

Victims' Bodies Found

(CP)—A ground search slowed by Labrador's difficult terrain, has located the bodies of three airmen who died when their plane crashed in a routine flight.

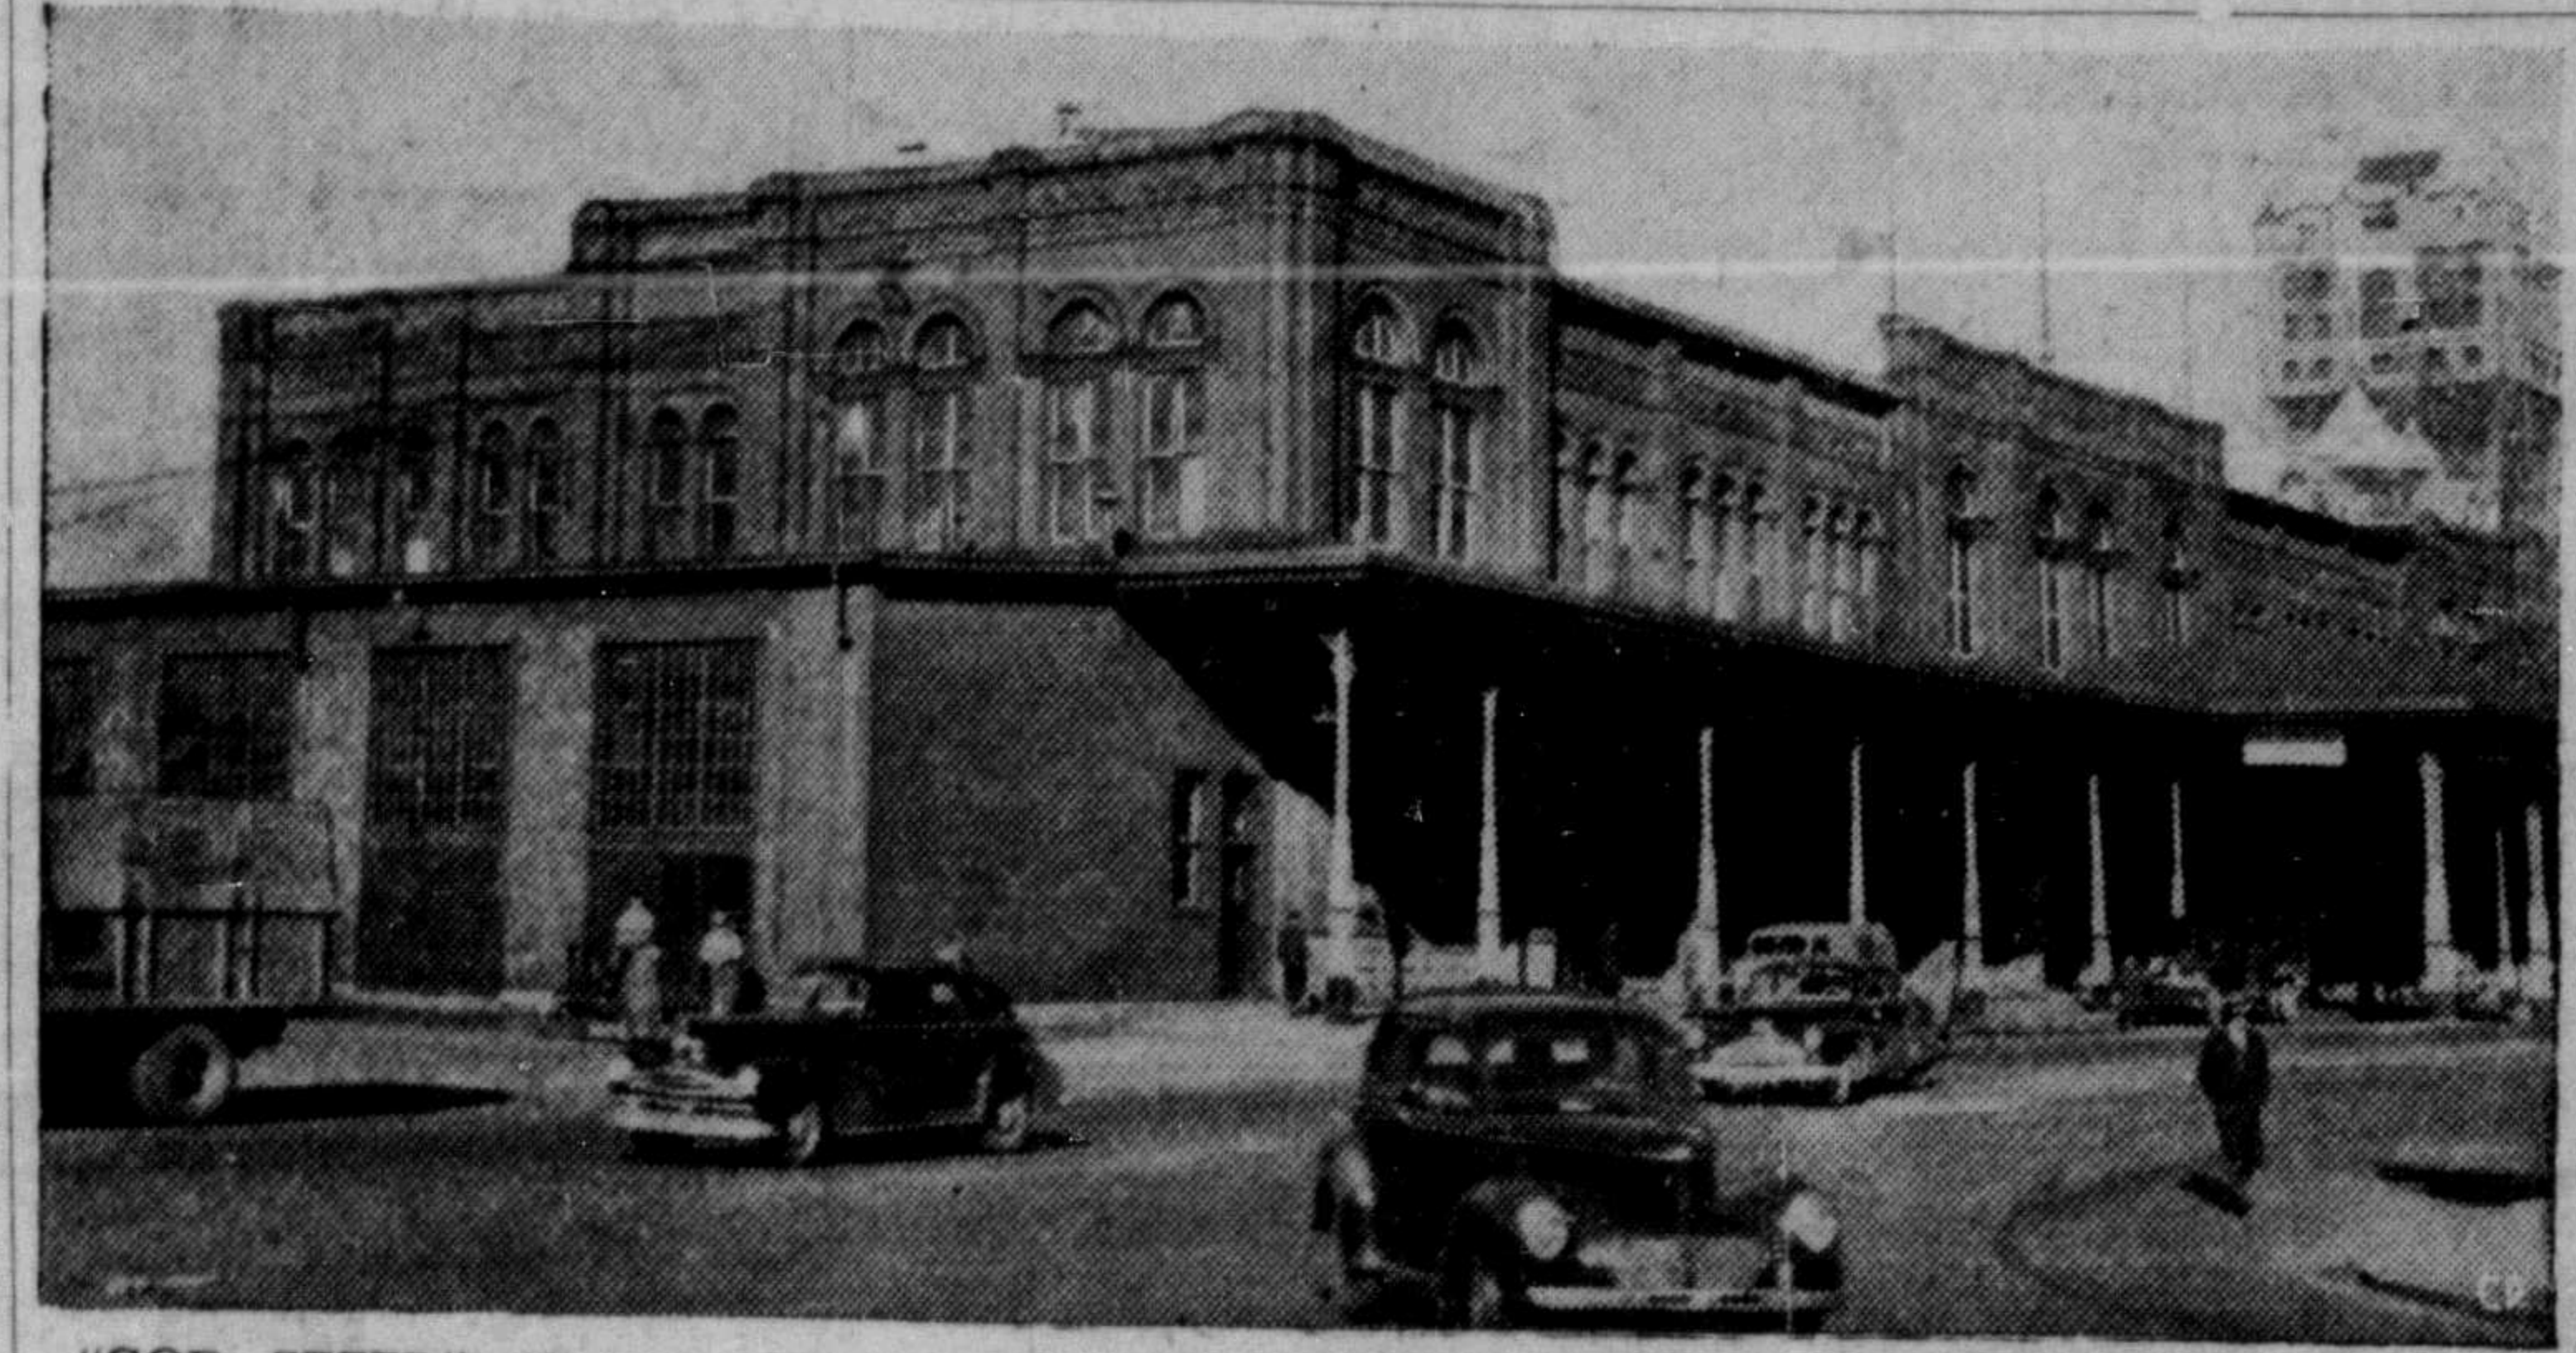

Royal Canadian Air Force announced they had found the bodies of Flight Pilot Joseph Smith, of Montreal, aged 25, Flight Cadet Wilfrid Smith, of Burnaby, N. B., and Flight Cadet Gerald Higgins, 21, of Quebec.

Apparently, the airmen did not have time to use their parachutes which had been found nearby. The three of them were found amid the wreckage, which was scattered over a large area.

Friday the Air Force announced that a land party had been sent to the scene of the crash and found the body of Officer Owen Foster, 23, of Vancouver.

The land party had then conducted a search through Labrador's dense bushland for the three of the four airmen who disappeared last Monday when their Dakota crashed in a navigational training

GEN. STEEN HERE—Civil Defence Real Need in Pr. Rupert

TARGET AREA SHOULD BE PREPARED

Organizing for civil defence in Prince Rupert "is now a definite need," Gen. C. R. Stien, civil defence co-ordinator for British Columbia, last night told a joint meeting of civic authorities, public utilities heads and representatives of service organizations.

Prince Rupert has been named a target area because it would become a direction centre in the event of military operations in the North.

Although the federal government had not yet made a proclamation a definite policy on civil defence, this was expected soon, Gen. Stien said.

If war should come, it would come from "the other side," he said. "The Western nations, he said, did not want war and were doing their best to prevent it. And, if war came, it would "most likely" be in the form of a surprise attack. That was why civil defence "is necessary."

"The days of thinking that geography protects you are gone," he said. "At the present rate of high speed bombers even modern methods of interception of long-range bombers would have only limited effect."

"Panic is your worst enemy in case of an emergency," stressed Gen. Stien, and it could only be avoided if basic plans for meeting emergencies were strongly founded.

The general did not believe Prince Rupert would be subject to attack by atom bombs, except as a "fluke," where a bomb might be unloaded by mistake or in a hurry. He cited Seattle and Vancouver as points of attack more practical to the enemy.

