRISED LOOK!

Most of those aboard the American destroyers had never been north before and frankly confessed to being surprised at the mildness of the climate. They could recall cooler breezes at San Francisco. Same thing every summer. Visitors are invariably surprised at something. What's a fellow given a tongue for and what is safer or easier to talk about than weather?

MEET C. C.

A gentleman named Columbus Christopher has his place of residence at 1492 Main Street in the town of Northumberland in the State of New Hampshire. Now and then there will be a little coincidence happen no one need ever try to explain. This is one.

Life, showing glimpses of General George Custer of the 7th Cavalry, Sitting Bull, Rain-in-the-Face and the lonely Montana plains, says it was "only 75 years ago." Time goes slip along pretty fast. It's little more than 50 since Canada began to figure on building the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

PLAIN THEFTS

Plundering summer cottages across the harbor is despicable yet it's nothing new. Complaints have been heard ever since the Salt Lakes became a favorite neighborhood for week-end outings but this is also true of elsewhere along the shores. The chance of detection is often difficult although there can be circumstances when suspicion cannot well be avoided. And that creates a feeling anything but happy.

A flourishing fountain, winding paths and scenic delights continue to enhance attractions of the Canadian National Railways at Prince Rupert. The city has plenty of persons no longer young and it's just as easy to enjoy sunshine and fresh air sitting down as it is standing up. There are a few rustic seats—that's one or two—and many more disappear. Those placed on the lookout are pitched over the railing.

Motorbikes, Spuds Help World Trip

REGINA (CP)—Potatoes and motorcycles can be very important in life when you want to see the world and haven't much money.

Globe-trotting artists Lorelli and Arthur McKay found that out during the two years they just spent in England, France and Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay, married four years ago in Calgary, have a joint ambition: to see the world and continue their studies in art.

Their shortage of cash didn't deter them when they decided to go to England two years ago.

To cut travelling expenses they bought a motorcycle and rode to Montreal with their bed rolls strapped behind them, then sold the cycle.

In England they took cooks' jobs at a prep school where the regular cook had abandoned his job in a hurry.

Lorelli's artistic fingers peeled hundreds of potatoes and Arthur scraped pots and pans for six months until their finances recovered.

After bicycling over England they went to Paris and enrolled at an art academy.

Lorelli thinks that was the best part of the trip because of the friends they made. "Now we correspond with Parisians, Af-

Swiss," she says.
The 24-year-old couple, who were in the United States for United States officials at Orleans for a while, then went to Switzerland, they bought another motorcycle and toured the country roughly.

They brought the motorcycle back to Canada with them, rode back to Regina on the east coast.

The cycle will be used on future trips.

Swim Classes Start Well

130 Young Enthusiasts Take To Water on Opening Day

Cloudy weather and even a little rain did not dampen the spirits of 130 young swimming enthusiasts yesterday afternoon as Civic Centre swim classes got under way at Gyro pool.

Ranging from ages seven to 15—girls outnumbering boys about two to one—Instructors Ian McHardy and Gloria Sather divided the group into three parts. The first group—those who can't swim—contains some 80 youngsters but they didn't get a chance yesterday. By the time all were sorted out as to groups it was too late for the first class.

The second class—with about 30 students—are those who can swim but need improvement in style, breathing and kicking. Most of them can get across the pool and Mr. McHardy thinks they "will make real good swimmers by the end of the season."

NOT AFRAID
"I am surprised the way these kids take to the water," he said. "They're not afraid and that is the first step in learning to swim."

Miss Sather is in charge of the senior class, in which about 20 have enrolled who will be learning advanced techniques in water sport such as fancy dives. Life-saving will also be included.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Miss Brash practically played this hand with mirrors to make her aggressive four spade contract. Mr. Dale won the first trick with the king of diamonds and continued with the ace of that suit, which Miss Brash ruffed.

The defenders' trumps were picked up in two leads and then Miss Brash went into a huddle. One thing you can say for her—when she goes into a long huddle she is thinking, not worrying.

From Mr. Champion's play of the ten and jack of diamonds on the first two tricks, it appeared that Mr. Dale had started with at least six diamonds to the ace-king. Then almost surely he held neither of the other outstanding kings or else he would have opened the bidding or over-called. This meant that the king of hearts and the king of clubs were in Mr. Champion's hand.

One diamond trick had already been lost and it looked as if there were two losers in clubs and one in hearts. Miss Brash could go to dummy with the ace of clubs and pull a heart back, finessing the queen. But she knew that when she followed with the ace of hearts, Mr. Champion would be alert enough to drop his king in the hope that Mr. Dale could get in for a lead through dummy's club holding.

