Aluminum Nearer

CONSTITUTING what will be the largest single industrial unit for British Columbia, the Aluminum Co. of Canada's plant projected for Kitimaat, down the coast from Prince Rupert, with the big power development project at Kemano River in the interior behind it, is an undertaking of vital interest to this province. It is an important event that an agreement should have been reached between the provincial government and the company for the furtherance of the undertaking. It all points up to the recognition of the growing importance of this part of the country from the standpoint of industrial development, particularly the water-power possibility which is the factor that brings Alcan to the site that now appears pretty definitely to have been chosen.

Conceivably, the aluminum development at Kitimaat may mean the setting up of a port rivaling Prince Rupert as a centre of importance on the north coast because it will result in the establishment of a large and self-sufficient community. Nevertheless, we have always held the view that what is good for one part of British Columbia from a development standpoint is good for all, so, even if Kitimaat does become a sort of a rival port to Prince Rupert, it cannot help but be beneficial to us even if in an indirect way.

Present indications are that, if any community in the immediate hereabouts benefits more than any other from the new aluminum plant at Kitimaat, it may be Terrace which is so convenient from the point of view of a railway junction point. Thereby Kitimaat will be brought close by rail connection to Prince Rupert as well as by water and air transport, and there will be a large amount of new traffic for the railway terminating at Prince Rupert.

Ships carrying raw materials into Kitimaat to be used in the manufacture of the aluminum will involve a desire to develop return cargoes. Since Kitimaat can never have a harbor of the excellence and natural advantages of Prince Rupert, this near-by port may well find itself being used as a result of the Kitimaat development.

The great new Kitimaat plant with its huge payroll and resultant population should provide a great market for new agricultural development in the central interior.

All British Columbia will welcome the big new aluminum plant providing—and persistent fears have been expressed along this line—that there is no serious damage to existing industries or interests as a result thereof. And, in that connection, we have been repeatedly assured that there is due protection.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

OUR NEW BOSS—U.S.A.

THERE IS a fine man in Denmark named Peter Maaniche, who used to run a wonderful institution called the International Folk High School.

I once travelled with Peter through rural Ontario where he was telling of the wonderful co-operative system in Denmark, and how it grew up from the so-called folk high schools.

It just comes back to me now as I write these lines that he said the folk schools themselves were started by a wonderful bishop. Intermittent with several nervous breakdowns, which sent him to mental hospital time after time, the grand old bishop inspired and organized a movement which changed the society of the whole nation—and benefitted the whole earth.

Mr. Maaniche's school specialized in the study of different national characteristics. I have heard him convulse farm audiences with laughter in comparing, for instance, a typical Englishman, Scot, Irishman, Frenchman and German.

IT IS NOT TRUE that there is something in the blood of entire nations which makes them think differently. At least if there is some such inheritance, the scientists have not yet been able to find it, or how it works. But the scientists have found that if you put a new born Russian boy in an English home he will grow up to eat, drink, think and in every way act like any other Englishman. So all around the circle.

I am one of those folks who believes that every human personality is unique, and that every tiny babe has a spirit within it which is the product of all it had experienced before it came to be re-born in a baby body—but I haven't got time or space to expand that here and now.

We do know that there ARE very definite national patterns of thought and action. For instance, any society which needs a treasurer is well advised to pick one whose name begins with Mac. French men and women make good cooks because they just can't tolerate bad food. With the Englishman, form counts for more than it does with most folks. The most powerful law in that amazing land is the unwritten law "it isn't done."

UNLESS WE ALL WANT to get atomized to kingdom come we lesser fry had better get busy and study our new bosses, Uncle Sam and Uncle Joe, or to be more specific, the Americans and the Russians. As Disraeli said, "We must educate our new masters."

If you study the ways of the Americans, since earliest days, you see that there is a distinct and unique pattern which runs through their national actions and national attitudes. As a very shrewd Canadian Liberal M.P. once said to me, the Americans are the most untidy of all peoples in their techniques of government. They are also impulsive—apt to get trigger-happy on the spur of the moment (such as when they went to war with Spain over the sinking of the U.S.S. "Maine" without waiting to find out that, in cold fact, the Spaniards had had nothing to do with that accident).

The Englishman would almost die rather than make a scene over a referee's unpopular decision in a cricket match; the American is schooled to believe that razzing the umpire is PART of the game.

Above all, however, the Americans are effective.

In details of big actions, they are about as messy as a thundering herd of buffalo. But like that herd, most of them get to where the herd decides it has to go.

Conference Opens Today

LONDON.—The British Commonwealth prime ministers' conference commenced at No. 10 Downing Street here today. There are some observers who on Wednesday were saying the Commonwealth might ask Canada to send troops to the Middle East in the possible event of war. They say Canada has never sent troops to the Middle East in strength before. This is one of the defence questions expected to be brought up.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

The News mentioned Mukden, the other evening. The name appeared in a press despatch and said it was from there that a Russian general was supposed to be directing the Communist advance in Korea. Mukden is in Manchuria. A few years after the turn of the century, Mukden was very much on the front pages of the world's press. Japan was fighting Russia as the Czar knew it. Automobiles were just beginning to be known. Radios, planes, atom bombs, poison gas, wireless had not been discovered, although Marconi was busy. It is seldom, if ever, history is literally repeated, yet the situation in Korea today is something resembling it.

