Manpower Shortage As Province Booms

Immigration May Be Solution—Central B.C. Taking Them On

VANCOUVER (CP)—Booming British Columbia, on the threshold of a vast expansion program, is looking for men to relieve its industrial growing pains. Industry is eyeing the labor markets of both Eastern Canada and other lands for skilled and semi-skilled workers.

That was the report this week from William McKinstry, regional director of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Some of the most acute shortages are in the pulp and paper industry, he said. One large B.C. mill now has a representative of the United Kingdom trying to recruit men. Other firms are seeking workers in prairie provinces.

The mining industry is maintaining a steady pace. Vancouver Island mines, which recently resumed selling coal to other countries, have been hiring more men. In B.C.'s interior, the Bulkley Valley colonies at Telkwa are working to capacity.

Shortages of miners in the aluminum base metal and gold fields have existed for several months, and clearance orders have been issued for 80 miners from the coast.

McKinstry said logging camps and mills—the backbone of B.C.'s economy—are having difficulty keeping full crews, while the construction industry is using more men.

Those machine shops and industries not restricted by steel shortages need workers and demand for machinists and lathe men is far in excess of present supply.

Shipyard employment has been increasing gradually and another labor shortage is expected to develop there as the yard expands its building program.

McKinstry said "preliminary discussions already have been held with representatives of the major yard to explore the possibilities of immigration."

OTTAWA (CP)—Reporting on the area-provoked expansion of this program, Defence Minister Brooke Claxton reiterated his statement that "the end of aggression in Korea, if and when it takes place, must not lead us through a false sense of security to relax our efforts."

"Success in Korea," said the minister, "far from diminishing the need for strength, has shown that we must never again disarm the face of a potential aggressor who remains fully armed."

That is why we must continue this combined effort to deter aggression by building up and keeping up our strength."

Mr. Claxton, reporting on Canada's effort in Korea, said three destroyers there have steamed since so far as they did during the war period in the Second World War. Canada's units of three services had acquitted themselves gallantly. Her expenditure of effort and money had been "tremendous."

Franco Tightening Relations With West—King to be Named

MADRID (AP)—General Francisco Franco appointed a new government tonight to tighten relations with the west and put a new king on Spain's throne. The new government is overwhelmingly monarchist in composition and a completely reliable source said that the dictator had told the new ministers: "This government will carry out the restoration of the monarchy."

Franco is also said to have advised them of his intention of tightening Spain's relations with the western democracies, especially the United States.

Resurrected—Died Again

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP)—Two Port Colborne doctors brought a five-year-old boy back to life Wednesday after he had been apparently dead for four minutes.

The boy, Ronald Leoine, collapsed under an anaesthetic which was administered in preparation for a tonsillectomy.

"He was dead," said Dr. Ewen Mackenzie Jr. "There wasn't a heart beat for four minutes."

A three-inch incision was made in the wall of the boy's chest. Dr. Mackenzie put his hand in, pulled back a rib and reached his heart which he massaged for twelve seconds until it began to beat again.

Many hours later the boy, however, died after his heart stopped again. He failed to regain consciousness.

Love Bandit is Arrested

PRINCESS IS STREAMLINE

LONDON (AP)—Princess Elizabeth's new streamlined look was explained by court circles today—she has been on a rigid diet since May.

The Princess began putting on weight after the birth of her second child, Princess Anne, last August 15th.

By January her appearance was not far short of what, in a commoner, might have been called "pleasingly plump." There are rumors that a joking about that time by her husband, Prince Philip, decided her to do something about it. Her reported goal was to lose 20 pounds.

Since then she has frequently been heard turning down the richer foods at official dinners with, "No thanks, I'm on a diet."

Buckingham Palace declined to say how much weight the princess has lost or what diet she has followed.

The Princess and Philip are to tour Canada for three weeks in September.

Rain Washes Out Edmonton Racing

EDMONTON (CP)—Remainder of a scheduled seven-race card was cancelled after the first race here yesterday when jockeys refused to continue riding on Edmonton's Exhibition track which was turned into a sea of mud by early morning torrential rains.

Two horses fell and another stumbled in the first race, unseating their riders. No one was injured.

Track officials declared the track unsafe after jockeys protested at further riding.

Coast Liner All But Out of Sight at Low Tide of Year

As Capt. E. B. Caldwell brought his Canadian National Railways cruise ship alongside the dock here shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, he observed that it was the lowest tide he had ever seen at Prince Rupert in the many years he has been running in here.

The big ship seemed insignificant as her massive bulk lay below the dock level.

The plank had been put out from the boat deck level which is just below the bridge.

The official tide book confirmed that it was an extremely low tide—the lowest of the year, in fact—0.2 feet at 8:50 (daylight) time, about twenty minutes after the George docked.

Deadlock is Continuing Over Troop Withdrawal

MUNSAN, Korea (CP)—The cease-fire talks to end the Korean war reached a crisis today at Kaesong over the issue of withdrawal of "foreign" troops from Korea. The Communists are demanding this but the United Nations contend it is a political question not within the purview of the conference.

An Allied spokesman said today that the talks would end if the Communist attitude was not changed.

An official communique said tonight that "no progress" was made at the seventh session of the cease-fire talks today.

The statement indicated that the United Nations and Communist delegations were still deadlocked, presumably over the question of the withdrawal of the foreign troops from Korea.

The statement said that both United Nations and Communist delegations held to their original views "on the question under debate."

An announcement said that Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, head of the United Nations delegation, reiterated the UN stand that only matters of military nature would be discussed.

After a 30-minute recess, the negotiators went back into session and remained in conference through the noon hour.

Joy was smiling when the delegates adjourned for the day in contrast with his brusque attitude at the end of Wednesday's meetings.

General Matthew Ridgway, chief of the United Nations forces, was in Tokyo today from Kaesong.

Proceeding With Apt.

Alterations to the former U.S. Army administration building on First Avenue to provide 52 apartments are proceeding. Bert Blair is in charge of construction for the owner, Northern Properties Limited.

Management and operation on completion will be handled by the agent for the owner, Boulbee, Sweet & Company Ltd.

Substrate is being carried out by Ernie Sinclair, painting, Prince Rupert Plumbing and Heating, and roofing, T. Woodward Roofing and Sheet Metal Company of Vancouver.