Not only would the enemy's war come undeclared, thought Gen. Stien, but it would be aimed not so much at industrial plants and factories, but directly at destroying large masses of population. In this way—if war should come—the enemy could expect to make greater gains by eliminating the man-power to produce and at the same time

Control Alaska And Control World, Explorer Declares

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (CP)—A well known explorer said Monday that Mount McKinley and other high peaks in Alaska are being mapped for use as radar stations, weather stations and centres of nuclear research.

Bradford Washburn, director of the Boston Museum of Science, made the statement at commencement exercises of the University of Alaska which awarded him an honorary doctor of philosophy degree.

The 40-year-old explorer came here to climb 20,257-foot Mount McKinley. It will be his third ascent of the mountain. He plans to climb it from the west side which has never been approached on foot.

General Nathan Twining, vice-chief of staff for the Air Force, said that the Air Force, in establishing facilities in Alaska, supports the maxim that "he who controls Alaska controls the world."

Kansas Town Is Inundated

HAYS, Kansas (CP)—The worst flood since 1907 swept into Hays today and three persons are known to have been drowned. Several others are reported missing.

The gas explosion and seven thousand gallons of floating gasoline added to the danger.

Water was from 15 to 20 feet deep in the southeast and southwest sections and about 3000 to 4000 persons were flooded out of their homes.

Many persons are still trapped on roof tops and second floors of their homes.

More Trade For Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Informed quarters disclosed Monday that Great Britain is giving favorable consideration to a plan to ease import controls and so allow more Canadian manufactured goods to reach the British market.

Informants said that Britain was also considering a scheme to release more dollars from her exchange pool to allow the British West Indies to increase her purchases from Canada.

These developments, favorable to the Canadian exporter, emerged as finance, trade and economic officials from both countries plunged into three-day secret trade conference here.

Area No.2 Fishing Heavier

TOTAL OF 6,750,000 POUNDS SO FAR

Up to the end of last week a total of 6,750,000 pounds of halibut had been taken out of Area No. 3 which will be the only fishing ground open after the nearer Area No. 2A closes May 28 following the exhaustion of the quota.

Last year at a corresponding period a total of 5,500,000 pounds had been taken from Area No. 3.