Around Mukden, Port Arthur, Hamhung, Pyongyang, Kwangtung and Seoul sound the tramp of armies. The eastern sea swarms with ships. It's war again as it was fifty years ago.

Half a century back is much of a lifetime but the Yanks were in Asia even then, if not earlier. The guns of Dewey's fleet at Manila served as an introduction to the Far East. Back in Washington, as they weighed the future, there were some who spoke against U.S. inclusion in a policy touching affairs in the Orient.

Millions today, who follow the latest of all struggles were not born when the seas and shores of China were as bloody and tumultuous as they are at this moment.

Port Arthur fell, and the nations applauded "the gallant little brown men." That's what they called the Japanese. For that matter one could not find praise for Russia. That country, as a final gesture, sent a strong fleet half way around the globe to see about destroying the enemy. In the Sea of Japan, Admiral Togo hoisted no signals to the effect that Japan expected everyone to do his duty but here's betting he did something as effective. The foe's fleet went to the bottom and Togo became Japan's Nelson without dying. He did that years later.

Most of us who managed to survive the days of what's being written about, can remember that as a war, it was reckoned a pretty hefty one. Vancouver and Victoria reporters went to Tokyo and even further. A few had good square looks at Port Arthur. In the main, they all turned in worth while stories. For one thing, a little co-operation here and there was never known to go amiss.

With Russia vanquished, arose

REACTIONS—

Aluminium Benefits Seen

Announcements on Kitimaat Project Received With Enthusiasm Here

Unanimous optimism seems to be the reaction in Prince Rupert to recent announcements from Victoria that contracts in connection with an aluminum plant at Kitimaat had been signed between the provincial government and the Aluminum Co. of Canada. Some statements by prominent men appear below.

MAYOR G. W. RUDDERHAM: If Kitimaat goes ahead, it will make a big stir in the north country. It is bound to help us in Prince Rupert. Terrace will benefit most if a rail line goes through to Kitimaat.

When the fleet of boats starts hauling bauxite ore the operators will hunt for cargoes lumber from the interior. They may load it either here or at Kitimaat. It is bound to help in any case.

Some of the construction men are bound to come here during their time off. Motor traffic will be increased. It will help everyone.

L. M. FELSETHAL, President, Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce: Prince Rupert will be the feeding point for supplies, both in and out.

It is the beginning of this country and the big break we need in addition to Columbia Cellulose Company to get the ball rolling.

BERNARD ALLEN, General Manager, Canadian National Railways in B.C.: The establishment of the plant in Kitimaat cannot help but have a big effect here. The ramifications will go far, all over the area, it is the biggest thing British Columbia has had since I came here.

It will bring about a situation that will create a flow of traffic through Prince Rupert as well as other ports. Secondary effects will be great, including a ready market for agricultural products from the interior.

C. A. BERNER, Superintendent, Canadian National Railways: It will mean new money coming into the country. This part of the province—Terrace and Prince Rupert in particular—are bound to benefit.

It is another mark in the era of new development. We have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

I think we are mighty fortunate.

G. R. S. BLACKBURN—Bank Manager, Past President, Chamber of Commerce: The aluminum industry at Kitimaat cannot but benefit Prince Rupert through contributing to the general prosperity of British Columbia and this area. Obviously there will be a railway and a road from Kitimaat to the junction point at Terrace. They will be feeders to the Canadian National Railways and the Skeena River Highway. The central interior and

1950 Output Of Minerals

VICTORIA—According to government statistics, the estimated values for the major items of mineral production for the calendar year in British Columbia total $137,500,000 compared with $133,012,968 in 1949.

Per variety: (with 1949 figures in brackets)

Gold, placer, $500,000 ($529,524)

Gold, lode, $10,000,000 ($10,382,256)

Silver, $6,900,000 ($5,689,769)

Copper, $10,200,000 ($10,956,550)

Lead, $38,000,000 ($41,645,726)

Zinc, $45,000,000 ($36,604,700)

Coal, $10,500,000 ($12,467,474)

Structural Materials, $10,600,000 ($9,955,890)

Miscellaneous metals, minerals and materials, $5,200,000 ($4,806,129)

Total, $137,500,000 ($133,012,968). Average metal prices used in the estimate with 1949 prices in brackets, are as follows:

Gold, fine oz., $38.04 ($36); Silver, fine oz., $80.82c ($74.25c); Copper lb., 23.42c (19.97c); Lead, lb., 14.45c (15.80c); Zinc, lb., 15.65c (13.24c).

the question of peace. But it didn't begin to have the thorny complications, the endless debates and colossal costs the problem has as 1951 dawns. Looking back it seems to have been almost simple.