The two-storey frame building measuring 130 by 250 feet has four wings each 50 by 75 feet. The units will vary from bachelor suites to two-bedroom apartments. Suites will be rented as soon as each wing is completed and it is hoped the first occupants will move in around September 1.

Architect for the project, to cost approximately $100,000, is Samuel Collins, Vancouver.

B.C. Packers Is Expanding

VANCOUVER (CP)—In annual report of the British Columbia Packers, President J. M. Buchanan noted that the company had made two moves to establish interest on the east coast.

The firm entered Nova Scotia fishing operations and a small storage plant had begun in New York City.

Consolidated net income of the company was $1,894,000 after depreciation of $990,000, debt interest of $69,000 and income taxes of $1,989,000.

Our Museum Handicapped

HERE in Prince Rupert is located a museum holding one of the finest and rarest collections of Indian lore on the continent. A lot of work has gone into collecting the items over many years and in the displays—such as the archeological midden which many visitors claim is the best they have seen anywhere.

It is a shame that such an attraction and valuable asset to a city should be run on a shoestring, as it is. Perhaps little can be done at present about the building but a fire-proof structure which could be insured would harbor a lot of prized private collections if owners could be assured of their safety.

A new building may come in the future if people of Prince Rupert are interested enough in their museum. But there is no need for the present building to be buried in two feet of grass and weeds. The approach to this tourist centre looks more like a forsaken ruin than what it's supposed to be.

But all that could be changed by a little support from Prince Rupert citizens. A drive for membership is now under way and for the nominal charge which is being asked most everyone but the starving can chip in. This is not the time to be cheap.

Even as the museum now stands, it is attracting a lot of visitors—tourists off passing ships and those who are motoring through—but many turn away at the approaches with the likely impression that walking the rest of the way "simply isn't worth it."

Outside appearances may not be everything, but certainly counts a lot. That's showmanship, and it has worked many wonders, especially when it can be backed up with something worthwhile.

New 'Industrial Empire'

AMERICANS seem to fancy the look of the expression "Industrial Empire" when they see it in type. The weekly U.S. News and World Report, published in Washington, prints it twice in the same story, which is all about the B.C. boom.

"Long neglected," it proclaims in a featured two columns, "British Columbia's boom is growing out of an unusual set of advantages. Friendly climate. Can work the year round. Beckoning to more and more enterprises. A land of plenty. Resources so large that their full extent is not known. British Columbia and Alberta are twice as large as Texas. With her Norway-like coastline, has dozens of deep inlets where good harbors can be built. Almost unheralded, a big Industrial Empire is developing as a next-door neighbor to the United States."

Can it be that the people born and dwelling in British Columbia have always been too close to the scene for a true, an actual perspective? It could be—this taking for granted such colossal resources and power. But from what is now going on and which will directly or indirectly affect practically everyone's future, we are beginning to visualize what a profound difference is coming this way.

Recognizing Fisheries

GOVERNMENT and industry, through publicity and public relations, should expand their efforts to acquaint the public at large not only of the fishing industry's place in the Canadian economy, but also of the richly human personal story of the fisherman who hazards his life and gambles with his economic security that the whole country can share in the benefits which the trade brings us through the markets of the world.

The story must be told with increasing emphasis of the part played by the individual fisherman as well as by the industry. The fish processors operate efficiently and, unlike many other industries, without benefit of direct subsidization from the public purse which is the government.

The fisherman battling the elements and gambling against unseen hazards, personal and economic, should have the respect and admiration of the whole country. His success means more money in the economic stream.—Richmond-Marpole Times.

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

Those British Rations

HERE ARE two letters from women readers which throw light on two different sides of a big story.

One is from a lady who is sorry that I wrote the British are only short of fresh meat. She thinks my article will tend to stop the flow of parcels.

Another is from a lady who lived for years in Britain, but is now back in Canada. She is outraged because Canadian shops are full of canned meat from Britain.

"Fancy Britain sending us canned meat, selling here 39 cents for 1 1/2 ounces net. Insane! Are they all D.F.'s, or do we have them all on this continent?"

DON'T ASK me to explain why a British socialist (ye Gods!) government carries on long negotiations with Argentina to get more beef—then cans that beef and ships it to Canada!

I can't explain it any more than I can explain what they did in the Second World War—shipped out whole cargoes of British fancy biscuits, which we were buying and shipping back to friends. It hardly seemed to me the best way to deal with the submarine menace, which threatened to starve Britain.

I THINK I had better stick to the British rations. Here are the official figures. All other foods are ration-free—but there, as here, there are scarcities in some lines.

- Per person per week:
- Bacon—4 ounces.
  - Cheese—3 ounces.
  - Butter—4 ounces.
  - Margarine—4 ounces.
  - Cooking fat—2 ounces.
  - Meat—12 cents worth. (Subsidized prices)
  - Eggs—5.
  - Sugar—10 ounces.
  - Tea—2 ounces.
  - Candy—20 oz. per month.

WHEN I WROTE that the British were short of two main items—fresh beef and pork—I assumed that everybody here knows the general picture there.

We all know that Britain is engaged in a grim struggle to make ends meet. We also know that, as compared with Europe, we in North America are disgraceful wasters—that much of the old world could live on what we waste.

But if you analyze the above figures carefully you can see that, except for meat and sugar, the British are eating just about as well as people are eating here—for the obvious reason that more and more of our people can't afford to buy foods to feed themselves as they did formerly. British pensioners are better off than our old people are.

THE HARDEST hit person in Britain is the housewife in a family where nobody eats in restaurants, and where nobody gets fed in big factory canteens. The British rich, as everywhere, get by very nicely, as no restaurant or hotel meals are rationed. Also, every big factory feeds its workers hot noonday meals—and these also are ration-free. That is, the housewife who has "DEVOTED SERVICE"—For 42 years, Mrs. Amy Foot, 93, of Parry Sound, Ont., has taken weather observations three times a day for the Dominion Meteorological Bureau. For making 38,000 reports without missing one, she has been awarded the Imperial Service Medal. Andrew Thomson, controller of meteorology for Canada, is shown making the presentation. The medal usually is awarded for faithful service by railwaymen or lighthouse-keepers, but was given to Mrs. Foot for "devoted service." (CP PHOTO) to make up her menfolks' lunches gets no more food per week than does the mother who has menfolk getting big factory meals.