The quota for the area is 28,000,000 pounds.

The total catch so far represents landings at all coast ports.

The figures are from the International Fisheries Commission.

Newspaper Post is up

Publications Hit By Hike in Rates of 50 to 100 Percent

OTTAWA (CP)—Postal rates for newspapers and periodicals are being boosted to raise Post Office revenues from that source by $2,000,000 a year.

The increases would go into effect after Parliamentary approval of a bill introduced Monday in the House of Commons by Postmaster General Rinfret to provide the first overhaul in years in the law governing delivery of Canada's mails.

Some of the sting will be removed by putting an end to the charge of four cents a pound on any newspaper or magazine with more than half its content composed of advertising. There will no longer be any special charge regardless of advertising content.

Postal officials said that the general effect of the changes will be to boost between 50 and 100 percent the cost to most publishers sending papers through the mails.

For newspapers and periodicals published daily and having a circulation of 10,000 or more the rate will be four cents for each pound weight or fraction thereof. The old rate was 1½¢ plus the advertising charge if it applied.

For dailies with less than 10,000 circulation the rate will be 2½¢ cents instead of 1½¢ plus the advertising charge.

Madrid Strike

MADRID (CP)—Madrid's workers went on strike today, but only indirectly, against the high cost of living.

Braving an overwhelming display of government force, an estimated 95 per cent of normal bus, street car and subway riders boycotted public transport systems.

A call for a general strike had not been heeded but the workers obeyed appeals in pamphlets and walked to their jobs.

Bradley Hopes for Korea Peace

IF PRESENT OFFENSIVE BEATEN

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—General Omar Bradley said today that the United States military high command hopes that a Korean peace can be negotiated if United Nations troops "bump off" the present Communist offensive.

Testifying at the Senate hearings, Bradley said that military men had hoped in March that some peace move could be made.

He added: "We still hope that we will be in a position to again propose something through the United Nations which would end up in negotiations and a cessation of hostilities."

Question of Death Car Speed In Manslaughter Preliminary

Seven witnesses were heard yesterday afternoon at the manslaughter charge against Clifford Borge, taxi driver, in connection with the traffic death May 5 of Joseph Addison, carpenter. The hearing was then adjourned to Friday afternoon.

Cpl. Arthur Wales, RCMP, conducted the crown's case. Defence counsel is R. M. MacLeod.

According to evidence heard by Police Magistrate W. D. Vance and the court, at about 11:20 p.m. on May 5, Mr. and Mrs. Robert James Marchant and Mrs. Helen Marla Harding got into a taxi at the 99 stand and were driven by the accused, Borge, westward on Second Avenue.

Several hundred yards east of the intersection of First, Second, Third and Park avenues, a pedestrian, Joseph Addison, was struck. The taxi stopped and police were summoned by Mr. Marchant.

None of the witnesses had seen another man at the scene of the accident. Mr. Marchant said he had seen "a tall man walking near Lindsay's garage" shortly before the accident.

Mrs. Marchant said she saw a "tall man on the other side of the road" near Lindsay's garage.

25 MILES PER HOUR

Two children of the Marchants had also been occupants of the car.

"Was the car going fast?" Cpl. Wales asked Mr. Marchant.

"About 20 to 25 miles an hour," witness answered.

Mrs. Marchant said she wasn't conscious of the speed, but she said her two children, sitting in the front seat, had bumped their heads against the dashboard of the car when it suddenly stopped and they had not complained of being hurt.

Mrs. Harding said the car had not been travelling very fast.

Mr. Marchant said there was no other car traffic on the street at the time.

"I suddenly saw a pedestrian loom in front of the car and we struck him." It was not raining at the time, he said.

"The taxi was about in the centre of the road when the man was hit," witness answered Cpl. Wales. There had been a good two feet of asphalt from the wheels to the edge of the road when the car stopped, he said.

On cross-examination, Mr. MacLeod asked witness if he knew the accused and whether he had been driven by him before. "Yes, I have found him to be reliable and steady," said Mr. Marchant. "I always try to get him if I can."

Witness said there was only a "split second" from the time he saw the deceased until he was hit and the driver put on the brakes. He said the body lay about five yards from where the car had stopped. The body lay with its feet at right angles to the road and the car.

"The taxi was definitely not off the travelled portion of the highway at any time," he testified.

"O MY GOD!"

Mrs. Marchant said she first knew of the mishap when she felt a bump, then heard and felt the brakes, and the driver said: "Oh, my God!"

She looked up and saw two legs in the air in the headlights and later she saw the body on the gravel beside the road, about three of four feet from the rear of the taxi.

To cross-examination Mrs. Marchant confirmed she first felt a bump, then application of brakes, then the driver said: "Oh, my God!"

She said the taxi had not been off the pavement of the road.

Both Marchants testified they had remained at the scene until

Youth's Interlude

YOUTH need not picture its age as a slender, breathless and rather frantic interlude between childhood and maturity, says the monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada. Youths leaving school and university this year have not reached some place that is an end, a finality. They are too old for some things, it is true, but they are no longer too young for others—that is all.

On school-closing day, every graduating boy and girl has a date with history. It is a date which ushers in the significant period toward which their life so far has been an approach. Now, their preparations come to fruition.

Everyone enters this stirring period with the beginnings already laid of what is to be his personality. He has already begun to assemble qualities that make him what he is as distinct from other persons. His future depends upon how he welds these traits and elements of personality into something which is stronger than personality—character.

No one will wish to embark upon this second stage of the voyage through life without a chart which will guide him to the harbor of his choice. He needs to decide what he wants and to count the cost. The very act of planning in this way will develop in him something that employers of today find to be the greatest lack in workers: sense of responsibility. Thinking clearly on his own problems will prepare him to analyze, to plan and to master situations. These are attributes which make a man valuable.

What Queen Is Wearing

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP) — In London's most glittering season since 1939, feminine eyes turn with interest to the wardrobes of the Royal Family.

Women still discuss the shades of blue and pink worn by feminine members of the Royal Family at the official opening ceremony of the Festival of Britain, held in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Some say it was true delphinium, others hydrangea, lilac or hyacinth. All, however, agreed that the royal choice for the opening ceremony stressed the colors of the Festival emblem—pink and blue and the delicate cross shades pertaining to these colors.

Clothing shops of all kinds, from hat shops to large departmental stores, are already playing up the Festival colors, including gold.

Seated in the cathedral, the royal party gave the impression of a blended floral display. The one outstanding difference in color, which only added to the floral theme, was in the dress of Princess Elizabeth. She wore a beautiful shade of cypress green in a tailored coat of silk faille. The dark green sheen of the silk was likened to the leaf of a young rose.

MILLINERY NOTE
Elizabeth did not, however, completely desert the pink and blue. Her close-fitting Tudor-shaped hat was piped in moss rose which toned with the ribbon backing the glittering star of the Order of the Garter.

The Queen's dress and caped jacket were a deep shade of delphinium blue with fox fur, dyed to tone, dipping down the back. Her matching hat of cobweb straw was trimmed in feathers, and diamonds sparkled at her ears, wrists and in the great diamond star flashing under her cape.

Seated next to Her Majesty, Queen Mother Mary wore a paler shade of blue with pink flowers in her traditional toque bonnet. Her soft grey fox collar matched the grey of her diamond-tudded parasol.

A full-skirted, tightly-waisted ribbed satin coat of pale blue shot with grey was the choice of Princess Margaret. Worn over a hyacinth-pink dress it gave a Dresden-china look that was accentuated by the bolt-upright hyacinth decorating her crocheted straw hat.

Another truant from the blue and pink was the Duchess of Kent. Under a coat of snuff-brown faille she wore a champagne colored apron-fronted dress and her close-fitting hat had pale fawn feathers flecked with yellow. Her daughter, the young Princess Alexandra, wore a schoolgirl's coat of kingfisher blue over a straw-colored dress.