Under the chairmanship of Theodore Roosevelt, American president, representatives met in a little New England town and talked things over. And that's how the show ended.

It's fast because the element is right in the water—all the heat goes into the water—no current is wasted. Can't overheat—turns itself off automatically if it should boil dry... A "must" when there's sickness in the house... and handy any time.

An Electric Iron—Drop in and feel this electric iron. "Why," you'll say, "it's so light!" Yes, only three pounds... and, because of its big soleplate, you can cut your ironing time by as much as a third. Finger-tip Fabric Dial "tunes in" correct temperature for every fabric.

An Electric Toaster—Toast, made right on the dining table or in the kitchen, just to everybody's taste—lightly done, golden brown, crisp—and piping hot. Saves time... prevents waste for you, only make just enough. A handsome piece to grace your table, too! Toasts both sides at once.

NORTHERN BRITISH COLUMBIA POWER COMPANY LIMITED

the port of Prince Rupert should gain greatly through being so closely adjacent to the greatest single industry in the country. Bus fares should have gone here but the council found a way of retaining the penny fare, cutting the ride from 1.20 to 1.179 yards.

Now's the Time to Take Stock of Your Investments

1950's stock market prices are history. But what may be ahead in 1951 is a matter requiring careful analysis. Prophecy is dangerous. That is why the present is the best time to "take stock" of your investments and consider prospects for the year ahead. A careful analysis of your holdings made now will place you in a position to estimate with increased confidence what the future holds in store for them.

If you will send us confidentially a list of your holdings, our Research department will analyse it, forward an up-to-date commentary upon each security, and make suggestions that seem advisable in the light of 1951 prospects. No obligation is implied or involved by asking for this analysis.

Rupert Artist Is Acclaimed

Victor Amadio Making Good in Los Angeles

Prince Rupert-born Victor Amadio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Amadio, Sixth Avenue West, is making good in a big way in professional art in Los Angeles where he has his own commercial office.

Especially talent, which was at first displayed in school days, was developed at art schools in Vancouver, Oakland and Los Angeles. Recently it received recognition in the press following an exhibition at Esther's Alley Gallery in Los Angeles.

Writes Kay English, art editor of Los Angeles Examiner:

"Holding the spotlight at Esther's Alley Gallery is the first one man show by an artist who signs himself Amadio."

"Born 27 years ago in Canada, Victor Amadio's first exhibit shows he possesses a most unusual talent and I am sure you will agree when you see his colorful oils and water colors, views of Los Angeles, Paris and San Francisco."

"Already Amadio's work hangs in many important private collections."

"His water colors show he has full command of the media as well as the ability to portray what he sees. There is a Vi-minck quality in his beautiful composed oils that is notable."

"This is indeed a stimulating show."

The Los Angeles Examiner article is illustrated with a three column cut of one of Amadio's water colors, "San Francisco Street Scene."

The Los Angeles Times says of the same Amadio exhibit: "Here is a positive draftsman who defines buildings, space and people sharply and precisely in firm lines and clear washes of color."

Joseph Cotton, moving picture actor, has written appreciatively to Amadio, inviting him to see his collection.

Visit Italy On Way Home

After a memorable visit to Italy, their ancestral homeland, which they had never seen before, John Basso and Louis Campagnolo, young Prince Rupert men, are now on their way home aboard the steamer Ascania from Liverpool to Halifax.

Rome, Naples, Venice and Milan were the cities of Italy which they visited and of particular interest was the Vatican from which they wrote to the editor of the Daily News.

Basso and Campagnolo have also seen Paris and Geneva during their trip.

Depth Sounders For Fish Fleet

Prince Rupert's fishing fleet continues to go modern and the emphasis now is on depth-sounding equipment which has proven such a boon to the halibut fishery before setting out their gear. Much valuable time can now be saved by use of the depth sounders instead of the old lead lines.

Soon there will be few if any of the halibut fleet here which are without these depth sounders.

At the moment there is a rush to get in such equipment before scarcity develops owing to the defence demand.

One local waterfront electrical concern reports installing five depth sounders in recent days.

Fifteen new combination gill-nets and halibut boats, being built for Sunnyside cannery will be equipped with depth sounders.

"Not So Jolly"

British Sport At Low Ebb

Many Reverses During Last Year—Always Hopeful

By BEN PHLEGAR

LONDON (AP)—British sportsmen look forward to better things in 1951—forward being about the only direction they can look after last year.

Things got so bad in 1950 that even Britons got tired of being cheerful losers.

The country's sportswriters went so far as to suggest that the traditional cries of "Jolly well done" be saved until some body did "jolly well."

The difficulties started early and they're not over yet.

In January, Freddie Mills lost his world light-heavyweight title to the United States' Joey Maxim. Britons fought for four more world crowns during the year. They ended up owning none.

For the first time England lost a cricket series on home soil to the West Indies, three matches to one.