I THINK that the shortage the British feel most of all is that of tea and sugar. This isn't a question so much of physical effect. I have always held that nobody could ever beat the British in a war, unless something had first cut off their tea supply—for all the rum issues ever consumed never had one-millionth the effect on British morale that tea has.

It's no use to say that if they can't get tea let them drink coffee—which is unrationed and sells for much less than here. They want tea.

So I would say—yes, keep on with those parcels. Even if you have to send back the meat, canned in Britain and shipped here to earn dollars—they need it. Don't forget the sugar which they need to preserve fruits or make those cookies.

Reflects and Reminiscences

WHAT OF TOMORROW?

Until there came repeated disappointments it used to be said of Prince Rupert that here was the last "next year town" in the north. Optimism took a lot of killing. But when faces became longer than half past twelve and plenty could not travel further away than the city limits, cultivation of joy, real or assumed, took effort. But today, unless there is a feeling that that has no business being there, no peril exists in doing a bit of forecasting.

IT'S HERE

In fact, one could go a long way and still be within the scope of strong likelihood, if not certainty. For one thing, millions have been spent at Prince Rupert's doorway. It provides what has always been wanted—a permanent payroll. About this, there's no hope, or hazard or prayer. It's here and on the job. Indirectly, and because of this other enterprises are already active.

Economy means keeping away from the neighbors, instead of keeping up with them. —Gulph Mercury.

Say five years! Is it too much to believe that in 1956, the immensity of aluminum manufacturing will not be both seen and felt on major scales. Consider this. Millions have already been laid out on what might almost be called preliminary examinations. Prince Rupert's "next year" is here. There is being translated into action a program of development destined to surpass in magnitude anything attempted to date in British Columbia. Construction is only beginning. But a few weeks back there appeared in print, an impressive list of contracts.

Tourists Are More Thrifty

OTTAWA—Tourists in Canada, this season, are not so free with their pennies. That is, they are less liberal than in other years. This is stated by Colonel G. H. Ellis, assistant director of the government tourist bureau. His reports are from all parts of Canada.

The tourists appear to be more intent on moving from point to point as economically as possible. The trend is said to reflect high living costs in the United States. There will be, however, a fair prospect of more activity between now and September. Ontario and Quebec should, in these months, handle perhaps three-fourths of all the tourists. Weather to a large extent will be the deciding factor. One feature of business this year has been the fact of fewer complaints of tourist accommodation. The general average has been quite equal to what prevails across the line.

Alcan Chief to Get Acquainted

R. E. Powell, president of Aluminum Co. of Canada, due here from Terrace July 29 en route to Kitimat, is merely making an informal familiarization tour to get a first-hand view of the huge power development and manufacturing project which Alcan has commenced in the area. Mr. Powell has expressed a desire that publicity be kept to a minimum on this occasion.

Stops will be made at such points as Vanderhoof, Burns Lake and Terrace and, following arrival here, Mr. Powell and his party will embark on a special yacht for Kitimat and Kemano Bay.

The Alcan chief will be accompanied by his wife and party of friends.

Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests, will meet Mr. Powell and party at Terrace and is expected to accompany them into Prince Rupert.

Spooling, Speeding Banned in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Speed maniacs and amorous citizens stay away from Ville St. Michel.

The reason: Mayor Charles Lafontaine and Recorder Didier Leroux will not tolerate that the town's vacant lots be used for "necking" purposes and its streets as racetracks for foolish drivers.

Outsiders, 112 of them, paid out $1100 in less than an hour's session of the court recently.

Said Recorder Leroux: "The war is on in Ville St. Michel against Montrealers who look down on this residential suburb as Montreal's backyard and want to do their necking there."

Said Mayor Lafontaine: "Ville St. Michele has long been considered as a town of no importance where everything was allowed. This is no longer true. We like Montrealers and will welcome them as long as they are respectable. Otherwise they go."

This campaign is the Mayor Lafontaine has initiated recently. Some time ago he conducted a raid on a gambling establishment in the district.

A tramp, snoozing behind a bunker on a golf course, was aroused briskly when the club secretary rapped his foot with a club.

The tramp sat up and demanded: "Who are you?"

"I'm the secretary of this club," said that official, in an impressive voice.

"Well, that's no way to get new members," retorted the tramp.

California Is Too Hot

No Time Now to Visit There, Says Ben Sampson—Interest in North

This is no time to try holidaying in Southern California, says Ben Sampson, who returned Wednesday from Burbank. To anyone from Northern British Columbia and unaccustomed to such a change, it amounts to practically a hardship.

It all comes down to the heat. The weather is just about unbearable. However, there is another way to look at it. Those who call Southern California home feel comfortable enough for they have become used to the climate.

"Next time I go," remarked Mr. Sampson, "it will be in winter. That's quite safe for any northerner."

The average for living costs is higher than what it is in British Columbia.

People, learning anyone is from skeena, are quick to inquire about the aluminum and cellulose developments. The publicity it is building up has never been equalled before.

He came across a copy of the Christian Science Monitor, marked Mr. Sampson "and featured in good sized square space a story about Prince Rupert, and the opening of the twenty-seven million dollar cellulose plant."

When Californians decide on having a ghost town, it is clear they mean just that. There is one, about fifty miles from Burbank. This was visited and found of unique interest. The place was left undisturbed, year after year. There was little, if any change, as time wore along for generations.

HALF-GROWN VEGETABLES
EXCEL IN TABLE QUALITY

Everybody Likes Carrots When They Are Slender, Young and Tender

An important part of the home garden yield is in immature vegetables, which a market grower could not use, but which are the most delicious the home gardener serves.

In the case of root crops, these immature vegetables will be the thinnings and with beets and carrots especially, if the seed has been sown thinly to begin with, thinning can be delayed until the plants are large enough to begin using.

When best roots begin to thicken and carrots are as large as a finger, pull up and serve the excess plants, cooking the beets with their nutritious tops. In soil which grows good carrots, the plants may be left to mature spaced close enough to touch. Beets need more room as they grow larger, but thinning can be gradual.

Crops of which the fruit, seed, or seed pods are eaten, should be thinned more drastically early, to speed up growth, and hasten the harvest. As soon as the hazards of youth are behind them all surplus plants should be discarded. This is your opportunity to select the sturdiest specimens and to insure their chances of a bountiful yield, by removing all weaklings, and giving each selected plant its proper space.