CLUMSY AIDS
Watches in early years were portable clocks, suspended by a chain or cord from the wearer's girdle.

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA.—A lot of people approve South Cowichan Ratepayers' Association resolutions saying that a byelection should be called within three months of the death or resignation of a member of the Legislature.

South Cowichan is in Esquimalt riding—and Esquimalt has been without a legislative representative since the death of Charles Beard last November. A byelection must now come by October 31—but there's no indication the government is going to be in any hurry. So far there's no sign of the byelection.

The resolution said: "Whereas—the Premier was asked last December to expedite holding of the necessary byelection—and whereas the holding of the byelection has not been expedited and whereas the formalities that must now be observed in order to make known the existence of a vacancy in the Legislature are archaic and such that a vacancy in the Legislature can be left unfilled indefinitely—therefore it is resolved that we demand that steps be taken that will insure that never again will an electoral district be left without a member of the Legislative Assembly, through death or any other cause, for a period of more than three months."

This observer would say the point of the South Cowichan people is well taken. It should be stated plainly in the Constitution Act that three months is the very limit. The annoyance of the people of South Cowichan can be understood. They know the government has been playing ducks and drakes with them—and for political reasons, because Liberals and Conservatives cannot compose their differences and present a solid front to the public.

HUTCHISON EXCELS—Bruce Hutchison's address to the graduates of UBC is looked upon by scholars as one of the finest ever heard at the university. Hutchison was at his best. He put a tremendous amount of thought into the speech, his choice of language was superb—simple, to the point, his sincerity and his humility were notable. The vast assemblage who heard him was deeply touched. Some of his phrases are bound to be preserved as gems of literature in themselves.

"It is interesting to study some of these phrases and preserve them: "Thinking has always been the hardest kind of work. It is especially hard nowadays when second-hand thoughts are thrust upon you day and night in endless anvil chorus, when bogus facts are for sale so cheaply and the deepest problems of human existence are cured with sugary pills and intellectual vitamin tablets by radio."

"Do not be surprised if your private meditations... are interrupted by the screaming of madmen at your keyhole and wild voices in the streets at night."

"Beware above all of the thing called normalcy and the drug called security. Who knows or has ever known the true norm of a society when each man has his own norm within his lonely skull? When did a full life offer any final security, save the security of death?"

"Look for all the answers that really matter within your own minds. If the university has taught you to use that curious mechanism, then you will never be truly alone, or helpless, or bored. If not, you are doomed to perpetual loneliness, or to noisy futility in the man-swarm where man loses his manhood while raucously asserting it."

"Your duty as educated men will be to work in the clamorous market place with your less fortunate fellows and to recognize that, without your advantages, they have rights, hopes, abilities, potentialities and sometimes true education as great or greater than yours."

"In your own private crucible at the day's end, and there alone, you may melt down all the counterfeit coin of the day, skim off the dross and construct your own dream, more reliable, durable and true than all the outward uses of this world."

"I am persuaded that all the investment which the past has poured into the present will be safe with you in the future. The labor of three centuries on this land will be vindicated and handed on to yet another generation, provided only that you see this land as a trust and yourselves as the trustees of a possession as yet unfinished, but half-formed and so very fragile in your hands."

OR PERHAPS 50!

Jobs in Alaska are not so numerous as some now there had imagined. They say they came too early. We know a few thousand who say they came to Prince Rupert all of 40 or 45 years too soon!

The magazine Life has been taken to task for saying Brigham Young had 19 wives and 56 children. It's not that the story is so far out. It's merely a matter of detail and the settlement of a few minor adjustments. But it's quite a yarn all the same. It seems he married first in 1824 and last in 1868. All told, the wives numbered 27 with 56 offspring by 13 of his wives. On January 21, 1845, Brigham married four times in one day—two wives before lunch and two more after. All this must have been prior to the increase in living costs.

WELCOME ANY OLD TIME

No part of Canada is more in the public eye than Northern British Columbia and Prince Rupert just now. And for that reason, John Fisher, radio publicity speaker, should come up to look us over. He was invited to the Cellulose Corporation opening next month but regretted inability to be present. That does not mean, however, he can't come later.

CLOSE NEIGHBORS

Directors of the Great Northern Railway have been quietly looking over the situation in Vancouver, drawn north. It is said, by future prospects, Canada and the Great Northern have something in common. The Great Northern was founded by James J. Hill, a Canadian. Its immediate past president and now chairman of the board, Frank Gavin, is a native of Prince Edward Island. The railway's legal vice-president, Thomas Balmer, had early associations with this side of the line through his father, Vancouver pioneer, having helped preserve Stanley Park for the people.

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

BELGRADE RECALLED

GENEVA, SWITZERLAND.—Here, all safe and sound, after an all-too-short visit to Yugoslavia, we reminisce on our stay in Tito-land.

Our last day in Belgrade (to spell it as the Yugoslavs do) was one we shall not soon forget.

At the last moment my wife insisted on dragging me over to the export shop to see "something special." It turned out to be dolls—at our age!

The wife bought two of the tiny figures which represent men and women at a Slovene dance. For once that overworked word "cute" really did fit.

WE VISITED the third secretary of the Canadian Legation—Mr. R. E. Branscombe, who is convalescing from a recent illness. It was my first peep inside a Yugoslav hospital.

I found the young patient sitting up beside a tiny radio set with which he even gets the short wave broadcasts from the CBC in Canada.

WE ALSO HAD dinner with the genial and Slav-wise Charge d'Affaires, Mr. Crean, and his young and beautiful wife.

This young lady astonished us by telling us she was Edinborough-born. I say astonished, for there is not the slightest trace of Scotia in her voice.

I had a wee pang of regret at that—but under the spell of the all-Canadian dinner it (the regret) wore off. Moreover—like a true daughter of Edinborough—Mrs. Crean sent us down a picnic lunch to help us on our train journey.

IN THE AFTERNOON WE drove to the prize show place around Beograd—the Avala War Memorial. We also visited the British cemetery of World War II. Seventy-five Canadian are buried there. Among the names of those RCAF men who had lost their lives in air operations over Yugoslavia were some whose families we knew or knew about. Warrant Officer R. E. Hawker, Flight Lieutenant B. W. Clarke, Pilot Officer Stramm.

HERE IS A TALE WITH A happy end. On this trip I had been lugging around an old grey suit which I hated but which I have worn every summer since 1945. I intended to throw it away in India, but brought it on.

In Yugoslavia, one of the work men around the hotel was wearing such a shabby outfit that I called him up to the room and gave him the old grey garb. At first he thought I was ending the suit to be cleaned, and when he finally got the idea that it was for him a great light of joy sprang into his eyes. He actually kissed my hand.

Later I found that such a suit would bring maybe eight thousand and five hundred—representing a fabulous amount at official exchange rates.

Registration Not Needed?

OTTAWA (CP)—National registration is not needed now, the National Advisory Council on Manpower told the government Saturday but it advised planning for quick registration in case of an emergency.

The council said its information shows manpower requirements for the defence program on its current scale present no immediate problems warranting national registration.

The council was told by Arthur MacNamara, deputy minister of labor, that general registration might not be needed for even a greatly expanded preparedness program although he said it might be necessary to register specific occupational groups from time to time.

Is Facing Three Assault Charges

Three charges of assault—two private and one on a police officer—were placed before Glenn Frein in police court Monday. The case was adjourned until this afternoon.

Frein, pleading "not guilty" to all charges, is alleged to have assaulted two men and a police officer in and around a city hotel Saturday night. Another man, Gert Bouchard, was charged with obstructing a police officer in this connection. The case was also adjourned pending arrival of witnesses for the crown.