The leading racehorse owner, trainer and breeder on British tracks were Frenchmen—the first foreign grand slam since Henry II opened the first English track in 1174.

British soccer, long regarded as the best in the world, found the going really rough.

An all-England team failed to qualify for the final round of the world tournament in Brazil and the fiasco was made complete by a loss to the United States.

The soccer situation got worse. The press had pointed out that despite the Brazilian flop, a national professional team from England or Scotland had never failed to beat a European team in a match in the United Kingdom.

Before the year ended this record had been broken. Yugoslavia held England to a 2-2 draw and Austria followed by trimming an all-Scotland team in Glasgow 1-0.

The pattern continued virtually unbroken through other sports.

GOLF AND TENNIS

Frank Stranahan of the United States won the British amateur golf championship. Bobby Locke of South Africa won the British open and the Vicomtesse De Saint Saver of France won the British women's tournament. The British women's Curtis Cup team was beaten by the United States.

In tennis the British Davis Cup team lost in the first round of the European zone. The women's Wightman Cup team was beaten by the United States and no Briton got as far as the last 16 at Wimbledon, widely regarded as the world championships of tennis.

Deplores Increase In Juvenile Crime

HALIFAX (C)—After 25 years as crier at the Halifax county court, James Granville says one of the big changes in the court in recent years has been the increasing number of young people in the prisoner's dock.

"Every year the boys appearing seem to become younger and they are charged with more serious crimes," says the crier, who is retiring at the age of 86.

Mr. Granville's solution to the increase in juvenile delinquency aims at the home.

"I believe more supervision at home is needed," he says. "Too many of these young boys are allowed to run the streets and then they end up in the prisoner's dock."

The crier says another thing he's noticed in recent years is the large increase in the number of criminal cases.

also produced the colts that won the Derby and the St. Leger. Freebooter, from the wrong side of the Irish border in the British point of view, won the Grand National steeplechase. And an American colt—William Woodward's Prince Simon—was acclaimed the horse of the year. The two leading two-year-olds were American owned and one of them—Woodward's Turco II—is American bred.

The one major exception in the dreary routine of defeats was the excellent British showing at the European track and field championships at Brussels in August.

The British team won eight events to six for the vaunted Russians.

The first game of the new National Hockey Association was played at Montreal 41 years ago. Canadiens defeated the Cobalt Silver Six by 7-5. The N.H.A. was enlarged shortly after that by acquisition of some C.H.A. teams, but the National Hockey League was not formed until 1917.

Tex Rickard, who lifted the fight game from the "ham and eggs" class into the ranks of big business, died at Miami Beach 22 years ago. Rickard started his sports promoting career in 1903 at Goldfields, Nev., and among other champions he managed Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

Joe Louis Is Winner

Scores Technical Knockout In Fourth Round Over Freddie Beshore

DETROIT—Joe Louis, former world's heavyweight champion, looked like his old self last night when he slapped Freddie Beshore, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, down in the fourth round of a scheduled ten-rounder. Beshore had his nose broken and his left eye badly cut before the referee stopped the bout in the fourth round on advice of ringside doctors.

It was another step on the come-back ladder for Louis who scored a savage punching victory over the dead-game Beshore. It was at 2 minutes 48 seconds of the fourth round that the referee halted the one-sided battle to save the bloodied Beshore from further punishment.

Experts were virtually unanimous in the belief that Louis showed remarkable improvement in disposing of Beshore in such workmanlike fashion.

Beshore, ten years younger than Louis and nearly 19 pounds lighter at 191½ pounds, was nearly cut to pieces by the Brown Bomber.

Blackwood On Bridge

Miss Brash has a bidding style all her own. The style is that she nearly always bids. This is a very dangerous practice but has a few good points along with the bad. Everyone knows Miss Brash will overcall on practically nothing. But sometimes she has a strong hand. Her partner never knows for sure. But neither do her opponents.

When Miss Brash overcalled with one spade on today's hand her partner, Mr. Dale, suspected the bid immediately. But holding such fine spade support he decided he could afford to get a little fancy in an effort to keep the enemy off balance.

So Mr. Dale bid two hearts just like he had it. As he had figured, this was too much bidding for Mr. Muzzy. When all four players are bidding, Mr. Muzzy is likely to forget who bid what. Unable to find any good bid over two hearts, he passed.

Mr. Champion made another effort with a bid of three diamonds and at this point Mr. Muzzy asked for a review of the bidding. He was told he could review only when it was his turn to bid. Mr. Dale promptly made it Muzzy's turn with a bid of three spades.

By this time there was a look of complete confusion on Mr. Muzzy's face. The bidding was

Effective Living New School Class

VICTORIA (CP)—A class in "effective living" has been started by the British Columbia Department of Education.

Stressing desirable family and community relationships, the course also includes material formerly handled separately in guidance, health and alcohol education programs.

For pupils in grades seven to nine, the aims are to accept duties and responsibilities as well as privileges and rights of family living.