Gardening in the main, is not a precision operation. No one can state exactly how far apart the plants of each vegetable should stand apart in your garden, to give the best yield.

Experience is the best teacher, and the experience of others an excellent guide, if you lack it. In small, fertile, home gardens, cultivated by hand, plants should be grown as close together as possible so long as this does not interfere with full development.

Timely RECIPES

Salmon Salad Loaf Recipe

- 1/2 lb. can salmon
  - 4 tbs. vinegar
  - 1 tsp salt
  - Paprika, a pinch
  - 2 tbs. gelatine
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 2 hard-cooked eggs
  - 9 large olives
  - 1 sweet pickle
  - 2 tbs. chili sauce
  - Salad Dressing
  - Lettuce leaves
- Strain salmon, add vinegar, salt, dash of paprika, and rub smooth with a wooden spoon. Put through grinder the hard-cooked eggs, olives, sweet pickle, half of salad dressing, chili sauce. Soak plain gelatine in 1/4 cup milk for 10 minutes. Heat the other 1/4 cup milk to boiling point, add gelatine and stir until dissolved. Stir this into salad dressing and combine with the salmon mixture. Put into individual molds wet in cold water. Arrange on lettuce leaves; garnish with pickles and top with salad dressing. Dress up your salad plate with heaps of sliced tomatoes, lemon wedges, chilled asparagus tips, carrot curls and celery stalks. Serves 6.

Fight For Right to Move Oil

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA — One of the greatest gold rushes in Canada's history—the race to tap Alberta's fabulous oil-gas wealth to the full—is on in full swing.

Hundreds of millions of dollars of potential profits are at stake as almost a dozen companies compete for the rights to pipe Alberta's fuel resources to the lucrative markets of central Canada, the west coast and the United States.

With these glittering riches in prospect, the companies are ready to lay out investments ranging individually up to $250,000,000 to set up facilities stretching from the oil-gas fields to the far-hungry markets outside the northwestern province.

Main prizes are the right to transmit:

1. Gas and oil to the northwestern United States.

2. Gas and oil to Canada's Pacific Coast.

3. Gas to central Canada—as far east as Montreal under present plans.

Up to now, only one major pipeline is in operation beyond the Alberta boundary, carrying oil across the Canadian prairies and down into Superior, Wis. From there, it is taken by tanker to a refinery at Sarnia, Ont.

Elsewhere the field is wide open and 10 companies—many of them backed by large U.S. financial interests—are after franchises to operate in one direction or another. An 11th group is trying to get incorporated.

None so far has got beyond the preliminary stage of applications before the Federal Board of Transport Commissioners, which has the final say in granting permission to operate pipelines and laying down the routes.

A delaying factor is a current ban by the Alberta government on the shipment of natural gas outside the province until known reserves are larger. This decision is due to be reviewed in September, and so the transport board has set down Sept. 25 for the start of hearings on four gas line applications now before it.

It also has designated Sept. 24 for new hearings on four oil applications.

All four of the oil-pipeline companies want to carry the black gold westward, some directly to Vancouver and some hitting the northwestern United States market on the way to the Canadian west coast.

Three of the gas applications before the board also are pointed towards the west coast. The fourth company aims eastward as far as Winnipeg.

But the most ambitious venture is not yet before the board. Incorporated only at the recently-concluded session of Parliament, Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Ltd., aims to set up a $250,000,000 gas-pipe network stretching from Alberta to Montreal and possibly later to Quebec.

The company would have 900 miles of line gathering gas within Alberta and a 2,200-mile trunk line to Montreal, touching at such cities as Sudbury and Toronto. It is backed by the big Delhi Oil interests of the U.S.

The other eastbound gas service is proposed by Western Pipe

Lines, Ltd., which wants to run from the Gleichen, Alta., area to Winnipeg, hitting Swift Current, Sask., Moose Jaw, Regina, Portage la Prairie, Man., and some other points.

On the westbound front, two of the competitors want to carry both oil and gas to the west coast. They are Westcoast Transmission Company and Alberta Natural Gas Company.

Westcoast Transmission would follow northerly routes through the Rockies, landing gas and oil at a number of British Columbia communities on the way to Vancouver and exporting surplus to the U.S.

Alberta Natural Gas Company offers alternative all-Canadian and partly U.S. routes on the way to Vancouver for gas. For oil, it would ship by way of the northwestern U.S. presumably serving American cities on the way to Vancouver.

The other westbound oil lines are sought by Trans-Mountain Oil Pipe Line Company, whose line would start at Edmonton and end at Vancouver, and Independent Pipe Line Company, going from Edmonton to Port Moody near Vancouver.

Besides the two companies handling both oil and gas to the west coast, two firms want to deal in gas only. They are Prairie Transmission Lines, Ltd., whose application is before the transport board, and Champion Pipe Line Corporation, incorporated at the last parliamentary session.

Champion proposes an all-Canadian line through the southern Crow's Nest Pass in the Rockies to Vancouver, and from there to the U.S. It also has indicated that later it may seek an eastern route taking in Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal.

Prairie Transmission Lines wants to serve a number of southeastern B.C. centres and dip into the U.S. before reaching Vancouver. It would run a pipe under the Strait of Juan de Fuca to serve Victoria and Sidney on Vancouver Island.

Another organization in the running, but still on the fringe, is Border Pipeline Corporation, which wants to carry oil from Alberta down to Spokane, Wash., and Seattle, before reaching Vancouver. Its incorporation was blocked at the last session of parliament through a filibuster by western members of parliament determined that an all-Canadian route should be followed.

Still another company got quick incorporation at the session and permission from the board to operate. That is the Canadian-Montana Pipe Line Company, which is to carry gas from southeastern Alberta to a defence plant in Butte, Montana. The Alberta government has suspended its gas-export ban to permit this operation, at the request of U.S. defence authorities.

Would Change Parks Policy

Board Wants Mill a Year Fund Released From Roosevelt Park Limitation

Prince Rupert citizens will be approached by the parks board at their first opportunity with a plebiscite calling for a change in the Roosevelt Park fund policy.

Some $14,000 has been collected through a tax levy of one mill for the beautification of Roosevelt Park. Parks board commissioners wish to see it turned into general park funds.

"That money could be used very well if distributed among all the parks. Now we can't touch it unless we build another monument or plant flowers on Acropolis," Pat Forman, commissioner, said at a brief board meeting last night.