Red MacLeod, city barrister, appeared for the defence.

TWO-BOILER COOKING
Live, if you must, in a two-room flat but that doesn't mean you have to get all your meals in restaurants.

It's possible to cook some mighty tasty and nutritious dishes on a two-burner grill. Covered jars are best for staple goods—these could be old lobsters or candy tins painted over.

A pressure-cooker saves time and heat. A double-boiler also is suggested to save cooking space.

In the food line salads are cheap and easy to arrange:

Grated carrot and cabbage; tomato, lettuce and green pepper; spinach leaves, cabbage and radish slices; celery, cabbage and raisins; orange and grapefruit sections, chopped apples and sliced bananas.

Suggestions for desserts: Puddings such as rice and tapioca served plain or with fruit flavoured; gelatine desserts such as plain jellies, fruit jellies (when a moist set fold in fruit).

BUYING FOR TWO—When shopping for two, you can count on two servings from half a pound of boneless meat, filleted fish, fruits and vegetables.

Three servings from half a pound of cold sliced meat; three to four servings from half a pound of cottage cheese; four to five servings from a 20-ounce can of fruit, vegetables or juice.

ASPARAGUS TIME—This is asparagus time and home economists recommend buying only asparagus that's a good green color. It also should be crisp and moist.

Asparagus may be served hot with a cheese sauce, a cream sauce or just with a little lemon-butter. If any of the stalks are left over they are excellent cut up in salads. Asparagus sandwiches, either rolled or plain, also are tasty.

QUICKBREADS—Tea biscuits, muffins and so on—can be tasty or they can be otherwise. It all depends on the way you make them. Home economists have come up with a four-point suggestion for assuring that they turn out the way you want them to:

1. Use a reliable recipe and follow it carefully.

2. Use good quality ingredients and unless the recipe says to have them hot or cold, use them at room temperature.

3. Follow the mixing direction carefully.

4. Bake in a well regulated oven.

And, finally, serve quickbreads dripping with butter, honey, maple syrup or jam. Makes you mouth water thinking about it, eh?

Canada Contributes to Korea, Palestine Relief

The Government of Canada has made a contribution of $8,000,000 (Canadian) to the United Nations relief and recovery programs in Korea and the Near East. Above, Mr. John W. Holmes (left), Acting Permanent Representative of Canada to U.N. presents to U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie, a check in that amount. Of that sum $7,250,000 is earmarked for Korean relief. The remaining $750,000 goes to the U.N. Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees.

CIVIL DEFENCE

wage a war on the people's morale.

On the smaller areas of production, such as Prince Rupert, Gen. Stien felt the nature of the attack would come in high explosive standard bombs and incendiaries.

"There is no doubt the enemy knows Prince Rupert as well as we do," he said. "This city could burn from one end to the other once it got started."

FIRE FIGHTING IMPORTANT

Gen. Stien, in outlining a system of organizing civil defence, stressed that much attention should be given to fire-fighting. On a planning committee, which he suggested soon be formed, should sit also representatives of police and health departments.

A civil defence director should be employed, Gen. Stien advised. The provincial government, he said, would pay 50 per cent of the salary which the city paid for such services. It need only be a part-time job, he said.

It wouldn't be necessary to build up a complete civil defence organization but there should be "heavy planning on paper." The skeleton organization should be "cut and dried," with each department on its course mapped out so that in an emergency an appeal to the general public could be backed up by direction "without confusion."

"With a skeleton set-up ready, then you can appeal to the public for help."

Unless a director were employed, Gen. Stien said, he saw little expense involved in setting up a civil defence unit. Equipment and materials would largely be supplied by the federal government, he said.

Immediate steps which the provincial government is taking will be to publish in all newspapers in British Columbia a series of 12 display notices directed at the public and telling them "what to do" in case of emergency.

Instruction will be issued to every school in the province advising principals of schools how to train children to conduct themselves in emergency cases.

Starting in the fall term, school children, beginning with junior high school, will be given training in elementary first aid. Gen. Stien placed great emphasis on the knowledge of basic first aid for the general public.

J. S. Wilson, Canadian Legion representative, moved the committee take time to "think over" Gen. Stien's advice, then appoint a planning committee at a meeting to be called by the chairman, Mayor G. W. Rudderham. Others taking part in the meeting were Ald. Don Fitch, City Clerk W. R. Long, Eric Jones, telephone superintendent; Stan Saville, Red Cross representative; Ald. H. F. Glassey, C. A. Berner and R. S. Collinson, Canadian National Railways representatives; John Eyoifson, St. John's Ambulance representative; and D. C. Stewart, city superintendent of works.

DEATH CAR

police arrived and the "car and body had not been moved."

BODY IN HEADLIGHTS

Mrs. Harding said she felt "a jar" and saw the body of a man in the headlights. She looked out of the rear window and the body was on its back on the ground, about "three or four feet" from back of the car. She said she remained at the scene, and that the body and the car had not been moved.

Witness said she first felt the jar, then the brakes, but could not say she heard the exclamation of the driver.

DR. LARGE

Dr. A. W. Large, first witness, testified he had been the physician attending the deceased upon arrival at the hospital. Addison had died of fracture of the skull and shock about four minutes after the ambulance brought him to the hospital.

There had been many other injuries, Dr. Large said, including fractures of both legs and fractures of the right forearm. There were deep lacerations on top of the head, underneath which were fractures.

The doctor could not say whether the man had been struck from the front or rear. He could have been struck from the rear, because some of the main injuries appeared on the left side and to the rear. But this was not enough indication, he said.

John F. Collins, city draftsman, testified to a "regional drawing" of the scene of the death. Cpl. Wales introduced it as an exhibit. On the drawing, Const. D. G. Roberts showed the measurements he had taken on arrival on the scene.

Const. Roberts said it was nine feet from the edge of the pavement where he had noticed stains which appeared to be blood. It had been 58 feet from the stains to where he had been shown by another witness, Howard W. Bush, Addison had been struck.

Const. Roberts said the car had been on the pavement when he saw it after the body was removed. The car's wheels, he said, had been one foot, seven inches from the edge of the pavement at the rear, and the front wheels, two feet, two inches from the edge.

Witness told of a pair of glasses being found. The place where they were found measured 16 feet from where Mr. Bush indicated Addison had been struck. The glasses, witness said, lay 36 feet, eight inches from the stains.

BEFORE TRAGEDY

Mr. Bush said he had returned to the city from work about 5:10 p.m. on May 5, in company with Addison. The two had "had a few beers" and then had gone to the Bush home, on Second Avenue West, where they arrived at about 6:15 p.m.

Mr. Bush said Addison had with him a bottle of rye whisky, which they proceeded to drink. There had been a quarter of the bottle left at about 11:15 when Addison decided to go home. Mrs. Bush had been away that evening but came home shortly before Addison left.

"Joe was not intoxicated," witness said, "nor was I." They left the house together and started walking towards the city on the left side of the street.

Mr. Bush said he walked on the edge of the pavement, Addison was walking on the gravel. "Suddenly I saw the headlights of a car. I said: 'Look out, Joe!' and I jumped toward the centre of the road to get out of the way."

Then he heard a "thud," witness said, and the scream of brakes. The car had "swished" by him, he said.

Mr. Bush said the brakes had sounded first, then he heard the thud. When Mr. MacLeod cross-examined him, he said the other witnesses in the taxi "are wrong." The brakes came before the thud.

Witness further said the car when it stopped had been completely on the gravel with its front wheels. He then ran into a house to phone the police. When he returned, he said the car had been moved onto the black-top.