Teachers are enthusiastic over the possibilities of the course. Olive Herridge, a school vice-principal, said: "We don't want students to feel that their family is 'wrong' or that they are not getting a square deal at home. We want them to have an opportunity to look at themselves and see what they can do to make things better."

While some pupils do not take a part in the general open discussions, one teacher said, "At least, they're hearing about experiences of others and can see that others have their problems, too."

Other topics touched in the course include family budgeting, home planning, vocational planning and course selection, use of leisure, including after school jobs.

Danes To Probe Pacific Depths

LONDON (CP)—A party of distinguished Danish scientists, with a selected crew, has set sail on a two-year cruise of modern discovery. Their goal is an unknown world—the hitherto unexplored regions of the ocean depths.

Organizer of the expedition is Haakon Mielche, Danish author, who conceived the idea of the trip while his country was under German occupation during the last war. He succeeded in interesting some of Denmark's leading scientists, including Prof. Niels Bohr, the atomic specialist and Dr. Anton Bruun, of Copenhagen's zoological museum.

In the naval frigate "Galathea," the Danes stopped off at a British port just long enough to take on additional supplies and special equipment for their deep-sea explorations.

Then they headed in the general direction of the Pacific Ocean, where they will concentrate their operations in the unprobed depths east of the Philippines. The ocean bed in parts of these regions is reported to lie as deep as 33,000 feet.

The party hopes to return with a fund of valuable scientific information and specimens of marine life never previously seen by the human eye.

LONG "FISHING LINE"

To assist them in their investigations the scientists included in their cargo a large assortment of specially-devised instruments and gadgets. Among these is probably the world's longest "fishing line," a steel hawser 46,000 feet in length.

The line will be used to lower into the nether depths a non-magnetic bronze sphere, designed to measure the earth's magnetism.

The scientists are anxious to find out if the earth's magnetism is increasing or diminishing. They believe the deep-water test will provide the answer.

The sphere, specially constructed to withstand terrific pressure, is equipped to carry the delicate instruments which will record whatever scientific data exists miles below the ocean's surface. It also contains underwater cameras to film coral reefs and the weird life believed to abound in the inky depths below 13,000 feet.

Dr. Bruun said there was no point in speculating on what the expedition might discover. He recalled, however, that 12 years ago a strange specimen of fish had been caught off the east coast of Africa. Its nearest relation, he said, had only been known as fossils about 80,000,000 years ago.

"It is only reasonable," he added, "to expect that we will get some strange creatures during a two-year job of specially fishing for them."

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, January 4th.—Worry never helped a thing—particularly worry about money problems. So I decided to stop worrying and do something about the state of my finances. And that's when I found the BANK OF MONTREAL such a help!

First thing I did was to open a Household Account to help me keep track of my homemaking expenses. You see, the clerk there is a real money expert. He showed me how to use my bills as a faithful record of when and where my money goes! Then I opened a B of M Savings Account and where my money goes to "discipline" those extra dollars! Yes, if you're like me and would like to control your expenses in '51—I can think of no better way to do it than to let these B of M services help you!

I was pleased to discover that now I can buy my favourite BLUE BONNET MARGARINE in the handy Yellow Quik bag! Blue Bonnet's delicate, country-sweet flavour—its marvelous freshness—have already won their way to my heart—and my kitchen. And now—this "touch of genius"—the Yellow Quik bag. Now it's so easy to colour Blue Bonnet... no messy dishes—no extra work... just press the colour button on the Yellow Quik bag and knead the bag gently. In just two minutes your Blue Bonnet is yellow—ready to use. What's more—Blue Bonnet always has the same delicious flavour—its Vitamin A content is high every month of the year. And it's so economical, I've found!

Could Grow Lyrical about the sweet, young tenderness of BIRL-EYE Frosted Peas. It's no happenstance that Birds Eye Peas taste the way they do. You see, the Birds Eye folks plant specially selected seed in growing areas where peas grow best. Pick them on the very morning or afternoon when they reach flavour-fulness. Then they shell, wash and double-check the peas for tenderness, and quick-freeze them before they lose a whiff of their farm-freshness! I honestly can't see why anyone ever eats any peas but Birds Eye—especially when you figure out all the work, time and money they save you. Do you know that 1 box of Birds Eye equals 2 pounds of peas in pods? And where can you get peas in pods as farm-fresh as Birds Eye? They're guaranteed the best peas you ever ate—or your money back.

Who Can Resist a dessert that fairly sparkles with good-humour?... and that's any dessert made with JELL-O POW-DERS! Those seven exciting "looked in" flavours make Jell-O one of the most versatile products on the market—and one of the most popular! And, for economy, Jell-O's truly "hard to beat"—for it costs less than 2¢ a serving!

PEACH PARTY MOULD 1 package of Orange Jell-O 2 cups hot water (or water and syrup from canned peaches) 1 cup sliced canned peaches, drained. Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in peaches. Turn into mould and chill until firm. Unmould and garnish if desired. Whip cream and add additional sliced peaches. This dessert is equally delicious made with Strawberry Jell-O or with Lemon Jell-O and canned pear slices. Makes 6 servings.