"People want to see what they are paying for and right now it is time to do something about parks."

Some $1500 remained of the $5000 estimated expenditure this year, the board found. Expenses included wages of two caretakers and installation of caretakers' quarters and public rest-rooms at Roosevelt park.

Norton Youngs, recently appointed parks superintendent, had "no comment" until he was better acquainted with the situation.

Rotarians Hear of Hawaii Trip

A woman was guest speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon today. She was Mrs. Trevor Johnston, mother of Miss Edith Johnston, both of whom recently returned from a ten-day trip to Honolulu, a prize won in a contest by Miss Johnston. The new president, Fred Scadden, was in the chair.

Mrs. Johnston told Rotarians of her trip and some of the outstanding things they had seen.

Orchids, she said, grew everywhere. Hawaiians specialized in making orchid leis, containing 200 of the flowers, selling for $3.50. She was impressed also, with the courteous service in shops and stores.

A highlight of an Island tour was seeing the mast and flag of USS Arizona, American warship sunk in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

She was told, she said, 1,000 bodies still remained entombed within the ship.

Both of them "loved the trip very much" and they tried to see as much as possible in order "to take with us a memory of the islands."

Can Opener No Disgrace

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—On a round the world trip a year or so ago, food writer and television cook Poppy Cannon discovered the rest of the world had some pretty strange ideas about the American kitchen.

In Pakistan, for instance, she was asked repeatedly if it was true that American meals consisted entirely of vitamin pills washed down by glasses of water. All over the Old World, housewives and homemakers asked how husbands felt about "can-opener meals."

Then Poppy has made something of an avocation of telling the world how American eat. The magic ingredient in any good dish she maintains, is something that can't be purchased—the cook's imagination. "I know—I've proved to my own satisfaction that you can be a gourmet with a can-opener," she says earnestly. "The can-opener actually permits the woman with little time in the kitchen to become an artist."

"Think of canned foods and frozen foods this way: other people have the responsibility for the collection of the raw materials, cleaning and preparation. When you open a can, you move into the kitchen the way a chef does after a corps of kitchen maids have done the preliminaries."

"It's old-fashioned and uninformed to sneer at the can-opener," Poppy maintains stoutly. "Open any can of soup," she suggested. "Other hands have made the roux, others have pureed the vegetables. You start from there with added ingredients, herbs and spices."

For an easy lobster Newburgh—Take canned cream of mushroom soup, dilute it with a quart cup of dry sherry, add frozen lobster tails cut into large diced chunks and add seasonings to your taste.

FRUIT SOUPS
During the summer months, Miss Cannon occasionally goes in for fruit soups, dear to the hearts of Hungarians and Scandinavians. She buys cans of pureed fruits, put up for babies, and white wine, cinnamon, sour cream and grates nutmeg over top. Or she serves cold chicken soup—a can of cream of chicken, some lemon juice, salt and fresh-ground pepper.

Even complicated dishes like chicken tetrazzini aren't hard with a can-opener for a kitchen aid. Start with chicken fricasee out of a can, and ham, and chopped hard-boiled eggs to the sauce. Cook thin noodles separately, pour the cricken mixture over the noodles, add grated cheese and give it a few minutes under the broiler. The whole thing can be done in minutes.

Or take a can of beef stew, add red wine, herbs and other seasoning. Miracles can be done with a can of meat balls. It can be turned into a Swedish dish by adding all-spice and sour cream; into a Peruvian dish with a raisin and ripe-olive sauce, simmered slowly.

She thinks the busy modern housewife can get along just fine with a big canned goods and preserves closet, plus a spice-and-herbs shelf and a liquor cabinet.

"Of course, you need to rely heavily on herbs and spices and condiments, because most canned goods are necessarily very lightly flavored to meet all tastes."

The kitchen liquor cabinet should have dry sherry; a good white table wine; a good red table wine, rum, brandy and beer. She occasionally puts one or two tablespoonsful of beer in a beef stew, and also in a shrimp sauce.

The practical what she preaches. The kitchen of her 68th street home in Manhattan where she tests recipes for her writing and daily ABC television show has shelves for spices, condiments and herbs. There's a tiny back yard garden where Miss Cannon has her fresh herb supply—mint, sweet basil, dill, winter savory, marjoram and parsley.

"All I'm trying to tell the world is that a can-opener isn't a badge of shame," she explained. "It's a magic wand."

LONDON (AP)—Ben Odds, 68, lent some money to a stranger 39 years ago and never heard of him again. Recently he met the man who was collecting tickets at a seaside resort, and the collector paid up.

The last week-end saw many visitors from Premier, Hyder and Stewart to the Chickamin Glacier which is one of the great attractions of the district. The face of the glacier is from 50 to 70 feet in height and it extends north as far as the eye can see, covering the floor of the valley for a width of over half a mile. It is an impressive sight.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haugland of Terrace spent a few hours visiting at the Landing on Sunday during their way to Prince George.

Edward Sholander and his wife, Beatrice, are spending their holidays with Mrs. Joe Roberts, his mother. He intends going to Normal School this fall.

Joe Hendricks, Mrs. Hendricks and small granddaughter Pamela entertained many of their friends on Saturday evening at their cottage "Summer's Rest." After a delicious buffet supper all went to the Colleymount Hall to dance. Music was by Hugh and Tom Cowan with violin and guitar and Peter Neave with accordion.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mills came up by car to spend a short visit, leaving their daughter, Colleen, with her grandparents back at Chilliwack.

Mrs. John Walker is visiting John Walker and his family. She is now living in Prince Rupert.

Both char and trout fishing is excellent. The largest char so far is one caught by Robert Jeffrey weighing 23 pounds.

Little Edward Charles Mummery was baptised on Sunday morning by Rev. A. Atkinson after the morning service. He is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Mummery and wore the same shawl his two small brothers wore for their christening. The godparents are Mr. and Mrs. D. Munro of Prince George. The church was lovely with roses on the altar and other fresh flowers on the organ.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Mr. Muzzy was kibitzing this deal and he winced when Mrs. Keen opened the bidding on the South cards with one club. He thought she should have opened with a forcing two-bid. Well, I'll say this, if you wagered on Mrs. Keen's bidding as against Mr. Muzzy's you would soon be able to retire.