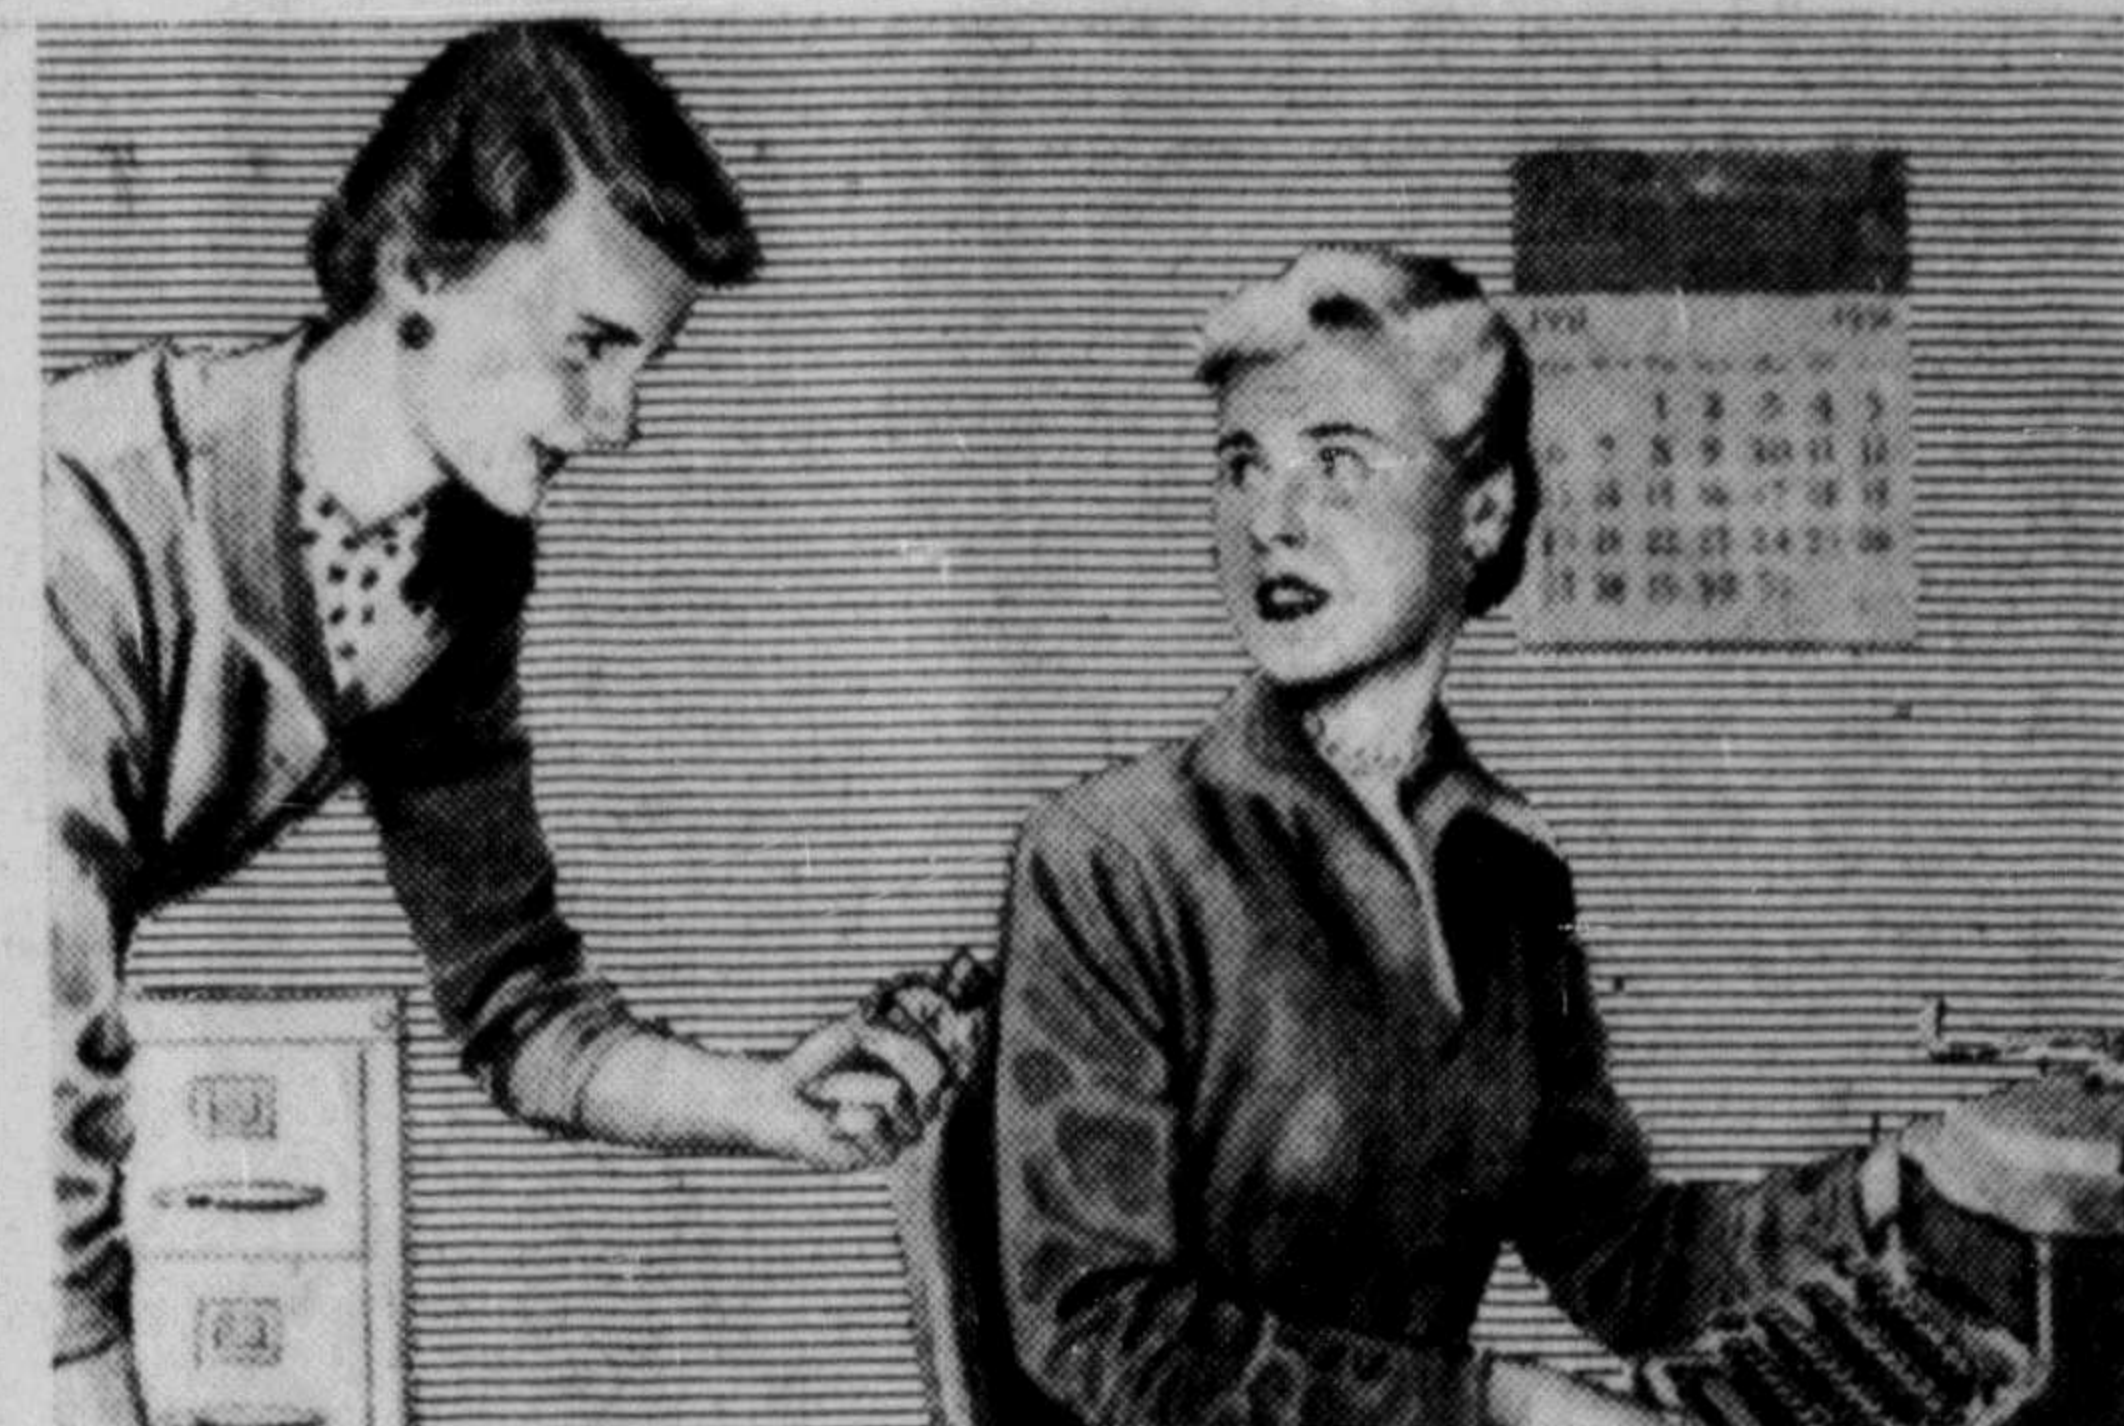

He said he thought the car "was going too fast." He could not say how fast but, by the sound the car made and the short time it took for the car to travel to them from where he first noticed it, he thought "the car was travelling fast."

He denied Mr. MacLeod's suggestion that later, when Mrs. Bush joined the people standing around the body she had talked to her husband, saying: "I know we shouldn't have let him go out. He was pretty drunk."

Mr. Bush denied his wife had spoken to him thus. He also denied Mr. MacLeod's suggestion that Mr. Bush had told his wife to "shut up."

Witness said he had been sober.

Court was adjourned by Police Magistrate Vance until Friday, May 25.

"Difficult Day?.. take a Disprin"

Why DISPRIN? Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

The Insecure Feeling that your money starts to sprout wings as soon as you get it? Dollars 'n' cents, these days seem to want to go soaring off into the blue—just like prices. You can't do much to keep prices from rising, but you can—by clipping the wings of a few dollars each payday. How? Well, there's really no trick to it. It's mainly a matter of approaching your money in the right way—before it has a chance to take off. And the "right way" is the Personal Planning way. This BANK's personalized-finance system keeps those fly-away dollars where they will do you the most good. Ask at your branch of the B of M for your free copy of the book—PERSONAL PLANNING. I made it with SUNKIST Lemon Juice—quite the tenderest, flakiest and tastiest pastry I've ever made. And here's all you do: SUNKIST PASTRY—Sift together 3 cups sifted flour, 1 tsp. salt. Cut in 1 cup shortening. Add 1 slightly beaten egg combined with 3 tsp. Sunkist lemon juice. Add ice water gradually, just enough to bind dough together. Roll pastry out thin and line pie plates. Bake in hot oven (475 deg.) for 15 minutes. (Makes 3 8-inch pie shells. Keep unbaked dough in refrigerator until needed.) Try this Sunkist pastry next pie you make, you'll love it!

And a wonderful treat, is BIRDS EYE Concentrated juice. It has that delicious sunny-tart tang—money, even better than home-squeezed. Try it—handy for myself, for the family, for company. Try it—and if you don't agree it's the best you ever tasted the Birds Eye people will give you a new one!

Rolling Back Meat Prices

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—The government rode herd on the country's beef cattle today in a program designed to control the prices of cattle on the hoof. The price rollback order, aimed at chopping beef prices nearly 10 cents by October 1, went into effect yesterday. Immediately there were rumblings of protest—warning that the order would spur black market operations and that it amounted to "confiscation."

most unhappy business. The great majority of the returnees to Yugoslavia from Canada could not hope to enjoy living standards anywhere near those they had left in Canada. The transfer was particularly hard on the Canadian-born children who were taken back to Yugoslavia by their Yugoslav-born parents often over protests. Can't our train west from Beograd to Geneva we were delighted to meet old friends from Vancouver—John Stark, his wife, son and daughter. John is a well-known figure in the shoe business on the West Coast. His family were leaving Yugoslavia with mixed emotions. I fancy. They were glad to be going back to Canada—and the joy was written right in their faces. But they were sad, too—for one young daughter, married last year, was staying behind. Also many firm friends. The Yugoslav government has adopted a much more liberal attitude recently in granting exit permits to such people.