He Couldn't Forget Her—even after seven long years! Bob Young met Deb Pat Burrage on a blind date during the war and was captivated by her lovely complexion. But the next day he shipped out—without her address! Seven years later, they met again—and this time Bob didn't let Pat get away. For she was as lovely as ever—thanks to Woodbury beauty care! Now Pat and Bob are married and Pat still makes a regular beauty habit of WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP. It's so gentle and mild—so kind to her skin. You see, Woodbury Facial Soap is the soap with the famous beauty cream ingredient. This precious substance is the same skin smoother used in the finest face creams. No wonder Woodbury Soap is the choice of lovely Woodbury brides! They keep their complexions smooth and glowing with daily Woodbury facials. Why not try it? Use Woodbury Soap in your bath, too! Just lather a cake.

A New Year's Resolution you'll be glad of all year long: "I hereby resolve to take ANOIHST at first sniffles or sneezes!" Yes, that's a resolution to put at the top of your list. For when taken on schedule, in first 24 hours of a cold, Anoihost can stop cold symptoms in a single day! What's more, this prompt, effective relief costs you only pennies—yes, the Super Economy Family—Size Bottle of 30 Anoihost tablets sells for only about 30¢ per tablet. So get Anoihost at your drugstore today! Remember: all anti-inflammatories are not alike. They vary greatly in performance. Anoihost is the anti-inflammatory formula recommended for family use because of its success in actual clinical tests.

Here's a "Baby Special"—a nourishing, wholesome food for babies that every mother should know about. It's 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT". Babies love it... and what's more—"Cream of Wheat" loves babies! Yes, it's brimful of many of the good things that babies need to maintain normal growth and bouncing good health. For 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" provides iron for good red blood, and Calcium and Phosphorus—for diets deficient in these elements. And, mother—it's so quick and simple to prepare a wholesome "Cream of Wheat" meal for baby! Just five minutes of boiling and 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is cooked to baby-ready digestibility... smoooth, delicious... so tempting the whole family will enjoy it, too!

It's Become A Happy Habit around our house... our regular A.B.C. SALMON dinner. Yes, I find that the family complain if they aren't getting enough of their favourite dinner dish... luscious, ready-to-serve from the tin. A.B.C. Salmon. For a real taste treat, I urge you to try A.B.C. Cohoe—medium red, wonderfully tasty in all kinds of dishes (salads, sandwiches, casseroles). And you'll love fine-textured, full-flavoured A.B.C. Fancy Pink, too. Yes, A.B.C. Salmon is delicious. What's more, it's the answer to a housewife's "prayer"—so easy to prepare—and so very economical! You see, all of A.B.C. Salmon is good—down to the last tasty morsel!

If A Pretty Hat doesn't "do" as much for you as it used to—chances are you're the "victim" of a dry skin. But this is so easy to remedy, you shouldn't wait another day to do something about it! Give yourself the beauty benefit of WOODBURY DRY SKIN CREAM beginning now! You see, there's a marvelous new discovery called PENATEN—found only in Woodbury Dry Skin Cream. A glorious new miracle, Penaten penetrates deeper into the important inner layers of the skin—carries the rich benefits of lanolin and 4 other special skin softeners deeper than ever before! Wonderful how tiny dry skin lines and rough skin texture disappear! Now your complexion looks younger, fresher, smoother... ready for the prettiest bonnet you've ever owned! Get Woodbury Dry Skin Cream today—it costs just 20¢, 30¢, 60¢ and 99¢.

BOOMING CORNER BROOK—Boasting "more cars per capita than any place in the world," bustling, booming Corner Brook, on Newfoundland's west coast, is on its way to becoming the second city of Canada's new island province. A "transitional council" was recently set up in the first move toward cityhood. A tiny hamlet 25 years ago, Corner Brook now has a population of nearly 20,000, making it second only to St. John's, the capital, in size. Pictured above are, upper left, aerial view of Bowater's Newfoundland Pup and Paper Mills, industrial backbone of the thriving centre; lower left, typical residential street. Right, from top to bottom, the court house, which will become the first city hall; one of the modern dairy farms that help supply home-delivered fresh milk to Corner Brookers daily; and a scene on the new nine-hole golf course.

THEY WILL BE REMEMBERED—Care For Graves of Million Commonwealth Dead In Wars

OTTAWA (CP)—Around the world from Flinders to the Middle East, from Asia to the Balkans, lie the graves of more than 1,000,000 Commonwealth war dead. In some 16,000 cemeteries in more than 100 lands lie these men of the Commonwealth nations who fought and died in two world wars—approximately 60,000 to 65,000 of them Canadians. Another 500,000 still are listed as having no known graves.

Known or unknown, all will be commemorated and remembered for posterity. That is the aim of the Imperial War Graves Commission whose task it is to bury the dead of war, erect memorials, care for the cemeteries and monuments to the unknown and keep a faithful liaison with the relatives of those who gave their lives.