Finally Miss Brash found the winning play. She led the four of hearts from her hand. Now if the defenders' hearts broke 3-3 she was in. Mr. Dale won with the nine of hearts and fired the ten of clubs. Miss Brash put in dummy's queen. (There was no danger in this play now.) Mr. Champion won and returned a club to dummy's ace. Now Miss Brash led a second heart, finessing the queen when Mr. Champion played low.

Then she laid down the ace of hearts followed by her fourth heart on which the trey of clubs was discarded from the board. She still had to lose one club trick but that made only three losers in all.

Miss Brash's lead of the four of hearts was proclaimed the ducking play of the week.

Penticton and Kamloops Warm

VANCOUVER—Penticton and Kamloops, both with 96 above, were the warmest places in Canada yesterday.

A printer made a slip on an eastern newspaper and the report of a politician's speech carried the information that "all that excitement is now water over the dam."

He, to girl in parked car: "I have something I must tell you. I'm a married man."

She: "Goodness, you frightened me. I thought you were going to say this car didn't belong to you."

Mother: My dear, a nice girl does not hold a young man's hand."

Daughter: "But, mother, a nice girl has to!"

New Look at Sarnia Span

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—The Blue Water International Bridge is being rejuvenated. The job is costing money—$180,000 in fact. Eighteen workmen already have begun painting the 1¼-mile span which links Port Huron, Mich., with Sarnia. One coating alone will take 3000 gallons of paint.

The clean-up job is the responsibility of Michigan State Bridge Commission, which also looks after the operation and maintenance of the 8120-foot structure. However, Canadian workers and firms will share in the contract. Costs will be paid from toll charges.

As soon as $915,000 worth of bonds—the one outstanding debt against the bridge—are retired the structure will become toll-free except possibly for upkeep.

The more traffic, the quicker the bonds will be retired. A total of 4,933,194 cars and 16,581,130 persons crossed the bridge up until the close of the 1950 season.

BATTER UP

"Faint heart never won a war... someone is reported to have said once. Believe it stemmed from U.S. Civil War days but nevertheless it could be applied to the last few attempts to get a baseball game played off between Commercial and Gordon & Anderson."

The way the weather has been acting lately, seems like we can't trust it too much at all. It may rain in the morning and be the best ball-playing weather in the afternoon or evening. Might be a good idea to publicize that all scheduled games will be played unless it rains at starting time. Anyway, tomorrow night, the top-of-the-league team is scheduled to meet the cellar boys in a seven-inning bout as the series goes into the second half of the scheduled games. Meanwhile, Commercial are standing by to catch up with two games.

It need possibly not be said here that practice is an essential item for baseball. Our league knows that but teams have been discouraged because on evenings when there is no scheduled baseball game, football is played.

But why not have a look around a forgotten piece of park they call Algoma, near McBride street? With all the noise about parks at this time, it might be fruitful for the Baseball Association to see what can be done to make Algoma a practice ground.

The grounds need improving, but there is enough area there for a good sized ball park and it is sheltered on all sides from cold winds. That could be the future ball park in Prince Rupert. The parks board, we believe, has a sympathetic leaning towards Algoma.

Softball people tell us an All-Star Prince Rupert team will play off in the northern finals this fall and application also has been made to enter the B.C. finals in the south.

Return of the application now is awaited and, if granted, Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd. has indicated they will support an All-Star Prince Rupert team in the southern championship play-offs.

Softball tonight will see Columbia Cellulose and Rupert Radio jockey for top position in the league and it should be interesting.

For both, softball and baseball fans, batting averages soon will be published of the 20 top players in each league.

Also in the wind is another series of baseball with Ketchikan. We hope to have something definite in a few days.

The grounds supposedly being taken for a special baseball game which did not materialize, the league football game, scheduled for Monday night between Canadian Legion and General Motors, was postponed, being set back to the end of the schedule. Tonight, Canadian Legion, still contenders for the North Star trophy and league championship, will meet the pace-setting Heavy Battery.

"G.C.A.
talks them in"

Cloudbank half a mile thick hides aerodrome from pilot... aircraft at 3,000 feet... cloud base 250 feet... a landing to be made.

"Request GCA - Over" (Pilot to Tower)
"Air Force 514 - This is GCA" (GCA to Pilot)

Beneath the concealing cloud, a Ground Control Approach (G.C.A.) Traffic Controller in his mobile truck, watches a spot of light moving across a radar screen. The spot of light is the aircraft in the cloud. By radio contact, Ground Control Approach tells the listening pilot where he is and what to do. Safely and surely, GCA 'talks' the pilot down.

"...you are four miles from touchdown... approaching the glide path... begin your descent at 500 feet per minute... take over: visually... 300 yards from touchdown"

The magic of radio and radar—without which the Royal Canadian Air Force could not operate effectively—safeguards the men who fly. It's the responsibility of R.C.A.F. Technicians to maintain this important equipment at peak efficiency.