She properly opened this hand with one club, realizing that game was not possible unless her partner had a little honor strength. She knew that if Mr. Masters had as much as one high card trick, he would give her a chance. And if he lacked that much, she would be very fortunate not to be beyond the one range.

Mr. Masters had just enough for one bid and when Mrs. Keen heard it, she went straight to game at no trump.

Mr. Abel led the jack of hearts and Mr. Champion correctly went up with his king on the chance that his partner had opened a suit headed by A J 10. Mrs. Keen won with the ace and immediately led the queen of diamonds. Mr. Abel covered with the king, but Mrs. Keen was not enticed into going up with dummy's ace. She ducked the trick, permitting the king to win.

Again Mr. Muzzy showed his disapproval, shaking his head sadly and muttering something about having the king trapped and then letting it get away.

Of course, what Mrs. Keen was trying to do was to make sure of winning four diamond tricks. She had to lose one trick in the suit no matter how she played. Wisely, she decided to lose that trick at once. Had she won the first diamond trick with the ace, Mr. Abel would have won the third round with his 10 spot—and then there would have been no entry to the re-maintaining good diamonds in dummy.

At the third trick Mr. Abel led the 10 of hearts and Mrs. Keen won with the queen. She laid down her jack of diamonds and was pleased to note that both opponents followed suit. She held the five of diamonds to dummy's ace and ran the rest of the suit, thus winning four diamonds, two spades, two hearts and a club for game.

Turning to her critic, Mrs. Keen said good-humoredly, "Well, I managed to stumble through some way, didn't I, Mr. Muzzy?" "Lucky," said Mr. Muzzy, gallantly.

Science Marching With Korean Canadian Troops

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP)—Science marches with the troops when Canadians go into battle. Its representative is Maj. Hodgson Goodfellow of Kingston, Ont., whose job is to study the factors that govern the performance of infantry in action.

Until they came along the conclusion was almost reached that there was no advantage to company size losses were equal. The scientists simply pointed out that larger convoys were indeed the answer since the percentages lost were smaller.

Maj. Goodfellow's principle is that tactics and strategy will always be questions of skill and manoeuvre — art — but that by study and research into the factors governing battles they may increase the powers of tools already at the commander's service by demonstrating additional scope.

Born in South Shields, England, and by hobby an archaeologist, the Major is a University of Saskatchewan graduate in the science of engineering.

During the war he was seconded from the Canadian Army to the British Admiralty's department of miscellaneous weapons development, headed by another Canadian, Sir Charles Goodfellow of Winnipeg.

He is married to the former Josephine Birkill of London, daughter of John E. Birkill, first violinist of the BBC Symphony Orchestra and who is planning a concert tour of Canada this year. They have a daughter, Caroline, 7.

He has a wealth of examples to illustrate the value of his field.

It determined, for instance, the size of shipping convoys on the seas during the Second World War. At no extra cost it sharply reduced loss through enemy action.

Researchers studied the figures and noted that roughly the same number of ships were lost from each convoy, large or small.

Heavyweight Apple Cart Upset

Jersey Joe Walcott Scores Sensation in Victory Over Charles

PITTSBURGH (CP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, incredible 37-year-old Camden, New Jersey, pappy guy, climaxed his amazing rags-to-riches saga Wednesday night by knocking out Ezzard Charles in 55 seconds of the seventh round to win the world's heavyweight championship. He is the oldest man ever to win the title.

A smashing left hook that landed flush on Charles' jaw dropped the 29-year-old Cincinnati Negro on his face with a stunning shock. Charles tried to pull himself up and was just about to make it at the count of nine when he tumbled on his back into a neutral corner.

The 5 to 1 underdog was making his fifth bid for the crown. Walcott almost won from Joe Louis in 1947.

The amazing Walcott scored one of the most stunning upsets in recent ring history—as startling as Ray Robinson's recent defeat by Britain's Randy Turpin for the world's middleweight title.

This dazzling surprise before a whooping crowd that jammed Forbes Field, knocked out the proposed Joe Louis-Charles encounter, tentatively scheduled for New York in September.

Charles, however, is protected by a return match contract. He will probably meet Walcott again in a return match for his chance. LOUIS DISGUSTED

Marshall Miles, Joe Louis' manager, said today that the Brown Bomber went to bed "disgusted" after watching Jersey Joe Walcott knock out Ezzard Charles on the television. "It puts Joe back at least six months in his plans to regain the title," said Miles.

Seine fishing in the Naas River area is "very poor" this year according to reports reaching here today, and most seiners pulled out yesterday for Whale Channel where averages of 250 mixed fish are holding.

Skeena River gillnetting averages on Tuesday were 26, showing a drop of 10 over last week.

NOTED LANDMARK
The Tower of London, built by William the Conqueror, is the oldest medieval fortress in Europe.

Walcott came close to taking away the heavyweight crown from the Brown Bomber two years ago. Then Louis retired from the fight game, a victorious champion, undefeated. But because of financial difficulties, he had to come back and the logical contender he was for the championship which had been more or less bestowed on the curly head of Ezzard Charles.

It was a sad night for Joe, as well as for millions of fans, when the top of the world's boxing greats bowed down to the younger man and took defeat.

But Louis stayed right in there and began training seriously, followed by a round of victories across the continent to get in line for the crown bout, once more.

Well, here it is. The most sensational set-up for a history-making fight and it can't be had—unless public demand can convince the top fight handlers to agree to change a contract. Charles is contracted to meet Walcott again for a return bout within 90 days. Louis was slated for a chance at the crown title some during September.

The next Ezzard-Walcott fight cannot turn out to be anything sensational because the whole sporting world is sitting on edge, waiting for a climax of one of the world's most dramatic sport sagas. Louis' second attempt to foil the adage, "They never come back".

Tonight the regular scheduled game between Abel & Odowes and Gordon & Anderson will be played at Roosevelt Park, if it isn't raining at the time.

Meanwhile, softballers have two teams ready to meet HMCS Ontario in a Sunday double-header at Gyro Park.

Firemen Win In Softball

Firemen upset Columbia Cellulose at Gyro Park. The game was all tied up 4-4 at the end of the third inning and remained that way until the bottom of the sixth when Firemen racked up six runs to sew up the ball game. Art Olsen went the distance for the Firemen, chucking a six-hit game and striking out nine men. Mound duties for the Pulpmen were divided between Harry Deary and Chuck Tischman, who was the loser.