Commonwealth dead of the First World War numbered 1,104,890 of whom 587,117 have known graves. Dead of the Second World War is not yet finally determined but is estimated at about 500,000 of whom 350,000 have identified graves.

Canadian dead in the 1914-18 war was approximately 60,000 of whom about 20,000 have no known graves. In the Second World War the dead rolls total an estimated 24,000 of whom an estimated 15,000 have no known graves. The work of tracing the missing still goes on.

The commemoration of most of these men is a name on a simple headstone in a flowered cemetery in some land far from home. For the unknown soldier's grave, the headstone phrase "Known Unto God" appears where the name would be. For the missing, there is or will be a name in a Book of Remembrance in some hallowed place or a name on a bronze memorial.

COMMEMORATED BY NAME—Brig. Frank Higginson, Secretary and Chief Executive of the Commission, said recently: "I would ask you to remember—1,600,000 graves, 1,500,000 dead. They are or will be, all commemorated by name. What could better testify to our respect for the individual human and to our belief that true civilization depends on that respect?"

The Commission, representing all Commonwealth countries, was set up by Royal Charter in 1917. Before that no nation had cared systematically for its war dead.

It began the task of building and caring for cemeteries, erecting memorials to the 500,000 missing of the First World War. More than $30,000,000 was spent. The Commission's work was barely complete when a new war came in 1939.

Now, 11 years later, its work continues. From remote Pacific Islands, from the fields and woods of Europe and from Asian forests, the dead have been gathered. The Commission now has records of almost 400,000 graves and 150,000 Second World War sailors, soldiers and airmen of the Commonwealth who have no known place of burial.

One of the largest of 30 memorials to the unknown stands at Vimy, recording 11,000 Canadians. Another is being erected at Dunkerque, recording the names of those who perished there and whose graves were never identified.

Officers and men of the Commonwealth navies whose grave was the sea are to be commemorated in extensions to existing

FOREST OUTPUT LARGER—Timber Production In 1950 Maintains Substantial Gain

The log scale in Prince Rupert forestry district for the year 1950 totalled 274,117,482 board feet compared with 258,321,205 board feet in the year 1949, according to an official statement by M. G. Gormely, district forester. The new logging activities for the Columbia Cellulose Co., prior to the opening of its $27,000,000 rayon pulp mill at nearby Watson Island, constituted a large factor in the increase.

The log scale in the month of December 1950 was 17,964,853 board feet compared with 25,238,425 board feet in December 1949.

Scale of timber products—poles, piling, etc.—in the interior showed an increase in 1950 to 2,398,693 lineal feet compared with 2,207,614 lineal feet in 1949. Log scaling figures per varieties in 1950 were as follows, 1949 figures being also shown for comparison:

	1950	1949
Fir	8,477,907	13,408,842
Cedar	37,066,124	37,675,615
Spruce	126,537,178	109,050,892
Hemlock	67,277,139	70,135,034
Balsam	14,050,613	11,957,508
Jackpine	18,455,752	15,686,499
Misc.	2,252,739	407,015
Totals	274,117,482	258,321,205

The timber scale for December 1950, per varieties, was as follows: Fir, 99,508 board feet; cedar, 3,207,540; spruce, 6,844,284; hemlock, 4,910,991; balsam, 1,227,978; jackpine, 1,790,941; miscellaneous, 563,608. Total—17,964,853 board feet.

	1950	1949

5 GIVE EASY JOBS TO "OVER 65's"

PETERBOROUGH, Northamptonshire, England (CP)—One British firm has solved the problem of the "over 65's."

When employees reach retiring age they are offered light work around the factory and offices. The youngsters whose jobs they take are then given an apprenticeship in the factory.

"We have 47 old employees between 65 and 75, doing such jobs," said Mr. R. Hill of Baker Perkins, Ltd.

How do they shape? "They are quicker than the boys in the long run. There is less door-slaming, and the mail arrives with a pleasant 'good morning'."

CARE FOR GRAVES

Second World War now have been erected or are in transit. Each bears the badge, name, rank, unit, date of death and age and beneath is engraved, if desired, a religious emblem. There is equality of treatment regardless of rank, based on equality of sacrifice.

The Commission has its headquarters in London and there are agencies in Ottawa, Melbourne and Cape Town. District headquarters are in Brussels, Avras, Rome, Cairo, Alexandria, Tunis, Falonika, Bagdad, Delhi and Singapore.

Cost of its work is borne by the Commonwealth Government on the basis of the proportion of war dead. Canada contributed $400,000 this year and will contribute $600,000 in 1951.

Secretary-General of the Canadian agency is A. L. Watson, 59, of Ottawa, a native of England who rose from private to sergeant in the Canadian Army during the First World War.

SCHOOL COLOR SCHEME

In a generous mood, the board approved several expenditures at the meeting. Among them were:

Authorization of the redecoration of the music room at Borden Street School.