that the people of the United Kingdom are patient, as well as far-seeing. It must be well-founded. They provided a $3000 kennel for the accommodation of dogs belonging to visitors to the Festival who perhaps could do with a little help, once they are in town. The National Canine Defence League saw to that.

IT'S HIGH TIME! "Clean-up Weeks" have taken place before but not one is worth a tuppenny hang unless in the first place it is thorough and its necessity kept ever in mind. There must be some responsible individual, committee or group prepared for and capable of discharging responsibility and possessing the right to spend money as well as having the money itself. Above all let it be realized that to start tidying up a town one week, and forget about it next week, is worse than useless. This, by the way, is haying time. Yet the sight of flourishing, if superabundant, grass is more agreeable than decaying rubbish. And the same is true of dandelions that, in other lands, might be prized.

HOUSEKEEPING

Pots and pans, cookie sheets, casseroles, measuring cups and egg beaters are the tools of the homemaker just as a hammer and nails are the tools of the carpenter. As a homemaker you should choose your kitchen tools just as carefully as any craftsman.

Economists tell us that there are three things which should be considered before it is added which pot or pan or other utensil is to be bought for the home. First of all, is it durable and sturdy and will it stand up to the wear it will be given? Secondly, is it convenient to use? Thirdly, is it suitable for the type of cooking which will be done in it? It is always wise to remember that buying pans of good quality is economy rather than an extravagance. On the other hand, may be their extravagance to pay top price for pans which are seldom used. The appearance of the utensil and the descriptive label may, to some extent, denote its quality but, if the homemaker is familiar with the characteristics of the different materials used for utensils, it is much easier to decide which utensil to choose.

There will be a saving both in money and storage space if a utensil may be utilized for several purposes rather than for just one purpose. Some homemakers prefer matched pots and pans bought in individual pieces or sets while others prefer different types of utensils. For instance, one homemaker may have an iron frying pan, a glass baking dish, an aluminum roaster and enamel ware pots and pans while, the person living in the next home may have all aluminum or stainless steel utensils. Today, in the stores, there is a great variety of cooking utensils from which to choose. Home economists say that they have no actual preference of material for cooking utensils but, they want to point out a few facts about each type.

Aluminum may be used for pots and pans of all types. Heavy and medium weight aluminum pans are very durable. Light weight aluminum ware is cheaper but is often too thin to stand up to daily use. If a pan is to be used daily it will pay to buy the heavy aluminum. However, for things such as jelly moulds which are used only occasionally, the lighter weight will do. Though easily darkened by alkali.

Army Does All Scoring

But Motors Made Fair Showing at That

In a league football game which was featured by the initial appearance of a number of new players, Battery Blanked General Motors last night by a score of 3 to 0. This was the second game of the season. Canadian Legion and Motors having played to a two-all draw in the first last week. The win so decisively for Battery last night makes them look like strong contenders for season's honors.