Big hit of the night was a long double by Tiny Carlson, who also singled. Chris Dallyn hit two for four to lead Cellulose.

Football Shakeup
General Motors Dropping Out—Hanson Cup Game At Week-end
Cwing to the failure of General Motors to field a team, City Football League scheduled for last night was not played.

With so many General Motors players now out of town, it is expected that the team will be disbanded and football activities carried on with the two remaining teams—Battery, now leading the league, and Canadian Legion. Probably only cup ties will be played with week-end games with visiting teams.

The whole future of football this season will be decided on the return to the city in ten days of League President Alex Hag, now on a trip to Vancouver.

A game is being arranged this Saturday for the Hanson Cup between HMCS Ontario and an augmented Canadian Legion team.

FAMILIAR STORY
In the 1850's the Connecticut legislature banned nine-pin bowling because the sport had been overrun by gamblers.

SPORT SHOTS

Rogers Hornsby ushered in the home-run era in the National League by clouting his 25th four-bagger of the season 29 years ago today. The St. Louis Cardinal second baseman eclipsed the 1915 mark of 24 set by Garry Cravath of Philadelphia Phillies. Hack Wilson of Chicago Cubs set the present record of 56 in 1930.

Dizzy Vance, Brooklyn Dodgers' fastbaier, set a 20th century major league record by fanning 17 St. Louis Cardinals in a 10-inning game 26 years ago. The mark still stands in the National League although Bob Feller of Cleveland Indians whiffed 18 Detroit batsmen on Oct. 2, 1938 for the current major league mark.

Sugar Ray Robinson hammered out a 10-round non-title decision over National Boxing Association lightweight champion Sammy Angott at Philadelphia 10 years ago, marking a year's campaigning without a defeat. The Harlem man went on to win the welterweight and middleweight titles. He lost the latter crown to England's Randy Turpin last week.

Sure sign of age: when a man pays more attention to the food than the waitress.

"Is your new husband a good provider?" asked the mistress of a former maid.

"He sure is," was the reply. "He says he's going to get me some furniture for the house, providing he can get some money. And he's going to get a job, and he's going to get a job, providing he likes the work. Yeh, he's a good provider, all right."

Travelling salesman: "Madame, I represent a woollen mill. Would you be interested in some coarse yarns?"

Grandma: "Certainly would. Sit down and tell me a couple."

Running into debt is a poor way to get exercise.

Private, at dance: "See that coat over there? He's the meanest colonel in the army!"
Girl: "Do you know who I am?"
Private: "Do you know who I am?"
Girl: "No."
Private: "Thank the Lord!"

Older people's aren't too surprised when they hear that some modern girls are live wires—after all, they don't have much insulation.

"What sort of a dress did Gertrude have on at the party last night?"

"I'm not sure—I think it was checked."

"Gee—must have been some party!"

Barbara BUYS AND WHYS

MONTREAL, July 19th—Now's the time and now's the hour—before this summer has become just a pleasant memory—to take your favorite fruits in hand with CERTO LIQUID PECTIN and do down your jams and jellies for this year. Now, when the summer fruits are most succulent, most flavorful and colorful, Certo will help you to make sure your jams and jellies will be as tangy and delicious as the fruit itself. And don't forget, with Certo you'll get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit—in 1/3 the time of the former long boil method. Yes, just follow exactly the simple directions found in the booklet under the label of each Certo bottle, for zesty, deliciously set jams and jellies.

What Will Penicillin Do Next? After 5 years of research... a penicillin tooth powder is here... with proof that it reduces tooth decay far more than ever before possible. Its name is DENTOCILLIN. And you'll want your whole family to start using it, right away. For Denticillin is the tooth powder that reduced tooth decay 55% in a 2-year test among hundreds of Massachusetts school children. (And it did it without a change of toothbrushing habits!) This is 5 times as much as reported for the excellent ammoniated dentifrice formula developed by the University of Illinois. By the way, it tastes wonderful. Really cleans teeth bright. 75c for 3 months' supply.

Wonderful, Sun-Warm colour to make you look like the very spirit of summer... like a South Seas siren! That's tantalizing TROPIC TAN, the rich golden WOOLBURY POWDER SHADE. And because Woolbury is the powder with the foundation cream ingredient—it smooths your skin to velvet-softness—gives it a natural—not powdery look. You'll love the lovely, flushed-face fragrance of this fabulous face powder. Wear Tropic Tan—morning, noon and night... it will make you feel like a South Seas temptress! Tropic Tan is just 23c, 45c and 75c... and add Woolbury's "Red Poppy" lipstick, a luscious, bright red with a touch of sunshine gold—23c and 55c.

If You're An "Old Hand" At Camping or summering in the country, I don't need to tell you that outdoor appetites are bigger than life-size. And you probably know, too, that the best way to treat your appetite is to take lots of HEINZ SOUPS to the country with you. Yes, campers and cottagers "in the know" stock up with Heinz by the case for happy holiday eating. And no wonder! Just wait 'til you taste the rich, real flavour of Heinz Condensed Cream of Tomato Soup or Heinz Condensed Vegetable Soup or any one of the other varieties of Heinz Soups! You know they're good because they're Heinz. They're the perfect answer to hearty holiday appetites!

How Good The First Gentle Tan Feels... how pretty it looks! And that brings up the question of playtoys, sun suits and beach ar... all of them more and more "sun-able" in their trim scantiness! Which reminds me to remind you again about TAMPAX, the reliable sanitary protection. Needless to say, many a beautiful summer's day is going to be spoiled unless you know the Tampax secret that's based on the well-known principle of internal absorption. Tampax features a dainty, one-time-use applicator and is made of pure cotton... banishes chance of revelation in even skimpy sports togs, can't chafe or embarrass... because it's used internally. Tampax is available in three absorbencies—Regular, Super, Junior, at drug and notion counters.

It May Be Bad Manners, but it shows real enthusiasm when baby bangs his spoon for more "Cream of Wheat." Yes, babies love tempting 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT." It's so good—and so good for them! Bunchful of valuable nourishment babies need to help maintain normal growth and health! It provides Iron for good red blood—and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. And, mother—it cooks to baby-ready digestibility in just five minutes of boiling. So give it to baby often—and make a family habit of 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat," too. It will be a breakfast "favourite" of everyone from grandpa to Young Sue!