A grant up to $750 to the student council to be expended for band instruments, expenditures to be met with equal amounts by the council.

Purchase by Mr. Hurst of surplus laboratory equipment from Prince Rupert General Hospital from the science allotment for the year.

Purchase of door closers and necessary benches for Conrad Street School.

The board decided against insuring members against accident while travelling on school business as suggested by Robert S. Day and Co.

In answer to a request from T. Norton Youngs for a share in the insurance of schools or, failing that, having his name on the list of local companies sharing premium commissions of a blanket policy, the secretary was instructed to write Mr. Youngs informing him that the division was for those who had been in the business here for three years or more.

The secretary was instructed to apply to the district engineer for permission for B.C. Bridge and Dredging Co. to take gravel from pit on highway for fill purposes.

REPORT ON SCHOOLS
Reporting on schools, A. Bruce Brown said King Edward School heating plant had been converted to coal over the Christmas holiday, as had been agreed upon if further trouble developed.

J. Knudsen said the shed at Digby Island School had been filled with sufficient oil to last the winter.

The secretary reported that the paint job on the Booth School lavatories and approaching corridors had been nearly completed. It would be finished at the week-end.

A. Bruce Brown reported a contract with Lee Wing for supplying electric power to light the Port Essington school had been signed. The secretary was advised to proceed with having the school wired.

The appointment of Mrs. Christina Worsley to fill a Grade 8 vacancy on the Booth School teaching staff was approved.

NO PLACE FOR WORKERS— Lack of Housing Holding Employment Down In City

Shortage of proper housing remains the fly in the ointment in Prince Rupert's employment situation, according to National Employment Service officials here. "The housing situation is a factor that will become more vital than at present," E. V. Whiting, manager of the Prince Rupert office, said yesterday afternoon, "because the permanent employees of Columbia Cellulose Company will have to have homes which do not exist at the present time."

Speaking of the 1950 season, Mr. Whiting said it had been exceedingly good. All local skilled men were employed during the working seasons and it became necessary to import a number of skilled workers for Columbia Cellulose Company.

Looking to 1951, he said it was expected the Columbia Cellulose plant would be nearing completion in the early spring and a lay-off of several hundred men was expected. But the operation of the plant will be a source of steady employment for a class of worker who will be resident in the city. Many of the men who have been engaged in construction left their families behind, partially because of the difficulty in finding proper housing.

FAIR TO GOOD
On the whole, Mr. Whiting said the employment picture here for the time of the year was "fair to good." About the usual number of men employed in fishing are drawing unemployed benefits. There is still a shortage of stenographers, he said, but this again he blamed partially on lack of housing. It is getting worse, he said, and there is no place to put workers when they get here.

The run of herring before Christmas supplied some employment at the Nelson Brothers plant at Port Edward and bait at the fishermen's co-operative. There has also been a certain amount of employment in freight handling with shipments of fish.

Holidays plus closing some of the higher camps on the Queen Charlotte Islands and wet weather in the Terrace area were given as causes for the slowing down of logging operations. The November scale was over that of November, 1949. Markets for wood products are holding well.

Mining is good with a demand for labor near Hazelton and Smithers. Most requirements for mining labor, however, are being filled from Alberta. Telkwa mines have started shipping coal to the Columbia Cellulose Watson Island plant.

The normal number of men are employed at the shipyards. Merchants report a good Christmas season and the employment office had no difficulty supplying extra Christmas help to stores and post office.

Neighbors Honor
Midwife of North

THE PAS, Man. (C)—Midwife of the North is Mrs. William Mercerie's title.

She's been delivering northern Manitoba babies for more than 30 years. And at her home town, the little settlement of Thicket Portage, 185 miles north of The Pas on the Hudson Bay railway, her neighbors soon will honor Mrs. Mercerie—and her husband—on their 60th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Mercerie was born in Edmonton, the daughter of Joseph Chartier, a boat captain on the Athabasca River in the days when freight was transported by land from Edmonton to Athabasca Landing and from there down river by barge to Fort McMurray and north into the territories.

It is estimated that Mrs. Mercerie has brought into the world more than 200 babies—and that is not counting the children of her own relatives. Of these she can count at least 70.

Mrs. Mercerie's reputation as a nurse and midwife spreads throughout the north country. She has tended the sick at Grand Rapids, Cross Lake, Thicket Portage, Piwitanai and Gillam.

Excuse me -- there's somebody at the front door.
No home is complete without one.
I'm selling the happy household helper.
There's someone at the back door who might be interested.
I hate myself when I do things like this.
It comes in three sizes -- large, medium and small.
Don't forget -- when you're thru with him, it's my turn.
Dagwood would you like me in a green silk dress with a lace jabot at the neck?
Sure, I'd like you.
With a bustle effect and a bow at the back?
Sure.
There's one advertised in the paper tonight for eighty-nine dollars.
$89!
But where would I wear it?
I'm not forcing you to buy it. Dear -- I was just filling my pipe.