Battery pressed at the outset but failed to score through wild shooting. Shortly after Pat Wilson tested Morgan but the goalkeeper was equal to the call. Motors lost an opportunity when three forwards missed a cross but White footed a corner which went past. Tait next tried a shot which Prince deflected past. A minute later Prince was through the defence but shot wild. Battery pressed for a spell but Robinson, who was playing a fine defensive game, cleared. A nice try by Parkhouse skimmed the crossbar. Jennings was showing up well at centre-half and Peterson on the right wing was doing well.

A Gomez lobbed in a long one which Dixon palmed out. Cameron sent over a fine cross which Pavlikis put past. Cameron again crossed a low one but this time Pavlikis made no mistake and netted. Battery continued on the defensive. Jorgensen tried a long one which went narrowly past the goalkeeper apparently beaten. At the other end Tait shot over. Half time: Battery 1, Motors 0.

On resumption, Halvorsen replaced Holkestad for the Battery and Nisoyok replaced White for the Motors. Battery pressed immediately and, unfortunately for the Motors, Robinson had to retire owing to an injury received earlier in the game. He was replaced by Price, and L. Matthews took up position of outside-right. A fine chance for the Battery was spoiled by Pavlikis being offside, causing Parkhouse's scoring shot to be nullified. A shot by Jorgensen was thrown out by Dixon, the ball going to Cameron, who promptly played it in the net. Lien was playing well but the Motors were

Following is the baseball league schedule for the season:

Graziano Is Title Winner

MONTREAL (P)—Rocky Graziano Monday night scored a third round knockout over Montreal's Johnny Greco in his Canadian debut in the feature event of a fight card here.

Graziano was a 2 to 1 favorite to take Canadian welterweight championship. The knockout came at 1:56 minutes of the third round with a hard right to the chin. Greco weighed 153 pounds and Graziano 161½ pounds.

missing their staunch defender Robinson. Parkhouse shot over when several forwards were in scoring position. Mazzone tried a long shot, which went over. Pat Wilson, Matthews and Letourneau tried hard to force the game for the Motors but met a strong defence in Dunbar and Ferguson, to say nothing of Morgan, who was on his usual safe game. Parkhouse missed narrowly when well placed. Cameron scored a third goal for the Battery, and the game ended with the result: Battery 3, Motors 0.

An interesting feature of this game was the number of new players on view, these being no less than seven, namely, Dixon, Jennings, Tait, Peterson and Nisoyok for the Motors, and Jorgensen and Holkestad for the Battery. Fans will hope these players will continue to be available as they have all had previous experience and should do much to improve the brand of football. This was an interesting game to watch and not as one-sided as the score would indicate.

The Battery was strong in defence, their half-back line was solid, with Jorgensen stopping and placing well. They had two enterprising wingers who made progress when they were in possession. Cameron had a good game, scoring two goals. The inside forwards were not on the mark like they were at the close of last season, but this defect will be corrected with a game or two.

For the Motors, Dixon looks like he will make a good goalkeeper. He gets down well to low shots. The full-backs did well against a strong forward line. It was unfortunate when Robinson had to retire. The half-back line was where the weakness lay, the wing-halves allowing the wingers too much scope. Jennings, at centre, played a resourceful game and placed well. This player has a lot of experience and he should be a decided asset after one or two more games.

The forwards played well individually but did not combine efficiently. Pat Forman handled the game splendidly.

The game on Wednesday with the Battery and Legion should be interesting. The Battery has a strong team, but the Legion will have a couple of newcomers also and a keen tussle is anticipated.

Battery—Morgan; Dunbar and Ferguson; Mazzone, Jorgensen and E. Gomez; Cameron, Parkhouse, Pavlikis, Holkestad and A. Gomez. Spare: Halvorsen.

Motors—Dixon; Lien and Robinson; Boulter, Jennings and Tait; Peterson, Pat Wilson, Price, Letourneau and White. Spares: Nisoyok and L. Matthews. Referee—Pat Forman.

Ball Race Tightening

NEW YORK (P)—The hot National League race, only four and a half games separate the top and bottom teams, drew a trifle tighter Monday as the St. Louis Cardinals rang up a 5 to 2 victory over the New York Giants.

The victory left the Cardinals only one and a half games behind the idle Brooklyn Dodgers who lead the circuit.

Cincinnati is in last place. Nippy Jones doubled home three runs in the fifth inning to sew up the game and enable the Cards to sweep a two-game series.

It was the only National League game scheduled for Monday.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

In the American League the Boston Red Sox beat Detroit 9 to 7 with Ted Williams coming out of a batting slump by hitting three for four, including a homer.

Vic Raschi turned in his seventh victory against one defeat as he pitched New York, American League leaders, to a 2 to 0 triumph over St. Louis Browns.

The high-riding Chicago White Sox clipped Washington 5 to 3.

Communists Worry N.Z.

By ERIC BENTON

WELLINGTON, N.Z. — Undercover Communist activity in government departments is worrying New Zealand's government.

Communist activity, it is understood, has reached even into the office of Prime Minister Sidney G. Holland who has found his papers disturbed. Since then, the security branch has insisted on safes in all ministerial offices.

Disclosure of the Reds' activities, hitherto believed a relatively innocuous band of zealots, resulted from incidents arising from the crippling waterfront strike that began in February.

The record was shocking to those in high places and the police were subjected to the biggest shakeup in years. Communists headquarters in Wellington was raided for the first time since the end of the Second World War.

The government printing office no longer is regarded as a place where secret government documents can be printed without the need for special precautions.

Early in the strike, an illegal pamphlet was widely distributed which bore at its head the New Zealand coat of arms and at its foot the words: "issued under the authority of the New Zealand department of health."

It was a reprint of a government advertisement warning the people about vermin. It contained a picture of a rat and was reproduced completely except that the wording was changed to voice a denunciation of "scabbing."

Investigation revealed that almost certainly a government process block had been used.

Another revelation of Communist activity came a little later. Details of a highly-secret government scheme for getting the men back to work were given to a mob—which blocked traffic in Hobson Street, Auckland—by Jack Barnes, president of the (re-registered waterside workers' union).

It was obvious the leakage had come from a government department.

Communists have been found working in ministerial offices, on typing staffs and elsewhere, but action has been taken in these cases.

Queen Charlotte Air Lines will fly a "drop" Thursday over the northern glacier-bound territory at the head of Unuk River. Two camps of Helicopter Explorations, deeply embedded in the snows along Sulphurets Creek, will receive 1400 pounds of badly needed supplies, dropped without parachute, from a Norseman aircraft.

Instructions received by the air lines office indicate the drop area will be marked off with bunting. Minimum altitude en route to Unuk over the glaciers is 9000 feet, Manager William Priest said.

PTA Closes For Season

Final get-together of the Conrad School Parent-Teacher Association was held in the form of a party for members and guests last Friday evening. A number of enjoyable square dances, called by Paul Dumont with excellent music provided by the Pierce Brothers combination, featured the evening.

At a short business meeting preceding the party, a nominating committee, headed by Mrs. D. Gomez, chairman, was appointed to select a slate of officers for the annual elections to be held at the first meeting of the new term in September.

Mrs. George Redhead, convener of a successful white elephant sale in April, was extended a hearty vote of thanks. Because of the financial success of this sale and other PTA projects, members decided to purchase for the use of the school an up-to-date set of Encyclopedia Britannica.

Final prizes for the PTA card party tournaments, held monthly throughout the term, were presented as follows:

Bridle—J. K. Murray, presented with a black velvet embroidered cushion donated by Mrs. Sadie Downing.

Whist—Mrs. A. J. Croxford, presented with a gay pair of wall plaques, made and donated by A. Desoutels.