Lakelse Scene Of Local Camp

This summer the Regular Baptist Church of Prince Rupert will conduct two children's camps at the Kinsmen's Kiddy Camp on Lakelse.

The camp is rapidly being made ready for use at the beginning of August. Repairs and additions to the existing buildings are being carried out by a group of Prince Rupert Kinsmen headed by Harry Shear-don.

Young people between the ages of 12 and 18 will camp from August 2 to 10, followed by children of eight to 11 years of age from August 13 to 21. Already there are about a dozen entries.

Bus transportation is being provided so that young campers can enjoy a daylight trip.

Terrace Bible Camp Opening

TERRACE—These have been warm days at "Few Acres" and many of the neighboring children are visitors to Bible Camp enroute to the swimming pool.

It will not be long now until the woods and the camp grounds will be ringing with the laughter of happy girls who will be arriving for Bible Camp on July 24.

Registrations are coming in well, and everything promises a good time.

Boys of Prince Rupert are being asked to make the acquaintance of their leaders before camp. Rev. Fred Antrobus of the First Baptist Church, and Pastor Charles Sinclair of the Evangelical Free Church are the leaders.

Young Woman Breaks Back

Having sustained a broken back in an automobile accident at Terrace Sunday, Miss Eayta Bialiski, a secretary for the Columbia Cellulose Co. there, was brought to the city from the interior on last night's train for treatment in the Prince Rupert General Hospital. Accompanying her here in the capacity of nurse was Mrs. Maurice Brydges who went to Terrace to meet her.

The accident occurred when the car in which Miss Bialiski and companions were riding struck a soft spot in the road and went over an embankment on the Kalm Hill. The others escaped uninjured although the car was badly damaged.

Miss Bialiski's home is in Vancouver.

Terrace to Have Dairy

Taking Up Cudgels on Behalf of Wheat Elevator

TERRACE—Reporting for the Agriculture committee of the Board of Trade, Harry King, chairman of that committee, told of the visit of Mr. Johnson of the Alaska University to this district, stating that the visit had been made because of his definite interest in the agricultural possibilities, growth, etc., and particularly the marketing outlets of this district, as they too, have problems similar to those here. In the course of his visit they made a tour of the Illustration Station at VanStolk's farm.

Mr. King also reported that there is a certain amount of agriculture under way on the Keith Estate and, most interesting of all, a dairy is to be started there in the not too distant future.

Mr. W. Robinson, chairman of the Highways committee, stated that there had been a marked upsurge in road work here during the past month. Lakelse Avenue is being readied for blacktopping and work is progressing on the Spring Creek bridge. He had had occasion to travel to Prince Rupert last month and had found that, on an average, the highway was on a higher standard for comfortable travel by car than at any time last year.

Herb Spencer stated that the hairpin turns at the Nash Y. are being filled in and it is not going to be long before travellers can drive straight on.

RESOLUTIONS

There were several good reports from other committee chairmen and Duncan Kerr presented the resolutions which will be sent to the Associated Boards of Trade meeting in September. There were six resolutions:

1. Concerning hospital insurance, "—suggesting an alternative method of collecting. It is that every family in B.C. be required to pay a small registration fee (say $5) or such rate to be determined) and that the government increase the present 3% sales tax by 1% or by a sufficient amount which, together with the registration fee would cover operation of hospital insurance.

2. Radio beam station for the Terrace airport be installed. (The radio beam station was removed some five years ago.)

3. In view of the rapid development between Jasper and Prince Rupert... the Canadian

OIL MAKES A COUNTRY STRONG

'OIL NEEDS A LOT OF THINGS, JIMMY!'

"Tankers, Jimmy, are just one of the things the oil business needs. It needs supplies for pipe lines and new refineries. It needs tank cars and trucks and storage tanks. It needs workers and material from all parts of Canada."

Bringing you oil is a big job. It employs labor and skills and ideas across the nation. In the past five years Imperial Oil alone has undertaken to invest more than $200 millions—about $60 for every family in Canada. Much of this money has been spent to find and develop new oil fields in the prairies, fields which mean new prosperity and new security for all Canada. But almost half of it has been invested in new tankers and pipe lines, in new refining units and in facilities to bring the products to you.

With oil playing an increasingly important part in our daily lives, the oil industry's job is bringing new strength and better living for Canadians everywhere.

About Canada's Oil

Canadians are using almost twice as much oil as they did only five years ago.

Last year Imperial bought equipment and supplies from more than 6,000 Canadian firms.

Imperial's investment in plant and equipment is equivalent to more than $23,000 for each employee.

The wholesale prices of Esso gasolines have increased only a third as much as the average price of all commodities over the past 10 years.