"Let's Have Lemon Pie for Expenses Never Go 'On Holiday' dessert!"—that's the sad truth of the matter. There's no escaping the steady demands of day-to-day living at home or away. And, with today's soaring costs, a girl has to be more watchful than ever to make her money do the things she wants it to do. And I don't mean just ordinary budgeting—that's just part of the answer. Today's problems call for a more effective approach to money management! I think you will agree with many of my friends that the BANK OF MONTREAL'S Personal Planning system is just that approach—the kind that enables you to look your expenses straight in the eye—without flinching. Why not get a copy of that interesting booklet, "PERSONAL PLANNING," at a convenient branch of the B of M. It will show you how to cope with the high cost of living—and save money too! Drop in for your copy today.

California Lemons... for their flavour-perfect—the finest, juiciest lemons grown... Lemon Velvet Chiffon Pie—
2/3 c. sugar
4 tbs. cornstarch
1/4 tsp. salt
2/3 c. boiling water
2 eggs, separated
2 tbs. butter
1/2 c. fresh lemon juice
1 tsp. grated lemon peel
1/2 c. plain gelatin
1 c. coffee cream
Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan. Add boiling water and while stirring constantly cook until thick and smooth. Remove from stove and mix in beaten egg yolks and butter. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly for five minutes. Remove from heat and add lemon juice and peel. Stir in gelatin that has been dissolved in cold water. Blend in cream. Let set until mixture begins to thicken; fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into baked 9-inch pie shell and let stand in cool place until thick.

When!—Hot, isn't it? Well the best remedy for that "stified" feeling is a cool shower or a refreshing bath—plus the luxury of those new C-I-L COLOURED SPONGES! Blue—Coral—Yellow—Green... yes, those lovely C-I-L Cellulose Sponges now come in four grand pastel shades to blend with your bathroom and kitchen colour-schemes and accessories! You'll love them! They're velvet-soft when wet—ideal for baby's bath and yours. They float—hold twice their weight in water—long-lasting and cost so little.

And just think! Now, every one in your family can have a "personalized" bath sponge! Ask for C-I-L Coloured Sponges—at department, drug, variety, grocery and hardware stores.

DEFENCE PRODUCTION—First all-Canadian aircraft is this Orenda-powered CF-100 all weather, long-range fighter. Shown prior to its initial flight, the CF-100 is expected to play a major role in Canada's defence. It is expected to go into mass production at Avro, Canada's plant at Malton, Ont., once test flights are completed. The Orenda engines are in production at the Malton plant. Mass production of the F-6 Sabre fighter plane is a major move in Canadian defence plans. This bottom photo shows the speedy aircraft being turned out in quantity at Canadair plant in Montreal. ## THE EXPERTS Say...

By KAY REX
FICNICKING?—Then you may want some new ideas for sandwiches.

Home economists have come forth with some suggestions on the art of making sandwiches.

Correct estimate of supplies is important, particularly when it's a case of making sandwiches for a group of people. One small sandwich loaf cuts into 30 to 40 slices—each slightly less than one-quarter inch thick.

One loaf needs one-quarter pound of butter, say the home economists. Enough moist meat filling for 2 1/2 cups (1 1/4 pounds) spreads one loaf of bread.

One dozen hard-cooked eggs, chopped and mixed with onion and salad dressing spreads one loaf.

If crusts are to be cut from sandwiches save butter and filling by removing crusts before spreading bread. Crusts can be used for crumbs, bread puddings and so on.

Butter will go farther if garnished until light and fluffy.

Softball Teams To Meet

The two teams to play against HMCS Ontario in a double-header next Sunday afternoon were picked last night by the Softball Association. Teams are rated as equal in calibre and were chosen from the lineup of four clubs.

Managers chosen were Rusty Ford (Rupert Radio Manager) and Joe LePage (Columbia Cellulose). Team No. 1 is to play the first game and the second team will play the wind-up.

The managers are not listed as players, but both can step in to help their teams as they see fit. Ford is currently second in the league batting race, while LePage doubles as a good catcher and shortstop.

Team No. 1
Darryl Young, c; Rupert Radio; Monk Sunburg, p; Rupert Radio; Lloyd, Lhati, p; Hawks.

Team No. 2
Windy S. hawb, c; firemen; Art Olsen, p; firemen; Chuck Tichman, Col. Cellulose.

PINWHEEL SANDWICH
Use fresh bread, slice loaf lengthwise and make certain all crusts are removed. Spread filling on slices. Beginning at the end, roll like jelly roll. For a contrasting centre place one of the following across one end of each slice and begin rolling from this end—a peeled banana, a dill pickle (whole or with centre removed and stuffed with cream cheese); halves or quarters of hard-cooked eggs; a row of marachino cherries or stuffed olives. Wrap roll in wax paper and chill. Slice before serving. Each roll will cut into from six to eight pinwheels.

RIBBON SANDWICHES
Using fresh or day-old bread, stack alternately two slices of brown bread and two slices of white bread, filling with one or more spreads. Firmly press together. With a sharp knife using a sawing motion slice crusts from all sides of each stack. Cover with wax paper or a moist cloth. Chill for at least several hours. Cut in one-half inch slices. After cutting the one-half inch slices cut each slice in thirds, halves or two to four triangles.

LONG-LIVED TURTLE
A tortoise which is said to have lived 200 years is preserved in the museum at Colombo, Ceylon.

"Last Outpost" Is Thrill Drama

A spectacular and exciting technicolor adventure charged with action and suspense comes to the Capitol Theatre screen this Friday and Saturday in "The Last Outpost," starring Ronald Reagan and Rhonda Fleming.

It is a surging story of violent Civil War struggle in the west containing plenty of drama.

Reagan appears as a Confederate officer leading a daring band of cavalry in assaults against northern supply trains rolling east across the Santa Fe trail. His brother commands the Union forces and both sides are soon locked in a bloody battle that bears importantly on the outcome of the war.

In the midst of marauding raids and bloody sabre charges, the Apache Indians, led by a renegade white man, enter the conflict, weaving into the action a story that is stirring southern and the girl he loves.

The story has a climax as the Indians besiege the fort where Reagan and Fleming are. Reagan's brother, a forego his allegiance to the southern cause of bearability for the many thousands.
